

O Summoner 2241

Chapter 2241 Power of Patience II

[You have encountered the Precipice of Patience.]

"KUROAAHH!"

"My power!" The baby angel Gabriel shouted as it flew towards the sigil on the body of the mountain that is now coming alive.

"Limit Break: Summoner!"

Adrian did not waste any time and immediately activated his limit break skill in order to summon all of his soulbounds. Sirius, Kimat, and Wisteria manifested beside him while Kanlaon and Saena manifested in the skies. Dodu, Charon, and Kenos manifested in different places with the first in front and the remaining two in hiding.

"Primordial Armament: Bow!"

Adrian stated as his body transformed into a more agile look that is perfect for an archer. He fired an arrow that headed straight towards the rocky hand that was about to hit the baby angel Gabriel. Adrian could not believe that the baby angel Gabriel actually regressed even in the mind. It was like he really is a baby attracted to a shiny thing which is his sigil.

"Save him!" Adrian stated as he unfurled his wings and soared directly to the skies.

Saena did not even bother thinking what the baby angel Gabriel would do and just immediately swooped in to save him. Kanlaon then created numerous shields that blocked the incoming rock pellets that the Precipice of Patience released. All of Adrian's soulbounds released their true sizes and they were indeed massive.

Sirius even called upon Yuki as she would be the defensive expert in the battle. Sirius attacked using the shadows while Yuki would use the ice she creates to form shields. The ice shields would block the projectiles that would head towards Sirius. Adrian told them that they should focus on the lower body of the Precipice of Patience.

Kimat roared and called upon the lightning, but it does not have much effect on the Precipice of Patience. The enemy is a gigantic monster golem made of stone and earth. Its lightning resistance is basically almost lightning immunity because of the essence of its body. Instead, Kimat coated his entire body with lightning to boost everything that he could and attacked the lower area as instructed by Adrian as well.

Wisteria is the support for Kimat as Sirius already has his own support. She would release crystal petals that circled around Kimat to protect him. Any projectile that enters the area near Kimat would be shredded by the crystal petals. Wisteria would also use her power to control nature itself to influence the ground and reduced some of the influence that the Precipice of Patience has on the island.

Dodu started to slither towards the Precipice of Patience and just tanked every hit that it received. Dodu is basically the enemy that the Precipice of Patience could never defeat as it would just negate physical damage on its body. The slime body of Dodu made it possible to just rush towards the upper chest of the Precipice of Patience and start corroding it from the outside. Although Dodu is not fully physically immune, the damage he receives is little compared to the damage he does on the enemy.

Kanlaon and Saena are working together when it comes to the aerial combat. Kanlaon would create spells that launch numerous elements at the head of the Precipice of Patience. He would also blast it with his dragon breath, but it seems that the enemy has large resistances as it is not damaged as much as Adrian hopes it would be. Still, Kanlaon being on the field made all elemental attacks more powerful.

Saena flew across the skies with the baby angel Gabriel on her beak. She would have dropped him, but her master told her to take care of the little runt. She focused more on healing her team members as the Precipice of Patience did not have any status ailment spells or abilities. The healing she provides makes it easy for those attacking in short range to live longer.

Charon released his larger form as well and called upon the chains that is hidden in his own pocket dimension. Large chains could be seen springing up from the ground to bind the large rock hands that the Precipice of Patience creates. This made it possible for Charon to have a contribution as the enemy in question is not alive. Charon could not siphon health or mana from it which is why he made sure to contribute another way.

Kenos is just the same and hides in his special pocket dimension as he waits to help his siblings. If any of the other soulbounds finds themselves in a sticky placement then Kenos would just easily shift them to another spot. His large insect-like arms would pierce the dimension and pick up his allies to whisk them away. The soulbounds were slightly confused the first few times it happened but they soon got used to it.

"Fly me closer, large, majestic bird! I need to regain my own power!" The baby angel Gabriel stated but Saena ignored him as she dodges an incoming boulder that was launched at them.

Adrian used his arrows to destroy any boulders that came his way as the Precipice of Patience would actually just blast them with it. The Precipice of Patience is basically a magical golem that has no life force, but it has durability. It is an enemy that Adrian himself will struggle against because he is more suited for fighting against enemies that are alive.

"My energies are basically useless against it because it is not alive." Adrian stated as he looked towards the sudden water geyser that erupted behind him.

Ark finally resurfaced from the waters below and he unfurled his wings to reveal his majesty. Ark then gathered light energy in his right hand while he gathered darkness in his left hand. A sword of darkness and a shield of light manifested before him as he charged towards the Precipice of Patience.

Ark suddenly flew in a rotating motion where he coated himself with both light and darkness energy. He looked like a large energy drill that has both white and black colors. The Precipice of Patience saw this and perceived Ark as a threat. The Precipice of Patience created two large boulder hands that stopped the spinning drill that was Ark.

Ark was able to destroy the two boulder hands, but he was unable to gain more momentum to pierce it. The Precipice of Patience was still safe due to what it did, but it also made it easier to attack by others. Kanlaon flew in a circular motion as he used all six elements in a spell. Kanlaon layered all of these magic circles and suddenly bit it.

"Elemental Catastrophe: Dragon Breath!"

Kanlaon released a dragon breath that was not golden in color but dark gray. The Precipice of Patience was directly hit by the dragon breath that contained the power of the powerful Elemental Catastrophe spell. Kanlaon's perfect control over the elements made it possible to do such a thing with ease. Numerous elemental effects hit the head of the Precipice of Patience which created a powerful explosion that destroyed a chunk of its face.

==

Name: Precipice of Patience

Durability: 88%

==

"We have been attacking it for quite some time but that is all that we destroyed from its durability." Adrian muttered.

"Guild leader, this is an enemy that is not suited for us." Ark stated as he also excelled in combat with enemies affected by elemental attacks.

"I will create an area we can pinpoint for more destruction. It is a golem that has durability which means that we just need to hit it enough and it will break." Adrian stated which Ark nodded.

"I guess I should at least show off since you are here. Nephilim: Devil Mode!" Ark stated as his body is suddenly coated with pure darkness.

Ark's usual attire that combined angelic and devil elements is suddenly in the purely devil aesthetic. All angel wings in his clothes and his actual wings became pure devil wings. The shield of light that he also held vanished as he now held a large black great sword. He also got a devil tail as well which he could use to damage the enemy as well.

"You suddenly feel so sinister." Adrian commented.

"This form focuses more on damage as all my bonus defenses are converted to my attack damage." Ark stated.

"Glass cannon then. I will make sure that you do not die then." Adrian stated as he imbued his arrow with the saved spatial elemental skill that he has saved up.

"Pierce through the enemy! Andromeda!" Adrian shouted as he launched an arrow filled with pure power.

Adrian's arrow headed straight towards where the sigil is etched as he believes that this is the weak spot. The Precipice of Patience would always protect this spot whenever Kanlaon would hit it with skills. Just as he expected, the Precipice of Patience started to create large rock hands to block Adrian's arrow but his soulbounds started to act.

Chapter 2242: Power of Patience III

The rock hands created by the Precipice of Patience were all destroyed by Adrian's soulbounds. Their collective attack made it possible to also prevent the Precipice of Patience to create more rock hands to protect itself. The arrow that contained the power of an exploding star was about to hit the sigil, but it suddenly reacted. The sigil itself suddenly created a floating mark that protected the body of the Precipice of Patience.

This made the arrow fall down but it did not lose its power. The arrow exploded into a powerful galaxy looking explosion. This made all the outer parts of the Precipice of Patience crumble as the reverberations destroyed all of them. The Precipice of Patience suddenly looked a foot smaller because its outer parts have been destroyed but Adrian was not done.

As soon as the skill activated, the spatial spell that Adrian embedded in the arrow also activated. It was a spell that created numerous slices in space as it was Dimension Cutter. Adrian did not even control how the slices in the dimension would occur, but he made sure that all of it will explode. He immediately changed to his mirror demon form and transported all of his soulbounds and Ark away from the area.

The Precipice of Patience thought that the enemy was trying to run away, but the arrow actually exploded with a delay. In that time frame, the entire island is suddenly cut up in different parts as if it was sliced in different times. The space itself of the island looked uneven as Adrian's skill was able to affect the area without any push back from the world itself.

Demons usually feel a pressure as if the world was fighting back but Adrian did not even feel that. Adrian's title that was given by the world itself and his Semi Transcendent skill allowed this to happen. There was nothing in this world that could prevent him from shifting space freely except for himself. Of course, Adrian made sure that his spells will not negatively affect the world, or he would get more things to do.

As soon as the entire space of the island was cut up, the Precipice of Patience suddenly started to get sliced up as well. Parts of its body started to slide off as and even its torso which is its center of gravity started to fail. The Precipice of Patience roared as its durability dropped directly to 50% with Adrian's attack.

"Attack now!" Adrian stated as the Precipice of Patience was busy trying to reform its body.

All Adrian's soulbounds charged and released more attacks against the Precipice of Patience. Even Ark finally used his most powerful attack in his Devil Mode form. Ark would create waves of dark flames that destroyed the rocks. He would even melt the rock because of the fierce heat that is contained in his attacks.

The Precipice of Patience was too busy trying to stabilize itself to even bother defending itself. Adrian took the baby angel Gabriel from Saena's hands as she flew high in the sky. All of Saena's tails glowed in a rainbow light as she released the fierce blast of light that directly blew a hole in the lower body of the Precipice of Patience.

==

Name: Precipice of Patience

Durability: 30%

==

The Precipice of Patience suddenly dropped to 30% durability, and they were about to push through even more, but the entire island was suddenly covered with the sigil of the Angel Gabriel. All of them were pushed out as a shockwave repelled all of them from getting near the Precipice of Patience. Suddenly, a huge amount of power was absorbed from the island itself as the Sigil of Patience that was etched unto the body of the Precipice of Patience started to absorb it.

The Sigil of Patience floated and attached itself to a pure white marble. The pure white marble suddenly started to gather similar stones like itself. The Precipice of Patience is no more as all the pure marble in the island clumped together and started to become clay like. As if the energy in the island is not enough, Adrian felt the Sigil of Patience take more energy from the area as light suddenly pierced the heavens and hit it directly.

The Sigil of Patience imbued unto the white marble suddenly looked incredibly holy as it now gained an aura that resembled light energy. All of a sudden, the white marble started to form a body that is almost humanoid. The first thing that is formed would be a body that has a head until the lower body. The second thing created are large thick arms that floated independently to the body.

Two large shields could suddenly be seen being equipped onto the thick arms. These shields have the Sigil of Patience etched onto them and it also activated its effects as well. The golem that was being created did not have legs or feet as it deemed it useless since its base form did not have legs as well. As soon as the body has been formed, a powerful light energy wave was released from it which showed off the wings made of light and a halo.

==

Name: Precipice of Patience (Battle Seraph Mode)

Durability: 30%

==

The Precipice of Patience has changed form to accommodate fighting against Adrian and Ark. The new form has three halos that resembled the three halos that are present on the Angel Gabriel in his most powerful form. The wings did not reflect the same wings as what the Angel Gabriel had as they were merely streaks of light in shapes of ovals. Still, the Precipice of Patience suddenly looked like an angelic being that was sent to punish those that went against Heaven.

"Impossible! How could such a thing be possible for an inanimate object?!" The baby angel Gabriel exclaimed as he could not believe that an inanimate object is capable of using his own powers.

"If those talents are really yours then it would mean that it has parts of your souls. If it has parts of your souls, then an ego could easily form if the right conditions are present." Adrian stated as he might have suddenly gotten a glimpse of seeing a method of creating a sentient golem.

The Precipice of Patience suddenly brought its two shields together which suddenly created light barriers that prevented Adrian and his soulbounds to move. The only one that was not affected by it was Ark himself. Adrian thought that this would just be a minor sealing status ailment, but it was not the case.

"Defend yourselves! It its going to release all of the damage that you have done back to you!" The baby angel Gabriel shouted.

"How did you know that?! Adrian asked as only his movement was sealed but not his mouth. "I can feel it as if I am the one battling all of you." The baby angel Gabriel stated. Adrian immediately used blink to escape as it seems that the light only suppressed the area that he was in and not his body itself. He was about to save his other soulbounds when the Precipice of Patience created ten magic circles that suddenly blasted all of them with pure light energy. Adrian immediately created numerous mirrors that absorbed the damage but almost all of them shattered.

Seeing that absorbing did not do any good and his soulbounds were about to get hit, Adrian stopped time and activated Diffracting Cosmos. The mirror dimension was summoned over to the real world as Adrian used his mirrors to save his soulbounds. He made sure that all of them would be outside the confines of the mirror dimension.

He even made Ark carry the baby angel Gabriel as he sent them outside as well. Adrian made time flow once again and the beams of light that was about to hit his soulbounds bounced unto the mirror dimension. The Precipice of Patience was a bit confused as its targets suddenly vanished, and Ark is also confused because he suddenly has a baby on his arms.

The light beams that were supposed to kill the soulbounds as it is all the accumulated damage that the Precipice of Patience has taken that would be returned back to them. All of these light beams bounced all around the mirrors widely. It was not until Adrian created mirrors at the perfect angles to focus all of the light beams in one singular location.

"Have a taste of this!" Adrian stated as he created the last mirrors needed to return the attack of the Precipice of Patience.

All of the light beams bent and are now directed perfectly at the location where the Precipice of Patience is currently floating. The Precipice of Patience did not move as if it was calculating what it needed to do next. It then smashed its two shields together as all the beams of light converged towards its location and a spectacular light show occurred.

Chapter 2243: Precipice of Patience (Battle Seraph Mode)

The Precipice of Patience smashed its two shields which actually turned them into fragments. Adrian thought this was slightly strange as it destroyed its means of defense, but he soon learned why. The fragments of the shields scattered but all of them floated around the Precipice of Patience. As soon as the shield fragments floated around it, the Sigil of Patience suddenly activated around the Precipice of Patience.

[The Precipice of Patience has activated the Sigil of Patience.]

[All damage will be absorbed while it is activated.]

"I think I need to exit." Adrian stated as he created a mirror to disappear from inside the mirror dimension that he pulled forth.

All of the light beams converged and hit the Precipice of Patience, but the Sigil of Patience absorbed all of it. Adrian's sixth sense was correct as he needed to flee because the absorbed energy of the Precipice of Patience is getting converted into an attack. As soon as the light beams were all absorbed, the Precipice of Patience released a powerful blast around it.

[The manifested mirror dimension has been destroyed.]

[Due to it being connected to your own energy, you will receive some of the backlash from its destruction.]

Adrian suddenly spats out blood as the entire manifested mirror dimension is destroyed by one attack. The Precipice of Patience looked incredibly menacing as mirror fragments scattered in the area and its wings glowed in a red tint. The Precipice of Patience suddenly locked onto Adrian as it determined that he is the most powerful threat.

[The Precipice of Patience has its damage increase because of the effects of the Sigil of Patience.]

"Oh! It seems that it is now using an ability that I know." The baby angel Gabriel stated which is met with glares from Adrian and Ark.

"The Sigil of Patience has yet to be disabled. Destroy it!" Adrian stated as he could still see a faint barrier around the Precipice of Patience.

Sirius howled as numerous shadow spikes came up towards the sky. The shadow tendrils hit the barrier around the Precipice of Patience, but it did not quiver. Instead, the Precipice of Patience's barrier suddenly glowed in a different color.

"Do not attack it!" Adrian suddenly commanded but it seems that the Precipice of Patience is not limited in movement.

The Precipice of Patience suddenly flew directly towards Adrian with the intent of ramming its body to the latter. Adrian changed his form and released his wings and flew towards the sky. Adrian's alarm bells were ringing when the barrier was still covering the Precipice of Patience. He knew that this enemy would not be reckless unless there is something else.

The Precipice of Patience was slightly getting faster and faster as it was now able to match Adrian's flight speed. The skies were their safe haven earlier because the Precipice of Patience was rooted onto the island, but it is no longer the case. The Precipice of Patience is in Battle Seraph mode, and it enables more modes of movement for it.

"How did it get this powerful?" Adrian thought as it should not have been this powerful given that fragmented souls do not have a lot of power when it awakens into a more powerful ego. Adrian then looked down to see that the island itself was releasing some strange energy, and it was familiar to him.

"It absorbed energy directly from a dragon vein?! Is that even possible for angels?" Adrian thought as he flew downwards to see how mobile the Precipice of Patience could be.

Just as he was about to hit the ground, Adrian froze time for one second as he changed his direction to a horizontal motion. He also made sure to activate Gravity Control towards the Precipice of Patience. The Precipice of Patience crashed to the island with a powerful explosion that actually created a shockwave that made Adrian lose his balance. The explosion carried the power of all the attacks that hit the Precipice of Patience.

"It lost its barrier! Now is the time to attack!" Ark shouted as he could see that the Precipice of Patience is no longer protected by a barrier, but it was also unharmed even if it crashed to the ground.

Chains and crystalline vines suddenly came out from and bound the arms of the Precipice of Patience. The Precipice of Patience tried to fly but Kanlaon used a spell that afflicted it with darkness. Sirius also used his shadows as a way to grab at the light wings that the Precipice of Patience. The fact that the shadows could grab at the wings of enemy made this fight even easier.

Adrian then started to chant as his entire body could be seen gathering vast amounts of energy. The Precipice of Patience detected this rise in power from the being that he marked as a threat. The Precipice of Patience suddenly turned into rubble which shocked all of them, but it was not destroyed. All the chains, vines, and shadows that bound the Precipice of Patience got destroyed as they were no longer holding onto something.

The Sigil of Patience that is the main reason of the body of the Precipice of Patience being solid suddenly shined once again. The rubble flew towards the Sigil of Patience once again and reformed to the current body of the Precipice of Patience. The sudden reformation of the body of the enemy was not something that they expected, and the reformation speed was incredibly fast as well.

"Behind you, master!" Dodu stated as it suddenly transformed its body into a bubble dome to protect Adrian.

Four more marble arms could be seen trying to kill Adrian as they formed in his blind spot. Dodu was able to protect Adrian and repelled the marble arms. Ark rallied the other soulbounds to attack the Precipice of Patience, but all of their spells and attacks were blocked by the Sigil of Patience activating once again. The Precipice of Patience also released another blast of pure energy from the absorbed attacks.

Chapter 2244: Baby Angel Attack!

Dodu melted the created marble hands and all of the soulbounds relentlessly attacked the Precipice of Patience. Adrian finished chanting the spell but decided to save it instead of releasing it immediately. He knew that the attack will not be effective unless the spell would be fired up close. Ark even used his own Limit Break: Warrior skill to make his attacks fiercer but the enemy either absorbs it or dodges.

"It always absorbs the attacks as if it does not have that barrier. How are we going to defeat it?" Ark asked as he retreated a bit since he almost ran out of stamina.

"Any ideas?" Adrian stated as he looked towards the baby angel Gabriel that is currently being nestled at the tree on top of Wisteria's back.

"I am as astounded as you are. I did not even know that I have that kind of power. All I had back then was the power to become stronger in proportion to the time of the battle." The baby angel Gabriel stated.

"Is that even possible? How can a being that absorbed something be more powerful than the original?" Ark asked Adrian while he deliberated on how to defeat the Precipice of Patience.

The Precipice of Patience is no longer focusing on Adrian as of now because all of his soulbounds were attacking it. There are only a few minutes left before all of them are sealed as the Limit Break: Summoner skill is about to vanish. Adrian did not want to use the domain skills of his soulbounds because the enemy is not a living being as it would not be totally affected by the status ailments.

"It is possible if there is a being that limited the growth of said souls. I have a hunch that the Goddess Luminaria intentionally weakened all of you so that you cannot rebel like the others. She was more worried about losing her servants than your own personal growth." Adrian stated which hit a nerve on the baby angel Gabriel's wing.

"Even when she is gone, she is still a pain to deal with. At least, I can now say all of my thoughts instead of just saying it in my mind. When it comes to defeating it, I also have no idea except for what it will do." The baby angel Gabriel stated.

"Kenos! Connect us via telepathy!" Adrian commanded as he connected all their minds as the only soulbounds that remained were Kimat, Sirius, and Kenos.

The Precipice of Patience suddenly created fired off its marble arms, but Adrian and Ark managed to avoid it as if they predicted it. The Precipice of Patience tried once again but it created more marble hands from the rocks below. All of the attacks were dodged as well as if Adrian and Ark could predict the future because they evaded or destroyed the projectiles before it even hit them.

"You could have said that you are somewhat connected to it." Ark grumbled towards the baby angel Gabriel.

"The problem is that we can see the problem quite clearly now compared to before." Adrian stated as both him and Ark could see the veils of energy around the Precipice of Patience.

The Precipice of Patience looked like it did not have a barrier but there was actually another thin layer around its body. It is also the reason why there are no damages to its body when they hit it with magic spells. The Precipice of Patience has a barrier that negated magic damage which is the reason for its incredible elemental resistance. If it is going to be hit with a physical attack, then it will deploy the power of the Sigil of Patience that absorbs any attacks.

"At least, the durability dropped by 5%." Ark stated.

==

Name: Precipice of Patience (Battle Seraph Mode)

Durability: 25%

==

The loss of durability was due to the Precipice of Patience reforming its body, but they cannot do that again as easily. The Precipice of Patience also seems to be learning as well as the fight dragged on. The Precipice of Patience is basically an AI that is learning to fight with two of the most powerful players of different races. If the Precipice of Patience is released unto the world, then it might actually destroy a few kingdoms before it gets destroyed.

"I have a way to disable it." The baby angel Gabriel stated which made Adrian raise his eyebrows as the next conversations were now via telepathy.

"Let us do that then." Adrian stated.

"I will be the one to do most of the work." Ark stated as he sighed but he slapped his face to wake his spirit up.

Ark suddenly got blasted with a powerful pillar of light as his entire body is now clad in gold and silver armor. The wings on his back are now of an angel while three halos appeared on top of his head. He also has shields that are attached to his arms as they can also double as sharp blades that could be swung.

"Let us go, guild leader!" Ark shouted to hype himself up as he charged towards the Precipice of Patience. He charged with his two shield arms in front of his face to defend against any attacks.

"Chrono Shift!" Adrian stated as he made Ark fly faster. He even stacked three more to make sure that he will arrive at his destination.

The Precipice of Patience deployed its Sigil of Patience, but it was unable to stop Ark from being inside of the barrier. The Precipice of Patience could only look at Ark as the latter breached the barrier. Still, the Precipice of Patience did not care as Ark cannot do anything since there is another barrier around its body.

"Let's go, baby angel attack!" Ark stated as behind the two shield arms is actually the baby angel Gabriel.

"I am now going to take back what is mine, stone monster!" The baby angel Gabriel stated as he touched the sigil of the Precipice of Patience.

Chapter 2245: Recovering the Soul (Gabriel)

The baby angel Gabriel's hand passed through the barrier that protected the body of the Precipice of Patience. The Sigil of Patience embedded on the enemy suddenly reacted as it faltered for a split moment. The baby angel Gabriel is registered as the ultimate threat instead of Adrian. The body of the Precipice of Patience suddenly erupted with spikes, but time suddenly stopped.

[The hidden veil of the Precipice of Patience has been deactivated.]

[It will be unable to use the Sigil of Patience for five seconds.]

Adrian appeared next to Ark and the baby angel Gabriel. He made sure to move them a few meters away so that they would not be harmed. He could see that the Sigil of Patience is reacting to the baby angel Gabriel, but the golem is holding onto that power as well. The only way for the baby angel Gabriel to recover a part of his soul is to truly destroy the current vessel.

All of the barriers and even the ability of the Precipice of Patience has been disabled as well. The Precipice of Patience is now left defenseless thanks to the efforts of Ark and the baby angel Gabriel. They did not know if it will really work since this plan was something they thought on the fly. Also, there was a high risk that the baby angel Gabriel could be killed if something goes wrong but Adrian made sure to eliminate the risk via Time Stop.

"I guess I should make maximum effort. The Great Divide!" Adrian stated as he is now in his axe demon form.

Adrian made time flow again normally and the Precipice of Patience actually noticed him. The enemy tried to fire off the spikes that it grew to its body since its original target was gone but Adrian is faster. With the force that could create a literal trench, Adrian slammed his axe towards the Precipice of Patience.

The Sigil of Patience tried its best to make its current host survive but it ultimately failed. Some of the powers of the Sigil of Patience were already taken by the baby angel Gabriel. The last bit of control that the golem had over the Sigil of Patience tried to save it, but the axe made of Primordial Energy sliced it like butter.

[You have defeated the Precipice of Patience (Battle Seraph Mode).]

[You have gained experience points.]

The Precipice of Patience is perfectly sliced in half as well as the island that is below them as the excess power seems to be siphoned off by the land below. The Precipice of Patience, that is now cut in two, dropped to the ground as it lost all of its durability. The thing that only remained in the sky is none other than Sigil of Patience as if it is looking for a new host.

"You shall not get away this time! Get back to me!" The baby angel Gabriel stated as he flew straight towards the Sigil of Patience.

The body of the baby angel Gabriel started to get enveloped in golden light as the Sigil of Patience started to get engraved on his chest. The small body of the baby angel Gabriel started to grow bigger as he regained the part of his soul that was missing. The Angel Gabriel could be seen to be exhilarated as the powers he lost is now returning back to him.

"Finally, back to my old self!" The Angel Gabriel stated but Ark and Adrian looked at him for a moment before they averted their gazes.

"Good job." Ark stated.

"I guess I should go down to get the dropped materials." Adrian stated but Ark did not let go of his hand.

"Do not leave me here, guild master. You were the one that said that he would return to normal if he gets a part of his soul back." Ark stated as he fiercely gripped Adrian to make sure The would not be left explaining.

"Why is there something wrong?" The Angel Gabriel asked as the two of his companions were not looking at him.

"You should look at yourself." Ark stated as he took out a mirror from his inventory and faced it towards the Angel Gabriel.

The Angel Gabriel thought that he was back to his peak strength as the energy in his body is just like before he died. He expected that his gallant and handsome appearance returned but he suddenly became speechless. The proud mature man figure that the Angel Gabriel had has not fully returned. He now has the body of an early teenager, and he was even lanky which shattered the pride that he had from his real figure.

"Why is my body like this!?" The Angel Gabriel exclaimed as he held the mirror while having a face that is trying to deny reality.

"I can only think of one thing." Adrian stated as both Ark and the Angel Gabriel looked at him. Ark made sure to hang on to his guild leader because Adrian is the only one that has an idea of what is happening. Ark knows that the anger of a teenager is more violent than the anger of a baby. He made sure to hang on to Adrian for deal life as he did not want to be sole receiver of the teenage tantrum. Adrian did not look at Ark or the Angel Gabriel as even he is not sure if his debacle is correct.

"I already told you earlier that the being would be weakened. That might be what you are experiencing right now." Adrian stated.

"I feel the same power coursing through my body as back then. I am weaker now since I am not empowered by the Goddess Luminaria like before. Still, I should still have the same power as I have because the missing part of myself feels complete." The Angel Gabriel stated.

"If you feel that your soul is complete then there could be another reason but even, I do not know if this is true. This is just something that I chatted about when I go to the Afterlife." Adrian stated.

"Well, go on with it!" The Angel Gabriel exclaimed as his teenage angst is now being activated.

"Calm down, sunshine. Take what I say with a grain of salt. The reason why you look like that is because that might be your real form." Adrian stated.

"How?! I looked like mature angel that is praised by all of the others! I was born with the body of a mature man." The Angel Gabriel stated.

"You may not have been born like that but forcefully matured while young. I guess the other angels were like that as well seeing that you do not have children. It might have also been the process where the Goddess Luminaria sealed your souls.

The mature appearance that you have was fabricated but even I do not know why. Maybe the Goddess Luminaria hated the appearance of children? I do remember that the Church of Light did not take any young priests as the minimum age of entering is actually when they become adults." Adrian stated but the Angel Gabriel actually looked like he got another realization. "That is actually true! She hated kids even back then as all they did is whine. She did not care for the wishes of children because they only pray for things in exchange." The Angel Gabriel stated as he looked defeated.

"Wait?! If that is what his real form is because his soul was sealed and his powers were limited, then does that mean that they can become more powerful in the future." Ark stated as he could see where Adrian was going with the explanation.

"I do not know if that is the case but there is a large chance that that can be possible. I mean the devils became gods that ruled over Hell and could trap a monster like the Dragon of Revelation. Also, the golem earlier had powers that the Angel Gabriel did not use before which means that they can become more powerful. Still, take it with precaution as powers like that needs determination and strength to obtain." Adrian stated which made the ears of the Angel Gabriel perk.

"If what you say is true then even, I can achieve godhood! With me being the first to recover my power, I would be stronger than Mikhail first. I can now slap some sense into him while I am at the top!" The Angel Gabriel stated as his last sentences revealed his inner thoughts.

"Does he have a grudge against Mikhail or something?" Adrian asked Ark.

"Apparently, he was like the secretary that works more compared to the president. He would always play pranks on Mikhail when he had the chance or when he knows he will not get caught." Ark replied.

"I think that is justified. I even see my father's secretary do that as well from time to time to relieve his stress. Even my mother turns a blind eye when it is harmless." Adrian muttered as the Angel Gabriel was laughing like a maniac.

Chapter 2246: New Babysitter

"Since we have recovered the Angel Gabriel's missing power, we should head back. I already gotten all the drops, but it was all precious stone because it was mostly a golem. At least, I can give it to the alchemists and engravers in Avalon. They might be able to create some golems from them since it was parts of the Precipice of Patience." Adrian stated.

"It was rather easy since the enemy was a golem. Will it be this easy as well if parts of their soul attach to a living being?" Ark asked.

"An inanimate object like the Precipice of Patience makes it less of a burden when it received a fragmented soul with an ego. If their fragmented soul fuses with a living being, then you should be sure that it will be much more difficult than you imagined. It could also be easy depending on the assimilation since the body of a living being could also reject the powers of the fragmented soul ego." Adrian stated as he created a portal back to the town.

"Let us hope that it will always be the latter. Still, how strong are we talking about if they fused perfectly?" Ark asked nervously.

"If the fragmented soul ego fuses with a compatible host, then their strength would rise exponentially. If it is perfectly compatible, then they might as well evolve into a new being. Take the Precipice of Patience, it was just a rock formation on an island, but it seemed to be compatible with the power of the Angel Gabriel which is why it became a golem. The dragon vein connected to the island helped with that but still it is a large change." Adrian stated.

"Are you insulting me that my powers are compatible with a rock!? I am only quiet because you helped me get my powers back, but I know that you teased me earlier when you let me get hit by some debris!" The Angel Gabriel stated as he suddenly became a bit haughty due to his powers coming back.

"That was just revenge when you did not answer my summons when I had you as a skill." Adrian stated as he never forgot the grudge that he had with the Angel Gabriel when his summon skill failed.

"You still carry that grudge when it was not me that wanted to reject! It was the Goddess Luminaria that commanded me to never answer your call! Also, that skill was supposed to be something a summoner from the Church of Light should have and not a demon." The Angel Gabriel stated in protest as he was being accused of being snobby.

"If that was the case then I forgive you. It is all water under the bridge since I got better skills thanks to that." Adrian stated.

"Yes... water under the bridge." The Angel Gabriel stated but he suddenly realized and thought, "Why do I feel like that was such an empty apology?".

"I think we need to return now. I will explain about my questions when we get there, guild leader." Ark stated as he entered the portal.

The Angel Gabriel was about to say something, but Ark passed through the portal once again and dragged him. Adrian could only chuckle at this interaction before he directed his gaze to the distant shore. He then felt that the gaze vanished which is why he vanished through the portal that closed after he entered.

"Did you think he really saw us?" One of the players that hid asked his companions.

"Even if he is a powerful player, sensing us from this distance is impossible. The best one can do is twenty meters, but we are literally a hundred meters from the island." Another of their companions stated.

"The intel of the dark gamer's organization was correct, but the demon beat us to it. He even had the Nephilim with him but where did that angel come from." One of the players stated.

"That angel sprung up when they defeated it. Maybe it was sealed in that island when they defeated the enemy golem." Another of the dark gamers stated.

"Anyways, we should return back and sell this information to the others. This is information on the demon that has a large bounty after all. He might also be after the beings we tagged as the Holy Ones." Another of the dark gamers stated as their group tore up scrolls and vanished from their location.

"We are back!" The Angel Gabriel stated as he proudly showed his young teenage body. The Angel Gabriel thought that the other angels would rejoice and be in awe of his new form but all of them laughed instead. This made the Angel Gabriel so angry that he slapped the baby angel Mikhail's butt and proceeded to punish the others as well. The other baby angels felt the sharp pain which made them go feral as they started biting the Angel Gabriel.

"It seems that your excursion was successful as one of the brats has regained their powers." Lilith stated as she drank tea as she was taking a break from taking care of the baby angels. When they were getting too rowdy, she shot a deadly glare at them which made all of them stop. Even the Angel Gabriel stopped from moving and sat properly when she felt that glare. Seeing that all of them behaved, Lilith returned her gaze to Adrian and Ark as the two were talking.

"I am thankful that another babysitter can be assigned to take care of them. I can hardly look after all of them when they want to play." Lilith stated but Adrian and Ark alternated looking at her and the baby angels with disbelief written on the faces of the latter.

"She is joking.....right? Should we laugh?" Adrian asked as the baby angels could clearly be seen as terrified when it comes to Lilith.

"She is just naturally easily tired, but she actually has higher stats than me. She just likes to procrastinate but pointing that out would make her angry at me." Ark replied via a whisper.

Chapter 2247: Angel Power Detector

"I see. So that was the case." Lilith stated as she looked at the Angel Gabriel as if she was examining every part of his body.

"Why do I suddenly feel a chill?" The Angel Gabriel thought but he did not dare to move since Lilith is directly looking at him.

"Such a pity that all of you were limited by your very own creator. The angels would have been such a powerhouse if you had a creator goddess that actually cared about others instead of herself. Well, that hag is dead anyway so all of you are no longer shackled." Lilith bluntly stated.

The baby angels wanted to protest but they dared not to utter a word when Lilith was looking at them. They were beyond terrified of this Nephilim as she had perfect control over light and darkness. Her mastery even made Mikhail quiver as he witnessed her powers personally. The angels knew that Lilith could sweep all of them up even if their powers returned.

"Does that mean that all of us will be teenagers when we regain our powers?!" The baby angel Jophiel asked while having a terrified expression.

"What is wrong with being a teenager? For the answer to that question, the guild leader would be the best one to give an answer." Ark stated as he pushed the responsibility to Adrian.

"I do not know as each individual would react differently. Some might even retain their baby forms, or you could also return back to your adult forms. Nothing is certain until you actually regain your lost soul fragments." Adrian answered as truthfully as he could.

"As long as I do not become a stinky teenager then I would be good." The angel Jophiel stated.

"Is that jab at me? Talk about a pot calling the kettle black! You stink more than a teenager... you know that, right?" The Angel Gabriel stated which made the angels brawl once again.

"So, who is next?" Adrian asked which made the angels stop their brawl as the other six are jealous that the Angel Gabriel was the first to recover what he lost.

The angels do not want to admit it but the fact that they could become stronger than what they thought are their prime is on the table. They wanted to start their training immediately as they were told that they would regain their adult forms should they grow stronger. Even they felt that the Angel Gabriel was more powerful than his 'prime' as he now understood his talent better than ever.

"Of course, I should be next since I am the leader of the angels after all." The baby angel Mikhail stated proudly but the others protested.

"Why are you fighting on who would be the next new babysitter? Also, do you even detect your talents?" Lilith stated with a glare which made the baby angels straighten their backs. Five of them immediately looked devastated because they could not sense their missing powers.

"I felt my powers, but it is difficult to pinpoint. It is also incredibly faint to the point that I cannot get a clear signal of it because of my weakened state." The baby angel Raphael stated. "One out of six is not bad as we could prioritize." Adrian stated.

"Where did you get a proper sense of where your powers were?" Ark asked the baby angel Raphael.

"I thought it was north at first, but it then moved east. After a few days, I felt it at the west which is why I am confused. The weak connection to it and its constant movement is making it difficult for me to lock on." The baby angel Raphael stated.

"At least, you are better than the other five that could not even detect theirs." The Angel Gabriel stated as he took a jab at the laziness of the others which also instigated another attack to him.

"If there was a way to boost their detection power then it would be easy." Ark muttered.

"I can help them as I can spread my awareness using light." Lilith stated which stunned all of them.

"You can do that?!" Ark asked.

"I can but why do I need to help those brats? Taking care of them is already difficult enough but the others hate them." Lilith stated as she looked at the baby angels with zero emotion.

"You know that they are also pitiful because of that goddess. Also, giving their powers back means that you will no longer look after them." Ark stated.

"The second reason is interesting but not interesting enough to help them." Lilith stated. "What if they help you?" Adrian asked.

"How can they help me when they cannot even help themselves?" Lilith stated.

"They can help you locate the location where the Fallen laid their foundations. I know that you are looking for them since Ark asked for our help regarding them. Also, Gomory is a part of our guild as well which means we also know that she is searching for them." Adrian stated.

"It should have been just between us and Gomory but even she has loose lips when in difficult circumstances. If that is the case, then I could agree since it would also mean that I can actively search. The only reason I cannot leave this place is due to the fact that no one will be here to defend it. If these seven idiots get their powers back, then they could be used to defend the area." Lilith stated as she still looked elegant like a young noble lady.

"Will you help then?" Ark asked.

"Please help us! Mistress!" The baby angels stated as they clung onto Lilith's dress.

"I am only doing this to help my cause, but I also want to join in on the search. Since Gabriel could stay in the territory in my place, I can also search for the remnants of the Fallen while helping the winged brats." Lilith stated as she finished her cup of tea which made the baby angels rejoice while the Angel Gabriel looked downcast.

Chapter 2248: Power of Kindness I

"So, how is the process for the power detecting?" Ark asked.

"It is simple. We just need to resonate with the energy of light that is in their bodies. We will spread it outwards as a pulse and then the energy would rebound back to us if there were something similar." Lilith stated.

"Will that not lead to others detecting it as well?" Adrian asked as anyone that is sensitive to things like this would get a reaction.

"It would but we have you for that. A demon that can open dimensions and travel to any destination as long as they have coordinates are cheats." Lilith stated as she pointed out that they have the portable demon portal at their beck and call.

"Not the first time I have been treated like a transportation module." Adrian stated as he gave space to the two Nephilim.

"You said both of us. Does that mean that I need to do something as well?" Ark asked.

"Of course, brother. I cannot cover the entire world alone since it has become bigger. Lilith grumbled.

"I was just clarifying it to make sure as I was not paying attention fully." Ark exclaimed as he took the baby angel Raphael to his arms.

Lilith then created a magic circle that is made of pure light, but she also created another one that overlapped with it. It was a magic circle made of darkness which amplified the effects of the light elemental spell. This application of light and darkness is why the baby angels are terrified of Lilith because she can use both elements with superior understanding.

Even mages of this era do not have complete grasp of the elements unless they are born with it. Lilith could amplify either light or darkness magic by using the properties of both elements. This also comes naturally to her as if she weaves light and darkness at her fingertips with ease. She was a genius when it comes to using both elemental spells.

Lilith and Ark placed their hands on the baby angel Raphael's head as they activated the magic circle. A faint shroud of darkness elemental energy swept across the area followed by a wave of faint pure light energy. Both of them were natural when it came to activating the magic circle as they did not get any backlash from unleashing a large spell. Still, the two Nephilim could be seen a bit perplexed because they felt something was amiss.

"I tagged the spell to cover the world, but it seems that my calculations and mana input was off. We only managed to cover the central continent and the waters around it." Lilith stated.

Upon Lilith's statement, Adrian looked at the magic circle they used and immediately pointed out the flaw. The magic circle was correct, but the size of the pulse was incomplete due to the fact that the world itself was still growing. She also did not factor in the interference and natural mana that could incur a loss.

"From you magic circle, you would only be able to cover up to half of the world right now. Half is the best but there would also be loss since the elements would also weaken the pulse." Adrian stated.

"This is not good for our end because that means the land, we need to scope would be bigger. Some of players are not affected by the expansion of the land because of the spatial scrolls but it seems that the world has grown bigger indeed." Ark stated as he can feel this when they use normal flight as a means of travel.

"I guess I should be the one to blame since the calculations are off on my part. I guess..." Lilith stated but she suddenly paused mid-sentence.

Ark and even the baby angel Raphael suddenly had their wings perk up. There was a reaction immediately from the pulse that they sent over. Adrian immediately pulled up the map as this would make it easier for him to pinpoint it. The map that Adrian has now is the updated version that the demons used after their surveys. If there is one demon team that is overworked, then that would be the survey team.

"Are you sure?" Adrian asked as they pointed to a spot that is practically at the middle of the ocean.

"That is the place or at least in that area." Lilith stated.

"I agree as well." Ark added.

"I think that is also correct." The baby angel Raphael stated.

"Since that is the case, we should go immediately." Adrian stated as he created a portal that matches with the coordinates that he was given.

The coordinates that he was given is from a place far out where there are not even islands. Adrian wanted to immediately go there but then he knew that they might have some problem. He thought of something, but he needed to verify it first before he suggests it. All of them entered the portal and left the Angel Gabriel in charge of the other baby angels since he is now grown.

All of them arrived at the location including Lilith as the condition for her help is that she is to go with them. Just as Adrian suspected, they were greeted by a large stretch of ocean upon arriving at the area. The baby angel Raphael felt that they were at the correct place but there was nothing here except for waves and the usual jumping aquatic monster.

"I believe that it might be below." Adrian stated as his first guess might actually be true. "You mean at the bottom of the ocean?" Ark asked.

"Most likely as the baby said that it has yet to move and that it is here in this location. The only things that can be looked at are either up or down. There are no floating islands from this location, so the only option is down." Adrian stated as he pointed to the ocean below.

"Nephilim are not good at swimming. There is not even a Nephilim that is half mermaid before either." Lilith stated.

"Angels do not know how to swim as well. We do not like water because we never really needed it." The baby angel Raphael stated.

"I will call for backup so wait for me here. Scout the area while I am gone maybe there is an invisible floating castle or something." Adrian stated as he vanished from the location.

"Was he poking fun at the floating castle that we used back then?" The baby angel Raphael asked.

"Most likely." Ark stated with a nod as he held the baby angel Raphael while conducting a survey.

A few minutes later, Ark and Lilith returned to the original location but there was indeed nothing in the air. There was not even land as well which meant that the only possible location might actually be down. The only problem is that they do not go well with water, and they do not have experience fighting on the depths of the ocean. A few seconds later, a portal finally opened, and Adrian came out of it with another person.

"I got someone that could act as our guide in the depths of the ocean." Adrian stated as he brought the Champion of Dagon himself.

"Altum has arrived! Best diver in all of Avalon!" Altum stated as he posed with his hands stretching to the right in a slanted motion.

"Yoh! Bro!" Ark exclaimed with excitement as he grabbed Altum to celebrate their meeting.

"Do not move around much. I am controlling your gravity, and it uses more mana with erratic movement. If you do not want to suddenly be squished by forces that you cannot see, then keep the celebrating to one area." Adrian stated which made Ark and Altum tone down their celebration by just giving high fives.

"Is that my brother's deep-sea friend he always talks to me about?" Lilith asked.

"I guess so." Adrian replied as he did not know that Ark and Altum were this close.

"I like him as my brother tells me that all the seashells in the town were given by him." Lilith stated with a smile which shocked the baby angel Raphael as he knows that the former does not like other people as much.

"Oh! Well, he does decorate the guild house with odd treasures he gets from the depths. If you like that then you can visit the guild house to check them when you have the time." Adrian stated.

"So, what do you need me here for, guild leader? I know you said that you need my help, but I did not get to the specifics." Altum stated.

"We would need you to help us for this mission since it involves diving deep into the ocean here." Adrian stated.

"Here!? Are you sure?" Altum asked with a face of worry.

"Why? Is there something wrong here?" Ark asked.

"This ocean is part of Scylla territory, and they are not the bunch that gives warm welcomes.

They are the destroy your boat and kill you type of welcome." Altum stated which made Ark gulp with tension.

Chapter 2249: Power of Kindness II

"Of all the territories in the vast ocean, it had to be theirs. It would have been better if it was the Whale Beastkin territory since I already have prior experience from them." Adrian stated as he suddenly felt like he did not want to enter the waters.

"Why is there a problem with the Scylla territory?" Ark asked.

"Apart from the fact that the Scylla are territorial and nasty to deal with, the waters that they live in are not safe. The waters would sometimes hide sharp rock formations or harmful plants and corals below. Add to the fact that any monster that could live in such a place is incredibly powerful then you have a recipe for disaster." Altum stated.

"We are also out of our element, brother. We are not beings that can fight in water." Lilith stated.

"Are we going to give up on my power? I can feel it there as if it is inviting me." The baby angel Raphael stated as he looked like he is about to cry.

"We got no choice since he also said that it moves quickly. If it changes location, then we might need to do the spell that both of you used earlier." Adrian stated.

"Here have this and eat it. It will help with movement in the water and also reduces pressure resistance." Altum stated as he took out pills that looked like pearls.

==

Item Name: Pill of the Deep

Item Tier: Legendary

Item Type: Consumable

Effects:

-Enables the user to move in water easily as it decreases their pressure resistance by 70%.

-The user will be able to breath while underwater for a duration of three hours.

-Increases swimming speed by 50%.

Description: A wonderous pill that is made from a special ingredient that can only be produced by the Deep Ones. A Grand Master Alchemist from Avalon was able to create these wonderous items as there have been a surge of popularity for elixirs and medicine related to deep underwater exploration. It has a salty taste to it but a nasty slimy aftertaste.

==

"Wow! Such a good item!" Ark stated but Adrian looked horrified when he saw those pearl looking things.

Adrian wanted to tell them that they should think if they would eat that despite the benefits. He was also handed one as well, but he told Altum that he did not need it. He actually knows what the special ingredient used in that pill because he saw the deep ones extracting it from their gills. The special ingredient is none other than a mucus substance that only the deep ones could excrete. This substance basically helps them create a layer of hydrophobic skin on top of their bodies.

"I am not going to eat Deep One goo even if it is processed." Adrian thought as he summoned Kanlaon as a ride to the depths. He is already not that affected by pressure and he does not breathe air due to the Demon Core regulating his body if there is no air present.

"It is salty, but it is addicting. I remember my favorite snack because of it." Ark stated as he did say that he lived near the sea in the real world.

"I do not like the slimy texture, but I need to endure in order to dive as well." Lilith stated as she ate the pill without hesitation.

"Why do you give things like this to a baby!? Are all of you insane?" The baby angel Raphael stated as he did not like the pill. He even pretended to be a real baby and tried to spit it out, but Lilith made sure that he ate it.

"Good boy." Lilith stated as he patted the depressed baby angel Raphael.

"Let us go then. You can hold onto Kanlaon as we dive since that would be easier and faster. Altum, you can lead the way." Adrian stated.

"Sure thing, guild leader!" Altum stated as Adrian no longer afflicted him with gravity control.

Altum plunged to the ocean like a professional diver. There was not even a large splash that occurred when he entered it as if he was water himself. He then surfaced to tell the others that it is now fine for them to enter as well.

Adrian and others held onto Kanlaon as they dove towards the water. Adrian was protected by Kanlaon using his dragon ball that controlled the ice element. Ark, Lilith and the baby angel Raphael were protected by the pill that they ate. Adrian could see a small layer of on their skin that made them dry even when they entered the ocean. Even their wings were protected but they hid it since they might decrease the water pressure resistance.

"The pills are incredibly effective. Are you sure that you will not eat one, guild leader?" Ark asked.

"You do not have to worry about that, Ark. We, demons, can even go into space. The depths of the oceans are not a problem for beings like us." Adrian stated.

"I guess the Daemos are more blessed compared to us, Nephilim." Lilith stated as she actually envied that trait.

"The trade off for that is elemental spells and having to need large amounts of mana for spells though." Adrian stated as they headed deeper to the ocean floor.

They entered the ocean without any problems, but Altum could be seen being very wary. Just as Altum said earlier, the water territories of the Scylla are filled with numerous stone spikes even underwater. This made their traversal longer as they needed to get around them. Altum also told them to be cautious as Scylla could even blend in on their surroundings. Fortunately for them, Adrian has a soulbound that could help them link their minds which is Kenos. They were able to converse while they traversed the waters. A few minutes later, the baby angel Raphael suddenly felt something. He then pointed downwards which meant that they needed to go deeper than before.

Chapter 2250: Power of Kindness III

"I can feel it even more! It is down there!" The baby angel Raphael stated as he pointed towards the depths of the ocean floor where everything was pitch black.

"Should we light the way?" Ark asked since they were basically travelling in darkness a few minutes ago.

"No. That will only attract monsters that were wary of us earlier. Light in this place means you are a target or a predator dangling fake prey." Altum stated as the depths of the oceans or seas are unforgiving. He already has his fair share of being eaten by a gigantic ocean or sea monsters and he will not be doing that again.

"Make sure to hold on tight to Kanlaon for now. The baby is basically pointing to a large chasm which means that it might be a separate world upon entering there." Adrian stated as he could still see clearly even in the dark.

Fortunately, they did not encounter any monster when they reached the bottom of the ocean. Adrian had to ask Kanlaon to shrink even further as the chasm was only big on the outside, but the actual hole was smaller. Seeing that everyone has already prepared themselves, Altum took the lead with the others following him.

As soon as they entered the chasm, a powerful torrent of water suddenly pushed them from behind which accelerated their descent. Even Altum could not go against the currents as all of them were swept away for a good twenty minutes. They were then ejected from what looks like a tunnel system and arrived at an unfamiliar place even for Altum.

[You have arrived at the Under Depths.]

The place they were ejected to is just like the ocean but there was a layer of bedrock on top of them that acts as a ceiling. The surroundings also became different as the dreary looking ocean floor suddenly turned colorful and bright. There were corals that they have never seen before that glowed in different colored light. There are even gems and shells that gave off a glow which made the entire place incredibly well lit.

"It is as if we are on the surface because of how bright it is." Ark stated as he would have been deceived if he could not see the bedrock on top of their heads.

"To think that the Under Depths were real!" Altum stated in excitement.

"What is the Under Depths?" Ark asked.

"It is a place that is told by the old Deep Ones that is said to be a paradise for beings that thrive at the very depths. A mystical place that is an ocean beneath the ocean! To think that everything was real and not made up, but does this mean that the core of the world is made of water? Also, where was this earlier on? I tried searching for it, but I could not find an entrance." Altum stated as he suddenly pondered but then looked at Adrian for an answer.

"It might be due to the fact that the world expanded. The Under Depths might not have existed when the world itself was small. It might have only been exposed when the world was returning back to its original state. After all, players that could freely traverse the depths of the oceans and seas are few." Adrian stated and even Altum agreed with that reason.

All of them explored the Under Depths with caution but Altum could be seen extremely excited. Even Lilith looked mesmerized by the things around her as her stoic demeanor softened and looked childlike. The baby angel Raphael told them that he could feel his powers in this place as if it was all over. Since their powers would often need to have a sigil to work, Adrian asked what the baby angel Raphael's sigil looked like.

The sigil of the Angel Raphael looked like many crosses with circles at the tips. This sigil invokes the power of healing and rejuvenation. They were all looking at the rocks around as there might be a chance that it is also a golem that got the sigil. Still, they scoured the area for half an hour, but they did not see the sigil. Thankfully, there were no monsters in the area, but Adrian felt that made him more anxious.

'Are you sure that it is here?' Ark asked.

"I am certain. You can even say that we are on top of it." The baby angel Raphael stated which suddenly made Adrian tell Kanlaon to swim to the top as fast possible.

The others did not know why but made sure to hold on tight to Kanlaon as the face that Adrian made was serious. They swam all the way to the top which meant that they could already touch the bedrock. Adrian then changed to his mirror demon form to get a better grasp of the area, and he was stunned that his thoughts were correct.

"Did you find something out, guild leader?" Altum asked.

"I realized it when the baby said that we are on top of it. This prompted me to take a better view of the area. To my surprise, we were really on top of it just like he said." Adrian stated as he pointed at the place that they were freely looking at.

Adrian pointed at the place, and they could finally see what he saw. The marks of the Sigil of Patience could be seen being illuminated. They were unable to view it earlier because they were standing on top of it as they thought those were just roads that lit up because of a special stone. To their surprise and horror, the 'roads' are actually the marks of the sigil itself which is why the baby angel Raphael told them that it could feel its power everywhere.

"Is that a golem? If it is then it is massive!" Ark stated.

"It is not a golem but a large jellyfish monster. A named Jellyfish monster to be exact." Adrian stated as he revealed the information he got.