

O Summoner 2251

Chapter 2251: Physalia

Monster Name: Physalia

Monster Tier: Semi - Mythical

Monster Species: Man O' War Giga (Mutant Variant)

Monster Race: Under Depths Siphonophore

Health: 100%

Mana: 100%

Description: A monster born in the Under Depths that is said to have a large body that could grow as big as a hill. It is said to be gentle as long as it is not disturbed because it has slow senses. It suddenly underwent a mutation and even got a name when an unknown power hit it when it went to the surface for a brief period. It is now vastly different from the other Man O' War Giga that lives in the Under Depths.

"That thing is the monster that we need to defeat?! Any ideas on how to take that thing down, Altum?" Ark asked.

"This is also the first time that I have known about monsters like that. The Under Depths is basically a new location even for under sea explorer players like me." Altum replied.

"Maybe we can get back the baby angel Raphael's power since it seems to not be moving. The Angel Gabriel was able to get some of his powers back when he touched the sigil. Maybe the baby angel Raphael could do that as well." Adrian suggested which made them look at the baby clinging to Lilith.

"I can try but it seems to have integrated my power to its soul. The fact that it could even grow things like those on its head means that its healing properties must be boosted. Still, we can give it a try since it does not seem to care to even look at us." The baby angel Raphael stated as all of them swam closer to the monster once again.

The baby angel Raphael touched the sigil with his own hands, and it suddenly reacted. Adrian and Ark thought that this might be a good sign because this meant that it is working. The baby angel Raphael also looked like he was concentrating a lot while shouting. He was overreacting a bit, but the others did not judge him as he is a baby.

"AHHH! Run!" The baby angel Raphael suddenly shouted as hundreds of tendrils of the Physalia could be seen converging on their location.

Lilith immediately grabbed for the baby angel Raphael while the others dodged the attack. The numerous tendrils slammed at the area that they were in, and one could see that the Physalia actually injured itself. As soon as the Physalia received some form of damage, a golden light suddenly enveloped the injured area and healed it back to its previous form. Even the things that grew on top of it have been healed as well.

"At least, we have verified that it does have the Power of Kindness." Ark stated but the tendrils seemed to lock onto them.

All of the tendrils that destroyed a part of its body were also hurt when they slammed but even that was healed. Numerous of these tendrils then scanned the area as if they were alive and chased after all of them. Kanlaon blasted the tendrils with his dragon breath but the defensive instincts of the Physalia seem to be incredibly sharp.

The Physalia converged numerous tendrils together to block the dragon breath from easily destroying parts of its body. The tendrils managed to block the dragon breath but some of it were destroyed. One would think that the destruction would be permanent, but the Power of Kindness activated once again. All of the destroyed parts of the tendrils started to regrow faster than before.

"Why does it feel like it is healing faster than when you were using it?" Ark stated.

"Hey! You still need some understanding of the body to heal it. It is obvious that it can heal itself quickly since it knows its body." The baby angel Raphael reacted.

"Stop bickering and more attacking!" Adrian stated as all of them shifted from running to offense.

Adrian summoned Dodu and Wisteria as they are the beings that can fight even when under the water. Dodu immediately did what it did best and started to corrode the upper body of the Physalia. The parts that it corrodes are also being healed at the same time which meant that the Physalia could heal as fast as Dodu could eat. The battle between the two seemed to have sparked the survival instinct of the Physalia as most of its tendrils were now after Dodu.

Wisteria released the power of nature hidden in her tree as she shot out numerous crystal leaves. The crystal leaves cut off the parts of the Physalia which Dodu seemed to like. Dodu sent its tendrils to collect the cut-up parts of the Physalia and started to change its body structure to match the enemy. Dodu might look like it is not intelligent, but it can extract information about beings that it can absorb.

Adrian strategically used Dodu for this battle because he needed to know more about the enemy. All that they know right now is the fact that it is a gigantic jellyfish monster that could heal itself. Ark released blast of light and darkness along with Lilith, but the latter focused more on protecting the baby angel Raphael. The baby angel Raphael seems to also be a target for the Physalia as it seems that it recognizes the true owner of the power that it has taken.

Altum took out his weapon and it was an anchor that has sharp edges. He could even use it as a midrange weapon because of the chains attached to it. Altum could easily deal with the tendrils because he is the one that has complete movement compared to the others. He could easily swim as if it was natural for him.

All of them focused on destroying the numerous tendrils that attacked them. This carried on for a long time to the point that they are getting incredibly exhausted. The monster that they are attacking is basically healing all the damage that they are doing.

Chapter 2252: Angered Under Depths Monster

All of them might be tired but that does not mean that the Physalia is not getting tired as well. The Power of Kindness is no something that can continuously be used without respite. The Physalia did not stop in regenerating its limbs which meant that it expended lots of its mana in the process.

The baby angel Raphael already told them that the weakness of its powers and that is the burden or cost to use it. The power to heal is not something that could be done easily without a lot of mana. Angels were not a race that could use healing magic naturally, but the Angel Raphael was created specifically for that. He was the only angel that is said to have the power to heal.

The Angel Raphael even asked the Goddess Luminaria once why it is only him that could use such power, but the latter just answered that he was made that way. In truth, the Power of Kindness that awakened from the Angel Raphael was due to his wish to heal the other angels. He awakened this power because of the need for a healer from the angels and he was the kindest of them all.

All of them except for Lilith were already breathing heavily but they could see the tendrils not being healed as fast as before. It seems that even a monster so powerful like the Physalia can also feel exhaustion. Its exhaustion could be noticed because Dodu has finally penetrated deeply onto its skin using corrosion.

Dodu then inserted a tendril of its own and devoured the information that Adrian needed. Scenes of what happened to the Physalia are transmitted directly to Adrian. The scene where it rose to the surface along with its other kind. He also saw the Physalia just floating freely on the ocean when a shining star suddenly pierced its body.

The Physalia even thought that the thing that entered its body was harmful and even tried to cut off the infected part, but it already started fusing with its soul. The Sigil of Kindness suddenly glowed on top of its flat head as it started to gain more intelligence. Suddenly having the Sigil of Kindness also transformed the Physalia into an incredibly intelligent monster that it started to gather and conserve its power.

The Man O' War Giga are a monster species that lived in the Under Depths as a collective, but the Physalia averted them when it got increased intelligence. In fact, the Physalia started devouring more and more prey which increased its size faster. The others of its species were still small compared to it, but the Sigil of Kindness amplified its growth faster as it needed to evolve.

Using the Sigil of Kindness, the Physalia managed to evolve into a mutant variation of its species. It is vastly intelligent while also having the power to heal with just a touch. In fact, it even roamed the oceans to test its healing abilities. The Physalia would catch prey then destroy part of it and then heal it.

It learned that prey that are still alive when healed could regrow parts of its body. Basically, the Physalia learned how to create an infinite food source as it would catch prey and consume it for a long time. It would eat parts of its prey but makes sure it is still alive. When the prey is at the edge of death, the Physalia would heal it back to its original form and continue the process.

Not a lot of monsters could endure torture like that even if they live in the Under Depths. Some of the monsters that it devoured would die from shock a few days or weeks if it is lucky. This practice of hunting made it grow exponentially as before in preparation for its real agenda.

As soon as Adrian received all of the information, he is shocked that the Physalia is more cunning and intelligent than he thought. He also got a glimpse of the true plan of the monster that is before them. Adrian immediately told their most powerful fighter to destroy the monster before them as fast as possible. He even took the baby angel Raphael as he knew that Lilith needed some space to use her powerful spells.

"Seeing as you are in panic, I would need to destroy it as fast as possible. Let the Light of the Sun Darken and destroy the world! Black Sun!" Lilith shouted as she created a large black sun that burned even in the depths of the ocean.

Adrian immediately sealed back Dodu and Wisteria so that they will not be caught by the attack. He also told Kanlaon to collect Altum and Ark so that they do not get caught up as well. The black sun descended onto the enemy monster as more tendrils is launched to protect itself from the attack.

The Physalia looked incredibly angry at them but the power behind the black sun is not ordinary. Adrian looked at Lilith with shock, but he also saw that she was not happy with the spell. It seems that she noticed that the power of the spell was weakened because of the area that they were in. The Pill of the Deep might help them move in water, but their spells and attacks are another issue.

Still, Lilith is still incredibly powerful as the black sun boiled the water and the body of the Physalia along with it. The enemy would have already screamed if it actually had the ability to. Parts of the Physalia tried to heal itself but the black flames of the black sun actually lessened the healing properties of its body.

"Use another one! I can feel it growing stronger!" The baby angel Raphael stated in panic as it was also connected to the enemy when it touched the sigil.

"KUWAAHHH!" The thing that was hidden deep within the body of the Physalia finally emerged and the thing that Adrian saw has finally appeared.

Chapter 2253: Physalia Battle Seraph Mode I

[The Physalia has activated Battle Seraph Mode.]

A powerful sonic wave pushed out the black sun by a humanoid being that came from inside of the gigantic Physalia. The humanoid being looked more like a female human with the bell of a jellyfish. The Sigil of Kindness is also etched on top of the bell which glowed in a golden light. The Physalia also has tendrils coming out of its bell, but these looked more like elongated wings with a mix of strands made of light. The humanoid body is also a bit translucent to the point that it would have melted into the water if there were no light being emitted by its body. The Physalia also has two large tendrils that it uses as an extra limb but one could see two halos acting as rings. The other halo is on its neck acting like a choker made of light.

"Why is the enemy hot?" Altum stated which made the others give him stares filled with judgement.

The size of the enemy might have shrunk a little because it was inside of the giant body earlier, but it was still bigger than them. The enemy was still ten meters tall and could even be labeled as a giant compared to them. The Physalia's humanoid face did not have eyes as it is still a monster even if it took on the form it has now. The Battle Seraph Mode is basically a form that is more suited for combat as a way to defend themselves.

Unlike with the Precipice of Patience that only activated its Battle Seraph Mode when it lost a chunk of its durability, the Physalia immediately entered it when it was threatened. It seems that its ordinary form does not have the ability to do combat. Adrian and the others also felt this earlier as the only form of attack that the Physalia did is via its tendrils.

The enemy now has more modes of attack now compared to before as it even used a sonic wave to destroy the black sun. Even if the black sun reduced its power and was mainly tanked by the large body, the power behind the spell was still powerful enough to heavily damage the outer body. The Physalia even discarded the outer body when it was heavily damaged as if it was unnecessary.

"Food!" Dodu stated as it actually swam towards the sinking body of the Physalia and increased his size to devour it.

Seeing that its outer body getting desecrated, the Physalia released powerful sonic attacks towards Dodu. The sonic attacks would have hit Dodu if not for its quick thinking. Dodu squirmed towards the underside of the discarded body as the sonic attacks of the Physalia hit it. Instead of Dodu getting hit, the discarded body of the Physalia is torn to shreds which actually angered Dodu since its food is no longer whole.

"Hit it." Adrian stated as both Kanlaon and Wisteria opened their mouths.

A golden beam of light and a pure white light came out from Kanlaon and Wisteria respectively as they used their breath attacks. The Physalia had to shift its focus from its discarded body to the beams of energy about to hit it. The two large tendrils of the Physalia with the halos activated as they created shields of light that blocked the breath attacks of Adrian's soulbounds.

Ark moved with Altum as those two focused on close ranged attacks. Altum could easily swim through the water as he threw his anchor towards the Physalia. The enemy noticed the weapon and used one of its arms to block it. The anchor managed to hit the hand of the Physalia, but it was able to swat it away.

If one looked closely, the anchor was deflected by a sonic wave after it hit the hand of the enemy. Altum immediately recovered his anchor as it is still chained to his hand. While the anchor headed back to Altum, Ark moved and used darkness instead of light because of the weakened light element in the Under Depths. He changed to his devil mode but did not use swords as he made use of the opening that Altum created.

Burst of dark spheres suddenly appeared around the Physalia and exploded when one of its tendrils made of light touched it lightly. The explosion of that particular dark sphere also made the others explode in a chain reaction. The Physalia showed an expression of pain as it was not just a monster from the Under Depths but also a monster containing light elemental energy.

"Great job!" Altum stated as he launched his anchor once again and this time it was able to wrap around the ankle of the Physalia.

The Physalia tried to swat Altum away, but he suddenly looked bigger than his previous form. Altum's divine weapon came from the God Dagon himself, and it allowed him to contend with monsters that live in the depths of the oceans and seas. Altum's power increases the deeper and longer he is in any body of water which means that he is the one you would always want when there is an underwater enemy.

"Hurry! It is struggling and it is getting too straining just trying to make it immobile." Altum stated as the Physalia started to thrash about and even tried hitting the chain of the anchor.

Adrian suddenly appeared next to the Physalia which actually shocked the enemy. If the enemy was a golem like before then it would not have reacted the same way. Adrian really felt that enemies with emotions are easier to combat as they would be flustered. Adrian held out his hand and slammed something at the chest of the Physalia.

The Physalia felt some strange energy enter its chest and tried to rip it out of her body, but it was too late. Adrian smiled as he vanished once more before warning the others to gain some distance. With a snap of his finger, the space around and inside of the body of the Physalia started to be shredded.

Chapter 2254: Physalia Battle Seraph Mode II

"Dimension Cutter!" Adrian stated with a snap as numerous cuts in space hit the body of the Physalia.

If the Physalia actually had a heart, then it would have been destroyed already. The body of the Physalia could be seen being torn at an extreme pace but it is actually still alive. The Sigil of Kindness activated, and its torn-up body exploded in golden light. When the light subsided, the shredded body of the Physalia has once again become complete.

"Seriously, that kind of healing ability is cheating." Adrian stated as he cannot use another powerful spell like that anytime soon.

"It is running away!" Altum shouted as the leg that was caught by his anchor and chain was shredded earlier as well.

"Blackout." Lilith calmly stated as a wave of darkness suddenly covered a large area.

The fleeing Physalia is also caught up inside of the area which made it unable to flee. This was akin to a domain, but it is more of a skill that restricted the area. All of the beings inside of it cannot escape unless the being that used the spell is out of mana or killed.

[You are inside of a constricted space.]

[You are trapped inside of it along with your party members and the Physalia.] [In order for the spell to be broken, the caster must run out of mana or killed.] [All darkness elemental spells are empowered by 10% inside of the area.]

[All light elemental spells are depowered by 10% inside of the area.]

"I will blend with the shadows and need to maintain my focus. Defeat the enemy while I also provide support." Lilith stated as she took the baby angel Raphael and vanished in the darkness.

Inside of Blackout, there is nothing that could be seen unless you have the Dark Vision. Fortunately for Adrian, he has dark vision and Altum also has it as well. Ark is not affected by the effects of Blackout since he is a Nephilim that has both light and darkness. The Physalia did not have anything that could aid it in fighting, but its body emitted its own light.

Emitting its own light would have been useful for the Physalia if it just needed to light up a path but it is in battle. Inside a space that only has darkness, a being that lights itself up is the perfect target since it is the only being that could be seen. The Physalia activated its instincts to the maximum because its enemies were invisible to it.

The Physalia then thought to release a blast of light combined with its sonic attack to illuminate the area but tendrils in the dark suddenly attached to its body. The Physalia felt pain as its current body is much more sensitive compared to its outer shell. The Physalia tried to shake the tendrils that attached itself to its body, but an anchor suddenly hit it in the head.

The sound of water being pushed at high speeds could be heard as beams of darkness suddenly pierced the body of the Physalia. The pain inflicted on its body is increased and the Physalia decided to release a powerful blast of light that also utilized sonic frequencies. A wave of light and a wide sonic attack swept through the area which illuminated it entirely for a few seconds.

The Physalia would have regretted this decision if it was more intelligent because it only noticed the looming danger before it. Crystal leaves aimed at its body, a dark beam being fired by a dragon, a gigantic bow and arrow made of black flames, and a demon that is holding a scythe near its neck were all revealed. The Physalia could feel the scythe of the demon near its neck and immediately activated an ability to protect itself.

The halo that acted as a choker on its neck suddenly expanded to release a powerful shockwave and light explosion. All of them that were near the Physalia are pushed away while the attacks and spells that were charging were snuffed out. The halo that released this attack got destroyed after this attack.

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) has been weakened by 10%.]

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) will be invulnerable for five seconds.]

After the Physalia unleashed one of its life saving abilities, it immediately went into rampage and released attacks using its sonic ability. Unlike the previous times where it released it in a spread-out direction, the Physalia utilized sharp attacks using its large tendrils. It would use its tendrils to slash at the water to create a sharp sonic wave that travelled through water in an unbelievable speed.

The first target was none other than Adrian since he was the closest of cutting off the neck of the Physalia. Two sonic slashes hit Adrian, but he made use of his scythe to block the initial impact. He was able to negate some of the damage, but he was pushed to the edges of the constricted area. Attacks poured towards the Physalia, but it was now in a state of invulnerability.

The Physalia released sonic slashes towards the others as well, but they were also able to defend against it. Ark made use of a spell that temporarily turned his body into shadows which let the attack pass through. Altum used his anchor as a shield which also ended up with him getting pushed back but not as far as Adrian since he moves better in water.

Kanlaon dodged the sonic slashes with ease as he can move in water freely as well. Wisteria retreated back to her shell and hardened it to the point that the sonic slashes did not even damage her. Dodu just let the sonic slashes pass through its body and let it get cut up in thirds, but all parts of its body stuck back after a second or two.

If the Physalia could show frustration, then it would have already shown it by now as it waves its tendrils in irritation. Adrian and the others did not hurry because the curtain of darkness is their friend as the illuminated area is swallowed by it once more.

Chapter 2255: Physalia Battle Seraph Mode III

The Physalia is once again shrouded in darkness as its enemies are cloaked within it once more. Adrian and the others utilized the darkness once again to release spells and attacks towards their enemy. The Physalia once again utilized one of the halos on its body to release a powerful burst of light and sound.

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) has been weakened by 5%.]

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) will be invulnerable for five seconds.]

Once again, the Physalia entered a state of invulnerability but the attacks that it released are no longer the same. Unlike before where it used sonic slashes, the Physalia now uses sonic disks that could revolve around it. The attacks are now in an orbit around the Physalia which meant that it might have weakened but its mode of dealing damage increased in size.

Still, the attacks of the Physalia are clearly visible since it is laced with golden light due to the light element inside of its body. The Physalia also healed back the wounds that Adrian and the others dealt it with. The health of the Physalia also healed back with any attack they land but the healing speed could clearly be seen to be slowing down.

The Physalia also started to dodge attacks as it could easily move its gigantic body since being under water is its domain. The enemy that did not even care to dodge because it could heal its body is now desperate in dodging all attacks and spells being launched on its body. The Physalia is now getting desperate as the darkness is starting to swallow the area that it illuminated once again.

If the Physalia could express human emotion clearly then it would have already become depressed and incredibly afraid. Its instinct is telling it that there is no way out of this situation but the hope of a monster that survives in the deepest part of the waters will not get snuffed out easily. The determination to live is engraved in the very instinct of the Physalia ever since it is born.

The Physalia immediately activated the last halo that it has on its large tentacle. The dimming area suddenly burst in a powerful light once again and it was more powerful than the previous ones. The last halo of the Physalia also released a powerful blast of light elemental energy that dealt flat percentage damage.

[Your health has been diminished by 30% due to the attack of the Physalia.]

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) has been weakened by 5%.]

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) will be invulnerable for 15 seconds.]

[The Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode) has increased 50% damage for the rest of combat.]

The invulnerability has been activated once again but it has increased in duration instead of being decreased further. The Physalia also shined in a golden light much brighter than before while the translucent body turned white as a marble. The Physalia might have looked like a beautiful jellyfish humanoid earlier but now it looked like an angelic being.

"Why does it feel like it looks more of an angel than the other angels?" Ark suddenly voiced out what all of them were thinking.

The Physalia's body is emitting a powerful light that illuminates the area around it that it would now notice any enemy that comes near it. Altum is the first to test the waters as he could easily dodge should he makes a mistake. Adrian could also save him if there is a problem with his distance against the enemy. Altum swung his anchor and chain in a circular motion as he gathered momentum by swimming around the Physalia.

Altum made sure to be in dark parts of the water to make sure that the Physalia does not notice him. Adrian could then see that Altum's anchor is now layered with frost. He found this interesting as Altum mainly used purely physical attacks earlier, but it seems that he is now using elemental enhancements mixed in.

Since the Physalia is also an underwater creature, it could feel the fast movement in it despite being unaware of their general locations. Adrian and Ark are the ones that became responsible for taking the attention away from Altum. Ark released his swords made of darkness and also released his Limit Break: Warrior. Sword aura waves that contained the dark element are aimed towards the Physalia.

Adrian changed to his bow armament and made use of Kanlaon's elemental enhancement. He made Kanlaon enhance his arrows with the darkness element. The arrows that look like shiny stars suddenly became dark stars instead. Wisteria's crystal leaves were also enhanced this way which made them be coated with dark shadows.

The Physalia shifted its focus in defending against the attacks that are now heading its way. The darkness element still has the increased damage even if the area is now illuminated. Altum felt that fighting with a team is incredibly different as there are only a few in the guild that could play with him. He is already used to solo play, but the support of Ark and his guild leader makes it easy for him to use his skills.

"Frost Diver!" Altum stated as he released his anchor that is now coated in cold ice.

The Physalia that was busy defending itself from the darkness elemental attacks are hit from behind. The anchor that is supposed to bounce off when it hits suddenly stuck on the back of the Physalia. A layer of frost also started to cover the back of the Physalia and Altum's anchor literally attached permanently.

The Physalia tried to shake the anchor off, but Altum has just began. The chain that connected to the anchor suddenly became coated with the same frost to protect itself from getting destroyed. The Physalia released a powerful blast of light energy, but it did not destroy the ice. What it did do is show the terrifying form of Altum when he activates the exclusive skill of the Champion of Dagon call Terror of the Deep.

Chapter 2256: Altum's True Strength

Altum's appearance is vastly different from his usual goofy looking fishman self. He looked like a beefed-up version of a Deep One and one might even say that he looked like a miniature Dagon. The most intimidating thing about his form is that he is now three meters tall with a large mouth filled with sharp teeth.

The other side of the chain could be seen completely attached to his right arm as it is even frozen in place. With a powerful pull, the Physalia was also dragged towards Altum as it was unable to counter the force that the latter used. In just a matter of a few seconds, Altum and the Physalia are now face to face.

Altum might dwarf the Physalia when it comes to size, but lethality is a different matter. Altum opened wide as his teeth sank onto the body of the Physalia. With one powerful chomp, the right arm of the Physalia is torn apart. The Physalia uttered a sonic scream of pain which it did not do so earlier when it was attacked on all sides.

[Altum's attack have increased pain sensitivity when it lands while in the form of the Terror of the Deep.]

It seems that the Physalia's nerves activated too much to the point that it finally showed pain. The Physalia looked at the missing arm and then to Altum with great disbelief. The body that should not even feel pain is now susceptible to it because of the enemy in front of it. The Physalia released a powerful burst of light energy that knocked Altum away, but he is still connected to the enemy.

The missing arm of the Physalia started to regenerate at a visible speed but slower than ever before. Altum once again tugged at the chain which made him and the Physalia get close to one another once again. This time he went for the left arm but the large tendrils of the Physalia blocked his path. Still, the Physalia seems to have forgotten that Altum is not the only enemy.

Ark with the aid of Kanlaon zoomed in and sliced off one of the large tendrils. Adrian summoned Charon's chain to pull on the other large tendril while Wisteria released a large amount of crystal leaves that destroyed it. The Physalia could no longer defend against Altum which made the latter to easily bite off the other arm.

"OWWAAA!" The Physalia suddenly released a powerful sonic attack that pushed all of the enemies away, but Altum is still connected to it.

"Support Altum!" Adrian stated as he commanded them to buff Altum as much as possible.

Altum's body suddenly burst with powerful energy as a buff that contained the six elements made him more powerful. Ark also chimed in and reverted to his natural form to buff Altum with light and darkness buffs. Wisteria released a burst of energy that boosted Altum's spiritual power that also increased his stats by 20% for a short period of one minute.

[You have casted Chrono Max on Altum.]

[Altum has increased 200% movement speed, reaction speed, and attack speed for ten seconds.]

As if the buffs were not enough, Adrian made sure that even the Physalia will not be able to react to Altum. He was already swimming at a fast pace, but Adrian boosted it even more to the point that even the Physalia could not react to him. Without even being able to defend itself, the Physalia suddenly had its neck completely torn apart.

The Physalia was not yet dead despite having its head almost being severed. The Sigil of Kindness activated to try and recover the health that the Physalia lost. The visible regeneration could be seen but it was incredibly slow as the stamina of the enemy is already depleted. Still, the stamina of the Physalia is enough to restore its body one last time but Lilith was just waiting for the perfect chance.

"Beware the dark abyss: Dark Fall!" Lilith stated as she suddenly manifested from the shadows while clinging to the baby angel Raphael.

The area that is covered in darkness suddenly converged as all of it was absorbed in the palm of Lilith's hand. She then plunged this pure darkness onto the head of the Physalia. A powerful explosion of darkness covered the area in it which made even light unable to shine. This powerful spell painted the area in black, but it soon returned to normal after a few seconds.

[You have defeated the Physalia (Battle Seraph Mode).]

[You have been awarded experience points for defeating a powerful enemy.]

"I will collect the drops!" Altum stated as the items that the enemy dropped started to fall deep.

"I shall help you." Adrian stated as he called upon Kanlaon to move faster in the water. The Sigil of Kindness could be seen floating in front of Lilith as it waited for its true owner to claim it. The baby angel Raphael touched the Sigil of Kindness, and it entered its body without any resistance. The body of the baby angel Raphael started to experience changes just like what happened to the Angel Gabriel.

The infant appearance of the Angel Raphael started to shift to a more teenage appearance just like that of the Angel Gabriel. The mark of the Sigil of Kindness also appeared on the palms of the Angel Raphael as well. A burst of powerful light energy is released as the Angel Raphael managed to restore its strength back to the original.

"Does that mean that I also lack mastery over my own talent?! To think that I am just like Gabriel!" The Angel Raphael grumbled.

"Be thankful that you still have more talent to uncover. A lot of beings go into despair just because they can no longer grow." Lilith stated as she scolded the Angel Raphael.

Even if the Angel Raphael has grown in power, he did not even dare to talk back. The fear and respect that he had for Lilith did not vanish just because he has returned to full strength.

Chapter 2257: Danger of the Under Depths

"I have collected everything." Altum stated but he suddenly felt the water below shifting upwards.

"Run! I mean Swim!" Adrian exclaimed as he caught a glimpse of the monster that is now swimming upwards towards them.

Adrian told Kanlaon to swim as fast as he can, and he even boosted all of them using temporal magic. A large figure could be seen rising from the depths of the water and it was incredibly large. It was a monster that looked like a gigantic electric eel, but it is actually bigger than Kanlaon's true size.

"Oh! Have you guys got all the dropped items?" Ark asked but he also saw the large monster rising from the dark abyss below them.

"Time to go!" Adrian stated as he immediately conjured a portal and had Altum toss them inside of it.

Kanlaon even created a small vortex to at least delay the monster that is pursuing them, but it vanished as soon as it clashed with the body of the large electric eel monster. The water vortex only made it angrier instead as it started to release sparks around its body that charged the ocean itself. Thankfully, Altum is quick on his swimming as he managed to carry Ark, Lilith and the Angel Raphael towards the portal.

As soon as the others were inside the portal, Adrian sealed Kanlaon back and it was with great timing. The large electric eel monster was about to bite off the latter's tail. Adrian knows how precious the parts of Kanlaon's body is and he did not want to suddenly trigger a draconic mutation to a monster that lives at the Under Depths. As soon as Adrian was an inch close to the gate, he froze time for a split second and dipped inside of the portal.

Time resumed as soon as Adrian entered the portal, and he arrived at the other side. He even felt the wet floor and slipped but he immediately fixed himself so he can close the portal. The monster on the other side tried to use its ability to create electric currents to check if the peculiar beings are still there but it no longer detected them. The large electric eel returned back to the dark abyss of the Under Depths.

"That was incredibly close!" Altum stated.

"What was that thing?!" Ark asked.

"I do not know but my instincts immediately told me to run as soon as I saw it. Thanks to the guild leader! If he did not notice that thing immediately then we would have been fish food." Altum stated.

"My senses are not as sharp in water which is why it was able to get close to us. I also do not have Sirius to help me which is why the dangers are delayed in getting sensed. Still, you managed to save those three which is why you are awesome in your own right." Adrian stated as he knew that he might have failed in saving the others if not for Altum.

"The guild leader is the one that saved us all in the end. Still, I managed to get to the Under Depths! I even learned a path towards it which means I can explore more! In fact, I think I want to explore it now. Unless you need my help in the following quests you are doing, I am totally fine delaying my exploration." Altum stated with excitement even though they were about to get eaten by a large fish earlier.

"Do we have anymore follow up quests though?" Adrian asked Ark.

"Does the other five detect where their powers could be sealed?" Ark asked the other angels, but they could only shake their heads in disappointment.

"Maybe we should try that locating spell on all of them just to be sure." Adrian stated to which Ark and Lilith agreed.

Since the Angel Gabriel and the Angel Raphael have gotten their powers back, they also added their own powers into the magic circle as well. The angels activated the light element part of the spell while the Nephilim activated the darkness element part of it. Doing it this way made the tracking spell have less backlash and mana usage. An additional bonus is that they easily fitted all five of the remaining angel's power signature in the spell.

"Nothing." Ark stated as he detected nothing.

"I do not have any reaction as well." Lilith added.

"No reaction for us as well." The baby angels stated.

"I guess I will just contact the guild leader again if something comes up. Also, thank you for your help, bro." Ark stated as he did a fist bump with Altum.

"No worries as it was a thrilling quest that involved going to the Under Depths! I could not have anything else that I would have wanted." Altum stated.

"So, we agreed that you would be given compensation for this. What do you want? Guild points? Contribution points?" Adrian stated as he looked at Altum.

"Can you send me to the Under Depths?" Altum stated which made Adrian question if that is what he really wanted.

"Are you sure?" Adrian asked as this was such a simple request for such a vast amount of help that Altum provided.

"I would like nothing more! What if I could find an ancient civilization down there?! I want to explore it even more now that my imagination is running wild." Altum stated as his beady eyes glistened with his pure enthusiasm.

"You should expect the unexpected and to also control your expectations. If you wish to explore the Under Depths, then I can send you there but that is not enough." Adrian stated as he took out some paper and started to write something on it.

"This is the coordinates for Under Depth part earlier. Just show this document to any demon teleporter in Avalon and they will send you there without question. Just make sure not to tell the others about this since this is basically an all-express pass for teleportation to that specific area." Adrian stated as he handed the document to Altum.

Chapter 2258: Decreasing Wilde World I

"Thanks a lot, guild leader! You are the best!" Altum stated as he treasured the document with Adrian's own official stamp.

This is something that is rarely given to any resident in Avalon as the only known ones to have it are Solstice and Piggy Bank. Of course, the others would have different things written on them, but it is actually a prized item even amongst the Daemos. Even the Daemos Elders want something like this, but they know that they cannot demand Adrian to write something just for their prospects.

Altum did not know that he suddenly caught the jealous eyes of all the elders in Avalon when he shows this document but that is in the future. For now, he is just happy to have an all-express pass to the Under Depths courtesy of his guild leader. He became excited of the unknown challenges and dangers he will encounter when he explores the Under Depths more. "Thanks for the document, guild leader. Call me anytime you need help in anything related to the ocean or sea." Altum stated as he entered the newly created portal that Adrian placed and vanished along with it.

"I guess we can pause the Restore the Angel's Power mission for now. It seems that I am needed in another world as Kabrakan is blasting me with messages." Adrian stated as he could now read the messages that were blocked earlier when they were in the Under Depths.

"If you need help with that guild leader then I can offer my services. You have done so much for my sake that it is already embarrassing that I cannot help you with anything." Ark stated. "Do not worry as we might need to deploy the entire guild later on. I would call for your help when that happens as I fear that it might be closer than you expect. Also, I think you need to help the Angel Gabriel for now as his energy seems to be becoming a bit erratic." Adrian stated as he pointed out the energy fluctuations he felt from the Angel Gabriel.

"I think he did something while we were away. Deal with him, Raphael." Lilith commanded as she looked at the newly teenage looking Raphael.

"I am the healer of the angel race! I shall be on it, mistress!" The Angel Raphael stated as he started to help stabilize the Angel Gabriel.

"See you then. Call me when you need my help again." Adrian stated as he vanished.

"He already left before I could even thank him again." Ark stated.

"That demon is incredibly busy, and you shall be as well. You need to prepare everything in the territory so that we can at least present it to him when it merges with Avalon. Now that we have a way to turn these miscreants into able bodied beings, it is such a waste to just have them be lazy bums." Lilith stated as her gaze made all of the angels sweat nervously.

Adrian returned back to Avalon or rather inside of their guild house. He met Kabrakan there and the face he was making is not something that said good news. Kabrakan looked tired but determination could still be seen from his eyes which meant that he has not yet given up. "Care to elaborate on the 'IT MULTIPLIED' statement that you given me?" Adrian asked.

"The Primordial Beast Kholomodomo suddenly multiplied to three. The deterioration of that world has started to progress faster than before. The initial forecast was ten years because it was alone but all of them are now saying that two years might be the timeline now." Kabrakan stated.

Adrian then proceeded to check the recording orbs that Kabrakan has given him. He also went to the elders about this concern and Kabrakan was not alone. One of the elders that were initially against him was also with him and he was already talking with the Daemos Elders. It seems that the Selvaggian are now desperate because the timeline became so quick.

"It seems that the elders are already up to speed. What about my demands?" Adrian stated which made the Selvaggian elder a bit upset but he suppressed it since the demands were clear from the start.

"Your demand for the Creation Relic is approved as long as you can deal with the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo." The Selvaggian elder stated which made the eyes of the Daemos Elders almost pop out since they did not know that Adrian actually demanded such a priceless thing.

"Are all the Selvaggian elders and also the king, fine with this arrangement?" Adrian asked to be sure.

"Yes, and it is not like we have a choice. It is either the Creation Relic or our home world. It is not like you will destroy the Creation Relic as we have been informed on how you used another one. The details for the result of using it will be discussed in the future, but we need the help of the Daemos now more than ever." The Selvaggian Elder stated as he glimpsed at the newly floating island in the territory.

"We accept then." Adrian stated which made Elder Ascalor slap him in the head.

"You do know that you need to at least have us agree as well before having the final say." Elder Ascalor stated.

"Why be harsh on the boy when you told the Selvaggian Elder that it is his decision earlier?" Elder Koronn stated.

"You even told the Selvaggian Elder that Equinox is the sole decision maker in this territory so why are you hurting the kid." Elder Bronx stated.

"So now both of you want to offer opinions?" Elder Ascalor stated as he glared at the other two.

"You really are very difficult to understand, old man. I did not accept because I want the Creation Relic. I accepted because you will need to see this." Adrian stated as he showed them the captured videos of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo which made their eyes bulge in terror.

Chapter 2259: Decreasing Wilde World II

"Did it actually devour a world eater and multiplied?!" Elder Ascalor stated as he could see what that mysterious energy of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"It certainly explains why its eating speed became faster. I think a year would be enough for it to devour the entire realm. Granted that it will no longer multiply as that would just make it much faster." Elder Koronn added.

"Can we even do something about it when it has the trait of a World Eater? We do have Equinox' soulbound that loves to eat monsters categorized as World Eaters though." Elder Bronx stated as they all looked at Adrian because they remembered that one of its soulbounds feed on literal world eaters.

"Dodu might like to eat world eaters, but this thing is also a primordial beast. It has powers and abilities that are different than that of a normal world eater. Also, one of them is already difficult to fight against. It also has great mana sensitivity as it targets beings with mana suitable for its growth." Adrian stated as he was targeted by the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo as soon as it managed to detect the mana flowing inside of his body.

"We can weaken it and then transport lots of fighters to the Wilde but not a lot of beings would care for that world." Elder Ascalor stated.

"We also need to test some things as well as we do not know how susceptible it is to our magic." Elder Koronn stated.

"If that is the case then I can test out the abilities of that primordial beast. I always wanted to try and wrestle one myself." Elder Bronx stated.

"Find a weak spot while you are at it or else killing it would be difficult. World Eater monsters can regenerate a lot as they often store lots of energy in their body." Elder Koronn added.

"Okay then. I guess I will help Elder Bronx with the investigation on the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Someone needs to be bait so he could deliver some attacks." Adrian stated.

"Why do you think that they will target you?" Elder Ascalor asked with curiosity.

"I have the energy that they want. I have primordial energy in my body which is what the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is devouring from the Wilde. It is not really eating the world itself because that is its food, but it is eating it due to primordial energy. It is the hidden natural energy that can only be sensed by beings that have it." Adrian stated.

"Fascinating! I shall come as well since that would make the investigation quicker." Elder Koronn stated.

"You just want to go with them to check on the habits of that primordial beast. You should stay here and help me with the arrangements. Should the Wilde really get destroyed then that thing will definitely breach the main world. If it reaches the main world then its possibility of becoming bigger becomes higher." Elder Ascalor stated but Elder Koronn proceeded to ignore the former as he started arranging his things.

"Wait! What do you mean that it will go to the main world should the Wilde gets fully devoured?" The Selvaggian elder asked.

"What do you think will happen when a world eater type of monster devours the realm they are in? Do you think that it will just stay put and hibernate? That could be the case, but that condition is on the basis that it gets full.

If a world eater type of monster like the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo finishes eating but is still hungry, it would then move to the closest realm that it could munch on. Unfortunately for us, the main world is the only adjacent realm of the Wilde. This place would be its next buffet grounds if we do not stop it now." Adrian explained.

"Then that means that even fleeing here to the main world will not rid us of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo." Kabrakan stated as he understood what Adrian meant.

"That is correct. World eater type of monsters will devour and sleep until they are killed. Do you think that the price for the Creation Relic of the Selvaggians is cheap? I calculated that reward based on the fact that danger would also come to this world. It would also take the full force of the Daemos to even defeat that thing." Adrian stated to which the Selvaggian Elder now know that the demons are not greedy as they have already determined that this will be outcome.

"Then we should start as soon as possible. Delaying any further might lead to a more powerful Primordial Beast Kholomodumo." Kabrakan stated.

"Even if we need to be quick, you should still calm down. Being too hasty might just be our downfall. We need to strategize as what we lack is information about the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Elder Bronx, Elder Koronn, and I will check on the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo and study its attack patterns.

Elder Ascalor would be left here to coordinate the other Daemos on the upcoming attack. Meanwhile, the two of you need to check with the other Selvaggian if they have learned anything about the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Any information will be helpful even if they are not completely sure. Is everyone fine with the distribution of work?" Adrian stated as he led the conversation.

"I am fine with it." Elder Bronx stated.

"I as well." Elder Koronn replied.

"We shall do our best to check on all of the Selvaggians that were ravaged by the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. They might have some information that they observed when they were attacked by it." The Selvaggian Elder stated.

"I shall help the elder as well. I have already encountered the refugees so maybe they have noticed something we did not." Kabrakan stated.

"I am not fine with mine. I want to also fight against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. I mean... I also want to test the strength of the enemy." Elder Ascalor stated.

"You two should go first. We would need to deal with some discussions." Adrian stated as he opened a portal that led to the Selvaggian Kingdom.

When the Selvaggian elder and Kabrakan were gone, Adrian then looked at all three elders. Elder Ascalor did not stop protesting that he should be the one accompanying Adrian instead of Elder Koronn. Adrian explained to him that they were not going to fight against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo but just to study it.

"We are going to check on the fighting capabilities of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Having Elder Koronn will be better because he is very observant and a master of temporal magic. Should it get dangerous, he could easily rewind time to save us." Adrian stated.

"Are you saying that I am more useless than the lab rat!?" Elder Ascalor stated while he acted like he is about to cry.

"I called it first, Ascalor. Just accept that you were too slow." Elder Koronn stated. "Maybe you tampered with time to make sure that you were faster than me! I demand an honorable battle of fists to truly ascertain on who goes." Elder Ascalor stated as he looked towards Adrian for the decision.

"Fine. If that is what is going to stop everyone from being at each other's throat, then go with that." Adrian stated as all three elders suddenly looked tense and serious.

All three of them balled their fists as if they were getting ready to punch someone. They looked at each other for a few seconds with burning gazes. Sweat could even be seen trickling down on their face as their battle of fists will now commence.

"Ready!?" Elder Koronn asked.

"I am ready. I hope that both of you are truly ready." Elder Bronx stated.

"You will not defeat me in a battle of fists. I have trained my life for this." Elder Ascalor stated as he chuckled.

"Just get over with it. Rock, paper, scissors, shoot!" Adrian uttered as all three of the elders launched their fists. Adrian made sure that no one cheated, and the loser was decided in one match.

"No!" Elder Ascalor lamented as his scissors was met with both rocks from Elder Koronn and Elder Bronx.

"You always go for scissors though." Elder Koronn stated.

"You have too much faith on scissors. You always use that first when we use this way to decide." Elder Bronx stated.

"Maybe it has to do with him being a spatial mage that can cut through space." Elder Koronn stated as if he already knew what hand Elder Ascalor will use.

"It is decided then. Let us now go." Adrian stated.

"Wait! I want a rematch!" Elder Ascalor stated as he clung to Adrian's clothes.

"Do you both want to do it?" Adrian asked Elder Koronn and Elder Bronx as they were the ones that won.

"Fine. This is to make sure that we are not cheating him." Elder Koronn and Elder Bronx stated as they prepared for another round.

Chapter 2260: Decreasing Wilde World III

"Let us go!" Elder Koronn stated as he is excited in seeing the peculiar Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"What about him?" Adrian asked as he pointed to Elder Ascalor looking so disheartened in a corner.

"Just forget about him since he lost fairly. He is just a sore loser when it comes to things like this. He will get over it eventually." Elder Bronx stated.

"He should really try changing the criteria for our tie breakers if he knows that he sucks at it." Elder Koronn stated which poured more salt into the wounded heart of Elder Ascalor.

"See you then. Make sure to deliberate all of the Daemos." Adrian stated as he created the gate that all of them entered. He made sure to not look at Elder Ascalor or else he might change his mind.

[You have entered the Wilde.]

"So, this is the Wilde. Everything is overgrown just as you have said." Elder Koronn stated.

"Maybe the magical beasts here are more ferocious than in the main world! I can feel the air of hostility even from here." Elder Bronx stated.

"You should focus on those things that are below us for the moment. I actually transported us about three hundred meters away from its initial location but now we are only a hundred meters away. The rate at which they are destroying things is incredibly terrifying. If that thing ever gets to the main world, then it might devour a continent in two or three months." Adrian stated as he pointed at the three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo that are eating the world below.

"Do you sense anything odd about it before we start attacking?" Elder Bronx asked.

"Now that I have seen in physically, the three of them share a soul. Defeating one would not affect the other, but they might have the ability to share strengths." Adrian stated as he already encountered some monsters like this but not to the class of primordial beasts.

"Let us start then. I will handle the one on the left while Elder Koronn will handle the one on the right. The kid can handle the one on the middle while also providing some support to us. Just let your summoned beasts attack the enemy as we are here to check its weaknesses and attack patterns." Elder Bronx stated with a serious tone, but the excitement cannot be hidden on his face.

"Fine. If that is what the elders want, then you can go crazy." Adrian stated as he gave up because the faces of the two elders are clearly full of excitement.

Before Adrian could even tell them to go, they already started to change into their true forms. Elder Bronx changed to his large form and performed a powerful slam onto the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The slam was so powerful that it created a powerful shockwave that covered the entire body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The enemy could not even emit a screech as all the muscle nerve on its body felt a shock.

Elder Koronn took a different approach as his was more on the side of research. He created numerous spells that released particles of time itself. Each of these particles deal true damage but the damage is not that large. Instead, he made sure to hit all parts of the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to see if it has a weak spot. Each of his spells are calculated and vary in degree of damage and range which makes it easier to collect data on the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

Adrian could see the excitement of the elders basically releasing their stress away. They were not pushing themselves, but they were also taking this seriously. They just wanted to enjoy the process while they make sure that they see what the enemy can do. Adrian also got infected with the excitement to the point that he already released his Limit Break: Summoner skill.

All of Adrian's soulbound joined in on the attacking spree as well. Sirius released his true form and started to use his speed and shadows to attack the designated area he was assigned. Kanlaon made sure to release numerous elemental spells of varying elements but small damage. Kanlaon is doing what Elder Koronn is doing and making sure to cover all the areas of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

Saena also participated in the attacks as she used her burst of light and wind to attack the tender parts of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo which are its mouth part. Charon used the undead approach that only he could do and entered the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. It seems that the primordial beast does not care what enters its body as long as it could eat. There was no indication that it even sensed what Charon did.

Dodu, who Adrian thought that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will be wary to, is actually just chilling while he started to corrode a small part of the enemy. It seems that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is not aware that a smaller life form that loves to eat World Eaters is now starting to devour it. Dodu told Adrian that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo was tasty, but it was not as tasty as the one before which have the latter a hint.

"If Dodu says that it is not as tasty as an authentic World Eater then it might have low conversion of energy. Take note of this to make sure." Adrian stated as he started to jot down details while his other soulbounds also attack.

Kimat seems to the soulbound that has no compatibility with the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. It seems that the primordial beast is rooted on the ground firmly that any lightning attack barely does damage. Due to this, he relied more on his speed and sharp claws to destroy the parts designated to him.

Wisteria used Kanlaon's method as well, but she used her crystal leaves. She also buffed all the others using nature magic as well. She is also getting more and more powerful since she is getting boosted by her own passive called Geomancy. Adrian never told her to master support spells that buffs but it seems that she made that decision on her own as she had Elder Danaya as a teacher.

Kenos did not attack as usual and just kept a watchful eye on the other siblings. It is currently near Adrian and is hiding in its own pocket dimension. It is not a powerful attacker unlike the others which is why it is acting like Adrian. It is basically keeping a watchful eye on everyone's location to aid them if things go south.

"The strange thing is that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo does not even care that much and continues on eating." Adrian stated as they were being ignored.

Adrian might not like it but the health of each of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is not even down by 5%. It is already a given that they are not giving it their all but being ignored is not the reason they came here for. They need the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to attack them back but all it does it continues to munch which restores its health back.

"At this rate, it will just keep eating and ignore us because it can restore all the damage we are dealing. I guess I need to do something that will force it to attack us." Adrian stated as his form changed to his mirror demon form.

"Nether Domain!"

"Netheros True Form!"

Adrian activated a domain skill and resummoned all of his soulbounds to their nether forms. As soon as the nether forms of the soulbounds appeared, the three Primordial Beast Kholomodomo could be seen to partially stop eating for a while, but they continued after a brief pause of ten seconds. It seems that they felt the air of danger but continued on their feast since Adrian did not attack.

"Ignoring us? Let us see if you can still do that. Kanlaon! Saena!" Adrian stated as he suddenly created numerous large nether mirrors.

Kanlaon and Saena soared into the skies above as they collected all the elemental mana that they needed. Kanlaon looked like a dark evil dragon that absorbed all the elements in his dragon orbs as they are now supercharged. Saena looked like a dark fallen mythical bird that is eating the light that is pouring down from the sun.

"Let us see if you can ignore this." Adrian stated as both Kanlaon and Saena each released an attack of pure energy.

Kanlaon used his Genesis Dragon Breath that has supercharged elements while Saena used her Grace of the Sun which is boosted by the former's elemental gift. As if all those boosts were not enough, Adrian poured an infinite amount of nether energy along with their attacks as they did not strike the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo but the nether mirrors. All of these mirrors got charged with the attack of both soulbounds and an extreme light show where nether beams are released wantonly appeared.
