

O Summoner 2261

Chapter 2261: Kholomodumo Attacks

"Are those the demons that the elders said? They are indeed incredibly powerful as rumors of their race say they are." One of the Selvaggian scouts stated.

"Powerful is not the correct term to describe them. Otherworldly is the perfect word to describe them as they basically rip time and space around them." Another scout stated.

The Selvaggian Elders sent word to the scouts that the Daemos would be taking some action against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. They have been told to not go near the primordial beast in fear of them getting caught up in the battle. The scouts were also told to collect information that the Daemos might have missed while they are battling the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"That demon looks cool! He looks shrouded in that dark mist that suddenly covered the area" A bat beastkin stated as she could detect everything even if the area suddenly got shrouded because of her echolocation.

"He also controls ferocious beasts then that would be Equinox the Champion of the Twin Gods. He even created numerous mirrors but what are the use of those?" An owl beastkin stated as he suddenly created warning noises as he felt a powerful energy being collected in the area.

The scouts of the Selvaggian could be seen retreating as they felt that the area became dangerous. It is their sharp instincts that made them retreat and that is for the better. The entire area is suddenly bathe with a dangerous dark light. Nether energy also splattered around the area around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo because of the attack.

Adrian did not stop there as he made sure to summon the Mirror Dimension to further amplify everything. Every mirror in the mirror dimension bent the light to pierce the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo multiple times. A death cage of light is once again released as Adrian can now fine tune on how to use the Mirror Dimension.

The beams of light would have been ignored by the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, but it could not because of the energy that enhanced it. Nether energy that even the gods fear is something that a primordial beast can never overlook. The body of the middle Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is pierced with holes as blood started to gush out of it.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could no longer ignore the threat as even its stomach was pierced by the beams of light. The energy that it has absorbed started to leak out but not much. The fierce gurgle like roar of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo echoed as its soft tentacle fur suddenly became hard. With a powerful cry, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly straightened its tentacle furs into spikes, and it easily destroyed the mirror dimension.

[You have successfully redirected the damage of the Mirror Dimension to your Primordial Armament: Mirror.]

[You cannot summon the Primordial Armament: Mirror for 24 hours.]

Adrian's mirror armament shattered because of the backlash, and it is forced to be in a state of repair. He was able to do this because was already prepared to have the Mirror Dimension broken again. The Primordial Armament: Mirror is the anchor for the mirror dimension after all which means it could receive the backlash instead of Adrian.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo then turned its spike fur tentacles into flexible ones again. These fur tentacles then searched for the perpetrator of the attack via their ends. Each end of the fur tentacle has a small eyeball which added to the horror factor of the primordial beast even more. It did not have eyes in front of its body in the first place but to think that it has numerous eyes via the end of its fur tentacles.

"Interesting!" Elder Koronn stated as he jotted down that information.

"Deal with yours as they started to rampage as well." Adrian stated as he did not just share the nether energy enhancement to his soulbounds but also to the elders.

"I am already on it." Elder Bronx stated as he started another bashing session with the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, but it now attacked back.

"I am thinking of ways to incorporate your terrifying energies onto my attacks as well." Elder Koronn stated as he started to create temporal bombs that increases the potency of nether energy. This made the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on his side become more aggressive as he targeted the areas where he already wounded it.

Adrian reverted back to his normal Netheros True Form as the mirror armament is destroyed for the time being. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo used all of his fur tentacles with eyes and looked directly at him. Thousands upon thousands of eyeballs could be seen looking at Adrian directly and it was frightening.

"At least, we know that nether energy is very effective." Adrian stated as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started attacking instead of eating.

Some of the eyes of the fur tentacle shifted to spikes filled with some secretion. Each of these spiked fur tentacles went straight towards Adrian's location but he did not fret. Shadows, chains, and vines could be seen countering the thousands upon thousands spiked fur tentacles. If the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could create lots of them then why could Adrian's soulbound not be able to as well when they are boosted by nether energy.

Shadows, chains, and vines that are boosted by nether energy met and destroyed all of the spiked fur tentacle that flew towards Adrian. Each of them was destroyed with the aid of nether energy which made the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo angrier than ever. The gurgle like roar earlier is now replaced with a low resounding growl as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo opened its mouth wider.

"Damn, it is like its mouth is already a quarter of its body." Adrian stated as he tried to make light of the horrifying situation that a five-hundred-meter-tall mouth is now opening in front of him.

When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo opened its mouth wide, all of them could see the numerous rows of sharp teeth that also move in a circular motion. It looked like a large circular drill with diamond teeth that can easily destroy anything. Adrian thought that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo would charge at him while its mouth was wide open, but it did not.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo actually shot out these sharp teeth towards him at an incredibly fast rate. Adrian had no choice but to defend himself and he used Dodu effectively. The sharp teeth that are fired could be seen getting absorbed into Dodu's body and turned into energy. Dodu did not get hurt as the attack are physical in nature.

The wide-open mouth became a good thing for the other soulbounds. Kanlaon, Saena, and Kimat released their attacks on the mouth itself. They wanted their attacks to hit the softer parts of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to inflict more damage. Just as they wanted, the elemental spells and attacks were effective when they directly hit the inside of the mouth of the enemy.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo had to close its mouth immediately because of the burning sensation it felt. It seems that the primordial beast does not care for attacks on the outside but inside seems to be a different thing altogether. Still, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not relent on using its spiked fur tentacle while Sirius, Charon, and Wisteria did not stop defending their side as well.

On Elder Bronx' side, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is different because it uses its fur tentacle to create larger appendages to strike at him. The smaller fur tentacles easily get disintegrated with just a punch from Elder Bronx because of the force he exerts. He also used the nether energy being given by Adrian as a secondary effect to the shockwaves which increases the damage dealt to the enemy.

On Elder Koronn's side, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is using other means to try and damage him as well. The fur tentacles have holes instead of spikes or eyes as they are used to release spikes like a machine gun. Elder Koronn easily dealt with these as he could easily slow down these projectiles to the point that dodging them is a cake walk.

"So that is how demons fight! Do you think any of the elders can even confront them?" One of the Selvaggian scouts asked as they could not believe the battle before them.

"I bet even our king will have a difficult time against them as they could bend time and space." Another replied.

"Have any of you managed to find a weakness of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo?" Kabrakan asked this question to all tribes that escaped from its attack, but he has yet to be given something substantial.

"Uhhh!" A young hamster beastkin was about to speak but its elder guided his hands down.

"Yes! You were about to say something." Kabrakan stated.

"Please pardon him. He might have just been excited to see you." The elder stated.

"No. Please speak, young one." Kabrakan stated as he slightly glared at the elder.

"Uhhh... I do not know if it is important, but it seems to evade yellow stones." The young hamster beastkin stated.

Chapter 2262: Kholomodumo Weakness?

"This yellow stone. What does it look like, or do you have a sample of it?" Kabrakan asked.

"Please do not take the words of the young too much, Hero Kabrakan." The hamster beastkin elder stated as he did not want to feed the delusion of the young and implicate Kabrakan along with him.

"Let the child talk. If what he said is false, then we just learned that is so, but any information is needed. Unlike the elders that do not even give me anything, maybe the young might be able to answer my questions. I may have been biased in asking when I should have asked all Selvaggian of all ages." Kabrakan stated which made the hamster beastkin elder back down.

"Apologies. Please speak child but only say what you have observed. Do not fabricate anything." The hamster beastkin elder stated.

"Yes... thank you..." The young hamster beastkin stated with nervousness.

"Do not worry as it is still an investigation. If I learned anything then being a hero has no age. You already having the courage speak to me is already the qualities of a hero. Take your time and tell me what you know. If it turns out to be wrong, then that is fine but what if it is correct? You will be remembered as a hero that helped our race." Kabrakan stated as he managed to calm down the young beastkin.

"I do not know what it is really called but we called it yellow stone in our village. It is not being used by us as well because of its foul odor that is sour and akin to rotten eggs." The young hamster beastkin stated with courage.

"I see. Do you have an idea where we can find this yellow stone?" Kabrakan stated.

"I do not remember much but the elder should be able to answer. He always warns us to stay away from the yellow stone areas. The foul smell messes with our senses which makes it dangerous as some monsters are there." The young hamster beastkin stated as he looked towards the elder.

"It seems that our young hero passed you the torch elder. It seems that you are a hero yourself for always warning the young of dangers. Do you know where the yellow stone is?" Kabrakan asked.

"I do, Hero Kabrakan but I do not know if the area is still intact. It is about an hour from here just east of the pond. Lots of Wild Worms tend to spawn there as it is their perfect feeding grounds. You will be able to easily recognize it because the entire area will blast you with its foul odor even if you are a hundred meters away." The hamster beastkin elder stated.

"Thank you, elder. Please ask the others as well without being biased by age if they observed anything strange about the beast. We will secure that area that is filled with yellow stone to check if it can be used against that primordial beast. The young hero can aid you in this endeavor as he is as valiant as they come." Kabrakan stated.

"As fellow heroes, I will make sure that I will do that duty!" The young hamster beastkin stated as he smiled proudly.

"As you wish, Hero Kabrakan. I will inform you about anything that they have told me that is peculiar. Stay safe while you investigate that area." The hamster beastkin elder stated as he and the young beastkin proceeded to evacuate.

"Both of you heard that right? Investigate the claims that the young boy said. I will follow up with you as soon as I have verified that all inhabitants here have evacuated." Kabrakan stated as two shadows suddenly bowed down to him.

"As the hero commands." The two panther beastkins stated as they vanished once more.

"It is just regenerating everything, but it did stop eating." Adrian stated as he weaved through the numerous spiked fur tentacles that are launched at him.

His Limit Break: Summoner and Nether Domain have already run out, but the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is still as lively as ever. The other elders also started to dodge as well as they needed to be wary of their stamina. They have been fighting against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo for a long time now, but the attacks did not change as much.

Still, they have verified that the primordial beast will defend fiercely as long as you inflict it with something it deems harmful to it. The only problem is that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has incredible vitality and health regeneration to the point that half of the damage that they inflicted has already been recovered.

"Such an odd beast. If Old Man Pann were here, then he would have wanted to check on it. Should we actually call upon him since he is an expert on beasts?" Elder Koronn stated as he froze time around him to make sure that the spikes lose their energy and fall to the ground.

"I already asked him about it, but he said that primordial beasts are not really actual beings he considers as animals. He said that a real beast should be born from one or two beings. He even stated that primordial beasts are freaks of nature." Adrian stated.

"If even Old Man Pann said that to you then he really does not like them. If he was interested, then he would have already come here to check. This fight might be easy, and we might be able to destroy one if we combined our full powers." Elder Bronx stated as he clapped his hands to create a powerful shockwave that destroyed numerous fur tentacles.

"I doubt that." Adrian stated as he could see what the three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo were doing.

"Care to elaborate? We do not have your special sight." Elder Koronn stated as a reminder that they cannot see the souls of living things.

"All three of them share the same soul and they are using it to funnel some their vitality through each other. They can even share their unprocessed energy to each other as they are basically one body split up. One way of testing if they weaken is to split them apart but teleporting large beings like them would take all of us and more." Adrian stated.

If they act as each other's life bank, then Adrian proposed to split them up but that is a problem. Large beings would take tremendous amounts of energy and mana to transport forcefully. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is also a primordial beast which means it might need more due to its special nature. They did not even know if they could forcefully transport a primordial beast as they are forces of nature.

"We can test that out once we have the others helping us. Maybe we could try right now but smaller in scale." Elder Koronn stated as he told Adrian and Elder Bronx about it.

"Let us test it then. If it does not work, then we just retreat. It does not seem to have the ability to move at fast speeds which means escaping is easier." Adrian stated.

"Let us try." Elder Bronx agreed as all three of them suddenly appeared in an area a few meters away from the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo searched for the beings that dared to attack it using its numerous fur tentacles. It then found the three demons using its numerous fur tentacles with eyes and launched those at them. The three demons did not evade but chanted in unison to create a gate that ripped space.

Fortunately for them, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo only attacked their front which made it easier for them. The portal that they conjured opened a hole in front of them with the other end being on top of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. All of the spiked fur tentacles that are launched at them all hit the primordial beast itself.

"It is using a lot of our mana." Adrian grumbled as his mana could be seen decreasing at a vast rate.

"Mine is already half." Elder Bronx stated.

"You two need more mana training." Elder Koronn stated as he still has 80% left but his mana is incredibly vast compared to the other two since temporal spells use more mana. The three of them finally stopped and closed the portal when all three of them learned of the mana usage accurately. The portal closing also meant the fur tentacles caught in it being cut. The three of them vanished as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo still tried to attack them even if they closed the portal. They also made sure to hide their auras as much as possible so that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could not detect them.

When the three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could no longer detect all three of them, they returned back to eating out the soil. The wounds that they inflicted on it started to heal as well but they managed to slow it down for a few hours.

Chapter 2263: Weak to Sulfur

"All yellow stone deposits are not devoured when we checked the edges." One of the Panther beastkin reported as she gave the yellow stone to Kabrakan.

"So, it hates sulfur?!" Kabrakan stated as he was able to analyze the yellow stone.

Item Name: Pure Sulfur

Item Tier: Rare

Item Type: Stone / Mineral

Effects:

-Can be used in alchemy and is prized for its four odor that is like rotten eggs.

Description: Pure sulfur is a tasteless, odorless, brittle solid that is pale yellow in color, a poor conductor of electricity, and insoluble in water. It is used by some wizards, witches, and alchemist for creating some magical creations.

"Do you know what it is, Hero Kabrakan?" One of the Panther Beastkin asked.

"Yes. I know of this because I often collected it when I was starting out in this world. A lot of magic related professions need this as they often use it to create things." Kabrakan stated.

"I would like to give my opinion." One of the Panther beastkin stated.

"Sure. I told all of you that we are all equal when in the field. The Wilde is a harsh world that does not distinguish who you are." Kabrakan stated.

"Upon checking the entire area, the child is telling the truth as all the soil deposits without these yellow stones are gone. It looked like the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is filtering it because it hates it or might be weak against it." One of the Panther Beastkin stated.

"I shall give this hint to Equinox about this." Kabrakan stated as he passed the information to Adrian.

"What should we do next? The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has already started to eat at this realm once again." Elder Bronx stated.

"I will observe it while both of you think of something. I will check the areas that it has already feasted upon. It seems to only be eating at the top layer of the soil while maintaining the bedrock. If it is doing that then it should have some sort of intelligence." Elder Koronn stated as he vanished.

"Oh!" Adrian reacted as he suddenly got a message from Kabrakan.

"Why? Is there something wrong?" Elder Bronx asked.

"There is nothing wrong. I was about to say that we should retreat since we have at least done what we wanted to do but it seems Kabrakan has found something out." Adrian stated.

"Well, say it. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is still eating this realm, and it will not stop unless we kill it." Elder Bronx stated as he actually really cared about smaller worlds. He did not want them to suddenly die off because some primordial beast is eating it.

"Calm down, Elder Bronx. It is not like it will stop eating if I say it faster. I wish it was like that primordial beast in Alfheim that sleeps after chewing some world tree roots. Anyways, Kabrakan told me that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo seem to be ignoring Pure Sulfur. He is not sure if it is filtering it out when it eats it, but he found this out by chance.

He is not sure if the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo is weak against it if ingested but that is something that we can try. He already gave the coordinates to me so please fetch large chunks of it if you can." Adrian stated.

"Are ordering me to get it? Also, what did you say about Alfheim also having a primordial beast?" Elder Bronx stated.

"I am not ordering you to get it. I am asking you to please get it. For the last question, the answer is also yes. There is a primordial beast that eats the roots of the world tree there which is why it is also slowly dying. Alfheim will fall if that primordial beast wakes up because it would then consume the world tree itself that basically supports the entire world." Adrian stated.

"I think you need to slow down now. I will get the Pure Sulfur with the coordinates that you have given me. Make sure to keep an eye out for that research maniac elder of yours. Also, do not mention the primordial beast to Elder Ascalor as even he is not told about it." Elder Bronx stated as he vanished.

"Why? What will happen if Elder Ascalor learns about it?" Adrian thought as he saw Elder Koronn about to try and attack the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo.

Elder Bronx returned to the area once more and also brought Kabrakan with his scout guards. Adrian and Elder Koronn aided in getting chunks of Pure Sulfur when Elder Bronx took out what he got. Elder Bronx cleaned out the Pure Sulfur deposit that he went to as he did not know how much they needed.

"Shall we make it a competition?" Adrian asked.

"What is the needed requirement to win?" Elder Bronx asked as he is interested.

"How about the first one to make it have a reaction?" Elder Koronn stated.

"Agreed." Adrian stated as all of them immediately took a huge chunk of Pure Sulfur and arrived at the mouths of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo.

"Eat this!" Adrian shouted as he released his chunk of Pure Sulfur using a combination of temporal magic and force magic.

"I will be the first!" Elder Koronn shouted as he even froze the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo using temporal magic as he launched the chunk of Pure Sulfur.

"Force is all you need!" Elder Bronx shouted as he applied an incredible amount of force as he launched the Pure Sulfur chunk into the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

All three of them used different ways in making sure that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo gets to eat the Pure Sulfur but it also insighted the primordial beast to attack them. Still, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo made it easier for the Pure Sulfur chunks to be delivered into the belly of the beast. As soon as the Pure Sulfur got inside the stomach of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, all three of them started to become sluggish.

[You have inflicted the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo with a debuff.]

[The stats of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will decrease by 1%.]

[The defensive power of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is decreased by 1%.] Adrian and the others did not actually hold any hope that the Pure Sulfur will do anything as they were told that it is not entirely verified but they were surprised beyond belief. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo actually became weakened when it ate the chunks of Pure Sulfur. Adrian looked at Kabrakan as if they have found the secret of defeating the enemy. [The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will now enter a berserk state.]

[Vacate the large area if you wish to live.]

"This is bad!" Adrian shouted as he could feel the primordial energy of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo rising beyond belief.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly emitted a powerful roar and also changed its greenish fur coating to red. Its entire body became blood red as a result of it going into a berserk state. The most terrifying thing is that all the fur on the tentacles suddenly became sharp. All three of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo released a massive volley of spikes that made it rain deadly needles.

"The nearby villages! They might get affected!" Kabrakan shouted as there were still some people evacuating.

The spikes were released in all directions, and it did not care if it was friend or foe. The speed of the spikes was incredibly fast as well and they even reached a nearby deserted village quickly. It is lucky that it was already vacated but there were villages beyond that area that is still in the process of escaping.

"Give the coordinates of each village that still has people." Adrian stated as Kabrakan immediately gave a map marked with the villages that have yet to completely evacuate. "I will go first then." Elder Koronn stated as his playful eyes became serious. Elder Koronn vanished from the area and appeared in the direction of the still evacuating villages. He activated a magic that froze the sky itself which also froze the spikes that were headed in that area. One could see that he did not even break a sweat, but the two demons know that they must be quick or else Elder Koronn might faint from overusing his mana.

"I guess I am next." Elder Bronx stated as he appeared in the area with the densest spikes and released a powerful pulse that sapped all kinetic energy from the spikes. One could even see him absorbing this kinetic energy and create an aura armor around him.

"I guess I am the one that cleans since Elder Ascalor is not here." Adrian stated as he appeared in the area to create a large vortex that swallowed all of the spikes that lost their kinetic energy.

As soon as Adrian created the vortex, Elder Koronn already let time flow on the sky once again. The mouths of the Selvaggians that witnessed it were agape. The demons still think they fell short as they did not gather all the spikes.

Chapter 2264: Raid of the Kholomodumo I

After three of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo have fired off all the spikes that they could, the three could be seen entering a dormant state for five seconds. The three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not move as steam released from their bodies as if they overheated. Adrian made sure to also add this to the details on what the enemy could do.

All of them observed the three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo return back to eating after it no longer felt the effects of the Pure Sulfur on their body. The three could also be seen to have some of their soft fur tentacles with eyes floating about to survey the area. The primordial beasts have become more wary of the situation but there is one thing that they learned from this.

"They cannot move from their locations." Adrian stated.

"If that is the case then it would be much easier for them to be caught up in spells." Elder Koronn stated.

"Do we need to gather more details? Or we can now prepare for an attack?" Elder Bronx asked. "I think we can already use that weakness to our advantage. Proper planning would be needed to make sure that we can win though. Also, we would need to evacuate all citizens if we can because the danger of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is not low." Adrian stated as he looked at the areas they did not protect.

The areas that the demons did not protect are all filled with numerous spikes. Some of the large trees were even destroyed because those spikes were not small. The smallest spike is one meter long while the longest reached up to five meters. The Primordial Beast

Kholomodumo are also incredibly large which means that any attacks they do will create large craters.

"I will tell all of them to move to the capital. I will also inform the king of the plans that we will do moving forward. Make sure to keep me in the loop but we will still look for other weaknesses of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo." Kabrakan stated.

"That is fine as well. It would take at least a week to make the preparations on our end. Make sure that the fighters for the Selvaggian Race are ready as well. Add the players as well even if they are not yet that powerful since not many would be at a high level. Still, we would need more firepower because that thing recovers too fast just for a group of one thousand." Adrian stated as he opened a portal for Kabrakan and some of the beastkin with him while others stayed to observe the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"Let us go now. We will need a week of preparation for the upcoming raid." Adrian stated as he created a portal where all three of them used to return to Avalon.

Adrian arrived back in Avalon and immediately went to find Elder Ascalor as he is needed to plan the next details. After Elder Ascalor arrived, all of them immediately went to do the planning. Adrian immediately told the elders that they will be the ones needed to transfer the three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Adrian would also help them as he would need to pair up with another elder to transfer one.

Adrian thought of a plan that uses the inability of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to move. He also told the shadow unit of the guild and the demons monitoring to find a place rich in Pure Sulfur. Finding two places with rich deposits of Pure Sulfur is needed.

Adrian also discussed to the other guild leaders as they also wanted a piece of the action against a primordial beast. The details about the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo are also given to them. Adrian only told the three guild leaders that he trusts which are Anastacia, Ain, and Siegfried. He plans to tell the other players in the territory with a recruitment when only three days are left.

After Adrian planned with the elders, he then moved towards the guild house. He started to deliberate the details needed to the guild members present there. Fortunately, all guild members could participate which means that the fight might be easier than he thought. Still, he is not confident because they have yet to see if the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has a rampage mode.

Five days have passed, Adrian already posted the recruitment notice for the raid against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo yesterday. A lot of players started to flock Avalon due to this which increased foot traffic. Adrian thought that he could not give players their rewards, but the Selvaggian King Leonidas agreed that they will also rewards those that have great contribution.

"I am incredibly tired." Adrian stated as he crashed on a chair in the guild house.

He inspected all the areas and also instructed the mages needed for the special plans. He also visited the sites with the elders as they needed to mark the coordinates in the spell. They are making sure that everything is perfect. During this time, Kabrakan also tirelessly reported on what the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is doing.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not exhibit any type of aggression or change in its habit. All three of the primordial beasts ate at the same pace which meant that the timeline is yet to change. Still, Adrian needed everything to do well because one misstep would lead to devastating losses. They were going to kill a primordial beast which is the pinnacle of monsters.

"It would have been much easier if those demigods agreed to participate." Adrian muttered as he made sure to organize the details.

The day of the raid finally arrived, and a lot of people are gathered in Avalon. Adrian told them that they needed to start the operation. The greater demons started to create two large gates where lots of players entered. The players were all transported to two different locations that the shadow unit and the monitoring demons found. Two places that are filled with Pure Sulfur and devoid of any settlements.

It took them approximately four days to find such places because of the fact that some areas are populated by mining villages. Pure Sulfur is needed by numerous magic users for crafting magic items which made it difficult to find them. Fortunately, Adrian also has two people that are very connected to nature and stones. Levin Cloud and Peridot made the search easier as they were able to find a large, secluded area filled with that mineral.

"All of them are sent to the areas." Elder Ascalor stated as the players that filled Avalon are almost emptied. The only players left are those that are not strong enough to join the raid as some are starting their adventures.

"We should move as well. Old Man Pann will protect the territory on our stead." Adrian stated as he opened the portal to the Wilde.

Adrian arrived at the Wilde to a location where King Leonidas have arranged his army. The Pantheon guild members were already sent here for scouting the location. They needed to check if the plans needed to be remade as not all things proceed smoothly.

"Welcome, Mediator Equinox and Daemos Elders. Everything is in position as you have asked. Our army is ready as well and they have already gone to their positions. I pray to the Twin Gods that we will be victorious." King Leonidas stated as his figure is now more determined and valiant compared to when Adrian saw him being taken advantage of by the elders of the other tribes.

"If everything is ready then we should start." Adrian stated as he and the elders teleported to their positions.

Adrian and Elder Koronn are paired together while Elder Ascalor and Elder Bronx are the others. The two pairs are currently above the two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The initial plan is simple and that is to transport two of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo away. They needed to send the others away to cut off their connection.

The three Primordial Beast Kholomodumo might not be able to move but they are formidable together. They needed to be split apart in order to defeat all three of them. Even if they needed to send two of them to the main world.

"Let us start!" Adrian stated as he took out the scroll given to him as did Elder Koronn.

The four Arch Demons simultaneously activated the scroll that they prepared in advance as this will be needed to make sure that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo they are transporting will land on the designated spot. As soon as they saw the magic particles land on the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, they started the real chant.

All four of them did some sort of ritual that ended up with them clasping hands with their pair. When each of the pair suddenly broke free from the connected hands, two large rifts appeared below the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo fell simultaneously and vanished from the Wilde while the four Arch Demons looked incredibly tired.

Chapter 2265: Raid of the Kholomodumo II

The normal players that only came with the mission posted on Avalon were not sure why we are in this Pure Sulfur Mine, but I do. I am a guild member of the Valor guild led by our Guild Master Ain. It is a pretty lax guild as long as you follow every rule that the guild master set. He rules are not even strict, but I talked to some Pantheon guild members and theirs is much laxer compared to ours.

Anyways, I did not want to believe what our guild officers told us in the briefing, but I had to. I am currently an Orc player because muscles are the way, but demons are really a whole different breed. The way that our guild officer just told us that a large primordial beast will be teleported to this location is something that you will not believe unless you have seen what demons are capable of.

I am wondering and hoping that the Daemos or demons as what they sometimes call themselves will be playable. I did not want to become one because I thought demons were beings with small muscles unlike the Orcs but seeing a demon with bigger muscles than my chosen race mesmerized me. I was mesmerized to the point that I wanted to become one and even befriended an NPC. I learned that they are a species of demon called Diabolon.

I always hoped that Equinox would unlock the Daemos race, but it seems that the quest is insanely difficult given that they can wield the arcane easily. Anyways, my fantasies are now getting the best of me but when will the large primordial beast come? We have already been here for a few hours while some of the earth mages in the guild have been here for days. The briefing also told us some strange directions such as hiding behind the rocks when the primordial beast arrives. Even the normal players are told to do this, but I do not know why. Maybe it was explained earlier but I guess I did not listen as attentively because the guild officer that gave s details did not have massive muscles like me.

Just as everyone was starting to chatter and wonder when the action will commence, the sky suddenly started to emit sparks. It was not really the sky but the space above us being ripped apart by magic. A large rift in space could be seen as all of us were in awe because this is the largest one, we have seen.

I have seen Guild Leader Equinox of the Pantheon guild create black holes and portals, but this one is at least twenty times larger than the ones I have seen. The entire canyon that was artificially created by the earth mages is covered by this large rift in space. Just as all of us thought that the theatrics were over, a large monster suddenly fell down which made the canyon shake.

This was the primordial beast that they have told us that would appear. It actually almost filled up the entire canyon that is made of yellow rocks which they said to be Pure Sulfur. I do not remember what the name of the primordial beast was but was it Kumumu? Or Kodomomo? Still, it is not a being that is easy to look upon.

I finally learned the real name when I inspected it, and it was the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. It looked like a slug that had a child with a leech, but it mutated with numerous hairy fuzzes as if it has a distant fuzzy caterpillar as a grandmother. When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo descended, it looked incredibly lost as it tried to move around.

I do not know why we were told to immediately take cover when the monster comes but I learned why a few seconds later. When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly took a bite of the chunk of stone in front of it, a bunch of notifications suddenly popped up for all of us.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has lost some of its defenses due to eating something that weakened it.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is now entering berserk mode. Stay away in order to survive.]

The greenish body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly changed to the color red. Its berserk form just changed its color which I thought was harmless, but I was mistaken. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly released numerous spikes from its body that were long and fast.

The other players that did not heed the advice and looked curiously at the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo are either dead or lucky to be alive. I am in the latter part of the group as the spikes that were about to hit missed by a few inches. I guess my muscles gave me luck as I suddenly heard the command to attack.

The guild officers said to attack the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo as it will now enter a state of exhaustion. I know I was lucky, but the adrenaline might have kicked in too much as I suddenly found myself charging at a large monster that could kill me unknowingly if I stood in its way. We attacked the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, and it returned back to normal after a while.

When it was now able to move from its exhausted state, the earth mages that were stationed everywhere suddenly started chucking the yellow stone that turned it berserk in its mouth. I think my mind blanked out because I know that stone is the thing that made it turn red and kill 10% of us in one attack.

I thought I was a goner because I was still in the area around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. I am a melee fighter because these muscles are not just for show, but it seems that I am dead here. To think that the guild will sacrifice me. I closed my eye accepting my fate, but I did not die. When I opened my eyes, I could see a demon near me as it seems that they teleported all of us that were near the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

It seems to be my demon friend with great muscles that has saved me. As expected of a muscle enthusiasts, we must make sure to help each other. Oh! They already said to attack again?! Ok! I hope you always have my back, and I will have yours! Charge!

Adrian, Elder Ascalor, Elder Koronn, and Elder Bronx looked tired and out of mana. They practically teleported two large monsters across time and space. They thought that all of them have already finished the calculations but the mana they used exceeded what they calculated. They were practically drained with only having 10% of their mana being left.

As soon as the two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo vanished, the remaining one in the Wilde felt its soul connections vanish. The calm Primordial Beast Kholomodumo would have rampaged, but it is not an intelligent being. It just started to eat just like before but the beings that surround it will not let it eat in peace.

"Start!" Adrian stated while catching his breath.

Peridot and Levin Cloud that were hiding near the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo turned off their camouflage. The large stones that looked like normal ones also started to revert back to what they are. Behind the two are large deposits of Pure Sulfur and using their mastery over the earth element, they sent chunks of them inside the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not even care on what enters its mouth as all of it are just swallowed. As soon as the chunks of Pure Sulfur was ingested, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly froze, and numerous notifications flooded the players in the Wilde which are the Pantheon guild. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo entered its berserk state and released all of its spikes in a frenzy.

The entire area was littered with spikes all over but all beings that live near there were already gone. The players and the army of the Selvaggian Race have already prepared for this event. As soon as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo stopped firing spikes, Adrian had to chunk a mana potion that tasted horrible to surge his mana back to full.

"Primordial Armament: Mirror!" Adrian stated as he changed to his mirror demon form.

He then proceeded to create numerous mirrors that are located in each of the gathered army members. The mirrors are the gates that these army will use to enter the area of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The empty area near the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is suddenly flooded with numerous Selvaggian warriors that attacked the enemy.

The Selvaggian warriors did not show any mercy towards the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. All of the rage that they have for the world eating monster is poured into it. The large health of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to dwindle that it was incredibly noticeable. The rage of the beastkin could tear apart even a primordial beast.

Chapter 2266: Raid of the Kholomodumo III

The charge of the Selvaggians that encompassed both NPCs and players were led by none other than King Leonidas himself. He was at the forefront at dealing with the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. He held his large great sword and tore apart the flesh of the enemy with each of his strikes. Just his presence alone buffed all the Selvaggian warriors as he is their chosen king.

[King Leonidas is participating in the battle.]

[All Selvaggian race members will have 20% increase in damage as long as he is in battle.]

[All Selvaggian race members will have 10% increase in stats as long as he is in battle.]

[All effects of King Leonidas's presence are halved for those that do not belong to the same race as him.]

A large increase in damage is what all of them needed because the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is basically a large monster with tons of health and healing. They need to damage it as much as possible and as fast as possible to destroy all the stored health that it has in its belly. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could be seen struggling as its vast health dropped by 5% in a matter of seconds.

As soon as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo recovered from its exhausted state, it immediately released its soft fur tentacles to attack all those that are near it. Elder Koronn and Elder Ascalor have already recovered which is why they decided to join the battle as well, but they mostly became supports in the first half. Elder Koronn froze time which made all become unable to move except for the Daemos in the realm.

As soon as Elder Koronn froze time, Elder Ascalor followed up with teleporting all of the allies near the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo away from it. When all of the allies are teleported to a safe manner, Elder Koronn made time flow once again. As soon as time flowed normally, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly found itself attacking nothing as all of the hostile entities against it has vanished.

The sudden confusion could be detected from the odd movements of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo as it used its numerous soft tentacles with eyes to check the surrounding. When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo had its focus on searching for the hostile entities, Elder Bronx performed Megaton Slam and streaked like a red comet from the skies down to the enemy.

A powerful force suddenly slammed directly against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo which induced it to open its large mouth. As soon as the large mouth of the enemy primordial beast enemy opened, Adrian along with Peridot and Levin Cloud started to move. Adrian transported large chunks of Pure Sulfur to the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo using his mirrors. Peridot and Levin Cloud did it the hard way by manipulating the mineral to directly fly towards the large mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has ingested large amounts of Pure Sulfur.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has decreased defenses of 10%.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will enter berserk mode once again.]

[All beings near the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will need to evacuate the area for your safety.]

As soon as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo turned red once again, numerous spikes are fired from its body from all directions but the people fighting against it have already made preparations. The shield users situated in the army have used their skills to negate the barrage of spikes. Kabrakan is the one protecting all of the Pantheon guild members as his shields absorbed every damage that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has dealt.

"Attack once more." Adrian calmly stated as he once again created numerous mirror gates for their allies to pass through to attack the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The cycle of attacking, freezing time, saving the allies around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, and inducing it to go berserk continued as long as they could.

[The defenses of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo can no longer be decreased as it is now decreased by 50%.]

It seemed that ingesting Pure Sulfur has its limits as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo can no longer be weakened. Still, the fight against it raged on for about three hours which might seem short but all the beings that participated are tired. Even the Daemos Elders are showing signs of fatigue as they are using skills that created huge impacts.

"Despite all of that, that freaking primordial beast still has 60% of its health left. The good thing is that it is no longer regenerating." Levin Cloud stated as he now focused on healing the allies since he no longer needed to feed the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo with Pure Sulfur.

"Everything is going smoothly but the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has started to fight back. It seems to become smarter as well." Adrian stated as he observed the behavior of the enemy.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to use its soft fur tentacles strategically by making sure that the melee fighters do not reach its body. The fight started to stagnate a little because of this but the enemy is still getting damage steadily. King Leonidas also told most to preserve their strengths as they do not know what the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has in store.

"I need to check what happened to the other side." Adrian stated as he shifted his attention to raid of the other two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

Unlike the side where the Selvaggians and the Daemos joined forces, the player side have yet to lower the health of their Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to 60%. Still, all of them were making good progress as the players did not fear death as much as the NPCs that participated.

They were steadily lowering the health of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo and utilized the same strategy that Adrian devised but adapted to their needs.

The two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo are split up in the main world where one is handled by the Valor Guild and the other the Infernum Guild. Both guilds are supported by the Evergreen guild and other guilds part of the alliance. Some of the Daemos also participated in the battle but they are mostly support that transported allies that are in trouble.

The one that almost equals the damage that Adrian's group did are the Infernum guild. Siegfried along with Faust easily blasted the large body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Faust also utilized the strategy that Adrian did more effectively by having both fire and earth mages work together to melt Pure Sulfur. The melted Pure Sulfur seems to be more effective against the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo as they managed to decrease its defense by 65% which is 15% higher than what Adrian's group did.

The Infernum guild side also has powerful mages that could deal large amounts of damage in bursts. The players in their care also deal large damage but one could see that they are also experiencing fatigue. This is the reason why Anastacia herself was present in this side as she made sure that all players in her care could fight without worry.

Anastacia summoned the caring hand of the world tree to heal the health and fatigue of all those in the battlefield. If she was not there then their side would have succumbed to over exhaustion already. Her presence in the battlefield has solidified her title as the Elven Goddess which the players often used to refer to her.

On the other hand, the Valor guild side did not have problems of over exhaustion. Ain made masterful use of all resources present to him which made the flow of the battle smoother. Despite only damaging the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo by about 25%, all of the fighters on his side have high spirits and could even fight for a day without breaking a sweat due to the effective management.

Unlike the Infernum guild side, they are also only able to decrease the defense of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo by 50% but that was enough for them. The Valor guild side has Cersei from the Evergreen guild and Mariposa as well. They basically commanded the battlefield with ease as they both surveillance power and debuffs.

Mariposa commanded her bug army as support suppliers as their side have lesser healers, but it has proven effective. Her bug aerial support has saved a lot of players from their careless mistakes. She also made use of them as beings that transported the Pure Sulfur into the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo which made them decrease the enemy's defenses faster than the others.

Cersei commanded a special group of witches that have covenants with devil gods like her. They are the ones responsible for supercharging their army while also using debuffs on the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Not a lot of debuffs are affecting on the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, but their efforts paid off as it alleviated the stress on the army.

The two Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on the main world are the clones though which means that they are not as strong as the one that was left in the Wilde. Adrian made sure to tell them to pay attention when the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo drops to 50% health as it might enter a berserk state.

Chapter 2267: Field of Death

"Should we attack with them now?" Elder Ascalor asked Adrian as he could see that they are slowing down.

"The health of that thing is starting to regenerate as well because it is no longer taking lots of damage. It is starting to learn to defend itself from all of the thrashing that it has received." Elder Koronn stated.

"Maybe it formed a comprehensive brain from all of the things that it ate." Elder Bronx added.

"This is a problem as it is getting tougher to attack." King Leonidas stated as he took a break from being a vanguard, but his buff still affected the entire battlefield.

"I guess it is time to activate the Death Plan then." Adrian stated.

"This early? I thought that we would use it when it drops to half health." Levin Cloud stated.

"Our anchor being has already finished his preparations and is getting impatient in doing some action. Also, we need to hasten the process even more as I am not a fan of monsters that passive in the first phase. Also, all of them are now tired and need to rest." Adrian stated.

"If that is what you want. I shall give the command to retreat for now while we do it." Levin Cloud stated.

"What are you planning, Mediator Equinox?" King Leonidas asked.

"Have you seen a parade of a million undead?" Adrian stated with a smile as he vanished.
"Preparations are done. I shall also go into my position. Please tell them to only attack when given the signal." Levin Cloud stated as he turned into vines and vanished from his current position.

"I believe this was not in the discussions." King Leonidas stated.

"It is actually under the 'Just in case' section. Let your soldiers rest and let those being that can manipulate the laws of death handle the battlefield. Do not worry as they will not kill anyone to do things." Peridot stated as she also started to prepare for unexpected scenarios.

Adrian appeared next to an undead with pale white skin that is floating in a meditative sitting position. This undead is the Undead Prince Creepysoo with Hexy protecting him while he created the magic circle below him. When Creepysoo felt Adrian near him, it was only then did he open his eyes.

"It seems that we needed to hasten the plan, big brother." Creepysoo stated as he liked calling Adrian big brother more than guild leader which the latter did not mind.

"The army is getting tired, and the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo is no longer getting burst of damage. We need to execute the Field of Death in order to weaken it even further." Adrian stated as vines suddenly sprouted next to him.

"I am already here. Let us start with the plan." Levin Cloud stated.

"Everything is ready on my end as the others have already set up the location. We can amplify even the harshest version of death." Creepysoo stated.

"Let us begin. Start the Night of Fright for us, Mediator Levin Cloud." Adrian stated with a smile and a bow.

"As you wish, Mediator Equinox." Levin Cloud answered as his entire being turned to look more like a dark elf.

"Seed of the Tree of Life and Death! Come forth!" Levin Cloud stated as his voice echoed in the entire area.

The skies above suddenly turned dark as golden rays of light pierced through it. The parting clouds dropped a seed that is both emanating the power of life and death. The seed dropped into the ground and filled the ground of the realm with pure energy. Energy so vast that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo noticed that the quality of the area became purer.

"It is starting to actually salivate." Adrian stated as he noticed that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to continue on eating as soon as the ground became energized.

The seed sprout forth a large tree that towered even the large trees in the Wilde. Some of the Selvaggian even bowed in reverence as they were now before a copy of the Tree of Life and Death. Levin Cloud touched the Tree of Life and Death, and it actually created a seat for him to meditate.

"Well, it would be a shame if it gets indigestion. We should help it." Levin Cloud stated as his eyes suddenly turned pitch black as the Tree of Life and Death emitted more death energy than life energy.

[All beings with the death attribute will have their overall stats be increased by up to 50% depending on the purity of their death energy.]

"Such a perfect environment! Let us go wild in the Wilde! Grand Necromancy! Arise!" Creepysoo shouted in excitement as he activated the magic circle below him.

A burst of death energy suddenly exploded from the magic circle below Creepysoo as the Necronomicon released beams of light that scattered to the sky. These beams of light arched to the other similar magic circles that Creepysoo was standing on. All of the magic circles lit up and connected to enclose the entire area that they were in.

The death energy that the Tree of Life and Death released is amplified and sucked by the magic circle. All parts of the field are suddenly filled to the brim with death energy as the magic circles acted as tunnels that scattered them. As soon as the entire area is filled with the sufficient amount, the ground started to shake. Skeletal hands and chilly voices echoed in the area as undead in mass number started to rise.

"I guess it is my turn then. Nether Domain!" Adrian stated as the entire area around him started to be filled with his tyrannical nether energy.

[You are now transforming to your Netheros True Form due to the Nether Domain being active.]

[The Tree of Life and Death is synchronizing with Nether Energy.]

[The Grand Necromancy Domain is synchronizing with your Nether Energy.]

[The entire area has activated the Field of Death effect.]

Chapter 2268: Field of Death II

[The area has been affected by unique conditions that triggered the hidden mechanic called Field of Death.]

[Special energy called Nether Energy is used instead of Pure Death energy which amplifies affected by the effects of the Field of Death by 20%.]

[The Tree of Life and Death is present in the area which prolongs all spells related to the death attribute by double.]

[All beings that created the Field of Death will have 30% stat increase that decays overtime while inside.]

The Field of Death has been summoned by the three beings that are closest to the God of Death Abaddon. The Champion of the Twin Gods Equinox, the Envoy of the Twin Gods Levin Cloud, and the Herald of the Gods of Death Creepysoo. All three beings are heavily tied to the gods of the death one way or the other and they even met with them.

All the Selvaggian in the area felt a chill on their spines and made them go into high alert. It is not just them that felt that death is everywhere as all living beings could feel it. Even the Daemos Elders that tend to brush off some threats actually felt fear when they saw what happened in the field. They knew that the brat that they raised is strong, but they have yet to fully witness him going all out using nether energy.

[All undead that are summoned will evolve into higher tier undead due to the effects of the Field of Death.]

All the skeletons that were raised from the ground became higher tier undead like Dullahan or Skeleton Knights. Some of them even evolve to high tier undead like Death Knights or Doom Knights. The rare skeletons that have magic in them evolved into Liches or Skeletal Magus.

The ghosts that were summoned turned into Wraiths or Banshees that emitted horrifying screams that made everyone's skin crawl. There are even some special types of undead like Living Armor or Shadow Fiends in the mix. All of the undead that Creepysoo summoned were upgraded with the effects of the Field of Death regardless of the fact that they were the weak skeletons when they rose from the ground.

[All undead will exude Nether Energy as is the energy that powers the Field of Death.] As if high tier undead were not yet enough of a problem, Adrian's nether energy that he infinitely supplies when he summons the Nether Domain also empowered all of the undead. The creepy looking undead became even more fearsome when the colors of the nether mist influenced their bodies. The ghost type undead benefited greatly from this as their bodies turned into pure nether mist.

"Ah! Such a beautiful undead army that is almost comparable to that of my father (The Undead King)! He would be so proud." Creepysoo stated with glee, and he would have shed a tear if undead could cry.

"Hurry up as we do not have all day." Adrian stated as his supply of nether energy might be infinite, but the duration of his domain is finite.

"Do not worry, big brother. I am just syncing with the army that we summoned as we speak." Creepysoo stated as he once again focused on the army they summoned.

All of the undead that looked confused or just flew about suddenly stopped moving. All of them suddenly turned towards Creepysoo's direction and knelt to the ground. The undead have acknowledge the Undead Prince and the beings of death that are beside him.

All of the undead then looked towards the direction of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The red glows on the eyes of the undead made it incredibly chill inducing as their bloodlust is directed at the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo felt the numerous eyes filled with pure death on it which made its instincts release tentacles to attack the beings that did.

The undead army marched towards the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo with the intention of killing it. Along with the march of the undead army is the thick nether mist that could eat at the life force of any being be it mortal or divine. The numerous tentacles of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo also arrived to greet the marching undead army but the ghost type undead made sure that all of the things that harm the army be dealt with.

The banshees suddenly released a powerful sonic attack that destroyed the incoming tentacles. The wraiths used their cold bodies and passed through the tentacles to freeze them. The Liches and Skeletal Magus released a spell called Death Flame that burst out blue flame that sucked the heat and life force of living things that are hit.

All of the living could only gulp as they saw the march of the undead army and the three beings that summoned them could be seen leisurely looking at them. All three of them were a great distance away from the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. They looked like the three kings of the underworld watching as their undead army conquers the land.

"KUWAAHHHH!" The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo screeched as it felt the danger of the undead beings and released far more tentacles than before.

"Kill it and present its life to us." Creepysoo stated with a clear and calm tone.

The undead army that marched calmly started to sprint as all of them pierced the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo with weapons filled with nether energy. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo that rarely moved suddenly started to shake off the undead that are attacking it. It specially disliked the ghost type undead that passed through its body. Just by passing through its body, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo would lose its health as it is infected by nether energy.

"The only weakness of the Field of Death is actually us." Adrian stated as even he is terrified by the thing that they found out.

"True. If one of us dies, then all of it would just puff into smoke." Levin Cloud stated.

"If only it is not reliant on us as much then we could have utilized the increases stats." Creepysoo added.

Chapter 2269: Field of Death III

The Field of Death is a powerful combined domain that utilizes all efforts of Equinox, Levin Cloud, and Creepysoo. It is also incredibly volatile because one of them being taken out would mean the entire thing could either explode or unravel. This is the reason why all of them are just waiting for the effects of the combined domain to expire instead of getting taken out by the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"It has surprising amounts of stamina though." Adrian stated as the undead did not relent on their attacks, but the health of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not decrease by a lot.

"Most of the undead get destroyed before getting damaged though. The only ones impervious to physical damage are the ghost type undead but they do not deal large amounts of damage." Creepysoo stated.

"Should we move onto the next thing then?" Levin Cloud asked.

"I guess it is time to deploy the ranged units." Adrian stated as he told Peridot to prepare via their guild chat.

"The guild leader said that we should prepare. Where are the remaining Pure Sulfur?" Peridot asked.

"Everything is in place. We also shaped everything as well. Some of the Pure Sulfur Solution that Brew created are also applied on all the arrows." Solstice stated as she had some of the guild members carry a crate full of supplies.

When the crate is opened, the items inside were Pure Sulfur turned into sharp and thin spears. Peridot and some of the earth mages started to inject their mana into them in preparation for the barrage. The archers of the army were also given a special potion that gives the properties of Pure Sulfur to arrowheads.

It was created by one of the eccentric guild members called Brew, who is a Potion Witch and student of Jianna. One would be easily able to distinguish Brew because of the special mount that he uses to move. He is riding on a flying cauldron that has a special dimension inside that only he could access. Also, he would be incredibly loud as he explained the effects of his potion.

"Start now." Adrian entered in the guild chat as Solstice took control of the unit.

Solstice raised her sword up in the air as the archers started to raise their bows and arrows. The mages already filled the spears with their mana as all of it floated in midair. Solstice brought her sword down and all of the projectiles were fired. The undead attacking the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not even bother dodging as they were focused on attacking.

The Infernum guild side could be seen in total ruins as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo rampaged continuously for ten minutes. When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on their side dropped to 40% health, it continuously fired off spikes in every direction without stop. A lot of players did not expect such development that some of the Daemos were in danger.

The players knew that the Daemos support NPCs that are fighting with them should be safe as they needed to send the enemy back to the world it came from just in case. As a result of this, 20% of the players in their area were all lost but the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo became incredibly weakened. The defenses of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on their side dropped to 20% of its original that almost all attacks are critical strikes.

All of this is also being reported to all sides of the battlefield, so they know what to expect but the Valor Guild side has a different problem. The Valor Guild side also managed to drop their Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to 40% health, but it did not fire off spikes like what happened to the one in the Infernum guild. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on the Valor guild side suddenly spat out powerful acid that easily melted steel.

A lot of the weapons and armors of the players had a massive decrease in durability. The acid is also strong enough to melt some of the skin of players without powerful poison resistance. Fortunately, the players could easily survive this dilemma by drinking potions that increases poison resistance, but the pain is still there.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on the Valor Guild side only stopped spitting out acid when Cersei used the power of her devil god to conjure large amounts of water. She then used the water and filled the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo with it. She basically made the enemy drink back the poisonous acid along with her cursed water.

From the different reactions of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, Adrian could see that they are indeed different beings even if the two on the main world are clones of the one in the Wilde. Adrian did not know that his plan to separate them is the best one that could be done. If all three of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo attacked in states like that then no army would survive.

On Adrian's side, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly dropped to 50% health when all attacks from the mages and archers landed. The Pure Sulfur is incredibly effective to ignore the defenses of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. All of the attacks that followed the Pure Sulfur barrage were basically true damage because of the wounds that the primordial beast suffered.

"Kuwahhh!" The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo shouted.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has called to share life, but it failed because of the clones missing from its side.]

"Oh! Such a nice notification." Adrian stated in surprise as the thrashing for the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo continued in an even harsher manner.

The soldiers have already rested, and they have started to join the fight as well. To make the soldiers even more powerful, Adrian carefully manipulated the nether mist to affect them as well. Although the effects of the nether mist decreased by half, the fact that an army of Selvaggians that have powerful attacks enhanced by it has doubled their lethality.

Chapter 2270: Breaking Dimensions Due to Connections

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo in the Wilde could be seen on being in the defensive and it is heavily losing. All of the Selvaggians attacking sliced, crushed, pounded every inch of its body. To make sure that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo could not clone itself, any parts of its body that is torn apart is burned by the mage unit.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo easily dropped to 40% health as a result of the assault of the Selvaggians. King Leonidas could finally see how the Daemos operate and even made note of Adrian's sharp mind. The fact that no Selvaggian has yet to die is a testament that everything has been carefully considered but also making sure that they will be in the winning side.

Still, King Leonidas did not drop his guard down as a primordial beast would have been easily defeated if it was like this. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo might still have some way to defend itself and it did. When the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo dropped to 35%, it changed to a darker red color.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo then produced numerous spikes that its body looked like it is only made up of these sharp objects. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo then proceeded to release the spikes from its body which made all living beings retreat. The undead still attacked as they did not care about dying again because they will revive up to two times inside of the Field of Death.

"I can finally shine. Temporal Halt!" Elder Koronn stated as the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly stopped moving for a few seconds.

In fact, it is not just the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo that is frozen in time but also the area around it by ten meters. The spikes that it released could even be seen frozen in the sky. Elder Koronn could be seen to be having some form of difficulty, but he made sure that he will not lose against a primordial beast.

"A little help would be nice." Elder Koronn stated as beads of sweat could be seen rolling down his face because holding a large primordial beast frozen in time is not an easy feat. "Just hold it for a few more seconds, old man. Extreme Momentum!" Elder Bronx stated as he released a wave of energy that coated all of the spikes of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The spikes were suddenly coated in an energy that made them spin and fly faster. This cannot be seen now because Elder Koronn has frozen time, but it will happen once time returns back to normal. In fact, the application of this spell is so perfect that it did not overwrite the Temporal Halt spell already being applied which is a testament that Elder Bronx is not just pure muscle but also an incredible spell caster.

"I guess it is my turn then. Spatial Rifts: Endless Corridors!" Elder Ascalor stated as he clapped his hands and released a powerful burst of spatial energy.

The space around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to distort as small rifts could be seen being formed. Everyone was warned to not go inside the area unless they wanted to die prematurely. As soon as all of the rifts have formed, Elder Koronn finally let go and time around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to flow back to normal.

The spikes that were frozen in the air could suddenly be seen spinning at an unbelievable rotational speed. Also, all of the spikes did this as well as soon as they were released from the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The speed at which the spikes flew are also increased that it is almost as fast as the speed of sound.

The Selvaggians and even the Pantheon guild members tried to find cover as they thought they might get hit but it was not necessary. The spatial rifts that Elder Ascalor created are not just one layer but three. This is to make sure that all released spikes would be accounted for should they evade a rift in the first layer.

As soon as the spikes enter the rifts, they are redirected to another rift that faced the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The spikes of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo that were a tool to get rid of its enemies because the means to heavily injure it instead. All of the spikes it released are sent back to it which created a nasty and bizarre view of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo damaging itself.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has dropped to 25% health.]

The sight of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo being harmed by its own attacks marked a new terrifying fact of what Daemos could do. The state of the is not something that one could easily describe as it is now a living mess. It is still moving but it is in a state that could be described as meat paste like.

"Terrifying. In just one berserk state, they reduced that thing to a state where it could no longer attack." King Leonidas muttered.

"I am surprised that it is even alive. How much health could one primordial beast have?" Adrian thought but the guild leaders of Valor and Infernum suddenly messaged him urgently of something strange that happened.

[Ain: The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on our side suddenly melted into acid. It is no longer here but we did not even have its health go down to zero.]

[Siegfried: The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo on our side also deflated like a balloon and lost all of its health suddenly. What is happening on your side?]

The messages of the two guild masters did not make Adrian happy because he felt something break dimensional walls. Even the Daemos elders felt this as well as two holes suddenly appeared beside the meat paste that is known as Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. As soon as Adrian saw the dimensional rifts and the things that came out of them, it prompted him to make a move as quick as possible.

"I cannot stop the other one!" Adrian stated as he blocked one of the souls of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo to reach the heavily injured one.
