

O Summoner 2271

Chapter 2271: A Distorted Hand Appears

The dimension's walls suddenly weakened, and two holes formed as two interesting things destroyed it. These two things are none other than the souls of the two cloned Primordial Beast Kholomodumo that Adrian and the Daemos elders sent to the main world. Adrian tried to stop one of the souls from entering the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo in the Wilde, but he was too late in blocking the other one.

Just when Adrian thought of the soul from the clones Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will enter the main one, branches of the Tree of Life and Death could be seen stopping the other one. Levin Cloud was able to detect the soul easily because of his connection with the Tree of Life and Death. They were able to stop the two souls in merging with the original Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

"That is not fun." A voice from the skies that sounds like voices of numerous people suddenly stated which made all of the peoples' soul tremble.

The skies in the Wilde suddenly shattered like glass to reveal a being that is unimaginable to the human mind. A being that is an amalgamation of large hands that have eyes on each palm could be seen on the skies. This being could only destroy the dimensional wall, but it could not descend onto the land itself. A powerful pressure was pushing it away which made it unable to interfere, but its presence made every living being on the Wilde is having difficulty breathing because of it.

"Such a wretched world barrier that it could even block for minor worlds. Did you really think that I cannot interfere? I already sent that thing here in the first place." The being from the skies stated but it had no mouth since it was speaking to all the minds of the living beings instead.

"What is that?!" King Leonidas asked as he was able to maintain his composure even if he stared directly at the being above.

"That would be a god. A distorted one at that." Adrian replied as his eyes pulsated with the energy to protect his sight from directly gazing at the body of the distorted god above.

"If what it says is true then the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo was not really here in the first place. That distorted god might have placed it here." Levin Cloud stated as he could also directly stare at the distorted god located above in the skies.

The distorted god then tried to break the dimensional barriers, but it could not. It had to resort to the same method that it used when it placed the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo in this realm. Powerful energy could be sensed being emitted by the distorted god above as it was creating a humanoid shape. A humanoid goddess that had the strength of a lesser god is being created before their eyes.

Adrian already knew that gods could create a different form to manifest as their true divine bodies cannot be seen by ordinary beings. Still, the other beings that do not interact with gods do not know that and that information is being exposed now. This entire battle is actually being streamed in the Pantheon guild channel which means that all of the world now know that gods can do such things easily.

"It is creating another body to do its dirty work. Stop it!" Adrian shouted as he could not move because he is blocking one of the souls.

"I cannot deal with it because I am also occupied." Levin Cloud stated.

"We will deal with it." The Three Daemos Elders stated as they released powerful spells towards the form that the distorted god above was creating but their spells did not prove effective.

"You need divine energy to destroy such a thing." Adrian stated as the Daemos Elders could only watch as the humanoid body that the distorted god is creating is still continuing.

"I guess I should be the one to do this then." Creepysoo stated as he no longer focused on the remaining parts of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo.

Creepysoo raised the Necronomicon and combined all of the undead that are still left. All of the undead gathered to create a black beating heart. Creepysoo then fused with this black beating heart and a monster that is called the Black Skeletal Undead Dragon is created. The Black Skeletal Undead Dragon had Creepysoo himself as a core and he filled it with all the divine energy that he has.

The Black Skeletal Undead Dragon has skeletons that are made of a dark crystal harder than diamond. It has a red aura of death and releases a powerful dragon force that actually rivaled Kanlaon's. The most interesting thing about the Black Skeletal Undead Dragon is the fact that it also exudes the nether energy that all of the undead materials used in its creation. If nether energy actually fully integrated in its body, then the Black Skeletal Undead Dragon might have been called the Nether Skeletal Undead Dragon instead. The Black Skeletal Undead Dragon flew to the skies as it released a powerful beam of energy that contained both divine, death, and nether energy. The distorted god in the sky could be seen a bit worried as its unmoving hands started to squirm.

"I will not be disturbed by weak beings! I am the Goddess of Truth Aletheia!" A female voice stated as the humanoid form that the distorted god suddenly manifested fully.

A large mirror suddenly appeared in front of the Goddess of Truth Aletheia and blocked the dragon breath that Creepysoo used as the Black Skeletal Undead Dragon. It would have been fine if the mirror just absorbed the attack, but it actually fired it back at him with twice the damage. The Black Skeletal Undead Dragon tried to defend the core where Creepysoo is, but he was not able to hold on.

Creepysoo crashed to the ground and with it the balance of the Field of Death. Adrian and Levin Cloud weakened a lot because of this and the souls that they contained fused to the main body.

Chapter 2272: Aletheia

The being that helped the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo called herself as the Goddess of Truth Aletheia, but Adrian did not believe what he saw before he got blown away. The name of the puppet being that has a female humanoid shape is indeed called the Goddess of Truth Aletheia, but the distorted god above did not share the same title. The Distorted God above had many errors on the previous titles of its names, but it is indeed called Aletheia. "Such a powerful restriction. The fact that this powerfully crafted body that even used quite a bit of my divine energy is being affected by causality. As expected, the demons must be severed from the world as soon as possible." The Goddess of Truth Aletheia stated as her entire body that is just created has started to turn to dust.

Before the entire body turned to dust, the Goddess of Truth Aletheia released a powerful attack that blew all beings away from the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. She wanted to make sure that the true being would finally be created once again. The being that she sent to this realm to feed must succeed no matter what as it was the plan.

"All of you must die in order for the grand plan to work!" The Goddess of Truth Aletheia stated as she released another blast of divine energy to hold everyone in place.

The release of a wave of divine energy made causality itself attack the Goddess of Truth Aletheia and turn her body completely to dust. The Distorted God Aletheia that is watching from the skies also got affected as all the eyes on the hands squinted as if it felt pain. The Distorted God Aletheia wanted to try interfering once more, but the Three Daemos Elders combined their strengths to close the breach that the former created.

The rift created by the Distorted God Aletheia is forcefully shut by the three Daemos Elders, but they felt extreme exhaustion doing so. They had to fly close enough to the Distorted God Aletheia and they needed to resist the pressure emitted by the distorted god. This resulted in them also creating an extremely quick fix while also making sure that the dimensional barrier can no longer be destroyed.

Adrian wanted to help the elders in fixing the dimensional barrier, but the enemy called the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo started to rise once more. To say that a bunch of meat paste moving and converging towards one another is rising is an understatement but that is what is happening. A powerful pressure suddenly covered the area, and this one is not from the distorted god above because the rift has already been forcefully closed.

The pressure is actually coming from the converged parts of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. A large chrysalis like being appeared and planted its tentacles firmly on the ground. The tentacles suddenly started to absorb the core primordial energy found on the core of this realm. The Wilde started to die faster than when the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo was eating it, and everyone could feel it.

The land that they were standing on could be seen being lifeless and turned into sand. Seeing the realm die quicker, King Leonidas commanded all of the Selvaggian warriors present to stop that thing even if they need to sacrifice their lives. If that thing is not stopped, then the realm itself would decay, and all life will be lost.

"As the Crowned Beast King! I command all of you to unleash all of your ferocity!" King Leonidas roared as his entire body burst with energy and his form shifted to a more animalistic appearance.

All the other Selvaggians did so as well as they now have more animalistic appearance unlike before when they had ears, tails, and eyes as beast parts. The power they exuded also soared as well as a powerful and unbridled force is released from within them. This was the Beastification of all the Selvaggians in the area.

"Wait! Do not recklessly toss your lives!" Levin Cloud stated as he recovered.

"We cannot stop them now as they are blinded by their ferocity. We have no choice but to do our best because this is the fate that they have chosen themselves. Support them to the best of your abilities because I am going to get the reinforcements now. Also, can someone check on Creepysoo if he is fine?" Adrian stated.

"I shall look for him now, guild leader." Awraka stated as she appeared beside Adrian and then vanished immediately.

"I guess it is all out now then." Levin Cloud stated as he changed to his true form to join the others attacking the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo.

Adrian could only rely on himself as he entered a state of pure concentration. It would have been easy if Elder Ascalor was with him in connecting the two worlds, but the three elders were making sure that the distorted god does not tear the dimensional barrier again. All three were incredibly focused and struggling to fix the dimensional tear.

"I need assistance, Kenos." Adrian stated as Kenos manifested behind him from its special pocket dimension.

"As the master wills." Kenos replied readily.

"Perfect Assimilation: Kenos!" Adrian stated as he and Kenos fused together.

[A touch of luck has affected your future.]

[You have perfectly assimilated with the soulbound Kenos for the first time.]

[All abilities from the Soulbound Kenos will be available for use while fused together.]

[Half of Kenos' stats will be given to you while you are fused together.]

Adrian felt it as soon as he fused with Kenos. He felt everything could be moved with just his thought. He felt that space itself would bend for him if he really wanted to. He then looked above and saw the large rift that was on the other side that is being fixed by the three Daemos Elders.

"No wonder they are having difficulty. The rift is larger on the other side than this side. I want to help but reinforcements against that thing is the priority." Adrian stated as he utilized the two dimensional holes created earlier by the two souls.

Chapter 2273: Kholomodumo: World Devourer Form

Six sharp insect arms could be seen protruding from Adrian's back, and he used them to pierce the two dimensional holes that the two souls created. The other players cannot see these sharp insect arms because they are hiding in another dimension just like when Kenos usually appears only in a state of a floating insect head. These large insect arms pierced the two dimensional holes and spread them wide open.

Adrian could be seen focusing purely on these two dimensional holes as stabilizing them would be quite an issue. He also told the allied guilds of what is happening and that they need to arrive at the Wilde as fast as possible. When Adrian looked at the chrysalis containing the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo, he cannot believe how much energy it is taking in.

"I need to hurry or else it might hatch with a fully powered primordial beast that we cannot defeat." Adrian thought as he started to do everything even if he is losing a lot of mana in the process.

The chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo might stay in one place as some of its tentacles pierced the realm, but it is not defenseless. The Selvaggians that are in Beastification are barely doing any damage to it as not all of them could reach. The chrysalis could actually create numerous spiky tentacles using its body and even use some that are planted on the ground to do surprise attacks.

A lot of the Selvaggian army were taken down because of the sudden sprouting of the sharp spike. Some even started losing limbs despite having a tough body but it is fortunate that no one has yet to be killed. In fact, the normal Selvaggian soldier can only deal with the tendrils. Only those of the royal guard and the elders can even dare to reach the chrysalis to attack it.

Even if the royal guard, elders of each tribe, and King Leonidas reach the chrysalis, some of them have to focus on defense as being near put them in a more difficult spot. The closer they are from the chrysalis then the more danger they are in as the attacks become more aggressive. The most annoying thing for the chrysalis is the fact that it has an automatic buff that negates some of the damage it takes.

[The chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is in effect to transform it into a perfect being.]

[While in this state, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will have reduced magic damage by a flat 70% amount. Its magic resistance cannot be decreased when in this state.]

[While in this state, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo will have reduced physical damage by a flat 50% amount. Its physical resistance cannot be decreased when in this state.] The amount of defense that the chrysalis had is making it difficult for the long-ranged users to deal damage to it. In regard to magic attacks or spells, a flat 70% magic resistance basically makes them deal close to no damage on the chrysalis. It would have been fine if the magic resistance could be decreased but it seems that the distorted god did something to strengthen it.

In regard to physical attacks, a 50% decrease in damage is not bad but it also has the problem of not having the resistance be viable for decrease. Add to the fact that the chrysalis could actually respond better against long ranged physical attacks such as arrows or bullets. All of the arrows and bullets fired at the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo are being blocked as if the chrysalis could detect bloodlust.

The only real way to deal damage to the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo is to have a skill that can do true damage but skills that can do that are few and not that powerful when only one can cast it at a time. The chrysalis basically restores 0.1% of the maximum health of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo per ten seconds. The only real and actually feasible way to destroy the chrysalis is to do human wave tactics.

The only feasible way is to have a massive swarm of players attack simultaneously to damage the chrysalis. This is the reason why Adrian is doing his best to create the two portals connecting the worlds as soon as possible. He did not expect that his perfect plan that he crafted to deal with the clones is now backfiring because the resources were spread out. Adrian is actually cursing at the distorted god as he was connecting the two worlds.

[The Distorted God Aletheia considers you as an enemy.]

[Your title, Divine Enemy, has activated against the Distorted God Aletheia and all of her followers.]

[Your title, Divine Enemy, has detected an enemy nearby that you can apply the damage bonus in the area.]

[The Divine Enemy title has declared the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo as a follower of the Distorted God Aletheia as the divine energy of the god is seeping through on the former.]

"No wonder it has become more difficult! That thing is juiced up with divine energy from a distorted god as well!" Adrian thought as he hoped that their current army can deal with the chrysalis as much as possible while he is connecting the two worlds.

On the other side of the battlefield, the Pantheon guild members are also trying to attack the chrysalis but even they felt that they cannot get close to it. Unlike before where the spike tentacles shot out from where they could see it, they now have to also monitor the ground for any odd activity as some tentacles could literally pop out to kill them. Only a few of them could ignore this such as Vayu since he can turn to mist in order to instantly dodge.

"You can deal true damage right, darling?" Solstice asked Lycan while she destroyed some tentacles sprouting from the ground.

"I can but you can also do that as well. The enemy can bleed if I am not wrong." Lycan replied as he also slashed some tentacles that came at him.

"I wanted to manipulate its blood but any cuts that we do against it just restore immediately. I can feel its blood, but nothing is coming out as if it has full control of its body functions. Our only hope of doing real damage is you since you have a flat 5% true damage in any of your attacks, but it can be converted to 100% when needed." Solstice stated.

"How can I even get near it when we get repelled when we get close. I mean only King Leonidas is practically dealing damage to it now. It is already a godsend that he could deal large amounts of damage that can offset its healing." Lycan stated as he observed that King Leonidas also dealt true damage like him.

"I guess we need to step up then. They are now ready to do something about the pesky attacks. All you need to do is get ready for the follow up." Solstice stated as she pointed to the sky.

In the sky, a fully transformed Peridot could be seen as she summoned the might of the moon. Moon rocks of large size and incredible heat are all directed towards the chrysalis. She is not the only one above as Soleil along with her elementals blazed fiercely to create numerous flaming suns that is also directed at the chrysalis. Ark is also with them as he fused both light and darkness together and fired it as a beam towards the chrysalis.

All of them used their most powerful magic attacks against the chrysalis which it actually detected as a threat. For the first time, the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo decided to wrap itself in numerous tentacles to protect itself. This layer of protection was incredibly sturdy that even the claws of King Leonidas cannot penetrate it.

[The chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo increased its defenses by 20%.]

"Mama mia! That is not ok. Let this magnificent sister help you out while she is in an empowered state. Devil God Curse Magic: Null Invincibility!" Cersei casted as she was one of the first to arrive thanks to the portals Adrian has connected.

[The chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has been affected by the Devil God

Curse Magic: Null Invincibility.]

[All attacks that hit it for a span of five seconds will be transformed into true damage instead.]

A magic casted with the aid of a devil god and is more effective against beings with divine energy. Even Cersei did not expect such explosive effect as she only wanted to increase the magic penetration of the attacks about to land against the chrysalis. She inadvertently turned all damage received by the chrysalis as true damage because of it which made her smile.

The combined attacks of Peridot, Soleil, and Ark directly hit the protected chrysalis. The tentacles that reinforced the chrysalis became pointless as their spells became true damage. A huge chunk of the health of the chrysalis vanished in an instant as a painful cry from the inside made all of them cover their ears.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has received damage.]

Chapter 2274: Kholomodomo: World Devourer Form II

[Your allies have dealt true damage to the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo.]
[Due to this, the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer has received damage.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer has increased rage towards all that attacks it.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer has detected numerous hostile entities.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer will reveal its power much earlier because of this.]

[Destroy the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo before it devours all of it and empowers itself.]

"Destroy it!" Adrian shouted as a command as he forcefully enlarged the two portals that he maintained.

As soon as Adrian basically forcefully made the two portals bigger, the numerous players charged towards the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo. All of the players were already briefed while Adrian was opening the portals in front of them. The scene of a large portal suddenly opening in front of the previous area where the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo was a shock, but the guild leaders informed all of them.

Numerous players charged and did not even care about the tentacles attacking them. All of them were already told that the monster that they will need to defeat is a primordial beast. Due to the trust that each guild in the alliance have for each other, the players also trust that they will be compensated even if they died. As long as they achieve victory then a sacrifice of their lives would be nothing.

The sudden influx of players attacking the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo made its large and sturdy health drop quicker than ever. When the other players were not yet there, the best that they could do was drop the health of the chrysalis by 1% every twenty minutes. Now, they are decreasing the health of the chrysalis faster with the same amount for five minutes.

The sudden decrease of the health of the chrysalis is not just the players affecting it but also the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo itself is eating its own shell. Since the chrysalis is filled with lots of nutrients, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo decided to devour it to empower itself even more. Adrian was worried about this World Devourer title next to the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo but dealing with the problem now is the key to winning.

"I guess we arrived quite late." Anastacia stated as she walked near Adrian.

"So, this is where the real party is happening." Siegfried added as he also walked closer to Adrian.

"It seems that you need some rest." Ain stated as he looked unfazed nor exhausted from the continuous fighting that happened earlier.

"It is not easy maintaining dimensional gates that safely sends thousands of people to the other side." Adrian stated as he closed the two dimensional gates since all of the players have arrived.

"Less worry about him for now and worry about the other players. They are getting bullied there as those tentacles can penetrate their weak spots. We need to combine our power to heal them." Levin Cloud stated as he looked at Anastacia.

"If that is what the Envoy of the Twin Gods wants. After all, you are basically my superior in the order after all." Anastacia stated jokingly which made Levin Cloud shudder about that thought.

Levin Cloud and Anastacia did not go back and forth as they utilized the power of the Tree of Life and Death that is still summoned. The energy that the tree of life and death switched more to the life category. The tree of life and death then released a powerful wave of healing magic that restored the health of all players and NPCs alike.

[The Blessing of Gaea is present in the area due to the combined efforts of the Envoy of the Twin Gods and the Envoy of the Goddess of Life Gaea.]

[All beings blessed will have their maximum health restored by 50%. Excess health restored will become a barrier that protect the being that is blessed.]

[All beings blessed will have their health regeneration boosted by 300% for a duration of 30 minutes. Excess healing will be converted to a barrier that covers the being that is blessed.]

[All beings blessed will have their mana regeneration boosted by 100% for a duration of 30 minutes. Excess mana will be converted to health regeneration.]

[All beings blessed will have all of the status ailments and status debuffs cleansed. All beings blessed will also be immune to status ailments and status debuffs for five minutes.]

[All stamina that was depleted will be recovered back to full.]

The desolate area that was ravaged by the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo suddenly sprouted some grass and flowers because of the powerful effects of the spell used by Levin Cloud and Anastacia. Some of the players never experienced this before as they have never been touched by the combined magic of the Envoy of the Twin Gods and the Envoy of the Goddess of Life Gaea.

The lost stamina being recovered is also an integral part as most of the beings here are already tired and weary. Even the Selvaggians that are prideful of their stamina could be seen struggling to even dodge. Even the guild leaders have to admit that the combination of Levin Cloud and Anastacia is something like a cheat code when the tree of life and death is present. [The Tree of Life and Death has used all of the energy it brought and will return back to where it came from.]

Even if both of them are a cheat with the tree of life and death being present, the magic they used was extremely powerful that it depleted all of the energy that the tree of life and death had. A large area where it could heal thousands of people is almost similar to a miracle or an act of a god. The fact that mortal beings could cast it means they needed a vast power source. "With the most helpful tree in existence gone, this fight will be more difficult." Ain stated as he actually wanted to fight with the support of the tree of life and death.

"It just makes the fight more fun. Am I right, Equinox?" Siegfried stated.

"I want to have fun but maybe not with the fate of a world at stake." Adrian replied as he recovered all of the stamina he depleted.

The powerful healing magic did not just affect those that are below but also the three Daemos elders above. The magic also reached them which made them more powerful and continued to seal the rift. They believed that they could be able to completely seal it in twenty minutes as long as they are not bothered.

"Does that god on the other side, not stop?" Elder Bronx stated with a tone full of disbelief. "It has been striking at the other side for an almost indefinite amount of time. Even I am running out of patience stabilizing the rift." Elder Koronn stated.

"Stop complaining and work faster but do not let your concentration falter. Just one misstep and that thing could descend to this very realm. If that happens then it would be the death of us all." Elder Ascalor stated which made the other two focus.

While the Daemos Elders had the rift problem, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo also has one. The chrysalis meant to protect and nourish it has started to falter faster than anticipated. Some attacks from the outside are also reaching its main body that is inside of it. This made the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo impatient as it started to devour its chrysalis from the inside.

It is now a race against how much the beings outside could destroy versus how much energy the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo can eat. Both sides are inevitably at war with one preventing and the other preparing for battle. Still, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo made it more difficult for its chrysalis to defend it.

The more the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo devours the energy of its chrysalis, the lesser power it has for attacks or means to defend itself. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo did not know this as it is a primordial beast with the emphasis on the 'beast' as it is not known for its intelligence. If it was known for its intelligence, then it would have escaped by now when a lot of beings were now attacking it.

"Should I start, Muscle Head?" Ain asked Siegfried.

"You should do your thing first prissy face. You can soften that thing up regardless of its resistances, right?" Siegfried replied.

"I guess that is true. I shall go first then as your attack will be useless without my aid." Ain stated as he started to do his martial stance.

"What do you mean without your aid? I can attack fine by myself. I am just letting you go first so you could at least participate." Siegfried stated as he started to empower his entire body and crimson flames surrounded him.

"Do they always tease each other like that?" Adrian asked Anastacia.

"They do but that is just more of their playful banter. Their skills are legitimate." Anastacia stated as a blue and red streak charged towards the chrysalis.

Chapter 2275: Kholomodumo: World Devourer Form III

"Martial Sage Arts: Blooming Lotus!" Ain stated as he moved his arms like flowing water.

A powerful energy burst out from the body of Ain and some of the energy from around him also went inside his body. A faint image of a blooming blue lotus could be seen behind Ain before it entered his body as well. A blue streak suddenly reached the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. In an instant, Ain suddenly reached the chrysalis as the tentacles were not even able to reach him.

Ain suddenly thrust his two palms in an open manner onto the chrysalis. A powerful energy exploded onto the chrysalis and reverberated in all parts of it. The outer layer of the chrysalis that was extremely hard suddenly shattered like glass. A large part of the dense protective layer is gone with just one attack but one could see that Ain also became unable to move for a second.

Adrian immediately saw this and quickly sent him back to the backline with teleportation. Ain could be seen giving Adrian a thumbs up as he would have been skewered by the numerous sharp tendrils that came out of the ground. The chrysalis also attacked more frequently as a result of what Ain did, but the defenses of the enemy actually got destroyed.

[The physical defense of the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo have been recalibrated to zero for the duration of ten seconds.]

[The magical defense of the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo have been recalibrated to 20% for the duration of ten seconds.]

A notification that made all of those attacking the chrysalis of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo turn into hungry predators. The being inside the chrysalis also noticed the pure unbridled bloodlust directed at it which made it devour more and more of its shell. A blue streak is not the only thing that appeared in the area as there was also a red one.

"Blade of Pride: Gigaton!" Siegfried shouted as a red streak suddenly came crashing from the sky.

When Ain charged in a blue streak, Siegfried also charged towards the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo in a red blur. Unlike Ain that went straight, Siegfried asked Adrian to help him gain more momentum. As a result, Adrian opened an immediate portal in front of Siegfried when he passed through about thirty meters. The portal transported Siegfried above which made it easy for him to target the chrysalis.

The chrysalis is large but one of the things it cannot defend much against are aerial attacks. The chrysalis has a better chance defending against land-based attacks than aerial based ones. This is why Adrian sent Siegfried in the air rather than in the immediate vicinity of the enemy as he could still get skewered at that instance. The change in the trajectory also made Siegfried's energy more powerful as his attack gains more power with more distance that he traveled.

A large sword filled with great sword aura that can rival the continent's best swordsmen hit the defenseless chrysalis. This powerful slice actually pierced through the thick hide of the chrysalis and even directly chop a part of it. The enclosed chrysalis suddenly got sliced partly in two with the sliced part spewing acidic liquid. Even the ground below the chrysalis got melted from the dangerous liquid substance.

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has been damaged.]

[The protective vessel containing and empowering the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has been destroyed.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer will awaken faster than expected.] As soon as the chrysalis got permanently damaged, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo no longer cared for it. The nourishment it could give became flawed when it was finally damaged. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo knew that it could no longer use it to strengthen itself, but it has turned its eyes onto new prey.

"Hungry..." An eerie voice coming from inside the chrysalis stated as a large arm made of numerous tentacles suddenly pierce through.

After one arm pierced through the chrysalis, another followed but this was joined all of its wriggly tentacles to form a large fist with sharp claws. A loud rumble from the chrysalis exploded and it finally got destroyed. A large amount of acidic liquid flowed out of the chrysalis which damaged the entire area with poison. The acidic liquid even smelled like pure sulfur which means that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo might no longer be weak to it. [The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has finally awakened.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo has achieved its most powerful form.]

[All weaknesses of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo before are no longer valid.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has 40% increased resistance against all attribute spells and attacks.]

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has spread out its aura around a thousand-meter radius. All beings that have weak souls will be weakened more by Primordial

Fear.]

[Your soul is strong.]

[The effects of Primordial Fear will be lessened on your body.]

[All stats will be decreased by 10% as a result of being afflicted with Primordial Fear.]

A wave of powerful pressure that made all beings in the area feel dread spread out. The mere sight of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo made almost all the players that have weak souls bow down. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer is a beast of epic proportions which actually made Adrian feel like they might actually lose.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: Word Devourer does not only have primordial energy coursing through its body but also divine energy. There was also a strange energy mixed in as well, but that thing was barely detectable to the point that Adrian thought he was misreading things. Still, the mixture of primordial energy and divine energy is not something that can be easily taken care of.

"Do you think we can win?" Levin Cloud asked Adrian hoping to hear some sweet words of affirmation.

"Unfortunately, even I think we have a very slim chance of winning this. Even with the help of the Daemos elders, I fear it might not be enough. That is a monster of its own caliber." Adrian stated as he saw the power of the enemy before them.

Chapter 2276: Kholomodumo: World Devourer Form IV

Monster Name: Kholomodumo

Monster Tier: Semi-Transcendent

Monster Type: Primordial Beast

Monster Species: World Devourer

Description: A primordial beast that has surpassed what it means to be ordinary. It almost reached the state of perfect harmony between primordial energy and divine energy. It is a being that has been touched by a Distorted God which is why its evolution is not perfect. If it was able to accumulate more primordial energy, then it might have evolved to the perfect being.

It mutated into a World Devourer when it devoured a World Devouring Wurm and adapted its abilities. The only problem it has and the reason it is not a perfect being is due to its inability to siphon power from the world or realm it is at. It started to devour the realm itself in order to sustain the massive energy needed to fuel its large body.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer no longer looked like a large slug that has fur hair. It now has a humanoid shaped body made up of fused tentacles. Its hulking lower body is plated in what looks like red armor, but it is just its hardened tentacles fused together. The upper body is beastly in appearance as it also looks like it is covered in blue armor but there is a gigantic mouth at the very middle of it.

The gigantic mouth on the middle of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer is the appearance of its own mouth earlier. Unlike the mouth that was only layered with sharp teeth before, the mouth is now accompanied by hundreds of smaller tendrils that could extend and drag prey inside it. The most useless part of the primordial beast is that it created a head of its own when the brain itself was not located there.

The head of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer looked like it created a fake mask and eyes that did not even move. Its new body basically mimicked what a head will look like, but it failed horrifyingly as the head and face looked lifeless. Another distinguishing appearance is that of some tentacles coming out from its back which it could also extend and contract.

"HUNGRY!" The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer shouted in an almost unrecognizable speech as its voice sounded like two metal boards scratching their surfaces against one another.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer suddenly extended its arms out to transform them into tendrils. It also released numerous tentacles from its back as it targeted all of the living beings that are near it. The players immediately started to run for safety as the tendrils moved as if they had homing capabilities. The speed at which the tendrils abducted players is also incredibly fast that even agility-based players almost failed to dodge. "HELP!"

"I have seen this happen in some animes!"

"I am too young to feel this slimy texture! Help!"

Numerous cries for help echoed as lots of players are captured by the tendrils. The captured players were all getting dragged towards the large mouth in the middle of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. The primordial beast before them is going to eat living beings to nourish its large body as it now has appetite for mortal souls.

"Taste this large tentacled freak!" Peridot shouted as she along with two others fired off a spell that created a large blazing twister.

"Swirling Inferno!" Peridot, Soleil, and Faust all casted the same magic in unison.

They casted a Mythical tier spell simultaneously which created a swirling inferno from below the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. This swirling inferno then rose up until it finally reached the height of the enemy. The primordial beast did not like the heat, but its powerful resistances helped in making it not care as much.

A lot of the players were still getting dragged towards the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer which is why others had to act. A powerful gale suddenly blew over for a bit which intensified the flames of the Swirling Inferno, but it also brought with it a chance. The tendrils that caught the players were suddenly cut up as a man with flowing cloud like clothes sheathed his katana.

It was not just Vayu that cut off some of the tentacles but also other players with sharp blade attacks like Apolaki. The players that could fly suddenly swooped in to save the players that will crash to their deaths. As soon as all of the prey that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer caught was released, a powerful oppressive aura destroyed the Swirling Inferno and sent all of them flying back by a few feet.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer then slammed its large arms onto the ground which created large fissures around it but that was not the end. Thick and long tendrils suddenly came out of these fissures and then proceeded to slam towards all of them. The entire area is suddenly trampled flat by a large attack.

The large tendrils receded back to the ground and the fissures closed up when the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer retracted its arms from the ground. A large number of players died because of that attack, and it was almost unavoidable. Only a few lucky players were able to survive the ordeal as they were not flattened due to dumb luck.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer thought it had killed all beings around it, but he did not. All the Selvaggian NPCs suddenly came out of a pocket dimension as Adrian used his quick judgment to save them first. The players were far too many for them to be all saved which is why he prioritized the beings that could truly die. The talismans that Adrian had given each Selvaggian NPC turned to dust as this was the thing he used to track them all down.

"I will now go onto the offensive. Help the others recover." Adrian stated as his face is full of seriousness but also smiling at the same time.

Chapter 2277: Kholomodumo: World Devourer Form V

When players talk about how Equinox fights, they would say different things. Others would say that he lets his powerful soulbounds deal with the enemies. Some would say that he wields powerful weapons that could easily cleave enemies apart. Some would also say that he uses the unknown spells of time and space to destroy his enemies.

Adrian has yet to be filmed with enemies that he goes all out. He has already gone all out against some enemies, but they were not filmed from the perspective of others, nor did he upload what he has. This is the first time that people will see what he could do when he will use everything in his arsenal. The fact that his battle junkie mode has been triggered also plays a part as his smile basically signaled that this is a strong enemy.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer is no easy opponent but if there is one thing that they can say is its weakness then it is speed. The enemy moves slow except for the tendrils that are coming out of its body that are relatively fast. The range of motion of the humanoid body seems to be a bit clunky as well because it barely moved despite having large and sturdy legs.

"It is still getting used to its body. I need to capitalize on that weakness for now." Adrian stated as he vanished from the area.

"Awoooo!" Sirius howled as he also released shadows from under him.

[Your soulbound, Sirius, has activated Samael's Domain.]

[Your soulbound, Sirius, has activated his exclusive skill called Alpha's Howl.]

[Your attack damage will be increased by 20% for a duration of 10 minutes.]

[Your attacks also have a 10% chance to induce Bleed on the enemy.]

The shadows that Sirius released are met with tendrils that came out from behind the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer. It is like the tendrils of the enemy have a mind of their own as they protected it even without the head looking directly at Sirius. The tendrill assault was too much even for Sirius which is why he did not stand still in an area as there are also tendrils that come out of the ground as well.

Sirius dove into the shadow realm once all of the shadows he used were countered by the enemy. This was all a distraction though as a large axe suddenly slammed towards the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer. Adrian is now in a form where he is currently fused with Kimat. The sheer power of this form coupled with Kimat's special abilities makes it very destructive.

The axe actually easily sliced through ten layers of tendrils before it got stopped. The power behind Adrian's attack is also powerful as he used the same thing he did with Siegfried. He did not expect that he will deal large amounts of damage to the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer but he is a bit shocked that he did nothing at all. Cutting a few tendrils did not even decrease the health of the enemy before them.

As soon as Adrian got stopped in midair, tendrils of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer started to target him. This would have been a problem if not for the timely assist of the mage unit that Peridot just formed. The sudden blast of magic redirected the attention of the enemy which made Adrian able to vanish using blink.

A lot of players followed up after Adrian's failed attempt at dealing damage to the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer. The fact that the guild leader of the Pantheon guild is now going all out made all of the player alliance motivate. Even the Selvaggians got motivated because Adrian looked incredibly cool when he is fused with Kimat. The sight of a demon and beast hybrid oddly made the Selvaggians become riled up.

"I guess normal attacks will not help me. This is much more difficult than I thought since the enemy is also humungous." Adrian stated but he actually has a smile on his face.

"Kanlaon, are you ready? Kenos, make sure that the Selvaggians do not die as you can focus more on getting them out of trouble." Adrian commanded as he once again vanished inside of rift.

Adrian once again appeared near the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo: World Devourer but from behind. As if the tendrils sensed danger, a lot of them suddenly shot out from the back of the primordial beast and turned sharp to impale the being that appeared behind it. Adrian did not falter as he actually anticipated this situation, but it is very intense either way.

"Power Orbit! Chrono Shift!" Adrian stated as he cast an ability and a spell.

Adrian suddenly swung his axe like a tornado and also increased the speed using Chrono Shift. The rotational speed of the Power Orbit skill that was already quick suddenly became faster. All of the numerous sharp tendrils that launched at him were either repelled or torn to shreds as the swirling demon axe slammed towards the body of the Primordial Beast Kholomodomo:

World Devourer. The primordial beast did not care that Adrian actually hit it as thicker and more robust tendrils suddenly sprouted from its back.

The most terrifying thing is that a mouth suddenly formed from behind the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. The body of the primordial beast suddenly shifted a bit which twisted its body. The front became the back and vice versa as if the real brain is actually the mouth and wherever it faces then that would be the front. Before Adrian could hit the mouth, he immediately cancelled his skill as two pairs of insect claws suddenly grabbed him from behind.

The large tendrils that were about to capture Adrian got nothing and all the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer got to eat was its own tendrils. Adrian appeared a few meters away while about 10% of his mana vanished since Kenos used his mana for that timely save.

Chapter 2278: Kholomodumo: World Devourer Form VI

Adrian managed to get out safely while the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer looked disappointed. In that short exchange, Adrian already knew that the enemy has increased awareness of him. He felt his skin tingle as the primordial beast looked at him like he is a delicacy.

"The fact that it could sense my primordial energy means it has indeed become too powerful. Thankfully, I am not the only one in this fight." Adrian muttered as Kanlaon and Peridot combined their powers.

Two large orbs of combined and chaotic elements are suddenly fired from different directions. Kanlaon fired it from above while Peridot fired it from the side. Two bombs known as Elemental Catastrophe hit the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. The powerful attack exploded on the head and on the side of the enemy. The explosion of both attacks was powerful, but the collision of both spells literally shook the ground.

The Elemental Catastrophe from Kanlaon is made from higher tier elements like ice, lightning and such while Peridot used the basic elements like fire and water. They did not expect that the two spells of the same category but made with different elements could create further damage. The two spells really live up to its name as catastrophes.

Even if the two powerful spells did increase the firepower, the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer is still a large damage sponge. The enemy was barely damaged with only 5% of its health getting shaved off. Still, the sight of a severely injured and disfigured primordial beast can be seen when the smoke cleared. This injured sight did not last long though as the incredible regenerative abilities of the enemy restored its body back to normal.

"It could recover its appearance, but the damage dealt is still there." Adrian stated as the entire battlefield suddenly glowed in a golden green color.

Levin Cloud and Anastacia finally finished the spell that they chanted. They could no longer use shortcuts since the Tree of Life and Death are no longer beside them which is why it took a bit longer. The ground that lit up suddenly had grass and flowers growing on them as large pods sprouted from them. The pods split open to reveal the players that were revived from the dead.

The players that died thought that death would be the end of them, but their souls actually still lingered in the battlefield. Usually, they would have been sent to Limbo but the presence of beings that could revive those back from the dead are present in the battlefield. Levin Cloud and Anastacia lost a lot of mana reviving the entire battlefield which numbered to more than the thousands.

Seeing that the players have revived, Adrian made a move as some of them are still a bit confused. As if he was responding to the lush and powerful life energy in the area, he released his wings to spread Aether dust. Since Adrian could not use nether energy at the moment, he made use of his other form which granted him better regeneration. All beings that are touched by Adrian's aether dust is also granted his powerful regeneration.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer suddenly felt that the entire area around it was filled to the brim with energy. With a loud roar, the primordial beast suddenly released its tendrils in different directions and pinned them to the ground. The vibrant and powerful energy that Levin Cloud and Peridot used to revive the players is suddenly being fed upon by the enemy. The players were not killed as the tendrils aimed to only siphon off the rich energy of life that they used on the ground.

Numerous players immediately knew what they needed to do as soon as they saw that the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer started recovering the health that it lost. A lot of the players used their attacks to cut off the tendrils in order to sever the connection to the enemy. Almost all of them did this as the tendrils that the enemy used numbered in the thousands.

"You need a good trim. The Great Divide!" Adrian stated as his axe suddenly became enormous and filled with terrifying energy.

With a powerful chop, Adrian created a large rift that split the ground into two and the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer as well. Adrian did not think that he would be able to split the enemy into two, but he knew that this was not over. Still, he was successful in preventing the enemy from absorbing more of the life energy spread about. All the other extra tendrils got destroyed or ceased functioning when the primordial beast got split in half. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer got split in half, but both its half were still standing perfectly. The two different parts of the enemy suddenly started creating tendrils from the halves that were cleanly split apart. The tendrils then clung to one another and pulled the two halves together. With a loud slam, the separated parts became whole again which left all of them complete with their mouths agape.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer roared once more as if it was incredibly irritated at all the beings that dared get into its way. It once again slammed its large arms onto the ground which made the players panic as it might perform that large tendril slam that killed them. The players expected the same thing to happen again, but it was different this time.

Unlike before where the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer created large and thick tendrils; the enemy created millions of them in smaller sizes. The millions of tendrils that rose from the ground started to stretch to find victims as the enemy looked like it melted onto the ground. The form of the enemy vanished as it now looked like a large mouth attached to the ground with tendrils searching for prey around it.

"A perfect chance!" Adrian thought as he summoned the light swan as a way to fly quick.

Chapter 2279: Kholomodumo: Grand Devourer

[The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer has used Grand Devourer.]

[Beware of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer in this form as any being devoured will die immediately.]

A giant mouth planted on the ground with thousands upon thousands of tendrils looking for prey appeared. A lot of the players were caught by the tendrils, but they are easy to rescue. The tendrils exhibit rapid movement, although their durability is relatively low. Some players managed to even free themselves as long as their arms were not bound.

The unlucky players that were bound are headed straight to the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. Other players that are on the ground immediately ran far away to make sure that the enemy does not capture them, but some charged towards the center where the mouth is. One of this is Adrian as he summoned the Light Crested Swan in mobility mode and arrived at the center of the enemy in under three seconds.

The axe armament was no more as it is already replaced by the bow armament. As soon as Adrian arrived, one could see that he already has an arrow made of pure cosmic energy at the bow. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer even sensed this pure energy above it which is why it released tendrils towards Adrian.

"Let us see what will happen if you eat this! Andromeda!" Adrian shouted as he fired off the arrow which contained his energy as well as Kimat's fierce energy as well.

The arrow that should have traversed like a shooting star looked like it was a laser because of the added lightning element as Adrian is fused with Kimat. There is also a fearsome unknown energy that shrouded the arrowhead as this is the innate energy that Kimat has. This is the energy that could unravel the beings of life and even death.

Adrian's arrow landed almost immediately at the center of the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. The tendrils that were closing in on him suddenly lost some energy as a powerful explosion that looked like a galaxy could be seen at the center of the enemy. The blast is also powerful enough to send Adrian flying back due to the shockwave. The loud shriek of the enemy could be heard as it seems that Adrian hit a weak spot. Adrian is not the only one that came to bombard the large Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer. A flattened appearance is the perfect target for Faust and his battleship powered by an elemental. A large fire dragon looking elemental holding onto an airship floated just above the mouth of the enemy. In an instant, a series of flaming bombardments happened as large flaming lava balls are dropped down.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo: World Devourer had no choice but to eat the flaming lava balls that is created by Faust and the other flame attribute mages inside his airship. They only retreated when the enemy became enraged as tendrils suddenly shot out from the ground to bring their aircraft down. Faust managed to burn the tendrils that clung to the airship, but they needed to retreat as well since they got significant damage.

One would think that no player would attack the large mouth but there is one that is no longer calm. The Prince of the Undead that was sent flying away has already recovered when Awraka found him a couple of kilometers away. Creepysoo should not have been affected by status anomalies, but it seems the backlash he received earlier affected even his undead constitution. If Awraka did not find him then he would have been devoured by a plant monster.

[You have called upon the God of Death Ah Puch.]

[The God of Death Ah Puch has answered your call.]

[You and the God of Death Ah Puch has entered a state of resonance for the first time.]

[You will receive more power from the God of Death Ah Puch.]

Creepysoo is no longer in his happy go lucky state as he believed that he is the cause for the sudden change in the battlefield. He really wanted to show off this time to make everyone praise him that he has grown but the situation earlier made him feel embarrassed. The Field of Death heavily relied on him as he held Necronomicon, but he feels that he failed. The intense emotion that he is feeling right now resonated with the God of Death Ah Puch.

"Such delicious resentment! Go child! Bring death to those you resent!" The God Ah Puch stated as he only gave Creepysoo power instead of the usual thing where he controls the body itself.

"I am good here for now, Awraka. Please return there as I need to do something first." Creepysoo stated as his entire form shifted to resemble Ah Puch more.

Creepysoo suddenly got a sacrificial tribal mask on his face while his pale white skin turned grayish. The mask that he now wears is made of pure gold as there were also some gold accessories in his body that manifested. This means that the God of Death Ah Puch is much closer to Creepysoo now. The Necronomicon suddenly appeared before him and the pages flipped by themselves. The previously blank pages of the Necronomicon suddenly started to get filled up with blood colored writing.

Creepysoo planted his staff on the ground which now has a smaller ceremonial mask made of bones. The ceremonial mask on his staff suddenly had its eye sockets light up as the mouth also opened. Creepysoo started to chant and all the energy of death in the area got absorbed by the mask on his staff. The air became stale as it also trembled due to the sudden drop in temperature.

Creepysoo could be seen losing half his health and almost all of his mana. The lost health and mana are fed towards the staff as well. When the ceremonial mask mouth of the staff suddenly closed shut, it suddenly got swallowed by the ground. Creepysoo also stopped chanting as well, but the ground trembled as a large corpse hand suddenly lifted him from the ground.

Chapter 2280: Corpse Titan

[You have successfully summoned the Mythical Corpse Titan.]

[All undead that are near it will have their health increased by 50%.]

A large hand of a corpse gently lifted Creepysoo from the ground as if he was the most important being in the world. The large corpse's hand looked also has ceremonial accessories like that of a Mayan Warrior. A large head suddenly came out of the ground, but it is wearing a mask that is the same design as of the one in Creepysoo's transformed staff.

The ground itself broke as a titan of enormous proportions shot out. The Corpse Titan that is said to be an undead that could destroy continents is summoned by the Prince of the Undead. This Corpse Titan was slightly bigger than the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. All of the players saw this gigantic undead rise up from the forest a bit far from where they are fighting and thought that another enemy is arriving.

"That is Creepysoo. Alert the others." Adrian stated as he was able to recognize that energy signature from a mile away.

All of the players could only watch as a gigantic undead warrior approached the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Even the primordial beast felt the intense energy of death that the Corpse Titan has brought. The Corpse Titan then proceeded to place Creepysoo on its shoulder as it slammed its right hand on the ground. The ground then lit up as the Corpse Titan pulled a large battering weapon that will use against the primordial beast.

"Destroy it. Every bit of it until there is nothing left." Creepysoo stated as his cheerful voice is no longer apparent but a chilly and heavy tone has replaced it.

The Corpse Titan took its gigantic club and slammed it towards the mouth of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. Sensing great danger, the primordial beast no longer cared for the small players as food and decided to just abandon them. All of the tendrils that the primordial beast could use are deployed to stop the incoming attack from the Corpse Titan.

The large club of the Corpse Titan collided with the numerous tendrils of the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo. The primordial beast managed to stop the club from reaching the mouth which is its current weakest area. The shockwave from the collision of the tendrils and the club made everyone take cover as it was incredibly powerful.

"It seems that he also sacrificed some levels to summon that." Adrian stated as he looked at Creepysoo's current level and it was now five levels lower.

"We should help him. What should we do next?" Levin Cloud asked Adrian via the comms.

"We need to help our favorite Prince of the Undead out. Tell Hexy to create the Cursed Paradise and Musika to sing the Eulogy of the Damned." Adrian stated as he summoned Charon.

"Charon use your domain but give the effects to all of the allies with us as well. Focus on giving Creepysoo support as well." Adrian commanded as the undead nodded in response. "As the master wishes." Charon replied as he carried out the orders without question. [Your soulbound, Charon, has summoned Ghogiel's Domain.]

[A powerful energy suddenly restricted the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo from moving for one second.]

[All allies are granted partial effects of the domain. All attacks will have a 30% chance to slow enemies and also a 10% chance to stun them.]

[All of Charon's stats are doubled as long as the domain is active.]

Charon is summoned in his true form and immediately vanished from Adrian's side. The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo was stunned for a brief moment but that is all that the Corpse Titan needed. A moment of weakness is a large opportunity for them. The Corpse Titan was able to slam its club towards the primordial beast which made it squirm in pain.

The Primordial Beast Kholomodumo felt the malice and resentment from that attack as the God of Death Ah Puch is enhancing the Corpse Titan as well. Due to a Distorted God meddling with the primordial beast, the laws against a god's intervention have also lightened. This made it possible for the God of Death Ah Puch to give more power to Creepysoo more than usual. As if the Distorted God Aletheia could feel its pet getting destroyed, a loud thud could be heard from the rift being closed in the sky.

"It seems that god is now enraged. It is trying to destroy the dimension in a more aggressive manner." Elder Bronx stated.

"It is too late as we already applied the last touches. All we need to do now is to fully strengthen it and we will be able to join in on the battle." Elder Ascalor stated.

As soon as the Daemos Elders went back to work, the entire area around the Primordial Beast Kholomodumo changed color. The world is suddenly in a dark purple tone and powerful curse magic suddenly scattered in the area. A majestic black fairy could be seen releasing all the cursed energy in this land for her to use.

[You are inside of the Cursed Paradise.]

[All allies inside the area that uses miasma will have their damage increased by 30%.] [Allies that do not use miasma will have their attacks, abilities, and spells be enchanted with it to deal extra damage.]

[Applying a stack of miasma on an enemy will increase the damage it receives by 0.5%. The maximum amount that could be applied is 40. Effects are halved for boss type enemies.]

"I will aid you, my Undead Prince." Hexy stated as black butterflies suddenly came flying towards the Corpse Titan to empower it even more.

It is not just Hexy that empowered the Corpse Titan as a song so heavy and sad is suddenly heard. A beautiful singer dressed in an outfit of a muse stated to sing out loud. The song felt sad but powerful as all that heard it are given new powers as well.

[You have heard the Eulogy of the Damned.]

[All allies will increase their damage dealt by 20%.]

[All allies will ignore 10% of the opponents' defenses.]

[All bonuses are doubled for allied undead.]
