

O Summoner 2381

Chapter 2381: Continue to the East I

"If you want this then I will gladly sell it, but I know that such items need to be approved by the Branch Guild Leader. Since the branch guild leader is not here and might not be here for the time being, maybe we can talk to other merchants." Peridot stated.

"Please think this through, Lady Firefeather. The best case for the item would be to let us handle it as we are a global company. We even have penetrated to the market of the illusive Southern Continent. Let me tell you this secret... the southern continent is incredibly filled with precious metals and mystic herbs like no other. It is also incredibly dangerous which means this item will be something that their kings and queens desire." The assistant branch leader stated.

"Still, you have not answered my question. Do you have the authority to make this deal? This is a scroll that can only be given by a demon if they have some trust in you. If this circulated with them knowing and it was traced back to us, then they might never have any deals with us." Peridot stated.

"Unfortunately, I am tied right now but I will immediately go to the house of the branch leader. Will you please have us wait for at least a day? We will even offer another 20% on top of the price that will be set." The assistant branch leader stated as he was greedy in getting the scroll.

Adrian knew that scrolls that do not have specific coordinates and not bound were incredibly sought after but he did not expect that they would make someone like an assistant branch leader practically beg. He always used them without any problem as he could create them with a rate of one every three days. If Adrian has a lot of time, then he could create one every day, but he now learned what he can offer to other beings as payment.

"Since this merchant guild has helped us procure more things than other merchant associations then we shall give you a day. We shall be staying at an inn here for the next few days, but we will only give you a day to have this deal sealed before we talk to others. That is best offer we can give you in consideration with our past dealings." Peridot stated.

"How about this, we will also give you the best room in one of the inns that are of the guild. We shall give you the best room that we can offer free of charge until you are done with your stay here." The assistant branch leader stated with conviction, but he was just hiding his greed.

"If the merchant guild were to do that then I might be tempted to extend that deadline by half a day. It will be determined when we come back tomorrow though. Does the assistant branch leader have any qualms with that?" Peridot asked.

"Of course not, Lady Firefeather. You are VIP patrons in our guild which is why this is just basic courtesy for us. We know that you rarely go out of your territory and to visit us specifically has already been a great boon to us." The assistant branch leader stated with a bow.

"Okay then. Please have a staff from your guild to escort us from our current inn to move some of our stuff. We will need to cancel our accommodation there after all as you are giving us the luxurious treatment." Peridot stated with a small cough as she acted like she is getting tired.

"I think we will need to take rest for now. Have your staff escort us once the new accommodation is settled." Levin Cloud stated.

"Of course, Lord Firefeather. Thank you for meeting with us." The assistant branch leader stated with another bow.

Adrian led the way out as he acted like the perfect bodyguard while Kabrakan was after the couple. All of them head towards the inn that they are currently staying at to make sure that their cover is solid. Adrian even hailed a carriage to deliver them to the inn they are staying at. The room they got from their current inn is not bad as it was actually a pavilion reserved for wealthy people.

"Acting weak is very tiring." Peridot stated as she started stretching as she felt stiff from just sitting and leaning on Levin Cloud all day.

"It is a good thing that you were the one acting. If it was that guy, then we would have been busted." Levin Cloud stated as he pointed at Adrian.

"Hey! Piggy Bank praised me for being a good actor!" Adrian exclaimed.

"Piggy Bank? The branch leader from Avalon's Merchant Guild? Which character acting did he praised?" Levin Cloud asked.

"He said I played a very convincing Cat." Adrian replied proudly with his chest puffed out.

"Did you transform yourself as a Cat beastkin?" Kabrakan asked.

"No. I transformed myself as a cat which looked like an extremely cute and small version of Kimat." Adrian replied with a smug face.

"You became a cat?" Peridot exclaimed with great interest.

"Let me tell you the story!" Adrian stated with confidence as he told them what happened entirely at the merchant guild as he only told them what happened in general.

"Master." The assistant branch leader suddenly appeared before Branch Leader Goldenclaw.

"Why are you here?! Can you not see that I am in mourning?! What will the hu... I mean my family say if they see you here. They might say that I am putting work first again." Branch Leader Goldenclaw stated.

"Apologies but an important item was suddenly brought to our attention." The assistant branch leader stated.

"How important is this item that you are coming to me for verification?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw stated.

"A Legendary Tier Advanced Teleportation Scroll that is unbound." The assistant branch leader stated which suddenly made Branch Leader Goldenclaw's eyes sharpen.

Chapter 2382: Continue to the East II

"Are you sure that it is a Legendary Tier Advanced Teleportation Scroll that is unbound?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw asked as his breathing could be seen becoming faster as he became excited. He created a barrier filled with energy that prevented any sound to go to the outside.

"Yes, master. It is exactly that and even the spies of the organization did not learn of it yet. I made sure to create a barrier that prevented peeking and hearing when the scroll was taken out." The assistant branch leader stated.

"Who in their right mind would offer such an item that is coveted by even the best immortals of the eastern continent?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw asked.

"The Firefeather clan presented it to me, master." The assistant branch leader stated.

"That elusive and unconventional clan? Why would they want to sell something so precious?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw muttered.

"If I may speak, master." The assistant branch leader stated.

"Go on. Tell me why they are willing to sell such a very important item." Branch Leader Goldenclaw stated.

"I know that the master cares not for human relations, but the esteemed Lady Firefeather is sick. She was born with twisted meridians that needs medication to even make her day comfortable. Even the Divine Physician has told her that she would need to drink tonics to have a normal life. This is the case for most of the Firefeather clan which is why they rarely interact with the other clans in the eastern continent despite being incredibly rich." The assistant branch leader stated.

"If their clan is always affected by that sickness, why haven't other clans destroyed them and plundered them yet?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw asked.

"They are a clan that is protected directly by the Vermillion Bird and also there is a saying in the east. 'Great Pain can give you Unlimited Possibilities' is a saying that perfectly describes the Firefeather clan. If they can overcome their sickness, then they will gain immense power, and the current example is their matriarch. She is a powerful Immortal that even the other clans from other territories would dare offend.

The current Lady Firefeather has almost all her meridians twisted which means she will be more powerful than the current matriarch should she untangle all of them. For humans to entangle meridians that were twisted from birth, a need for resources is essential. The Firefeather clan has ordered the best magical stones, metals and herbs from us which means they are doing all they can to heal Lady Firefeather." The assistant branch leader stated.

The fact that even the assistant branch leader of the merchant guild, one who thrives in information, does not know that the Firefeather clan is just a cover for the Ryujin means that their disguise is perfect. Even other merchant associations and secret organizations do not know this as these hidden clans are the last resort of the Ryujins in knowing the society of the eastern continent.

"So, why do you not have the unbound teleportation scroll?" Branch Leader Goldenclaw asked.

"I cannot accept such important transactions in your stead, master. Also, if I pushed and handled it then the spies of the organization will be able to learn about it. If the organization know about the scroll, then you will not be able to get it." The assistant branch leader stated as he looked directly at Branch Leader Goldenclaw or rather the Primordial Beast of Greed.

"You want something from me. So, have you finally decided to follow me instead of the organization?" The Primordial Beast of Greed asked as the eyes of Branch Leader Goldenclaw changed color to a more yellowish tone.

"I am merely following my greed. As long as you make me control all the merchant associations in the eastern continent when you are free then I can make that sacrifice." The assistant branch leader stated.

"You are telling me the truth as you cannot hide your greed from me. There are not even other emotions mixed with them. Perfect! I will give you what you wish as long as you get me that scroll. You mentioned that I am needed for that transaction. Make sure that the Firefeathers are protected, and I will meet them tomorrow. I will make sure to come tomorrow even if I have to curse this entire clan." The Primordial Beast of Greed stated.

"As you wish, master. I would like to add something that worries me." The assistant branch leader stated.

"If you fear for your life, I can directly give you energy to ensure that no normal Immortal can kill you." The Primordial Beast of Greed stated.

"It is not that, master. The Hex Guru is also in Kunlun right now and he might have detected the special energy that the scroll possesses." The assistant branch leader stated.

"If he makes a move on the scroll then I will move the elite guards of the Goldenclaw clan. I will also make sure that the Hex Guru is the one that 'kills' them before we promptly take the scroll. The Firefeather clan did entrust us to sell the scroll after all even if their esteemed mistress dies." Primordial Beast of Greed stated.

"Yes. I will make the arrangements for that as well. We will host them in our finest inn after all." The assistant branch leader stated with a bow before leaving.

The Primordial Beast of Greed waited for the assistant branch leader to leave before he took a knife and cut his palm. Blood trickled towards the floor, and it started to create a yellow puddle as the blood running in his veins was not red. The yellow puddle suddenly birthed out monsters that looked like twisted version of monster pigs, but they soon turned humanoid. The humanoid monsters did not turn fully human though as they had horse legs and hooves.

"We are the master's loyal servants." The summoned humanoid beings stated.

"Attack the Firefeather mistress and take the scroll that has the energy of space in their possession." The Primordial Beast of Greed commanded.

Chapter 2383: Continue to the East III

"It is too quiet." Adrian stated as he could feel that there were not many people looking at them.

Adrian felt the gazes of not just the people in the city but also other hidden beings. They were not looking at him, but they were looking at Peridot as she held the box. He thought that they would attack or steal the box, but it seems that each of the eyes come from different actions. Adrian is actually quite impressed because they were able to detect the faint traces of spatial energy on the scroll.

They were all masquerading as NPCs which is why Adrian told them to put the scroll in a box. The box they placed the scroll did have some properties of limiting the energy that is being released but it did not completely hide it. Adrian made sure that this is such because greed can only be heightened when a lot of people want something for certain.

"Strange. Why are they not moving? We even made sure to get a luxurious pavilion that can be easily infiltrated." Adrian muttered as he was actually bored.

Adrian thought that he would be able to meet the Branch Merchant Guild Leader of the Eastern Continent, but he did not. He did verify something when he met the assistant branch leader earlier though. He learned that the assistant branch leader is brimming with greed which he actually found amusing.

Adrian could already see the colors of other people's soul and there would indication if they are feeling something. Unlike before, he was already able to detect the greed being hidden by the assistant branch leader. It was like his power to perceive the greedy desires of others have been intensified. He does not know whether he should be impressed or worried because the Primordial Beast of Greed might detect him much easier.

Adrian is troubled that their cover might be blown because of him as he has the passive Greed ability. It might still be at a very low level, but it is definitely helping him in pinpointing potential candidates for beings that could be the Primordial Beast of Greed. It might help him detect their enemy easily but the same could also be said to him. Having the Greed skill might make the Primordial Beast of Greed aware of his position as well.

"Seeing that they are not making a move on us, it seems that the Primordial Beast of Greed is being a bit wary. You said it might be the Branch Merchant Guild Leader of the Eastern Continent but are you sure it will be him?" Kabrakan asked.

"He is the only relative of the Goldenclaw clan that is in the merchant guild. The other Goldenclaw clan members are busy with their own business empire. Also, I told you that the living dead before is from someone called Lady Goldenclaw. If it is not the Branch Merchant Guild Leader of the Eastern Continent, then it might be someone from the Goldenclaw clan." Adrian replied.

"Your tea is served. We have also brought the food that you have ordered as well." A voice from a woman announced.

"Did any of you order something?" Adrian asked the others.

"No. We are busy doing something else." Peridot replied.

"I was busy checking on my stats." Levin Cloud replied.

"I was talking to you the whole time." Kabrakan replied.

They all looked at Adrian but even he did not order any refreshments. Also, they are role playing and any deviation from that will ruin the immersion. Adrian would not order any refreshments and food if he is acting as a guard. Adrian did not answer the call from the door immediately and summoned his weapon instead.

"Please leave the food and tea at the door. We will fetch it after some time according to the mistress." Adrian replied.

"I am sorry, but the pavilion master will definitely punish me if I do not give the food and refreshments while they are still hot. I ask for your understanding as I need this job." The voice of the woman stated.

"Okay then. Please wait a moment as I will escort you inside where the mistress is." Adrian replied.

"Get ready. It seems the number of people observing suddenly increased. There are also three people trying to enter. One is at the roof, the other is entering through the back, and the last one is entering through that window over there." Adrian whispered to his team via the player chat.

"Can you please get the door? The food is now getting cold due to the winds blowing." The voice of the woman stated.

"Coming." Adrian replied as he opened the door.

As soon as Adrian opened the door, a blade suddenly came slashing towards his neck. Adrian stopped time for a second as a reflex. In just one second, Adrian immediately registered the weapon that attempted to kill him. The short blade was about a foot and a half long but incredibly sharp. The light even reflected on the blade which showed how polished it was and just a slight scratch will create a deep wound.

Adrian saw the enemy, but she was not alive at all. The enemy was just like Lady Goldenclaw as it was live dead. The live dead was dressed as a courtesan of the pavilion they were staying at, but Adrian could clearly see that she was already dead. There was life force inside of the live dead, but it was just energy that is keeping her moving and not keeping her alive.

Adrian immediately kicked the small table that is supposed to be where the food was. Adrian could feel it as the live dead's blade did not look clean. There were also bloodstains on the clothes of the live dead. This means that the live dead killed the original courtesan that was supposed to deliver refreshments to them.

"Run!" Adrian shouted as this was a private pavilion and he did not know how many enemies might come to them.

They do not want to be surrounded by enemies which is why the best course of action right now would be to run towards the main street. Also, they must act like they are helpless against an assault as they have yet to reveal their real identities. Adrian's shout signaled Levin Cloud to carry Peridot, but three other live dead appeared before them.

The three live dead came from the directions that Adrian pointed earlier. Kabrakan managed to push the two live dead that pounced towards Levin Cloud and Peridot but the sudden appearance of the own from the roof gave him a bit of a fright. Fortunately, Adrian threw his spear and pierced the live dead to the wall.

"Escape with the masters!" Adrian shouted in a tone that was not that believable as it felt forced.

"Provide a path for us!" Kabrakan replied with great tonality as if he was a real actor.

Adrian took the spear that is currently pinned to the wall and threw it at the live dead woman that attempted to kill him earlier. The live dead courtesan got pinned to the ground as the spear passed through her body cleanly. The long handle of the spear also made the live dead woman unable to move easily.

Adrian pulled his spear from the live dead woman and decapitated her using it. The head of the live dead woman was already disconnected but she was still moving. Whoever created these live dead is an expert that Creepysoo might even praise. Just as Adrian cleared the way out, hands suddenly came out of the ground that grabbed at the ankles of Levin Cloud and Kabrakan.

"Help the Firefeather master and mistress!" Guards suddenly appeared from the outer pavilion entrance.

"Help us quickly!" Levin Cloud shouted as he was also acting out.

The guards that were supposed to help them suddenly charged towards Levin Cloud and Peridot with their weapons instead. Kabrakan raised his shields and blocked all of the incoming attacks. The guards suddenly released their killing intent towards Kabrakan which mean they never wanted to help then in the first place.

"Who sent you?!" Kabrakan asked.

"It does not matter who sent us. All of you will die here and the treasure will be sent to our lord." The fake guards shouted.

The fake guards circled Kabrakan, Levin Cloud, and Peridot but they forgot someone important. Adrian threw his spear straight and came along two other live dead with it. The spear with two live dead skewered directly hit one of the fake guards and pinned them on the wall. The live dead that Adrian pierced was still alive and they craved the flesh of the living. The guard that Adrian pierced along with the live dead is now tormented by them.

"Go! I shall clear the way as you said." Adrian shouted as he took out his spear and sliced the three beings that were skewered by it.

Chapter 2384: Zombies in Kunlun I

The zombies with their hands clawing for the sky suddenly broke through the ground. All the guests of the inn that they are staying at were rattled as soon as they saw a horde of undead come out of the ground. The undead did not just come out in the area where Adrian and the others were staying at but all around the inn.

"Whoever attacked us is crazy! This is still part of Kunlun even if it is near the edge." Adrian exclaimed as he destroyed the heads of zombies with his spear.

The undead did not just attack Adrian and his group but also the people staying at the inn. Adrian did not care what happened to the others though as the eastern continent is very dangerous to any weak individual. The people staying at the inn were not that weak as some were literal Immortals. They easily destroyed the weaker zombies that tried to attack them.

"What are those?!" Kabrakan exclaimed as he saw zombies that had knives as fingers coming towards them.

"Head to the main street!" Adrian shouted as he took command.

About five zombies with knives as fingers attacked them all at once. These Knife Fingered Zombies moved differently compared to the others as they were more refined and lethal. The Knife Fingered Zombies also had incredible speed in executing attacks, but they were not physically strong. They were stronger than a normal zombie but not enough to overpower Adrian.

Adrian did not even wait for the Knife Fingered Zombies to get near them as he immediately entered combat with them. Adrian did not control his spear with his mind as he is acting like a guard that has mastery over spear arts. Adrian maneuvered his spear like a snake that lunges at its prey. The movement of his spear is fluid and cannot be read which made it easy to destroy one of the Knife Fingered Zombies immediately.

The Knife Fingered Zombies has talismans on their heads which is where the mana of the undead controller is being transferred. As soon as Adrian destroyed the talisman on one of the Knife Fingered Zombies, the enemy immediately withered to ashes. This feat is not easy because a normal attack will never be able to destroy the talismans.

Adrian has to precisely channel his mana to the tip of his spear and blast the talisman with pure mana laced with nether energy. The special power of nether energy made it easy for Adrian to destroy the talisman as it erases anything that upturns the laws of the dead. Since the talisman was easily destroyed by his nether energy, Adrian immediately knew that the necromancer that they are fighting do not have faith on the gods of death.

If the necromancer that they were battling had any faith on any of the gods of death, Adrian's nether energy would be able to erase a part of the talisman but not destroy it entirely. The remaining four Knife Fingered Zombies all charged towards Adrian and ran after him. It was at this time where Creepysoo contacted Adrian about something, but he told the latter that he was being chased by Knife Fingered Zombies.

The Knife Fingered Zombies made sure to go after Adrian first but there was still undead chasing after the rest of the group. Kabrakan can easily deal with them though as his huge body and shield could overpower weak undead. Normal zombies or undead could not overpower Kabrakan which is why Adrian focused on the unique undead like the Knife Fingered Zombies.

One of the Knife Fingered Zombies suddenly sped up and almost hit Adrian on his neck, but he was able to dodge by bending to the ground. Adrian looked like he had eyes at the back of his neck, but it was actually Sirius telling him the situation while hiding in his shadow. Sirius also helped in hidden ways like suddenly pinning down the shadows of the Knife Fingered Zombies for a split second.

Sirius pinned down the shadow of the Knife Fingered Zombies that almost hit Adrian. Since Sirius managed to root the enemy, Adrian just maneuvered his spear to hit the talisman slapped on the head of the Knife Fingered Zombie. Another Knife Fingered Zombies turned to dust when its talisman was destroyed. The other Knife Fingered Zombies did not move solo compared to before as they suddenly moved like they were in a unit.

The remaining three circled around Adrian and did not attack together like before. One Knife Fingered Zombie would charge towards Adrian in the front with its sharp claws. Adrian would be able to dodge this zombie, but another would charge at him from the back. Since Adrian could not use any teleportation skills, he gathered force beneath him and used it in a burst to jump high.

The third Knife Fingered Zombie would then jump to meet Adrian in the air with its sharp claws ready to tear him apart. The Knife Fingered Zombie would have killed Adrian because he has no foothold in the air, but he utilized force. He created a temporary foothold where he could step on air for a small second.

The Knife Fingered Zombie that would have killed him was unable to change positions in the air unlike Adrian. In the end, the third Knife Fingered Zombie turned to sand as Adrian managed to divert his spear towards the talisman keeping the undead alive. The remaining two did not last long as well because Sirius pinned their shadows to the ground.

Adrian then a spiral descent and destroyed their talismans while landing on the ground effortlessly. The onlookers were shocked to see the display done by Adrian as they thought that he was a master of qigong. The way he moved in the air without any platform and just used the air itself had made them think that he was a powerful Immortal.

"A Core Formation Stage Immortal! The Firefeather Clan is indeed filled with mystery and prestige! The fact that they use a Core Formation Stage as mere guards must mean the elders of their clan are at least Nascent Soul." One of the onlookers stated as another one wrote what he said as a report.

In the eastern continent, they have different Persona levels for humans. They all call humans that managed to gather qi and refine it as cultivators. If a human manages to ascend via the manipulation of qi, then they will be already classified as Immortals. Immortals are divided into six stages which are the Foundation Establishment, Qi Condensation, Core Formation, Nascent Soul, Soul Transformation, and the Ascendant stage.

There are also other paths of cultivation but that is a topic that does not concern Adrian right now. All of the onlookers thought that he is someone that is from the Core Formation Stage because of the fact that he could move in the air without any external aid. The Core Formation Stage lets the Immortal easily traverse the world like a walk in the park. Even air travel is easier as he could solidify his qi as platforms that can be used for traversal.

The onlookers only speculated that Adrian was at least the Core Formation Stage though as this is the minimum stage where qi can be solidified. They are still wary of Adrian because they think that he might have a higher cultivation stage since he did not look tired despite the wave of enemies. Even the Corpse Cultivator that sent the undead towards them were wary of what Adrian has shown.

Adrian did not know but he was able to do his guard job properly and ward away any danger that could befall them. He managed to keep the onlookers being as they are despite the fact that they were tipped off that their group is in possession of a spatial artifact. Whoever spread the news did not say that they have an unbound teleportation scroll or else the onlookers will not stay still as they are.

"We are approaching the main street!" Kabrakan shouted.

"Stop!" Adrian shouted but he was too late as Kabrakan, Levin Cloud, and Peridot were caught up in a formation.

Adrian had no choice but to enter the formation before it closed as he did not know what his friends could deal with inside of it. Adrian was able to enter the formation just a second away from it closing. He boosted his speed greatly by secretly using a time acceleration spell and combining it with the use of force as well.

"Where are we?" Levin Cloud asked as could only see Adrian, Peridot, and Kabrakan.

All of them were inside a sealed space where mist flows heavily which makes it hard to distinguish the area ten meters away from them. Adrian's senses heightened as this formation was masterfully done and was not done quickly. Whoever created this formation spent quite a bit of time setting it up. The one that did this formation has at least known about them for five hours or more.

Chapter 2385: Zombies in Kunlun II

"Can you... brute force this formation?" Levin Cloud whispered in the group chat.

"I can but that would take the fun out of it. Also, how are we going to find out who cause this? I also have another plan in mind. Listen to this." Adrian replied as a figure suddenly appeared before them.

The figure is the only one that has any life force in a sea of undead covered in mist. The group already learned that they were surrounded by undead as they have two of the most sensitive people when it comes to death energy. The only reason they did not move is the fact that they are waiting for the person they can sense inside the mist.

"Quite the unexpected reaction for people that have been trapped inside my formation." The voice of a woman stated as she revealed herself to the group.

The woman was dressed in a glaring red outfit that is only seen or worn by dead people. She also held a ceremonial fan that has inscriptions on them. She also has a white robe made of silk that freely flows in the wind. The most distinguishing feature of the woman in question is the fact that she was blind.

The woman was not blind naturally as her blindness is due to an attack. There is a large scar on her face that traces from the upper left side to the upper right side. It looked like it was scratched by a feral monster with sharp claws.

"Who are you? And why are you doing this to us?!" Adrian asked as he pointed his spear towards the enemy that appeared before them.

"Kekeke. You do not need to know who I am because all of you shall die here. I even made this special formation to make sure that others do not interfere with my plans. The sudden arrival of the other guard was not what I intended but killing him will be easy enough. After all, I have isolated this place to make sure that no one gets in or out. No one will hear your cries as you die from the rabid attacks of my undead." The woman stated.

As soon as the woman told them that they were isolated, Peridot, Levin Cloud, and Kabrakan looked towards Adrian. They looked at him for confirmation as this was essential for the plan he concocted moving forward. Adrian met their gaze and have a nod of approval that they are indeed isolated with no one being able to observe from the outside world.

"It seems that my words have scared you stiff." The woman stated but Peridot just jumped down from Levin Cloud's back and dusted herself off.

"Finally! I thought I had to act like that for a long time." Peridot stated as she proceeded to stretch her legs.

"My back! I mean, being in that position is quite difficult." Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly changed some of his words mid speech as he felt that Peridot is more terrifying than the enemy that appeared in front of them.

"What is the meaning of this!?" The woman stated in shock.

"It means that we no longer have to act for now." Adrian stated as he suddenly appeared next to the enemy.

The enemy did not even detect how Adrian managed to come close to her. Adrian proceeded to attack the enemy with his spear, but an invisible barrier suddenly blocked him from doing anything. The barrier is powered by the same formation which is actually connected to all of the undead around them.

Adrian immediately retreated as the woman suddenly used a spell that created a burst of miasma from her location. The enemy might have been shocked of Adrian's arrival, but she managed to get her thoughts back in order. This was not the first time that she was unable to follow the movements of her enemies. There are a lot of Immortals that prioritize speed after all.

"You cannot kill me because I made it impossible to do so. I prepared so intensely the moment I learned of the fact that you have been carrying a spatial artifact. Hand it over and I might think about whether I will keep you alive." The woman stated.

"Who told you that we have a spatial relic? No one should have known about this fact." Adrian asked.

"Hah! You think that strutting around Kunlun with an artifact that radiates spatial energy is not dangerous?! The fact that all of you were not mugged on the street is due to the fact that Immortals have pride. They would not dare rob anyone openly as it would hurt their image." The woman stated.

"To think that Immortals are afraid of tarnishing their reputation but would resort to underhanded means when they are not in the spotlight. Such an interesting fact about Immortals as they act like humans from time to time. No wonder no Immortal has ever reached the last stage. They cannot leave their worldly desires or rather their worldly desires outmatch their will to become gods." Adrian mocked.

"You dare say that when you are like us! Unlike us that have pride on ourselves, you would dare to stoop so low that you would be a servant to a sick and spoiled mistress." The enemy stated as she pointed to Peridot.

"I am sick of hearing her talk. Can we proceed to kill her now?" Peridot stated.

"Yeah. She clearly does not work for the Primordial Beast of Greed. We would get nothing from letting her yap all day." Levin Cloud stated.

"My hands are getting bored." Kabrakan added.

"How dare you! Do you not know who I am?! I did not introduce myself because I am extremely famous! A genius that is able to combine Formations and Corpse Cultivation! You dare look down on the incredibly beautiful and fierce, Mu Gou!" Mu Gou shouted but all of them just look towards Peridot as she should be the one knowledgeable of important figures in the eastern continent.

"Ah! I remember her! She is that famous Immortal that said to have foolishly challenged the White Tiger as she was too full of herself. She begged for her life to be spared when she was pitifully thrashed about, and she was successful. Except, the white tiger blinded her which is why she got the nickname of Tiger Poop!" Peridot stated as she remembered Mu Gou as her story was incredibly entertaining.

"Why Tiger Poop?" Adrian asked.

"She was thrown to the part of the Tiger Canyon after being blinded. The part where she was thrown at is where most of the tigers release their excrements and pee." Peridot stated with a chuckle.

"You dare tarnish my image!" Mu Gou shouted as the energy she released was incredibly powerful.

"I would have at least spared your mistress if she handed over the spatial artifact, but she cannot control her mouth! All of my undead! Kill them!" Mu Gou commanded as the undead hidden in mist charged towards Adrian and the others.

"I guess I will need to deal with this horde. Blessing of the Mother Earth: Land Purification!" Levin Cloud shouted as he took out his weapon and infused divine energy inside of it.

The pendulum received an ample amount of divine energy and then released a small drop of golden liquid. This golden liquid dropped to the tainted ground and released its energy in a rippling effect. The powerful divine energy released a purifying light that destroyed any undead that was weak. Mid tier undead were damaged greatly and turned to dust after a few seconds.

Levin Cloud basically purified the ground with his divine energy, and it has lasting effects. The tainted ground that had no life is suddenly filled with grass and small wildflowers. The undead that were hiding on the ground no longer erupted from it as they turned to dust from where they are buried. The look of disbelief on Mu Gou's face as she could feel all her undead perish.

The formation she created is unique as it lets her feel everything inside of it. The formation she creates is basically her eyes as it was destroyed by the divine beast she offended. She also connected the formation to every undead that she summoned which strengthened it even more.

She did not know why but she gained the ability to tap into the special energy of the undead when her sight was taken away. She then gained a more powerful ability that lets her fuse her formations with the energy of the undead. She already had the ability to use formations and corpse cultivations before but not perfectly fusing them together. If she had this ability when she fought the White Tiger, then she might have successfully escaped instead of being humiliated.

"Impossible! All of my undead were destroyed!" Mu Gou exclaimed in shock as even monks are not able to cleanse undead in a large area.

Chapter 2386: Zombies in Kunlun III

"The formation is unravelling!" One of the Immortals shouted.

Kunlun immediately sprang into action when the undead started to appear out of nowhere. The fact that someone was brazen enough to attack Kunlun even if it was at night is something that does not happen often. There is a silent agreement in Kunlun that no one should cause any commotion, and your identity will not be deeply probed in return.

The sudden appearance of undead and even attacking other people in their vicinity enraged the alliance that kept Kunlun's peace. All of the Corpse Cultivators were apprehended for questioning and all of them told the alliance that it was Mu Gou that created this mess. The Corpse Cultivators even helped the alliance in finding where Mu Gou is, and they arrived at a perfectly laid out formation.

All of them found the formation and wanted to break it but it was perfectly laid out. Even if they attacked it with their strength, it would take at least half an hour to dismantle. Mu Gou is actually a cultivator that is at the peak of the Core Formation stage and is almost at the Nascent Soul stage. If she perfectly creates the formation, then she might exhibit the strength of a Nascent Soul stage Immortal.

The fact that her formation is unravelling is quite a shock as the formation expert that they have told them that it was just activated about twenty minutes ago. If the formation is getting destroyed early, then that can only mean one of two things. The one that created the formation and maintaining it has died or the one that created it no longer has any use for the formation.

When the entire formation got destroyed, a shocking scene appeared before all the Immortals that are present. They could see another Immortal that pierced Mu Gou's heart with a spear, but the former is also killed as well. A large hole could be seen on the chest of the Immortal guard, and he stood there dying as he fulfilled his duty.

The other guard that has large shields could be seen heavily injured. The nobles that are their employers are also slightly injured but not in any danger. Mu Gou wanted to resist but she could no longer do anything or even warn them of what happened. She died because of her pride and greed that she let swallow her whole.

"Check the perimeter! There might be a catalyst that can still create the undead! Take care of the injured nobles and the guard as well!" The leader of the alliance guards shouted.

As soon as the guard shouted, the body of the Immortal that defeated Mu Gou suddenly dropped to the ground before returning to the ground. The body of Mu Gou, on the other hand, just fell to the ground. The shocked faces of all the people could be seen as this was the first time they have seen an Immortal literally return to the ground.

"Guard Kongxu!" Peridot shouted in great pain and her acting was top tier.

"Do not get close." Levin Cloud stated as he pretended to hold back Peridot, but he was having a bit of trouble as her strength stat was higher than his own.

"Please rest. Guard Kongxu sacrificed his life for us. Do not go and endanger yourself when he made e sure you are safe." Levin Cloud stated as he did the neck chop.

Peridot suddenly went limp as she faked being knocked unconscious. Kabrakan just looked down as he did not want to suddenly burst out laughing at the antics that they are doing. Levin Cloud carried Peridot on his back once again. A small black dog could be seen following right next to them.

"Lord Firefeather, there is a hound behind you!" The leader of the alliance guard exclaimed.

"This is a beast that contracted with us. He suddenly came out when we were in danger even though it is still just a child. His sense of duty must have activated when we were in danger." Levin Cloud replied.

"Can you give us a statement of what happened? We could do it after both of you have already fully rested and tended to." The leader of the alliance guards stated.

"The three of us are not as injured because it was Guard Kongxu that protected us in his dying breath. He was an Immortal that was nearing the end of his life as he only has about three decades to live but he burned all of that just to protect us. We will need to do burial rites for him as a way to honor his sacrifice. Also, I know why they might have attacked us as she was practically raging about it when she trapped us." Levin Cloud stated.

"Why did Mu Gou trap all you insider her formation? She even created numerous undead to make sure that no one comes here to destroy it." The leader of the alliance guards asked.

"She thought that we have a spatial artifact with us. She must have sensed the spatial energy in this box that I am currently carrying." Levin Cloud stated clearly.

"If it is a spatial artifact then it is incredibly tempting." The leader of the alliance guards exclaimed in shock as spatial artifacts are indeed rare.

"It is not a spatial artifact though. I guess the spatial energy just got etched on the box as it was a bit defective." Levin Cloud replied.

"I see. She attacked you when it is not a spatial artifact." The leader of the alliance guards stated but even he already knows of this rumor as the beggar sect has been spreading this information.

"It is not a spatial artifact but an unbound teleportation scroll of the legendary tier. It was gifted to us by demons for conducting business with them." Levin Cloud's statement sent chills on all of the Immortals that heard it as it was a treasure more important than a spatial artifact.

Chapter 2387: Huge News in Kunlun I

"Did I hear that correctly, Lord Firefeather?" The leader of the alliance guards stated as he gulped heavily.

For the eastern continent, spatial artifacts are not rare as the most common one is a spatial ring which lots of Immortals use. Since there are no spatial energy related cultivation manuals, the spatial rings are what Immortals use to store their treasures. They might not know this, but spatial rings are actually created by the demons that guarded the eastern continent back then. There are no longer any creators of spatial rings as the demons that did so no longer returned to the eastern continent.

"Yes. If she was successful then she would have taken the unbound teleportation scroll. I thought she captured us because she knew it. We went to the merchant guild earlier to discuss on the price for selling it and I thought maybe one of their staff leaked this information." Levin Cloud stated.

"You are holding such a valuable item, Lord Firefeather. We, the Alliance, will make sure that you are protected so that the valuable item in your hands will not be stolen. We know that you are doing this trade to help the lady overcome her condition." The leader of the alliance guard stated.

"I want to say that I do not need your help, but we are already one guard short. We will gladly accept the helping hand that the Alliance has extended to us." Levin Cloud stated with a smile.

As soon as the words 'unbound teleportation scroll of the legendary tier' left Levin Cloud's mouth, all the Immortals that were observing sprung into action. They did not dare attack now as the leader of the alliance guards is present and he is a Nascent Soul stage Immortal. They also see one more guard remaining for the Firefeather nobles and they do not want to risk their lives.

Levin Cloud entered the carriage with the 'unconscious' Peridot. The small black dog also came inside of the carriage as it protected the two. The guards only thought that the small dog acted cute as it wanted to protect its masters despite its small size. Kabrakan drank a potion that healed his wounds and followed beside the carriage.

It did not take long for the entirety of Kunlun to learn the special scroll that the Firefeather Clan is selling. The story of how Mu Gou died in trying to procure the item also spread throughout. The chivalrous and loyalty of Guard Kongxu also spread but the unbound teleportation scroll is what made the entire city abuzz.

"You!" Lord Goldenclaw shouted as he threw a teacup towards the assistant branch leader of the eastern merchant guild.

"I did not spread any information about the item, master. It seems that it was the beggar sect that spread the information. It seems that the Sensitive Beggar was located just outside of our guild yesterday. He must have sensed the spatial energy that emanated from the Firefeather nobles." The assistant branch leader of the eastern merchant guild stated while trembling.

"We no longer have advantage over the information. The other merchants and even Immortals will covet what should be mine! Prepare the carriage as I will go to the merchant guild now!" Lord Goldenclaw exclaimed as the servants suddenly scrambled to prepare the carriage.

"I already told the guild staff to prepare the VIP room for the Firefeather nobles. I also had them escorted with the best guards as well, but it seems that the Alliance is not letting us inside easily." The assistant branch leader of the eastern merchant guild stated.

"Of course! Even that Alliance leader will covet that unbound teleportation scroll. It is something that can save your life without any repercussion. I want it more now that the greed of the people is swirling and escalating even greater than before!" Lord Goldenclaw or rather the Primordial Beast of Greed stated as his eyes suddenly turned pure yellow.

"My lord, the madam has arrived!" One of the servants announced which made the Primordial Beast of Greed calm down a bit and act like a human.

"My love, what brings you here?" Lord Goldenclaw asked Mistress Goldenclaw opened the doors to the study of her husband.

"I know that you are itching to get that teleportation scroll and I am not here to stop you." Mistress Goldenclaw stated.

"You are not here to stop me?" Lord Goldenclaw exclaimed in shock as this woman made sure that he returns to mourn for the daughter that he already sacrificed months ago.

"You will get that unbound teleportation scroll for our family so that the tragedy of our daughter will no longer happen again. Our clan... no... our family must have that scroll to ensure our safety." Mistress Goldenclaw stated as her greed burned brighter than ever.

"If my wife wants it then she shall get it. I will make sure that the scroll lands in our hands and also create a tight partnership with the Firefeather clan in the process." Lord Goldenclaw stated as he fed on the immense greed of Mistress Goldenclaw.

"The carriage is ready, husband. Go and get the life saving treasure that is ours." Mistress Goldenclaw stated as she prepared the carriage beforehand.

"To think that just simply saying what the item is has already created a mess in Kunlun. All of the Immortals are practically scrambling." Levin Cloud stated via the group chat as they do not want to be overheard by any ears in the walls.

"The plan worked perfectly." Adrian replied via the guild chat which made Levin Cloud look at the small black dog before him as he could not believe that the former is now transformed into that.

The battle with Mu Gou did not last long because of Levin Cloud being present. Any use of the undead is practically useless against someone that could purify it in a matter of seconds. All of what is happening now is part of the plan that Adrian concocted when they were trapped inside of the formation.

Chapter 2388: Huge News in Kunlun II

As soon as Levin Cloud purified the entire area of the enclosed formation, no undead was able to rise from it. He basically created a holy land for a few minutes which is quite a feat, and it also broke Mu Gou's mind. She thought that Levin Cloud was a god that descended and was about to escape but Adrian pierced her with his spear.

Mu Gou was pierced with the spear, but she was still alive. The formation basically kept her alive as it drew from the life force of the surroundings. This is how she was able to sustain large amounts of undead despite not using vast amounts of energy. She really did master both formations and corpse cultivation but that was not enough.

Adrian's spear would not have pierced Mu Gou instantly as it clashed with the barrier that automatically triggers when she is attacked. The spear hit the barrier, but Sirius and Kimat destroyed it in an instant. Sirius hid inside Adrian's shadow while Kimat was summoned to specifically destroy the barrier with his innate power.

"Impossible!" Mu Gou shouted before her life started to fade away.

Adrian quickly did the things that they needed to do as the formation started to unravel since Mu Gou was killed. Adrian summoned Dodu and commanded the latter to transform into him with a pierced chest. Dodu was even able to replicate the weapon as well and Adrian used Perfect Assimilation.

Adrian transformed into a smaller Sirius and went towards Levin Cloud and Peridot. The formation unraveled and the death of Mu Gou and Guard Kongxu was seen by the people outside the formation. Dodu accurately 'disintegrated' as this usually happens when an Immortal expends all of their life force. Immortals that lived longer than a hundred years would turn to dust as soon as they can no longer extend their life force after all.

"If the Primordial Beast of Greed is indeed here in this city, then it would now move. The entire city of Kunlun is now completely filled with greed because of the news of an unbound teleportation scroll." Adrian stated.

Adrian even did a cute little stroll earlier at the behest of Levin Cloud. It seems that any animal that is owned by a noble is also treated as a noble in the eastern continent. As he is regarded as a contracted beast of a noble, he is treated like a noble as well. Now he knows how pets of ancient dynasties feel as he is being escorted in a silk cushion.

Adrian was taken by one of the guards with the excuse of stretching his legs for health reasons. The guard did not want to do this as he was an Immortal even though he was still at the entry stage. Still, the guard had to obey the orders of the nobles they are currently sheltering because the alliance leader wants to have a good relationship with them. The Alliance always wanted to have some form of connection with the Firefeather clan as they are very wealthy and have many connections.

Adrian managed to learn that the staff from the merchant guild and even staff from other merchants were basically hounding the gates of the alliance. The smell of money cannot escape any merchant's nose after all, and they wanted to meet with the Firefeather nobles. They believed that they might get the chance to sell the unbound teleportation scroll and rake in lots of money.

"Wait, doggy!" The guard shouted as I walked closer to the gate and checked all of the people waiting there.

"It seems that the Goldenclaw clan has yet to be here but there seems to be more staff from the merchant guild coming. It means that they must be desperate now that the other merchants have learned the item that is going to be given for auction." I thought as I felt the gentle hands of the guard scoop me up.

"If you get lost then I will surely be killed by the alliance leader. Let us return you to your owners as that is enough exercise for the day." The guard stated as he brought me away.

It might not be important, but the eastern continent seem to not like monsters or pets that have black fur. They say that any monster or pet with black fur is full of bad luck which is why only this guard is accompanying me despite my cute appearance. He was the one that lost a bet and also not afraid to handle me despite my black fur.

"We are now back here to where you masters' are." The guard stated as I took something out of my inventory that is in the shape of a golden pill.

"What do you have here?" The guard asked playfully as if he was talking to me, but I made sure not to respond as speaking animal monsters are either cursed or divine messengers in the eastern continent.

Adrian jumped away from the grasp of the guard as soon as the door opened up. He also did a small nod to thank the guard for escorting him. The guard stood there in a daze as the small black dog acted very intelligent. He then realized that a golden pill was left on his palm and immediately entered the room to give it back to Adrian.

"Apologies for intruding, young master and young lady. It seems that your dog has left something with me." The guard stated as he presented the golden pill towards Levin Cloud and Peridot.

"Oh! It seems that Hei Hei has gifted you one of his snacks." Peridot stated as Adrian suddenly looked at her with a glare as she basically called him a dog's name.

"Snack?" The guard stated as he suddenly looked at the golden pill and almost fainted.

"Its... its... a 10 Year Energy Pill!" The guard exclaimed in shock as an item like that basically costs about three months of his salary.

"Oh! Do not be silly. That is not a 10 Year Energy Pill." Peridot stated with a chuckle.

"Right! Why would your beloved pet give me an important pill." The guard stated.

"I mean that is not a 10 Year Energy Pill because the golden shine it has means it is a 20 Year Energy Pill." Peridot replied.

"A 20 Year Energy Pill!" The guard stated in disbelief as they could hear his voice trailing off.

"Please take it. I am unworthy of such a valuable gift." The guard added as he planned to return the pill.

"You should accept it as it is Hei Hei's way of thanking you for accompanying him. Take this box as well to preserve it as having it out in the open will slowly dissipate its energy." Peridot stated as she threw a box towards the guard and Adrian started to kick her with his little paws for his pet name.

"Thank you very much for your magnanimous nature." The guard stated as he bowed towards Levin Cloud and Peridot.

"You should thank Hei Hei, not us." Levin Cloud stated as he pointed towards the small black dog that is now kicking his feet.

"Thank you, Master Hei Hei. Still, I cannot get something so valuable without doing anything. Does the master's need something from me? I can run small errands while you are here if needed." The guard stated as he bowed.

"If you feel burdened by the gift, there is one simple thing that you could do for us. It seems that there is a commotion outside, and we need to address it since we are the cause of it." Levin Cloud stated.

"If Lord Firefeather says so, I can report to the alliance leader to scatter them away." The guard stated.

"No need for such drastic measures. Simply go to the gate and announce to the staff of the merchant guild that we will meet with them in the afternoon. That news should be able to disperse the crowd that has gathered." Peridot stated.

"As you wish, my lords!" The guard stated as he went to the gate to tell the news.

All of the noise from the gate finally died down as the news of the Firefeather nobles wanting to meet with merchant guild was said. Some of the merchants backed down but they will not stop the fight on who gets to sell the unbound teleportation scroll. The staff of the merchant guild happily returned back to their office to report the news. The merchant guild started to prepare the room they will use to receive the Firefeather nobles.

"The next phase has started. Prepare yourselves as we might fight the Primordial Beast of Greed." Adrian stated.

"Can we even defeat one by ourselves?" Levin Cloud asked.

"Did you forget? We are in a city that is basically managed by powerful Immortals. It is the Primordial Beast of Greed that should be careful in not showing its real form." Adrian stated with a smug puppy face that Peridot wanted to pinch but the former smacked her hand away.

Chapter 2389: I am a Dog I

(Adrian POV)

In this world, the perks of being a cute animal is also translated because I am practically worshipped! The maids that were adverse of talking or taking care of me suddenly became softer when I showed them my cute side. The guards that act tough would shift their attitudes to a softer tone and pat my head. Those that do not like pets just kept their distance as I am basically treated like an extended noble.

When the guards learned that I could give them a pill that gives energy, all of them practically tried to play with me. Some had this greedy glint in their eyes as the guard that I gifted earlier has shown it to others. That guard is now in seclusion as he tried to absorb all of the energy of that pill.

The pill that I gave the guard is basically an ordinary pill that Brew casually creates when he is bored of creating potions. He gave it all to the guild members as gifts as it is a unique pill that can restore health and stamina at the same time. It seems that this pill is great for lower tier Immortals that have just taken a starting point in cultivation.

Since Levin Cloud and Peridot had to keep up the act that they need rest, it was now up to me to investigate everything. I learned much about the secrets of the maids like where they hide their sweets or who is the most handsome guard. Information that I cannot use if taken in a surface layer, but they do say more after a few minutes.

It seems that in the eastern continent, the look of a person is more important for women. Warriors want a beautiful and homely wife as their life is basically a battle every day. Also, I learned that an Immortal would have lesser chance of having an offspring with the higher stage of cultivation that they have. It seems that the world itself imposes a rule that longer lived beings will have lesser chance of creating life to balance it out.

Anyways, after the maids discussed the physical appearance of the people in the alliance and ranked them, I learned the power structure of this place. They call it the Alliance, but the full name is actually the Murim Alliance. There is currently the Alliance Leader and Vice Leader that runs the organization. Also, the Murim Alliance has representatives for ten clans that acts as a board of some sort.

They said that the ten clans are decided based on a competition called the Divine Beast Competition. Basically, the ten clans will be decided based on the strength of the younger generation that entered. Five of the ten spots in the ten clans are decided based on the results of this competition. The other five are decided based on the contribution of what a clan can give.

The Murim Alliance basically fostered an environment that trains their younger generations which is a great way of empowering the youth. I know why they did this though as the eastern continent is not as safe as people think it is. Even with the protection of the divine beasts, the eastern continent is filled with unknown danger. This competition is also a way to raise the young to be able to fend for themselves should dangers arise.

If the central continent can be described as a place where danger is like a barking dog, the eastern continent's danger is like a hissing snake. In the central continent, the danger is loud and can be easily spotted but the eastern continent can strike without anyone knowing. This is also the reason why fatalities are actually more common in the eastern continent. The numbers of fatalities in the central continent are just larger in number because of the bigger land mass.

As I no longer cared of the information that is being told by the maids as they changed the topic to hairpins, I wiggled my way out and head towards the training grounds. I found most of the guards training there. It seems that sparring is always done in the eastern continent as a way to test an individual's ability to fight.

Unlike the central continent where people determine power by one's mana, the eastern continent determines power based on fighting ability. An Immortal with less energy but more lethal fighting style is better than an Immortal with large energy and audacious fighting style. The guards seemed to be giving it their all when they saw me as if they were trying to impress me.

Yes! Entertain me and I might bless you with an energy pill! The fighting style they are practicing is indeed very informative to me as they use different weapons. I am getting a lot of pointers in terms of fighting that may work for me in the real world. I might finally be able to win against my mother! Of course, I will only do this when I am fully healed but I am actually dreading the day that comes.

"Whose dog is this?" A voice suddenly stated as I smelled a unique scent suddenly coming from behind me.

"Lady Tang! Please be careful as that is the beast contracted with the Firefeather nobles." One of the guards replied.

A delicate set of hands suddenly picked me up and I can smell the different fumes coming off her. She had a very nice scent but that is just a mask of what is underneath it. She would have fooled a person when it comes to smell, but I am currently borrowing Sirius senses. I can smell the thick scent of poison from this woman, but I did not make a fuss as she did not emit any killing intent.

"This black dog is so cute! I should ask the Firefeather clan to gift me one just like it." Lady Tang stated.

"Please follow me, Lady Tang. The Murim Alliance Leader would like to see you now." An attendant suddenly stated as I was put down by the lady that picked me up.

Chapter 2390: I am a Dog II

(Adrian POV)

"It seems that our time is short, cute doggy. I wish it was longer as you are the only one that does not try to kill me when I get closer. I hope we see each other again." Lady Tang stated as she put me down and then followed the attendant that came for her.

"We should wash you down in case some of the residue poison of Lady Tang clung to your fur. If you died, then we will be punished by the Murim Alliance Leader." One of the guards stated as he led me to faucet to wash me down.

The feeling of being washed by another is not good as the water is making me sleepy. The feeling of wet fur is also not in my bucket list of things that I need to have experienced. Still, I learned important things about the Murim Alliance as the guards basically gossiped while washing me.

"To think that they called the Poison Flower! It seems that something serious must be going on." One of the guards stated.

"Why are you so afraid of Lady Tang? She is beautiful and does not look down on others. She might be a bit stoic, but her attendants always praise her." Another guard added.

"You say that, but she is a powerful combatant that is almost as powerful as the Tang Clan Head. Her mastery over poison is so good that they say you will not even know you ingested it. Rumors said that she made her ex-fiancée unable to have kids because of poison!" Another guard chimed in.

"That dude was not a good match for her though. He basically has more bastards than legal children as he kept going to brothels and even going for his maids. I am actually glad that he is now shooting blanks." The first guard replied.

"Still, if the Poison Flower was called then something major must be happening. I saw the Plum Flower earlier as well which means something will happen. I even saw Vice Leader Jaegal as well with a face full of worries earlier. He only looks like that when he is sure it will affect Kunlun." The soldier that washed Adrian stated.

It seems that the Murim Alliance is also preparing for something to happen as well. The fact that they called in their lethal experts is a bit worrying. This might be due to the fact that we have an unbound teleportation scroll in our midst. There are even numerous guards stationed in all corners of the room we were given. Also, there are also hidden guards that are watching over Levin Cloud and Peridot which made them unable to move freely.

"There we go! You are all dried up." The guard stated as I looked at my reflection in a nearby mirror.

"I look fluffy."

I saw myself like a giant black cotton fluff ball. I wanted to return my fur back but the guards that were looking at me with gleaming eyes started to hug me one by one. The maids then found me and told off the guards that they were being rough. Still, do not berate them and squish me at the same time. Your scolding is not becoming believable because of your actions.

"The Firefeather nobles are now leaving for their appointment with the merchant guild and asked me to get their dog back. I will now be taking him." The maid stated as he took me away from the teary eyed guards that wanted to fluff me.

I do not know why but the treatment of dogs is different from cats when they are essentially an animal. When I was a cat, all of the people were wary of touching me and practically observed me from a distance. Now that I am a dog, all of the people would try and pet me when they have the chance. Are cats more fearsome than dogs?

Anyways, I returned back to the room as the maid delivered me immediately. Peridot took me as soon as I was handed over because the carriage from the merchant guild has already arrived. We left the Murim Alliance, but we did not leave their monitoring. I can sense all of the hidden guards that came with us.

There are not just the eyes from the Murim Alliance but other people as well. Some have hostility while others just wanted to observe. The one thing that I am grateful is the fact that my senses basically increased exponentially in Sirius' form.

"It was a good thing that you were loitering about earlier or else we would have been unprepared to go to the enemy base." Levin Cloud stated via the group chat.

"I was not loitering around. I was gathering information as both of you were unable to move freely." I replied.

"Okay... We will believe what your head cannon is, but the maids and the guards think otherwise. They said that they liked playing with you despite your detached personality. Also, you seem to have been given the moniker of Treasure Dog because you gave them 10 Year Energy Pills." Peridot stated.

"I was in reconnaissance! I will tell you everything that I managed to find out while you two were all over each other in the room." I replied which made the two of them turn red in embarrassment.

"We were not doing anything!" Peridot almost shouted but Levin Cloud was able to closer her mouth in reflex.

"Anyways, I will relay what I learned now." I told them while I yawned since bathing makes me sleepy.

"This is bad." Peridot suddenly replied.

"Why is it bad?" Levin Cloud asked.

"It seems that the Unbound Teleportation Scroll managed to get the attention of all organizations in the eastern continent." Peridot replied.

"I mean that is part of the plan. If the entire Kunlun is emitting too much 'greed' then the Primordial Beast of Greed might be unable to control itself." I replied.

"No. I mean, this could turn into a bloodbath that we cannot control." Peridot added with a worried expression.
