

O Summoner 2411

Chapter 2411: Fall of Greed IV

"Impossible! How can a being like you have a soul that is greater than a primordial beast like me!? You should not be able to trap me like this!" The Primordial Beast of Greed shouted as it could not escape from within Adrian's subconscious.

"The subconscious is the soul after all, and you entered the soul of the Mediator of Death." Adrian replied as if it was a matter of fact.

"Lies! I have been alive when the other Mediators were first called upon. Their souls are not this strong! Nevertheless, if I kill your ego here... I will become you! I will consume all of this and rise even greater than before!" The Primordial Beast of Greed shouted as it pounced towards Adrian.

"Stop." Adrian calmly demanded as the Primordial Beast of Greed that pounced on him suddenly froze in the air.

Adrian's subconscious is something that he can influence almost entirely. He is basically the master of this place as he can tap into the potential of his soul. The Primordial Beast of Greed is correct in assuming that the soul of Adrian is definitely not normal. If the Primordial Beast of Greed was a master of souls, then it would have told him that the soul that Adrian possesses would be equivalent to a lesser god.

If a being has the scale of a small world as their inner soul or subconscious with the power to control it then they should be in the realm of at least a demigod. The fact that Adrian's soul mutated or advanced faster than his own body is due to the fact that it became hosts to gods. Becoming the host of a god is not just the needed condition as one must also have cleared challenges related to the soul.

The current Adrian now is basically more powerful in his own subconscious than he is outside his body. Also, the current Adrian is not the only one that is dangerous as there is an even more dangerous being inside of him. A being that is a part of Adrian's soul that is hidden at the very depths as this is the being that always hungers.

"I guess I have a few minutes remaining then." Adrian muttered as he could feel that part of him rising from the depths as a very delicious morsel has entered their domain.

"You think that you can detain me here forever! Think again! I cannot be killed inside the soul of another! You have made a mistake of integrating a part of me inside of you. Even if that part is not actively rampaging, I have already rooted my existence inside of you! When you are at your weakest, I will takeover your body!" The Primordial Beast of Greed stated with confidence as it still believed in the part of its soul that has been integrated by Adrian.

"If you mean that soul fragment of yours that you used to create the live dead puppet then you are wrong. All of it has already become mine and you cannot influence that. Why do you think it is silent when you are basically desperately calling out for it to save yourself?" Adrian stated.

The Primordial Beast of Greed suddenly felt fear for the first time and even emotions that it has never felt before. It was not just a spiritual entity, and all of its emotions can be influenced by the body it is inside of. The Primordial Beast of Greed began to feel emotions that are foreign to it and became confused as its existence has never been threatened like this before.

"I can save your soul though. I can easily let you out of here if you so wish." Adrian stated as his words started to sound like sweet temptation to the ears of the Primordial Beast of Greed.

"What do you want?" The Primordial Beast of Greed suddenly asked as it knows best that deals are always present when interests align.

"Tell me everything you know about the organization that released you from your seal. Also, you must become under the command of the Devil God of Greed." Adrian stated.

The Primordial Beast of Greed suddenly burst into laughter as it found the proposal funny. The Primordial Beast of Greed has no qualms telling Adrian all about the organization that awakened it, but it will never go under the very being that sealed it in the first place. The mere mention of the Devil God of Greed made the Primordial Beast of Greed burst into anger. Its own power and dominion were stolen by a being that betrayed their original god to become gods themselves.

"I would rather die multiple times than to be under the one that sealed me. I thought you were intelligent, but it seems that you are just a lackey of a usurper." The Primordial Beast of Greed stated as it glared at Adrian.

"Oh? Even if that is also the will of the world that has birthed you? I know why the world abandoned you back then. You lost your power because all of your Primordial Beast of Sin defied the world itself. The world merely used the devils that were hungry for freedom as a way to punish you." Adrian stated as he was shown the horrors that the Primordial Beast of Sin has done back then by the world itself.

"You! You have become this world's agent! I will kill you!" The Primordial Beast of Greed shouted as it finally realized why I could feel the blessing of the world from a demon.

"Seeing that you are no longer in any room for negotiation, devouring your soul is now the only option. You can proceed with eating that thing but make sure that I do not have indigestion." Adrian stated as his other entity that is made up of pure chaos appeared before him.

"You! What are you!" The Primordial Beast of Greed stated in fear before a large body of energy with numerous mouths suddenly swallowed it whole.

Chapter 2412: Fall of Greed V

"Delicious." The other Adrian stated as it looked at him.

[You have devoured the Soul of the Primordial Beast of Greed.]

The Primordial Beast of Greed did not even have any chance to resist as the other Adrian gulped it in one swoop. Adrian himself was intrigued by the process of devouring a large being, but he looked away when he saw what his other self looked like. He liked horror movies but the scene he witnessed transcended that which made him look away as his curiosity might make him unable to sleep.

"Did you find any memories that we could use?" Adrian asked himself.

"Here." The other Adrian stated as it gave a memory orb as he vanished back to the depths where it is staying.

"It is still quite weird talking to me but the fact that the exclusive skill increased is a good thing." Adrian stated as he looked at the notifications.

[You have defeated the Soul of the Primordial Beast of Greed.]

[You have gained a large number of experience points.]

[You have leveled up.]

[The Seven Deadly Sin Exclusive Passive Skill – Greed has increased in tier.]

Skill Name: Greed

Skill Tier: Semi Legendary

Skill Type: Seven Deadly Sin Exclusive Passive Skill

Effects:

-Gives the skill holder the ability to gain more from using skills that they own. This bonus is currently at 15%.

-Gives the skill holder increased chance of earning rarer drops from defeated enemies by 10%.

Mana Cost: None

Cast Time: None

Cooldown: None

Note: This is skill that can only be increased through continuous activation over time. This can only be activated by beings that have overcome a trial against any will of the Primordial Beast of Greed. It has increased in efficiency because the skill holder has devoured the Primordial Beast of Greed himself.

[You have gained a new title, Devourer of Primordial Beasts.]

Title: Devourer of Primordial Beasts

Effect:

-Increases all damage dealt by 10% to all primordial beasts. This is doubled when the Primordial Beast is determined to kill you.

-Decreases the reputation when talking or interacting with primordial beasts.

-Able to increase stats temporarily when eating parts of Primordial Beasts.

Description: A title given to a madman that eats body parts, or anything related to Primordial Beasts. You have the stomach that could tolerate anything as parts of Primordial Beasts are filled with energy called primordial energy. A normal being would have exploded upon eating parts of primordial beasts without proper preparation.

"I suddenly got a very ominous title. It has great effects when in battle against primordial beasts but all of them will be hostile against me." Adrian thought as he suddenly heard the commotion from outside as they are calling for him.

Adrian knew that he must have fainted from the sudden possession of the Primordial Beast of Greed. The others might have become worried about him as they feared that the Primordial Beast of Greed might have taken his body. He decided to view the memories extracted later when they return back to the guild house.

"The guild alliance should at least be able to see everything as we basically soloed this boss." Adrian muttered as he vanished from his subconscious.

"You are finally awake!" Levin Cloud shouted as he saw Adrian's eyes open.

"Why did you not call for me earlier then?" Adrian stated but his guild members pointed at the clump of soulbounds that basically cuddled around him.

After the Primordial Beast of Greed was defeated or rather its body was destroyed, the soulbounds that needed to assist the other people worked. The soulbounds that could not help other people basically stood guard for their sleeping master. Kanlaon was coiled up and gently placed the sleeping Adrian in the middle.

Some of the Murim Alliance members wanted to thank Adrian as he basically made the best contribution and saved them but his soulbounds glared at them. Even the guild members that were close to him were all told to not get close to him. The soulbounds became super protective of their master as he was fighting against the soul of the Primordial Beast of Greed inside of his subconscious.

"I get what happened now. Thank you for protecting me, guys. It is now time for all of you to rest for now." Adrian stated as he sealed his soulbounds back.

"So, what about your alibis to the Murim Alliance?" Adrian asked as the disguises that all of them used were no longer being used.

"We easily told the Sword Saint that we were asked by the Firefeather clan to trade the scroll and disguised as the Lord and Lady of the Firefeather clan to avoid danger. We just told them that we owed a favor to the Firefeather clan which is why we did it. He was very convinced, but he did say that he owes a great debt to you for some reason." Levin Cloud stated.

"Why does he owe me? I do not remember even speaking with him." Adrian stated.

"I do not know as he spoke about enlightenment or something, but the other Murim officials took him away as the city needs to be repaired. There were some parts that were still destroyed in the real world despite being isolated in the formation." Levin Cloud stated.

"Okay then. Let us go back to the guild as I have information about the Primordial Beasts of Sin. I already called all the guild leaders as well. We will be hosting this time, so we need to at least prepare the territory." Adrian stated as he created a portal that led back to Avalon and returned with all of the Pantheon guild members.

"So, you got killed, Greed." A warrior that bore the uniform of a Murim Guard stated as he clutched a gold coin that contained the energy of Greed. This was the Primordial Beast of Pride.

"No worries as it took the difficulty of killing you myself. This piece of you might not have any ego but it contains your power just the same. Five more to go." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as he proceeded to swallow the gold coin to absorb the power that is present inside of it.

The power of Greed itself as the Primordial Beast of Pride needs the strength of all its other sibling. The Primordial Beast of Pride knew that it was betrayed by its siblings, and he vowed revenge. He will absorb all the others in order to become a god that houses all of the sins. A being that could rival the Beast of Revelation itself.

Chapter 2413: Spy Chronicles: Brew

I am a spy! At least that is what I call myself as I spend our guild resources hanging... I mean observing the Pantheon guild I am observing them because of the command of my guild leader. I am just one of many spies that actually hang out in Pantheon. We even have a bar that we even go to in order to give information to each other.

Anyways, the one that I am currently observing is the notorious alchemist of the Pantheon guild. He is known as Brew and is one of the most notable player alchemists He is known to actually create potions and even pills of legendary grade with ease. He is pretty much coveted by a lot of guilds but there are few guilds that can actually control him.

The Pantheon guild is one of them because of its incredibly lax rules that actually favors individuality. The only time when the Pantheon guild actually convenes with one another is when the guild leader needs a raid to happen. A raid that he cannot handle by himself but that rarely happens. The guild leader of the Pantheon guild is actually unofficially called the walking army.

A guild leader that can decimate thousands by his own and his soulbounds can do the same is not on the level of normal. I can even dare to say that the guild leader of the Pantheon guild is leagues above my own guild leader, but I cannot add that to my report. I must preserve the dignity of my own guild leader that is funding my espionage.

Back to the subject in question, Brew is quite easy to find a history on as he is not really secretive or elusive like some of the guild members. In fact, I have seen him way before he became notorious for his skills in creating potions. He was actually one of the first party members I hunted with when I was still a newbie.

Even back then Brew showed such interest in creating potions that he even picked the Shaman Job class at first. I do not know when he changed his overall class to Alchemist, but it might have happened when he entered a field called the Witch' Forest. It seems that this was his prior location before he showed his masterful talents in creating potions of the Legendary Tier.

The sudden creation of a Legendary Potion shook the market for players as such potions rarely get circulated in auctions. Even noble NPCs joined the fight for that potion as it has great healing properties that could detoxify any sickness of Legendary Tier and below. I think it was a kingdom that won that potion but all I can say is that Brew is loaded.

It is actually not difficult to socialize with Brew as he is actually easy to approach. The only downside to approaching him is that you become one of the test subjects for his potions. Fortunately, only a small count of players would die from such tragic experiments, but he often gives them a Legendary Pill that gives +10 to a random stat as an apology. Of course, the dying was not the reason why people rarely talked to him anymore. It was the fact that his trial potions tasted terrible.

Some said that he created a potion that smelled like wet socks that grown mold all over. Even a whiff of that potion made the players faint. There is even a rumor going around that the poor soul that drank that potion vowed to never get near Brew again. I, on the other hand, chat with him from time to time as I already basically burned my taste buds because of him. I am one of the unfortunate ones that drank his horrific potions resulting in death and the inability to taste.

I do not blame him for the disappearance of my sense of taste in the game, but that experience did give me such profound appreciation for the taste of food in the real world. Anyways, I actually got compensated a lot by Brew and also gained the Ingested Poison Immunity skill as a result of losing my sense of taste. I am actually happy as a spy should be resistant to poison that I can drink.

I might not have poison immunity when it comes with poison attacks, but I did get the Lesser Poison Immunity skill from continuously drinking his potions. Maybe complete poison immunity is not a pipe dream for a spy like me. He did start to create topical potions and would often have me try it. Maybe he is actually helping me with my dream even though I have not told him about it.

I suddenly remembered that there is actually another moniker for Brew. He is actually called the Cauldron Alchemist because he usually rides a magical cauldron. This magical cauldron looked like it has infinite space inside of it and is actually a magically bound item. Some players tried to steal it from him back then, but they got doused by the potion that is brewed inside of it.

Due to him always being inside the magical cauldron and hurling potions that he created from the brews he made; Brew is actually speculated as a Witch but there is a debate regarding that. There is even an online debate back then where a lot of players explicitly told that only females can be witches. I do not know about that as Brew rarely talks about his job class when I talk with him. Then again, I usually get sick by his potions so there is barely any discussion if I think about it.

Adrian: Hey, Brew! I am curious about your Job Class. You are a Witch, right? What kind of Witch?'

Brew: How did the guild leader know?! I became a Brewery Witch when I met the hidden witch that lives in the Witch' Forest. She is also my mentor, but she never told me her real name. She often lets me call her Jezibaba though.

Chapter 2414: Spy Chronicles: Gourmet

I am a Spy! I may not look like it because of my large body but I am one. This body of mine is a result of careful and strategic espionage work. The target of my spy mission is none other than the Godly Chef Gourmet! He is my idol... I mean my target in alluring to our side as per my guild leader's request.

If I cannot entice the Godly Chef Gourmet to our side, then establishing a friendly connection with him is a must! He is the Godly Chef Gourmet after all and the only player that is said to have a guaranteed chance of having your stats be raised just by eating his food. Even if the value of the increase is random and can only be done per dish, the fact that he can elevate one's stats is what makes all other guild leaders want to poach him.

I have done my extensive research or rather espionage work for the past few months already and even ate all the dishes that he has created when given the chance. I even ate all the dishes that he created that other chefs cook when he suddenly takes over the kitchen of another chef. This is one of the eccentricities of the Godly Chef Gourmet as he can revive even the most desolate restaurant with just one recipe.

The Godly Chef is actually just his title because of the fact that his recipes and food would entice even the gods themselves. Some even say that he entered the Temple of Dionysus and was blessed by the god himself when he came out of the secret chamber. Still, the mortals cannot comprehend his genius as the apostles of the Temple of Dionysus would refuse to even let him near any of their temples. It seems that the apostles of Dionysus are jealous of his talents as a chef!

Anyways, the Godly Chef Gourmet actually already know me, and he even memorized my name. It seems my mission to establish a connection has been a success. Although, I do not know if a spy should be well known by his target but then again... I am here to slowly entice him to join our guild. A chef like him should not be stranded on a guild that does not relish his dishes and talent.

Do not get me wrong as the Pantheon guild is an excellent guild but they have never even helped my perfect chef in opening up a restaurant. I would often see the Godly Chef Gourmet helping other food stalls of other races in Pantheon than open a stall himself. Did Guild Leader Equinox actually forbid him in opening up a restaurant?

NO! Guild Leader Equinox is such a saint and giving person. It must be his beautiful yet stingy sister that has the finances of the guild in a clutch. I even heard the Godly Chef Gourmet rant about not being given the money to buy a specific meat that he really wanted to buy. It seems that the life of a chef is difficult if you do not make enough money.

Also, it seems that the Godly Chef Gourmet is not that close with the Pantheon guild members. Whenever I see them and I am with the Godly Chef Gourmet, the Pantheon guild members would often clutch their stomachs or mouths before running away. I do not know why they do that, but they only do it when I am with the Godly Chef Gourmet.

Maybe, I am actually the reason why they are doing that! Maybe they know that I am a spy, and those hand signals were to tell the Godly Chef Gourmet that I am a spy! I guess I need to make sure that I appear like a friend instead of a spy! I need to be more professional in order to entice the Godly Chef Gourmet to my guild!

Anyways, I like that the Godly Chef Gourmet likes the way I eat as he says that people usually never taste his food after the incident. He never told me what this incident is, but it seems that it almost made him lose interest in cooking. Do not worry my idol! Even if the world does not want to taste what you have made, I will always be there to gulp all that you have cooked!

I mean I can practically eat anything because of my strange title called Bizarre Eater. It is a title that is perfect for a foodie... I mean a spy like me that must be able to eat anything. It practically makes anything I eat delicious and nutritious for my body. I do not even remember when I got this title as I have eaten a lot of things that are exotic in the game.

Adrian: I heard that you were cursed by the God of Feasts Dionysus. What happened with that? Or rather how did that happen?

Gourmet: I was invited as a special chef in the feast for Dionysus held at his temple. The God Dionysus bragged that he could make the best wine ever without using his godly powers, so I challenged him.

Adrian: So, you lost, and he even cursed you?

Gourmet: I actually won that fight but that god actually threw a tantrum. I merely told him that his Wine was close to being flat. It seems that he cannot take criticism which is why he lost. I mean he created that wine without divine power so he should accept his lost against mortals.

Adrian: I guess your straightforward manner of telling it offended him. Then again, the Greek Gods are easily offended as they are mostly professional victims. Not my words but someone from those I work with.

Gourmet: Tell me about it! He cursed my food with Fagito Antistrofa. Basically, all the food I make will taste more awful if they are more beneficial and delicious.

Adrian: I think I now know why the other guild members are traumatized yet impressed. Also, please do not request money for expensive ingredients all of a sudden. That golden boar meat you want was 10,000 gold coins a pound. You spent about a two hundred thousand gold coins previously which almost made my sister kill you. Maybe we can hunt that monster down instead.

Chapter 2415: Meeting at Avalon I

[I would like to have a meeting regarding the Primordial Beasts of Sin as we have gotten some information regarding them. Please go to Avalon and we will convene inside the guild home of the Pantheon guild. For those coming, please give us the headcount so we can accommodate all of you. Thank you.]

Adrian's announcement suddenly made all of the guild leaders in their alliance become excited. The guild leaders were not excited about the news about the Primordial Beasts of Sin but because they can enter the guild home of the Pantheon guild. There have been some snippets of the inside of the guild home of the Pantheon guild as they have the streamer Amelia stream inside certain areas.

The sheer mysteriousness of the Pantheon Guild Home is quite the topic with all of the guild leaders in and out of the alliance. They even heard some rumors that each guild member actually has a special pocket dimension home that they can decorate to their heart's content. The only one that actually streamed their pocket dimension home is Amelia as she told them how great their guild house and member benefits are.

A lot of players do like to enter the Pantheon Guild but the criterion for entering is quite difficult as the filtering already starts just by passing the guild application form. The players thought that the guild members of the Pantheon guild are the ones filtering, but it is actually Adrian himself doing it. When he has time, he looks at the submitted application of the player with their mana.

Adrian can easily judge what a player does just from their mana signature. If their mana signature carries lots of blood and grudges, he automatically rejects them even if they have superb qualities and level. Adrian never really cared if they have a rare class, or a hidden class compared to the rumors that floated around that the Pantheon guild will recruit anyone that has them.

The current roster for the Pantheon guild does have rare classes and hidden classes but not all those that came for the first application had them. Some players just unlocked them with the help of the other members of the Pantheon Guild. Adrian values a guild that can have fun without being troublesome to others.

Also, since a lot of applications for the guild was flowing every day, Adrian had to put a benchmark and that is the player should at least be level 200 and already advanced to their second class at the very least. This filtered a lot of participants as reaching the level 200 and advancing to their next class is not easy.

The third round of the filter would be the guild trial which is basically combat with a guild member. The combat is usually decided via lottery, but the officers of the Pantheon guild will handle a combat of a hundred to one. In fact, fighting an ordinary member of the guild would be much easier for the applicant. The officers of the Pantheon guild could easily decimate groups of people even if they are said to be a supporting job class.

"Have all the preparations been completed?" Adrian asked Solstice as he let her handle most of the preparation.

"All of the guild in the alliance has already sent their short list. I had to downsize that they should only bring up to five members per guild. Apparently, they really want to enter the guild home for some reason. Still, I did tell them that only five could enter but the rest that want to come can stay at Avalon." Solstice stated.

"You really want to get them to spend in the territory. I even heard from Piggy Bank that you told him to have a small auction. Due to this, the guild leaders are bringing money as per their chats to me." Adrian stated.

"Why not? We used quite a bit of money for their stay in our guild. They should at least be able to invest some of theirs back. Also, I did not do this for free because you will pay me." Solstice stated.

"I know, big sis. You want me to help you with a tracking quest, right? You need another helper since your boyfriend is also undergoing his racial quest as well. You need me to help you in finding the last and remaining Corrupted Queen of the Night. I have not forgotten as a deal is a deal." Adrian stated.

"I am just reminding you just in case you feign ignorance. Also, I already recorded that deal per verbatim. You cannot weasel yourself out of this." Solstice stated as she proceeded to do some finishing touches in sprucing up the guild.

"Sheesh. She practically burned a quarter of our budget with the sudden renovations. About 80% of the Daemos Architects were deployed to have all of her fixtures. Thank goodness they told us that they will give a discount or else a third of the guild funds will vanish." Adrian thought.

Adrian would have helped his sister with her last quest of defeating all of the Corrupted Queen of the Nights if she just asked. Still, he knows why Solstice would rather have an exchange rather than a debt. She prefers deals to be equal and that also applies even to her family members. She will want both parties to always benefit from each other as she hates being on the losing side.

"Let me check the list that I was given before the other guild leaders arrive." Adrian muttered as he checked on his to do list.

"So, this is Avalon now!" Siegfried stated as he along with Faust and eight of his guild members arrived.

The Infernum guild arrived early as Faust actually hated being late. He even used their exclusive Spirit Powered Airship to make sure they are early. Five of them will be heading towards the Pantheon guild while the other five will head to the auction that will be taking place. They also wanted to be early as they want to see the scope of Avalon at the moment.

The Infernum Guild is amazed by how unique Avalon is compared to their territory called Magma. Unlike Avalon's floating islands, the Infernum Guild's Magma territory sits near an active volcano. They are able to harvest precious minerals and create powerful weapons which is their main source of income. They are not afraid of the volcano as the Infernum Guild actually managed to get a protection treaty from a Lava Elemental King.

The Lava Elemental King will protect the territory in exchange for a small tribute and naming their major territory after her. The reason that their territory is called Magma is due to the fact that it is named in honor of the Lava Elemental King Magma. She protects the territory from heat and the dangers of the volcano plus defending the territory when necessary.

"Lady Magma, I know that you wanted to come here but are you sure you can leave the territory?" Faust asked as a small blob of fire floated beside him.

"This is just a small aspect of me, boy. I merely want to see the Origin of Life and Death with my own eyes. There are elves in this territory, but they are not the type to rely on elementals like me which is why I want to at least visit it. The other elemental kings are gossiping about the beauty of this territory." The Lava Elemental King Magma stated.

"You guys are quite early." The voice of Ain echoed as he also came with his entourage of nine people.

"We just want to explore the territory while we wait for the actual invite to the guild home. We may be curious of how the Pantheon Guild House looks like, but we are also interested in Avalon. There are quite the rare herbs floating around here in abundance. Also, the Temple of the Deep located below the floating islands is also a good destination." Ain stated.

"Are you going to challenge the deep waters of Pandemonium?" Faust asked as he is probing if the Valor guild will put all of their efforts in sea exploration as Ain mentioned the Temple of the Deep.

"It seems that they also brought someone interesting with them, boy." The Lava Elemental King stated as she pointed to the interesting scarf hanging on Ain's neck.

"Kekeke! To think that my cover has been blown." A foxy and playful voice stated as the scarf on Ain's neck suddenly unfurled to reveal a small blue fox.

"A divine guardian. Most of you are quite rare these days as almost all of you died when the world got fractured." The Lava Elemental King stated as the others listen as his was deep lore about the world.

"Unlike all of you, the elementals, that can survive with the energy of nature, we Divine Guardians must rely on the worship of humans. I am just one of the few that survive thanks to a small village still praying to me." The small blue fox stated.

Chapter 2416: Meeting at Avalon II

The small blue fox is a Divine Guardian, and they are a peculiar race of beings in the world. The origin of Divine Guardians is different from Eden Guardians despite possessing bodies of monsters. Divine Guardians are said to be a remnant spark of gods that have been killed. They are said to be the Will of the God that took shape in order to protect their followers even if they died.

"So, what is your name Divine Guardian? The fact that you can also create a small clone of yourself to send here means that you have complete trust of that man you cling to." The Lava Elemental King Magma stated.

The Divine Guardians are beings that cannot leave their territories fully as they are literally tied to them once they are the objects of faith. There is a way for a Divine Guardian to move territory to territory and that is to create small shrines in their owner. They are still restricted to areas that they are objects of faith though as that is what keeps them alive. It is also the reason that they can easily vanish should the places they protect lose faith in them.

"I am the Divine Guardian Inari. My faith has grown enough for me to create a small clone of myself, and I trust Ain fully as we do have a covenant. Also, I am interested in this place as it is full of the energy of nature and faith! I might be able to spread my influence here." The Divine Guardian Inari stated but it suddenly felt an intense stare from behind it as a silhouette of a child appeared briefly to warn it.

"Ohoh! It seems that this place has a land deity. You would need their permission to even construct a small shrine here. It seems that the land deity is also powerful enough to repel you should you provoke it." The Lava Elemental King Magma stated.

"Did something happen, Guardian Inari?" Ain asked as the divine guardian suddenly became tense.

"Pay it no heed, Ain. I was just rambling about without consequence, and I was warned. There is nothing wrong with that as we need to respect the place." The Divine Guardian Inari stated as it suddenly felt another being similar to the Tree of Life and Death coming towards them.

"You guys are early which is quite amusing and shocking." Anastacia stated as she arrived with Cersei, Alder, and seven other players that are also high elves.

"A child blessed by the Tree of Life. I think that should be connected to her." The Lava Elemental King Magma stated as she appeared as a small flame in front of Anastacia and pointed to her bracelet that looked like roots and leaves.

"To think a Tree of Life picked a High Elf but she does have the power of the great goddess flowing through her. She must be the Envoy of Life." The Divine Guardian Inari added.

"This is?" Anastacia stated as she was shocked to see peculiar beings suddenly checking her out.

The other Evergreen members were on guard as they saw the two beings get near Anastacia, but the other two guild masters smoothed it out. Anastacia actually learned a lot about different beings that can be protectors. She is thinking if she can have elementals as guardians in Neo Alfheim as they are also abundant there.

"No! I do not like to always look after those pesky children!" A cute childlike voice suddenly stated.

"Where did that come from?" Anastacia asked as she heard that voice near her.

"That would be that being, my dear." The Lava Elemental King Magma pointed to the bracelet of Anastacia.

"I do not permit that!" A small green child that is about four inches in height stated and this was the projection of the bracelet given to Anastacia.

The bracelet given to Anastacia is none other than the Promise of the World Tree. A bracelet that can only be given to the one trusted by the world tree itself. It is a bound item that can grow up to the Transcendent rank if the world tree is powerful and old enough. The tier of the bracelet is currently at the Legendary Rank as the world tree in Neo Alfheim is not yet old enough.

"Mother, I did not know you could project yourself! Apologies if I did not notice immediately." Anastacia stated as the world tree is like a mother to the high elves.

"No worries, Anastacia. I do not like you recruiting those pesky elementals as guards. You can find some divine beasts if you want but not elementals. They are very difficult to control which is why we prefer the Fae and their kin as they are levelheaded. Elementals tend to prioritize what interest them which can be destructive at times." The projection of the world tree stated.

"Elemental Slander! I cannot believe that a world tree dares to slander our race!" The Lava Elemental King Magma shouted in protest.

"I mean, the world tree does not lie. I even had some of my villages back then destroyed because of the whim of a High Elemental." The Divine Guardian Inari stated as it had some troubles with elementals back then.

"Its Saena!" Someone suddenly shouted which diffused the growing tension as a large white bird flew the skies and dove towards them.

A lot of the people that saw Saena diving cleared the way as they thought she would descent with her large body, but she shifted into a humanoid form midway through. Saena took on the form of a teenage girl that is wears a pure white dress and adorned with feathers that shined like the rainbow. She also has a plume that dragged the floor that made her dress flowing with the wind. As soon as she descended, the Elemental King, Divine Guardian and the world tree tensed up.

Saena's clear silver eyes looked at the three beings and went near them. The very gaze that she gave made them quiet and meek as if a powerful pressure befall them. The weight of the gaze used by Saena made all powerful beings curl up in fear because she has the Tree of Life and Death backing her up. She was sent there to give a warning to the three beings as they needed to behave.

"Hello, Saena." Anastacia greeted.

"Hello, longer ears. I merely came here because there were some that are exuding their pressure. They were given permission to be here, but it seems that they are forgetting their place." Saena stated.

"I see. We apologize for that as we were the ones that brought them." Anastacia stated.

"You are not at fault as they were already given warnings when they passed through the barrier. I shall be on my way now." Saena stated as she turned into light and changed back to her form to return back to the Tree of Life and Death.

"We were about to ask about the meeting, but it seems that she is not the people person type." Anastacia stated.

"We should explore Avalon more. We can just meet up in the guild home when Equinox tells us to assemble." Ain stated as he wanted to check the entire territory.

"I agree. A lot of us are early because we wanted to explore." Siegfried stated.

"We also thought the same. See you later then." Anastacia stated as all of them split up to do what they wanted to do before the meeting.

The other guilds have finally arrived inside of Avalon and Adrian was notified that all of those invited are already here. He made sure that everything has been prepared before going out and inviting the people inside of their guild house. When he got the go signal, Adrian came out of the guild house and learned some interesting information from the Tree of Life and Death about additional guests.

"Just make sure to observe for now. My other soulbounds are in the territory and you can ask them to do your bidding." Adrian told the Tree of Life and Death.

[Attention, all guild leaders and their entourage. We have finished preparing to welcome you. Please head to the Temple of the Twin Gods as that is where I will welcome you.]

Adrian announced that he will meet them in the Temple of the Twin Gods as this place was the third safest spot in the territory. The first safest spot is none other than near the Tree of Life and Death. The second safest spot is actually Old Man Pann's ranch as he basically protects the entire thing.

The Temple of the Twin Gods is open to everyone that visits the territory as this is where the main temple is located. It is also the most intriguing temple among the Temple of the Twin Gods as it was made naturally by trees. The wood elves and dark elves themselves poured their hearts and souls creating it. It is actually one of the tourist spots in Avalon.

Chapter 2417: Guests at the Pantheon Guild House

"Apologies for making all of you wait. We have been notified that some of you arrived early, but we still had to prepare." Adrian stated as he looked drained.

"Why do you look like you have worked overtime for ten straight days?" Ain asked as he noticed that Adrian was a bit haggard.

"Well, someone did request dishes made by Gourmet and he was very determined to cook for all of us. Let us just say that the ingredients were not easy to come by and that there was an extra step in the process." Adrian replied as he remembered the pain of handling it.

Adrian wanted to cater to the guild leaders as this is the first time that they are serving them. The fact that the guild alliance will come to the Pantheon Guild House has been a source of pride to some of the members. So much that some were really fired up in welcoming the guests and one of those is Gourmet.

The Godly Chef himself wanted to cook for all of the guild masters of other guilds and almost all of the guild members vehemently opposed. They do not want to subject the guild masters of the other guilds to the horror of their tongues trying to crawl out of their mouth. Gourmet can still cook dishes that can raise stats, but the taste will literally kill you because of the curse from a god.

Adrian just had to run his mouth that they can cancel out the curse of a god since they have Hexy, Creepysoo, Levin Cloud, and him. Just the mere slip of the tongue has made Gourmet fired up as he still has a request voucher that he exchanged via the guild contributions. Fortunately, the ingredients were pricey, but they were able to procure some via the auction house.

The only thing that was difficult was the fact that they needed to nullify the curse afflicting Gourmet while he cooked. Adrian, Levin Cloud, Hexy, and Creepysoo literally had to work together in tandem to make sure that they are able to block a divine curse. The divine curse was so powerful that Hexy actually passed out as she took most of the burden.

Still, the process was a success as Gourmet managed to create a Mythical Tier Dish that he poured everything into. Solstice was about to tear him apart because that dish costs fifty thousand gold coins to create but the effects were worth it. Even she had to praise him as that dish is something that will be eaten by all the guild members. It was an investment she was willing to shoulder as it has monumental effect on the guild.

Food Name: Feast for the Gods

Food Tier: Mythical

Food Type: Main Course

Food Effects:

-All beings that eat this dish will have all their stats be raised by 10 points.

-All beings that eat this dish will have a stat of your choice have an increase of 50 points.

-All beings that eat this dish will have their health regeneration increase by 5%.

-All beings that eat this dish will have their mana regeneration increase by 5%.

-All beings that eat this dish will recover their stamina to 100% and it will not decrease for two days.

-All beings that eat this dish will recover their health back to full.

-All beings that eat this dish will have all negative status ailments get removed.

-This food will not spoil and remain pristine for about 100 days.

Description: A dish that a famed Battle Chef has created with all his passion and soul. After being cursed by a god unjustly, he lost some of his passion in creating good food that nourishes but the hope inside him burned brightly when he was able to do it again even if it was just a few hours. This is the best main course that the Chef Gourmet has ever made.

Restrictions: All enhancing effects can only be applied once at the first instance of ingestion and it will never be applied again when it is eaten once more.

"Anyways, I have kept all of you here. Please take these." Adrian stated as he snapped his fingers.

After snapping his fingers, badges that contain the guild emblem of the Pantheon Guild appeared in front of all those that will enter. This badge held some spatial energy and a hint of temporal energy as well. This might not be known to the world, but the guild house of the Pantheon guild is not just located in a pocket dimension. The Pantheon Guild House is located at a pocket dimension displaced in time.

"Please take the badges and make sure to pin it on your clothes. Those badges will be your temporary access pass that will enable you to exit later on. Losing them will make you unable to enter or exit the guild house." Adrian announced.

"Quite the security level." Faust stated as he is actually very impressed and would have also preferred to have their guild house be in a pocket dimension for better protection.

"Does this mean that the Pantheon Guild House is really inside of a pocket dimension?" Ain asked as he thought that it might just be invisible or inside of a barrier which their guild house has.

"Yes. The Pantheon Guild House is inside of a pocket dimension. I will now open the barrier so please enter by guild. We humbly welcome our guests to our own guild house." Adrian stated as he created an entrance in front of him that is just entrance for guests.

All of the alliance guild members heed the words of Adrian as they entered the portal. As soon as they entered the portal, the world suddenly changed before their eyes as they were in an island where the Tree of Life and Death was, but the scenery is different. All of them were now in a large floating island that is actually floating in space.

The Pantheon Guild house looked like a massive temple for the gods as it is located in a place where the stars and universe itself can be seen. The awe and wonder in their faces could be seen clearly as all of their mouths were agape. The Pantheon Guild members actually agree with their reaction as they also had this when they entered for the first time. Adrian entered last and closed the portal to ensure that no one creates any funny business.

"Welcome to the Pantheon Guild House!" Adrian stated as he appeared in front of the guild alliance members via teleportation.

"I am suddenly very jealous. As expected of Guild Leader Equinox! You must have had a lot of the Daemos help you out in creating such a magnificent guild house." Siegfried praised.

"I actually built this all by myself though." Adrian replied.

"Excuse me?" Siegfried and even the other guild alliance members suddenly looked towards Adrian.

"Ah! I actually created the guild house myself via a lost art of summoning. It did take me at least a month to understand the magic circles and the needed materials since it was in a language that is different from runes. Still, the guild house being created was a resounding success. The other additional fixtures were made by the Artisan Daemos though as they basically wanted to participate in making the guild house beautiful." Adrian stated but it only made the others speechless.

"Okay! Maybe we should move to the buffet first. Our guild members that are chefs made sure to cook for all of us. Gourmet himself has prepared a Mythical Tier dish that all of you will really like. It is something that we painstakingly prepared just for this occasion. Please come." Levin Cloud stated as he needed to drive the conversation and led the group inside of the grand structure that stands as the meeting place of the guild.

The grand structure inside of the guild house is mostly an open area where the ceiling is made up of glass where you can see the stars. It was made this way as the Pantheon Guild members did not like being walled up as much. It was done after a poll which is why Adrian had to destroy the walls. Having no walls posed no problem as they can basically control the weather of the pocket dimension whenever they wish, and Adrian himself has full control of it.

"I do not see the rooms of the other guild members. All of it is mostly open space." Anastacia asked the question to Solstice as she was near her.

"All guild members have their private quarters which are pocket dimension homes. There are also other pocket dimensions inside which have other uses. The kitchen, laboratory, and even a training hall is present in other dimensions." Solstice replied which made all those that heard even more speechless.

"This is what you call a lavish guild house." All of the alliance guild members thought.

Chapter 2418: Plans Moving Forward

Before the meeting...

Adrian stared at the memory orb that was given to him by the other him lurking in the depths of his soul. In his hands is the precious memories of the Primordial Beast of Greed but not all of them. It seems that the Primordial Beast of Greed was able to delete some of its past memories while it died. Thankfully or rather maybe intended, the Primordial Beast of Greed left all of the memories intact with the secret organization that revived it.

Adrian absorbed all the memories that he could from the memory orb that was extracted. He learned how the Primordial Beasts of Sin came to be. All of them were created as a way to convert all of the negative energy in the world into something useful. They were not created as seven thoughts as Adrian saw memories about one entity having all of the energy of the Primordial Beasts of Sin.

Adrian did not know what this monster is called but he could feel it rival the strength of the Beast of Revelation. The Beast of Revelation is a monster that can defeat gods themselves, and it was not even killed but sealed. If the being that was once the combination of the Primordial Beasts of Sin are revived, then they might never be able to survive.

"It is a good thing that we managed to defeat the Primordial Beast of Greed. The Primordial Beast of Greed would have respawned if the authority over the energy of greed is still in it but all of it has been sent to Mammon. The world itself has granted the full authority of the energy of greed to the Devil God Mammon." Adrian thought but he was wrong in thinking everything is finished.

Adrian then saw the memories that are fresher as it was of the secret organization that is located in the eastern continent. The Secret Organization did not have a real name since it was made of beings that were former gods. They were former gods of the eastern continent that have become mortals. They were the gods that were overthrown by the faith of the people via the Four Divine Beasts.

According to the Primordial Beast of Greed, the gods that dealt with him called themselves Kami. It seems that the group name changes depending on the ancient language the fallen gods speak. Anyways, all of the members of the group are all fallen gods that have at least reached the level of an Immortal in the Ascendant stage. This means that all of the fallen gods have become cultivators on par with demigods.

"Some of them might have entered the starting stages of Lesser God Realm since the world barrier has weakened. This is troublesome as lesser gods would need at least twenty of our finest people to take them on. It takes an army to defeat one demigod, and they could also revive if their soul is not captured or destroyed." Adrian thought as the cards were not in their favor.

Adrian also learned that the secret organization wanted to kill off all of the divine beasts in order for their reign to prosper. All of them experimented on ways to kill a divine beast but the best they did back then was splitting the Vermillion Bird into two entities. They were unable to kill the Vermillion Bird, but they were able to split it in half and have it become almost forgotten by the people.

"So, they were the ones that did that? Still, according to the memory of the Primordial Beast of Greed, they did that about hundreds of years ago. I found traces of time anomalies in the area back then and they said it was a heavenly sage that helped them in splitting the Vermillion Bird in half. Heavenly Sages are apparently the term for the eastern continents for envoys. Did a player help them?" Adrian thought as he skimmed through more of the memories as he needs other details for now.

The secret organization basically told most of what they did to the Primordial Beasts of Sin. They might have captured them, but they also need to be informed of what must be done. The secret organization needed smart collaborators in order to truly kill divine beasts. In fact, the secret organization made use of the powerful abilities of the Primordial Beasts of Sin as merely distractions.

The Primordial Beasts of Sin can be switched to another vessel should the last one get destroyed. They made for excellent pawns that can be sent away from the eastern continent. The fallen gods of the secret organization needed materials that contained divine energy. All of the things that they have stolen from the attacks in the western continent were items that contained divine energy.

The western continent was better because the gods themselves walk among the mortals as the continent has been transformed. This was a good thing for the mortals as they can have the protection of their gods, but it also invited beings that wanted items that are filled with divine energy. Even if the gods can descend freely on the western continent does not mean they can stay indefinitely.

Items that can contain divine energy are needed as a way to recharge the divine body of the gods. It can also be refurbished as ways to capture and seal them away. This is what the secret organization wanted from the items they have stolen from the western continent. They were all making things that can permanently seal the Four Divine Beasts.

"That should not help them become gods though." Adrian thought but the next memories came to him.

The Primordial Beast of Greed was not really as collaborative as they thought. The fallen gods might run the organization but there were a lot of servants that were just normal Immortals. The Primordial Beasts of Sin knew that they were being used. The context of their collaboration would have been the secret organization helping the Primordial Beasts of Sin regain their power. In exchange the Primordial Beasts of Sin will provide the way to seal the Four Divine Beasts.

The Primordial Beast of Greed was not a being that liked being on the losing end which is why it gathered all the things it needed to one day control the secret organization should it weaken. The Primordial Beast of Greed learned that the fallen gods were basically reincarnated hundreds of times in the course of history. Each time, they all die and get reborn as if their souls could not get to the afterlife.

Not all of the fallen gods follow their organization though as some choose to live their lives. Adrian even knows one of them which is the current master of Peridot. The fallen gods of the secret organization basically learned why they cannot go to the afterlife and that is because of the Four Divine Beasts. It seems that the Four Divine Beasts somehow makes all of the fallen gods unable to become powerful gods again.

The secret organization managed to prove this when the Vermillion Bird was split. The pressure coming down on them suddenly eased up and they managed to wield some of their divine abilities for a short time per day. They all believed that they might rise back up if the Four Divine Beasts die or get sealed. This shifted all of their efforts to make this a possibility, but the other divine beasts were more difficult to trick.

The Heavenly Sage that helped them split the Vermillion Bird back then also vanished after the request was done. If the secret organization knew then they would have contracted that Heavenly Sage to split or seal the other divine beasts. After all, that Heavenly Sage cannot truly die as he just respawns a bit weaker when he dies from combat. Due to this information, Adrian believed that this Heavenly Sage they referred to is a player that is an envoy, but he did not know how they ended up in the past.

"There were a lot of time anomalies before I became a demon. It might be due to that, and that player might have been sent to that time and place. Still, they should have not helped that secret organization if they were an envoy of a god that is aligned with the Twin Gods. They might be an Envoy of the Dark Gods or Distorted Gods." Adrian thought.

Adrian then skimmed through all of the details and made sure to take note of everything. He learned some of the names of the fallen gods and their abilities. He also learned what the Primordial Beasts of Sin planned to do. He also learned that they betrayed the most dangerous of their siblings which is the Primordial Beast of Pride.

"The energy signature of the Primordial Beast of Pride vanished according to the Primordial Beast of Greed. It might have died somewhere already or became dormant in another vessel. I hope it is the former." Adrian thought as he proceeded to the meeting.

Chapter 2419: All Because of Greed I

The defeat of the Primordial Beast of Greed was not a secret as a world message was released upon its defeat. It was not just the players that are informed but also their enemies. The secret organization had a lamp tied to the existence of the Primordial Beast of Greed. When the lamp's fire suddenly blew out, they immediately knew that the Primordial Beast of Greed has died. They did not care much though as all of them thought as the Primordial Beasts of Sin as expendable.

The secret organization, Kami, only thought of the Primordial Beasts of Sin as expendable because of their nature to revive just like them. Unlike them that starts from zero, the Primordial Beasts of Sin will reform back into their peak power or at least that should have been so. The secret organization did not know that the Primordial Beast of Greed will never revive again. Its place in the world has already been given away to someone else.

Even the other Primordial Beasts of Sin did not care that the Primordial Beast of Greed was killed as well. They thought that their sibling would just revive again with different memories this time as this was the rule of revival for primordial beasts. Still, the Primordial Beasts of Sin felt something in themselves are missing but they cannot explain what it is. It was as if there was a missing part of their existence that was gone forever.

"We will go after the Primordial Beast of Gluttony." Adrian stated towards his guild members as almost all of them are now in the northern continent in a town where Frey is currently located.

The meeting with the guild alliance was a success and Adrian told them all about the Primordial Beasts of Sin. The guild leaders were quite shocked that the Primordial Beasts of Sin are actually one entity back then, but they believed what Adrian said. Even though Adrian said that this might just be lore, but they need to be prepared just in case.

Adrian instructed the hunt of the other six Primordial Beasts of Sin immediately as he knows where their bases usually are. The only ones that are difficult to pinpoint right now is the Primordial Beast of Pride. Based on the memory of the Primordial Beast of Greed, the Primordial Beast of Pride was killed but Adrian did not believe so as there would have been a world announcement. Since he only knows the location of the five, he immediately gave it to the other guilds.

Since Adrian was the one that gave the report and breakdown of the situation, he basically spearheaded what they needed to do. Adrian told them that it would be up to Pantheon Guild with some support from other guilds to deal with the Primordial Beast of Gluttony. The Primordial Beast of Gluttony is currently residing in the northern continent doing something that even the Primordial Beast of Greed did not know.

What the Primordial Beast of Greed did know is that the Primordial Beast of Gluttony becomes stronger with each visit to the northern continent. It seems that the Primordial Beast of Gluttony has incited its powers upon the northern continent, but Adrian does not know how. He also wanted to deal with it because Frey contacted them about it. It seems that the Great Star Gazer that was asleep has awoken and specifically called for him.

The other guilds did not say much about Adrian taking his guild as a main contender for the Primordial Beast of Gluttony. The next was the Primordial Beast of Sloth that Hexy and Creepysoo encountered before. They did not encounter the enemy and clash with it, but they felt the power of what it could do without it even lifting a finger. The Primordial Beast of Sloth could affect an entire kingdom with its ability even if it just stayed there without doing anything.

Adrian let them debate on who would be able to lead against the Primordial Beast of Sloth. The ones that came out on top were none other than the Evergreen guild. They gave the best argument against the Primordial Beast of Sloth because of one thing. The Primordial Beast of Sloth wants to take the World Tree that is located in Neo Alfheim.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth has an ability to assimilate and takeover beings as per the memories of the Primordial Beast of Greed. The Primordial Beast of Sloth wants to takeover the world tree and becomes its new entity. It would be the perfect merge as the world tree basically does nothing much except give some energy to keep the world stable. The Primordial Beast of Sloth is an energy sponge like entity that can never get enough of it.

The attack of the Primordial Beast of Sloth is not yet known as to when it will happen, but the Evergreen guild is in high alert. The other smaller guilds will be rotating in bumping up the security of Neo Alfheim for the time being. The smaller guild was not bothered by this as they were fairly compensated with trades and even payment.

The next Primordial Beasts of Sin was the Primordial Beast of Lust that actually did not bother moving from its location ever since. The only problem was that the Primordial Beast of Lust is located in the southern continent where not many players have ventured to. The waters that travel to the southern continent are quite tough that only powerful battleships dare to sail there.

Still, the Infernum guild has decided to tackle the Primordial Beast of Lust as they want to see the southern continent. Adrian did tell them a bit of background on the southern continent as he was there before. He told them that they are mainly large kingdoms in that continent with gods walking among them as well. It was not like the western continent but there was something there that helped the gods manifest their divine bodies.

Chapter 2420: All Because of Greed II

Adrian also told the Infernum Guild that the Primordial Beast of Lust is a being that has the ability to charm anything. The Primordial Beast of Lust would be able to even charm a rock if it was alive. Strong willpower is needed in order to fight against it as one would need to deal with the charm effects. Siegfried assured Adrian that he will be able to prepare his guild and the allies that comes with against it.

The next Primordial Beasts of Sin is the Primordial Beast of Wrath that is still wreaking havoc in the western continent. It seems that the secret organization is not yet finished with the divine items in the western continent as there are news that they are excavating the tombs of kings. The Primordial Beast of Wrath has also been seen this time but with a different vessel now.

The Valor Guild led by Ain graciously accepted this one as he seemed incredibly confident against a being that can destroy mountains in one punch. Adrian actually thought that Siegfried would want to have a battle against the Primordial Beast of Wrath but even the latter agrees that the Valor Guild would be best equipped to deal with it.

Adrian then gave some clues of the Primordial Beast of Wrath according to what remained in the memories of the Primordial Beast of Greed. The Primordial Beast of Wrath has a temper that can easily be provoked as it will be teased with just little things. Even saying that it smells bad would trigger a response of extreme anger from the Primordial Beast of Wrath.

The downside is that the Primordial Beast of Wrath gets more powerful with its anger level. The only good thing about it is that the Primordial Beast of Wrath will lose the distinction of friend or foe when its anger increases to a certain threshold. Adrian also told the Valor guild that they could team up with the Western Continent Gods as they will be a great ally against the Primordial Beast of Wrath.

The last of the Primordial Beasts of Sin was the Primordial Beast of Envy. Unlike the others that appear in other continents from time to time, the Primordial Beast of Envy is located in the eastern continent. The location where its hiding was not exact according to the memories of the Primordial Beast of Greed as the Primordial Beast of Envy would hide its presence a lot. Also, all of them agreed that it is dangerous to deal with the Primordial Beast of Envy or any primordial beasts of sin in the eastern continent.

The secret organization, Kami, will definitely become one of their enemies unlike when they are in another continent. The secret organization could easily provide back up to the Primordial Beasts of Sin as they are based in the eastern continent. Still, another guild that is up and coming has agreed to take charge of the Primordial Beast of Envy.

A guild that is mostly made up of summoners or those that have professions that synergize with monsters. The Echidna Guild led by the Envoy of the Mother of Monsters which is Ochia. They did not promise that they will fight the Primordial Beast of Envy but merely track its movements for now and see if the secret organization will keep track of them.

Adrian also delivered news about the secret organization as there is a guild that has joined them. He told them that the player known as Tai is being backed up or a member of the secret organization in some way. The Oni Masked players named Tai is not a stranger to the guild alliance as they know him from videos of him defeating Eldritch. They also know that Eldritch has a grudge against him because of it as he is known as the rank one player in terms of combat strength.

Even the Rank 1 Player in the leaderboards, Hou Yiwei, has been embarrassed by Tai as they fought each other due to a quest. The defeat of Hou Yiwei marked the disbelief of all Pandemonium players that the leaderboard is merely a ranking of player level not player strength. Hou Yiwei's guild is also actively hunting down Tai because they want to avenge their leader from the humiliation.

Some of the guild leaders even gave a suggestion to ally with Eldritch and Hou Yiwei temporarily to fight against the secret organization. Adrian was against the idea as they cannot control Eldritch or even make him do what they want. Hou Yiwei is the same as per Adrian's interactions with him as he is also difficult to deal with. Adrian could feel that those two will have hidden intentions even if they have a common enemy.

Eldritch will just outright be antagonistic while Hou Yiwei will hide behind his façade as he plans to backstab you. When Adrian told his views on this, the other guild masters can only agree as they have never seen Hou Yiwei join hands with another guild. In fact, Ain has a grudge against him as Hou Yiwei killed all of his guild members back then even though they had a joint mission.

Adrian managed to conclude the meeting and also provided teleportation scrolls that can call for the other guild members of the alliance. Should they be unable to deal with the Primordial Beasts of Sin with their numbers, they could just use the teleportation scrolls given to them. The teleportation scrolls Adrian gave are called Gate Point Scrolls. It basically creates a coordinate in the world where all of them could teleport to using a Gate Rush Scroll.

The Gate Point Scroll is given to the guild leaders that will head the operation while the Gate Rush Scroll is given to all the other members of the alliance. The Gate Rush Scrolls can only be activated if a Gate Point Scroll is activated as they form a pair. There are some limitations such as setting the coordinate beforehand, but it is a great way to aid the others immediately.
