

O Summoner 2451

Chapter 2451: Another Sin Absorbed

After the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast body was destroyed, the Primordial Beast of Gluttony's soul finally escaped from its body. The Primordial Beast of Gluttony did not truly die as it was not assimilated into the body of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast permanently. The Primordial Beast of Gluttony tried to push back the conscious will of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast when it was first devoured, but a powerful force repelled it completely.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony could only ironically die from slowly being devoured. It also could also see what is happening to the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast. The fights and thrashing that the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast actually made the Primordial Beast of Gluttony cheer for the opposing team.

"If they win then I might still be able to live!" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony thought as it had placed some special markers in place just in case something happened like this.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony did not expect that it will be devoured by another primordial beast to make the latter evolve but it did expect to at least lose its body. It was already apparent to the Primordial Beast of Gluttony that the vessel that it possessed will not hold on. Even the perfect vessel for them only lasted a month when used in battle.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony waited and actually cheered for the death of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast. It did not know that there was another being trying to devour parts of it while it was inside the stomach of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast. The Primordial Beast of Gluttony only cared of what was happening outside as it was timing its perfect escape.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony waited and held on despite most of its power and soul already devoured. When the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast was defeated, the Primordial Beast of Gluttony immediately ejected itself from the body of its devourer. It was not the physical body that was ejected but the spiritual body which immediately travelled back to the eastern continent where it hid its spare vessel.

"I managed to get inside the vessel that I secretly prepared that even Kami does not know." The Primordial Beast of Gluttony stated as it was in a vessel that is not expected of its demeanor.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony in its extremely weakened state has picked a pig beast as its emergency vessel. He picked this small farm in the eastern continent where it brainwashed the people running it to make sure that the pig is not killed. The vessel might be for emergency cases, but it was effective in containing the soul of the Primordial Beast of Gluttony for a few days.

The Primordial Beast of Gluttony did not expect that it would be reduced to such a pitiful state that the pig monster did not even evolve when it possessed it. This just means that the Primordial Beast of Gluttony has lost a majority of its strength. It thought that it would at least preserve 30% of its strength but now it only has 5%. It was like the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast has another entity inside it that devoured the Primordial Beast of Gluttony.

"Such a form is not a problem as long as I can get my revenge! I still have the power of Gluttony. I will spread it here in this small town until I can get more strength! Oink!" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony stated and is followed by a few pig sounds.

"Such a remote area you have been to my sibling." A voice stated as the Primordial Beast of Gluttony suddenly became alert.

"Who's there!?" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony shouted as it found a soldier that is filled with bandages.

"It is I, my sibling. The one you all betrayed. The one that will have their revenge... and the one that will devour you all!" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

"Pride! You are alive! Impossible! Our connection with you has been shattered! You should not have been alive or else we would have felt your presence!" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony shouted.

"You see, my sibling... the bodies of these mortals' held secrets that are vast. This vessel in particular is very nice as this one has the Concealing Heavenly Body. A trait that this vessel got from its ancestors! This soulless body would not have activated such a fine ability if I did not possess it. I take pride that my own power activated what was supposed to be buried deep in this vessel's ancestry.

Anyways, I admit that I did not think that my siblings would even dare betray me. I thought all of you followed me because you all know my greatness, but it seems that poison has already entered your brains. For that, all of you shall pay the price with your lives. Do not worry as Greed already got what he deserved because I was there when Greed fell. I even contributed to the fight before I devoured a piece of him." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

"Please, Pride. I am sorry! Oink!" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony stated in panic as it looked for a way out.

"Do not worry my sibling, you shall live. You shall live eternally inside of me!" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as its eyes became fierce and swung its sword to kill the Primordial Beast of Gluttony.

"Oink!" The Primordial Beast of Gluttony died as its body was sliced in half and the Primordial Beast of Pride devoured a piece that it sliced.

[The Primordial Beast of Gluttony has died as well.]

"It is not as tasty as I thought. Maybe I should roast it and add seasonings." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as it devoured the slaughtered Primordial Beast of Gluttony.

The Primordial Beast of Pride felt the overwhelming power burst in its body as another energy could now be stored in it. If the Primordial Beast of Pride did not have the aid of its current body now then its siblings would have detected it already.

Chapter 2452: Memories of the Soul Fragment

Adrian froze when he had contact with the soul fragment of the Asmodian Abel. When he touched it, Adrian's soul momentarily separated from his body and got transported somewhere. He was absorbed inside of the soul fragment itself and saw where the last two fragments are.

He also managed to see how the soul fragment appeared in the northern continent. Adrian saw the soul fragment enter a meteor that pierced the skies. This meteor was eaten by a primordial beast that was now known as the Primordial Beast of Frozen Tundra. The Primordial Beast of Frozen Tundra was not a powerful being when it first came to be.

The fact that it ate the meteorite containing the soul fragment of an Asmodian is all coincidence. It was a primordial beast that ate stone in order to increase its primordial energy. It just so happens that it ate the meteorite that was filled with primordial energy. This led to the awakening of the Primordial Beast of Frozen Tundra and becoming the next powerhouse of the northern continent.

Adrian also received the memories of the Primordial Beast of Frozen Tundra, but he filtered most of it out. He looked closely on the directions of the locations of the soul fragments, and they flew in a southern and eastern direction. He can only deduce that one might be in the eastern continent being hidden from his detection and the other in the southern continent.

"I would need to ascertain my theory though. If the soul fragment could attach to an object like a meteorite as long as it has abundant primordial energy, then the soul fragment could be in anything. There might even be items that are possessed by the soul fragment. After all, not all soul fragments are the same as this one is filled with the will to live and become stronger." Adrian muttered as he finally received the notifications of the weakening of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast.

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has reduced the defenses of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast by 1%.]

[Your soulbound, Dodu, devoured something foreign.]

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has devoured the energy of the Primordial Beast of Gluttony.]

[Your Gluttony skill has increased in rank.]

"What the heck!" Adrian shouted as numerous notifications bombarded him that Dodu was increasing his skill rank.

Skill Name: Gluttony

Skill Tier: Epic

Skill Type: Seven Deadly Sin Exclusive Passive Skill

Effects:

-Gives the skill holder the ability to do more damage per 18% of their mana that is consumed.
(0.2% per 10% mana consumed)

-Gives the skill holder the ability to do more damage per 18% of their stamina that is missing.
(0.2% per 10% mana consumed)

Mana Cost: None

Cast Time: None

Cooldown: None

Note: This is skill that can only be increased through continuous activation over time. This can only be activated by beings that devoured the essence of the Primordial Beast of Gluttony. The skill rank rose because the soul managed to devour parts of the Primordial Beast of Gluttony.

Adrian could not believe that Dodu raised the skill rank via devouring the parts of the Primordial Beast of Gluttony. He knew that they were connected to each other by the Soul Chamber, but he did not think that Dodu would be able to do that. He always thought that only Dodu could benefit from those that it devoured but it actually helped him as well.

[Your soulbound, Dodu, has gained the title, Devourer of Devourers.]

Title Name: Devourer of Devourers

Title Rank: Special

Effects:

-Enables the holder of the title to gain more from devouring other beings by 10%.

-If the holder of the title devourers another being known for their voraciousness or have a title of devourer then they will gain 10% increased damage against them.

Description: A title given to beings that dared to defy the limits of what can be devoured. It might not be farfetched to say that those that hold this title might even be able to devour an entire universe someday!

"Such a scary title but I am sure that it will not come to that. Anyways, I need to return now to finish off the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast." Adrian muttered to himself as he vanished from the inner world of the soul fragment and returned back to the battle.

When Adrian returned, the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast was already close to death which is why he gambled. He gathered all of the nether energy in the area and created a powerful explosion that is lethal to the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast. He made this calculated move and also imbued Dodu with nether energy as well which eroded the body of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast faster.

Adrian managed to kill the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast, but it also weakened him in the process. Saena had to catch him as he could barely use magic in his state. When Adrian managed to catch his breath, he looked at the gigantic corpse of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast. The corpse of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast suddenly started to wiggle which alarmed the players that already relaxed as the enemy was defeated.

The players suddenly went to their battle stances but soon relaxed when a clear ooze came out of the Cocytus Primordial Demonic Beast mouth. Dodu managed to come out although it was smaller than its original size as its health was still low. Still, Dodu excitedly jiggled when it saw Adrian and even ran towards him to perform a slime hug.

"You did a great job in decreasing the defenses of the enemy, Dodu." Adrian praised.

"Dodu did great! Dodu was praised!" Dodu stated via their soul link.

"All of you did great. Especially Wisteria as she sacrificed her life twice to take that hit for me. She even used up her own revival just so I could survive. All of you deserve a bit of rest and some special treats when we go back." Adrian stated as his heart felt warm as if his soulbounds responded to his earnest praise.

Chapter 2454: The Sins Rampage

[The Primordial Beast of Sloth has been released from the chains that binds it.]

[The Primordial Beast of Envy has been released from the chains that binds it.]

[The Primordial Beast of Lust has been released from the chains that binds it.]

[The Primordial Beast of Wrath has been released from the chains that binds it.]

The world suddenly shook as four powerful waves of primordial energy swept across the entire world. Four Primordial Beasts of Sin have released their original powers and started to turn the world into their playground. All Four Primordial Beasts of Sin reached the strength of a Greater God in mere seconds as they finally tapped to the source of their powers fully.

The Four Primordial Beasts of Sin no longer needed their vessels as well because they could now fully condense primordial energy into a physical body. The Four Primordial Beasts of Sin are truly unbound as they can now affect the world as true primordial beasts. When they were sealed, the Primordial Beasts of Sin could not use all of their power as they were sealed via the soul.

Since the Primordial Beasts of Sin were not in full power, this meant that the ones that the players defeated were not even in their best state. The Primordial Beast of Greed and the Primordial Beast of Gluttony were in their sealed state when they were killed. In order to kill those two powerful primordial beasts of sin, the players had to get the help of powerful NPCs and even a goddess.

The sudden announcement that the remaining Four Primordial Beasts of Sin have their seals released is not good for the players. This meant that they need literal gods to actually help them now. It might even need hordes of high-level players to even deal with one of the Four Primordial Beasts of Sin. This is not helpful to the players because defeating a primordial beast of sin is already a high mountain to climb.

The Four Primordial Beasts of Sin also went their separate ways and established territories that they rule. They terraformed the place that they stayed at to make it align with their energies. This made it so that the power that they could release is almost twice than what they can muster. The Four Primordial Beasts of Sin could literally wipe out an army of players with just one attack because of this.

All Four Primordial Beasts of Sin also reverted back to their real forms, and they are ginormous. They were towering over mountains and their aura leaked their respective energies as well. The most notable thing is that the Four Primordial Beasts of Sin have this strange cloud looming on top of their heads. These cloud clusters are made of condensed Sin Energy that they could use.

The Sin Clouds as they call it are basically another way for them to store the energy that they need in order to survive and become powerful. All Four Primordial Beasts of Sin are in different continents and each of them made sure to get away from the eastern continent. They do not know what sorcery Kami might do as there are still traces of their origin sealed in the secret base.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth has taken a territory in the northwestern part of the central continent. The Primordial Beast of Sloth even let the air of the territory it encroached become stale which led to almost all monsters and all living life there to become incredibly relaxed and lazy. Once the Primordial Beast of Sloth has created its pristine oasis, it started to sleep and gather more of its Sin Energy.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth does not need to actively do something to become stronger. It just needs to focus on doing what it wants and that is to be lazy. It also feeds on the laziness of other beings which creates some adverse effects on those affected by its aura. The Primordial Beast of Sloth basically induces beings to become lazy which will increase its power, but it also has a way to burn them out.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth will turn the beings around it lazy but then those beings will wake up and need to compensate for their laziness. The beings that compensated will be burnt out from doing things and then they will enter a state of lethargy again. This cycle will continue until the beings around the Primordial Beast of Sloth die.

The Primordial Beast of Envy managed to escape to the southeast part of the central continent. Just like the Primordial Beast of Sloth, the Primordial Beast of Envy released its powerful mental abilities into the air. All the kingdoms near it suddenly felt the urge to start a war and basically all negotiations became moot. Due to the Primordial Beast of Envy, the tensions of all kingdoms near its proximity became increased to the point that civil war even happened.

The stability of the southeastern part of the central continent became erratic in the span of one day. The influence of the Primordial Beast of Envy is not something to be treated lightly now that it has become its true self. The Primordial Beast of Envy also has great control over its own energy unlike the other primordial beasts. It made sure that the kingdoms will not fall but continue on their internal and external strife.

This is to make sure that the Primordial Beast of Envy will harvest more and more Sin Energy for itself. It plans on expanding more and more until it could cover half of the central continent. The central continent is about twice the size of any other continents which is why it does not need to fight with the Primordial Beast of Sloth for territory. Also, the Primordial Beast of Envy knows that the Primordial Beast of Sloth would just sleep and laze away which meant that it will be the true ruler of the central continent.

The Primordial Beast of Lust manifested in the southern continent which has many gods and goddesses in their temples, but most thriving cities here do not have temples. Unlike its other siblings, the Primordial Beast of Lust is subtle but makes an impact when ready. The Primordial Beast of Lust slowly released its Sin Energy around it to induce a state of heat to all beings.

The Primordial Beast of Lust only released just enough so that it could benefit from it greatly. The Primordial Beast of Lust knows that too much of its own energy would be detrimental if it wants to farm lots of it. Fortunately, the southern continent is a place where powerful warriors are coveted and lusted upon. The Primordial Beast of Lust used its clever and subtle mind to interweave this line of thinking.

The Primordial Beast of Wrath is different from its siblings because it is more of a doer. When the Primordial Beast of Wrath fully manifested in the western continent, hordes of monsters started to rage and targeted civilizations. All monsters in the western continent became more bloodthirsty than they already are. The western continent is already an unforgiving place due to its powerful monsters and harsh dessert areas, but it suddenly became infested with monster hordes as well.

The western gods immediately convened to try and stop the Primordial Beast of Wrath, but the latter became more powerful when the western gods themselves fought it. The Primordial Beast of Wrath drew onto the wrath of its opponents as well. The wrath of a god has more value than the wrath of a mortal which basically almost tripled the strength of the Primordial Beast of Wrath.

The western gods had to retreat as they themselves should not face the Primordial Beast of Wrath. They could offer some assistance, but the western gods themselves must not attack the Primordial Beast of Wrath. Even the mere fact that they enter the area of influence of the Primordial Beast of Wrath is already enough to make the latter power.

The Primordial Beast of Wrath's aura effects also induce rage unto the gods themselves. The western gods were able to find this out when the God Horus got affected greatly. The God Horus almost got lost in its own madness because of the power that the Primordial Beast of Wrath could induce. The only good thing for the western gods is that the Primordial Beast of Wrath could not move from its current location as its powerful maddening power is tied to the area.

The western continent gods thought of a way to lure the Primordial Beast of Wrath away from its territory to weaken the effects of its maddening aura, but the latter did not move. It seems that the Primordial Beast of Wrath is more in control of its emotions when it is no longer sealed. The Four Primordial Beasts of Sin affected the world and even the world barrier as their pressure strains it to a large extent that Adrian was recalled back by the elders immediately.

Chapter 2455: The Sins Rampage II

"It seems my siblings have already started their revolt and have succeeded with brute force. Then again, there are three of us that are no longer taking Sin Energy. The three of us, Pride, Greed, and Gluttony, were the ones that are hogging most of it.

Still, are my siblings really this dumb? I am the brains of our family, and this is the result of their brainless action. They could have just returned back to their true forms but left the population of humans alone. Instead, most of them decided to affect them. They are really brainless fools that will lead their own deaths even if I do not interfere." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

The Primordial Beast of Pride knew that its other siblings just put a target on their backs because of what they have caused. The humans or those that have intelligent civilizations do not care for Primordial Beasts as long as they are left alone or not a threat. The Primordial Beasts of Sin would have been left alone by most if they did not unleash their power unto human lands.

"I have been observing you for quite a while now, Primordial Beast of Pride." A voice suddenly stated as the Primordial Beast of Pride suddenly looked around to find the source.

The Primordial Beast of Pride is currently hiding in a small inn located at a rather small town in the eastern continent. This was the closest human civilization it reached after it devoured the Primordial Beast of Gluttony. There should be no one that knows of the Primordial Beast of Pride but nothing in this world is absolute. The Primordial Beast of Pride held its sword, but it realized that the entire area froze.

The humans and even the low number of immortals in the entire town froze in place as if they were in stasis. They were not literally frozen in time but merely frozen in place as they were still breathing. It just looks like all beings in the area have their minds controlled by the being that called upon the Primordial Beast of Pride.

"Who are you?!" The Primordial Beast of Pride asked the stranger that suddenly appeared before it.

The stranger that appeared before the Primordial Beast of Pride is dressed in a rather lavish attire. Its clothes were like of a gentleman with a touch of gold, silver, and diamond ornaments. The Primordial Beast of Pride knew that this stranger was not normal because no one in the eastern continent has this type of energy except for the divine beasts. The stranger before it was none other than a god.

"I am the God Loki. I think you know of me." The God Loki stated with a smile.

"The Trickster God of the Nordic Gods. Why has a trickster come to me? How did you even find me?" The Primordial Beast of Pride asked as it became wary that other gods were now monitoring it.

"Worry not as you just caught my eye this time when I was spying on our little demon troublemaker." The God Loki stated.

The Nordic Gods did not really stop their plans for returning Asgard in the mortal realm. They are still banking on the chance that there is another way to do it. The Nordic Gods were almost out of their wits on how to destroy the world barrier, but the God Loki noticed the Primordial Beast of Pride when it was peeping into Adrian's actions in the eastern continent.

The God Loki found out about the Primordial Beast of Pride when it devoured a part of the essence of the Primordial Beast of Greed. The Primordial Beast of Pride might have hidden it well when it released its Sin Energy for a fraction of a second but that is not hidden well enough against a god. The God Loki smiled upon seeing an interesting primordial beast and decided to observe it further.

The God Loki reported it to the other Aesir Gods of the Nordic Gods that he found an interesting primordial beast. It was just a passing remark that piqued his interest, but the God Odin also took interest. When the God Loki described the primordial beast to the God Odin, the latter immediately took out an old manuscript that detailed the Five Universal Calamities.

The Five Universal Calamities are beings that even the gods themselves have difficulty defeating which is why they got the name. The pages of the manuscript flipped and landed on a monster that has seven heads with seven crowns. Each head has one eye with a larger eye at the very center of the beast. It was a beast that cannot be spawned naturally in this world which is why it is part of the Five Universal Calamities.

"Aid the Primordial Beast of Pride in its quest in devouring its siblings, Loki." The God Odin stated which surprised all of the Aesir Gods as the Allfather is known to not like the help of others.

"Can you tell me why you need me to help the Primordial Beast of Pride? Is it related to the monster that you are now looking at?" The God Loki asked.

"I was actually young back then when this monster appeared. It was subdued by the Twin Gods along with the Primordial Gods at the time. It is a monster that has been split into eight because its power was so great that a lesser number would just let its parts fuse together." The God Odin stated.

"Eight? There are only seven Primordial Beasts of Sin?" The God Loki questioned as he knew that there are only seven Primordial Beasts of Sin.

"The eight is not a living being but a core that was sealed in the depths of Tartarus. The core that we have now due to your great service to us all. The Infinity Core is the eight being that separated from this Universal Calamity. This is also the reason why the infinity symbol looks like a horizontal eight as it has been carved due to this core coming into being." The God Odin stated.

"I used a lot of energy and even sacrificed thousands of live to reach Tartarus for that core, but you are thinking of giving it away to a beast?! The Infinity Core is the only thing that gives energy to our realm and keeps the food from being diseased. If we give it to the primordial beasts, then we will no longer have a way to maintain our realm." The God Loki stated, and the other Aesir Gods nodded to his statement as well.

"The Infinity Core cannot become the power source of our realm forever as the other gods will take notice of its energy. An incursion will happen, and we will be overrun by foreign gods in the distant future. The reason I want you to help the Primordial Beast of Pride is the Universal Calamity known as the Beast of Ogdoad will be able to break the divine barrier of the mortal realm.

A Universal Calamity will exceed the power that maintains the divine barrier and the world barrier as well. The demons no longer have multiple Noblesse alive and there are no Asmodians alive as well. If a Universal Calamity were to appear then it will destroy the world barrier and the divine barrier as well. With both barriers destroyed, I will be able to move Asgard to the mortal realm with ease.

Did you think that the mortals were able to partially unseal the Beast of Revelation without my guidance? I was the mastermind behind the unsealing of all the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. If the Beast of Revelation was unsealed back then, the mortal realm would no longer have a world barrier to protect them from our arrival." The God Odin declared which sent a shiver down the spine of the other gods.

The Beast of Revelation is considered one of the Universal Calamities just like the Beast of Ogdoad. The Five Universal Calamities have the power to literally overturn the laws governing the world which is why the gods needed to seal them away into another dimension. The Beast of Ogdoad is the same as the Beast of Revelation but the way to seal it was different.

The Beast of Ogdoad was split into eight beings with one of them being the Infinity Core that was sealed in Tartarus. The other seven became the Primordial Beasts of Sin which the world itself used to benefit it. All memories of the Beast of Ogdoad were erased without a trace with the help of the gods and the Will of the World.

The Primordial Beasts of Sin became useful to the world which is why the other seven were not sealed like the Infinity Core. The problem arises when the Primordial Beast of Sloth saw visions of the past and the future due to its ability. The memories of the past glory affected all of the primordial beast of sin because they were all connected.

Chapter 2456: The Origin of Sin

The Primordial Beasts of Sin were fine when they were doing their passive duty of absorbing the negative energy which they call Sin Energy. Once they collect enough, the Primordial Beasts of Sin would purify the energy and release it to the world to become nourishment. This is a way for the world to maintain itself even with negative energy. This was the benefit that the world was given when the Primordial Beasts of Sin worked for the betterment of others.

It was only when the Primordial Beast of Sloth got the visions of the past that the Primordial Beasts of Sin have changed. All of them decided to thirst for power as if something inside of them was triggered. The Primordial Beasts of Sin committed the taboo of actually fusing with each other to regain some of the power that they lost.

The Primordial Beasts of Sins managed to combine and regain the powers of all seven of them, but they failed in consolidating all of their power because the Infinity Core was not in their possession. They were still able to combine all of their powers, but they were unable to defeat the combined might of the gods. The Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin were split apart once again but they have truly been branded as sinners by the world.

The world abandoned the Primordial Beasts of Sin that endangered itself because they destroyed the initial world barrier when they fused. The sudden fusion of the Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin created a power vacuum that damaged the energies that maintained the world. They were one of the reasons why Pandemonium caught the initial attention of the foreign gods.

When the Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin got separated after their devastating lost to the gods, they were banished in territories that could barely sustain them. They were weakening as the world cut off the primordial energy source that they are receiving. The angels that are now the devil gods killing them was only a matter of time at that point as they were weakened. When the devils received the power of the Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin, all of the Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin were discarded of their duties.

The Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin were not killed back then as the devils back then could only defeat them by stealing their power. They were then sealed as a result of them committing some damage to the world itself. The Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin were sealed and forgotten with the new devil gods becoming their replacements.

This is the Origin of the Sin of all the Seven Primordial Beasts of Sin. They were not punished for what they were, but they were punished for what they have done even if they got a second chance. They bit the hand that fed them, and they got what they deserve.

"Why do you want to help me?" The Primordial Beast of Pride asked the God Loki as it was not convinced that a trickster god will help it because of the goodness in its heart.

The Primordial Beast of Pride is not stupid to think that a famed trickster god is willing to help it. The Primordial Beast of Pride knows that there must be something the God Loki wants to happen. The Primordial Beast of Pride knows that gods and goddesses are not beings that do things without something to benefit them.

"You are straightforward as expected of the smartest and the strongest of the Primordial Beasts of Sin." The God Loki stated which made the nose of the Primordial Beast of Pride flare up from the sudden praise.

The God Loki smiled as he saw that his simple manipulative statement managed to increase the ego of the Primordial Beast of Pride. The God Loki knew that the only way for this conversation to move to a place where he is in charge would be to stroke the ego of the Primordial Beast of Pride. The Primordial Beast of Pride could not hide its own happiness when a god actually acknowledge that it was the most powerful of all of them.

"I am the leader of all the Primordial Beasts of Sin. Tell me, what do you want in exchange for your help? This magnanimous self is willing to lower itself for your plan to be incorporated in my own plan." The Primordial Beast of Pride asked.

"In exchange for my help and the help of the Aesir Gods, we would like you to destroy the world barrier once you absorb the others." The God Loki stated.

"Destroying the world barrier is not that easy even for me. Even if I absorb the power of all my siblings, which is difficult now more than ever, the world barrier is strengthened by the power of the Twin Gods. Also, I cannot become the Beast of Ogdoad if the Infinity Core is not present. The Infinity Core is in a place that normal gods cannot access which I know that you cannot do so." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as he looked down on the God Loki.

"What if I tell you that we have the Infinity Core in our possession? I can also help you gather pieces of your siblings should they die in the fight. I will help you achieve the status that can easily defeat the gods. Once you become the Beast of Ogdoad, this world will be at your mercy as the Twin Gods are unavailable for the moment." The God Loki stated which piqued the interest of the Primordial Beast of Pride as he did not know that information.

The Primordial Beast of Pride suddenly felt a spark within it burn as the absence of the Twin Gods meant that the world will not be as heavily protected as before. The Primordial Beast of Pride always became careful in devouring pieces of its siblings so that it could evade the watchful eyes of the gods, but he was caught but the God Loki. The Primordial Beast of Pride would have abandoned this plan to absorb the power of his siblings if the God Loki was working for the gods under the Twin Gods.

The fact that the God Loki was here to give him some help instead of stopping him is something that the Primordial Beast of Pride really liked. The only ones that can fool gods are the gods themselves and who better to fool them than a renowned trickster god. The Primordial Beast of Pride could suddenly envision itself becoming the Beast of Ogdoad and the master of all sin.

"If this plan comes true, then I will be the only one in control of that all powerful body. One of the reasons we failed back then is the fact that we had to share control. If they only listened to me back, then... maybe we would have been released from the control of the gods.

I do not fully trust this god as he is a trickster, but I am Pride itself! I am better than everyone else and will rule everyone. Once they see that I am the best ruler of the world then even the gods themselves will bow before me. The Twin Gods themselves might even give me the keys to control the world." The Primordial Beast of Pride thought as he is favorable to the plan that the God Loki was giving him.

"I accept your offer for now, but I need this alliance to be written in a contract of blood and covenant." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as it knows that gods must stick to what is stated in the contract that they have signed. This is one of the ways to make sure that a god does not backstab you. If a god ever dishonors a deal, then the damage to their reputation could actually weaken them and kill them if it is a heavy punishment.

"I just so happen to have a Contract that was written by the God Odin himself. I think all of these are favorable for you." The God Loki stated as the Primordial Beast of Pride looked at the contents of the contract.

Contract of Mutual Aid

The Aesir Gods will make sure to help the Primordial Beast of Pride in gathering the necessary things for it to become the Beast of Ogdoad. The Infinity Core will only be given to the Primordial Beast of Pride when it has already gotten all necessary energies for it to become the Beast of Ogdoad. The Primordial Beast of Pride or the Beast of Ogdoad must destroy the world barrier and have a nonhostile relationship with Asgard.

"This contract basically favors you heavily as we know that we cannot contain your greatness. You can basically say that you are doing us a favor." The God Loki stated as the Primordial Beast of Pride is suddenly gleaming with pride because of the fact that it is once again raised at a higher pedestal than a god.

Chapter 2457: The Deal with the Trickster

The Primordial Beast of Pride looked at the contract and liked that it mostly favored itself than the god that offered it. The only thing that the Primordial Beast of Pride needs to take note of is the fact that he must not become aggressive to Asgard. The Primordial Beast of Pride does not care for that because it believes that even Asgard will bow down to it once it becomes the Beast of Ogdoad.

The fact that the Aesir Gods would promise the Primordial Beast of Pride with the Infinity Core is something that the latter did not expect. This contract basically solidified the Primordial Beast of Pride becoming the Beast of Ogdoad. Still, the Primordial Beast of Pride wanted to say no at first, but its own pride did not want to spoil it. The own pride of the Primordial Beast of Pride made it basically impossible for it to decline the contract as it placed itself in a pedestal.

"This contract might not benefit me as much, but I am a magnanimous being that will sign it. It seems that the Nordic Gods are in some dilemma since you refer to yourselves as the Aesir Gods instead. I will not pry as this great being will sign this in order to help you pitiful gods." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as the contract is stamped by its own signature mana which sealed the deal.

"Thank you for considering working with us. This humble assistant of yours will make sure that you shall become the Beast of Ogdoad." The God Loki stated with a smile that is fake but did not look fake at all.

The God Loki is basically mocking the Primordial Beast of Pride in its thoughts as the beast before it may have taken on human form, but it does not have the craftiness of humans. The fact that it signed the contract without even adding a clause that the Primordial Beast of Pride must be the only one among its siblings to become the Beast of Ogdoad is definitely an oversight. The beast before it is nothing more than a being with a great ego that can be easily manipulated if one plays their cards right.

"Still, I can only pin my hopes on this egomaniac as my other clones that came to strike deals with the other Primordial Beast of Sin were killed before they could even speak. The humans should be plotting to kill the other four anyways so feeding this egomaniac will be easy. I will just need to get the needed supply in order to make him into the Beast of Ogdoad." The God Loki thought.

The God Loki actually wanted to prepare a deal to all the Primordial Beasts of Sin as he wanted to have them compete on who gets to become the Beast of Ogdoad. The only problem is that the Primordial Beasts of Sin that regained their true form have killed any god that gets near them. Even the Primordial Beast of Lust that seems easy to talk to was very adamant in killing his clone when they became acquainted.

"It seems that the others are still caught up in their hatreds for the gods. Only the egomaniac is not filled with hate because it is filled with thoughts of itself. Also, it has experienced betrayal from its own siblings which means it is a cornered animal. This will be fun as a cornered animal is always fun to see on what they can do." The God Loki thought with a smile.

"What are you looking at? Are you realizing that I have a radiant glow that can even defeat the sun? I may occupy this human shell for now, but my own radiance cannot be limited by it, I see." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

"You are correct! I am merely in awe of your power and beauty that cannot be hidden by the human flesh. Do you not want to get flesh that is made up of your own primordial energy? You should be able to do so since you already have the power of your two siblings." The God Loki stated.

"I do not need to alert my siblings just yet. I want them to be stunned that I will be the one that kills them. They say surprises are often the most beautiful thing that one can encounter! I am beautiful which means that I am full of surprises!" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated without even batting an eye.

"If that is what you want then we can just rely on the humans to defeat your siblings. They will do the dirty work for us since that is beneath something like yourself." The God Loki stated which made the Primordial Beast of Pride even more excited as if the latter found someone that truly understands it.

"Yes! I guess even the gods are as great as me in terms of intellect! I am merely waiting for the humans to weaken my siblings, and I will come for the surprise attack to kill them! Tell me, Loki... do you know which of my siblings will the humans attack first?!" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

"I may be a god, but I do not know everything that mortals think of." The God Loki replied with his eyebrow raised as the Primordial Beast of Pride basically just called him without honorifics.

"I see. If a powerful god as yourself is useless when it comes to those things then that means that the gods more powerful than you are not any better. Come! This great me will find a way to know what the humans are thinking as that is what I am good at!" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

The God Loki was about to slice the head of the Primordial Beast of Pride when it basically insulted him, but he needed to be patient. This egomaniac beast is needed by them for now. They can just kill it once they have achieved their purpose as there was nothing in the contract that the Aesir Gods cannot kill it.

Chapter 2458: Mess Created by Sin

"I just need to endure for a few months until it becomes the Beast of Ogdoad. Once it destroys the divine barrier, Asgard will turn that thing to a pet first and then I will torture it for my pleasure." The God Loki thought as he kept the smile on his face.

"Tell me, do you have any idea which ones the humans will attack?" The God Loki asked.

"It seems that you have recognized my greatness! I have tapped into the follies of the mortals and got a lot of things, but they are not yet ready. They are already preparing for war against my siblings but most of them are in the scouting phase for now. Can you even get parts of my siblings if they were attacked simultaneously?" The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

"You entered a contract with all of the Aesir Gods and not just me. You just need to be ready to accept the power that you can get from your siblings. The mortals will exhaust their energy in dealing with your siblings while we will reap the benefits." The God Loki stated.

"It seems that you have your uses. We shall need to trave to the central continent then. Conjure up a portal to the central continent at this moment." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated as it started barking out commands to the God Loki which made the latter even closer to the verge of killing the former.

"If you want to be found out by demons then I suggest that we use the normal means of transportations." The God Loki stated.

"That is how you go around? Do gods that materialize in the world this weak that they are wary of demons? If that is the case, then follow me as I already know a merchant ship headed to the central continent. I am actually more useful than you while I am sealing myself in this mortal body." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated.

The God Loki suddenly raised his dagger and was about to go for the kill when a raven suddenly called to it. The God Loki immediately hid his bloodlust and intent to kill upon seeing the raven that looked at him. The raven then chirped something towards the God Loki which made the latter nod in agreement.

"Can gods talk to animals? I guess that should be a useful ability that you can at least use." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated which made the God Loki glare at it before the latter's face turned to a smile.

"This is one of the messengers of the God Odin that rules over Asgard. At least be respectful to the messenger of the All Father. The God Odin has prepared a way for us to go to the central continent without the use of a merchant ship. Follow me to the center of the forest as our ride is located there." The God Loki stated.

"At least this Odin god or whatever is more useful than you. He seems to also be a good enough leader that can turn you useful. Let us go, Loki. It would be rude to your leader to not arrive on time in the ride that he painstakingly prepared for oneself." The Primordial Beast of Pride stated which made the God Loki smile with a chilling grin.

"Please follow me then." The God Loki stated as he directed the Primordial Beast of Pride to their ride to the central continent.

"I returned as fast as I can and it seems that a major storm hit the observation room." Adrian stated as he arrived back at Avalon as fast as he could as the elders told him to hurry back.

"It is like this because the energy capacity of this world is suddenly getting depleted at an incredibly fast rate. Those large masses of mana that you see in the globe are accumulating so much that an explosion of energy might be imminent. Those mana vacuums are basically sucking all of the mana in the area which led to the world climate being affected." Elder Ascalor stated.

"Avalon seems safe from my eyes and there is no change in climate." Adrian replied as there was no depletion of mana in Avalon upon checking the globe they use for monitoring.

"Avalon is one of the few territories that are not heavily affected because we have the blessing of that huge tree of yours. Still, what do you think will happen if the other parts of the world suddenly became thin with mana? Where do you think the world will pull that mana from?" Elder Ascalor stated which Adrian immediately got on what the former was hinting.

"The world will pull mana from Avalon itself, and my territory will likely show signs of dying." Adrian stated.

"At least you are quick on the uptake. Now, tell me what is happening?! What did those damned devil gods promise you that some of their Devil Prophets were searching for you." Elder Ascalor stated which made Adrian tell him everything about the deal.

"Are you dumb?! You made deals with devils! Devil Gods to make it worse!" Elder Ascalor shouted as he berated Adrian.

"You were praising me for being smart earlier and now you are calling me dumb. How can you switch gears so quickly?" Adrian sarcastically stated.

"Why did you make deals with Devil Gods when you are against Primordial Beasts!? You did not even tell us that you were actively hunting the Primordial Beasts of Sin! Do you not know that they can become a being that is much worse than they are now!" Elder Ascalor stated as he was reprimanding Adrian for being too brash and not thinking of the consequences.

"I would need to kill them anyway so why not benefit from it as well? Also, I know of the Beast of Ogdoad because the Gods of Life and Death have already told me of the Five Calamities that can ruin the world. Also, they cannot become the Beast of Ogdoad anymore. The Primordial Beast of Greed and Gluttony are dead." Adrian replied.

Chapter 2459: Asgard Moves in the Shadows

"I have returned bearing somewhat good news, but I think that irritating beast should be killed." The God Loki stated.

"You did not even leave, brother. You merely sent a clone of yours to the mortal realm. Your real self has always been here in Asgard and lying in your bed. This version of you is a clone as well since you are also being stoic." The God Thor stated as he pointed out that the real Loki is not talking to them.

"Such a party pooper as always. This is the reason why you are no fun." The God Loki stated.

"I have already told the others that you have recruited the Primordial Beast of Pride. Make sure to keep the beast alive just enough for it to destroy the world barrier. We will kill it afterwards when its use is no longer useful for us." The God Odin stated.

"Can I make him my pet before we destroy it? I want to at least have some fun." The God Loki stated.

"I am not doubting our strength but are we sure that we can defeat one that is known member of the Five Calamities?" The God Thor stated.

"You do not need to worry, my son. What we are giving the Primordial Beast of Pride are just parts of the other primordial beasts of sin. It is not devouring the other primordial beast of sin whole which means that it will not become the fully powered Beast of Ogdoad. It will not return to the Beast of Ogdoad that nearly defeated the Twin Gods." The God Odin stated.

"You are losing faith on us, brother. The Beast of Ogdoad only became powerful back then due to it absorbing all of the Sin Energy as they call it. The Primordial Beast of Pride basically told me everything that I needed to know about them. It rambled on and on about its worthless and weak siblings." The God Loki stated.

"I know that we are strong, but we should still be weary and at least put some safety locks before giving it the Infinity Core." The God Thor stated.

"Do not worry brother because the first safety lock against it has been in place. It foolishly signed a deal that is incredibly disadvantageous to it." The God Loki stated.

"I already placed a safety lock on the Infinity Core as well. What we need to do now is to feed a beast that will help us gain access to the mortal realm." The God Odin stated.

"If that is the case then do I have full access to the champions of the other Aesir Gods?" The God Loki asked.

"The other gods did not like it, but they have agreed to your demands. Make sure that all of them will be deployed in the battlefields in the mortal realm. The lives of the other Primordial Beats of Sin will not be long as I also called forth the demigods that I have raised as well." The God Odin stated.

The God Thor and the God Loki were shocked that the God Odin actually has a secret force in the mortal realm. The two gods did not expect that the God Odin has another way to move in the mortal realm as they only know that he observes it. The fact that even the God Odin is moving his secret force meant that this is the last attempt that they will do. This means that the God Odin is extremely positive that they will succeed this time.

"I can finally have my fun on the mortal realm myself and not my clone." The God Loki muttered as the clone vanished to relay the next orders for their forces in the mortal realm.

"I admit that I was hasty in accepting deals with the Devil Gods but that has already happened. Can we now move on and think of a way to kill those four Primordial Beast of Sin? They are overloading the world barrier, and it is also affecting me already. I can feel my energy being depleted faster than ever as a result." Adrian stated.

"We are not finished in discussing this but those four are definitely overloading what our current population has. The only way for the world barrier to be stronger is to either increase our numbers or increase the energy of the world." Elder Ascalor stated as he looked towards Adrian.

"I have no idea where our Creation Relic is as of the moment. Nothing is giving me any trace of it." Adrian replied.

"We let you roam free, but you do not even put that youthful energy in finding our creation relic!" Elder Ascalor shouted in a sarcastic tone.

"I mean... you wasted your youthful energy chasing girls instead of finding it as well. Also, you guys lived longer than me and you cannot find it. What makes you think that I can also find it within a year?" Adrian replied which made Elder Ascalor fume with both anger and embarrassment, but the laughter prevented the latter from retorting.

"He got you there, flirty demon." Elder Koronn stated as he arrived with a loud laugh since he heard what Adrian replied.

"I was not flirty; You cooped up stinky old fart! The women naturally gravitated towards someone dashing and handsome like me! Where do you think the Imps got their good looks from?! Look at the brat! He got his looks from my line quite clearly." Elder Ascalor rebutted.

"How can he get your looks from you when you do not even have a descendant yet? You like to be a bachelor too much that you have no descendants as of the moment. Also, the brat was sculpted by the god. Did you not see that he materialized from pure cosmic energy like our ancestors?!" Elder Koronn stated.

"Settle down, both of you. We have a crisis in our hands and both of you are worrying about looks and descendants. If we do not stop those primordial beasts, then worrying about descendants might not happen because we might get erased." Elder Bronx stated as he appeared.

"How bad is it if we left them unchecked? They are not moving from the territories that they have declared." Adrian asked Elder Bronx.

"The worse that will happen is that the world barrier will strain but there is also a possibility of it breaking should they supersede the power that they have now." Elder Bronx declared which made the other two elders fix their clothing and even fake cough.

"If that is the case then are we going to war?" Adrian asked.

Upon hearing the word 'war', Elder Bronx suddenly smiled with enthusiasm. Out of all the elders of the Daemos, Elder Bronx is the one that is incredibly bored because he usually trains the Daemos Corps. The fact that they are now becoming incredibly active and can destroy things is making him enthusiastic. Elder Bronx is the one elder that likes to go out and have fun the most, but he hides it in the veil of it being his duty to protect the world.

"If you want to call it war then yes, it is. I prefer to call it as maintaining the balance of the world. The western continent gods refused our aid. The southern continent gods are not talking to us which means that we are free to destroy the two that are in the central continent. The other two can soon follow once we defeat what we have on the central continent." Elder Bronx stated.

"Are we attacking the one in the southeastern part of the central continent?" Adrian asked.

"No. We are attacking both at the same time. This time... it is not just us that are moving against the Primordial Beasts of Sin. The Dragons, the Undead, the Selvaggians, and even some kingdoms have agreed to support us. The Primordial Beast of Sin are affecting the world, and it is not just the world barrier." Elder Ascalor chimed in as he already became serious.

Adrian is shocked as almost all of the known and powerful races are rising against the Primordial Beasts of Sin. The fact that all of them agreed in working together meant that they must know what devastation the Primordial Beasts of Sin can do if left alone. All of them are actually actively participating when most of them are happy in their little corner.

Adrian gulped as he knew that all of these powerful races and kingdoms coming together meant those Primordial Beast of Sin have that kind of power to threaten all of them. All of the players often praise the demons for having power over time and space, but Adrian knows that they are not infallible. The Daemos do not have the quantity to deal with numerous threats, and they also need to have half of their fighting force in defensive duty.

"If only those distorted gods could simmer down in trying to penetrate this world, then we could use all the power of the Daemos." Adrian thought.

Chapter 2460: World Alliance

The world itself has expanded but the number of threats that could affect it has also expanded as well. The number of Daemos did not increase at all which makes the demons struggle to observe and protect. Some of the Daemos are even in the mindset of no longer being the overseers of the world as they could feel that their efforts are also wasted. Some of them just basically wanted to protect Avalon as they already treat it as their sanctuary.

Adrian wanted to also stop the sentiments but the power of the Daemos is tied to the world barrier as well. Should the world barrier truly be destroyed, the Daemos will finally be freed from their sealed powers and become stronger than ever. The only downside of having that boost in power is the fact that foreign attacks will finally reach the world.

The logic would now become a bit different if the Daemos truly cared less for their duty. If they only cared about their current territory and let the world barrier fall, the Daemos will gain back their freedom, but the world will become less secure. The gods that are fence sitting and not attacking the Daemos for their duty might become hostile to them as well. The only reason why some gods that could descend not attacking the Daemos is due to their ties to the world barrier.

Adrian was already told the rundown of what the initial convenes of what they call as the World Alliance. Representative from major kingdoms and races were all given a communication stone by the Daemos. All of them were connected and informed of what was truly happening with the world as the Primordial Beasts of Sin are released. Elder Koronn was the one that spearheaded that conversation earlier and informed all of them the truth of the matter without hiding anything.

People would call it World Alliance, but the eastern continent and western continent barely had any representatives due to the fact that most did not accept the communication stone. In the western continent, only the proud race of the Sphinx accepted the stone as their territory is a bit close to where the Primordial Beast of Wrath claimed as territory. In the eastern continent, only the Vermillion Bird and the Black Tortoise accepted them and joined in the conversation despite not having any primordial beast of sin in their continent.

Needless to say, there are still some beings belonging to all the continents in the meeting which is why they are dubbed as the World Alliance. Elder Koronn told all of them what is happening and going on with the Primordial Beasts of Sin. Some of the kingdoms and races that are near the claimed territories of the Primordial Beasts of Sin also spoke up. This is when all of those in the World Alliance learned that the Primordial Beasts of Sin are basically terraforming the land.

Some of the kingdoms and races were unbothered at first but Elder Koronn showed them the initial size of the territories that were already taken over. From the initial size of the claimed territory, the actual land mass that the Primordial Beasts of Sin were small, but a day passed, and it already doubled in size. Elder Koronn then made a prediction via the way the territories were slowly increasing, and he believed that the continents will be taken over in four or five months.

Elder Koronn also pointed out that his calculations might be shorter but there might only be a two- or three-month difference in actuality. Some have raised concerns and fear mongering towards Elder Koronn's claims until those that live near the claimed territories spoke up. They have seen that the territories claimed by the Primordial Beasts of Sin have truly increased compared to their initial states.

"It is not just the increase in size that we should be worried about because monster stampedes have occurred in all areas around them. Nothing is safe from them as even monsters are running away and fleeing from their natural habitats. We have already gotten reports of several small frontier towns and cities being destroyed. The best aid that we had done to them was to teleport all the residents to their respective capitals." Elder Koronn stated as they have dispatched the Daemos Corps for extraction operations of all known initial areas affected.

"Of course, our race is not omnipotent so you can say that there are some areas that we were a bit too late in saving. This is true for those that are in Ground Zero where the Primordial Beasts of Sin chose to settle." Elder Koronn added to which many races and kingdoms that were affected have unanimously agreed.

The ones that backed up Elder Koronn's claim were not just other races but there are even those considered as part of the human race as well. With a vast variety of what you call witnesses having come forth, the ones that were sowing discontent have been silenced. The news that Elder Koronn has given is too much to digest which is why he gave all of those with communication stones the ability to connect to the Observation Tower of the Daemos.

When the other races and rulers were suddenly informed that the Daemos were observing them this entire time with powerful observation magic, a lot of voices showed dissatisfaction. This is true for the kingdoms that have been increasing the might of their militaries as this meant that the Daemos knew what was happening in all kingdoms. The voices of dissatisfaction only simmered down when an ancient dragon suddenly voiced their opinion.

"If the Daemos truly wanted to rule the world itself then they would have already done so but they do not. They are the sworn protectors of this world which has been true even before all of your ancestors were born. They do not care for trivial things such as kingdoms and territories because they will outlive all of them.

If even us, the True Dragons, do not want your kingdoms and territories as we care less of you lesser beings then what do you think of the Daemos that basically live forever. All of you should be grateful that they would even share this valuable information amongst us or else your precious territories will become nothing in the end." The Ancient Dragon Indrajala stated which silenced all the voices that were angry at the Daemos.

"It seems that most of you have already heightened emotions. I thank the Ancient Dragon Indrajala for their wise intervention on cooling down the heated atmosphere. I implore all of you to have your best advisors at hand and we will resume the discussions. If you want, you can bring your envoys directly to Avalon as we can send you a one-way teleportation scroll that can carry up to five people to verify our observation results." Elder Koronn stated as he stepped away after giving a respectful nod to the Ancient Dragon Indrajala.

"Well, it is in the nature of humans to always be wary because they cannot feel it. They cannot feel the ever-looming threat that is making my skin crawl. The human race and other races as well have basically sacrificed their powerful instincts for the power of adaptation." Adrian stated as he ate the cookie that was given on a tray.

"They do not have a favorable impression of us as of now which is why I need you to head the next meeting." Elder Koronn stated as he actually came looking for Adrian.

"Why am I suddenly pulled into this?" Adrian asked.

"The humans already know of you and the fact that you are the Champion of the Twin Gods. If you have your friend that is the Envoy of the Twin Gods, then it might become faster to convince them." Elder Koronn stated.

"Ok then." Adrian readily agreed which shocked not only Elder Koronn but also Elder Ascalor and Elder Bronx.

"That was faster than I expected. I thought you would have thrown a tantrum or something to make sure that you do not speak up." Elder Koronn stated.

"I mean... we no longer have time to dilly dally as those Primordial Beasts of Sin get stronger as time goes by. If my assistance is helpful in making the world a better place, then I should volunteer." Adrian replied.

Elder Koronn was satisfied that Adrian accepted readily and without any fuss. Still, there was this foreboding feeling that he is feeling that something was not right. He then choked this feeling to the large presence the two Primordial Beasts of Sin in the central continent as he is very sensitive to their energies with the world barrier being pushed to the limit. His instincts were actually telling him of the mouth that Adrian has though as the next words the latter used almost made him faint.

"Those that do not want to die and have their kingdoms overrun by monsters will need to raise their hands." Adrian bluntly stated.
