

O Summoner 2471

Chapter 2471: Power of the Demons I

"Amazing!" The Grand Mages and even the elves are shocked of what happened.

The Faekin performed a ritual that involved singing and dancing, but they were able to change the very landscape itself. The power that one needs to do something like that is not easy to comprehend. They even did this with only a few members of their race. Granted that they were all powerful members of their race, the power to change topography is not something to scoff at.

"We have been able to clear most of the path. The problem is that not all of the land is responsive because it is more difficult to restore the land near the Primordial Beast of Sloth. Also, I should warn you that a horde of beasts are now charging towards us.

They are beasts that seemed to have mutated in response to the power of the Primordial Beast of Sloth. We shall remain here and maintain the power flowing in the ritual but that also means that we cannot fight." Elder Danaya stated.

"What you have done is enough, Elder Danaya. Leave the fight to the beings that can bring the destruction." Adrian stated as the loud roars of monsters reverberated throughout the area.

It is not just the territory of the Primordial Beast of Sloth that has a monster horde as the territory of the Primordial Beast of Envy has the same thing. The only differences between the two territories are the way the monsters mutated. The monsters in each of the areas that did not die from pressure released by the Primordial Beasts of Sin have mutated. They took on the properties of the energy that the Primordial Beasts of Sin released.

The monsters in the territory of the Primordial Beast of Sloth have started to gain features of a snail or a turtle. Some monsters would have their entire body turn slimy while some would develop hard shells that protected them from attacks. This is due to the fact that the Primordial Beast of Sloth in its true form is a large snail and turtle hybrid.

The monsters in the territory of the Primordial Beast of Envy have started to gain the features of a snake. The true form of the Primordial Beast of Envy is that of a snake with three heads and tails. The monsters that mutated have gained elongated bodies, venom, and even fangs that can retract. The monsters also turned more aggressive than before due to the Sin Energy of Envy.

All of these powerful mutated monsters charged towards the world alliance as a vast part of their new homes have been suddenly changed. The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not command the monsters to destroy them but all monsters under it become very irritable when not given enough sleep. All of the mutated monsters raged as their rest was destroyed by the beings that disturbed the land.

The mutated monsters on the end of the Primordial Beast of Envy were all commanded by the primordial beast itself. The Primordial Beast of Envy commanded all of the mutated monsters to destroy the beings that tried to steal its land. The Primordial Beast of Envy wanted to charge forward but the Primordial Beast of Sloth sent a warning to it which prompted the former to absorb more Sin Energy to prepare for battle.

The Primordial Beast of Envy commanded all of the mutated beast in its domain to sacrifice themselves for it. The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not want any other monster in its territory anyway as it was already claimed by it. It could not be bothered to drive them away earlier, but it is now glad that there is a useful way to get rid of them.

The monster horde that charged before them was about a hundred times the size of the world alliance. All of the generals commanded all of the warriors to be ready. Even the guild leaders also told their guild members to prepare for the incoming wave. The tension is high as the monsters that charged towards them were not weak in any sense.

"Let us do it, brat!" Elder Koronn stated as he looked incredibly excited.

"Fine but do not go overboard. We might hit our allies. Make sure that no one gets near the battlefield first." Adrian stated as he told Levin Cloud that the four Arch Demons will be the ones making their moves.

Elder Koronn and Adrian flew towards their horde and Elder Ascalor and Elder Bronx also did the same. All four of them changed to their true forms while Adrian used his Netheros form as it deals more damage. The world alliance members were a bit out of the loop as this was not discussed before, but they did not cause a fuss as it was the Daemos that presented to strike first. All the world alliance members could do is prepare for the battle.

"Vortex!" Adrian and Elder Ascalor both casted the same spell at the same time.

Adrian's star manifested onto his palm, but he did not snap his fingers to make it explode. Elder Koronn then proceeded to skillfully grab the small star and infuse it with a powerful temporal spell that Adrian himself did not even know. The star that was small suddenly grew bigger than it was before.

The small star became five times bigger than the original but that was not the end as it also turned darker in color. Elder Koronn smiled as he took the star and vanished from his location. Elder Koronn appeared in the midst of the monster horde and then vanished again, but he left the enlarged star. As soon as the star arrived at the location, Adrian did not snap his fingers but actually closed his fists.

"Galactic Vortex!" Adrian stated as the star exploded upon the closure of his fist.

The explosion of the star was instant, and it created a piercing noise that would hurt one's ear. The explosion was so large that it decimated the area and reduced the monsters by half. It was not the end though as a powerful black hole was created as soon as the explosion ended. Almost all of the monsters on Adrian's side were caught up inside of it.

Chapter 2472: Power of the Demons II

The powerful explosion not only propelled all of the mutated monsters outwards from the center but it also sucked them right back in when the large black manifested. The mutated monsters tried to escape but the powerful suction of the black hole pulled them inside. About a quarter of the initial monster horde was left and is in full disarray but Adrian was not happy with the results.

"It is not enough to catch all of the monsters on our side. Let us recreate it once again. Vortex!" Adrian stated as another star manifested on his hand.

"I told you that we needed two of them. Let me help you once more by also grouping the ones that are left." Elder Koronn stated.

Elder Koronn then enchanted the small star with another spell, but this one was different compared to the other one. The enchantment did not change the color of the small star but added an effect on it. The small star was placed on top of the larger black hole as both of them should not stick together or there would be a collapse.

"Start the show." Adrian stated as he snapped his fingers, and the small star exploded in the sky.

As soon as the star exploded and turned into another black hole, the remaining mutated monsters suddenly stopped moving. The mutated monsters had their very own time stopped as a result of mana wave that the star released when it exploded. This was the enchantment that Elder Koronn added in order to clean up the remaining monster horde.

The mutated monsters froze but chains suddenly came out of the black hole that pulled in all of the frozen enemies. The black hole devoured those that were tagged by the magic enchantment used by Elder Koronn. Some of the frozen monsters were unable to run away and was sucked inside of the initial black hole that was larger. In the end, if the larger black hole did not get you then the smaller one will definitely suck you in.

This display of magic is the peak of refinement and finesse as both Adrian and Elder Koronn showed what great magic control can do. The eyes of the grand mages were glistening as they watched the perfect execution of magic with their very eyes. Some were even drooling as they wanted to test out numerous magic circles that they have created just by gaining inspiration from the two.

"Wahahah!" The loud shout of Elder Bronx echoed which made Adrian and Elder Koronn look towards their side on how the other two were doing.

Elder Ascalor looked like he aged a bit because his partner suddenly became a trigger-happy demon. Unlike Adrian and Elder Koronn's performance of great magic control, the other two basically did the pure destruction route. Elder Ascalor needed to maintain some of his mana which is why he intended to have Elder Bronx to only make the suction force of the numerous black holes that he will create.

What Elder Ascalor did not think is that Elder Bronx would take matters into his own hands in the literal sense. As soon as the small star was created by Elder Ascalor, Elder Bronx would then proceed to grab the small stars and infuse it with pure force. The small star suddenly looked like it was in the brink of exploding when it was injected with force energy. The only reason that these small stars did not explode is due to the perfect handling of Elder Bronx.

"No one should go there now because a star is going to shoot!" Elder Bronx shouted as he threw the small stars like a baseball.

The small star zoomed across the sky until it hit one of the mutated monsters on their end. The mutated monster that was initially hit exploded into meat chunks as the force in that hit was incredible. A second after the mutated monster exploded into meat chunks, the small star finally cracked and exploded and released a shockwave that damaged all monsters in the area.

When the shockwave subsided, the black hole manifested and sucked in all of the injured monsters.

The black hole was not as big as what Adrian and Elder Koronn had made as it only absorbed about 5% of the monster horde. Elder Bronx did not care though as Elder Ascalor could create ten of these small stars in under ten seconds. The created small stars suffered the same treatment under the hands of Elder Bronx as they basically created Black Hole Bombs.

"Why is he suddenly acting like that?" Adrian asked.

"I think he is slightly affected by the aura of that primordial beast. Bronx is the most sensitive amongst us when it comes to emotions after all. He may look like a stone faced and cold demon, but he easily cries. He might be affected by the aura of envy which released his childish side as he often sees the two of us doing it but not him. Maybe he repressed his emotions of being the mature one which is why it exploded now." Elder Koronn stated.

"Should we cleanse him of the effects then?" Adrian asked.

"There is no need as they are destroying the horde anyways. Let the grown demon have his fun as he always had to be stiff and mature." Elder Koronn stated.

"I would have wanted that as well, but we might not be escaping the allegations because of him." Adrian stated.

"Allegations? What sort of allegations?" Elder Koronn exclaimed with a face full of wonder of what Adrian was talking about.

"The allegations that we are beings of pure destruction and unbridled rage." Adrian replied as the landscape on the other side could no longer be described as a landscape. The other side now looked like a war-torn land that had a thousand-year war or something due to the fact that nothing is now living.

"The faces of those that are watching in pure horror is also not aiding our cause to clean our image." Adrian stated as the warriors from the other side looked like they pitied the mutated monsters.

Chapter 2473: That is the Primordial Beast

The monster horde that numbered in millions was easily cleaned up by the four Arch Demons. The players and even the NPCs basically enjoyed the shower of experience points without doing anything. Still, the erasure of the monster hordes also came at a cost as the four Arch Demons are now incredibly low on mana. They still have their sealed mana due to the spell that connects the areas together, but they did not think it was a waste as they saved on precious manpower.

"As expected of the demons, they are incredibly powerful." One of the generals commented which the others could only agree on as it is true.

"This is where both our groups would need to split up as it is now time to handle the Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy." Adrian stated.

"That is fine. We shall let the Greater Demons handle the portals so that we will have an escape route just in case. We can now move forward as the monsters should have been mostly cleared. Our enemy is none other than that large thing up ahead." Elder Ascalor stated as he pointed to a large mountain which made the others thought that he was mistaken.

"Uhhh... Elder Ascalor... that is a mountain not the Primordial Beast of Envy." Anastacia stated as the others were afraid to point it out as they did not want to suddenly end up in another dimension if they displease an Arch Demon.

"He is correct. Let us show you then. Do you want us to combine the spells?" Elder Bronx stated as his childish side finally let out as he already blew off steam.

"Uhhh... Equinox. A little help on our end. They are saying that the Primordial Beast of Envy is the mountain up ahead." Anastacia asked Equinox via the player chat.

"That is the Primordial Beast of Envy. We also have the same case as the large hill we see on our side is actually the Primordial Beast of Sloth." Adrian replied.

Adrian looked at the large hill that is about five kilometers away from their current location. It looked like a hill as the top part was rounded out and not pointy like the one on Anastacia's side. Adrian also told them that their enemy is none other than the hill they are seeing but no one actually believed him as well.

"Those are not a mountain and a hill. Those are the Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy hiding in plain sight. There was never a registered hill and mountain on these territories in the first place. They were hiding while making use of their large bodies which is why it took us quite some time to see their real location. The Watchers had to visit days of footage just to be sure that those are the primordial beasts." Adrian stated but there were still some people that are a bit skeptical.

"Grand Mage Units will be up next for this. Use the Mythical Tier Spell Grand Meteor Shower." Adrian stated as he already spoke to the grand mages before hand as they have been asked to start the battle with a bang.

"Finally! I can test my strength!" The Grand Mages shouted in joy as they can finally see how powerful they have become when they entered the Magic Emperor state.

The Grand Mages did not number to much, but they are twenty in number. Although small in number, one grand mage is equivalent to a hundred mages. The mastery of spell craft that grand mages wield is not something that an ordinary mage could ever dream to do in under ten years. One needs to be decades long in magic practice and spell craft in order to gain the title of Grand Mage.

"Peridot, a bit of support for their spells if you can please." Adrian stated to which Peridot nodded as she destroyed a clear magic crystal.

[Peridot has used the support spell Grand Magic Penetration.]

[All magical attacks and spells that will be used next will have 80% Magic Defense penetration.]

Peridot was well prepared for this one, but she is not the only one that buffed the mages. Without Adrian's prompt, the players used their buffs on the Grand Mages to enhance their spells. Some increased the critical strike chance and others the magic damage became amplified. The numerous buffs that the grand mages received is so powerful that they laughed out loud as they knew that this was the most powerful spell they can release.

"Still no reaction from them?" Adrian muttered as he looked at both the mountain and the hill they are targeting.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy were not showing themselves even though their real positions have already been compromised. Adrian did not mind it though as he knew that these spells would hurt them a lot. The primordial beasts might think that certain spells made by people weaker than them will not do them harm. It seems they might have absolute confidence in their real bodies.

"If they are confident then I guess the grand mages also needs a boost from my side." Adrian muttered as he enchanted all of the grand mages with all of the nether energy he has collected.

The Grand Mages floated in the air and casted their spells in unison as all of them finished at the same time. Ten large magic circles appeared on top of the hill and another ten on top of the mountain. The magic circles were not ordinary as well because Adrian enchanted them with his own nether energy.

The others watched as they thought the grand mages were wasting their mana on destroying a mountain and a hill, but they are surprised when those two suddenly shook. The mountain and hill shook but they were too late as the rain of large meteors that are enchanted with nether energy has already started.

Chapter 2474: Not Really Future Visions

The Primordial Beast of Sloth was readily wasting time and lazing about as all the mutated monsters around it have already charged towards the ones that dared to come to its territory. The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not even care about the beings that came into its territory as it already knew the future. The only problem is that the future is not as solid as the Primordial Beast of Sloth thinks.

Even for the Daemos, the literal demons that could manipulate time, the future is never set in stone. Various factors could change it such as the appearance of beings that do not have a predestined path in life like the blessed ones or players. The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not know that it took a glimpse of a future where players did not even bother to go against it.

The ability to get glimpses or fragments of the future is a result of the mind of the Primordial Beast of Sloth's slipping away into the dreamscape. The dreamscape is a special place in between the waking world and the dreaming world. It is like the limbo between the two and sometimes visions of what is to come or what has happened will enter those that enter this place when they are sleeping.

The visions of the future that the Primordial Beast of Sloth glimpsed are nothing more than visions from the dreams of the primordial beasts of sin. What the Primordial Beast of Sloth know as future visions are merely dream fragments. This ability came to be as the Primordial Beast of Sloth was the one amongst them that tend to use vessels even back then.

Primordial Beasts do not need to sleep as they get energy from the world itself. The Primordial Beast of Sloth always created a human vessel for itself, and this human vessel awakened the ability to enter the special dreamscape. The visions of a glorious future became clearer because all the Primordial Beasts of Sin had human vessels. Even if they deny it, the human vessels have influenced the Primordial Beasts of Sin to a great degree.

The Primordial Beasts of Sin has gained the ability to sleep and dream which amplified the special dreamscape. The God of Dreams always said that dreams are visions of what you want to achieve, and all of the Primordial Beasts of Sin want to achieve total freedom and ultimate power. This led to the Primordial Beast of Sloth getting visions of all Primordial Beasts of Sin becoming the most powerful in the world.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not know this though as it always viewed its ability to actually be something akin to future sight, but that kind of gift always comes at a cost. Peering into the future is not something that one can use just by sleeping. Future Sight is an ability that drains the life force of anyone that uses it knowingly and it takes a heavier toll even for primordial beasts.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth believed that these trespassers would die from the beast horde as it saw a vision of it becoming the ruler of the world. The Primordial Beast of Sloth wanted to believe such a thing, but it suddenly felt all of the mutated monsters in its vicinity vanish without a trace. The Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly felt the presence of two powerful demons but the thing that truly made it active are the powerful mana signatures that appeared in the sky.

"Sloth! I thought you said that we do not need to mind them! All of my minions were killed! What is that blood curdling energy!" The Primordial Beast of Envy stated via their connection.

The train of thought of the Primordial Beast of Envy was replaced with unease as it also felt the presence of numerous mana signatures coming from the sky. Not only that but also the fact that each of them has this eerie energy signature that tells their instincts to run away as far as possible. The two primordial beasts had no choice but to come out of their hiding spots as they can no longer absorb Sin Energy as they pleased because they are being attacked.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth emerged slowly as it finally revealed itself to be the extremely large hill or round mountain if that is what others prefer. The Primordial Beast of Sloth is a monster that is a turtle with the shell of a snail. This is the Sleepy Mode form of the Primordial Beast of Sloth.

The Primordial Beast of Envy on the other hand also appeared and the entire mountain that Elder Ascalor pointed to finally moved as well. When the mountain moved, the visage of a large three headed and three tailed snake finally came into view. The sheer size of the Primordial Beast of Envy made some of those that are afraid of snakes suddenly faint.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy might have awakened but they were already too late in reacting. Numerous meteors were already summoned by the twenty Grand Mages. Each of these meteors were enchanted to the maximum extent possible and also with nether energy. An energy that even the gods themselves fear as it could be used to erase their very existence.

"Just to make sure." Adrian stated and he also signaled to the other Daemos Elders and the Greater Demons that are around to support them.

"Gravity!" All four Arch Demons with the aide of the greater demons increased the gravity affecting the Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy.

The two primordial beasts could not move as their bodies suddenly sunk deeper onto the ground while a powerful force is pressing above them. To make matters even worse for the Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy, the increased gravity actually accelerated the meteors raining down on them. It did not take long for both the Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy to be showered by meteors.

Chapter 2475: Angered Sloth and Envy I

The Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy could not stop the attacks that came at them due to the interference of the demons. The meteors that they could have blasted with powerful bursts of energy have hit all of their bodies without fail. The Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy groaned in pain as their bodies were pierced by some of the meteors.

Some of the meteors held different effects as some burned them, others were sharper than others, and the most painful ones were the meteors burning in nether flames. As soon as their bodies got hit by the nether flame enchanted meteors, the Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy screamed as they felt the damage directly into their very souls.

[The Primordial Beast of Sloth has been seriously injured.]

[The Primordial Beast of Envy has been seriously injured.]

Numerous system notifications flooded the eyes of the players as the meteors casted by the grand mages have yet to stop. The grand mages actually used up 90% of their mana in order to cast the Grand Meteor Shower spell and it will continue to create meteors as long as mana is supplied. One could see a grand mage shouting at her apprentice to bring the mana potion so that she could chug it while casting the spell.

The unhinged laughter of the Grand Mages could be heard as they released a Mythical Tier spell as if they were just breathing air. The mana around them felt incredibly easy to manipulate as they have achieved the state of a Magic Emperor temporarily. The Grand Mages only stopped their casting when they felt their bodies become sore as their magic circuits became overused. They had too much fun to the point that they forgot to limit themselves.

In the end, all the Grand Mages were knocked out cold while some were nauseous. The meteors also stopped raining down on the Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy. A large smoky aftermath is the only thing that the players could see as the grand mages really did a number on the area.

"INSOLENT!" The Primordial Beast of Envy shouted as its large body appeared from the smoke.

"YOU DARE RUIN MY SLEEP!" The Primordial Beast of Sloth shouted as it also appeared angered as its body's silhouette could be seen from the smoke.

==

Monster Name: Primordial Beast of Sloth

Monster Tier: Transcendent

Monster Species: Primordial Beast of Sin

Monster Race: Primordial Beast

Health: 66%

Mana: 91.2%

Description: A primordial beast that was created when a powerful beast split apart. This primordial beast is the one that rules over sloth. It is incredibly lazy and would always be asleep when one sees it. Still, the Primordial Beast of Sloth is not the primordial beast that one should anger as it has another side to it that is full of rage.

It is said that the Primordial Beast of Sloth is the only primordial beast among the Primordial Beasts of Sin that has the ability to transform. It often hides its other form as it consumes large amounts of energy and stamina. If the Primordial Beast of Sloth uses its other form, then it is said that nothing will be left in the area as it will destroy everything around it.

==

Monster Name: Primordial Beast of Envy

Monster Tier: Transcendent

Monster Species: Primordial Beast of Sin

Monster Race: Primordial Beast

Health: 61%

Mana: 91.2%

Description: A primordial beast that was created when a powerful beast split apart. This primordial beast is the one that rules over envy. The Primordial Beast of Envy is said to be the one that you should watch out the most amongst the Primordial Beasts of Sin. This primordial beast is a being that will always takes back its word as soon as it feels it is inferior to you.

It has the body of a three headed and three tailed green snakes. It is said that each of the heads are sentient and have minds of their own. This also leads to the fact that the three heads would often argue on who is the better one even though they all have same body. If the three heads actually agree then that means that the Primordial Beast of Envy is determined to see it through and will use all of its power to make it so.

==

The Primordial Beast of Envy and the Primordial Beast of Sloth were all battered up as most of their bodies are torn apart by the meteor shower. The Primordial Beast of Envy could be seen to have cuts and also a missing tail. The Primordial Beast of Sloth is bleeding all over and the snail shell on its back has some holes and cracks.

The damage that the Primordial Beast of Envy and the Primordial Beast of Sloth actually raised the morale of all the beings that joined in this effort as they could not believe that small number of Grand Mages could do that much. Then again, one grand mage is equivalent to a hundred mages, but all of those grand mages have attained Magic Emperor status.

A Magic Emperor is equivalent to ten Grand Mages in comparison which meant that the spell used is like twenty thousand mages casted the spell. The sheer power behind those spells is not something that can be easily replicated. Mages are not one to easily cast group spells as spell casting those kinds of spells would take years to perfectly master.

[The Primordial Beast of Envy has entered its angered state.]

[The Primordial Beast of Envy will deal 10% more damage.]

[The effect of Envy is Me has started to intensify further.]

[The Primordial Beast of Sloth has entered its angered state.]

[All damage it receives will be reduced by 10% as it is in its Drowsy Mode.]

[The Effects of Lazy Wonderland has started to intensify further.]

"Here they come." Adrian stated as all of the demons nodded and started the operation.

Chapter 2477: Angered Sloth and Envy III

The players were not the only ones that are actually doing something because the clergy have already decided. The number of priests that came to the battlefield are not many, but their combined divine energy could be used to summon two gods. For this, all of the clergy people already decided and voted in advance on the two gods that they will summon.

"Honos et Virtus! Gloria Exercitus! We call upon the Goddess of War!" The priests on Adrian's side of the battlefield chanted as they called upon a goddess of war.

"Honos et Virtus! Gloria Exercitus! We call upon the God of War!" The priests on Mariposa's side of the battlefield chanted as they called upon a god of war.

"For honor!" A powerful female Chief Priest from the Church of War stood up as she would be the vessel upon their goddess will descend.

"For valor!" A powerful male Chief Priest from the Church of War raised his hand up as he was the chosen vessel for the god of war that will descend.

The two chief priests rejoiced as their bodies will become vessels for their beloved god and goddess. Having possession of a mortal body would be better than creating a temporary body or descending entirely as that requires lots of energy. Also, the gods and goddesses of war have some sort of condition that they must feel the heat and intensity of battle in a mortal's flesh or else they will not descend.

The skies above suddenly turned golden as the prayers of the combined clergy of all the churches have been answered. A golden pillar of light suddenly engulfed the chief priests from the Church of War. The powerful golden light even made the two primordial beasts squint as the intense divine energy swept across the battlefield.

[The Goddess of War Bellona has answered the call of her believers.]

[The God of War Mars, the alter side of the God Ares, has answered the call of his believers.]

[A god of war has descended onto the battlefield.]

[All stats will increase by 10% to those that are deemed enemies by the gods of war.]

[All damage dealt to enemies will increase by 20% as long as they deal it within a minute of the gods of war doing damage to them.]

[All allies will be given a permanent 20% critical strike chance while the gods of war are in battle.]

The Goddess of War Bellona and the God of War Mars have descended onto the battlefield. The Goddess of War Bellona is fully armored in a moderately heavy armor that is adorned with golden laurels. The God of War Mars is fully armored in a full heavy armor that is adorned with golden wolves.

The clergy decided to summon the two God Leaders of the Gods of War. They summoned the Goddess of War Bellona as her presence in the battle ignites passion and bravery. They summoned the God of War Mars to create an imposing presence in the battlefield and create an atmosphere of camaraderie.

One may think that the God of War Mars is similar to the God of War Ares and the answer is that they are the same god. The only difference is that the God of War Mars is the side of the God of War Ares that is combat focused and militaristic. The God of War Ares is more destructive and impetuous that he might endanger allies in his search for the thrill of battle.

Some gods have other forms or sides that can be summoned as long as the mortals know of it and the God of War Mars is one of the other forms of the God of War Ares. The more prudent and virtuous form of the God of War Ares as the clergy did not want the entire area to become a bloodbath. The God of War Ares will definitely turn everything into a scene from hell if he is unleashed to fight against a primordial beast.

"No need for pleasantries! Onwards to victory!" The Goddess of War Bellona shouted as the Priests of War took off their robes to reveal the armors that they are wearing.

"To me my warriors! Fight for the future of this world!" The God of War Mars shouted as he raised his spear high and his priests also rushed to the battlefield with him.

The Goddess of War Bellona and the God of War Mars were not normal as they definitely stand out even amongst the crowd. The two gods stood at a height of three meters which is larger than a normal human which is why they stand out in the crowd. Also, the two gods brandished their weapons fiercely as they charged with their priests towards their respective enemies.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy definitely noticed their presence as the feeling of danger from the two gods are out of this world. The Primordial Beast of Sloth and Primordial Beast of Envy aimed their attacks at the two gods respectively, but the gods are not the only problem. Large portals suddenly appeared next to the two primordial beasts and from it powerful elemental attacks that directly came from the mouths of dragons.

Six large dragons and other medium sized ones came out of the portals with their dragon breaths aimed at the two primordial beasts. The dragons finally entered the battle as well and released their full might against the Primordial Beast of Sloth and the Primordial Beast of Envy. The dragons held aerial supremacy but that is not all as there were high elven archers on their backs.

The proud dragon race that would not let anyone ride on their backs are suddenly letting high elves release their elemental arrows on them. This is all due to the fact that the demons requested help from the dragons and also Basil played a role in mediating with them. Anything dragon related is easy to get once you have the mother of dragons on your side. Also, Adrian promised to fulfill one request from the dragons.

Chapter 2478: Against Sloth I

The Goddess of War Bellona led the charge towards the Primordial Beast of Sloth. The Primordial Beast of Sloth is not a primordial beast that could be said to be very active even when it is attacking. This led to the army to think that the Primordial Beast of Sloth is severely weakened and will not retaliate as much.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth is literally a large sponge for damage as all it did was stand there and endure the attacks. It would try to attack via an energy bomb ten minutes or so, but the movement of the Primordial Beast of Sloth is slow enough that most of the people have already time to evade. The large health pool of the Primordial Beast of Sloth started to slowly drop down as the number of people attacking it has increased.

The Primordial Beast of Sloth did not even care to do any type of evasion anymore as it just started to use an attack that is not familiar with anyone present. The shell of the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly glowed as each attack that hit it would make it shine. At first, the warriors thought that it was merely the Primordial Beast of Sloth using mana as a way to blind its attackers as the light is intense. What they did not know is that the actual skill is more terrifying than that.

The health of the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly dropped to 60% and the light from its shell suddenly went from light blue to dark blue. The shell that the others thought was a means of distraction or protection suddenly exploded with a powerful energy wave. All the beings that were near the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly got sent flying away as the impact was greater than the actual damage.

All the beings that were near the Primordial Beast of Sloth at that time were sent flying by at least fifty meters away. Those hit by the energy is also damaged by half of their maximum health as a baseline if you are closer to the Primordial Beast of Sloth. The farther ones but were still caught in the radius of the explosion were all dealt at least 20% of their maximum health as damage.

This is not the end as the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly roared as it was triumphant in swatting away the initial flies that dared to attack its body. The shell of the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly glowed light blue once again but this is different from before. A manifestation of all the damage dealt by the Primordial Beast of Sloth also returned back to it as health regeneration.

[The Primordial Beast of Sloth has activated its passive skill Born Lazy.]

[About 50% of the total damage it deals will be slowly recovered by it as health.]

[This effect cannot overlap, and the first health recovered must be completely finished before another one is initiated.]

The large health bar of the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly started to move but not in a downward trend that everybody wants. The health bar of the Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly started to increase by small increments. The only good thing about this is the fact that all the health recovered by the Primordial Beast of Sloth cannot overlap. This means that the Primordial Beast of Sloth will not have an infinite health regeneration glitch.

"The gates! They are starting to become unstable!" One of the greater demons stated as the gates really did become quite unstable because of the powerful release of energy from the Primordial Beast of Sloth.

It is not just the Primordial Beast of Sloth that released a powerful blast of energy as the Primordial Beast of Envy also did the same. Adrian peeked at the other side and that side was incredibly filled with poisonous mist. One could say that the filtering enchantment of the portals still works as the poison mist is only contained on the other side.

"The dimension has become unstable. There is some interference from something. I need to fix it before it creates large rifts in this area. Can you handle the enemy for at least an hour?" Elder Ascalor asked.

"Go for now, elder. The stability of the gates is what will determine if we will truly live."
Adrian replied as Elder Ascalor nodded.

Elder Ascalor entered the area between dimensions as the anomaly came from that side. Adrian is left by himself, but he is fine because he already summoned his soulbounds to help him. He unleashed Sirius, Kanlaon, and Kenos for now. They needed more damage dealers, and he needed Kenos for the assistance. Adrian might have visibility of the battlefield but that does not mean he can save everyone in a timely manner.

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth is strengthened due to its massive loss in health.]

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth has started to affect you.]

[Your reaction speed has dropped by 1%.]

[Your movement speed has dropped by 1%.]

"It has started." Adrian thought as this is one of the unfortunate situations that they have thought of.

They might initially be immune to the effects of the auras of the primordial beasts, but prolonged exposure would definitely break down their defenses. The auras of the Primordial Beasts of Sin are not ordinary as they even bypassed Adrian's resistances to negative status ailments. The only way that one can truly be immune to the auras of the primordial beasts of sin is to be built different.

"Clergy unit! Start the Casting of Wide Cleanse every ten minutes." Adrian commanded as this was the way to counteract the effects of a status ailment that can bypass resistances.

"Let the world be cleansed from impurities! Wide Cleanse!" All of the members of the clergy unit chanted as they were able to clear the effects of the status ailment. With Levin Cloud leading that unit in this area then they will have no problem getting continuous heals and purifications.

[All of your status abnormalities have been cleansed.]

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth is strengthened due to its massive loss in health.]

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth has started to affect you.]

[Your reaction speed has dropped by 1%.]

[Your movement speed has dropped by 1%.]

"Tch! So, it can return at an instant." Adrian muttered as the negative status abnormalities actually returned. In under ten minutes, the negative status ailments that they get from the aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth alone has entered the 15% range. He did not freak out though as the clergy unit used Wide Cleanse again and the entire status abnormalities have been purified again.

[All of your status abnormalities have been cleansed.]

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth is strengthened due to its massive loss in health.]

[The aura of the Primordial Beast of Sloth has started to affect you.]

[Your reaction speed has dropped by 1%.]

"I see. If the negative status abnormalities get cleansed, then it will return back to the starting stack. The problem is that doing this every ten minutes is inefficient. The Primordial Beast of Sloth would definitely notice that we become slower as the fight drags on." Adrian muttered to himself as he suddenly felt an imposing presence just next to him.

"I also agree with that." The voice of the Goddess of War Bellona stated as she appeared next to Adrian.

"How did you? Huh? I clearly sensed you there earlier." Adrian stated as the Goddess of War Bellona was definitely in the frontlines and bashing her large mace onto the shell of the Primordial Beast of Sloth.

"I hitched a ride on one of the portals that your other beast created." The Goddess of War Bellona stated as she pointed towards Kenos.

"Still, that was incredibly dangerous as Kenos was not aware that you did so as well. You might have ripped that body of your priest to shreds if something unfortunate happens." Adrian actually reprimanded the goddess, but he was only concerned for the mortal body she borrowed.

"You cannot be nitpicky in war, kid. Also, I need your help in a major way. You should not be here in the backlines and staying put when you are one of our best assets." The Goddess of War Bellona stated.

"But... if I participate then there would be no communication between groups. The others might hit their own allies if I do not coordinate well." Adrian reasoned.

"The Primordial Beast of Sloth is not something that we can defeat just by these paltry attacks. It has yet to show its most powerful form to us. We need to take it down before that happens which is why I need your God Destroying Flames to be on my side." The Goddess of War Bellona.

"My Nether Energy?" Adrian questioned.

"We need to hit that thing as hard as we can with all we can with as little as time possible." The Goddess of War Bellona stated in a serious tone.

Chapter 2479: Against Sloth II

Adrian immediately nodded as he knew that the Goddess of War Bellona might joke sometimes but she is always serious when it comes to battles or war. For the Goddess of War Bellona, the fight that they are doing now is none other than all out war. Two of the highest ranked gods of war would not have descended if it was something that is not serious.

"If that is what the Goddess of War Bellona wishes then I shall respect your request as you have come for me specifically for this." Adrian stated as his eyes suddenly turned into pure nether flames and the Goddess of War Bellona felt fear for a moment.

The fear that the Goddess of War Bellona felt is not something that made her scared of Adrian. The fear she felt is when she stared at the eyes of someone from the bottomless abyss. The Goddess of War Bellona felt that the power behind Adrian's nether energy is more terrifying than the power of the Titans. The only difference is that the Goddess of War Bellona actually felt that this fearsome power is incredibly reliable and made her felt safe.

"Do not hold back as I will not as well." The Goddess of War Bellona stated.

"As you wish." Adrian replied as he already activated his domain.

[You have summoned the Nether Domain.]

[You are now transforming to your true form.]

[All of your stats are increased for the duration of the active time of the domain.]

Adrian did not stop there as he also told Levin Cloud to summon the Tree of Life and Death. They were going all out as per the words of the Goddess of War Bellona. Levin Cloud did not argue and just nodded to the suggestion as a golden light pierced the skies above. A seed that held both light and death energy came from the heavens and planted itself onto the land.

[The Tree of Life and Death has sprouted in your area.]

[All skills related to life elemental magic will be increased by 100%.]

[All skills related to death elemental magic will be increased by 100%.]

[All allies will have 200% increase in health regeneration.]

[All allies will have 100% increase in mana regeneration.]

[All allies will have a stat increase of 20% while the duration of the rooting is in progress. (NPCs will only be given half his bonus.)]

[All allies have a 10% chance to heal 50% of their maximum health upon hitting an enemy. This chance is increased to 15% when hitting a powerful boss monster. (This can only trigger once every five minutes.)]

[All allies will have a flat 1% chance of triggering the instant death abnormality on enemies.
(This does not affect boss monsters that have the instant death immunity.)]

A large tree made of life and death energy sprouted and healed all of the people fighting against the Primordial Beast of Sloth. The Tree of Life and Death has sprouted which gave the players more buffs and greater health and mana regeneration. Adrian did not linger too much as he touched the Tree of Life and Death.

[You are able to influence this projection of the Tree of Life and Death.]

[Do you wish to influence it with one of your energies?]

"Yes." Adrian replied.

[Which of your unique energies will you use to mutate the projection of the Tree of Life and Death.]

"Nether Energy." Adrian added as the Tree of Life and Death suddenly sucked in all of the nether energy it needed to be processed.

[Successfully influenced the Tree of Life and Death.]

The system notification appeared, and the Tree of Life and Death suddenly exploded with a powerful energy that even made the Primordial Beast of Sloth look towards the location of that energy. The Primordial Beast of Sloth felt this energy and it is something that even its own soul is trying to say that it must run away. The confidence that the Primordial Beast of Sloth has on its 'visions' suddenly started to wane.

"What if my visions are false?! No! I must believe of it. I can defeat all of them! I just needed to release my other form, but my Sloth Unbound Gauge is only filled by half. I just need to attack that energy source and my troubles will not come true." The Primordial Beast of Sloth muttered as it knows its own strengths.

[The Primordial Beast of Sloth has used Lazy Sludge.]

The Primordial Beast of Sloth suddenly released a light blue slime like excrement from its mouth to target the Tree of Life and Death. This would have been effective if not for the timely assistance of Soleil and Levin Cloud. A wall of flames and vines blocked the attack of the Primordial Beast of Sloth as the Tree of Life and Death finally finished restructuring.

[The Tree of Life and Death has gained the Nether Attribute.]

The system notification appeared on all of the players as their bodies suddenly started to combust in flames of black, gray, and white. At first, the people thought that they were being attacked but the flames did not harm them. The players that are familiar with this feeling looked at the very source of this flames. A demon that is blindfolded with six arms is seen in front of a large tree burning in Nether Energy.

[Due to the Tree of Life and Death gaining the Nether Attribute, all allies will now apply nether energy on all of their attacks, spells, parries, and even defensive abilities.]

[A being could apply a stack of Nether Burn to an enemy once every minute.]

[If an enemy receives 100 stacks of Nether Burn, then they will explode in harmful nether flames that deals 5% of their maximum health and be applied with the Nether Aflame debuff.]

[Any enemy afflicted with the Nether Aflame debuff will receive 50% more damage from all sources.]

"Perfect! This is what I am talking about!" The Goddess of War Bellona shouted as her armor and weapons became covered in nether flames.