

O Summoner 39

Chapter 39 - 2nd Job Advancement Requirements

As Adrian was experiencing pain. The whole Pandemonium gaming community was in giant uproar. Countless media personnel that was logged in the game, logged out so that they could write articles to their tabloids for a world message was a very special event that changes the world view of the game. World messages appeared only a couple of times like when the first ranked player managed to unlock the race for Dragonkin. For a world message's topic about a single player that means this player's choices could potentially warp the setting of events. If the player chosen is a dubious person, the player could potentially push the world to destruction. Of course that will less likely to happen but the media outlets would focus on the negative side of the spectrum instead of the positive side. The forums were outraged by the world message because one player could control the flow of the game but in essence they were just jealous because they were not the ones the world message implied.

Thousands of people are even online watching PandemoNews with dozens of comments containing what is the protector of the world, and even conspiracy theories that say that it was an AI not a player that activated the event. The media outlets even invited game experts to analyze the phrases of the world message. The world message made the whole world explode with ideas and controversy. While the whole world was in full debate about the world message, the one who triggered the message did not even hear it due to the intense pain that he experienced.

The game Pandemonium even replicated the sweating function and Adrian sweated a lot. As soon as Adrian composed himself and took a deep breath, he heard a system prompt.

[Player Equinox successfully activated the Omega Summoner Inheritance]

Above Adrian's head a crown can be seen floating. If someone saw him right now, they could mistake him for a prince minus the horns. Adrian checked the requirements to change into his 2nd job class.

Soul Summoner Advancement Requirements:

- 1.) Acquire Three Soulbound
- 2.) Acquire Weapons Mastery Passive
- 3.) Acquire The Wails of the Moore from the Silver Moore Banshee

The Silver Moore Banshee is a boss monster in the field dungeon of the Silver Moore which is very tricky to spawn because of conditions and the monsters are even in the range of level 20 to level 25. The three soulbounds were not a problem because the base summoner job can have three soulbounds max with his job advancement he could get an additional two soulbound slots. His main problem is the Weapons Mastery because he does not know where to get that in the Paradox Planes. He would ask Ascalor later if he knows where he could acquire it. As he was busy thinking of his future plans, he suddenly remembered the relic that was still left floating. As soon as he grabbed the relic, a system prompt appeared again.

[Quest Ancient Heroes II has been accomplished. Acquired Upgrade stone reward.]

[Quest Ancient Heroes III has been added in the quest log]

Adrian was flabbergasted. He managed to clear a major quest without even checking the quest objectives himself so he was surprised. He checked the details of his previous and newly generated quest.

Ancient Heroes II

The twin gods , Gaea and Abbadon, wants you to search and acquire clues of the relics that was used to seal the breach that the corruptants used to traverse to this universe. Make sure that the relic is safe and guarded if you ever find it.

Clear Condition: Find any details of the relics and make sure it is guarded.

Reward: Upgrade Stone

●Quest Notification●

Ancient Heroes III

The twin gods, Gaea and Abbadon, are pleased that you manage to get one of the three relics used to seal the breach made by the corruptants. Now they want you to find traces of the Undead King and find the group of acolytes that plans to revive him.

Clear Conditions: Find traces of the Undead King and acolytes.

Reward: Weapon Enhancement Stones x10

Adrian was astounded that the next reward was weapon enhancement stones because right now these are very scarce in the markets because the top guilds usually hoard them and now each stone cost about a hundred gold. Adrian is really pumped in finding clues and finishing this particular quest but first he needs to get out of this dungeon first. When he put the relic in his inventory, Koronn's voice could be heard from the portal that appeared when Adrian cleared the dungeon.

"I'm going just wait old man" Adrian said unsure if Koronn would actually hear him.

When Adrian left the dungeon, the dungeon collapsed as if a magnitude 9 earthquake hit it and all the clues of the battle or the gravekeeper is now buried forever and never to be seen again. Adrian now already change some of the events in the timeline and he did not know he would produce a butterfly effect.
