

O Summoner 531

Chapter 531 - Beastification

Adrian and his group appeared in the battlefield with the killing intent of all the demon wolves directed towards Adrian. Five of the royal knights did do their Beastification as the thousand strong demon wolves that are level 200 swarmed them.

The sixth to tenth royal knights became more beast than man as their animalistic features became more pronounced. The armors that the royal knights wore receded and became part of their skin and fur. They also emitted a red aura symbolizing that their Ferocity is oozing out of their bodies.

Adrian is busy setting everything up as he needed to create more mirrors since every demon wolf is attacking him. Adrian weaved through the mirrors in an unpredictable fashion that made the demon wolves disoriented.

Adrian also utilized his second brain also known as his ego weapon. He will escape using the mirrors and then would let the demon wolf pass through it. They will not exit the same mirror though as Adrian told Paradox to change the coordinates for the demon wolf. He would deliver the demon wolf to the royal knights.

The royal knights that used their Beastification are basically slaughtering the powerful demon wolves like they are defenseless sheep. They are basically killing demon wolves with three or four strikes, but the exhaustion could be seen on their face. They might have become powerful, but the stress also became greater.

The royal knight that changed the most in appearance is the sixth royal knight as she looks like the Naga race. Her lower half became that of a snake while her eyes became reptile like with black corneas. She also started to cast spells with her hands as if she became something else.

The seventh royal knight that is a crocodile beastkin also became different. He became twice as big while his armor became scales. His giant jaw could now bite off a head of a demon wolf if it is not prepared. The strength that his tail that appeared also became another weapon as it could send anyone flying.

The eighth royal knight basically tripled his already large size. His body could easily become a weapon as he could ram into someone and send them to the afterlife. The accumulated thick muscle and skin became a natural armor as even the bites of the demon wolves could not pierce his body.

The ninth royal knight looked like a real punk rocker, but his ferocity is the biggest among those that underwent Beastification. His attacks are powered by his overflowing ferocity that he could break the bones of those that he hits. He also does not look like a royal knight as he laughs for every limb that he tears apart.

The tenth royal knight that is the cheetah beastkin became even faster than she already is. Even Adrian has a hard time tracking her with his omni vision. She would wound every demon wolf that she passes through which would then make them easier to finish off.

The battle became easier as the demon wolves are already being damaged. Adrian's soulbounds also freely made use of the mirrors as they share the same soul which means there is no mana cost for them to use. The only mana that Adrian consumes is when demon wolves enter the mirrors or when he uses it to transport his allies.

Everyone would assume that Adrian would basically be invincible with the way he is fighting but he is not. One weakness of the form is the low stamina and the fragileness of the mirrors. The demon wolves do not even bother breaking the temporary mirrors as they are busy with fighting others, but it would not be the same if it is just Adrian by himself.

Adrian could create a mirror every three seconds and with his Primordial Stance that is multiplied by six. The temporary mirrors could be broken before they even materialize which will deal damage to Adrian by a small amount. Adrian has yet to know that the mirrors are like his soul that he stretches out, but he would never use this form if he really knew.

"Might of the King!" King Leonidas shouted as system notifications appeared to every ally that he has in the kingdom.

[You have heard the shout of encouragement from King Leonidas.]

[Stamina will be replenished, and stamina deduction will be reduced by half for the duration of five minutes.]

[Attack power will be doubled for five minutes.]

[Defense will be doubled for five minutes.]

[Health regeneration will double for five minutes.]

[Mana Regeneration will double for five minutes.]

[Movement speed and reaction speed will double for five minutes.]

[For every kill that you do, recover 5% of the health of the one that you slay.]

[This buff can only be effective if you are in the area that is selected by the king.]

[Area Selected: Selvag.]

The buff that King Leonidas used is basically a skill that one earns when they become a king. It is only limited to the kingdom that the king is in and can never be used outside. It also has a cooldown of one week as it is a buff that will be applied to every ally that he has in the kingdom regardless of if they are a combatant or not.

The shouts of the energized beastkins could be heard as the Mystic Fog finally disappeared as the fox clan members already became exhausted. They still joined the battle as the king used the buff at the last minute which replenished their stamina, but they are still mentally tired.

It did not take long for the whole pack of demon wolves to be killed but there was still a cost. Some beastkins are at death's door which is why Levin Cloud and Saena are now very important. Beastkins are not really very good in healing magic or magic in general as only a select species of them can use it.

The Wilde is not abandoning them as the heals that Levin Cloud used save them as it is empowered by the world itself. The power surge that Levin Cloud felt did not last forever though as he ran out of the power given by the world when he healed the last beastkin that is at death's door.

Chapter 532 - A Howling Eclipse

The eastern overlord submerged the Child of Disaster that attacked it or rather the copy that attacked it. The copy became dark barks of otherworldly growth as it died. The eastern overlord did not have an easy fight as it also needed to protect its subjects.

The eastern overlord wanted to go to the direction of the token that he gave but he needed to recuperate from his wounds. The eastern overlord knew that the attack against him is not a coincidence as five thousand demon wolves and a clone of the Child of Disaster came to attack him.

This was a warning issued by the Wolf of Disaster, but the eastern overlord is not afraid. For the first time in a long time, the eastern overlord knew that the Wolf of Disaster is afraid and desperate. The number of demon wolves it sent is clearly not expendable as it is not a small number.

The eastern overlord is biding its time until it gets called upon by the warrior it entrusted with its Life Spark. Adrian did not know that the item that was given to him is actually the soul of the eastern overlord. This soul could also detect its surroundings, but the eastern overlord would also die if it got destroyed.

The eastern overlord might not admit it, but it too can hear the voice of The Wilde. The eastern overlord heard everything that voice of the Wilde stated and decided to gamble. The eastern overlord could now more or less see that the gamble it made is the right decision.

The wind of change is finally blowing on this world that is like a ticking time bomb. For the eastern overlord knows what is the being that is being sealed by this world deep in its core. The eastern overlord prays that the monster hidden in the depths will never awaken.

The western overlord pecked at the dead body of the Child of Disaster Clone. She does not know what it is made of, but she knows that it does not taste great. The damage that the demon wolf pack is not small as numerous houses got destroyed while the combatants got injured.

She might have not been heavily injured but the hundred warriors that she is supposed to take got reduced to twenty. The eighty warriors that injured cannot take the treacherous march to the north with their injuries which is why they are now ordered to rest and guard the territory.

For the longest time that she has been the western overlord, this has been the only instance that the Wolf of Disaster would create great havoc. She could only think that the Wolf of Disaster is threatened or is sending a message.

The number of demon wolves that attacked them is not a small number, but she heard that the number that attacked the beastkin capital is even greater. Since she is injured, the western overlord decided to stay and rest at her territory.

She will definitely be summoned by the warrior that impressed her. She believed with all her might which is why she will protect her territory until the time she is called for. The western overlord will wait for the time that she will crush the skull of the Wolf of Disaster.

She perched at the top of the cliff as if she is looking down on everyone on the ground. The western overlord will not let anyone harm her territory and underlings as she is the mother bird that protects the nest. She will kill a disaster itself if that is what it takes.

"We won!" Creepysoo shouted as the last demon wolf got killed.

"Yeah!" Lycan stated as he sat down on the ground. This is the first time that he had to battle a lot of monsters that are higher level than him. He might have even died if the royal knights and Adrian did not aid him in escaping.

"Where is Equinox? We should thank him as we might have died a dozen times over if he did not aid us." Vayu stated as he sheathed his sword.

"If you are looking for the man of the hour then he is there on the grass...face down." Levin Cloud stated as he pointed to Adrian that is lying face down on the ground.

"My head hurts. I think I might puke. I never thought that I might puke inside a game. Has grass been always this soothing?" Adrian stated in a muffled voice as his head that got overworked from the multiple scenes that he saw during the battle. It seems that having omni vision is not great for prolonged fights.

"It was I that made the most work, master." The Cube of Paradox stated in a robotic voice as it told the fact of the matter.

"Yes...you did a good job, Paradox. You are the best." Adrian replied as he gave a thumbs up to his ego weapon.

"Does the grass taste good?" Solstice asked as she also lied down on the grass.

"It's fine. It could use a bit of salt." Adrian replied.

"Seeing that you still have your lousy sense of humor, you are still alive, but you should rest if you are tired." Solstice stated.

Adrian, who is currently closing his eyes, suddenly felt two souls that is repelling him. All the souls of the demon wolves that died are currently gathered around the area. They are actually looking at Adrian as if they want a chance of salvation.

It seems that the demon wolves are being controlled by fear and some sort of parasite that they ate with the order of the Wolf of Disaster. Adrian's fear that a dark god is involve is starting to become a reality. He already has clues, but he still wanted to refuse to accept the reality as dealing with a dark god is very troublesome.

The two souls that he felt that is not attracted to him is actually from the two remaining Child of Disaster. As soon as Adrian could no longer sense the presence of those two souls, the sun suddenly darkened as a solar eclipse followed by the howl of a wolf is heard by every living creature in The Wilde.

Chapter 533 - Towards The Wilde North

Two howls from large beasts resonated with the darkening skies. A solar eclipse happened as soon as the howls started as if the two celestial bodies are hiding away from the howls. Every living being in The Wilde heard the dreadful howls of the two beasts.

King Leonidas, who heard the howls, is certain that it came from the two Child of Disasters. It seems that he knew that it is now time for a full-scale war against demon wolf kind. Adrian, who is now sitting on the ground, is listening to the testimonies of the dead demon wolves.

The demon wolves seem to be regretting their actions as they are not returning to the cycle of life that is regulated by each world. It seems that the God of Death in The Wilde is absent or feigning ignorance of the dead demon wolves.

If the demon wolves do not ascend, only two things could happen. One is they become an undead that roams this land but that could not happen unless they encounter miasma. The last would be their soul would gradually lose their memories and identities and then vanish without a trace. They will no longer reincarnate as they will never ascend.

"I see. No wonder that you guys are too much in number. I am just thankful that the one I am facing is not a dark god but empowered by one." Adrian muttered as the others could see that he is talking to invisible beings.

"Is the Champion of the Twin Gods fine? He seems to be talking to someone that we cannot see. Is it a side effect of using that unique form of his?" King Leonidas asked Kabrakan as the oxen hero is a close friend of Adrian.

"He is not the Champion of the Twin Gods now but the Shepherd of Lost Souls. He is talking to the souls of the departed. It seems that they wanted to pour their hearts...dead hearts to him." Kabrakan replied as he helped the others pick up the loot.

"It seems that he is not only the Champion of the Twin Gods but also an important being that regulates the souls of the dead. Still, it is funny to think that an immortal being is something like a guardian of the dead. Besides that, it seems that the Ox Hero did not tell me that he is also friends with four important individuals." King Leonidas stated which made Kabrakan sweat.

The four important individuals that he is referring to is Creepysoo, Lycan, Solstice, and Levin Cloud. King Leonidas knows of the first three due to the meetings with the other Asmodian races. They are very important people when it comes to the welfare of their races.

For Levin Cloud, he felt something different from him. Even though King Leonidas is a king, he felt this sense of deep respect for Levin Cloud as if it is ingrained in him. It is not just him though as the other beastkins wanted to at least touch him as if he is a living saint.

King Leonidas only felt this way when he met an important figure that is in the religion of the twin gods. He could more or less deduce that the leshy in front of him is actually the Envoy of the Twin Gods. Levin Cloud is radiating two different energies that make any of the Asmodian race feel calm and exhilaration.

When Adrian is done with the sudden confessions of the dead demon wolves, he activated the special perk of his title. He summoned the door to Limbo where the demon wolves could be judged. He could not contact the God of Death associated with this world which is why he opted for the longer method.

"Is your séance done?" Levin Cloud asked and everyone suddenly gathered.

"It is not a séance. It just took too long because the demon wolves had a lot to tell me. It seems that the Wolf of Disaster has been planning on invading the other territories. The Wolf of Disaster only sent its eldest child to the south because it was confident that its child could deeply wound or possibly kill the southern overlord.

It seems that it still has the fear that the southern overlord might become stronger than it which is why it sent demon wolves. The thing that the Wolf of Disaster did not expect is me being there and helping the southern overlord kill his eldest child." Adrian stated.

"Is there anything else that the demon wolves have told you, Champion Equinox?" King Leonidas stated as he joined the conversation.

"They did say that the Wolf of Disaster devoured something that is not of this world. It seems that an apostle of a dark god went to it for help, but it ended up being devoured to nourish its weak body. The demon wolves did not know why the apostle wanted to seek help from the Wolf of Disaster as it immediately got devoured the moment it was about to speak.

They also added that the Wolf of Disaster seems to be waiting for the Wilde Flower to bloom. It seems that it wants to recover its peak strength by devouring that herb. Also, the north is now barren as the will of this world no longer gives it the blessing of life. Their population became too big that the only choice for them is to invade south." Adrian added.

"Do you think that the Wolf of Disaster might have been poisoned in the head by this dark god apostle? It has been said that the dark gods are famous for these types of manipulations." King Leonidas stated.

"I thought so too but I asked the demon wolf souls if strange deformities have formed on the body of their leader. Their answer is always the same and it is no." Adrian commented.

"We do not have the advantage of a surprise attack anymore since they already knew that we must have survived. I will rally troops to march to the north. The messengers from the east and west also returned from their duty. The giant wolves that they attacked are actually not the real Child of Disasters, but clones made of some distorted mass." King Leonidas reported.

"The demon wolves did say that the Wolf of Disaster could recreate one of the abilities of the individuals it devours. That might be a skill of that dark god apostle. The one thing I fear is the battle against the Wolf of Disaster.

The demon wolves told me that the Wolf of Disaster always devoured a young wolf if it is born with a rare ability. The reason that no other wolf could challenge its supremacy is the fact that it devoured special wolves. The other terrifying thing that I heard is that the twin wolves that is its children also inherited that ability." Adrian stated which made the atmosphere heavy.

"We must not lose hope! The fox clan will follow you to kill that Wolf of Disaster. We never break a promise once we have made it." Ashana, the fox princess, stated as the other fox clan members rallied before her.

"Since the ox hero is participating, we the Ox Clan will also participate. The demon wolves used to trash our clan around before. It is about time that the Wolf of Disaster taste the might of our horns!" The Ox Clan head stated as the others cheered as well.

"I will also rally my army that can fight. If we end the Wolf of Disaster, then peace will finally be attainable for The Wilde!" King Leonidas cheered.

"Do not forget about me! I shall serve the Blind Demon God with all my strength. I will offer my life to the Blind Demon God!" The Sacred Snake stated as she vowed to Adrian.

"Who is the Blind Demon God?" Levin Cloud asked Kabrakan in a quiet whisper and the latter pointed to Adrian. The other suddenly chuckled upon hearing the weird title and fanatic that Adrian obtained.

"Thank you for volunteering. I will not disappoint you. The eastern and western overlord will also join us as I will summon them when we reach the north. They have entrusted me with their summoning tokens, and I plan to return that trust." Adrian stated as the others cheered with great vigor as they all marched to the north.

Those that marched north did not know that they are unprepared as the north not only became barren and desolate, but the climate changed as well. It is not only the harsh weather that awaited them in the north as the Wolf of Disaster that is using the blood of the grim reaper that it managed to tear off.

The Wolf of Disaster sprayed the blood of a godlike being to The Wilde Flower as it attempted to turn the flower into something dreadful and powerful. The scream of the will of the world could be heard as the blood of this world's grim reaper is poured on the Wilde Flower.

Chapter 534 - The North Did Not Survive

The army headed to the north is two hundred strong. The two hundred strong individuals are consisting of the most powerful of the warriors under King Leonidas and Adrian's group. Five of the royal knights under King Leonidas did not join because of the side effect of Beastification.

The five of those royal knights could still move even after the side effect of Beastification but they will not be in their full capacity which would mean that they could be more likely killed. Although that could also be said for this group as they only have one of the overlords at this time.

Adrian will call upon the two overlords when they reach the location where the Wolf of Disaster is staying. Since there is still two more of the children of the Wolf of Disaster, it has been decided that the eastern and western overlord will deal with them with reinforcements from the group.

Adrian and the southern overlord will confront the Wolf of Disaster since the latter already had a fight with the Wolf of Disaster. The only thing that worries Adrian is how much strength did the Wolf of Disaster regained since it has been a long time since the southern overlord fought with it.

Thankfully, Adrian already recovered all the necessary cooldowns. He just wishes that everything will turn out in their favor as a world boss is not an easy opponent. It takes about a hundred players that is close to the level of the world boss to kill one. Adrian brought twice that number, but he still has this feeling of dread.

Also, if the Wolf of Disaster is what is described in the legends, then long-range attacks are only half effective against it. They have to fight the Wolf of Disaster in melee range if they ever want to kill it. The only thing that Adrian is scared off is that the Wolf of Disaster is said to become stronger for every divine being or beings with divinity that it devours.

Adrian might not want to admit it, but he and Levin Cloud belong to this group. The Champions and Envoys belong to those who have divinity because they need to utilize the blessings of their respective gods. Even if Adrian can revive, if he dies by being eaten once then the Wolf of Disaster will grow more powerful.

The Instant Revive skill that they have only produces a copy of them that is completely restored but they are still considered 'dead' by the system. If they are considered dead, then the monster that killed them will still benefit. There have been cases of monsters evolving during a raid because of too many players dying.

The thing that they need to avoid right now is the death of many. Adrian cannot revive NPCs back to life as even Levin Cloud is unable to do such thing. They can only hope that the healers that they have will have enough sustain for the whole army.

The march to the north is uneventful as the monsters near the northern territory are basically non-existent. It is not only the demon wolves that made it unlivable due to overhunting but also due to the will of this world. The land in the north is barren as if the drought has visited it and never went away.

Starting with barren earth which stretches miles away, the next scenery is a frozen hellscape that will not make any type of life bloom. Even Levin Cloud frowned once he stepped on the soil of the northern territory. He exclaimed that this soil has no nutrient whatsoever and he could only describe it as dead.

They marched towards the barren wasteland for two hours which is record time since it normally takes about four hours for an ordinary person. The beastkins that are in this journey could only be described as then topmost elites as everyone is all level 200 or above.

The marching army did not encounter problems in the barren wasteland but that all changed when they stepped into the frozen part of the north. Demon wolves that are hidden in the snow ambushed them, but Kanlaon could detect them if they are about twenty meters away.

Kanalaon could detect them because he is very sensitive towards heat. Adrian is once again reminded that dragons are superior species that need to be raised well. In fact, Adrian already decided to help Kanlaon after this but killing a dragon for their cores is unrealistic unless they are live that earth dragon that they fought before.

The demon wolves hid in the snow well and even managed to launch a few attacks against the marching army. The attacks might be negligible, but the exhaustion is not. The army walked further north until they reached a spot where they could rest. Guards took turns to ensure safety as they do not know if demon wolves would suddenly attack.

"I expected more from the north given it is the territory of the world boss." Lycan grumbled as he always thought that world bosses need cool looking settings.

"You might not know this young lad, but the north used to be the most plentiful territory with resources back then. I might not have been born during that time, but our ancestors have told us that the north had been the land of promise." King Leonidas stated as he heard Lycan's statement.

"If that was the case then why did it become like this?" Creepysoo asked as he loved reading lore about places.

"That is because of the Wolf of Disaster's rejection of the power offered by this world. The Wolf of Disaster did not become the legitimate Northern Overlord thus the will of this world rejected it. No official overlord means no bountiful territory.

The overlords of this world are not merely guardians but also conduits for this world's progress. Without the world's blessing, the territory will naturally run out of life and a way to sustain itself, but it should not be left alone. If the north will not have another true overlord, then the balance of nature will disappear hence the constant invasions." The Sacred Snake stated.

"But do you think that it is strange that they are not even attacking us but giving us headaches with small ambushes?" Vayu asked as he thought that the Wolf of Disaster is not even moving an inch from his location.

"That should be the case because it is guarding something valuable. A natural treasure that will make it regain or add more to its strength." Ashana commented as she joined the conversation.

"Are you saying that it is time for the miracle herb to bloom once more?" King Leonidas stated as he started to think of the worst-case scenario.

"I can feel it. The Wilde Flower is still in the process of blooming. The Wolf of Disaster is definitely protecting that herb with its life since it might be dying. It wants to extend its futile life. The Wolf of Disaster is nothing like us after all that is born from actual immortals. It still suffers from the cruel cycle of life and that it will die upon reaching an old age.

Beings that can kill divinity always had a finite lifespan or else the divine will never let them be born in the first place. Even gods are afraid of those that could kill them. Oh! I should not have said that to this group as we have an envoy and a champion in our midst." Ashana stated which left everyone with a deep understanding of the characteristics of the world boss.

"What does this Wilde Flower actually do aside from extending a person's life?" Solstice asked as she has been thinking of picking up Apothecary.

"If you want to know about the Wilde Flower then we should dive a bit farther in the past. This world has a will but worlds having will are unprecedented. It means that an odd world would also be able to produce something odd which is an herb that could cure even the scariest ailment or extend one's life span.

The Wilde Flower is basically the condensed version of world energy. It has always been the duty of the Northern Overlord to guard this herb and provide it to someone worthy should the need arise, or they have proven themselves. The north might not have survived but it does not mean that the Wilde Flower will not." The Sacred Snake explained.

While the Sacred Snake is explaining the details about the Wilde Flower, a powerful shockwave suddenly erupted a bit further from their location. Everyone's senses suddenly tingled and went into overdrive as a powerful source of energy suddenly appeared.

"It cannot be! It is still too early for the Wilde Flower to fully bloom!" Ashana stated as her intuition told her that the Wilde Flower to fully bloom.

"This wave of power is unnatural. That darn wolf must have done something to the Wilde Flower! We must kill the Wolf of Disaster now!" The Sacred Snake shouted but a thousand howls are suddenly heard from their location.

"Your Majesty! We are surrounded!" one of the royal knights exclaimed.

Chapter 535 - Skoll And Hati

A powerful shockwave suddenly erupted a bit further from their location. Everyone's senses suddenly tingled and went into overdrive as a powerful source of energy suddenly appeared. The howls of a thousand wolves also filled the area as if they are celebrating.

"Your Majesty! We are surrounded!" one of the royal knights exclaimed.

About ten meters from them, a thousand strong pack of demon wolves are circling them. It is not only the demon wolves that circled them but also two giant wolves. Each of them commanding about five hundred demon wolves.

The demon wolves are all glaring and gnashing their teeth towards Adrian and the southern overlord. Even the two remaining Child of Disaster are also sending their bloodlust at Adrian's group. Everyone tensed up as they did not expect that the demon wolf pack would encircle them without them even noticing.

Adrian could clearly see the two giant wolves and has to say that even he is overwhelmed. The twin lesser fenrirs are nothing like their eldest brother as they emitted this unknown and powerful aura. Adrian must summon the two overlords now or else they might have a difficult time advancing.

They could win if they did their best but that would mean they will not have anything left to face the Wolf of Disaster. If they kill the twin lesser fenrirs then they would have an easier chance of beating the Wolf of Disaster, but they must split up or else the most undesirable situation might occur.

"That darn wolf must have done something to the Wilde Flower! We must kill the Wolf of Disaster now!" The Sacred Snake telepathically told Adrian and King Leonidas.

"I need a small amount of time to summon the two overlords. Protect me while that is happening. I am going to need Peridot's help." Adrian muttered softly but it seems that the twin fenrirs heard his plan.

The twin fenrirs howled and all the demon wolves ran towards the group. King Leonidas shouted as he empowered everyone in the army. It might be a slight buff but any boost at this point will be more welcomed.

[King Leonidas used "Lion's War Cry"]

"Blessing of Life and Death!" Levin Cloud stated as he casted a wide area buff that affects every individual in an area.

[Your mana regeneration will double for the duration of 10 minutes.]

[For each enemy kill, recover a random percentage of the enemy's health.]

[Your attacks are enchanted with death energy.]

Other buffs have been cast by Adrian's friends. They all affected the army which made them even more courageous. The beastkin rarely get buffed by others since support beastkins are not a thing in their society. The feeling of someone else power running through their veins exhilarated the beastkins.

It would have been perfect and easy if not for the buffs that the demon wolves get from the twin lesser fenrirs. The twin lesser fenrirs are also an opponent that they cannot easily defeat.

Adrian and Peridot immediately tried to focus their attempts in summoning the two overlords, but the demon wolves are making it difficult. If the army could block a hundred demon wolves, then at least one of them will reach Adrian and Peridot.

The two of them had to restart the summoning about three times due to the constant interruption. The Lesser Fenrirs even jumped into the fray and started attacking. The Sacred Snake and King Leonidas battled the two separately in an attempt to buy some time.

"I already soaked this golden toad, but nothing is happening. Even the feather is only blinking lightly even though I blasted it with a wind spell." Peridot stated as she started getting impatient since the token is not reacting.

"What if it is not enough? All the things we tried are only using beginner magic. Maybe we should try using advance magic since they are overlords." Adrian suggested and Peridot agreed.

"Protect me while I start chanting. I can chant two spells at one, but it is going to take me a total of five minutes. Make sure that I am not interrupted." Peridot stated as she suddenly floated one foot off the snowy ground as she chanted the spells.

Peridot is not using the human language to use the spells that she learned. She is using the language of the dragons that she was taught as this is the only way to cast advance two advance magic spells in a short amount of time. Her voice even echoes every time she says a word as if she is using a powerful speaker, but this also made her a target.

The demon wolves changed their target to her as the twin lesser fenrirs could sense something ancient from the power behind Peridot's voice. Adrian did not think that this would immediately happen as the demon wolves focused on the Sacred Snake.

"Buy us some time and protect Peridot!" Adrian shouted and everyone in his group got the message.

"Let us go my brave undead knights! Don Quixote and Robin Hood!" Creepysoo stated as he summoned two of his undead knights this early in the battle. He did not want to use them immediately since they consume a lot of mana to keep summoned but the two lesser fenrirs are aiming for Peridot.

"Regulus!" Soleil shouted as her stuffed lion became its fiery incarnation that even made King Leonidas smile.

"I am the Green!" Levin Cloud stated as his body suddenly turned into vines and seeped into the ground. A few seconds later, an earthquake happened, and large vines suddenly erupted that went to tangle the demon wolves and the lesser fenrirs.

"Winds of Protection!" Vayu stated as he swiped his katana in a 360-degree motion and generated twenty tornadoes that acted as a shield for Peridot.

"Kanlaon, super-size and protect Peridot with all you have." Adrian as he started to issue one command after the other.

"Sirius, help them clear the demon wolves and strike the lesser fenrirs if you see a chance."

"Saena, fly high up and do your best in spreading the illnesses that you have collected."

"Charon, immediately lock the lesser fenrirs with Soul Prison if they suddenly get close."

"Dodu, support Kabrakan as he is soaking too much damage at a time."

"Kimat, provide distractions with your attacks. You must irritate the demon wolves so that they lose focus on the one they are fighting."

"Paradox, it is time to move space itself. Use Quantum Cascade on the given location. Use Quantum Dispersion if the lesser fenrirs reach my location."

Adrian issued every command that he could. He can only wait for the spells that Peridot is channeling to take effect. He can feel the energy she is accumulating though as she also sucked in some of the wind element from the Winds of Protection cast around her.

She also sucked in some of the water element from the ice dome protecting her. Whatever spell that she is using, it will surely pack a punch that can blow away groups of enemies.

Chapter 536 - Solstice Maiden

Adrian issued every command that he could. He can only wait for the spells that Peridot is channeling to take effect. He can feel the energy she is accumulating though as she also sucked in some of the wind element from the Winds of Protection cast around her.

She also sucked in some of the water element from the ice dome protecting her. Whatever spell that she is using, it will surely pack a punch that can blow away groups of enemies. The intensity of the mana around her is enough to send anyone flying.

Peridot is currently using two advance magic spells at the same time. She could do it because of her special skill called Draconic Tongue. It is a passive skill that makes people capable of casting two spells at the same time and it is only available to a select few of dragonkin.

Skill: Draconic Tongue

Tier: Racial

Type: Passive

Effect: Able to shorten the length of chants by half. Decrease Mana Cost by half and gives the skill bearer the ability to chant two spells at the same time as long as they know the Draconic Language.

Cooldown: 1 hour

Mana Cost: None

Cast Time: Instant

Restriction: Can only be used when using the Draconic Language

The two magic spells that she used are area spells that can change the terrain. The wind type spell called 'Storm' and the water type spell called 'La Nina'. The two spells basically change the weather and their mana cost astronomical.

She would have not been able to pull it off if she casted normally which makes the passive skills of dragon's cheat class. She is now flexing even more since she felt lacking with her previous demonstrations. The two lesser fenrirs in their area are basically a world boss equivalent when combined.

"Storm!" Peridot finally stated as the clouds around them changed and became dark. Thunder started to roll and even lightning flashes are seen up above the clouds.

Adrian did not let this chance go by and threw the red feather up in the air. The red feather floated up in the air and soon became enveloped in a sphere of compressed air with dark clouds. The feather started crackling with red lightning that looked so fearsome.

"La Nina!" Peridot shouted and the heavy storm clouds that she summoned started to pour rain. The rain fell so hard that it even damaged the enemies while it actually healed their allies.

Adrian used this chance to bring out the golden toad and he dropped in on the ground. The golden toad then started to seep into the muddy ground. This all happened quickly as they were focused on Peridot that was casting the spell.

Peridot floated to the ground and two of her floating stones lost their color. Her floating stones are now four in number and represented the four basic elements. The stones that lost color pertained to the wind and water elements.

She also entered a state of exhaustion as she dropped on the ground. It seems that she has yet to fully get used to using that ability of hers as she said that a lot of her stamina got consumed. She did not expect that much stamina to get consumed but she also noticed that her mana bar is completely empty.

"You are lucky that you did not faint since that is usually the case for players that recklessly empty their mana bars." Adrian stated as he worried but he is actually smiling. He could tell that the summoning is actually going well since a large amount of energy is swirling in their location.

The two lesser fenrirs saw this and immediately detected the danger. They could feel that something is being summoned in the location, but they also fear their father more. If they retreat from this location, then they might get eaten by their own father since they are failures.

In truth, the Wolf of Disaster, Fenris, is not sad that his eldest son died but sad because he did not consume his dead son. He would have become more powerful if he did so, but he also walked carefully when it comes to his children. Even a ruler needs pawns when battling the gods themselves.

"Awoo!"

"Awoo!"

Two simultaneous howls came from both Skoll and Hati. Their physical forms that are covered with fur started to shift into forms that are not completely physical. Skoll and Hati are not only recognized as future sun and moon devours but also deception and hate.

Skoll, who is the twin sister of Hati, symbolized deception which is why she started to conjure up mirror images of herself. Each mirror image looked like an exact copy of herself that even Adrian's Evil Eyes could not distinguish. Without Adrian's evil eye, they would have to find the real one by fighting each mirror image.

Hati, the twin brother of Skoll, symbolized Hate and grows powerful the more the battle takes longer to finish. He is basically increasing his stats per minute as seen by the increasing damage that the southern overlord is getting by tanking his attacks. If they do not finish him up soon then they might get swallowed by the beast's jaws.

"You said we are only getting to battle one world boss but why does it feel that we are actually battling three." Levin Cloud grumbled as he is now out of mana from healing their constantly injured allies. The demon wolves seem to be getting powered up as well ever since Skoll and Hati used their signature skills.

[Each demon wolf will have an increased small chance of evading attacks.]

[Each demon wolf is now gaining more damage until they can double their attack power.]

Scary system notifications are starting to pop up ever since the aura of Skoll and Hati changed. The twin lesser fenrirs are now actively participating in the battle which worries Adrian a lot. The summoning of the eastern and western overlord is taking so long.

He is starting to fear that Skoll and Hati are attempting to eat the two tokens. The twin lesser fenrirs have been trying to reach the location of the two tokens but King Leonidas and the Sacred Snake are blocking the two from ever reaching it. The downside is that both of them are also getting damaged more than before.

"I guess, I should step up my game as well. If little Peridot is going all out here, then so shall I. I will not get this chance later anyway." Solstice stated as the heavy armor that covered all her body is finally starting to turn abyss and way sexier.

Solstice is currently wearing a golden armor that covered her entire body since being exposed to direct sunlight is weakening her stats. Although she does not get damaged by sunlight, the weakening effect is very prevalent and a huge nuisance to her.

She circumvented this weakness by clearing a very difficult solo mission that even she thought that she cannot do. Her reward for her mission is called the "Solstice Maiden". The moment she heard the name of this armor, she immediately screamed that it was designed just for her as it perfectly matches her personality that has duality.

The Solstice Maiden is basically a golden plated living armor that becomes stronger by feeding armors to it. It also makes the user immune to the harmful effects of sunlight which is why she did not have decreased stats when she is walking in broad daylight.

The armor is basically like a fully sealed box that does not let even a tiny amount of light pass through. The usefulness of this armor is not limited to the light sealing function but also its Night mode. The Solstice armor changes in aesthetic with the time of day.

At morning or where light is present, it is like a large tin can that is heavy but extremely durable. At night, it is different as it looks like it is a very sexy dress made of shadows that wrap around perfectly on a woman's body. Even the beastkin warriors were captivated by the sight of Solstice's dominatrix looking armor made of shadows.

The most important part of this armor is not the sexiness but the special effect. It increases the user's agility at night while it increases the user's endurance at morning. The suit of armor is basically tailor made for the vampire species that is shy and weakened during the day.

"Blood Queen has been fully charged. It is time that I can finally rampage to my hearts content." Solstice stated with her pretty face but that face also sent shivers down Adrian's spine. That is the face of her sister when she is completely serious and would devastate any enemy in her wake.

He has only seen that face a couple of times and that is when bullies tried to take advantage of Adrian. She did not spare them and thoroughly enjoyed beating them up.

Chapter 537 - The Overlords Arrive

"Blood Queen!" Solstice shouted as the blood that came from numerous injures in the battlefield both ally and foe started to become a giant blood sphere.

The blood of the enemy demon wolves that keeps on pouring from their wounds are also being collected. The cuts and bruises of their enemies are no longer healing properly due to the effect of the Blood Queen.

The enormous blood sphere that is created in a short amount of time descended down towards Solstice. Her whole body became dyed with red blood, but it also created a blood field as the watery ground became crimson in color. The everlasting rain also helped propagate the blood even further.

Solstice, who has this shadowy dominatrix dress started to have a veil of crimson mist around her. She held her hand forward and a crimson blood sword emerged from the blood red ground. This is the most terrifying abilities of the vampire family that is said to have been the ability of the first progenitor or the Erebian.

The Erebian ancestor was feared for two of its unique powers one of which is the ability to control the blood shed by their enemies. The Erebian ancestor would control an entire battlefield by creating an unlimited supply of blood weapons that would kill the enemy.

Solstice' bloodline came from the first child that inherited this ability which is why she is not as adept in using darkness like the other vampires. The scariest thing about is this ability can make even boss class monsters get overwhelmed as this ability is the best ability of the vampire species.

Solstice weaved the blood like she is the best blood bender there is. She did not even utilize all of the blood as it would be too taxing for her brain. But the fine control, she is using could make anyone mistake that she is cheating.

Whenever a demon wolf will come near her, a crimson blood sword would suddenly pierce their open jaw. She would then use the blood that dripped from that demon wolf to kill another one. She basically became a one-man army that could take out ten enemies at the same time.

Her immense power got noticed by the two lesser fenrirs as they now view her as a threat. Skoll and Hati wanted to devour the immense energy that is being amassed but the demon wolves they commanded cannot break through the defensive formation that Adrian and the others made.

The two lesser fenrirs did not waver and wanted a taste of the large amounts of energy that is being collected in the air and the ground. Skoll and Hati might not look like it, but they have the same ability as their father, but a bit tone downed.

The two have the ability to digest the energy of others as they are future celestial devourers. If they could eat the enormous energies in front of them then they would be able to become more powerful than their father. They would no longer need to fear being devoured as they will stand toe to toe.

Skoll and Hati decided that they should no longer keep their powers in check. They too started to transform into something more than their current selves. The clones that Skoll created all merged to the original while Hati's power that accumulated suddenly vanished.

While Adrian is assessing the situation, the Sacred Snake reminded him that a team must go to the location of the Wolf of Disaster. Her senses are telling her that something is not right with the shockwave that they felt earlier. Even the fox princess could feel that something much worse will happen if they do not try and stop the Wolf of Disaster now.

"I shall accompany you with my royal knights." King Leonidas stated as he retreated from his battle with Skoll.

"If you leave then the chain of command will falter. I shall accompany with the blind demon god with his group. Your group can just follow us after dealing with the twin disasters." The Sacred Snake stated as she wanted to kill the Wolf of Disaster herself for payback.

As they were discussing their plan of action, the two lesser fenrirs changed into something more sinister. Skoll that is prophesized to devour the sun became clad in hot flames. Hati that is prophesized to devour the moon became clad in shadows and cold wind that could freeze anyone that comes close to him.

[The Unique Boss Skoll has entered the Sun Devourer Mode.]

[Skoll will be immune to light and fire attribute spells.]

[All light and fire attribute spells will instead heal Skoll if she gets hit with the two attributes.]

[The Unique Boss Hati has entered the Sun Devourer Mode.]

[Hati will be immune to darkness and water attribute spells.]

[All darkness and water attribute spells will instead heal Hati if he gets hit with the two attributes.]

The identifiers for the two lesser fenrirs finally changed. They are no longer field bosses but are now Unique Bosses. This means that both Skoll and Hati has increased in stats even more. They were already having a difficult time in blocking the two lesser fenrirs while they killed off the demon wolves, but it has turned into something close to impossible.

Unique Boss: Skoll

Level: 250

Unique Boss: Hati

Level: 250

Skoll and Hati looked recovered all the health that they lost and even increased their levels. It will not take an overlord and a hundred warriors to kill just one of them. The immunities of the two will also affect how they can be killed but that also mean that they will have clear weaknesses.

Skoll is now a wolf clad in light and fire attribute monster which is why she will be weak against darkness and water attribute. Hati is now a darkness and water attribute monster which is why he is weak against light and earth attribute.

As the players were observing what the two transformed lesser fenrirs would do, they did not notice that they disappear from their location. The two lesser fenrirs suddenly arrived at the location that they are guarding. Adrian got blasted away by a flash of light while the others got blasted by a dark wave.

Skoll and Hati used their abilities to damage them, but they focused on sending them away from the location. The two lesser fenrirs are now near the two tokens that are accumulating energy. Skoll and Hati opened their mouths as they wanted to eat the energy to evolve into fenrirs themselves.

"Time Stop!" Adrian shouted as the flow of time stopped for The Wilde.

Adrian might have stopped the two lesser fenrirs from devouring the energy that is accumulating for the two overlords, but he did not notice that he changed something that is fundamental in this world. Deep in the crust of this world at the very core, a reptilian eye suddenly opened.

Adrian had not choice but to relocate the two tokens but handling that large amount of energy is not safe. He shifted the space of the golden toad, but he immediately vomited blood from the stress. He needed a new plan as moving the tokens accumulating energy is a death sentence to him. He wanted to save his revive for the battle with the Wolf of Disaster.

"Paradox, allocate Quantum Spacemines with Quantum Dispersion and put them in the space between the jaws of the two lesser fenrirs.

"Affirmative but master will need to stop the process of Time Stop now or else you might die. You are already straining yourself too much." The Cube of Paradox answered but Adrian just smiled. He is thinking that his own ego weapon is actually scolding him.

Adrian could feel that stopping time in this world seemed to be different. He feels that this invisible force is pushing him away from control. His health is basically dropping every second the frozen time is active.

"Is the will of this world rejecting my intrusion of its natural laws?" Adrian thought as blood started to flow from his orifices.

Adrian immediately stopped his spell once the Cube of Paradox did what Adrian has commanded. The world resumed once more and the two lesser Fenrirs that are about to bite the tokens amassing power squealed in pain as an explosion happened when they tried to bite down.

Adrian, who saw this smiled as his avatar dropped to the ground and became particles of light. The small explosion could only stop the two lesser Fenrirs for three seconds but that has been enough time. When Skoll tried to eat the red feather a loud sonic boom erupted and blew the lesser Fenrir away.

When Hati tried to eat the golden toad, a giant arm of a toad materialized and whacked the snout of the lesser Fenrir on the muddy ground. It was not only the eastern and western overlords that came as their underlings came with them

Chapter 538 - Splitting Up In The Wilde

The two overlords' entrance made everyone's jaw drop. The way they easily flicked the empowered Soll and Hati energized the army. It is such a shame that Adrian died due to the immense stress of keeping two unique type bosses away from the summoning tokens.

Levin Cloud did not notice immediately which is why Adrian relied on his own revive skill. If he noticed immediately then he could have revived Adrian without fail but they were also far apart from each other so it cannot be helped.

The two overlords did not come alone as they also came with warriors of their own. It is also one of the reasons why the summoning took too long as it also calculated for the energy of the warriors. The Storm Vulture and the Grand Toad is now in the battlefield with them and their chances of winning increased.

"It seems that we are late for the party." The Storm Vulture stated as she noticed that the fighting has already commenced without her. She looked around but she could not see the Wolf of Disaster around. She brought three of the elders of the aeromorph species with her.

In fact, both of the overlords were already on their way to the north as they suddenly felt this weird energy wave pass through them. They sensed danger and told their warrior to get ready, but the summoning started just as they were about to depart.

"To think that puny wolf children would want to eat my energy. I guess youngsters are really impudent." The Grand Toad stated as he emerged from the muddy ground with two slightly smaller toads than it.

One of the toads held a type of smoking pipe but bubbles come out instead of smoke. The other toad has two swords stuck on its back and has a scar on its right eye. It seems that these two toads are the direct pupils of the Grand Toad.

"It seems that you two are always late like always. It is always I who does the heavy lifting in this world after all." The Sacred Snake stated as she used the pouring rain to heal her wounds.

"Ah! To be scolded by youngsters...it seems that times are really changing." The Grand Toad stated as it laughed heartily.

"Where is Equinox, though?" The Storm Vulture asked as their enemies started to get some distance from them.

"I am here!" Adrian answered as he just materialized back after reviving.

Every one of Adrian's allies grouped up as the demon wolves also back out a bit. It seems that the two lesser fenrirs are calculating their odds of success. The showdown between gazes has started when the overlords arrived and the twin lesser fenrirs took some distance.

"Weird...why are they not attacking?" Solstice stated as her skill finally stopped. The bloody dress that she got became blood mixed with rain which seeped in the ground.

"They are buying time. It seems they were commanded to stall us until the Wolf of Disaster eats the Wilde Flower. Since the eastern and western overlord are here then they could fight the two Child of Disaster." The Sacred Snake stated as they reminded them of the dangers of idling around.

"Three royal knights with me while the remaining two will separately assist the eastern and western overlord. Fifty beastkin warriors shall also follow me to attack the Wolf of Disaster." King Leonidas commanded.

"Soleil, Creepysoo and Kabrakan will come with me. The rest of you aid them in defeating Skoll and Hati. Join us as soon as you defeat them." Adrian stated as he picked the ones whose attacks will not be effective on the two lesser fenrirs plus a tank he trusts.

"Split up when I make the diversion." The Grand Toad stated as he felt the demon wolves that retreated a bit is now closing in on them.

The Grand Toad slapped the muddy ground and created a tidal wave made of muddy water. The demon wolves that started to charge towards them suddenly came to a halt. The demon wolves ran the opposite direction as they would get engulfed by the muddy tidal wave.

While that happened, Adrian's group immediately sprinted towards the area of the origin of the shockwave. The two lesser Fenris noticed what Adrian's group is planning and moved to intercept them. Hati howled and the muddy tidal wave suddenly lost momentum as only mud crashed to the ground burying some demon wolves that are not fast enough.

It seems that the two lesser fenrirs are not only immune, but they also have the ability to nullify spells and abilities to attributes they are immune against. Skoll and Hati tried to follow up and stop Adrian's group, but the two overlords blocked their way.

The eastern overlord, the Grand Toad, blocked Skoll as she is not immune to water type attacks and abilities and instead is her weakness. The western overlord, the Storm Vulture, blocked Hati as she is the best opponent against him at the moment.

Levin Cloud acted as the healer for the whole group that remained. The two royal knights, the bear and ox beastkin, commanded the warriors that are still alive that also did not join the Selvaggian King. Vayu teamed up with the western overlord as he felt that he could compliment her strong wind element.

Solstice and Lycan teamed up with the eastern overlord as they lacked faster members. Peridot remained as a support that will provide cover fire as she wanted to use the remaining spells stored on her elemental stones towards the Wolf of Disaster. She still has other spells at her disposal.

"Move away old man." Skoll stated in an angry feminine voice which greatly shocked everyone.

"You too birdbrain unless you want to get plucked from the sky." Hati stated which added to the shock of everyone in the area.

"To think that the two of you are finally willing to talk but it is too late." The Grand Toad stated as he jumped high and created a mud wall that separated the area from farther north.

Chapter 539 - Strange Blooming Flower

The Grand Toad made a giant mud wall that separated the far north with the area they are now. To add even more security, the Storm Vulture added strong winds that would block those that will attempt to jump the hundred-meter mud walls.

"Move away old man." Skoll stated in an angry feminine voice which greatly shocked everyone.

"You too birdbrain unless you want to get plucked from the sky." Hati stated which added to the shock of everyone in the area.

"You finally decided to speak. I thought that you two have already become mindless wolves like the first of your siblings." The Storm Vulture stated.

What the Storm Vulture is implying is that the Wolf of Disaster did not only have three children but also others. The thing that separated the three Child of Disasters is that they were sentient and did not rampage just because they cannot handle their strengths.

The early children of the Wolf of Disaster are like this which is why they were often easily killed by the overlords when they rampage in their territories. The Wolf of Disaster also culled the mindless children by eating them as their stupidity led the demon wolf pack to be easily decimated by their enemies.

"It is better if you do not go to our father's location. The Southern overlord and the Selvaggian King will not be able to defeat him. They are only marching to their doom." Skoll stated but the overlords did not believe them.

"You think that we are fools that will do as you say? Why would you try so hard in keeping them away if your father is strong enough? That arrogant puppy would have marched towards us by now if he really became stronger than all of us." The Storm Vulture stated.

The two lesser fenrirs could not sway the overlords to step away which is why they need to kill them before the southern overlord reach their father. The Wolf of Disaster specifically ordered them to keep the invaders away from his location. If the Wolf of Disaster knew that they failed, then they would would be punished or worse...get eaten.

The Grand Toad and his servants attacked Skoll at the same time. The giant frog with a bubble smoking pipe created a flurry of bubbles that spread across the area. The one with two swords dove towards the ground and emerged behind Skoll.

The giant toad with two swords kicked Skoll towards the sky. When Skoll hit the bubbles suspended in the air, a loud explosion of steam could be seen that damaged her. The remaining warriors focused on culling the demon wolves as they are using everything, they have to protect the two lesser fenrirs.

Solstice and Lycan also used the chance to come close to Skoll as the unique boss is more focused on the eastern overlord. Before the two could come close, a pack of ten high level demon wolves surrounded them. Countless wind blades then came to their location as Peridot provided them support so that they could regroup.

On the other side, the western overlord is basically making use of the Storm that Peridot summoned to add more power in her attacks. She already repelled Hati from climbing the mud wall more than once as the latter is determined to chase Adrian's group.

The western overlord does not want Hati to touch the wall or else the water attribute that is holding it together might nullify. She is also immensely shocked by the half elemental that she is battling with as he provided clear support that would mistake them as battling for years due to their synergy.

Vayu would use the air currents that the Storm Vulture to swing his attacks back towards Hati. The lesser fenrir has been caught off guard a bunch of times which made it take some heavy damage. Despite the obvious advantage, the battle does not seem to end soon which is their greatest fear.

If Adrian's group perishes because they could not follow them then this world is doomed. Although they have an overlord and the Selvaggian King, something inside them is telling them that it is not enough. This heavy looming feeling that something bad will happen has been present ever since the energy wave hit them.

Adrian's group that advanced further into the northern territory is met with five or ten demon wolves, but they were easily dispatched by the southern overlord with King Leonidas and his royal knights. Adrian is now focused on getting to the area of the Wilde Flower since the eastern and western overlord created an unbreachable wall just to stop any pursuers.

"Is the area where the source of that energy wave near?" King Leonidas asked the southern overlord as he is also getting impatient.

"We are almost there. It should be just behind this cliff." The Southern Overlord stated, and she was not mistaken.

Pass the snowy cliff is a huge open area with a small land with grass. The area covered with green lush grass is only about a meter in diameter with an odd flower growing in the middle of it. Every individual present could tell that this flower must be extraordinary for it to be able to bloom in such a desolate place as the north.

The group cautiously went towards the flower as the Southern Overlord stated that it is the Wilde Flower, but something is strange about its aura. She could not tell from this far which is why they needed to get closer. They moved with each other's back touching against one another as they do not know where the Wolf of Disaster might attack.

When the group is about to reach the fifty-meter mark, their surroundings suddenly got shrouded in complete darkness. Even Adrian's vision is completely dark which has never happened before. This is the first time that he experienced this since he could even see in the darkness of space.

"Everyone r.." The Sacred Snake shouted followed by her loud shriek as she got attacked by something.

Chapter 540 - Fenris The Wolf Of Disaster

A loud shriek came from the voice of the Sacred Snake as Adrian already memorized her tone. They could not see as darkness descended upon all of them. This is certainly a skill that the Wolf of Disaster is using. After the shriek of the Sacred Snake, a blinding light is radiated from her body that expelled the darkness.

Adrian and the others saw how the Sacred Snake was in the jaws of a large wolf that towers everyone present except the southern overlord. The fur of this wolf could only be called the blackest of night as even light does not make it sheen. It looks like this giant wolf's fur itself is devouring the light.

World Boss: Fenris

Race: Fenrir

Title: Wolf of Disaster, God-Devourer, Alpha, Usurper

Status: Weakened by the punishment of the Gods

Level: 280

Description: The Wolf that is said to devourer the world itself after consuming all the gods. It is born to devour and grow stronger to the point that even the gods feared him. It has been dubbed as the Wolf of Disaster as he brings calamity unto the world. The more divine beings that he devours then the more powerful that he gets.

He is said to be the one of the children of the giant gods but was thrown away due to his violent nature. They tried sealing him at first, but it was ineffective as no seal could pin him down in one area. The god of smithing then crafted a specialized chain that will restrain the Wolf of Disaster forever.

The only downside for the chain is the fact that Fenris has become too weak to ever stay in the divine realm which is why he got sent to the lower realm. The gods put him in a special mortal realm where he would have withered and died but his father, Loki, decided to punish the gods due to the harsh treatment of his son.

"What the heck is this game? Why would Sirius' evolution depend on a level 280 world boss? Are the developers onto me because I have been badmouthing them?" Adrian thought to himself as he did not expect a world boss that is at the level of 280.

Adrian fears that Fenris might have another form like his children which would then increase his level to 300. If that the case then forgets about winning, even making it out alive will be incredibly difficult. But Adrian suddenly saw hope as he could see that the world boss is not able to kill the Sacred Snake with one shot.

Adrian then observed the chains that had runic letters that he does not recognize. It seems that it the item needed for Sirius' evolution. He speculated that it must be a divine item as he could not see its value unlike that of Fenris.

Adrian suddenly felt overwhelming anger upon seeing Fenris' form. Accurately speaking, it is Sirius who is in a deep state of anger. Their soul resonance is basically triggered due to Sirius' intense hatred towards Fenris. So much so that wolf like features is already materializing on Adrian's body.

"Big Brother calm down." Creepysoo stated as he tugged on Adrian.

Adrian did not realize that he was almost overcome by hatred. He almost just jumped out and attacked the world boss without thinking. If he did that then he will just be serving up a divine dish platter towards the Wolf of Disaster.

"I smell someone with divinity. To think that you would serve yourself to me. Thank you for the meal." Fenris stated which everyone could hear.

Adrian suddenly gulped as the eyes of the world boss is actually focused on him. The world boss' eyes then shifted towards King Leonidas. Fenris then smiled once more as he could see that the King of Selvaggian race is once again here in his territory.

"To think that a lion beastkin is here again. Is it that time of the century again where you serve your heads to me? The previous kings managed to reach me, but they were too weak to even land a blow on my body. They were a good seasonal meal though as prey should struggle for it to be delicious." Fenris stated which definitely angered the Selvaggian King.

Before the royal knights could even pacify the Selvaggian King, he was already gone from his location. The Selvaggian King suddenly appeared and dealt a heavy uppercut towards the Wolf of Disaster. If the Selvaggian King was not filled with fury, then he might not have done it but there was no turning back now.

The uppercut that King Leonidas used is really powerful that it lifted Fenris off the ground. This was only possible because the Selvaggian King has already entered Beastification. The royal knights forgot to even issue a command as they followed their king and used their Beastification as well.

Adrian, who saw this happened, suddenly had a frightening premonition. He suddenly got chills as to why a world boss of that strength actually used provocation. It seems that they are playing in the hands of the Wolf of Disaster.

It was not only the Wolf of Disaster's level that is high but also his tongue. The other beastkin warriors who did not received orders did what their leaders did and entered Beastification. They all charged towards the Wolf of Disaster.

"What do we do?" Kabrakan suddenly stated as he did not join the herd mentality that the beastkins used.

"I feel like we got played. Why would the Wolf of Disaster provoke the beastkins...unless?!" Adrian stated as he suddenly made a realization.

"Unless what?" Kabrakan asked.

"Unless he is that confident in enduring the blows. The weakness of Beastification happens after the duration. That sly wolf also used the mentality of the beastkins against us. We are caught in a trap." Adrian stated.

"As expected of the Blind Demon God. You managed to observe that Fenris used a skill that provoked the beastkins. It seems that he used that to instigate a reaction and by the looks of it is extremely effective. I do not know how that darn wolf managed to get that skill, but he used it as if it was natural." The Sacred Snake stated as she noticed the sound waves were different when the world boss spoke.

"Yeah...I noticed that." Adrian stated as he could see some of the beastkin warriors staring to become tired.

"What should we do, Big Bro?" Soleil asked.

"What else can we do but fight. We need to deal as much damage as we can. Make sure that we do not die in the process though. Or if you guys die in the process, make sure to be in one area." Adrian stated.

"Why in one area?" Creepsoo asked.

"So, I could reverse time in that area and revive you guys." Adrian stated as he started summoning his soulbounds.

Creepsoo also summoned two of his undead knights plus skeletons to form an army around his two undead knights. Soleil started to use her elemental magic to coat the beastkins with flame armor since she could damage them if she hits them with spells. The beastkins are basically throwing their body at Fenris without a care in the world as if they have gone feral.

When Adrian successfully summoned his soulbounds, Sirius suddenly howled. The Shadow Domain that he possessed suddenly covered a vast area. Even Adrian is shocked because Sirius has never done this before, but the sudden empowerment actually is coming from Adrian.

[Your soulbound, Sirius, is using your own mana to empower himself.]

Adrian's eye popped out as he suddenly only has a quarter of all his mana. He had to drink a mana potion immediately as his mana is still dropping. When Sirius howled, Fenris suddenly shifted its sight towards the demon wolf soulbound.

Fenris, who was not paying attention towards Adrian's group, suddenly leaked immense bloodlust. The immense bloodlust suddenly snapped the feral urges of the beastkin warriors. The shock that they felt from the bloodlust is more like someone who is asleep getting drenched in cold water.

Even though Adrian did not expect that to happen, he still welcomed it. Now that Fenris cancelled the effect of his own ability, the beastkins started to move with more coordination instead of the chaotic fight earlier.

Sirius, however, seem to resonate with the surroundings as his Shadow Domain expanded by a lot. Shadow warriors that have the forms of wolves suddenly started to materialize using Sirius' domain. Adrian realized what his soulbound is doing because he could see it.

The spirits of the dead wolves that lived in this area are all flocking towards the Shadow Domain to be reincarnated temporarily. This ability is basically some sort of inheritance from Adrian as his powers has already fully affected Sirius. There is one soul that Sirius could not pull as he is not powerful enough or well versed in using spirits.
