

O Summoner 541

Chapter 541 - Storm Vulture Versus Hati

The western overlord, the Storm Vulture, is having an easier time in battling Hati. The lesser fenrir could not deal with her attacks that rage like the storm and as fast as sonic booms. The deadliest part about her is the talons that carry the lightning element itself.

Vayu that has been supporting her is very beneficial to her as they could synchronize their strengths. Vayu would produce the great winds like tornadoes and wind blades while the Storm Vulture would use those to entrap Hati.

Hati did not let itself get bullied one-sidedly though as it would counterattack whenever the Storm Vulture or Vayu would get close to it. The long-range attacks that Vayu and the Storm Vulture are doing is not always accurately hitting Hati because of its unique passive skill.

Vayu also has a passive skill that generates cold wind on his attacks which is not great towards Hati. The lesser Fenrir could manipulate the cold part of the wind to materialize as small ice shards that he uses to attack the surroundings.

The people fighting Hati could feel that the temperature in their area is decreasing as their breaths blows cold air unlike before that can only be faintly seen. They also noticed that Hati becomes more powerful for each demon wolf that they kill.

What they did not know because neither Creepysoo nor Equinox is there, the spirits of the demon wolves are being devoured by Hati. Even his sister, Skoll, is also starting to devour the souls of the demon wolves as the elemental energy they are building in their body is becoming cataclysmic.

Hati is starting to glow with a blue and black light while its body is starting to have some sort of cracks. There are numerous cracks in his body is seeping blue and black light which made everyone wary. The beastkin warriors and players no longer attacked the body part with cracks in fear of being blasted with elemental energy.

This behavior has been seen from one of the monsters roaming The Wilde that has no attacking abilities. It would seem that Hati has gotten this ability from eating this monster. The beastkins noticed this and started to carefully attack Hati in parts without cracks.

[The temperature in your area is rapidly decreasing.]

The system notification informed Vayu that Hati is doing something. The rainfall that their area is experiencing is suddenly turning to snow. The snow started to slow down the beastkin warriors that are attacking Hati as they were seeing mirror images or hallucinations of the lesser fenrir.

"Red Tornado!" The Storm Vulture stated.

She flapped her giant mighty wings, and two red tornadoes came out of it. The two tornadoes carried the fire element which heated up the area. Hati is not welcoming this change as the bitter cold is the perfect environment for the unique boss.

Hati then charged towards the Storm Vulture using some sort of skill that lets it walk on an invisible floor or tile. This skill is a form of movement skill that is limited to those who have the mastery over the water element. It is a skill that used water to create a temporary floor or tile in order to extend the movement of the user.

The Storm Vulture expected that Hati has a skill like this as she was not surprised by the sudden ascension of the lesser Fenrir. Peridot, who saw this, tried to use the earth element Rock Avalanche but she needs to chant it. Even if she could cast it, the spell will still take longer to get fully formed.

"Wind Walker!" Vayu stated.

Vayu started to walk on the very wind itself. He looked so graceful and elegant as if he is dancing in the wind. The skill Wind Walker basically enables him to use the air itself as a platform, but it has limited strides unlike Hati's. Only those with fast eye reactions could see him as his speed is also greatly increased during the duration of the skill.

With each step of Wind Walker, Vayu reached Hati's location. When he is about to plunge his katana on Hati's neck, the lesser Fenrir suddenly disappeared as it collapsed into darkness. The fire tornadoes that are supposed to hit Hati is now in a collision course against Vayu.

Vayu did not get startled as his face showed absolute confidence and serenity. He did not even try to dodge as his body and fire tornadoes came close to one another. When Vayu and the fire tornado is about to collide, Vayu's body suddenly vanished into thin air and a pale silhouette is left in his place.

Vayu materialized below the ground as he used one of his prized abilities called Tranquil. It basically uses the wind element to backtrack his location from ten seconds ago. It would then break down his body into winds and he would get reconstituted at his location about ten seconds ago.

Vayu materialized on the ground, but Hati is still nowhere to be seen. Suddenly, Vayu sensed strong killing intent behind him, and he reacted quickly but he got hit by Hati's claws. He should have been immune to physical attacks to some extent, but Hati's attack is enchanted by the darkness and water element.

Vayu got sent flying with critical injuries as he got hit by an empowered attack that dealt double damage. The Storm Vulture saw this and dove towards the ground as she planned to blind the lesser Fenrir using her talons empowered with the wind element. AS her attack is about to connect. Hati vanished once again but reappeared immediately.

Hati reappeared behind the diving Storm Vulture, but he did not use his claws. The unique boss used its jaws that is empowered with the darkness and water element to bite down on the neck of the storm vulture. A loud shriek is heard by everyone and noticed that it came from the Storm Vulture. It is then followed by the crackling of red lighting in the area.

Chapter 542 - Grand Toad Versus Skoll

The eastern overlord versus Skoll is something that can only be stated as not fair. The eastern overlord with his two subordinates is battling Skoll with Solstice, Lycan, and the beastkin warriors. The eastern overlord might have been winning but there are many beastkins that are already dead on their side.

The beastkins are now half the number that they have. Some died while some got critically injured and are no longer able to battle. Even with Levin Cloud's support, they could not get back to battle as the attacks of the unique boss is preventing healing effects.

Everyone damaged by Skoll will get the reduced healing status debuff due to her skill Cauterize. The heat of her attacks basically immediately burns the wounds thereby immediately closing it. The closed wounds would then slow down in healing as it is still burning their skin layer.

Even Solstice and Lycan could barely give great support as they still wanted to keep some of their skills in order to kill the final boss. They must not use all their cards here or else they will be useless when it comes to fighting the World Boss.

The Sword Toad which carries two swords is currently using his great agility and jumping power in order to damage Skoll. The only problem is that the Sword Toad is already tired as it is breathing heavier than before. Giant beads of sweat could also be seen rolling down its moist skin.

The Bubble Toad could not provide great support as its bubbles are no longer effective against Skoll. The unique boss is now burning so hot that she melted the snow around her. The temperature is rising rapidly that even the beastkins with great stamina is showing signs of immense exhaustion.

The Grand Toad used his mud abilities but the ground below him is already too dry to be shaped. The Grand Toad could only use skills that used the earth in creating weapons or tombs. Needless to say, the situation is turning dire.

The Grand Toad then heard the shriek of the Storm Vulture which made him lose focus on the battle for a split second. That split second was all it took for Skoll to launch a counterattack. Skoll suddenly vanished as the sword of the Sword Toad passed through air.

Skoll reappeared beside the Grand Toad as she aimed for the latter's neck. The unique boss' fangs became shrouded in flames as she aimed towards the neck of the Grand Toad. The Grand Toad is about to try and evade but he could not jump immediately as he was caught unaware.

As Skoll's jaws near the Grand Toad's neck, a smoking pipe suddenly greeted her jaws. The smoking pipe got bitten by Skoll, but it immediately broke into two. This shocked even the Grand Toad that is now a few meters away from Skoll as the former managed to jump back.

The Bubble Toad suddenly noticed the killing intent poured towards itself, but it was too late. The enmity that it got from blocking Skoll's attack is transferred to her. A ring of fire suddenly enveloped the Bubble Toad as it screamed in pain. Skoll's eyes became a blazing inferno as fire came out of it.

The Sword Toad saw that its partner is in trouble which is why it recklessly aimed his swords towards Skoll's neck. The burning gaze that Skoll had suddenly shifted towards the Sword Toad as the latter started to combust. The Bubble toad that was on fire is no longer burning but his body is still charred.

Fortunately, the Bubble Toad is still alive, but its body is now pitch black due to being burned. Its skin is also dry due to losing moisture which is dangerous for it as frog or toad monsters breathe using their skin. The Bubble Frog could be seen struggling to even stand up as it started to shudder.

The Grand Toad, who saw his underling in great pain, used a skill to preserve the Bubble Toad.

"Rejuvenating Mud!" The Grand Toad Stated as the muddy area around the Bubble Toad swallowed the latter's charred body.

Not only that, Levin Cloud also applied a blessing on the mud in order to heal the Bubble Toad faster. Seeing that the gaze of the unique boss is dangerous, Solstice and Lycan attacked from two different side. Solstice and Lycan flanked the left and right sides, respectively.

Solstice formed a large array of blood swords around her as she collected them from the dead demon wolves that the beastkins are still fighting. Lycan transformed his claws into werewolf claws and even used a buff on it as it radiated a bloody red aura.

As soon as the Grand Toad managed to heal his subordinate, it looked at Skoll with sharp killing intent. The Grand Toad suddenly dove towards the ground and vanished from sight. The ground below Skoll suddenly started cracking unusually as it sunk the unique boss' feet.

The uneven standing ground made Skoll trip due to the uneven ground but that is not all that the Grand Toad has done. The cracks on the ground suddenly became bigger and the Grand Toad used his head to strike Skoll. The unique boss emitted a pained growl as it got attacked by a hundred blood swords and her left eye got scratched.

The burning Sword Toad plopped onto the ground with it charred body. The Grand Toad used the same skill that he used on the Bubble Toad. The Sword Toad got swallowed by the ground and is now unable to battle. Skoll's killing intent suddenly became strong as the sun as her left eye is throbbing in pain while bleeding.

Seeing as they angered the unique boss, Solstice and Lycan is extremely happy. They are happy because an intelligent boss monster that is full of rage cannot focus on thinking about the battle. Boss monsters like that will rely on their instincts in order to fight.

What they did not know is that they went too far as Skoll is now using her ultimate ability. Skoll's body is suddenly absorbing the light and heat from her surroundings. She now looks like a radiating sun in the middle of the dark stormy night.

Chapter 543 - Death Of Skoll And Hati Part 1

The Storm Vulture and Hati crashed to the ground as the loud wail of pain from the western overlord is heard. After the wail of the western overlord, a thundering red thunder cloud then spread outwards on the location the Storm Vulture and Hati fell.

The aeromorph elders did not look worried but there is a slight uncertainty painted on their face as they saw their overlord crashing to the ground. The red thunder cloud that spread out is the signal that the western overlord is now extremely serious about killing Hati.

The red thunder cloud is actually part of the domain skill that the Storm Vulture has used. It already expanded to the extent that it also reached the area where the Grand Toad and Skoll are fighting. The wind element in the surroundings started to intensify as if a storm landed on the ground.

[The Western Overlord, Storm Vulture, has used her domain skill, Ventus Primus.]

[All wind elemental attacks and skills will have twice the damage when inside the domain skill.]

[Enemies inside the domain will receive random damage from wind blades that are generated in the domain skill.]

[The Storm Vulture will have increased damage and agility inside the domain and has a 30% chance to evade enemy attacks.]

[Those who are not of the wind element will have a drop in stats by 15% for the duration of the domain skill.]

[All allies receive a wind element enchantment on their attacks and spells.]

[Evasion rate has also increased by 20%.]

The red thunder cloud gave everyone an immense buff that can only be called a godlike buff. A 20% evasion rate increase is like telling your enemy that his spells are useless. Since evasion rate is further enhanced by the distance that you have against your opponent.

From the red thunder clouds, the gallant figure of the Storm Vulture rose as if she just risen from her own ashes like a phoenix. Red lightning then came down from the dark clouds above the sky and struck down on Hati. The wail of the unique boss is then heard as the advance form of the wind element, lightning, is very effective against Hati's elemental affinity.

The lightning coursed through the unique boss' body as the idle elders of the aeromorph species attacked. The three elders simultaneously shot their feathers at the unique boss and each feather sliced through the tough defenses of Hati.

The cracks on Hati's body that seeped out blue and black light continued to spread which made those attacking the unique boss wary. Their wariness is dispelled by the Storm Vulture attacking the lesser fenrir, she showed no mercy as she bombarded Hati with red lightning.

Hati might be strong, but his race is still just that of a lesser fenrir. Hati's level might be high but in terms of the Persona scale, it is the Storm Vulture that far outclasses the lesser fenrir as she is the peak evolution of her species.

The Storm Vulture looked as if she fused with the red thunder cloud that she brought down on the ground. Hati tried damaging her, but she would dissipate and then reappear a few meters away from her previous location. The lesser Fenrir is now being bullied by the western overlord as his attacks are no longer reaching the enemy.

Hati tried attacking the beastkin warriors but the western overlord and the elders of the aeromorph race blocked him. Even though Hati could consume the souls of the demon wolves, it does not mean that he could keep consuming them wantonly as even the soul of a future disaster has a limit.

With each kill of a demon wolf, the soul would be sent towards Hati, and some sort of twitch would occur that makes the unique boss sluggish. The Storm Vulture would use that sluggish moment to rain hell on Hati which made the unique boss feel like a normal boss monster then again, the Storm Vulture is a boss monster herself.

Hati is now getting bombarded by the Storm Vulture and the elders of the aeromorph race. So much so that the unique boss is literally pinned to the ground as it received an endless array of attacks.

The Storm Vulture would have reserved her domain skill for the fight against the Wolf of Disaster, but Hati angered her because the mutt bit her.

"To think that a filthy mutt dare lay its jaws on my beautiful neck!" The Storm Vulture stated as she continued on with her unrelenting attacks.

The western overlord is very prideful in her neckline as that is where she keeps the volatile red lightning element that is unique to her race. The moment that Hati bit her neck, pure red lightning elemental energy surged inside Hati's body that its front left leg is already paralyzed.

The reason that the unique boss could not evade is due to one of its legs being paralyzed and continued doing so as he is blasted with red lightning. Coupled by the swift and fierce attacks of the aeromorph elders, the unique boss Hati would die given the amount of time.

"I summon the cold wind of the north, Boreas." Vayu stated as a layer of freezing wind surrounded his body and enchanted his katana.

"I summon the hot wind of the south, Notos." Vayu stated as a layer of hot wind surrounded his body and enchanted his katana as well. Lightning also started to crackle around him as the cold and hot winds surrounded him.

"I summon the harsh winds of the west, Zephyrus." Vayu stated and a wind so fierce that it could cut someone's skin surrounded him and enchanted his kata as well. The aura around his katana is now lightning with wind blades swirling around.

"I summon the serene winds of the east, Eurus." Vayu stated and a gentle breeze surrounded him as if it was hugging him. The violent wind elemental aura around his sword also changed as it became condensed but that only made it fiercer.

"With the four winds at my behest, I strike true." Vayu stated as he unsheathed his katana in under a second and sheathed it back again. A few seconds later, it felt like the world itself was cut as everyone paused because an intense wind elemental energy filled the surroundings.

They even felt that the air itself vanished for a few seconds as they were breathless for that duration. A few moments later, one of Hati's hind legs and tail were cut off. A loud painful wail is generated by the unique boss that it made its other sibling lose focus and charge towards them.

Chapter 544 - Death Of Skoll And Hati Part 2

The battle between the Grand Toad and Skoll became heated because the latter literally changed the soil that she is standing on. The ground beneath the unique boss can only be called burnt ground as that is what is being displayed when anyone uses Inspect.

The burnt ground is favorable to Skoll as it cannot be controlled by the Grand Toad. She managed to escape the Grand Toad's attacks during their previous clash. She immediately too distance and burnt the ground around her in fear of the Grand Toad's masterful utilization of the element it is affiliated with.

Skoll became so hot that a dome around her would immediately turn the rain into steam. Her fiery gaze is no longer as fully effective as before as Lycan managed to blind her left eye. She can only use that fiery gaze if she focuses on an individual.

Suddenly a red cloud enveloped the area which empowered her already difficult opponents. The attacks against her suddenly started to hurt even more as her demon wolf subordinates are getting culled. The souls that she is devouring is almost near the limit as the maximum amount she could consume is about three hundred.

She could no longer risk defending by herself, but she is taking the chance to accumulate enough power to enter her full form. She wants to use the energies that she has gathered so far in order to forcefully evolve herself into a Fenrir.

Since both Skoll and Hati are twins, they could communicate with each other telepathically and they already made a plan to force their evolution. The numerous cracks on their bodies symbolizes the mortal cocoon that is preventing them to evolve.

Fenrirs are not what is told like the legends that they are the evolutions of the demon wolf or the lesser Fenrir species. Fenrirs are actually godly creatures that devours the gods in order to become more powerful until they devour everything. The title of a disaster is not for show after all.

The only reason that Fenris could stay in the mortal realm is the Chain of the Gods that bound him. Those chains not only keep him from being mortal but also lets him stay in the mortal realm. If Skoll and Hati evolve then they would become true fenrirs as they are not bound by anything which would then make the prophecies about them come true.

Everything going according to plan by Skoll's standards as they would sacrifice the demon wolves for their evolution, but she suddenly heard the horrid wail of her brother. She then used her remaining right eye to focus on his brother as their mental connection suddenly cut off.

Skoll saw that one of her brother's hind leg and tail are cut off cleanly and his blood is dying the ground. Her anger reached a boiling point that even the ground started to melt. The Grand Toad could see that Skoll is no longer in the right mind to think about what is occurring around her which is part of his plan.

The Grand Toad already found out how Skoll could appear and disappear instantly. She could do that because of her unique attribute that is light and fire. She would bend the light rays around her which would then turn herself invisible. She would then make her heat signature vanish so that even those with thermal detection could not sense her.

She once again used that trick, but the Grand Toad does not want her to get close to her brother. The Grand Toad is very thankful for the Storm Vulture for her assistance and her domain skill. Skoll is no longer thinking straight which is why the Grand Toad is now assured of his victory.

"If the hot-blooded western overlord is already using her domain, then why should I restrain myself. Terrian Aquos Primus." The eastern overlord stated.

The ground beneath the eastern overlord suddenly became muddier than before. The ground itself became almost liquid that the demon wolves in the area are sinking beneath it. The beastkin warriors are not affected by the surroundings though.

[The Eastern Overlord, the Grand Toad, has activated his domain skill, Terrian Aquos Primus.]

[All enemies in the area that is standing on earth will sink about once millimeter per second. The more that they move or struggle then the faster that they will sink.]

[All the enemies will be unable to jump or fly in the sky if their feet are on the ground.]

[All allies will receive both earth and water elemental enchantment on their attacks and skills.]

[All allies will have an increased 10% defense and heal 1% of their maximum health every five seconds.]

[All enemies will be slowed by 50% for the first 10 seconds of the duration of the domain.]

[Only the Grand Toad is allowed vertical mobility in his domain.]

Another set of ridiculous system notifications popped up for the players. Although one of it is also detrimental to them as they cannot jump in the air. They tried but they could only fail as the Grand Toad is the only one allowed to have vertical mobility in his domain.

This might not be great to allies but it is compensated by the immense healing that they will receive just by standing on the earth. Skoll, who was invisible due to the skill that she used, suddenly became sluggish as she noticed that she is sinking. She tried jumping but she could not as if a gravity itself is forbidding her to jump.

The Grand Toad then saw four gapping holes on the ground that is not made by anyone. He could immediately tell that Skoll is in that location. Thanks to the immense slow of his domain, Skoll is temporarily trapped and sinking in that area.

"Mud Bomb!" The Grand Toad stated as his belly became large, and he spit out a large mudball in the location where Skoll is. Skoll got drenched by the mud which made her even more sluggish. It also decreased her vision and made her heavier which made half of her body sink into the muddy ground itself. Even her intense body heat could not save her now.

Chapter 545 - Death Of Skoll And Hati Part 3

Skoll is sinking faster beneath the ground while Hati is being blasted by attacks from every angle. The two lesser fenrirs are no longer in control as they are being overpowered by the domains that are active. The worst part for the two lesser fenrirs is that they do not have their own domain skills.

A Domain skill is one of the qualifications to attain godhood which means not all boss monsters would have it. If the two lesser fenrirs evolved themselves then they might awaken one since fenrirs are godlike monsters as long as they are not bound.

The two lesser fenrirs finally reconnected their minds back together. Hati, who is basically almost at death's door, told his sister that his time is almost up. He would have to use the unregulated energy that he had accumulated.

If Hati used the energy that he has yet to properly spread across his body, he would evolve but it might not be the perfect evolution. He also has a small chance of dying since energy that is not properly regulated could turn himself into a ticking time bomb. Hati told his sister that he does not mind exploding as long as he could kill their enemies with him.

When Hati's health reached the 10% threshold, all the demon wolves under him suddenly died as their souls are all sucked by the unique boss. The death of the demon wolves shocked the beastkin warriors that are focusing on them.

Hati's body suddenly glowed in a black and blue light and an intense energy enveloped his body. The intense energy even created a shockwave that sent everyone flying including the gigantic western overlord. The shockwave did not even get reduced in power as even those at the very end got knocked back.

Skoll, who his brother's resolve, also attempted the same thing. She sucked in all the souls of the demon wolves under her in order to push through her evolution. The ground that sucked her beneath suddenly got scattered as a shockwave of intense energy sent it flying in all directions.

The eastern warlord, who was ready for the impact of the shockwave, erected a giant mud wall to soften the shockwave but it was not enough. The shockwave sent the Grand Toad flying all the way to the sides.

Two spheres with two varying colors are then present in the battlefield. One sphere is radiating in a blue and black flame that dropped the temperature of the surroundings. The other is radiating a gold and red flame that burned its surroundings. The eastern and western overlord, who the two spheres, immediately commanded everyone to launch their attacks on it.

The two overlords actually felt fear when they sensed the energy that the two spheres emitted. Upon the command of the two overlords, the dazed beastkin warriors charged and attacked the two energy spheres with all their might. It was a command of the two overlords that protect The Wilde after all.

Levin Cloud, who is overseeing the whole situation, suddenly remembered something like this happening. A cocoon like sphere that radiated immense energy is the same situation where they encountered the other sphinx. He immediately started chanting as he needs to enter his fighting mode.

The time for choosing a supporting role is no longer viable. Peridot also started chanting the other two spells that she stored in two of her gems. She sensed that if she does not attack now then she might get killed. The instincts of a dragonkin are not to be undermined and she was taught about this by her master herself.

"Storm Vulture!" The Grand Toad stated.

"Grand Toad!" The Storm Vulture stated.

Both of the overlords looked at each other and seemed to have come into an understanding. The red thunder clouds suddenly rolled in closer towards the Grand Toad while the muddy area spread towards the Storm Vulture.

"The nature of The Wilde. I as the overlord of the east. Shall have the forces of nature be one." The Grand Toad stated.

"The nature of The Wilde. I as the overlord of the west. Shall have the forces of nature be one." The Storm Vulture stated.

The two domains of the overlord suddenly collided with each other that they fused and enhance the effects of one another. This is like the time where Adrian and the others managed to summon Paraiso. Unlike them that did it by chance, the overlords made their domain fuse by their own volition.

[The Ventus Primus domain and the Terrian Aquos domain has fused together creating the Harmonious Domain of the Three Elements.]

[All effects of the previous domains will double while the duration of the domain will reset.]

[Harmonious Domain of the Three Elements will last until an hour or when the Grand Toad or the Storm Vulture gets killed.]

The thing that made Fenris fear the overlords is their ability to combine their domains. It is only possible if they are in The Wilde as their powers come from the will of the world itself. This is one of the reasons that Fenris would always send demon wolves out to every territory in order to ensure that the overlords cannot make plans of taking him down.

"Mountain Crusher!" The Grand Toad stated.

"Thunderous Boom!" The Storm Vulture stated.

The Grand Toad's Mountain Crusher is a physical attack that gives the user's hand the power to crush even a real mountain. The Storm Vulture's Thunderous Boom is a skill that summons the most infamous winds to blast the enemies to smithereens.

The remaining beastkin warriors used their Beastification. Even the royal knights that remained did so as well since the look on the two overlords are desperate. Peridot finally finished casting her spells. She fired off the ultimate fire spell Inferno and the ultimate earth spell, Pangea.

Th spells hit the two energy spheres and a cracking sound could be heard. A system notification appeared in order to reward them of their efforts.

[You have killed the Unique Boss, Skoll.]

[You have killed the Unique Boss, Hati.]

Chapter 546 - Lunari Fenrir

The soul that loomed in the area that Sirius cannot control seemed to know of him. Adrian saw that this shadow is actually lingering near Sirius. Adrian could tell that this soul is related to Sirius somehow, but he cannot see the form of the soul probably due to how old it is.

"Big Brother, we are going nowhere. The beastkin warriors are already exhausted from fighting while the royal knights and King Leonidas is taking considerable damage." Creepysoo stated.

"Even the pretty snake is recovering from her wounds. She is having a difficult time getting healed even by the pretty bird." Soleil stated as she saw that even Saena's heals are not potent enough.

"I know. We should step in the battle but the frenzied attacks of the beastkins is difficult to join in." Adrian replied.

"Even my two undead knights are getting damaged by them because their attacks are random." Creepysoo argued as his undead knights are getting damaged just by damaging the Wolf of Disaster.

"Even I find it difficult to join as they already forgotten the point of defending. They are letting their instincts determine the outcome. We will definitely lose if this keeps up. Only 20% of Fenris' health is decreased despite fighting it for too long." Kabrakan argued as he cannot join the fight as a tank.

"You are not the only one with the problem. I already used up Charon and Dodu's defensive skills to save King Leonidas from getting killed. I swear I saw the Wolf of Disaster glare at Dodu when it used its skill to transfer physical damage." Adrian stated as he feared the cunningness and attention to the battlefield of Fenris.

"We should no longer hold back and attack wholeheartedly. Waiting for the others to arrive is no longer a viable option." Creepysoo stated as he held his staff and chanted another spell.

"With our contract that has been sealed by the God of Death himself, the joyous cheers of the dead echoes in these great halls. I summon the one who is called the Ioa himself to manifest before me and use my body as a vessel.

I call forth Baron Samedi to aid me in my peril." Creepysoo chanted as a magic circle of unknown origins manifested beneath his feet that even Adrian could not read.

A coffin suddenly emerged from the ground and closed on Creepysoo. Fenris, who saw the coffin, suddenly shifted its attention to it. The world boss that is taunting and evading suddenly turned serious as it charged towards the coffin.

"Fenris is headed for Creepysoo's coffin. Block the world boss with all your might. Kanlaon!" Adrian shouted.

Kanlaon received Adrian's commands and coiled his large body against Fenris and blasted it with its dragon breath. Fenris did not even bother shaking off Kanlaon as its attacks were not that damaging towards it as it is using a special skill.

Sirius, whose anger has still yet to subside, used its numerous shadow soldiers to swarm Fenris. Soleil also joined in on the defense as he summoned Regulus once more and even created a fire sphere to protect Creepysoo's coffin.

"Momentum Crash!" Kabrakan stated as he rammed his two shields towards Fenris.

Fenris' momentum suddenly stopped as he clashed against the two shields that Kabrakan wielded. Not only that, Fenris got pushed back by a few meters since the skill that Kabrakan used the momentum of the one that he blocks.

"Soul Recall!" Adrian chanted as he opened a door to the underworld and prayed that his luck triggers.

Adrian, who is too focused in chanting, did not notice that the unique soul that is lingering around Sirius disappeared. That very soul came close to the summoning gate that Adrian conjured up. That soul overridden the soul that Adrian is supposed to summon.

[A powerful soul has overridden the gate that the skill Soul Recall has conjured.]

[Due to this, mana cost will be increased to 30% of the user's mana.]

[The user cannot recover 30% of his total mana while the soul summoned is still active.]

[Due to the soul being too powerful from the user's soul and breaking the limitations of the spell restrictions, compensation should be paid by the summoner.]

[30% of the summoner's health will be used up and cannot be recovered for the duration of the summon.]

Adrian got shocked by the system notification that he read. The gate that he summoned suddenly changed to that of a skeleton like gate to a Torii. His health and mana also disappeared. 30% of his total health is immediately grayed out and is not recovering just like what the system notification stated.

Fenris, who is wary of the coffin that Creepysoo summoned, turned its attention to the Torii that should have been a gate to the underworld. The Sacred Snake's eyes suddenly widened upon seeing the gate as that is the signature gate of the past northern overlord.

From the gate, a white wolf that has fur as white as snow came out. She exuded elegance and dignity that befits an overlord. Most of all, the shadow wolves that Sirius summoned all bowed towards this white wolf. Even Fenris shot all of its bloodlust towards this white wolf.

Summoned Monster: Lunari Fenrir

Title: Beloved Pet of the Moon Goddess, Northern Overlord (temporary)

Level: 230

Description: The late northern overlord that is said to be the favorite pet of the Goddess of the Moon. It is said that this monster is even blessed by the Goddess of Night so that it could control the shadows itself. This monster is also called the Shadow Moon Monarch.

The sudden appearance of the Lunari Fenrir suddenly calmed down the raging beastkins. Such is the effect of the Lunari Fenrir's passive skill called Lunar Revel. Sirius, who is raging with anger, also calmed down and started to cry upon seeing the loving gaze of the Lunari Fenrir towards him.

"It seems that I summoned Sirius' mother." Adria thought to himself as an angry Fenris charged towards him with jaws wide open.

Chapter 547 - Wolf Wraiths

[You have killed the Unique Boss, Skoll.]

[You have killed the Unique Boss, Hati.]

The system notification brought an immense feeling of joy to everyone that participated in the battle. Those that were heavily injured were told to retreat with the bodies of the deceased. The battle against the two unique bosses were not without its sacrifices.

The only one who noticed something is wrong is Levin Cloud as he noticed that none of them got experience points. He suddenly sensed something with his death energy. He did not immediately notice it as he has yet to fully master it even with the aid of the dark elves.

His inexperience brought everyone into danger as they let their guards down. The spheres of energy that formed the two lesser fenrirs suddenly started to collect itself again. The two unique bosses might be dead but that does not mean that they are truly dead.

The miasma partnered with a strong soul is something that no one would want in one place. That very formula is what you need to create a special type of undead that is immune to physical attacks.

The energies of light and fire started to gather and form a skeleton of a wolf. The same is true with the darkness and water element that is converged in the spot where Hati died. The energy became so potent that the weakened beastkins had trouble breathing as they are not well versed in magic.

"Take them away now!" Levin Cloud stated as he tried purifying the miasma that suddenly covered the place.

"A place tainted by defiled mana and a skeletal body. I cannot believe that we are actually witnessing the birth of a natural undead." Levin Cloud stated as he learned of natural undead from the dark elves.

Natural undead are undead made possible due to the clumping of miasma and a strong soul wandering in the area where a large number of miasmas is gathering. They are not like undead that are created by necromancers as they do not obey anyone. A rogue undead is a dangerous undead even by the standards of the dark elves that almost fanatics of the God of Death.

[The two lesser fenrirs, Skoll and Hati, has died. The flow of events will now change for The Wilde as their myth will now be erased from the bowels of history.]

[A different epic is written as a result of their destined prophecies not being fulfilled.]

Everyone in The Wilde received the voice of a woman that told them of an important event. Even for the player's this is not a regular occurrence as the system world message voice is different from this. This should not be the normal world message but more like a prophecy being handed down by a goddess.

The three elusive goddesses of fate that even the other gods could not easily visit as they are different from the others. The goddesses that are known as the Moirai or the Fates. The goddesses Clotho, Lahkesis, and Atropos. The players did not know that the world messages that they hear are actually the voices of the goddesses.

When something beneficial is needed to encourage the world to move then the goddess Clotho would spin the thread of destiny to create and announce it. If the notification is about a player or about a rising legend, then Lahkesis will measure the individual's fate. If something important is destroyed, then Atropos will cut the thread of destiny in order to create another thread of destiny.

The three goddesses of fate do not take sides but take the side of balance and harmony. If they judged that the death of an individual is not that beneficial then they will create an opportunity to truly purge the soul of the unfortunate one.

The three goddesses of fate judged that the soul of the twin lesser fenrirs were still beneficial. If they get killed now, then the balance of The Wilde will become unstable. They used the thread that they cut (the thread representing the destiny of Skoll and Hati) and intertwined it to create another being.

[The unrelenting soul of Skoll that died with great resentment is using the miasma around the surroundings.]

[The unrelenting soul of Hati that died with great resentment is using the miasma around the surroundings.]

[The unrelenting grudge of Skoll has been born as a new monster.]

[The unrelenting grudge of Hati has been born as a new monster.]

Monster: Wolf Wraith (Pale Light and Corrupted Fire attribute)

Level: 200

Status: Deteriorating Health due to instability

Description: A monster born from the grudge of the lesser fenrir Skoll. It is clad with two perverse elements since it is born from pure miasma. Its grudge is a main factor two why it got reborn again but the numerous souls that forms its own is chaotic at the moment. It is immune to physical attacks but get double damage from magical attacks.

Monster: Wolf Wraith (Devouring Darkness and Corrupted Water attribute)

Level: 200

Status: Deteriorating Health due to instability

Description: A monster born from the grudge of the lesser fenrir Hati. It is clad with two perverse elements since it is born from pure miasma. Its grudge is a main factor two why it got reborn again but the numerous souls that forms its own is chaotic at the moment. It is immune to physical attacks but get double damage from magical attacks.

[The Wolf Wraith (Pale Light and Corrupted Fire attribute) is currently in an imperfect state. Stop it from becoming whole.]

[The Wolf Wraith (Devouring Darkness and Corrupted Water attribute) is currently in an imperfect state. Stop it from becoming whole.]

[Time left: 00:30:00]

The wolf wraiths who saw the beastkins emitted their grudge and released miasma in the area. The beastkins that were escaping became sluggish and those that are already having a difficult time breathing are now wheezing.

"Blessing of Nature!" Levin Cloud stated as he covered the whole area with a divine blessing by the Goddess of Life.

Chapter 548 - The Power Of A Disaster

"Blessing of Nature!" Levin Cloud stated as he covered the whole area with a divine blessing by the Goddess of Life.

The area that he blessed is the area where the wheezing beastkins are located. The beastkins are no longer wheezing but they are still poisoned by the miasma. They need to clear the area immediately if they wanted to live.

The major problem is that all the beastkins used Beastification. The fact that they could still move is already a great achievement but telling them to escape hastily then they might as well just die. To make things worse, they must kill the two wolf wraiths within half an hour.

"They are losing 2.5% of their health every minute. We just need to deal 25% of its health with that timeframe." Lycan stated as he noticed that the health of the two monsters is dropping per minute.

"I no longer have any ultimate spells since I used it on their spheres." Peridot stated as she no longer has any spells powerful enough to take-out high-level monsters.

"The good thing is that they are no longer unique bosses which means they have the normal stats of a monster of their level. Although, they are still higher level than us." Solstice stated as she tried converging the blood left in the area so that she could create blood weapons.

"I can still go on as my damage is still considered magic damage which means I could kill those two as long as I get all of your assistance." Vayu stated as he regrouped with the others.

"We will do that then as we still need to catch up with Adrian and the others that went to attack the world boss." Levin Cloud stated as he enchanted everyone with the holy element.

The wolf wraiths seem to be in constant chaos with themselves as they seem to twitch and turn as if they have a sickness that stops them from focusing. The eyes of the wolf wraiths are not focused on Levin Cloud's party and the miasma they are releasing seem to be of random occurrences.

Vayu now empowered by holy attribute charged towards the two wolf wraiths as he seemed to be confident on dealing with both. Solstice and Lycan assisted him while Levin Cloud and Peridot used supporting spells to impede the wolf wraiths.

Vayu swung his katana against the wolf wraith with black and blue flames. The blade of the katana surprisingly hit the spiritual body of the wolf wraith as it squealed in pain as it takes double magic damage at the moment.

When the black and blue wolf wraith got damaged, the other one wanted to bite Vayu but Solstice and Lycan prevented that by attacking the incoming jaw. Just like with Vayu, their attacks hit the spiritual body that is manifesting as different colored flames.

The enchantment that they were given is proven to be effective against the wolf wraiths. The wolf wraiths were about to retaliate when they suddenly sunk their skeletal claws on the ground. An invisible force suddenly started to suck the two wolf wraiths from afar that even caught the players off guard.

"What is happening?" Lycan asked as he never experienced something like this before.

"It seems that they are being pulled by something, but I do not know. The direction where they are getting pulled is..." Levin Cloud stated as he suddenly made a realization of the direction where the spiritual bodies of the wolf wraiths are flickering.

"Everyone! Do not let them get pulled. Use all your crowd control skills to pin them down on their location!" Levin Cloud stated as used thorny vines to root the wolf wraiths.

The direction that the two wolf wraiths are being pulled is further north where Adrian's group is currently located. Something must have happened for the two wolf wraiths to be suddenly get pulled.

"Is the world boss having a hard time? I knew that they get powerful from devouring souls but if that world boss devours the souls of two former unique bosses, then that would be a real disaster." Levin Cloud thought.

"Let me aid you, valiant warriors." The Grand Toad stated as he finally recovered after helping the beastkins getaway.

Mud suddenly piled up on top of the two wolf wraiths, but they were not buried. The two wolf wraiths dd get damaged which made them lose grip and the pulling force suddenly became stronger. The wolf wraiths became incorporeal and turned into wisps.

"Follow those souls!" Levin Cloud shouted as he felt something terrible would happen if it does not stop the two souls.

"Everybody hop on my back. We will head to the wolf of disaster, and it seems that is the direction where those souls are flying." The Storm Vulture stated even though she is extremely exhausted.

"I just need to purify them, but I need to touch the souls themselves." Levin Cloud thought as he needs to have a physical connection to those souls.

====

"It seems that I summoned Sirius' mother." Adria thought to himself as an angry Fenris charged towards him with jaws wide open.

When Adrian is about to get devoured, his shadow extended and swallowed him. He then reappeared a few meters away from the world boss. He then saw the Lunari Fenrir emit some magic power as he could deduce that she saved him from peril.

Sirius, who saw his master get attacked because he was distracted, became even more angry as he launched all the shadow wolves that he summoned towards Fenris. The Lunari Fenrir even conjured up shadow blades to both damage Fenris and root him on the ground.

[The unique boss Skoll has been put to eternally rest.]

[The unique boss Hati has been put to eternally rest.]

Upon hearing the world message, the calm Fenris no longer kept its cool. Adrian could see that the world boss increase in size as the chains that bind it suddenly jingled. It then howled with all its might that it was piercing to the ear.

A few minutes later, Adrian could feel two powerful souls getting near their location. He looked at the direction and he saw two different colored flames plus the Storm Vulture heading their way.

Chapter 549 - Do Not Feed The Wolf

The world message that two of the unique bosses have been slain came as a surprise. Adrian thought that the others would take at least six hours to kill the two unique bosses, but they managed to do it under two hours.

Adrian could then feel two powerful souls travelling towards their location. He looked at the direction and he saw two different colored flames plus the Storm Vulture heading their way. The injuries that the Storm Vulture has sustained could not be ignored as she had trouble flying.

Adrian suddenly received a message from Levin Cloud. The message stated that he must stop the two incoming souls no matter what. Adrian is first confused about the request but then he could see what Levin Cloud is saying.

Adrian's senses suddenly screamed at him as two souls filled with miasma bolts to the sky. He could more or less determine the actual path of the two souls and that was the Wolf of Disaster. Even without Levin Cloud telling him, Adrian immediately summoned his Primordial armament which could cleave even souls apart.

"Paradox, summon the Primordial Armament: Scythe!" Adrian ordered hastily as the two souls were travelling at a fast speed.

A burst of purple lightning is emitted by the Cube of Paradox and the scythe is now at his hands. Adrian immediately consumed all of his Blinks in order to reach the two souls. He then noticed that Fenris also jumped from his location as if he wanted to meet Adrian mid-air.

The Lunari Fenrir and Sirius joined forces to extend the range of the shadows. The shadows then extended like a long tentacle that bound the two hind legs of the world boss. The two then proceeded to pull Fenris back to the ground.

The Sacred Snake that has somewhat recovered thanks to Saena immediately coiled around the wolf of disaster. Kanlaon did so as well since he got the mental command to keep the world boss away from their master. Charon used this chance to connect all the soul chains that he has towards Fenris.

Kimat is now using its lighting attacks towards Fenris. He aimed for the soft parts like the inside of the ears or the eyes whenever he has the chance. Adrian told him this command as his normal attacks are ineffective against the world boss. The elemental cat has yet to fully mature and be ready for evolution. If there even is an evolution path for an elemental cat.

Adrian flew using his wings as he clashed with the two souls. He used his scythe in order to slash away at the two souls in an attempt to destroy them. He knows that his Primordial Armaments are very effective against beings that have immense miasma or made of miasma.

The only thing that Adrian did not account for is his weakened stats. He used all of his nether and primordial energy as a buff to himself to triple his current strength for a second. He thought that the effect would last longer but the thing that the two souls that he just hit felt harder than diamond.

The two souls that are homing towards the world boss suddenly shuddered upon getting hit by the Primordial Armament: Scythe but it did not get damaged as much as Adrian expected. What Adrian did not know is that he managed to shatter the first barrier that the two miasma souls have conjured.

He needs to imitate his strike two more times since the two miasma souls have three barriers that they conjured to protect themselves. This was the last attempt of the two souls of the lesser fenrirs since they do not want to be devoured by their father. Although it is futile because the wolf of disaster has a unique skill that is limited to the Fenrir race.

The skill that Fenrirs have that make them fearsome is their ability to shatter any type of barrier. Be it a physical barrier or a magical barrier, they can easily tear it like paper as long as they are not too outclassed by their enemies. This skill is called World Ender as it is a skill limited to the Fenrir race that are disasters incarnate.

Skill: World Ender

Tier: Mythical (Degraded)

Type: Passive

Effect: The bearer of this skill deal twice the damage to barriers. The bearer of this skill also gain 10% attack power for every barrier that is broken that can stack up to ten times.

Description: The most fearsome ability of fenrirs as this is the skill that earned the title of a disaster. The complete version of this skill could even tear through the barrier between dimensions which is why the Gods of Pandemonium have sealed it due to their fear that the Fenrirs could use it to bring dark gods into the universe.

"Great Job, Equinox!" Now hit it again!" Levin Cloud stated as he is already near Adrian.

Adrian is surprised that the Storm Vulture actually let the others ride on her back, but it was the right call given that it is an emergency. The Grand Toad followed a few seconds later as he could not easily keep up with the western overlord's speed.

The two overlords saw the situation and were shocked to see the figure of the dead northern overlord. They wanted to ask their questions, but the wolf of disaster easily broke out from the binding of both Kanlaon and the Sacred Snake. The Storm Vulture and Grand Toad immediately joined the battle after the former dropped off her passengers.

The two miasma souls that shuddered paused for a few seconds. The world boss once again emitted a roar and the two miasma souls started moving again. Albeit, in a rather slow motion. Adrian tried hitting the two souls once more using his scythe but there is no response. Rather, the response is so minimal that he did not notice.

Levin Cloud joined Adrian above with the help of Peridot's skill to walk in air. Levin Cloud was literally princess carried in mid-air, but no one focused on it as the two miasma souls are getting closer to the world boss. Levin Cloud then changed his pendant into swords made of light and blasted them towards the two miasma souls.

"You take the one on the right while I take the one on the left." Adrian stated as the others that followed join the battle against the Wolf of Disaster. The constant swinging of weapons now started which decreased the stamina of the two best friends sharply.

The other players that joined the battlefield where the world boss is standing. They were shocked upon seeing the beastkin army being unable to respond. The strongest warriors of the beastkin race are now lying limp on the ground while others are at death's door.

The battle of giant monsters also posed as a threat to those lying around as they might get squished. When Kimat could no longer attack the world boss, he then executed the second command that his master told it. He would escort the beastkin that are unable to move to safety since he has grown big enough to carry one.

Dodu also did the same as is just a meat shield if its skills are not active. The odd scene of a slime carrying two bodies of beastkins is definite an odd sight, but no one found it comical. Vayu and Soleil reunited while Creepysoo briefed the others on what happened.

The only beastkins that are active in the battlefield are the fox clan members, the royal knights and King Leonidas. The beastkins seems to have innate synergy with the overlord as they could overpower the current Fenris with their strength. But even the best beastkin will succumb to the effects of the Beastification.

It did not take too long until the fox clan members started to lose the effects of Beastification. The royal knights soon followed as they retreated from the battle. The only one who remained strong is King Leonidas, but everyone could see that he is pushing his limits.

The world boss then emitted strong darkness energy and repelled everyone. Even the shadows that the Lunari Fenrir and Sirius used got disintegrated. It seems that the world boss is finally going to take the fight seriously as it only retaliated with simple attacks so far.

"To think that the four weak overlords would gang up against me. But all of this would end, after I consume the souls of my children. You have entertained me this far but that will stop now as I have a world to devour and an important task to do." Fenris stated as it opened its mouth and inhaled all the air in the surroundings.

Everyone had to plant themselves on the ground so that they will not be sucked alive. Being the meal of a world boss is not on their bucket list today. Adrian and Levin Cloud could no longer keep the two miasma souls away from the world boss, but they managed to shrink it to some degree.

Chapter 550 - Fenris Unbound I

Everyone had to plant themselves on the ground so that they will not be sucked alive. Being the meal of a world boss is not on their bucket list today. Adrian and Levin Cloud could no longer keep the two miasma souls away from the world boss, but they managed to shrink it to some degree.

The two miasma souls managed to get shrunken down to about half their original size. Adrian almost got sucked with the two souls, but Levin Cloud transformed his arms into tree branches and caught him. Adrian then used his skill to control gravity so that they could plop to the ground.

Fenris absorbed the two miasma souls into its body and emitted a deafening howl. He emitted two shockwaves that contained two different energies that decreased the elemental resistance of everyone in the surroundings.

[You have been hit by an unknown energy shockwave that decreased your darkness attribute resistance by 10%.]

[You have been hit by an unknown energy shockwave that decreased your light attribute resistance by 10%.]

[You have been hit by an unknown energy shockwave that decreased your fire attribute resistance by 10%.]

[You have been hit by an unknown energy shockwave that decreased your water attribute resistance by 10%.]

The fact that a simple shockwave managed to decrease elemental resistance immediately made everyone afraid. They were already having a difficult time with the current Fenris, but something changed which made the world boss became deadlier.

Fenris started growing bigger than his original size. The world boss basically doubled in size due to the immense energy that he absorbed. If the two miasma souls were of original size, then the current size might have been twice as big which would mean that the world boss could swallow the other overlords easily.

The overlords immediately tried attacking Fenris when they saw the world boss increasing in size. It is them that sensed the immense danger that the world boss is going to bring. It was more of their natural instincts telling them that an ultimate predator has been born and they must do everything they can so that they could survive.

The overlords are now in survival mode while Adrian is barely recovering any mana. The interference of the summoning of a soul from the underworld has great consequences. It did not take long before Adrian took back control of the mana that Sirius is borrowing from him as he will pass out from the shock if it gets longer.

Adrian could see that the longer that Sirius gets mana from him, the larger the consumption it is per second. Even though he could not easily get mana intoxication from drinking mana potions excessively, he still fears the repercussions that such act entails.

He already read some players becoming slightly immune to the effects of the potions from the forums. It was also proven when a streamer continuously gulped about twenty mana potions. From the eleventh mana potion above, the streamer would get decreased mana regen by about 10% per increment.

Sirius' shadow domain is no longer active as he also strained himself due to rage. Luckily, Adrian managed to summon his mother which quelled some of the anger that Sirius is feeling. If that did not happen then Sirius might rage until nothing is left or until his life gets erased.

Adrian is still looking at the coffin that swallowed Creepysoo and saw that it shows no signs of opening. He also wondered if the coffin is actually indestructible, but he got surprised as the coffin has a health bar upon using his evil eyes. It has already been three minutes since the coffin summoning but it has no movement whatsoever.

Adrian immediately told Kabrakan to guard the coffin as Fenris attempted to break it once. Levin Cloud immediately healed the royal knights and King Leonidas as they are heavily wounded. It seems that Beastification not only gives beastkins enhanced power but also dulls their sense of pain.

The four overlords wanted to attack Fenris immediately, but they suddenly stopped when they reached the thirty-meter mark. Their senses flared up as if saying that they would die if they proceeded farther. The four overlords could only watch in anticipation as their lifelong enemy suddenly became much dangerous than before.

While this is happening, a sneaky little fox moved to the location of the Wilde Flower. She reached for the flower, but a bloody barrier suddenly erupted that bound her to the location. She yelped in pain as the chains bound her and kept tightening the more times that she struggled.

This fox is none other than Ashana as she used her illusion powers to turn herself invisible. She finally used this chance to grab the Wilde Flower as the world boss is preoccupied but she did not expect a trap. When she got bound, the red blood barrier that covered the flower became apparent which shocked Adrian as he was the first one to reach out for the Wilde Flower.

"It is futile. You think that your sneaky fox hands will be able to grab that flower when I used the blood of a Grim Reaper to create the enchantment surrounding it? I am saving that flower for later as dessert when I devour everyone here." Fenris stated as its voice now thundered.

"The blood of a Grim Reaper? If he used that for the enchantment, then he is trying to make the flower bloom faster. I have been told that blood of beings that cater death are the most nourishing to those alive." Solstice stated as she read about the types of blood present in the world.

"Do you know of a way to disenchant it then?" Adrian asked as even he does not know of a way unless he studies it. An enchantment made by an ancient beast disaster should be very difficult to break unless you have master of that element.

"I can try but I also need to get close, but the world boss is now focused on the flower now more than ever." Solstice stated as she could sense that Fenris is paying attention to the flower.

"I wanted to turn you invisible, but it seems that would only get you in danger. He could swallow souls which means my invisibility skill is a liability not a strength. Our priority should be getting that flower or else we will lose the quest." Adrian retorted.

"Levin Cloud, Peridot and I will help the overlords while you guys head for the flower and help the fox princess. We might not get our reward if she dies after all." Adrian added as he immediately turned invisible using the third skill of his Primordial Armament.

"I need to prepare." Peridot stated as she channeled immense energy to her weapon.

"Are we going all out already?" Levin Cloud stated as he too chanted the spell in order to summon Yewdrassil.

Fenris noticed that the demon vanished, and he could not detect him. He is wary of the demon because he summoned the foe that he vanquished. The Lunari Fenrir might be weaker than him, but she is not bound which means she could channel greater power than her. The world boss might have devoured the two miasma souls but that is not enough to break the chains that bind him.

The individual that Fenris is wary of is the coffin that smelled different that is protected by two undead knights. The other thing that he smelled is an envoy as they are a very delicious scent that culminated the world boss' appetite. The only problem is that the envoy is a leshy which are tricky creatures to eat as they could hide underground.

"Might as well use all the powers that I have absorbed." Fenris state as the chains that bind him suddenly started to shake.

The chains emitted a sound that metals do when their elasticity is almost gone. The horrible creaking metal sound could be heard as Fenris' two eyes became different. The eyes now have two different colors each that rotate. The left eye had black and blue color while the right had gold and red color.

"Ragnarok!" The world boss stated as the surrounding landscape changed to something drastic. If the previous area is already a wasteland, then the proper description for the new area is an apocalyptic wasteland.

The ground became molten as lava veins are created while the skies became dark. The only thing that gave them light is the shining Sacred Snake and the lava veins that suddenly showed up. Not only that but dark spires suddenly started to come out from the ground.

When Adrian heard the name of the skill, he is intensely shocked as it is a familiar name because Sirius has the same skill with the same name. But Sirius' Ragnarok is of a lower quality which means that this is the real version of Ragnarok which is a domain skill that spreads and brings chaos