

O Summoner 621

Chapter 621 - Heavenly Decree III

The angels bombarded the dark god with their holy attacks. Their attacks are dealing great damage but the soldiers that the dark god has created still continue. Angels started to use stronger spells and abilities since the new faceless ones are still weakened by the domain.

The players thought that they could win since the health bar of the dark god is going towards 50% but that is just folly. When the health of the dark god has reached 50%, numerous tentacles suddenly sprouted from the dark god.

The tentacles reached for every living thing in the imperial capital. Even the ground did not become safe from the tentacles as the life source is being absorbed. The health of the dark god started to regenerate 0.1% every second.

The angels that are trying to damage the dark god could not believe that their attacks are doing no damage. A stronger barrier is now erected directly at the body of the dark god. The only time that the barrier opens is when a new faceless one is created from the body of the dark god itself.

Seeing that the angels could no longer hold the faceless army that is newly created, the ones that retreated started to join the war once again. When one of the angels tried to stop them, one of the demigods slapped that angel until she flew backwards from the shock.

"Narcissistic birds." The male dragonoid stated as he is incredibly angry because his strength is being restrained.

The demons are not even participating anymore in the inner circle and are just firing spells from above. Even the Elders of the Daemos are not moving as they seem to want to give the angels time to realize their foolishness.

"Are the demons not going to do anything?" Heala asked as she observed that there are no more demons around except for Adrian.

"We have been commanded to stand down and let the angels do their thing. The angels will not accept help from those that are greater than them which is why they are currently staring at me. If I move any further, then I would get attacked by a light spell that should be difficult for me to evade.

Also, about half of the demons are using their magic to disconnect the dark god from its godly realm. It is not easy to stop a dark god from accessing a realm that it has control over. The only ones that I am worried about is the followers of the dark god that seem to be acting strange." Adrian stated as he observed the actions of the fleeing followers of the dark god.

"Let us follow them then. It is much better to find out what they are planning than just sitting here and waiting for the angels to admit they are pricks." Heala stated as she stood up.

"I agree." Knight stated as he listened to the conversation.

"Ok then but they are spread out which means that we must move in groups of three." Adrian stated.

"We are thirteen in number. How will we split the team?" You guys will be moving in teams of four. I will move on my own since I have my soulbounds. All you guys need to do is clean up the followers of the dark god as they will also drop experience points and contribution points." Adrian stated as he started to transport them in groups with four members each.

"Pristina! Our attacks are no longer working against that thing. Even with the effect of the domain, that dark god is not suffering any type of damage. We will run out of time before we kill that thing." An angel that is just below Pristina in the heavenly order stated.

"Keep attacking. It will soon break. The pawns that we have brought are doing their jobs well since they are clearing out the weeds that the dark god is creating. I will summon use the 'Heavenly Ray'. Be sure to attack once I have created an opening." Pristina telepathically told every angel that is inside of her domain.

"Glorious Light coming from the Brightest star, come for and smite all before me." Pristina stated as the staff that she held suddenly started to absorb particles of light called Photons.

The faceless ones noticed this and started to become frenzied. They knew that an attack of that level might hurt their god that is adapting to the world that it is in right now. The dark god expects them to protect its body while it sucked in the energy from the world.

The Faceless Winged Ones started to flock towards Pristina. The Faceless Winged Ones did not even care about their feeble lives and started throwing themselves at Pristina when their attacks would not reach her.

The tenacity of the Faceless Winged Ones bore fruit as one of them managed to stop the staff from accumulating energy. In exchange the Faceless Winged One got disintegrated into nothing due to interfering with the spell.

"Prevent these filthy things from reaching me!" Pristina commanded in an irritated voice that lacks finesse or grace. The angels saw that their leader became extremely angry at being blocked and feared that they might be punished if they fail once more.

"She really is a bitch!" The female dragonoid stated as she ripped the body of a Faceless Warrior into two halves.

"It seems that the masters have been stalled as one of the things that we took down has shown itself near the dragon territory. They might not arrive since they need to look after their territories." The male dragonoid stated as he ripped the body of a faceless sniper.

"The dark god is trying to absorb the energy from the world itself. Can you hear the world crying?" the female dragonoid stated as she could hear the voice of the world.

"I am not as attuned with the world as you despite being your twin. We have different strengths after all." The male dragonoid stated.

Chapter 622 - Followers Of The Dark God I

[The first hour has passed.]

[The Dark God, Nyarlathotep, shall now produce higher tier faceless ones that have incorporated the souls of those it has eaten.]

[Faceless Greater Winged Ones will start to appear.]

[Faceless Greater Mages will start to appear.]

[Faceless Greater Warriors will start to appear.]

[Faceless Greater Priests will start to appear.]

[Faceless Greater Snipers will start to appear.]

The angels are now being overrun by even more powerful faceless ones. This is the true strength of the dark god, Nyarlathotep. It has the ability to create more powerful underlings in a matter of hours once it has descended. The angels might think that they manipulated the followers of the dark god, but they are the ones who were tricked.

The dark god, Nyarlathotep, might not be the highest or the strongest of the dark gods but it is without a doubt the one that created fearsome soldiers. Other dark gods could create soldiers but not in the capacity of the dark god, Nyarlathotep.

"All is going according to plan. To think that those foolish angels thought that they are manipulating us when in fact it was I who manipulated them. The look on their faces when they realize that they are played." Eldritch stated as he released a laugh at how he managed to manipulate things to flow to the expected result that he desired.

Eldritch controls about a quarter of the players that are followers of the dark god. He does not know why they are so fanatic when he does not treat them as equals, but he also made use of them. He received an oracle from the dark god that he wants to have a covenant with.

Eldritch knew of the seal that the angels want to destroy, and they need the heart of the dark god to even attempt to break the seal. In fact, if the angels just get down from their high horse and begged the demons to help them then they might have unsealed the angels by now.

"It is such a thrill to manipulate people that think highly of themselves. It is such a rush. The best thing is the face that they make trying to deny reality. I could barely do that in the real world because of my family's standing but I can freely do everything here. It is not as fun as manipulating real people, but the rush is more or less the same." Eldritch muttered to himself as he smiled like a creep despite having a handsome face.

"It seems that you are here." A female voice that is very familiar to Eldritch stated.

"Ah! Are you a stalker or something? Do you not get tired from struggling?" Eldritch stated as he sneers towards Frey.

"I told you that I have debts to settle with you. If you gladly offer up your head, then I will not attack you again until I have been commissioned to do so." Frey stated as she pointed her spear towards Eldritch.

"I have been avoiding you all this time not because I am afraid, but I do not waste time on someone like you. Now that most of my tasks are complete, I can bury you six feet under. A certain female has made my head hurt recently.

I guess venting my frustration towards you would also be valid. I shall show you the disparity between our skills so that you will lose your will to battle me again. It is such fun when the I break the fighting spirit of those that are strong willed." Eldritch stated as he clutches his staff.

"You really are a psycho." Frey stated as she charged towards Eldritch.

Adrian separated the teams in what he deems as the best combination. He put Levin Cloud, Kabrakan, Peridot and Dragoon in one team. The other team is Heala, Knight, Soleil and Vayu. The remaining team is Sprout, Leila, Lycan, and Solstice.

Creepysoo had to return to the Undead King's side since his health started deteriorating due to the holy magic. It seems that he is also afflicted with a Branding by one of the angels that passed by. A Branding is just another term for a curse of the holy attribute that is harmful to undeads but helpful to humans.

Even Adrian could not reverse time to negate the effect of the branding since it got imprinted on Creepysoo's soul. He could only send his friend back to the Undead King to erase the branding. Nevertheless, Adrian remembered the angel that did that to Creepysoo and he is now in the process of getting revenge.

Some might think that he is being petty, but Adrian treasures his friend. In truth, Adrian is also subjected to the branding, but his soul is too strong for the branding to even etch on it. He will assassinate the angel quietly before going to the location that he designated for himself.

"Paradox, summon Primordial Armament: Scythe!" Adrian commanded as the scythe Primordial Armament manifested in front of him.

[You have summoned the Primordial Armament: Scythe.]

[Your skill Primordial Stance has activated.]

[Recalculating your stats for the Primordial Stance.]

[Gained the passive skill, Nether Dancer.]

-----

Skill: Nether Dancer

Tier: Legacy

Type: Passive

Effect: Become an entity that is half corporeal and incorporeal. If the skill bearer does not attack anyone for five seconds, they will blend with the surroundings and become truly invisible. All attacks that are made after the invisibility will deal double damage but will cancel the invisibility.

Cooldown: 5 Seconds

Mana Cost: None

Cast Time: Instant

"Sirius, are the others already where you sent them?" Adrian asked his soulbound that suddenly sprouted from his shadow. It seems that Sirius did not lose the effects of his Shadow Domain as it just became a subset passive skill of his new domain skill.

"My younger brothers are already attacking the followers that you have indicated, master. Is it time to bring down another angel?" Sirius asked as he could sense the anger that his master is feeling.

"Of course. We must make a statement or else they will think us as pushovers." Adrian stated as his figure completely vanished.

Chapter 623 - Followers Of The Dark God II

Adrian is now planning his revenge for Creepysoo while the others are busy dealing with the followers of the dark gods. The ones who already went and did their duty are Levin Cloud's group. Specifically, Dragoon managed to injure the ones that are doing some sort of spell.

The spell that the followers of the dark god look like they are summoning some sort of black crystal that cannot be identified by Levin Cloud's group. They do not know what the black crystal does, and they do not want to know.

"Group up! The archer must be near our location. I will protect you while you guys continue with the ritual." A person that seems to be the leader of the group stated as he brought his shield up.

The plan that the leader of the team is supposed to be fool proof but there are two people in the group that excels at group damage. Levin Cloud has great support spells that use crowd control while Peridot is now channeling her spell.

"Bramble!" Levin Cloud cast as thorny vines emerged from the ground and acted like a snake towards the followers of the dark gods.

"What is this!? The enemy is not just one. It might be a group." One of the mages from the followers of the dark god stated as his casting got cancelled. The mages experienced backlash from their spell being cancelled.

"Block!" The leader of the followers of the dark god group stated as he raised his shield up to clock from the direction where the vines came from. The shield emanated an aura that became a barrier that blocked attacks from the location where the caster is facing.

"Bellowing Wind!" Peridot finished casting her spell and a big sphere made of air appeared above the followers of the dark gods.

The wind sphere suddenly dropped from above them. All the followers of the dark god got blown away by the wind sphere. As soon as the followers of the dark gods got spread out, Dragoon used a skill that fired numerous amounts of arrows to the healer of the follower of the dark gods' group.

"Can we reach an agreement? We are all players here. We are only doing the mission that is entrusted to us. It would be a great help if you guys do not attack us. I am sure that you guys know the feeling of doing a mission right?" The leader of the followers of the dark gods stated but he is just buying enough time.

The two assassins from the group of the followers of the dark god use that chance to disappear from the eyesight of Levin Cloud's group. They always lingered a distance away from their group which is why they wanted to kill the mages of the enemy group.

Levin Cloud's group showed themselves since surprise attacks will no longer work due to the members of the followers of the dark gods are all out in defense. The followers of the dark god saw their opponents and knew who they were. Adrian's group is the center of attention when they showed up in the battlefield.

"If you want us to stop then can you also stop what you guys are doing? The ground beneath you is screaming from the pain that you are subjecting it to." Levin Cloud stated which made the followers of the dark gods have a look of bewilderment.

"Is he serious? I think he is too absorbed in the game that he created an alter ego. I did not think that there are still people like that." One of the mages of the followers of the dark gods stated as they casted support magic to increase the damage of their assassins.

One of the assassins attacked Levin Cloud while the other targeted Peridot. The assassin that appeared and attacked Peridot got blocked by a barrier that burned him. The assassin that attacked Levin Cloud succeeded in connecting the attack. The dagger that the assassin struck Levin Cloud's back, but he did not gain damage.

Levin Cloud's body became vines and returned back to the soil. The assassin got shocked and wanted to flee but vines suddenly shoot out from the ground and bound him to the location. The assassin tried to dispel the spell using his skill, but he is already too late. Dragoon shot the assassin with numerous arrows until he became a porcupine.

The assassin died and became particles of light while the other assassin is now her feet frozen in place by Peridot's spell. She then bombarded the assassin with low cooldown spells that she could cast indefinitely. The followers of the dark gods saw their group members die and became emotional.

"You dare!" The leader of the group stated as he charged towards Kabrakan. Kabrakan easily blocked the attack and started to counterattack. The mages at the back no longer have any defense and got killed off by both Peridot and Dragoon. With their priest player gone, they could not sustain themselves throughout the battle.

A few minutes later, the followers of the dark god are now cleared. Levin Cloud asked the others, but they have yet to reply since they are busy with the battle. Levin Cloud looked at the black crystal that is already peeking from the ground. When he used Inspect, the black crystal only showed question marks.

"I think we should capture people in order to question what they are trying to summon. My hunch says that the crystal will somehow help the followers of the dark god." Levin Cloud stated but the others looked at him with a shocked expression.

"You do know that we cannot throw one of them in prison. We are not even nobles." Peridot stated.

"Who said that we should be nobles? You have a skill that prevents people from casting magic while I have indefinite crowd control. We just need to pressure one of them." Levin Cloud stated which made the three give him looks of discomfort.

The next group that easily handled the followers of the dark gods which consisted of Heala, Knight, Soleil and Vayu. Both Heala and Knight are shocked upon seeing the great damage that the father and daughter duo dealt to the followers of the dark gods.

The followers of the dark gods could not even catch the speed at which Vayu moved through the battlefield. He literally moved like the wind and even dodged like the wind since spells barely touched his body. Soleil on the other hand easily burnt the follower of the dark gods to a crisp.

The only downside in their group is that they are a bit late in dealing with the summoning as the black crystal is halfway up the ground. Since Soleil and Vayu are half elementals, they can also hear the voice of the earth screaming from the pain that the black crystal is doing to it.

"The ground is in pain." Soleil stated which Vayu agreed while only Knight is dumbfounded.

Heala could also hear the voice as she is a nymph and an envoy of a goddess. She could not even tolerate the screeching that the ground is doing. She unconsciously used Purification on the black crystal, and it lost some of its color, but it is still a shade of black. The screeching of the earth became bearable for her though.

[Cannot fully Purify the ????. The level of the Purify skill is too low for the crystal to be purified. A higher tier cleanse skill must be used.]

Heala immediately saw the chat that Levin Cloud sent to them. Heala told her to try and purify the black crystal. The purification is successful, but the black crystal has yet to be destroyed. They could feel that something is amiss from the actions of the followers of the dark gods.

The group that has no purification spell are the remaining team which consists of Sprout, Leila, Lycan, and Solstice. In this group, the ones who are surprised is Lycan and Solstice as they got buffs that are close to godlike in tier.

They easily finished off the followers of the dark god thanks to her buff that doubled their damage. Lycan and Solstice are both hard hitters when it comes to darkly lit or at night. The followers of the dark gods did not stand a chance. They got finished off in two or three attacks or skills.

"Sprout is such a great support player. I am sure that teams that do tournaments will want to recruit her." Lycan stated as he likes watching tournaments for Pandemonium.

"The ground is crying." Sprout stated as she pointed at the black crystal that almost fully sprouted.

The group investigated and received a message from Levin Cloud and Heala. They do not have someone that has Purify which is why they could not test the theory. It is Sprout that came close to the crystal and summoned a spirit of a tree and shot the energy she gathered on the black crystal. The black crystal cracked upon being hit by the spell that Sprout used.

The black crystals that popped up from the ground made everyone a bit uneasy as they could not truly break it. They tried reaching out to Adrian if he knew what these black crystals are, but he is not answering their calls.

They need to deal with the black crystals with the only way that they know how. They are continuously casting purification magic on the black crystals until the color faded and became lighter. The crystals lost their color, but their purification magic did not reach the middle area.

"Let me try breaking it." Kabrakan stated as he started bashing the black crystal.

The black crystal did not even shatter upon the furious bashing of the two shields. Kabrakan became tired before even putting a dent on it. Upon saying what they learned from bashing the crystal, another group reported that Sprout managed to make a crack on the black crystal.

When they learned that she used an attack that is similar to purification magic, they tried to replicate it but failed. The concept that Sprout used is similar to enhancement magic but that is extremely difficult. Even Levin Cloud or Heala could not pull it off just because they heard the concept behind it.

"Even Sprout said that she needed to rest for 20 minutes after she did that. We cannot break the black crystals using normal means. We should try plucking it out of the ground." Levin Cloud suggested.

They tried plucking the black crystals from the ground, but the thing does not even budge. The only way that they found to be working is dragging the soil around it with the black crystal. The black crystal is basically a meter long and half a meter in thickness.

[Cannot put the item inside the inventory.]

A system notification told them that the black crystals could not be put inside the inventory. They needed to manually carry it in order to move from their location. The best thing that they could do is deliver it to one of the Daemos that are near them.

After looking for a helper, one of the elder Daemos appeared and investigated the black crystals. The elder who came is none other than Koronn. The description that Levin Cloud gave the elder sparked interest in the properties of the black crystal that he abandoned his post in guarding the inventory of the inhuman alliance.

"Interesting. This crystal is rather peculiar that it sucks the life energy in the surroundings. No wonder the ground is screaming like what you have said. This might be a mineral that is not of this world that the dark god has manifested into this world." Koronn stated with his inquisitive gaze.

"If it came from the world of the dark god then why is it sprouting from the ground?" Levin Cloud asked as the others are too shy to talk to the Daemos elder.

"It could have been planted here for decades and is made dormant. It must have been building up power from being buried for years. The life energy of the ground suddenly reacted when these crystals started pulling too much energy.

You could say that it was only pulling life energy like when an ant crawls on your arm. It is not irritating but when that ant bites you then you will kill it immediately. The pain became unbearable that the soil itself screamed in pain." Koronn stated as he chunked one of the black crystals somewhere.

Koronn then visited each area and went to get the black crystals that the other groups found. The black crystals that he found could not have been a coincidence that the Daemos Elder told them that they might be in a certain position.

True enough to Koronn's statement, they found two more black crystals upon beating the followers of the dark gods. Knight marked the map location where they found the black crystals and realized that it formed a pentagram.

Whatever the followers of the dark gods are doing, they must be up to something to create something as elaborate as this. The black crystals must be destroyed or sent to a place where the magic of the followers of the dark god could not reach.

Just as they are about to go and search for more followers of the dark gods, a system notification that tells them that things are about to get worse. They can see from the distance that the angels are starting to feel overpowered by the minions that the dark god kept summoning. The health of the dark god is also not even dropping anymore from 50%.

[The first one and a half hour has passed.]

[The Dark God, Nyarlathotep, shall now produce higher tier faceless ones that have incorporated the souls of those it has eaten.]

[Faceless Arch Winged Ones will start to appear.]

[Faceless Arch Mages will start to appear.]

[Faceless Arch Warriors will start to appear.]

[Faceless Arch Priests will start to appear.]

[Faceless Arch Snipers will start to appear.]

New and improved versions of the previous cannon fodder have been created. If the Faceless Arch Priest that they defeated earlier is actually from this group, then they fear what might happen when two hours have finally passed.

The Faceless Arch monsters are different from their normal and greater counterparts. The Faceless Arch Winged Ones look like a copy of the proud dragons which made the dragonkin feel extremely offended by what they have just seen. The Faceless Arch Mages have three mouths which could chant three different spells at the same time.

The Faceless Arch Warriors have thicker and broader body types than even orcs. The Faceless Arch Snipers do not even need to aim correctly, and their attacks will still connect if the target does not actively try to dodge.

[Your teammate, Equinox, has just killed an Angel of the Third Heavenly Sphere.]

While the others were busy discussing what they needed to do, a sudden notification popped up from their system panel. They could not believe that Equinox will do something like that with an army of angels inside of the fallen imperial capital right now.

They all rushed towards the imperial capital hoping to see if Equinox is doing fine. To their own surprise, Equinox did not have any new notifications after that. He is not dead since no notification about his death is flashed before their eyes.

They suddenly remembered a pretentious angel that used that curse on Creepysoo. It seems that Adrian does not like people messing around with his friends but to think that he would take it to the extreme. But in their minds, they would have done the same if those pretentious angels cursed every one of them.

"Seriously, if he only just told us that is what he is going to do then I might have helped him." Levin Cloud stated as he is also incredibly angry with what that angel did.

"Do you think that he is being chased by a group of angels? I am going to bet one of my rare minerals that is the case." Kabrakan stated as he made light of the situation and even held a betting game.

"I will bet one of my rare minerals as well, but he is completely safe and avoiding their eyesight." Peridot chimed in which made Levin Cloud sigh that these two just made a bet on their friends situation.

"I seriously do not know if you guys are making light of this situation or have the utmost confidence in him." Dragoon commented.

"Equinox does not do something that endangers him greatly or puts him in a spot where he could do nothing. He is like a cautious daredevil that makes sure that the stunt that he will do will make sure that he is alive even after doing it." Levin Cloud stated.

The three separated groups converged at the entrance of the imperial capital and confirmed if the message that they received is true. They knew that Equinox is planning something by not going with them but to think that he killed an angel with his stats only in the 40% is mind boggling.

"This is not the first time that he killed an angel. I am pretty sure that he got a title from killing that angel. I am honestly surprised on how he accomplished that, but he could do that if it is him. He is just that character that it somehow makes me doubt that we are playing the same game." Levin Cloud stated as he sighed.

Upon entering the vicinity of the fallen imperial capital, they suddenly got attacked by one of the angels that is on guard. They did not know what they had done wrong but to show hostility like that is definitely not normal. They must be searching for Adrian that killed one of them.

They are also snarking at the fact that the angels are so full of themselves that they do not even need to attack with their full force.. It seems that when you always hear and believe that you are amazing and great then you start to believe it despite being normal and not gifted.

Chapter 625 - Revenge For A Friend

[You have summoned your Primordial Armament Scythe.]

[You have transformed using your skill Primordial Stance: Scythe]

[You have gained the passive skill, Nether Dancer.]

[Your skills have a bonus effect that they will now affect the whole area five meters in front of you.]

[Your basic attack after casting Shadow Walker will do splash damage in a cone two meters in front of you.]

[You have faded from the background and turned invisible. The effect is shared to your soulbounds.]

"Time to hunt a stray irritating bird." Adrian stated as he followed the location that Sirius has given him.

Thankfully, the angel that branded Creepysoo is not fighting the minions of the dark god and stayed in the area of the outer circle of the fallen imperial capital. It seems that some of the angels are making rounds and attacking nonhuman individuals indiscriminately.

They do not dare to attack the side that is guarded by the Dragonkin though for fear of retaliation. They mostly attacked individuals like undeads or creature of other races. They even attacked the newly added dark elves as they see them as impure for, they worship death.

The dark elves could only retreat from the fallen imperial capital with the others that the angels persecute. There are ten pairs of angels that are scouring the outer part of the imperial capital, but they only have one pair of wings which means that they are excluded from the fight from being too weak and assigned to do crowd control.

Angels are proud creatures which is why they do not have detection abilities for invisibility because they cannot use it. For them, hiding their glorious forms would be a crime towards the Goddess of Light that made them to have perfect bodies.

That is perfect for Adrian as angels are so arrogant that they have lots of openings for beings that are invisible. This is the reason why they move in pairs to supplement their weakness that they do not want other people to learn about.

"There he is master." Sirius stated via their soul link as Adrian saw a male angel attacking another group of players that wanted to sneak in an attack to the dark god. Right now, the players hate the angels more than the dark god for trying to stop them from contributing.

Adrian did not immediately attack as he checked the vicinity and see if the other pairs of angels are nearby. When Adrian saw that the angels do not even try and talk to one another, he immediately learned that their own hubris is making them not cooperate with others of their kind.

One could see that the pairs of angels do not look happy working together. They look like people who were forced to work on a project but want their ideas to be the outcome. The more that Adrian learned about the angels, the more his smile widens.

"This would be easier than I thought. All I need to do is bring that winged bastard to another dimension where the effect of the domain is non-existent." Adrian muttered as he looked at Sirius.

Adrian unfurled his wings and crept up towards the angel, but he did not expect that the angel will suddenly look back. It seems that angels can feel killing intent if it is directed at them. Fortunately, the angel thought that he must have mistaken.

"Suddenly having cod feet Firiell? Do not tell me that you're backing away right now even though it is the command of her Eminence." The female angels stated as she mocked Firiell.

"It is not that, Liziel. Unlike you, I am totally loyal to the cause as her Eminence Pristina is the only one who sacrificed her powers just to cross the seal." Firiell stated.

"If you are done with your daydreaming, we have a bunch of rats that need to be taught a lesson." Liziel stated as she pointed her sword to another bunch of players that are trying to sneak in and get a piece of the pie which is the dark god.

"Burning Shadows." Adrian whispered as a black shadow emanated from his own and covered a circular area with a five-meter diameter.

The angels got bound by their own shadows which they thought as offensive as darkness attribute magic is being used on them. They are stunned and could not move which is why they started to descend to the ground as their wings could no longer flap.

"Sirius, open up!" Adrian commanded as Sirius popped out from Adrian's shadow and ate Firiell.

Adrian did not bother getting Liziel as of yet as he knew that other players would want revenge. He looked down on the shocked Liziel as she descended to the ground before disappearing in Sirius' shadow. It all happened so quick that Firiell did not even realize that he got eaten by Sirius and sent to the shadow dimension.

Firiell could not believe that he got caught unaware by a demon and vowed to kill the demon once he or she shows their face. He did not want to admit that he got played but he did not think too much about it as Liziel also fell for it.

"I just need to kill this demon bastard and my ranking will increase. I will finally be in the eyes of her Eminence and have her as my woman." Firiell shouted with a maniacal laugh.

"You are more twisted than I ever realized." Adrian stated which made the angel look at him with disdain and eyes full of rage.

"Do you think that dragging me to a world without light will make me weak. I am light incarnate!" Firiell stated as he brought out his full power to shine a light on the dark world of the shadow domain.

Firiell laughed as he thought that it is his victory but could only laugh upon realizing that the light coming from his body did not illuminate the place. The best it could do is illuminate the area one meter around him. The puny light actually made Adrian crack up and laugh loudly that Firiell charged towards him with pure aggression.

[The effects of the domain debuffs has been removed.]

"Finally." Adrian muttered as the debuffs placed on him are no longer active. This is the reason why he did not immediately attack as he has a great chance of losing if the debuffs are active. Now that the debuffs are gone, Firiell finally felt the monster that is his opponent.

"Sirius, Kanlaon and Kimat, go play with the bird." Adrian commanded as these are the three soulbounds that he brought here. He left the others in the real world to stand guard and move the shadow to a place where the angels could not find. Adrian is currently inside of Dodu's shadow.

The three soulbounds ravaged the pathetic angel as the three toyed with it just like Firiell toyed with the others. The angel that is shining in light suddenly started to become a dim light bulb that is soon going to run out. The angel, Firiell, is terrified of the wolf that is attacking him as it deals a lot of damage to his spiritual body with even trying.

Firiell suddenly remembered a special angel that did not follow the Goddess of Light as he became the most powerful of the angels. A name that should not be spoken by the other angels for it will bring the wrath of the jealous Goddess of Light.

The most beautiful angel that strived for perfection and became a being higher than an angel. The Goddess of Light wanted to possess this angel as he was the most beautiful light that she has ever seen because he is light itself.

"Why do you have the power of Samael!?" Firiell shouted as he was already alive when Samael became a different being. He is so different that he was given a crown by the Qlipoth. He was also one of the most influential warriors when the dark gods first came but he disappeared when the war was over.

"Let us just say that certain things led me to have his power. Soul Eater!" Adrian stated as he swiped his scythe and decapitated the angel. The angel did not leave a body but dispersed into light that the shadows devoured for some reason.

[You have killed the Angel, Firiell.]

[Animosity from the angels has increased.]

[You can never be friends with angels aligned with Pristina's faction.]

"So even angels have factions. I guess that makes sense since not all people could do their stuck-up ways." Adrian stated as he told Sirius to return them to the real world.

[You have contributed to the death of the Angel, Liziel.]

[Animosity from the angels has increased.]

[You are now considered as an enemy to be killed by angels of Pristina's faction.]

"What?!" Adrian stated as he looked at the direction where Liziel dropped.. He saw a hooded individual with a big build and is holding some kind of sword that had the same aura as that of the god slaying weapons.

Chapter 626 - The Dark God's Third Form

The angel that stopped Levin Cloud and the others suddenly left as all the angels were called to fight the faceless ones. Levin Cloud and the others were about to retaliate when someone suddenly touched Levin Cloud's shoulder.

Adrian appeared behind Levin Cloud which spooked the latter that he jumped in fright. The others are shocked with Adrian's appearance as he looked like a spectral grim reaper with demon horns. Adrian's soulbounds soon appeared after he took off his invisibility.

"Dude! I told you to not scare me. Anyways, glad that you are fine but killing an angel! They are swarming the place right now. One of them even attacked us just now but they suddenly retreated back to their group." Levin Cloud stated.

"It is not that they retreated but the dark god is now going to transform into its third form. The form that the dark gods used when they first invaded this Universe. Also, the normal angels could no longer hold down the Faceless Arch monsters." Adrian stated as he observed the battle of the angels and humans with the faceless ones.

"I am back!" Creepysoo stated as he suddenly appeared via a portal.

"You are fine now?" Solstice asked.

"Yeah. The branding just vanished while I was getting healed." Creepysoo stated.

"It probably vanished because I killed the angel that gave you that branding." Adrian stated with a calm face.

"Also, our alliance will soon attack the dark god. The demons already sealed off the dimensional hole that the dark god is drawing energy from. Although they said that cracks can still form from time to time which is why they are monitoring the situation with great vigilance." Creepysoo stated.

"We should get ready as well. Many of the weaker faceless monsters are getting pass through the angels. It will not take long before other players flood the outside area of the fallen imperial capital once more." Adrian stated as their team set out to kill off the faceless monsters that escape the perimeter of the angels.

It did not take long for the other players that were previously scared off by the angels to join the battle once more. They now had a chance to get contribution points due to the increasing number of enemies escaping the angel's perimeter.

The angels did not have any time to bother with those at the outer section of the imperial capital. The latest faceless ones that the dark god produced is more powerful than they imagined. It also did not help that the dark god started sprouting tentacles that pierced the body of those that get near it and sucks out their vital essence.

The domain of the angels is not even affecting the faceless arch variants which is why they are having a difficult time. Pristina had to go out of her way and kill off the faceless arch variants which made the dark god recover its health back to 70% in no time.

As soon as the dark god reached back 70% health by absorbing the vita essence of those around him. The grotesque flower bud looking thing on top of it during its metastasis form suddenly opened up and shot a beam of light towards the sky. The body of the dark god suddenly wilted and came crashing down.

The beam of light broke the spell that the angels cast that covered the whole fallen imperial capital. Everyone that is present in the fight could not believe what they are seeing. In the very clouds above them, an ominous looking figure could be seen floating with thousands of tentacles with sharp rows of teeth in the middle.

[The dark god, Nyarlathotep, has entered its World Eater Form.]

[If the dark god does not get stopped then everything in its path will be devoured and transformed to its image.]

Thousands of tentacles started to rain down from the skies as the dark god did not discriminate between friend or foe. Some people tried blocking the attacks with magic or their equipment but they skill got turned into a meat paste in the end.

The angels that were so haughty before could only observe others of their kind becoming dead in a matter of seconds. They did not expect that this is the result of what they have helped summon. They still refused to accept that the followers of the dark gods managed to trick them into aiding them.

Pristina could not let this type of thing humiliate her as she went all out in attacking the dark god in its new form. She flew to the skies dodging every tentacle that came her way until she is near the mouth of the dark god. She then activated her most powerful spells one after the other.

She tried her best until the look of exhaustion could be seen on her stoic face. The dark god did not even flinch upon receiving her attacks despite getting its health reduced. The dark god just swatted Pristina like a fly and she came crashing down on the ground.

The dark god suddenly converged its tentacles and started building power for a beam. Those that are inside of the fallen imperial capital started to panic as they feel that the target of the attack is that location. They started running for their lives but only those in the outer parts of the imperial capital could really escape.

The dark god fired the beam and those that are inside the fallen imperial capital can only accept their fate. Thankfully for them, there is a master of spatial magic present in the inhuman alliance. Ascalor revealed his true form and covered the fallen imperial capital with teleportation magic that tagged only those that are considered alive since faceless ones are not considered living beings.

Those that accepted their fates all got carried away from the fallen imperial capital and are relocated outside of the fallen imperial capital. The beam that the dark god released fell on the imperial capital and turned it into a pile of rubble. Only a crater is left in its wake as even the broken buildings is now reduced to ashes.

The others wondered how they got transported out of the fallen imperial capital when they saw three demons floating in the sky. Each demon is different from the other and have their own distinct features. The angels now look like a sorry bunch as they got humiliated and their numbers got reduced to half.

"Those that want to fight for this world can join us. Those that only fight because they want fame or power from the death of a god should go now for greedy minds only feed the power of the dark god." Ascalor stated as numerous individuals of the five races suddenly showed up.

A hundred of each of the five races showed up which made quite the sight as they looked so strong. The biggest ones are the Jotunns that have different elements that make up their own body. It is not only the five races that came to their aid as there were other races treated as monsters that joined the cause of the Daemos.

The three Daemos elders started to connect their spells together and tried sealing the dark god in an isolated space. They succeeded but the prison only lasted for three seconds before the dark god managed to free itself by physically breaking the space isolation.

"Chrono Maniac!" Koronn stated as he froze the tentacles of the dark god from moving.

"Spatial Distortion!" Ascalor stated as he tore through the space where the dark god is currently located, and a large explosion occurred which made the dark god screech.

The dark god knew that it must do something else as more and more attacks are now starting to reach it. It cut off some of its tentacles and threw it towards the ground. The tentacles that got cut off became faceless arch monsters since its attack on the fallen imperial capital earlier obliterated all the servants it created.

Suddenly, two loud roars came from the sky followed by two different elemental breaths attacking the dark god. The dark god squealed in pain as it got hit with arcane magic that came from dragon breaths. The dark god might have descended but it has yet to fully incorporate itself in the mortal plane because the Daemos partially sealed off its connection to its divine realm.

Two dragons that are fire and lightning are flying in the sky and attacking the dark god with their breath attacks. The dragonkin raised their morale upon seeing their masters come and save them from the dark god. They joined the other races in the battle against the faceless arch monsters.

Seeing the individuals that they once thought were monsters fighting the real monster made the humans realize that separation does not make them stronger.. If the demons were not there then they would have been wiped out on the face of the world.

Chapter 627 - Joining Forces I

The combined forces of all the races made the battle with the dark god a bit easier. It is still difficult when the dark god itself attacks but the demigods all joined forces to block its attacks. One attack from the dark god could easily wipe out individuals much weaker than them.

Just the shockwave created from the dark god's attacks could damage those below the demigod rank. It also does not help that the dark god is high up in the sky which only those with extremely long-range attacks or with aerial mobility could deal damage to it.

The odd thing that the players have noticed is that the dark god does not even attempt to dodge the attacks from anyone that try to harm it. A transparent barrier will suddenly appear when an attack is about to reach it and it would mitigate that damage by 50%.

Despite having dragons, demons, and all sorts of powerful creatures of legend, the dark god's health is not even dropping down even if they fire off high tier spells. The players who still thought that killing a dark god is possible is suddenly an impossible task.

"Your Eminence, what do we do? We lost half our forces and the remaining half of what is left is injured." One of the angels stated as she reported their status to their leader.

"We shall join them in the attack. Do not bother attacking them and just focus on the dark god." Pristina stated as she no longer has a choice but to join in with those she hates. She will tag along with them as they are now closer to their objective.

"But will they concede the thing that we want your Eminence?" Another angel asked.

"They will otherwise the noble image that the demons are known for are just rubbish." Pristina stated as she charged towards the dark god to start attacking it.

The angels that believed that the demons are the evil incarnate and destruction personified all got shocked. The ones who taught them that is none other than Pristina and they believed her ever since. Now she is saying something opposite of what she meant which made the angels question their beliefs.

Questioning their beliefs or not, the angels still charged in and attacked the dark god as they are one of the few races that can fight an aerial battle. The angels charged back into the fight while second guessing if what their supreme leader is the truth or a lie.

"Suppose you do not have a skill that can bring a monster that ginormous down to the ground?" Knight asked Adrian who stared at him with a dumbfounded look.

"You actually think that I have something like that in my arsenal? I may be able to control gravity but even the Daemos Elders could not bring that huge hulking monster down to the ground." Adrian responded.

"If you look at that dark god carefully, it looks like he is affixed to the sky itself and has become one with it. It probably ate that part of the sky as the demons are trying to fix the tear that it made but the dark god is persistently defending its new territory." Levin Cloud stated as he observed the peculiar relationship of the sky and the dark god.

"It also fired a beam like laser thing that wiped out the fallen imperial capital. Just getting close to it is already too dangerous." Heala added.

"From the history that was shown to me, it was four special weapons that had the capability of destroying the miasma barriers that the dark gods use to lessen the blow towards them." Adrian replied.

"Four but the god slaying weapons are only two. Does that mean that there are other special weapons that can deal effective magic to the dark gods besides the god slaying weapons?" Peridot muttered but Adrian told them something shocking.

"There is actually a third god slaying weapon. The owner of that weapon is in this battlefield but the only thing that I do not understand is that the wielder of the third god slaying weapon used it to kill an angel. They were covered with a special cloak that even my Inspect could not pierce through." Adrian stated.

"What is the third god slaying weapon?" Knight asked as even he is tempted to own one.

"It was a flaming sword, and it seems like the owner of that god slaying weapon has been using it for quite some time now. There should still be the last god slaying weapon if you are interested in owning one." Adrian stated.

Just as Adrian is talking about the owner of the sword god slaying weapon, a giant fiery sword suddenly materialized above the dark god. The dark god felt a presence that could be dangerous to it which is why it turned towards the giant fiery sword above it.

The dark god suddenly started collecting all the miasma it could in a short amount of in order to destroy the giant flaming sword that looms on top of it. The giant flaming sword started to descend in a slow manner, but the dark god did not move or rather it cannot move.

Despite the demons unable to seal the fractured sky that the dark god caused, they made sure that the dark god will not be able to move in its place. Now that the dark god senses danger, the alternative decision of the Daemos has paid off.

The giant flaming sword descended and the dark god fired a beam of pure miasma from its own mouth. The giant flaming sword did slow down but the descent is not stopped as it pierced through the miasma ray of the dark god.

The sound of glass shattering could then be heard as the giant flaming sword hit the barrier that the dark god covered its body with.. The giant flaming sword vanished upon breaking the barrier and the demigods did not let go of such an opportunity.

Chapter 628 - Joining Forces II

The sound of the dark god's barrier breaking is like a signal to the demigod level existences. They all simultaneously attacked the dark god with all their might. The three Daemos Elders can now create magic circles that directly affected the body of the dark god.

The three Daemos elders used their magic to yank the dark god from the sky and bring it down to the ground. The dark god went crashing to the ground despite its intense grip in the space of the skies. When the dark god came crashing down, the eyes of everyone became that of a starving wolf.

The dark god became something akin to a buffet or free real estate in the eyes of the starving wolves. The dark god felt offended that it is being looked down upon by lower beings. It has never been this offended ever since the first war with the dark gods.

"This is our chance! Call upon the Tree of Life and Death!" Adrian told Levin Cloud and the latter nodded.

Levin Cloud called upon Yewdrassil and its seed did not drop down from the clouds this time. The tree of life and death sprouted immediately since it is already planted in the main world. Even Adrian did not expect this quick of a response, but the tree of life and death told him of the reason why it could appear easily.

The tree of life and death is still considered as the world tree which is why it can sprout to a given location in the world it is planted in instantaneously as long as Levin Cloud calls for it. A majestic tree that rejuvenated everyone and made their attacks stronger suddenly appeared.

The players did not understand what was happening, but they are thankful for it. The demigods looked at the tree of life and death and felt a desire to own it but killing the dark god is the priority right now. The buff that the tree of life and death is not the only thing that they received.

"Nether Domain! Netheros True Form!" Adrian stated as the whole area got enveloped in nether mist.

Some of the players that have encountered this mist remembered this was the special mist that made undead run away. They could never forget that experience as they felt like they could do anything at that time.

Those that are experiencing it for the first time did not pay much attention as they saw that it is a buff. The demigods that sensed this energy remembered how it shook them to the core, but they never felt any ripples of the energy ever since then. They remembered the demon who had this frightening energy that can even make a demigod feel chills.

Levin Cloud also used his true form as he needed to guard the tree of life and death from the pesky faceless ones that started to attack it. Just by standing on the ground, he made flora and fauna grow which made the leshies and dryads proud of him.

The next round of attacks on the dark god made it screech in intense pain. It noticed that this strange mist is somehow making the puny attacks of the lower beings start to really hurt. It started to thrash about in a chaotic manner until its attention went towards Adrian.

The dark god noticed that the weird demon is the one producing this harmful mist and it must kill that demon in order to stop the damage it is taking from the lower beings. Even its barrier slowed down regenerating as it now takes double the time for it to regenerate.

The dark god thrashed about towards Adrian that did not even bother to dodge. Levin Cloud dipped his viny finger on the ground and suddenly numerous bramble and vines sprouted and bound the thrashing dark god. To add salt to the wound, Adrian used dark shadows so that the shadow of the dark god will deal its damage towards its own body.

The others did not miss this chance and joined in on the damage dealing. Since the dark god is ginormous, a whole army can attack one of its sides and still have lots of exposed area. The dark god is treated like a caged animal that is being tortured.

The followers of the dark gods that are undercover in the coalition army could not even help the dark god. The moment the mist rolled in, they suddenly started to suffocate and shed their real fake forms. The followers of the dark gods that acted as the spies for each guild are exposed as their real status are revealed.

The guild masters of each guild did not show mercy towards the traitors that dared to betray them. They executed the followers of the dark gods swiftly so that no unrest will form in their group. The quick action of the guild masters raised the morale of their guild members as they attacked the dark god.

In a place near the fallen imperial capital or rather was the imperial capital, two famous individuals are fighting each other. Eldritch who is an Envoy of the Dark Gods and Frey who is a Valkyrie. Frey knew that Eldritch is not treating her seriously which is why she did not go all out also.

Eldritch is not even focusing on their fight fully as he is looking at the giant thing flying in the sky. Eldritch had a smile on his face the whole time until a giant sword pierced the barrier of the dark god. It also got brought down to the ground, but he did not show irritation.

Eldritch had spies that he planted on each of the guilds, and they can help the dark god ascend back to the skies. That is what was supposed to happen when he sent the command, but all his spies suddenly started to die one after the other.

The plans that he meticulously planned to be perfect is suddenly failing grandly. His face started to change as he tried to go towards the imperial capital.

"Where do you think you're going?" Frey stated as she smiled.

Chapter 629 - Frey's Revenge

*QUEST NOTIFICATION*

Difficulty: SS

Reward: Chance to participate in the Valkyrie Ascension Test in Valhalla

Failure: None

Duration: Extended

Frey has yet to complete the quest that was assigned to her the moment she became a Valkyrie. She did not give up and always hunted down Eldritch whenever she caught his trail. The only problem is that the bastard is one slippery individual which is why she has yet to kill him despite her becoming stronger.

"Frog in your throat? Or are you suddenly scared to come and face me one on one." Frey mocked Eldritch with his usual lines against her.

Eldritch wanted to go towards the dark god but Frey is not letting him take another step. He rather not wastes time on Frey as he knows that he will be victorious in their clash. He rather not wastes time against her when he could bring utter chaos in this world.

Due to the numerous times that Eldritch refused to fight with Frey, she searched for a skill that will force him to battle her or face dire consequences. She immediately knew that Eldritch is not interested in the battle as he is looking at the area where the dark god is.

Smoke started rising from Eldritch' body again which is why Frey is forced to use the skill she looked so desperately for. It is a one-of-a-kind skill that has the Unique tier since there is only one type of that skill in the entirety of Pandemonium.

"Duel!" Frey stated as she pointed her spear towards Eldritch and his movements spell suddenly got cancelled.

Skill: Duel

Tier: Unique

Type: Active Taunt

Effect: Tag an enemy and force them in a situation where they must battle you. The winner of the battle will be decided via elimination or the one with the lowest health. The loser of the Duel will be forcefully retired and 1% of the loser's stats will be transferred to the winner.

Those that are in the process of the duel will not be affected by external damage. They also cannot damage others except the one they are in a duel with. A tie breaker will ensue if the duel were to end in a tie.

Duration: 1 hour

Cooldown: 1 month

Mana Cost: None

A flag with a logo of two swords clashing suddenly descended from the sky. It also marked the area around them with a translucent barrier that somehow obscures them from the real world. Eldritch did not show it immediately but he is boiling with anger right now because his fun has been delayed.

"You think I will not get a skill that will stop you from running away? You have looked down on me for far too long. I guess, it is time for you to get dragged down back to the ground." Frey stated as she used Iridescence.

"You bit...!" Eldritch stated but his words are cut short by a spear piercing his stomach.

Eldritch did not even notice that Frey moved but he only thought that as a fluke since he was not prepared. The skill Iridescence not only warmed up Frey's body, but it also buffed her attack and made her attacks into range ones.

Frey would just swing her spear and waves of iridescent energy is fired towards Eldritch. Eldritch used a mana shield to block the energy waves but the attack bypassed the shield and hit his body. This time Frey used the actual spear to poke at Eldritch unlike before when she relied on ranged attacks which she was not proficient at.

Each thrust of her spear made holes on Eldritch's body and would deal lots of damage towards Eldritch. He could not even cast a spell because the spear that Frey uses can cancel out mana coalition which meant that it would disperse the magic being cast by the individual hit by her spear.

Eldritch thought that he still has the 'pseudo revive skill' which is why he did not bother trying to attack now and just waited for his first death. He would then torture the desperate bitch after he gets revived. She will not stand a chance when he is serious.

What Eldritch did not know is that Frey already activated all her best buff skills. She did this because she wants to kill Eldritch quickly since he excels in drawn out battles. All the spells in his arsenals have a delayed effect like an explosion or status effect which is why she does not want to waste time.

Eldritch' body did not last long, and Frey finished him with a spear through his heart. Eldritch smiled as he would now start the process of 'pseudo revival' but he suddenly frowned when the system notification did not appear. For the first time, Eldritch felt like the world did not revolve around him as his body started to turn into particles of light.

[The player Eldritch has lost the Duel between Eldritch and Frey.]

[1% of all of Eldritch' stats will be transferred to the winner of the Duel, The Player Frey.]

[You have completed the quest Hunt for the Envoy of the Dark Gods.]

[Talk to the leader of the Valkyries for you chance to participate in the Valkyrie Ascension Test in Valhalla.]

[You have gained a new quest.]

A look of indignation and anger could be seen painted on Eldritch's face. He was also given the effects of the Duel skill before the battle started but he did not bother checking it which is his downfall. In the duel, whoever loses will be forcefully retired which means that the life that you have when you enter the duel is your only life.

Eldritch' arrogance and haughtiness with his personality that looks down on everyone else made him lose the duel. If he forced himself to fight earlier then he might have a fighting chance to kill Frey. Frey smiled with satisfaction because she earned this victory and her long-time revenge against Eldritch has been fulfilled.

She planned it perfectly to the point that even she praised herself for doing a great job. She also knew that Eldritch had a pseudo revive skill which Adrian told her about. Thankfully, she already tested the Duel skill on boss monsters that revives in their second phase and they did not revive when they got killed when duel was active.

Frey did not even bother looking at Eldritch who started becoming particles of light as she started to go towards the imperial capital. She needed to kill the dark god as the new quest appeared when she cleared her quest in killing the Envoy of the Dark Gods.

Help in Getting Rid of the Dark God

The Goddess Freyja has tasked you to defeat the dark god that descended to the world in order to ensure the peace. You must call upon your Valkyrie sisters to join you in this fight by using the horn that is given to you when you became a Valkyrie

Difficulty: SS

Reward: Mythical Valkyrie Skill Book

Reward Condition: Call upon the Valkyries and banish or kill the dark god that descended in Nebulon.

Failure: Level -5

Failure Condition: Dying two times

Duration: None

The skill that she will gain will be a Mythical tier skill book, but the failure condition is two deaths. She did not hesitate in accepting mission because she is already in the area, and she will have the help of the Valkyries. The other races are also doing great against the dark god as of now which is why she summoned her Pegasus and rode towards the fallen imperial capital.

"I hope Equinox is there. It has been so long since we have met. How strong has he already become?" Frey stated as she flew towards the fallen imperial capital with lightning speed.

Adrian is having the time of his life watching his contribution score rise up exponentially because of the nether mist buff that he gave everyone. Despite not being able to directly damage the dark god, he shot towards first place. Levin Cloud shot towards second place because of his heals and crown controls.

The dark god felt like a caged octopus on land with many of its tentacles being chopped and burned. His tentacles might have the ability to regenerate instantaneously but that does not mean its health will be affected. The dark god could not even hear the voices of its followers because of the pesky mist that is covering the battlefield.

The dark god could only wait for its chance to attack the demon responsible but that demon is just observing while others do the dirty work.

Chapter 630 - The Dark God's True Power

The dark god, Nyarlathotep, is pinned down to the ground and is being bombarded by spells and attacks by the players and NPCs. The dark god might be screeching but its health is not decreasing rapidly. The dark god could only accept the beating that it is receiving.

The dwarves used the chained harpoons that they created to pin down some of the tentacles. The dragonkin cut down tentacles that ran amok in the air. The gnomes blasts down the tentacles that transform into faceless monsters.

The orcs used their strength to cut away tentacles that are floundering about. The others did what they can to stop the indiscriminate flailing of the dark god while under the influence of the nether mist.

The numerous tentacles started to get plucked and erased from existence by the nether mist. No faceless monsters are spawning thank to the continuous effort of everyone. The followers of the dark god that tried activating their powers inside the mist could only choke in their own spells.

Once the followers of the dark god show themselves, it would not take long for them to get eliminated by other players. Their magic is the only thing that is failing to activate inside of the nether mist. The dark god could not get help from the followers of the dark gods.

The dark god, Nyarlathotep, has now decreased to 40% of its total health, which is insulting for a god like itself, but it is weakened. If Nyarlathotep descended normally then it might have been able to overpower the demigods but the barrier that the gods sealed it with for a hundred days made it weak to the influence of the mortal realm.

Despite being attacked in all directions, the dark god, Nyarlathotep, has yet to fully utilize the ability it truly has. Its main power is not just terraforming the place it conquers and making faceless ones but mind corruption.

The dark god, Nyarlathotep, released a wave of dark thoughts to everyone. The wave of dark thoughts even affected the demigods which means that mental corruption is the real strength of the dark god. The dark corrupting wave is sent throughout the whole area but got weaker with increasing distance from the source.

[You have been affected by a wave of intense mental corruption.]

[Be careful of what you believe that you see.]

[You will be affected by this mental corruption attack for ten minutes.]

[The effect could be dispelled earlier using special means.]

Adrian's vision is still that of the area, but his previous teammates are now all faceless ones. Even the giant dark god vanished from his vision, but Adrian knew that the dark god is still there being pinned down.

All of Adrian's soulbound were not affected by the mental corruption because of their special existence. All soulbounds in the battle were not affected by the mental corruption but that is not the same for their master. Everyone started to panic because they attacked each other due to the confusion.

They could not recognize the voice of their comrades as all they can hear is the sounds that the faceless monster makes. Thankfully, Adrian's skill called Paranoia kicked in when they started attacking each other. All their spells and abilities missed by 50% which meant that no one died.

The first ones that managed to dispel the mental corruption are the demigods which is only under five minutes. The players soon followed as the tree of life and death aided in dispelling the mental corruption earlier than expected.

The dark god bought enough time for it to use another blast of mental corruption. This mental wave of corruption is not like the first one that messed up the senses but attack individuals directly. Players that were chanting spells all vomited blood as they got damaged from being interrupted from their spell casting.

The dark god emitted the wave of mental corruption with all of its body. The attack felt more like a high pitch screech that made muscle vibrate just by hearing it. The demigods did not bother defending as they needed to stop the dark god from continuing its attack as it is not stopping.

One of the elder gnomes could only think of one thing and that is to sacrifice its current mecha. The elder gnome used the overload function of its mecha. The magic crystal inside of the mecha will absorb the energy in the surroundings in order to blow up the whole machine.

The magic crystal of the raging machine filled up with nether energy made the mech even more volatile. The elder gnome took out a remote control and controlled the mech to go straight towards the dark god.

The demons that managed to sense the volatile energy of the mech all transported their allies fifty meters away. A few seconds later, a great explosion created a large mushroom cloud that is accompanied by a bone curdling scream.

The dark god, who kept channeling its mental corruption, is screaming in pain from the wounds outside of its body. The explosion is very effective due to the nether mist and the dark god became even more enraged that something trivial managed to hurt its body.

The dark god could not take it anymore and decided to use its ability to fully dominate a lesser being as long as it sacrifices its health. The dark god is now only at 35% health, but its attacks are still powerful enough to kill normal players.

The two dragons flying in the sky then entered the vision of the dark god. The giant flying lizards will be the perfect guards for the dark god to open its dimension once again. The two dragons felt something odd as their bodies started to become sluggish and heavy.

The dark god knew that it cannot control both dragons at the same time which is why it settled for the lightning dragon. It knew that the lightning dragon is the strongest of the two dragons and the one who can deal the most devastation.

[The lightning dragon, Levina, has been subjected to the dark god's Perfect Mental Slavery.]

[You must either defeat Levina or kill the dark god in order to free the lightning dragon from being attacked.]

[All of Levina's stats have increased temporarily for the duration of the skill affecting her.]

"Levina!" cried out the fire dragon that came with her.

Levina's clear eyes looked different as if it is muddled by something. The cries of her allies cannot be heard which meant that the dark god has complete control over her. The dark god sacrificed 10% of its remaining health in order to have full control of the lightning dragon.

"It seems that she is under some spell, master. Let us kill the dark god first so that we can free Master Levina from its clutches." The male dragonoid stated as he pointed the better step.

The fire dragon could not hide its rage as it spews its intense breath towards the dark god, but a cage made of lightning descended upon it and protected the dark god. They saw the proud figure of a dragon is now under the control of the dark god.

Not only did Levina block the attack towards the dark god, but she also shared some of her boundless mana to the dark god. The dark god recovered from its superficial wounds and started to initiate the affixation of its domain to the mortal realm.

Thanks to the time that the possessed lightning dragon gave the dark god, the creation of new soldiers continued once again. Numerous faceless arch monsters came out of the dark god, but these things look like they are about to evolve. They look like they are about to transcend their current forms.

This can only mean that the dark god is now extremely serious and will do anything in order to win. To add salt to the wounds of the angels, the faceless monsters that came out all had fake halos that had no shine. It seems that the dark god modeled it after the angels that it has devoured.

The dark god seeing that it has already created enough soldiers to stop the lower beings trying to stop has decided to ascend to the sky and completely break apart the dimensional reality. If it breaks down the dimensional reality, then that means that the dark god will have truly descended but also created a door to the other side.

If that happened, then all the dark gods that can see this hole will be able to pass through to the mortal realm. The dark god started descending until a giant great sword came down from the heavens and pushed the dark god back.

The sounds of neighing and flapping wings could be heard from the distance. Numerous women with glistening armor could be seen descending from the sky riding pegasi.. The Valkyries sounded their horn to signal that they have come to participate.
