

O Summoner 781

Chapter 781 - The Last Two SS Rank Monsters I

The Roc at the north and the Sand Apparition in the south. These two SS rank monsters are vastly different from the other SS rank monsters because they have legendary status tied to them. The only SS rank monster close to their power would be the defeated Blood Hungry Crimson Tiger.

The audience did not know what to focus on first as the two battles were very interesting due to the people that joined. The north side has the Russian, German, Philippines, and Sweden's national teams against the Roc. The south side has the Japan, Ukraine, France and United Kingdom's national teams against the Sand Apparition.

The battle in the north side is basically just them pinning down the Roc so that it will not fly away. The person that is pinning down the Roc is definitely the one that has the most contribution in the fight. His chain is keeping the Roc pinned down to the ground as he buried the handle to the ground while Anastacia used earth hardening magic to secure it.

The Roc's right wing might have been pierced by Frey's spear, but the legendary bird could still use it to try and fly. The wound on its right wing could be seen slowly getting healed by its innate vitality. Sveto needed to tank more damage from the SS rank monster so that he can perform a killing strike against it, but Apolaki is preventing him from tanking the damage.

Sveto did not know whether Apolaki is doing it intentionally or is just coincidence, but it is getting on his nerves. When the Roc would use its beak to attack Sveto, Apolaki would suddenly appear behind its neck and strike using his kampilan. The Roc would then squint in pain as its weakness is definitely the back of its neck.

Frey saw this and immediately knew what Apolaki is doing. She proceeded to do the same, but she cannot easily mount the Roc as it would just shake her away. She even tried piercing the back of the Roc with her spear to keep mounted but it was harder than she thought. She does not know how Apolaki is actually doing great damage the Roc.

The German team members that just arrived are Eis and Schutz as they were the closest one in the area of the Roc. They did not bother attacking the others as they just needed to burst down the monster before it takes flight. Eis is the best when it comes to this as her main elemental attack is the ice element which is a great threat to flying monsters that are not cold blooded.

Eis used an area spell called Blizzard to turn the already cold northern part of the map into a true icy paradise. This did not affect Sveto that much as he is actually from the human race that is from the north which means that he has achieved the Cold Resistance passive skill to a high enough level that he can ignore the cold temperature.

The others except for Schutz that has the blessing of the Frost Giant due to being in a party with Eis are experiencing the accumulated fatigue of being in a cold environment. Anastacia is a fine as she can warm herself using one of the life elemental spells called Temperate, but it continuously uses some of her mana to do so.

Dupe is currently hiding in a corner as her traps will get disarmed the moment that she dies. She needs to be alive in order to trigger her traps or else everything will be for naught. She already prepared thirty or so traps in order to kill the Roc when it goes to a certain health threshold.

"That Eis is not helping at all. She made the battlefield even more chaotic than it already is." Dupe stated as a person suddenly manifested next to her.

"You do not need to worry as I am already accumulating enough damage as it is against the Roc. I will make sure that we will be the one that kills it." Apolaki stated as he once again vanished into smoke.

The battle persisted in a battlefield filled with ice and the Roc is showing signs of fatigue as the damage piled up on its body. The one that the Roc wanted to kill the most is the warrior holding a strange sword that seems to easily cut its rock-hard skin like it is tofu. Every time that the Roc is distracted, that warrior would deal a critical hit against it.

Another annoying thing is the chain that is pinning it down to the ground. The Roc would have easily pulled it up or break the chain if it was a normal chain but even a legendary bird cannot break something gifted by a god. The chain is also anchored to the mountain itself due to the intense focus that Anastacia is giving it. Her eyes even looked bloodshot with each powerful tug that the Roc does.

The Roc had finally enough and decided that it must burn its life just to escape. It decided to pursue revenge after recovering from its wounds. It had already mastered all the faces of those that attacked it. The Roc's heart suddenly started pumping like crazy and its body heat that became low due to the freezing cold started to rise in heat.

"Sqwauaa!"

The Roc shouted as its strength doubled and its body heat increased as it is now bursting with energy. The chain that is anchored to the ground using Anastacia's powers easily got pulled out which made Anastacia spit out blood in the process.

Now that the Roc is no longer tethered to the ground, it can now fly the skies as its right wing is somewhat healed. Although it is burning its life in the process, it can now escape and plan its revenge later. It wanted to enjoy its freedom first before exacting its revenge.

The Roc looked at the people below it with arrogant eyes that said 'I will have my revenge and I will tear your limbs apart when I do'.

Chapter 782: The Last Two SS Rank Monsters II

The Roc flew to the sky and gave the players one last look before it would fly away and recuperate its wounds. Sveto once again tried to dangle the chain ball onto the neck of the Roc, but the SS rank monster just blew it away using the strong force of wind created with the flap of its wings.

Eis tried to hit the Roc with ice shards created from a magic circle above it, but the ice just melts immediately as it strikes the body of the Roc. It is now invincible against the effects of the frost, but the Roc still gets damaged even if it does not falter.

Frey also tried to get up to the Roc, but she decided to back down as she is an easy target in air. Even if she uses her Pegasus, she will definitely be the sandbag of a real flying monster. As the Roc gave a last sneering look at the ants before it, Dupe snapped her fingers and all of the traps that she laid in the air all activated at the same time.

The first trap that activated is the Lock On trap that targeted the Roc. The next traps numbered ten each are the elemental traps that she has created. The Flame Ring Trap, the Lightning Strike trap, the Aquatic Soak trap and the Elemental Resist Down Trap. She had to use all of her mana twice which made her chug mana potions that she is almost allergic to them at this point.

All the traps that were supposed to activate upon contact are now targeting the Roc. This decreased the damage that the traps dealt but they can now be redirected which is great for long range combat. The first trap that affected the Roc is the Elemental Resist Down trap that applied ten stacks of minus 5% elemental resistance to those affected by it. Since it is now long ranged, each of the traps decreased the elemental resistance of the Roc by 3%.

Still a 30% decrease in elemental resistance is enough to deal great damage to the Roc that is still flying high and mighty in the sky. The first type of elemental trap that hit it is the Flame Ring Trap that summoned rings of fire that held its body in mid-air. It also deals fire damage every second that the target is affected. With lowered elemental resistance, the Roc could not break free from the effects of the Flame Ring Trap.

With its beautiful feathers charred because of the trap, the Aquatic Soak trap activated and bathe the Roc with water that has lots of impure particles. This means that the water that it is sprayed with had minerals in it and not just pure water that magic could easily create. In fact, Dupe had to extract the water she used for this trap from the marshlands.

The Roc is now soaked with impure water and held captive by flaming rings of fire. All of the the Lightning Strike traps activated and started charging for power, but Dupe had another thing in mind. She activated one of the skills that she gained when she became Level 200.

“Trap Master Arts: Combination!” Dupe stated as 50% of all her mana got drained by using one skill.

All of the Lightning Strike traps converged into one giant trap that materialized on top of the Roc. The Roc suddenly felt that its life is in danger and boosted its defense greatly at the expense of its health. It gathered all the wind elemental energy that it could and created a shield made of harsh winds.

The combined Lightning Strike traps all converge into a singular point and fell down on the Roc. The wind shield that it generated managed to disperse some of the lightning created but it cannot protect against all of it as the art that Dupe used can magnify the damage of the traps that she combined.

The Roc screeched in pain as its body is now falling from the sky due to the lightning strike. The weakened elemental resistance plus the conductive impure water it was soaked with has greatly lowered its resistance against lightning attacks.

The great damage from the lightning attack made the Roc fell down and the players gathered thought that they had a chance at killing the beast because of it. Suddenly ghostly swords manifested above the Roc as it kept falling down. Each of these ghostly swords had different carvings on them but they all had the same carvings.

Apolaki suddenly appeared on top of the sky holding his kampilan high up in the air. The ghostly swords that are in the sky suddenly merged with the kampilan and it changed to a form that is the combination of all the swords.

“Ghostly Sword Parade: Spirit Blade Culling!” Apolaki stated as he came crashing down on the body of the Roc.

The Roc saw Apolaki and its eyes is filled with vengeance upon the warrior that made it bleed. Apolaki then plunged the sword deep into the chest of the Roc and the legendary bird could feel its soul being sliced apart by the sheer force of the blade.

As soon as Apolaki plunged the transformed sword into the chest of the Roc, numerous ghostly swords suddenly exploded from within the Roc. The attack of Apolaki shocked the system of the Roc as its soul is the thing that is damaged.

The lifeless body of the Roc fell onto the ground, and it turned into particles of light as Apolaki finished it off with the skill that he used. The kris that he planted inside of the Roc finally appeared on the ground as the body of the Roc turned into particles of light. Apolaki had a victorious smile as his plan came into fruition.

He already assured victory when he planted the kris inside the body of the Roc at the start of the match. The skill Ghostly Sword Parade: Spirit Blade Culling would not have activated if he did not do that.

Chapter 783: The Last Two SS Rank Monsters III

[The Roc has been killed by The Philippines’ National Team. They are awarded the equivalent points for killing an SS rank monster. Congratulations!]

The Roc’s body vanished and became ancient writings like what happened to all of the defeated SS rank monsters.

“A disaster that has two heads.” Apolaki muttered as he read out the sentence that he can make out from the ancient writings.

The other teams were disappointed that they could not finish off the Roc. They are actually in shock that a monster that has a health percentage of thirty or so died with just that. The skill that Apolaki used is actually a damaging skill that stacks all the accumulated damage that the marked enemy received.

He already secured victory the moment that he planted the kris inside of the Roc. This would not have been effective for an enemy that has high spiritual sense though. This is the reason why Apolaki did not use this skill on the Blood Hungry Crimson Tiger as it would immediately sense something wrong with its soul.

Apolaki and Dupe’s teamwork also played a big part in them securing the area. They are now much more wary when it comes to the person that claimed the MVP title in the second event than they were. They thought that they can easily defeat her in a PVP setting but her skills in utilizing traps is almost at the level of a mage.

In fact, Dupe has debated whether to choose a mage character or a scout character. In the end, she chose the latter but managed to find a job class that has two of the qualities. Apolaki and Dupe immediately left the scene as soon as they saw the ancient writings as they needed to gather more points.

The United Kingdom national team is currently leading the score due to them killing all SS rank and S rank monsters in the marshland area. The mountain area that had strong winds and mighty looking peaks started to lose its majesty as the SS rank monster has already died.

The strong winds became a soft gentle wind that cannot even bring down blades of grass. The mighty and majestic looking peaks started to lose their grandiose as if something made it look ugly. The monsters in the northern area also dispersed as soon as the SS rank monster died.

“Should we aim for the south?” Anastacia asked the disappointed Sveto.

“We will not make it if we start now. We should kill the S rank monsters here instead. It seems that they did not kill the S rank monsters and instead focused on killing the SS rank monster.” Sveto stated as the two of them searched the S rank monsters in the mountain region.

The other teams pulled out their Companionship Crystals and summoned their mounts. They wanted to have enough time to at least have a chance to kill steal the last SS rank monster. Some of them just searched for the A rank monsters for points as they knew that the SS rank monster in the desert should already be dying at this point.

It seems that they have severely looked down on their opponents’ time in dealing with SS rank monsters. They thought that they would have a difficult time taking down an SS rank monster, but it is actually easier if they all worked together like what they have been doing now.

The Sand Apparition is not an easy opponent by any means even if they can visibly see the weakness which the red core is floating in the middle of the sand tornado. The Sand Apparition is a being that makes use of other people’s desire, thoughts and fear.

The real power of the Sand Apparition started to manifest when a lot of people in its vicinity. Its ability to charm other people is limited but its ability to use the things inside the heads of others is almost omnipotent. With the sand as its canvas, the Sand Apparition started to utilize all the things that individuals around it hold great fear.

This fear is actually limited to the game as the developers will not shamelessly expose someone’s trauma from the real world. At first, it was the female genie but the next thing that manifested is a dragon that slammed the aspect of Vepar away with the other Ukraine team members.

The dragon's face is familiar with Vepar as he knows this dragon as it was one of the shames of the dragon kind. The dragon is one of the spawns of the Dragon of Gluttony that devoured not only that of the lower species but also its kind.

For a player to have this fear engraved into them means that they must have visited its tomb. Vepar knew that there is no one that utilized this dragon's power here which means that they must have lost their life fighting it. Fortunately, the Sand Apparition's sand illusions have a distinct weakness.

“The beings that are turned into sand illusions are subjected to the victim's idea of it. Which means that the abilities that these Sand Illusions use is limited to what those that encountered have seen. The illusions are also not as powerful as the original, but they are almost unlimited.” The aspect of Vepar stated as he erected a barrier that protected them from the attack of the Sand Dragon.

The sand illusions are of different qualities and creatures. There are even some sand illusions that are similar to monsters in the starting village, Genesis. It must mean that one player must have a horrible experience in the starting village for there to be monsters from the starting village here.

The definition of fears used by the Sand Apparition is a broad term as it might only be what they do not like to what killed them in under a second. As the Sand Apparition is not capable of complete autonomous thought, it used whatever it could pick up from the living beings around it.

A legion of sand illusions now stands before the contestants as they tried to aim at the red core that the Sand Apparition has. Vayu is the one that came the closest to the red core as he managed to slash it with his katana. His figure of stepping in invisible wind looked like that of a superpowered samurai.

As a half wind elemental, Vayu could predict the flow of the wind and use it as an optimal chance to get close to his opponent. The Sand Apparition is no different as he is faster than it could create Sand Illusions. He only had difficulty the moment that the dragon sand illusion joined the fray. Even if the dragon is made up of sand and is just a copy of the original, it should still have something that can copy from the real dragon.

The good news is that the Sand Apparition seemed to stop creating more Sand illusions as soon as it created the dragon. It must have reached its capacity in controlling its creations. The number of sand illusions is not decreasing though as a new one would immediately formulate as soon as the cut down one of the Sand Illusions.

The developers would not purposely make a monster this powerful unless it has a weakness. The players soon noticed that the Sand Apparition's health would decrease by 0.01 % every time that they defeated a normal small size sand illusion. The bigger the sand illusion defeated then the higher the health that is reduced upon the monster.

The only problem is that they would need to defeat multiple sand illusions to just defeat the Sand Apparition. It is not great because they rather go away and hunt other monsters. They wanted to aim at the core, but the dragon sand illusion is basically safeguarding it from enemies.

Even the aspect of Vepar cannot approach easily as he is also conserving some of his strength. The summoning that Cersei used is the 50% health and 90% mana summoning which means he unlimited time in the real world but will be released if either Cersei dies or the aspect of Vepar dies.

The aspect of Vepar is also protecting Cersei at the same time as there could be snakes hiding in the sands. Cersei also knows this which is why he also has one of her team members beside her always. It is then two large spells of different elements could be seen forming from above and below the Sand Apparition.

The magic circle that appeared above it contained the frost element while the magic circle that formed below it contained the fire element. They looked at the person using the spell and saw Merlin floating in the air chanting as her eyes became white with just light. They wanted to stop her as she could kill the Sand Apparition but she is being protected by Pendragon that stood just below her.

Chapter 784: The Last Two SS Rank Monsters IV

The vast amount of mana that is gathering towards Merlin could be felt by everyone in the area. She is currently using two large scale powerful spells of opposing elements. The two spells that she is using are called Hail Rain and Inferno.

The spell called Hail Rain is a top tier spell that affects a large area in a snowstorm that has large shards of ice. It also reduces the temperature of the area below zero degrees which means that living beings will freeze over as soon as they get hit by that spell.

The spell called Inferno is the opposite of Hail Rain as it blasts the area with intense hit that is about a thousand degrees. The area is left with nothing but ashes as a side effect of the spell. It is a great spell for those that specialize in fire magic as it has great damage and even melts the defenses of the opponent.

The Hail Rain is the first spell that activated as the hot desert started to experience a sudden drop in temperature. The Sand Apparition could not evade the attack as it is rooted into place. Once it uses the sand illusions, it cannot move to another place unless it retrieves the sand particles back into its body. This is the reason why the Sand Apparitions cannot take over the western continent despite being a powerful monster.

The body of the Sand Apparition started to get covered in a layer of frost. Since the Sand Apparition does not live in an area with low temperatures, the Sand Apparition is getting high damage when it was struck by a spell that contained the Ice element. It is still not large enough to kill it as the Sand Apparition has the same health as that of the King Whale in dormant state.

After the Hail Rain, the next spell Inferno triggered in about a minute of the top tier ice spell in effect. The sand below the Sand Apparition started to melt and turn into hot glass as the spell Inferno erupted. A large column of fire erupted and enveloped the Sand Apparition.

The two colliding extreme temperatures could not stabilize properly as that is not what Merlin intended in the first place. She just needed to make sure that they are the one to kill the Sand Apparition. The large explosion created smoke that covered the entire area and they do not know what the status of the Sand Apparition is now.

Even the Aspect of Vepar had to retreat when the two great spells are cast as it might not survive the two spells if he gets caught. Some players tried to take advantage of the situation and dive the boss while the two spell are affecting it, but they all died as their body got torn to shreds by the two extreme temperatures.

The smoke cleared and everyone could see that the whole body of the Sand Apparition is either cracked glass or glass. It seems that the sand swirling around the red core could not easily resist the two top tier spells' change in temperature. The red core of the Sand Apparition is even blinking dimly as it got damaged by a great deal.

The sand illusions that were caught up in the spell either turned into glass or broke because of the explosion. The players saw this and thought it was an opportunity but the aspect of Vepar told Cersei and her team members to escape. He then pointed to Merlin and told Cersei what the skilled mage actually did.

“We will retreat. She already laced the area in explosion magic. We will not survive if we get hit by that. She really is a demon's descendant as only they can use Arcane Series: Nuclear Strike Magic.” The aspect of Vepar stated as he carried Cersei away from the area.

The players could not see that Merlin actually simultaneously used three different spells. Four spells, if you count the one that she applied to herself to create the illusion that she only decreased half her mana. When in fact, all of her mana is depleted from using three spells at the same time with one of them being of the catastrophe class spell called Nuclear Strike Magic.

Above the clouds of the desert area, a condensed magic circle that is the size of a ten-meter ring could be seen. This magic circle has been gathering power even before the spells Hail Rain and Inferno even started. Merlin used this magic first and then casted the two other spells.

The Sand Apparition is left with about 40% health from her attacks. She just needed to make sure that the monster did not move from its position or else she would miss. The spell from the Arcane series is not something that can easily be wielded as they consume great amounts of mana and even weaken the caster.

“Too bad that they will get affected by it.” Merlin muttered as she saw the foolish players from other teams that just arrived to try and finish off the Sand Apparition.

A few seconds later, the sky suddenly started to become bright as a bright beam of light descended from the skies. The bright beam of light descended towards the Sand Apparition as it is the intended target. The players who saw this cannot even try and evade as the attack came at the speed of light and pierced the red core of the Sand Apparition that is actually pretty sturdy.

The beam of light then made contact with the ground, and it started to expand in a dome shape. The players in the area got swallowed up by the beam of light. They did not even struggle as the white light enveloped them and killed them immediately by disintegrating their body.

[The Sand Apparition has been killed by The United Kingdom's National Team. They are awarded the equivalent points for killing an SS rank monster. Congratulations!]

Chapter 785: The SSS Rank Monster Awakens

The United Kingdom team basically blew away the competitors as nothing is left on the area affected by the Arcane Series: Nuclear Strike Magic. When the bright light ceased, only a giant gaping hole in the middle of the desert could be seen. The ancient letters that appeared every time that an SS rank monster is defeated appeared.

The desert that had harsh sandstorms finally grew silent and the scorching heat also subsided. The desert became empty and the remaining monsters in the desert all dispersed. The ancient writing stayed in the air for quite a while which is strange as it usually disappears after a few seconds.

Other players then pointed to the sky that each area had ancient writings floating above them. The ancient writings from the north, east, south and west areas suddenly converged towards the center area. All of the ancient writings flew towards the jungle area and fused together to complete a paragraph.

The whole map suddenly shook as a reverberating voice of an old man echoed throughout the entire map. The voice came from the ancient writings, but the players thought that they were actually hearing the voice through telepathy as they can hear it in their heads.

“Beware the monster that comes from the depths. A being born from toxin and flame that comes from the underworld and the world. One head brings the world a sunder while the other brings the world to ruin.

In a vast land where five different areas of nature meet, I managed to seal it with the sacrifice of five great beings. Fearing that the five great beings would be killed by others, I sealed them using the very life force that I had in my body.

Should the day the five great beings fall, the world shall fall with it as the disaster from the depths will wake up and I will never be there to stop it. Here the voice of this old sage, be careful what you might release.”

Every player heard the voice of the old sage that gave a warning, but it is already too late. The jungle area suddenly experiences a very powerful earthquake. A pit opened up in the jungle area that swallowed the entire dull forest. A vast amount of magma then flowed out of the pit and a large monster suddenly started to emerge from it.

The players could not even see the monster emerging from the pits, but they could feel the pressure that it is giving off. Two heads suddenly emerged from the pits and emitted a roar so loud that it made the space tremble.

[You have been affected by Dragon Roar.]

A monster born from the depths of the underworld came to the surface. A dragon with a single body and two heads. A body with a mixture of green and red scales that shined brightly despite no light striking upon them. A body that is a hundred meters tall and an imposing figure that would make you believe that even a god will have difficulty fighting it.

“What is that doing here!” The aspect of Vepar stated as it is in shock.

The aspect of Vepar knows what that monster is because that monster can only be seen in Hell as one of the beloved pets of a certain devil god. That certain devil god always loved that two headed dragon and will ride it as its mount whenever the devil gods gather.

Monster: Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God (SSS Rank Monster)

All the players could only gasp in shock at the sheer size of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God as it is almost as big as the King Whale. Its two heads are capable of thought and each spews different things.

The right head of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God spews poison fog that can melt anything that it touches. The poison fog even has a property of explosiveness as it is made of highly combustible fumes. The left head of Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God spews fire that comes from the pits of hell.

The fire that the left head breathes is no ordinary fire as it is hellfire. Unlike normal flames that can be extinguished using water, hellfire can only be extinguished using holy flames or holy waters. It also has a special effect of burning the affected individual's soul.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God finally emerged from the pits fully and spread its wings proudly and emitted another roar.

Another roar came with another debuff which cannot be cleansed using normal means. The only person in the contestants that can actually cleanse the debuff is Anastacia and even she is having a difficult time. It is the first time that she experienced her Purification skill failing. She already maxed it and even got stronger with her new job class but even she fails half of the time.

The players did not think much of the decrease in stats as they know that it will vanish if they die. They just need to die in the first confrontation against the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. They did not know that just reaching the area of the SSS rank monster is already such a demanding chore.

[You are in the presence of a powerful being.]

[You are affected by Dragon Fear.]

[30% chance for magic spells to not work.]

For everyone in the third round, this is their first time being in front of a real dragon that exerts its pressure. Even the dragonkin players that normally visit the dragons that they serve are actually affected by dragon fear despite having dragon blood in their systems.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God suddenly inhaled greatly as it now felt that the area before it is not suitable to be its domain.

Chapter 786: The SSS Rank Monster I

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God inhaled greatly using both of its heads. A few seconds later, a torrent of poison fog and hellfire engulfed the area in front of it. Half of the marshlands became poisonous swamps while half of the sea area became a sea of fire.

If a player told people that they saw the sea burning, then they would not have believed them but the scene being shared in the screen just threw common sense out of the window. Coastal area and half of the sea is burning in a blazing inferno.

The monsters that scattered about all died when they got hit by the poisonous fumes and hellfire. It is not only the monsters that died as the players that did not have time to evade or escape also died. With just one breath attack, the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God changed the terrain.

The players could not feel the confidence to win against the being before them. In fact, some players thought that hunting the remaining monsters could score them the win but the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God changed. When the SSS rank monster spew its breath attacks, over half of the remaining monsters died instantly.

The teams that were hoping to close the gap using the remaining monsters can only cry inside as the only chance for them to win now is to take down the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. They thought that as an impossible task as a dragon has tough defenses both physically and magically.

The players have around three hours remaining to kill the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God but even they think that it is not enough to defeat the behemoth. All of them almost lost their motivation when a system announcement is received by every player and the audience also read this since it is shared in the projected screens.

[The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God, which is an SSS rank monster, has been revived.]

[In case that the SSS rank monster is not killed by the end of the event, the team with the most contribution will be the one receiving the points.]

[If the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God is killed then the team that killed it will be awarded the 1000 points.]

[If the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God is not killed by the time of the even ends, then they team with the highest contribution points will be awarded with 250 points.]

The players who lost their spirit suddenly felt their motivation increasing greatly as they can now have a chance at winning this competition. The last few moments will be the deciding factor for this event now as 250 points is enough for any of the national teams that is not in the lead to actually win.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God did not stay idle as it knew that its new domain is still not up to standard. It wants to terraform the whole map or else it will not be comfortable. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God can see that there are many ants in its domain, but it could care less as it knew that it could kill them any time that it wished.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God spread out its wings and took to the skies. Just flapping its wings almost blew away the surrounding magma towards the desert. Its wings are so powerful and large that it can almost create tornadoes just flapping it. As soon as the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God took to the skies, it headed north as it wants to change the terrain of the mountains first.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God is not only powerful but also arrogant as well as it has not detected a lifeform in this area that is stronger than it. The players in the northern part of the map all tried to evacuate but the fiery breath of the SSS rank monster engulfed them into flames.

The proud mountains that stood tall in the north all melted due to the fierce nature of hellfire. When the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God looked satisfied with its job, it then moved towards the east as it plans to finish its job in the sea first. It wants to proudly announce to the world that even water cannot extinguish its flames.

The players all saw this and decided that they need to just hit the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God as hard as they can. Any team could now get the contribution points as long as they get the most damage. The contestants are now in the mindset of being as reckless as they can but still get necessary damage on the opponent.

“Strike of the Ten Suns!” Hou Yiwei suddenly shouted as he released ten arrows into the sky.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God that is flying to the east suddenly felt something of intense heat coming down towards it. Ten suns of giant magnitude are now falling down towards the SSS rank monster. Each of the suns is empowered by the God Slayer buff as the monster they are fighting now has the powers of a god.

The first of the ten suns managed to hit the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God directly on its back and it got pushed down a bit in mid-air. The next sets of suns also did the same until the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God got sent crashing to the ground.

The damage that the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God is not substantial, but it is knocked out of the air which meant that it will be easier to handle. Hou Yiwei did not stop his attacks there as he also used other skills to pin the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God on the ground.

Chapter 787: The SSS Rank Monster II

“Stardust Rain!” Hou Yiwei shouted as an arrow filled with the energy of a dying star filled his arrow.

Hou Yiwei released this arrow and something akin to a starburst on top of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. The star that burst became smaller stars that came raining down on the SSS rank monster.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God did not even roar in pain, but a look of intense hatred could be seen from its two heads. The SSS rank monster tried to look for the one who dared to attack it and found Hou Yiwei. The rank one player did not get fazed when the SSS rank monster leered at it.

Hou Yiwei just continued attacking the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God until the dragon decided to single him out. The SSS rank monster decided that it must pulverize the ant that dared to bite it. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God opened its mouths and two orbs started to form on both mouths.

The orbs then transformed into snake like monsters made of hellfire and noxious gas. These two snakes then headed towards Hou Yiwei at a great speed. It did not take long for the two snakes to reach the distance of Hou Yiwei but the two snakes suddenly got cut into two.

The magic that sustained the two snakes vanished as soon as they got cut into two. The ones who cut it is none other than Jiang and Ye. The moment they cut the two snakes; they boarded their swords as they have no means of flight other than riding their swords.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God saw this and sneered at the two swordsmen. It could feel that the swords that the two carried are strong enough to pierce any magical phenomena. The two swords can even potentially cut its scales, but the wielders are not strong enough to do so.

The other players did not idle while Hou Yiwei and his team stole the spotlight. Renyu utilized all of the mana that she can use and called upon the largest tide that she can muster. The sea of the eastern part of the map is raised as she summoned the might of water.

A large tsunami soon came crashing down on the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God as it failed to take flight since Hou Yiwei is still aiming for its wings. The SSS rank monster did not mind the bath water that hit it, but the dragon squealed in pain for the first time.

The giant tidal wave is not just normal sea water but purified holy water using the item that Nishui has in his inventory. Nishui's class is not just a normal warrior class as he is not actually a warrior but a Monk of the Elements (Water Style). Monks have the power to purify evil influences by attaching the holy attribute to the element of their choosing.

It took all of Nishui's mana and the stored power in his gourd to apply the holy element to the water that Renyu controlled. The holy tidal wave that crashed down made the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God scream in pain.

The other players utilized this chance to get close to the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God and strike its hard scales. No normal weapon could easily pierce the scales of the SSS rank monster but almost each of the national teams have a priest in their roster.

With their attacks being enchanted by the holy element, it did not take too long for the hard scales to crack from the continuous hitting of the melee players. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God noticed this and tried sweeping the players with its tail, but they would evade using a skill or use their flying mounts.

The large body of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God made it easy to notice its actions. It did not take long for the SSS rank monster to be bombarded with different elemental spells that waned down its health. The next attack that it received made it emit a loud roar due to the intense holy element mixed in it.

“Life Reversal!” Anastacia chanted one of her most powerful healing spells that can fully restore an individual's health and cleanse any status ailments or abnormalities.

If she used it on a target with no 'evil' affiliation, then it would have done its purpose. If she used it on a target with 'evil' as their affiliation, then the target would receive a large amount of damage that can sear the soul as this spell targets the soul.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God went into shock for a split second before recovering its mental state as it did not expect an attack to strike its soul. The players also saw that the SSS rank monster lost 5% of its health with that attack alone which sent Anastacia straight to the number one position when it comes to contribution.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God did not take this as it needs to punish the ants that dared to even bite it. The SSS rank monster then spewed its noxious fumes towards the ground and the whole area became covered in poisonous gas. The players that got poisoned immediately drank their antidotes to relieve some of the poison effects.

Those that did not have antidotes could only suffer as their life is forfeited inside of the poisonous gas. A little bit later, the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God inhaled greatly and spewed hellfire. The players then learned of the definition called highly combustible.

The moment the hellfire touched the noxious fumes, an intense explosion suddenly occurred that doubled the area that the breath attack should have hit. The audience are shocked when the smoke cleared as all one hundred players died from the attack.

Chapter 788: The SSS Rank Monster III

The smoke cleared and all of the players died as a result of the explosion. In fact, it is what they want to do as the heavy decrease in their stats is making them take forever to kill the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

The players soon revived in the safe zones that were not affected by the fire and fumes of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. Just as they surmised, the effects of the Dragon Roar and Dragon Fear all vanished upon their death.

The only difficulty now is that the area around them is either a burning inferno or a toxic area that will melt any living thing in the vicinity. The players had no choice but to rely on their mounts in order to escape the safe zones or tip toe their way towards the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God did not move from its location as it tried to recover some of its stamina that it lost from activating its breath attack to the fullest extent. What the SSS rank monster did not know is two of the teams have instantaneous travel available for them.

A magic circle and a dark spot in the northeast part of the map suddenly activated as two teams used a skill or spell for instantaneous movement. The two teams are the United States and Philippines national team.

The magic circle came from a trap that Dupe has set before the fight with the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. This trap, Trick Door, is special as it lasts for two hours and does not vanish even if she dies. It is a trap that connects two spaces using magic, but it is only good for one time use.

The dark spot is called Shadow Point and is similar to the Trick Door as it also connects two points, but it uses the shadow dimension. It is not a one-time use skill, but it needs to recharge every three hours as the shadows need to gather once more. No more than two Shadow Points can exist at the same time.

“I thought we were the only one that would arrive immediately, but it seems that we are mistaken.” Totem stated as he looked at the direction of Apolaki’s team.

Other players arrived early as well because they have closer resurrection points or have fast travel time due to their mounts. Although, the others have yet to arrive and only five teams are there at the moment. The United States, United Kingdom, Japan, China and Philippines are all the countries that managed to arrive first.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God noticed the existences of the small ants and wondered how they returned back from the dead, but it did not matter to it. All the SSS rank monster needed to do is kill the ants once more, but it is currently resting its body as it pushed itself to the limit by executing numerous breath attacks.

The United States national team moved first as Poison Ivy immediately scattered numerous seeds from her soulbound that just also revived. She also summoned her snake vine soulbound as a mount for her travel. She summoned a soulbound that has not been seen before in the competition and it is a monster plant called Mourning Glory.

The Mourning Glory monster plant is like a giant sunflower that has a red center and black petals. It is also a bit different from the monster plants that need to root themselves to the ground as it is actually flying in the sky. It seemed like a dark version of a sun instead of a sunflower when viewed from afar.

[The Mourning Glory is flying in the sky and smells the scent of death from the surroundings.]

[The Mourning Glory is overjoyed. All allies will receive a 50% buff in damage dealt to enemies.]

[The Mourning Glory is overjoyed. All allies will receive a 20% damage reduction.]

[As long as the Mourning Glory is in the battlefield, the buffs will not disappear.]

The soulbound that Poison Ivy summoned had increased the power of all her team members. She is not the only one that buffed her whole team as Totem channeled the spirits of the earth and wind.

[All allies will gain 20% damage reduction for the duration of one hour.]

[All allies will gain 30% increase speed and reaction time for the duration of one hour.]

The United States national team is now showing everyone their teamwork that they never did before. Poison Ivy summoned plants that tried to bind the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God while it is strengthened by Aisha that is an elf using her blessing of nature.

Shado vanished and reappeared next to the right eye of the left head of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. He tried to stab it, but the SSS rank monster immediately shut its eye and attempted to spew poison towards him, but Null deactivated the skill by using a spell that overloads magic.

Dragon breaths are magic as well which is why Null is able to cancel it, but it also came at a cost since she spat out blood from the feedback. Her team members did not let the chance that she gave them go to waste as Shado switched attacks and aimed for the right head instead. He managed to stab the tongue of the SSS rank monster.

The left head noticed this and tried to bite Shado but a dozen of dandelion seeds suddenly arrived at the face of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. The dandelion seeds exploded and clouded the vision of the SSS rank monster. It gave a chance for Shado to quickly escape from the attack range of the dragon.

This exchange that happened made the crowd cheer as they are now seeing real team play of professionals. Every moment is exciting and breathtaking as one cannot predict what may happen.

Chapter 789: Ancestral Spirit

While his four members were attacking the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God, Totem is busy chanting something as his whole body started to radiate an aura of something divine. His eyes burst out in blue light and even his words echoed in the air.

All the totems around his neck suddenly activated and disintegrated into particles of light. Totem then inhaled the particles of light and his body started to swell. In just a span of a few seconds, Totem became as big as the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

The skill that he activated is the Ancestral Spirit skill that is one of the ultimate secret skills that a druid can master. It grants them the power of every being that they have bonded with. Totem is like a giant god that descended with his body tattoos glowing in a silver blue light.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God saw this and tried using its hellfire dragon breath towards Totem. He did not bother dodging but Totem slapped the left head of the SSS rank monster. He cancelled the breath attack using brute force alone.

It would have been great if he can maintain this form for a long time, but he can only do so for ten minutes. The wrestling match between a giant man and a two headed dragon started. Totem grabbed one of the heads of the dragon while the other bit the former's left shoulder.

Totem winced in pain as he can still feel pain despite being under the influence of a skill. The other players did not waste the chance of Totem getting the attention of the SSS rank monster. The players once again started pouring out their skills and spells on the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

The two headed dragon could not stop the attacks of the ants before it because of the giant man that is holding down its two heads. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God had no choice but to use another powerful spell that it has in its arsenal.

The body of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God suddenly glowed in a red light as the surroundings suddenly felt heavy and oppressive. The surrounding temperature also started to rise even further as the pools of lava expanded.

“Hellfire of Demise!” The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God muttered which caught Totem off guard as the latter did not think that the beast could even speak. The SSS rank monster can speak but it chose not to speak because it does not want to lower itself to the rank of ants.

The lava pools suddenly started to erupt one by one in a circular pattern. Each lava eruption grew closer and closer until it reached the area of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. The area is once again decimated and some of the players died as a result.

The players that managed to live used their damage immunity skills while some increased their magical defense to the utmost. Totem managed to hold on as his defenses are increased as well but his health is now down to 50% due to the direct damage that he received. Still, he persisted and kept attacking the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

Frey, who is riding on her Pegasus, jumped towards the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God as she waved her spear in a circular motion. Numerous spears then manifested as a result and each spear is a copy of her very own weapon.

“Omni Strike Javelin!” Frey stated as the spears she generated started raining down on the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God.

Each spear cost about a hundred mana but only as 10% the damage of her original weapon. She did this in order to search for the weakness of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God but no scales got cracked from her attack. She can only try and pierce the scale of the SSS rank monster directly using her spear.

Hou Yiwei also did the same as he survived the blasts of fire due to his fire resistance. He released numerous arrows to try and see if he could find the reverse scale that every dragon has. He tried but could not find it as well because a giant Totem is also blocking some of its parts.

Totem’s time left for the transformation is now down to five minutes. He decided to use the skills stored in his transformation. The Ancestral Spirit skill is not something that just boosts every stat but also gives the person the buff of every monster that the druid has bonded with.

Totem summoned all the power of the ten monsters that he has bonded with and hit the center of the neck of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. The strength of ten monsters along with the strength of Druid himself became strong enough to momentarily overpower the SSS rank monster.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God plunged to the ground and a large sound of something cracking could be heard. The reverse scale of the SSS rank monster cracked due to the attack of Totem. Totem did not even know that he hit the reverse scale as even he got shocked as he reduced the SSS rank monster’s health by 10%.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God screamed in genuine pain as its reverse scale is now cracked due to the attack. The dragonkin players who are in the location immediately noticed this and charged towards the SSS rank monster.

“You impure insects dare!” The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God stated with a clear sounding voice that made all the players pause as that shout is filled with Dragon Fear and Dragon Roar. The SSS rank monster then proceeded to spew fire and toxin once again.

Chapter 790: Messy Ending

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God started spewing its breath attack once again. It filled the surroundings with hellfire and noxious gas, but Totem used the last bit of his strength to try and break the mouth of the head that released the noxious gas.

Totem received the attack head on and is poisoned as a result, but he pushed through this. Even if he had the buff of the honey badger, he still got intensely poisoned to the point that he lost 5% of his health every second. With a last grunt, Totem broke the mouth of the head of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God spewing the noxious gas.

The jaw of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God became dislocated and could no longer spew the noxious gas anymore. Even if the SSS rank monster tried, all that would come out is a greenish gas that is in liquid form. It seems that the SSS rank monster's special gland that makes the liquid poison into gas has been destroyed as well.

Totem may have died as a result, but he managed to get enough damage towards the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God to push their team into the top. The United States national team is now in first place with the Chinese National team next in line, but the difference is three times.

There is only less than two hours remaining before the time is up. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God has about 70% of its health still remaining. The team that will win will now be decided to the ones who can either kill or deal great damage to the SSS rank monster.

The reverse scale of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God has been exposed which is why every player that knows of this is aiming their attacks towards it. The SSS rank monster also knew this and decided to use its useless head to block the attacks towards its reverse scale.

“Ascension!” Frey stated as she got covered in rainbow-colored lights. She also got a mantle made of different colored lights that resembled the northern lights.

She then used the multi-colored mantle to take flight and do magical damage towards the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God. Each of her strikes became long ranged and death piercing magic damage. Despite the useless head of the SSS rank monster covering the reverse scale, she managed to deal great damage as her piercing attacks reached even the ground.

It did not take long for the Swedish national team to rise in the rankings to second due to the heavy damage that Frey is doing. She became the main target of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God but it could not catch her in mid-air with just one head. If it uses its other head, then the other ants will attack its reverse scale.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God started to feel the frustration as its health started to decrease consistently. Its jaw is not even healing because of the effects of bleeding out. Druids are actually one of the most persecuted job classes when it comes to apex monster species and one of the reasons have presented itself.

The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God other head can no longer function properly because of the attack that it received. To think that the proud mount of the 62nd Devil God will fall in battle here. It does not want to accept defeat as only ants stand before it.

The moment that the health of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God reached half, its body started to glow and emitted a shockwave. The two headed dragon suddenly split into two different dragons. The poison spewing head became an independent dragon while the hellfire spitting one became one as well.

Two dragons are now present in the battlefield, but the poison spewing head is still not fixed. The Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God also lost its ability to fly as each dragon now had only one wing. That did not stop the SSS rank monster to rampage and deal devastating damage to the players.

The poison spewing head might have lost its main ability, but it still had its tough body. It would use its gigantic body to trample those that dare to attack it. The hellfire sitting dragon used its breath until it can no longer breath and even had difficulty breathing.

The players might have another additional target but that does not mean the battle became difficult. In fact, the battle became relatively easier due to the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God splitting into two. The half that can not spew noxious gas is the first to fall with the combined attempts of the players.

The one who killed that dragon is none other than Frey. She basically became a war goddess that descended. She spared no skills in the battle to the point that she did not care for other players that are caught up in her skill.

The contribution for the United States national team and the Swedish national team suddenly reached the same value. Totem, who has already revived, knew that they needed to kill the hellfire spewing half of the Two Headed Dragon of the 62nd Devil God in order to win.

The two teams clashed with great vigor with the other teams trying their luck as the one that kills the hellfire spewing half would be the one to be awarded with the 1000 points. The fight for the kill became so chaotic that the audience themselves became confused of what is happening.

The players no longer cared if they accidentally killed another contestant anymore as the fight for the crown is now up for grabs. A player suddenly dying is no longer an uncommon spectacle as they will die the moment, they lost focus.
