

O Summoner 971

Chapter 971

Kabrakan received the Right of Providence quest and all it told him is to wait 10 days. It is actually not just that, but the quest is somewhat cryptic with its meaning.

Quest Name: Right of Providence (Selvaggian)

Difficulty: World Quest (Race Unlocking Quest)

Description: You have successfully put together the three missing items for the Will of the Wilde. You have already proven yourself to the Will of the Wilde, but you also need to prove yourself to the world. Survive 10 days without dying from any being.

Requirement: Survive ten days??? (3/10 days)

World Reward: Unlocking of the Selvaggian Race to all players of Pandemonium,

Individual Reward: Will of the Wilde (Rare Growth Skill (Up to Transcendent Tier)), Title: Wilde Child

Failure: Unknown

Failure Condition: Dying even once

Quest Duration: 7 more days

Note: If the quest bearer dies then it will automatically make him or her fail the quest. If the quest bearer dies and is revived, the quest will still be considered as a failure. Be careful to not get assassinated. The time duration will only run when the user is online. You cannot share this quest.

When Kabrakan shared the quest with all his friends, even they could not believe that he just needed to survive ten days. He thought that he lucked out since the previous quests to get the divine artifact fragments were already difficult. He did not think that he is really lucky, but something is still bothering him.

When they were at the north, Chief Hedwig immediately told them to leave this place as Kabrakan is doing something to them. All Selvaggian race members have a special gauge called Fury. Just by Kabrakan's presence alone, he could make the Fury inside the body of the Selvaggians to run rampant.

When Adrian heard that, he immediately casted Dimensional Teleportation and dragged Kabrakan inside the portal. He actually sensed that Chief Hedwig would have gone berserk if they stayed any longer. It is a shame that they were not able to say their farewells, but Kabrakan's current problem is higher in priority.

"It is already three days. How many of them did we need to defeat? I lost count after twenty." Levin Cloud commented as he sat down on the ground.

"The others will join us later on. They are finishing up the things that they needed to do. We will also establish the guild when all of them are already here. Thankfully, I can summon all my soulbounds in my territory or else this might have been much more difficult." Adrian stated as he floated in a sitting position.

When a player or even an NPC becomes a territory owner, they will get certain privileges. Each privilege is different for each job class. Since Adrian is a summoner, his privilege is that he can summon all of his soulbounds. With this privilege, he is basically buffed by all his soulbounds which makes him very powerful as long as he is within his territory.

"You barely break a sweat from the other Selvaggian warriors that come here due to your buffs. The guy up there is having the time of his life while we protect him from the dangers." Levin Cloud stated.

"It is much better for him to be there. I even managed to make sure the Selvaggian King himself does not come here. If he comes here, then we will be meat paste. Who knew that waiting for ten days is basically survive the wave that will come for your life?" Adrian replied.

"Thankfully, the Daemos Corps are also involved or else we will have a difficult time. But there are changes to your territory that I have seen. It is getting more and more lively with the new buildings and all." Levin Cloud stated.

"Do not remind me as they are using all the taxes generated to fund all those. I am not earning anything from my own territory. I am just hoping that the Teleportation scroll production will help me save time. Ascalor's condition for him to create those is a lavish house made of stone from the Paradox Planes. Demon helpers are not cheap let me tell you that." Adrian replied as he cried a little as his pockets are still empty.

"I see." Levin Cloud stated as he looked away as his best friend is trying to get more money out of him.

"Still, with the money that you are investing in, it should not be enough to create those buildings." Levin Cloud pointed out.

"I have a great merchant friend named Piggy Bank. I gave him rights to a land in the territory and he founded a Merchant Association there. They are the reason why I get to fund those buildings. I am just waiting for all construction to finish so that I can swim in money!" Adrian stated as his eyes burned with desire.

"You are already rich though. Is your grandfather not spoiling you?" Levin Cloud commented.

"You do not understand. My mother is not keen on me being a spoiled brat. I only get physical things in the real world from my grandfather. When he tried to give me a check, my mother made him back off. I held the check but alas it is not for me." Adrian stated as he cried while looking at the distance.

"Well, if you were a pompous brat then I would not have been friends with you." Levin Cloud stated as he stood up. Their next set of enemies already arrived before them, and it is a pack of coyote beast men.

"We should charge him for protection fee. We do not even get rewarded from stopping all those that come after him." Adrian argued as he looked at everything as an investment at this point.

"Maybe we should? Although, he is already our meat shield so maybe that is payment enough." Levin Cloud stated in an irritated tone as well because flying beast men also came attacking them.

Chapter 972

For the Selvaggians that got defeated, they were not killed as they returned back to their sanity. They also do not hear the voice calling out to them anymore as well. Adrian and Levin Cloud could not easily send them back to their respective clans as they might try something again which is why Adrian created a quest.

Generating quests is something an owner of a territory could do as well as long as they can provide a reward. The rewards for the quest to escort the defeated Selvaggian race member are none other than talismans that Adrian crafted in his spare time. He barely uses the rare tier talismans, so he decided to use them as rewards instead.

The players thought that they will never see Equinox create missions as some players that own territories have created mission the moment, they are able to. The fact that Equinox is late despite being the first one to get a territory is shocking to them, but the rewards shocked them even greater.

The most shocking and indirect rewards that they received is that they could get Boon of Transformations from the Selvaggian that they escort back. The missions to Escort the Selvaggian back to their territories became such a hot topic and debate that the players are looking at the Quest Bulletin Board with wide eyes.

The moment Adrian raises a request, it immediately became a fight to the death not in a literal sense. The players competed on who will get the quest first or who has the faster hand. Lucky for them, Adrian set the quests so that no same player could repeat it. He made it so that one player cannot receive all his talismans.

The tenth day arrived and Kabrakan could be seen tilling the soil in Pann's farm. Adrian set him up there and told Pann that Kabrakan will be his manual labor for ten days as he is being targeted by other Selvaggian race members. Pann reluctantly agreed as he needed to rest for a few days and a 'slave' will be useful according to him.

"Is this farm really separated from the other side? It is so cool, so this is how powerful demons use their powers. Will Adrian be able to this as well when he becomes Pann's level?" Kabrakan thought to himself while he rested the rake on his shoulder. He could be seen wearing a farm hand's uniform and is currently fixing up the fertilizer.

Meanwhile outside of the separate dimension, Equinox and Levin Cloud could be seen panting a little bit as the number of challengers that came to them increased. The most noticeable thing is that the Selvaggian that attacked became clearer headed as the days increased. On the first day, the ones that attacked were incredibly berserk.

It would have been a good thing if not for the fact that the Selvaggians that are clearer headed being more dangerous. The fact that they could keep their rage inside of their minds makes them a formidable opponent. When they were asked why they are attacking, they answered that something is calling out to them to get them.

Thankfully, the opponents that try to attack Kabrakan are all the same level as him or else they might have fallen already. The Daemos Corps also helped in dealing with hordes that are more than thirty which is a big bonus. In fact, if Adrian did not choose his territory, then the ones trying to reach Kabrakan would only be one opponent at a time, but he did not know that.

Their other friends already arrived to help them or at last those that could. Lycan and Solstice could not go just yet as they are still searching for the Fallen One that roams the main world. Creepysoo is busy due to the tasks that he needed to do as a Prince of the Undead and helper of some of the Death Gods.

The ones that did come are Soleil, Vayu, and Peridot that returned from the east. The five of them are currently guarding the princess in the tower aka Kabrakan. As long as they do not fail now then they Selvaggian Race will definitely be unlocked.

The five all looked at each other with a tired expression as they are mentally fatigued from fighting all day. They then wondered if their own Right of Providence mission will be the same, but it will surely be different. One thing is for sure regarding world quests and that is they are all unique with no one being alike.

They all exhaled and took a breather as there is only one hour left for the mission, but they are also the tensest. Anything can happen in one hour and it is as they feared. It is not just beast men that came attacking them but also monsters that could be classified wild beasts arrived.

Thankfully, Kabrakan is safe in the floating island, but a large body suddenly jumped up high to try and reach the floating island. The three elders of the Daemos race are not present right now as they are trying to investigate the whereabouts of the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse. The effect of the four being unsealed is incredibly worrying to the point that the demons had to move as well.

The giant flying body is met with Kimat's full body weight. Much to Adrian's surprise is that Kimat got blown away by the force of the clash. Fortunately for them, the force from the clash also made the giant body come crashing down on the ground.

The large body rose from the crater that it generated falling down. A large person with wide ears, tusks and a trunk entered their vision. The one that tried to enter Avalon is none other than an Elephant Selvaggian. He is vastly bigger even comparing him with Kabrakan.

The Elephant Selvaggian is actually standing at a height of three and a half meter, but he is not transformed fully. He only took on a partially transformed form that made his head look like an elephant with some parts of his body transformed as well. The transformation retained the humanoid shape which is usually not the case unless they are special.

Chapter 973

Kabrakan is currently tending to the feeds of the capricorns in the farm and Pann is currently laid-back sitting with a cool drink on his hand. He never had a farm hand before and always asked the demons that have yet to fight to help him once in a while. The fact that he can relax at certain times of the day is a new refreshing feeling for him.

"Maybe I should actually hire one from those adventurers from time to time. It is nice to relax sometimes and just watch my beautiful babies." Pann stated as a mysterious light suddenly glowed from the Capricorn grazing fields.

Pann could feel something twisting the space around that area and thought that his space whale is messing around again but it is not the same power. The power that twisted space is something that a Noblesse can only do or something in the same league as that persona. Even he could not yet exercise that absolute rule over space since he is not yet fully healed.

Pann immediately teleported to the area as even his sight of the space is blinded by that light. When he arrived, Pann could see that his recent sla...helper is actually the source of the light and the power that twisted space. Kabrakan is also not sure what is happening as he is suddenly feeling light despite his body being heavy.

"What is happe...?" Kabrakan stated as he suddenly vanished when his whole body became particles of light.

Pann tried to counteract the teleportation but could not do so as he is not yet back to full power. Kabrakan vanished in front of him and only left the feed bucket that he used in feeding the capricorns. Pann could still retrace the area where Kabrakan teleported to and became relieved when he realized it is just the front of Avalon.

Pann wanted to follow through, but he suddenly felt that his area is sealed off. Something powerful is attempting to block him from aiding Kabrakan. He then felt traces of divine power sealing which made him frown. He does know that Kabrakan is participating in the Right of Providence.

Pann knows that the Selvaggian race is also low in numbers just like them as they are allies of the same ancestor after all. He wanted to make the low numbers of the Asmodian Races become full again in hopes of at least producing one Asmodian out of a million from the descendants. The fact that the universe itself is obstructing him in fetching his helper does not sit well with him.

"To think that I have grown to weak that the universe itself could obstruct me from leaving a place. It seems that I really need to regrow my strength once again. When the little brat gets traces of the Eye of the Void then I will do everything in my power to make sure he succeeds. I will even throw my life just in case." Pann stated as his energy suddenly flowed out to his farm which made the space tremble.

====

The fight between the wild beast monsters and the elephant beast man is underway when a burst of light suddenly appeared that made everyone pause. When the blast of light subsided, Kabrakan wearing a farmer's uniform could be seen with a confused expression.

He did not have time to assess the situation as the elephant beast man and the wild beast monsters suddenly roared when they saw him. Something in them activated like a primal instinct of wanting to kill Kabrakan at all costs. Kabrakan immediately swapped his farmer's uniform with his own battle armor.

Just as one of the fastest wild beasts is about to attack Kabrakan, the space around him twisted once more. He then reappeared beside Adrian as the latter used his Blink skill to pull him back to their location. Adrian already noticed the sudden twist in space before Kabrakan arrived which is why he prepared himself if it was an enemy. He did not think that it is actually Kabrakan himself.

"I told you it is not just easy as waiting." Adrian stated as he then proceeded to command all his soulbounds to attack.

The group of friends also circled around Kabrakan as they needed to protect him. There also seems to be a unique power that pushed the other players and NPCs away from the fight as only the friends could be involved as they are a party. The wild beasts that also attacked wantonly now focused on Kabrakan which is why the Daemos Corps are not actively participating since they just need to protect the floating islands.

"This feels weird as it is usually me that is protecting all of you." Kabrakan muttered as he is inside the circle that his friends made.

"Our effort will all be useless if you die so make sure you live even if with one health point. If you do not do that then I will kill you myself." Peridot stated as she vented her tiredness and frustration through words.

"Maybe just sit back and make sure to not actively join the fight. We will help you. With all of Equinox' soulbounds available, we can make do. You just need to survive for an hour, and we will be able to help you complete the mission." Levin Cloud stated.

"You guys!" Kabrakan muttered as he started to get incredibly touched by the sentiment.

"Besides, study shows that a depressed front liner will make the progression of the party by 67%." Adrian bluntly stated as this is actually what they are thinking.

"So, you really did think of me as a meat shield! Nevertheless, this meat shield will definitely survive." Kabrakan stated with a smile as he is already used to the antics of his friends.

The elephant beast man suddenly emitted a roar and fully transformed into his Beast Form which is odd. It is an elephant transformation but it is not something that they expected.

Chapter 974

The Elephant beast man completely transformed into his beast transformation, but it is not a form that they are expecting. An elephant usually only had four limbs, but the elephant beast man has four arms and a beautiful halo looking thing behind it. Just as they were thinking why it looks like that, Kabrakan suddenly remembered something that King Leonidas told him.

"I remember that there is still one clan that remained in the main world. They are eccentric and always preferred peace but that does not mean they are strong. It is for the fact that they are strong that they prefer peace as they do not want to look like monsters from the view of others.

Their line of thinking is different from others of our species which is why they tend to have a secluded lifestyle. Even I will think it through when it comes to provoking them as they become different when angered. You could say that they are like Gods of Destruction when they are angered."

"What is the clan that opted for peace then?" Kabrakan asked as he wanted to make a note of not offending them if he ever encounters them.

"It is the Elephant Clan. Those people hit like a truck, and they even prefer the way of the monks which makes them battle hardened when the time comes. They are an eccentric species that prefer to strengthen their body to enlightenment in order to live in peace. In reality, they are very short fused which is why they needed to practice being monks though." King Leonidas stated.

Kabrakan then proceeded to tell the short version of that story which made everyone shocked. A species of Selvaggian that even rivals the lion beast men is not something to scoff at. They are still lucky thought that the elephant beast man is not enraged or something. It still has a clear conscience and there is no trace of ferocity in its aura.

"Maybe we could peacefully talk this out?" Kabrakan shouted to the elephant beast man.

"It is too late. I have been tasked by the universe to judge if you are worthy of receiving its providence. I shall judge you on behalf of the universe as a member of my fellow race." The elephant beast man stated in reply which made everyone sure that he is still sane.

"Maybe not give it your all then?" Kabrakan added but the elephant beast man looked at him with a focused and hardened gaze.

The elephant beast man then kicked his feet as he charged like a raging elephant towards Kabrakan. Kimat immediately stood on his way, but Adrian knew that it is not enough as the individual in front of them is actually level 300. The elephant beast man must have some restriction as their party is yet to get killed.

"Charon and Sirius. Aid Kimat." Adrian commanded as he changed into his Mirror stance.

Charon immediately sent out its chains towards the elephant beast man followed by numerous shadow tendrils coming out of his own shadow to in him down. Kimat also roared as a lightning cage suddenly surrounded the elephant beast man.

The elephant beast man then did some sort of mantra and a mandala appeared behind it. The mandala then released a blast of light that cleared all the abilities that pinned him down. The onlookers are shocked that the combination of three powerful soulbounds vanished just like that.

It is only Adrian that is actively fighting against the elephant beast man as the others are concerned with the wild beasts. He already volunteered but he might need the aid of others soon. He then proceeded to scatter as much mirrors as he could around the battlefield.

The mirrors are broken physically instead which is not much damage stored than what he expected. Since the opponents are wild beasts then that is to be expected. His mirror stance is more inclined to counter range and magic attacks than physical attacks after all.

"You are a worthy opponent after all. Even though I have been tasked to hold back, with you here then I can at least use 70% of my strength." The elephant beast mans suddenly stated as he once again started to chant a mantra.

"Kanlaon! Sirius! Kimat!" Adrian shouted as he immediately told the three to activate their ultimate skills.

Adrian thought that the elephant beast man would be defeated but his mantras were much faster than he expected. The elephant beast man opened his eyes and it glowed in a mysterious light as numerous mandalas appeared behind him. As if divine intervention happened, a powerful wave of energy exploded that rendered all skills mute.

All of Adrian's souldbounds got unsummoned while all the skills that his friends were using vanished without a trace. Even his transformation became undone by the weird godly light. He did not believe something like that should be possible unless they have divine power in their body.

"Return to the Roots!" The elephant beast man stated as he suddenly maintained a praying posture.

[All active skills, spells and abilities are disabled by the unique skill Return to the Roots.]

[All those that have active skills, spells and abilities that had been cancelled will be silenced for ten seconds.]

[All those that have active skills, spells and abilities that had been cancelled will be rooted for five seconds. The root effect will vanish once those affected take damage.]

"This is bad." Adrian muttered and it really is as the elephant beast man charged at him.

Adrian could not move from his position which is why he commanded the Cube of Paradox to protect him. The Cube of Paradox then flew in front of him and became numerous little cube pieces. Those little cube pieces then transformed into a makeshift shield that will initially take the blow from the elephant beast man.

Despite his weapon cushioning the blow, Adrian got blown to the edge of the area. The rest soon followed until the elephant beast man is now in front of Kabrakan.

Chapter 975

Kabrakan and the elephant beast man then confronted each other. All of their friends will not reach Kabrakan in time as they are not able to use skills. Thankfully, Kabrakan did not use any skill, so he is not silenced. He immediately used the skills that will make sure that he survives an attack from the elephant beast man.

"Beast Transformation!"

"Iron Body!"

"Increase Tenacity!"

"Heart of the Earth!"

Kabrakan then utilized all the Ferocity that he has stored to increase his defense. He also utilized the special skill of his land armor. His body increased greatly as he transformed into a minotaur looking individual. He met the elephant beast man with all the force that he can muster up.

Kabrakan knew that against a level 300 individual that he will only be able to live by being greatly prepared. This is also a powerful beast man of the elephant clan which is why he cannot slack off. The clash of the two gigantic bodies even created a powerful shockwave that pushed those that tried to aid Kabrakan.

Kabrakan gritted his teeth as the power of the elephant beast man is great and he could feel his organs churning from the impact. He felt like he got hit by a powerful spell like Meteor as the impact in his body could not be explained easily. Meanwhile, the elephant beast man is equally shaken as Kabrakan did not get pushed back or fly away from the force.

"It seems that you are definitely worthy of attaining the Right of Providence, but the Wilde also told me to test you. When I got enlightened, the Wilde's voice whispered to me and told me to guide you in the right direction." The elephant beast man stated.

"Maybe you heard that message wrong and it asked you to protect me?" Kabrakan stated but his thoughts only fell in deaf ears as the elephant beast man did not listen to him.

The elephant beast man did not stop attacking Kabrakan as he pounded the two shields protecting him. The damage that he is receiving is not something to scoff at as his shields' durability is rapidly decreasing at a fast degree which scared him. He does not want his shields to get destroyed while in battle with a great opponent.

Kabrakan prayed that his shields will not break but expectation are different from reality. With the force of his trunk and four arms, the elephant beast man slammed down on the shields. The two towering shields that protected Kabrakan shattered and pieces of it came flying out as projectiles.

"It seems that the Wilde has chosen wrong this time." The elephant beast man stated as he raised his trunk up high and is about to slam it down on Kabrakan when the latter suddenly vanished. Kabrakan reappeared beside Adrian that came out of a crater.

"Make sure to tell that speech when you actually killed the demon supporting him." Adrian stated as he finally recovered from getting stunned for too long. He almost got killed as his health is already in red. Actually, he preferred if he died since he could just revive immediately.

Adrian is not the only that has recovered as everyone else has as well. Flaming snakes suddenly slithered towards the elephant beast man followed by five mini tornadoes swirling in a circle. Brambles then shot out of the earth and bound the elephant beast man. Ice also formed on the body of elephant beast man as the temperature around him suddenly dropped significantly.

"Your attacks are meaningless against the invincible. Golden Body!" The elephant beast man stated as a mandala appeared behind him once again.

This time the mandala passed through the body of the elephant beast man and his whole body started to turn into gold. The golden body became impervious to damage and crowd control to the point that he received not much damage. Just as he said, the elephant beast man did become invincible as his body turned into a golden statue.

The golden statue elephant beast man did not move for a good ten seconds so attacks against him will be ineffective. All of them are actually grateful for the ten second respite as they could heal up while waiting. Kabrakan got healed by Saena to full health in that ten second window.

The body of the elephant beast man then slowly turned back to normal, and Adrian is already ready for this. He immediately told Saena to use the Cursed Winds that sent all the curses or hexes she absorbed into a gust of wind. The gust of wind is then a carrier of the curses or hexes that Saena absorbed.

In fact, Adrian commanded Saena to randomly absorb curses of those that come to the territory. This is the reason why the story of an angelic bird has been spreading around in Avalon for the past few days. Adrian did not think that he would use all the curses and hexes on a single opponent.

The curses and hexes are visibly seen affecting body of the elephant beast kin as dark patches. The dark patches soon covered about half of the elephant beast kin's body, but he endured. The curses might have been applied but he did not seem that bothered by one bit.

"I forgot to mention, the elephant clan uses the Curse of Temptation to train their minds so that they can easily resist curses." Kabrakan stated which basically came true as the elephant beast man made a 'humph' to blow all the curses away. Adrian then looked at Kabrakan with judging eyes as he basically jinxed them.

The wild beasts that got blown away joined the battle once again, but they are now stronger this time. Their rage seems to have been multiplied as they became more ferocious than before. They once again tried to target Kabrakan, but the group is more than ready.

"Such futility. Will you not surrender the Right of Providence to me?" The elephant beast man stated as he pushed his palms and created four palm strikes using the air. Kabrakan knew that he cannot block them as he is still trying to gather the fragments of his shields back to him.

Adrian summoned Charon to block the attack as it is magical in nature. He also summoned Dodu to make sure that the defenses are not shallow. It is a good idea to summon Dodu as well as the palm strikes that the elephant beast man did is not just magical in nature but also a physical attack. With the combination of the two soulbounds, the damage became reduced to a fine degree.

"Let me show you the power of a summoner." Adrian stated as he called for the Cube of Paradox.

Adrian grabbed the Cube of Paradox and activated a skill that he awakened after placing a rune stone on it. The rune stone is one of the things that he received as a reward for killing Fenris. It is a rune stone called Absolute Sovereign. He just applied it now as he was debating whether to sell it or not as it is a Mythical Tier rune stone after all.

"Absolute Sovereign!" Adrian muttered as the Cube of Paradox suddenly enlarged and trapped all of them inside a wide space of twenty meters by twenty meters.

Inside this space, Adrian has full control of it, and he could use all the spatial shifting spells as much as he could. With a flip of his hand, the land that the elephant beast man stood on suddenly shifted. The elephant beast man reappeared at the other end of the cube. Adrian then used his partial summoning technique to deal damage against their enemy.

Adrian opened three summoning magic circles and partially summoned Sirius, Kimat, and Kanlaon. All of them attacked the elephant beast man simultaneously. Adrian already calculated the designated location which is why he could accurately attack. The only downside is that the activation of this spell is great in mana consumption.

He might be able to shift the space in the designated area easily but that does not mean it does not come at a cost. The mana for even shifting the elephant beast man away to the edge is already 10,000. This is the reason why Adrian is relying in partial summoning instead of a full summoning as that consume too much mana.

"To think that you can push me this far. Demons are indeed formidable." The elephant beast man stated as he collected all the energy he has on its body.

The elephant beast man then started to turn from a shade of blue to a deep crimson color. He used all the Ferocity in his body and unleashed it. He then shot like a comet towards Kabrakan as all of this will end once he dies. Adrian tried to shift the elephant beast man, but he got a notification.

[You cannot shift the target due to the special power protecting him.]

"If I cannot shift the opponent then I will shift you instead." Adrian stated as he shifted Kabrakan to the other corner.

Chapter 976

The elephant beast man missed his attack as Kabrakan vanished from his location. Adrian continued with this to buy time as he needed to make sure that Kabrakan is not killed. His soulbounds are the ones getting the brunt end of the deal though as the summoned ones are already killed.

The fact that the elephant beast man could kill Dodu, Charon and Saena terrified Adrian to a great degree. Dodu should have been impervious to physical attacks, but he got turned into an inconsistent puddle of black goo. Charon got separated into numerous bones while Saena died from one tackle from the elephant beast man.

The elephant beast man is currently in rage mode which is why he attacks those in his way indiscriminately. He does target Kabrakan for some reason though and his defenses are also boosted to such a large degree that they can barely scratch him. Even Sirius or Kanlaon could not damage him greatly and only posed as a short hindrance.

"What is that guy made of?" Adrian thought as even his other friends joined in on the fight.

Whatever they threw towards the elephant beast man, he will just brush it off and focus on Kabrakan. Adrian could no longer maintain the Absolute Sovereignty skill as he lost all his mana already. He could not drink a potion as much as he wants or else, he would get mana poisoning.

He might be able to not get mana poisoning if he is lucky, but that status effect is not affected by invulnerabilities. Mana is linked to the soul of a person and if they are not a priest that carefully deals with the soul then they will not be able to cure mana poisoning.

Since nothing could stop the raging elephant beast man, the group only focused on making sure that Kabrakan is alive. Only a few minutes are left and all they need is to make sure that one thing happens. Kabrakan could see that his friends are already getting battered up just trying to protect him which slightly broke his heart.

He is usually the one that protects them, but his shields have yet to recover while the opponent is not someone they could easily defeat. He gathered more mana to make sure that the shield fragments would gather much faster. He did not bother conserving his mana as he just needed to protect his team members.

The elephant beast man on the other hand has already lost all reason. This is the feared berserk state of the elephant clan which made even the lion clan fear them. In fact, if two elephant clan members becomes berserk then not only the enemy team will be destroyed but also their allies as well. They are not necessarily the best when it comes to handling their rage.

Their inability to control their rage fully is what made them turn to attaining inner peace and enlightenment. You could say that they have no other choice but to become monks in order to not destroy everything in their wakes when they get slightly angered.

The one that mostly blocks the elephant beast man is Vayu, but he deflects the attacks using wind. He could feel that his usual strategy became more and more difficult to do as the elephant beast man seems to get sturdier the longer, he is in that state.

Soleil even used her special skill by growing Regulus, but the flame lion is just treated as a slight inconvenience. The heat of the lion elemental could not even scorch the skin of the elephant beast man. Even attacks from Levin Cloud could not pierce him as the elephant beast man is not aligned to the evil side.

Peridot is making good progress and is the only one where her attacks seem to be working. Her attacks are basically Legendary spells which is why it is affecting the enraged elephant beast man. Her attacks are effective, but she cannot keep doing it for long as she is now running out of precious gemstones.

The elephant beast man is about to reach Kabrakan, but Adrian used Quantum Dispersion to blow him away. With the respite that Adrian has created, Kabrakan has managed to gather all of his shield fragments back again. This time his shields have now evolved to the Mythical Tier, and it glowed in a different light than before.

The elephant beast man recovered from getting blown away immediately and performed a slam attack on Kabrakan. One would think that the shields would be cracked again but that did not happen as the shields even repelled the trunk of the elephant beast man. Even Kabrakan is surprised as this is the effect of his new Mythical Tier equipment.

His shields have been transformed into the Dual Mountain Aegis. It is currently still using the look of the current armor that Kabrakan possess but the appearance of a gorgon head could be seen decorating it. The shields now have two new abilities that are vastly different from the one it had before.

Weapon Name: Dual Mountain Aegis (Character Bound)

Tier: Mythical

Type: Giant Two-handed Shields

Effect:

-Damage Modifier = 1000

-Increase the Defense of the bearer by 200%

-Increase the Endurance of the bearer by 100

-Increase the Stamina of the bearer by 100

-When blocking physical attacks perfectly, reduce the damage taken by 95%. (Reduced damage will be different if the physical attack is not blocked in a perfect manner.)

-When blocking magical attacks, reduce the damage taken by 85%. (Reduced damage will be different depending on the bearer's resistances.

-When successfully blocking any type of attack, gain a 10% chance to return 50% of the damage of the attack to the enemy.

-Gain a 5% chance to activate Skill: Gorgon's Stare when blocking an attack.

-When under 30% health, activate Skill: Aegis Blessing once.

Slots:

1. Rune of Greater Defense

2. Empty

3. Empty

Description: A shield said to have been the shield Aegis that the Goddess of Wisdom and Battle Strategy, Athena, used. It features the great image of a gorgon as they are depicted as powerful immortal beings that can grant perfect protection. An unknown blacksmith created a growing two-handed shield but even she does not expect that her creation will turn into something like this.

Skill: Gorgon Stare

Effect: Send a beam of bright light in a conical shape that will petrify those caught in it for five seconds. The petrifying curse does not deal any damage, but it will surpass resistances.

Effect Duration: 5 seconds

Cooldown: None

Cast Time: Instant

Skill: Aegis Blessing

Effect: When the wielder drops to 30% health, all defenses will increase by 500% while regeneration will increase by 100%. The wielder will not be able to die when the skill effect is in use.

Effect Duration: 10 minutes

Cooldown: 24 hours

Cast Time: Instant

The moment that the elephant beast man hit the two shields, a beam of light blasted out of them which petrified the enemy. The elephant beast man turned into a stone statue instantly and it bought them more time. After five seconds, the stone statue started to rumble as the elephant beast man returned to normal and started his rampage.

Another slam attack hit Kabrakan that passed through his defense this time and Aegis Blessing activated. He basically became unable to die for a duration of ten minutes, but his health only hovered between 1% to 5%. The group tried all things that they can to try and trap the elephant beast man, but he just brushes off almost anything.

In the end, they relied on Kabrakan to tank everything and Levin Cloud immediately healed him back to half health when the effect of Aegis Blessing wore off. Adrian then teleported him out of the attack as he might not survive despite blocking it properly.

"Is there no end to this? I am incredibly tired." Peridot stated.

As soon as Peridot said that sentence, the elephant beast man emitted a loud roar as numerous mandalas suddenly appeared all over them. It seems that the elephant beast man wants to kill them in one fell swoop. They could definitely see them not being able to survive this attack as they could feel the power erupting from the body of the enemy.

"Need more time! Let us revert you back to a few minutes ago. Rewind!" Adrian stated as he activated the spell, he used against himself when he needs a skill to be released on cooldown.

He made sure to save this skill if he needed to use an ultimate attack but even his ultimate attacks will have no effect on the enemy. He also did not use Netheros True Form in fear that the enemy also has another form. Adrian threw the magic circle towards the elephant beast man, and he could be seen retracing his steps as his time turned back by a few minutes.

After Rewind's effect ended, the elephant beast man once again activated that powerful attack, but Adrian already has a smile on his face.

"Two seconds left. Chrono Lag!" Adrian casted with a confident smile.

Chapter 977

"Two seconds left. Chrono Lag!" Adrian casted with a confident smile.

With Chrono Lag affecting the elephant beast man, all his motions also slowed down. The powerful attack that he was going to use is part of that. The mandalas did not immediately manifest but slowly appeared as everything has been slowed down by 90%. They could even see how the light created the intricate patterns of the mandalas.

Two seconds passed by and the mandalas that filled the area all turned into particles of light that went up to the sky. All the effects of the skills that the elephant beast man used also fade away. His glistening red skin returned to its purplish hue as he became peaceful once more.

Kabrakan thought that he would be done as all those powerful mandala energies are aimed towards him. Thankfully, Adrian has an ace up his sleeve and Kabrakan really owes him the clutch victory of the match. All the energy that dissipated became energy so powerful that the Will of the Wilde came out of Kabrakan.

The Will of the Wilde then absorbed tremendous energy to the point that everyone in the world could feel it. The Selvaggians that are scattered throughout the world all kneeled as the baptism of the divine item Will of the Wilde is now complete.

Kabrakan then looked at his quest as it is now officially completed. He has successfully unlocked all Selvaggian race for all of the player base to use. The ones that are rejoicing more are the newbies that are still stuck at the Genesis Village as they suddenly got notifications to transform into a Selvaggian before they exit the starting village.

Quest Name: Right of Providence (Selvaggian)

Difficulty: World Quest (Race Unlocking Quest)

Description: You have successfully put together the three missing items for the Will of the Wilde. You have already proven yourself to the Will of the Wilde, but you also need to prove yourself to the world. Survive 10 days without dying from any being.

Requirement: Survive ten days??? (10/10 days)

World Reward: Unlocking of the Selvaggian Race to all players of Pandemonium,

Individual Reward: Will of the Wilde (Rare Growth Skill (Up to Transcendent Tier)), Title: Wilde Child

Failure: Unknown

Failure Condition: Dying even once

Quest Duration: 7 more days

Note: If the quest bearer dies then it will automatically make him or her fail the quest. If the quest bearer dies and is revived, the quest will still be considered as a failure. Be careful to not get assassinated. The time duration will only run when the user is online. You cannot share this quest.

[You have completed the Right of Providence (Selvaggian) Quest]

[You have unlocked the Rare tier growth type skill: Will of the Wilde.]

[You have unlocked the title: Wilde Child]

Skill Name: Will of the Wilde

Tier: Rare (Growth Type)

Type: Passive Skill

Effect:

-Increases all base stats by 10%

-All skills that are only available to Selvaggians will have their effects increased by 20%

Cooldown: None

Cast Time: None

Mana Cost: None

Title: Wilde Child

Tier: Rare (Growth Type)

Type: Unique Title

Effect: Increases the stats of the title bearer by 10% when outside settlements.

Note: This title increases in tier in correspondence with the Will of the Wilde passive skill.

[The player, Kabrakan, has successfully cleared the Right of Providence (Selvaggian) Quest.]

[All players rejoice as he successfully unlocked the Selvaggian race.]

[All new players will be able to choose the Selvaggian species of their choosing in the starting village.]

[Some Selvaggian species will not be readily available as some species are quest locked.]

[Players trying to collect the Boon of Transformation from Selvaggians will have a 1.5 increase in speed for the rest of the quest duration.]

The world message stated the new things that have changed in the world as Kabrakan finished the quest to unlock the Selvaggian race. The Will of the Wilde basically exploded into humongous energy that wrapped itself to the main world. The main world expanded by landmass as a result since new races will come to the main world.

Adrian got dragged by Pann as they needed to connect the Wilde to the main world at the request of the Selvaggian Race. It seems that his territory will be the waypoint for the new Selvaggian players to transition to the main world. Adrian is not refusing as he needed the funds and all he needed to do is help Pann stabilize the portal since the other elders are out.

It is not just Adrian that helped stabilize the portal as nine other greater demons did so. When the portal stabilized, King Leonidas came out of the portal and emitted a mighty roar that reverberated throughout the central continent. He informed every person in the central continent that he has arrived back to retrieve what is rightfully theirs.

"Ahaha! Thanks a lot, to the young demons. Especially to the Champion of the Twin Gods. Without you then the chosen child of the Wilde would have had a difficult time or failed." King Leonidas stated as he patted Adrian at the back with great force. If he did not have numerous buffs affecting him then he might have been thrown away by the force of the pat.

"King Leonidas! I am successful." Kabrakan reported as he kneeled.

"You do not need to kneel to me Kabrakan as you are the one chosen by the Wilde. You have done us proud for enduring. All Selvaggians connected to the Will of the Wilde has seen your exploits. The Will of the Wilde sent us the events happening here and how your friends defended you to the bitter end." King Leonidas stated with great joy.

"What shall we do now then?" Kabrakan asked as the Selvaggians from the Wilde have no settlement here in the main world.

"For now, we shall graciously accept the helping aid of the Daemos until we find the Deed of our old land." King Leonidas stated as all players that unlocked the Selvaggian race got a mission.

Chapter 978

[To all players of Pandemonium, we will be implementing a patch that will take five hours real world time.]

[All players must will be logged out in ten minutes.]

[All players in a dungeon or doing activities will be able to save their progress.]

[We apologize for the sudden interruption.]

[We will deliver exquisite gaming experience when the servers are back online.]

All of the players got logged out of the game as stated by the next set of announcements as they needed to patch certain things. With the Selvaggian mission out of the way, Adrian's group of friends decided to chat about their next steps.

Kabrakan: I will probably go and do the Find the Deed quest.

Levin Cloud: I will probably learn alchemy as Jianna has been begging me to be her student. I only told her that I was interested in creating potions but to think that she would stare at me every time I buy potions from her.

Peridot: I will just explore Avalon as I do not have anything to do. I do not even have a great quest like what Kabrakan just received.

Creepysoo: I am still stuck in the underworld. I will be able to come to Avalon in two days. I wanted to come and help you guys which is much better than doing menial work for the underworld gods and goddesses. Do you guys know how many parties I have cleaned up here?!

Vayu: Soleil and I will also hangout with Peridot in Avalon as we are not rushing any mission currently.

Soleil: Yeah!

Solstice: We would probably arrive in a day.

Equinox: Those that are coming! Please remember to bring the things that I ask of you. We need to create the guild in the territory. Bring extra if you can.

Lycan: Your brother is definitely cashing in on us.

Solstice: Must be the businessman blood in him. That or he is just broke. Hehe

Equinox: Anyways, do you guys have suggestions for a name?

Levin Cloud: The Mighty Squad

Peridot: Pass. Never ask that guy for a group name as he is not the best in thinking one.

Creepysoo: Equinox and Friends

Peridot: Ignore that one as well. He has the naming sense of a child.

Creepysoo: I am extremely offended.

Peridot: Do you think I care, little boy? Unless you want us to be named in a cute way then think of something more appropriate.

Kabrakan: What if we based it on Equinox' job class?

Equinox: like Eclipse? I think that one has already been taken by another guild.

Vayu: What about the Hidden Warriors?

Soleil: Do not take daddy's suggestion. It was mommy that named his character.

Vayu: To think that my own daughter is being cheeky towards me. It hurts.

Peridot: Whatever the guild master thinks of then that should be our name.

Equinox: Who is the guild master?

Everyone else:

Solstice: You are seriously asking that? The guild master is you dummy.

Equinox: What! I cannot take on such a serious role.

Lycan: Who else could it be but you? You basically gathered all of us here.

Creepysoo: I agree. Without big bro then we will not meet each other after all.

Equinox: Fine! Just do not condemn me if the name I think of is lame.

Numerous gaming news outlets and even normal media outlets started reporting of the huge thing that happened. There is even released footage of the fight in Avalon as some journalists were there when the fight came to that area. They got a glimpse of how powerful Selvaggians are but most importantly of the demon and his companions.

The focus of the news is the details of the patch as well since it is stated that the land mass of the main world suddenly grew. This also happened when the dragonkin were unlocked by Hou Yiwei but the expansion is much bigger than before. Numerous dungeons related to Selvaggians also are speculated to pop up that can change the player to a rare species.

The players are looking forward to becoming a Selvaggian as they are the beast men of Pandemonium. They also have a transformation skill that can turn the tides of battle. The main page of Pandemonium also revealed that they have three groups which are the Terramorphs, the Hydromorphs and the Aeromorphs.

Underwater travel has been difficult before but the advent of the Hydromorph Selvaggian will change that. Dragonkins will also not be the only race that have wings as the Aeromorphs will also have the ability to fly in the sky and maybe even greater. The players did not underestimate the Terramorphs as they will most likely be the most numerous due to most dungeons being on land.

The Selvaggians created a buzz once more and the Apocalypse event became a side piece for a moment. What the players want to know is what Asmodians are, and they finally got their answer when the Pandemonium team described the Selvaggians as one of the five Asmodian descendants.

The five Asmodian races are also revealed when the information about the Selvaggian became public. They only told who are the five though and did not reveal the specifics of each race. They revealed the Jotunn, the Erebian, the Selvaggian, the Faekin and the Daemos.

The players already know of the Selvaggian as that is the race that is unlocked. They also know of the Daemos as that is what the demons would refer themselves as since it was humans that gave them the moniker of demons. The Jotunn, the Erebian and the Faekin are the last of the three races that they have yet to know which ignited the desire of all players.

They suddenly got the idea that they will become powerful once they get one of the Asmodian races as Equinox and Kabrakan are one of them. They are even praying that no one in their group has unlocked the other races as they want to get those. But the most important thing that the players learned is:

What are Asmodian?

Chapter 979

The term Asmodian got the players of Pandemonium in a stir as the five powerful races are descended among them. People already started searching for clues about the remaining races and they led to simple conclusions. The Jotunn might actually be the giants of Pandemonium as they are a race of giants in Norse Myth.

The Erebian is a bit tricky, but some have reached a conclusion that it might be a race derived from darkness since the name comes from the God of Darkness, Erebus. The Faekin are easy as that might be the fairies of old stories told which made the female players suddenly excited to search traces of them

They thought that Asmodians are actually demons, but the Daemos already fit that bill. Suddenly, one of the mildly popular Explorer named Dungeon Lover noticed that she has clues on what Asmodians are. She has delved into a ruin back then that depicted a powerful race of godlike beings that protected the world from the dark gods.

The ruins did not say much but the Asmodians were depicted as a pinnacle species handcrafted by the Primordial gods themselves. Needless to say, her streams exploded in popularity because of that, and she was even invited to a television new program because of this.

She even told her speculations that the beings now are actually just species that devolved because the powerful ones sacrificed themselves in a great fight back then. Her speculations might have been outlandish, but she all based it on the findings of each of the ruins that she explores which is why they cannot be dismissed immediately.

"She actually guessed some of the things that happened back in the day. She is scary perceptive but that is also why people like watching her as she bases her speculations in facts." Levin Cloud stated as they are now gathered in Avalon.

"Who knew that five hours could be so long." Creepysoo stated as he has now arrived at Avalon after his labors at the underworld.

"Maybe we should stream as well when we do guild raids? It might generate enough for all of the things that we invested to create a guild." Vayu suggested as this is what his disciple told him as he has mentioned that he will join a guild.

In fact, Vayu did not mention the fact that Blade told him that they might shake the world if they form a guild with their members. Vayu only thought that his disciple is actually joking but he was actually serious when he told him that as Blade knows of their line-up.

"Anyways, we should wait for Solstice and Lycan as they have the other items that we need." Adrian stated.

"I have been meaning to ask, big bro. I heard from Xinthri that the materials they needed for them to create a guild is not equivalent to the ones that you said that we need. Are you perhaps going to upgrade the guild immediately upon creation?" Creepysoo asked as he asked some people about the item requirements to create a guild.

"You actually made us collect Elemental Wood instead of just normal wood. Even the marble that is needed for the foundation has been turned into Granite Dust. Those things are not easy to farm, you know." Levin Cloud added.

"The reason for that is simple as our guild headquarters is not that simple. I actually got the construction recipe from the old man Koronn when I asked him about blueprints. I even ran errands for him a couple of times so that he can provide it to me." Adrian said as he opened up the blueprints to reveal the guild house.

"It is just a normal circular plot of land though. Did you get juked?" The rest stated.

"This is for a Pocket Dimension guild base though." Adrian muttered as he did not expect that his fellow friends will actually say that he got fooled.

When they heard that it was for a Pocket Dimension guild base, everyone's heart started to thump as this is a big deal. It would mean that the guild base will be unique, and they could even brag about it to the other. The fact that Adrian could get handed blueprints like this with ease also made them shocked as well. If they actually knew these errands, then they will not say that it was easy as those missions were needed to be completed with great finesse.

"But only the Daemos could see pocket dimensions, right? Unless it is a dungeon then anyone could enter." Peridot asked a valid point which all of them thought of as well.

"Since it is a guild base, all guild members will be able to see the entrance. I do not know what sort of mechanism that will imply but that is what Koronn told me anyways." Adrian replied.

The eyes of everyone in the group could be seen sparkling as they did not expect that their guild base will be unique. It will also be hidden from the view of others which is what everyone likes. No one wants people getting inside their guild bases easily which is why there are guards deployed at the treasury of each guild.

Since Pandemonium opts for a realistic approach, even stealing from guild bases are possible as long as one has the means. This is also the reason why members of big guilds despise the Thief Guild that is present in Pandemonium. The NPC led guild has been creating havoc amongst every nation with weak defenses which is why treasuries are sealed with meticulous ways and would often take a day just to open doors.

"The only problem is that we cannot take turns guarding the treasury. Even I am sure that being a pocket dimension is not a sure way to guard the gate." Levin Cloud added.

"Oh! We are not going to make our guild in this area. Follow me as we will build it in a special place that has already heavily guarded.

Chapter 980

Adrian then led the group to the edge of the floating island where only high members of the Church of the Twin Gods could enter. To exact, only elders of the Church of the Twin Gods or Elders of the Daemos could enter as one needs to pass a barrier.

They entered the Sanctuary of the Tree of Life and Death. The tree could even be seen swaying at the group, and they also noticed the small puddle near it. Two children could also be seen lying down comfortably next to each other near the tree but if one could see their energies then they will be afraid.

"We should be quiet as Vitae and Mortem are currently resting." Adrian stated as he led them a bit further in an area at the edge of the barrier.

The area there is only small as only a five meter by five-meter building could fit in that space. It might not be enough if it was a normal guild house but if it was a pocket dimension then it is more than enough. This is where Adrian planned to put the entrance as he already has a sign there saying it is his property with a small demon anime character drawn.

In fact, even if he did not do that, no one would ever dare to argue as he is the owner of the entire floating island. He has the power to make anyone get exiled if he so pleases but he does not want to become a tyrant.

"All we need to do is wait for the materials from Solstice and Lycan before we can proceed." Adrian stated.

"Have you thought of a name yet though?" Creepysoo asked.

"I thought of three actually and is hoping that we could vote for it. We should vote when all of us are here. I will need to start in making the magic circle as the materials are already here. You guys can do anything you want for a day since that is the time that both Solstice and Lycan will arrive." Adrian stated as he dismissed everyone since he is finished explaining.

The others dispersed while Creepysoo remained near the Tree of Life and Death as he wanted to observe what Adrian is about to do. Creating a pocket dimension is not an easy feat as it takes careful planning and execution. If he fails, then something wrong might appear inside the pocket dimension.

The potential things that might happen if he fails is that numerous entrances will appear in a one-kilometer area which will force him to close each one. If that happens then the resources will be used up and he would have wasted them. The pocket dimension might also be unstable which might kill anyone caught inside if it retracts suddenly. He does not want any of his friends to be angry at him because he unknowingly killed them.

An artificial pocket dimension is not the same as a natural pocket dimension. The magic that is needed to sustain this is also needed which is why it is costly. Magic stones from defeated monsters are needed in order to power the pocket dimension or else it will become unstable. He is waiting for this magic stone that Solstice and Lycan will give which is why he has yet to start the actual creation.

The magic stone that Adrian wanted is from a Boss Monster in the level 300s called the Mana Eater. He made Solstice and Lycan hunt the monster as they barely use their mana to fight. Only they could hunt that monster among all of them as Mana Eaters become more dangerous with more mana that they eat.

The magic stone from a level 300 Mana Eater could store up to a mana number of 100,000. This can power up the artificial pocket dimension for two months. In fact, Solstice and Lycan died a few times just to get this magic stone since getting to the Mana Eater is much more difficult than killing it.

The trick to defeating a Mana Eater is to not have job classes that rely on mana to kill it, but it is also surrounded by other mobs in the process. Since only Solstice and Lycan fought against it, they took quite a bit of tries just to get the magic stone that is a guaranteed drop in the first kill.

Adrian also made sure that they must fill up the magic stone with every visit. This is to ensure that the magic stone does not run out of mana. Adrian then proceeded to draw the magic circle on the ground according to the scroll provided to him.

He did not dare to modify it as one needed to be at least a Master Scribe to do so. He is confident in doing it because an Intermediate Scribe could safely create the pocket dimension. Adrian is not creating a pocket dimension out of nothing as he will expand the space within the designated area.

He started to draw the intricate outer magic circle first as this would be the foundation of the pocket dimension. This would represent the stability of the pocket dimension and will dictate if it would fall or get destroyed. Adrian made use of every bit of concentration that he had to the point that he could no longer hear what is happening in the outside world.

He only snapped out of his trance when he finished the entire magic circle and compared it to the one in the illustration. He breathes a sigh of relief and saw his friends waiting patiently next to him as he finished his job. Even they were afraid of distracting him as he is in full concentration mode.

"You guys should have told me that you are here." Adrian muttered but everyone just shot judging eyes towards him.

"We called out to each time we arrived in the area, but you did not hear us. It would take an attack to break that level of concentration from you." Solstice stated.