Chapter 1542 Who Are You

“Who are you? Why are you doing this to me?” Her voice was shrill with terror as fear trickled down her spine. A flash of malice appeared in her eyes. If I find out who it is, I shall teach him a lesson!

It was Dylan’s subordinate, Carlos, who came to pick Aaron up. Aaron hesitated for some time before plucking his courage to ask, “Has Dr. Moore recovered from her injury?”

Carlos didn’t know how Aaron and Arielle were related. However, he saw how Aaron was concerned about her when he sent her to the military hospital previously and let out a sigh.

“What’s wrong?” A strong sense of foreboding nagged at Aaron.

“What?” Aaron’s eyes widened in disbelief. “Where did she go? Will she come back?”

She’s dead. How will she come back? Carlos stared at the unshaven Aaron and shook his head sadly. “She won’t be coming back ever again.”

She won’t be coming back ever again?

Aaron couldn’t tell what it felt like to hear that. He lowered his gaze so that no one could see the turmoil in his eyes.

At the same time, Sonia invited Bella out for lunch after school.

Bella had been staying by her side after Arielle’s death, offering her a lot of support. As such, Sonia treated Bella as her true friend instead of a lackey.

“What would you like for lunch?” Bella asked happily.

She was delighted that Sonia finally thought of her as a close friend.

Sonia pondered briefly and responded, “Anything will do. We still have classes this afternoon.”

Bella nodded in agreement. They then went to a restaurant nearby their campus for lunch.

Right when lunch was served, Sonia retched without warning. She covered her mouth and ran to the restroom quickly. Worried about her, Bella went to the restroom after her. The moment she realized Sonia's puking resembled her sister-in-law's when the latter was pregnant with her nephew, her heart plunged to her stomach.

I-It can't be. Sonia doesn't even have a boyfriend. How could she get pregnant? But it really looks like Sonia is carrying a baby!

Her gaze lowered, she took one step forward and placed her hand on Sonia's wrist to take her pulse discreetly. She asked worriedly, "Are you all right?"

Sonia shook her head. "I'm fine. I've been retching these few days. Perhaps it's food poisoning."

Right then, Bella's hand dropped weakly as her expression turned grim.

Sonia's not suffering from food poisoning. She's indeed pregnant. However, she doesn't seem to know about it. Should I tell her the truth?

Feeling conflicted, she hung her head low and fidgeted with the corner of her top. If I reveal the truth, will Sonia get upset? Will she keep a distance from me and stop being friends with me?

Sonia promptly realized that something was amiss about Bella, for the latter would always act this way when she was in a dilemma. What happened to Bella? She seemed fine a while ago. Why is she looking so troubled?

"What's wrong? Did you run into trouble?" Sonia asked gently. "No matter what it is, I will be by your side. I'll do my best to help you solve it," she offered.

Bella stared at Sonia as warmth spread across her heart. Silly girl. You're the trouble. Hmm, how should I say that out loud?

"Sonia, y-you are not suffering from food poisoning," she said after hesitating briefly.

Chapter 1543 A Brilliant Plan

"Huh? It's not food poisoning? Then why am I..." Sonia trailed off as something occurred to her. At once, she grew flustered.

"Sonia, you..." Bella bit her lip as she didn't know how to ask the question directly.

Gazing at her, Sonia replied, "I might be pregnant."

“I’ll keep it a secret,” Bella offered. She glanced at Sonia’s belly and asked softly, “But what are you going to do about the baby? Are you going to give birth to it? Will you inform the baby’s dad?”

Sonia was rendered speechless by Bella’s continuous questions as she was truly at a loss now.

Back when Arielle was alive, she was told to pay her a visit a month later so that she could abort the child. However, now that Arielle was no longer around, she had no idea where she could undergo the surgery. After all, she didn’t want everyone to find out about her pregnancy.

Moreover, the child’s father was a stranger, so there was no way to let him know about it.

“Think about it. It’s still early, so you still have time. But you’ll have to make a decision as soon as possible. The sooner you perform the abortion, the faster your body will recover,” Bella told her in a low voice.

Bella might seem experienced, but she had actually read everything from the books. In truth, she didn’t have any experience in real life.

Sonia nodded. “Mm. I’ll think about it.”

As Sonia couldn’t get used to the smell in the restaurant, they paid for the meal and left. Sonia wanted some sour food to get rid of the nauseous feeling, so Bella went and bought her some oranges and sour candy.

“If you feel unwell, take some sour candy,” Bella advised.

“Thanks, Bella. You’re the best,” Sonia said gratefully as she rested her head on Bella’s shoulder.

Bella’s lips curved into a grin. The reason she treated Sonia well was that the latter was nice to her. After all, it takes two to form a friendship.

Recalling her pregnancy, Sonia whipped out her phone to text Arielle about it. Although Arielle was no longer around, she still wanted to inform her about it, even if Arielle could never read any of her texts anymore.

Arielle had just finished eating lunch that Harvey bought for her and was sipping on some water when her phone beeped, indicating that a message had been received. She drank her water and clicked on the notification. When she realized what it was about, she gulped her water hastily and nearly choked.

I told her to come a month later, but she didn't show up. I thought she had her period and wasn't pregnant, so I didn't bother contacting her. It turns out that she's ditzy enough to only find out that she's pregnant two months later!

After reading the text, she felt conflicted. It wasn't time to reveal that she was still alive, but she knew Sonia would be utterly flustered.

What should I do? Sonia must be panicking right now. I need to figure out a brilliant plan!

After placing her glass down in frustration, she couldn't stop herself from sending Vinson a text to tell him all about Sonia's condition.

Arielle: What should I do? If Sonia goes to the hospital, her family will definitely find out about her pregnancy. But if she goes to those unregistered clinics, I'm afraid she might end up in danger.

Vinson's brows furrowed together after reading her text. He pondered for a moment before typing out a reply.

Arielle beamed happily when she read Vinson's text. My man is brilliant indeed! With that thought in mind, she summoned Harvey.

Chapter 1544 Under Control

Harvey stared at Arielle helplessly as he had no idea she would ask him to buy some equipment and medication to perform an abortion surgery. She also asked him to bring a young lady from the medical school to her.

It was obvious why she wanted the young lady to be there.

"Who is she? Is she that important to you? Is there a need to expose yourself to save her?" Knowing Arielle's situation, Harvey frowned disapprovingly.

Arielle knew Harvey was concerned about her, but Sonia was the first friend she met here, and she couldn't well ignore Sonia's plight. Besides, even if Sonia ended up exposing that she was still alive, it was okay. Things would be easier for her if she could remain in the shadows., but she was confident enough to face the consequences should people find out that she was alive.

"She won't say anything. I believe she'll keep it a secret," Arielle responded in resignation.

She had trust in Sonia. She would never tell anyone that I'm still alive.

However, Harvey remained doubtful. “Even if she can keep it a secret, others might still find out about it.”

He was suggesting that he could bring Sonia to the hospital to perform the abortion surgery instead. There was no need to bring Sonia all the way to Arielle.

“Never mind if someone else finds out that I’m alive. I might attract some danger, but I’ve already found out who the mastermind is. I won’t let her succeed,” Arielle said sternly with narrowed eyes.

Now that she had the queen mother’s phone, computer, and network monitored twenty-four-seven, she would receive every order and word that the queen mother uttered.

If the queen mother was bold enough to try to harm her again, she wouldn’t show her any mercy.

Harvey’s frown deepened when he realized Arielle wasn’t about to give in. Vinson told me to take care of her. If news of Arielle being alive is leaked when she is with me, how will I explain it to Vinson?

Gazing at Arielle, he used Vinson to try to persuade her to change her mind. “Does Vinson know about this? You need to tell him—”

“He knows about it. He was the one who gave me the idea, actually,” Arielle interjected before Harvey could finish his sentence.

Harvey stared at her incredulously. What? Vinson was the one who came up with this idea? What the heck? Isn’t he afraid of leaking Arielle’s whereabouts?

Suddenly, he couldn’t figure out what had gotten into them. To him, nothing was more important than Arielle’s safety.

As Harvey was frowning and showed no signs of leaving, Arielle assured him, “She won’t leak my whereabouts, I promise. All you have to do is to avoid everyone’s attention and bring her back here.”

“Got it. Should I get the stuff first? Or should I pick her up first?” Harvey asked. There was a hint of resignation in his voice.

Arielle gave it some thought before answering, “Pick her up first. I’ll ask her to meet you opposite the entrance of the school.”

Harvey gave a curt nod and turned to leave. After shutting Arielle’s door, he grabbed his car key and jacket before heading to his car in the garage.

He came to a stop before his car. After unlocking the car, he got in and pulled his phone out to give Vinson a call.

"Vin, how could you agree to let Arielle bring the girl back here?" Harvey demanded the moment the call connected.

Vinson knew Harvey meant well. A grin flitted across his lips as he replied, "That's her best friend. It will be fine. Just pay attention when you pick her up."

Back in medical school, Sonia's phone buzzed suddenly. After pulling it out of her bag, she glanced at the screen. At once, she covered her mouth in shock as she couldn't believe her eyes.

Chapter 1545 Are You Still Alive

“Is that you, Ms. Moore? Are you really still alive?” Sonia tremblingly typed out the message.

Arielle saw the message and replied: “Yes, it’s me. Please keep this a secret.”

Sonia nodded. She knew someone had been attempting to take her teacher’s life again and again, so she would definitely keep that news a secret. It was then she realized her nodding wouldn’t be seen by Arielle, so she quickly replied: “Don’t worry. I’ll protect your secret. Where are you? I want to meet you.”

Even though it had only been a few short days, what happened recently made her feel like a few years had passed.

Soon after she sent that message, she received a message from Arielle saying that someone had been sent to the campus to pick her up. Therefore, she should apply for a few days’ leave.

Sonia was practically jumping with joy when she saw that message. She immediately applied for a leave of absence after classes ended. Once she got the approval, she sent a message to Bella, informing her that she wouldn’t be going to classes for the next few days.

Bella immediately thought about the child in Sonia’s belly and wanted to say something about it but was unsure of what to say. After an internal debate, she still sent a message.

Sonia smiled upon reading the message that wrote: “Take care of your body and quickly make up your mind. If you don’t want the baby, abort it as soon as possible.”

It made her happy to have a friend that cared about her.

Upon packing her things, she left the dorm. She then called the phone number of the person Arielle said would be picking her up.

When Harvey saw Vinson being that relaxed, he decided to say nothing. After all, no one worried more about Arielle’s safety than Vinson. If Vinson agreed to that, it meant he was certain the matter wouldn’t pose a threat to her. And so, Harvey resignedly hung up the phone and headed to the medical school.

When Sonia arrived at the entrance, she called the number Arielle gave her. Upon suddenly noticing the man she had had a one-night stand with, she was shocked.

She lowered her head and ended the call in a panic before attempting to return to the campus.

“Hey, you!” Someone tapped her shoulder just as she was going to leave.

“What’s the matter?” Her head was still lowered as she was afraid her one-night stand would recognize her. She wasn’t sure if he had seen her appearance clearly that night, but she wasn’t going to take that risk.

Harvey stared at the woman who appeared to be attempting to curl into a ball and found that humorous. Am I really that scary looking?

“You’re the one who called me, right?” He snorted. “Come on, Arielle’s waiting for you.”

She didn’t expect him to know Arielle, so she quickly retorted, “No, I didn’t call you. You’ve got the wrong person.”

Just as she tried to flee, her phone rang, and the number on the screen was the one Arielle had given her.

It made her want to cry. What is the deal with this guy? I said he got the wrong person, so why does he feel the need to call and check?

“Why are you denying it?” Harvey asked in a deep voice. He was a little pissed off because Arielle was risking a lot for this woman, yet she didn’t seem to care.

“I suddenly remembered I have something important to attend to, so I’m not going to disturb her.” Sonia tried to leave, but he pulled her back.

His eyes widened when he saw her face. “You...”
