

His Forbidden Obsession - An Insane Desire

An Insane Desire

"Good evening, Mr Grayson, " Each and every guard bowed to him as they saw him getting out of his luxurious car and straight walking towards his huge villa , completely ignoring the greetings he had received on his way.

He stepped inside his villa and every single staff member present inside turned alerted. They all lowered their gazes because they didn't have the audacity to look into those piercing grey eyes.

He also made no efforts to give his attention to anyone and continued straddling towards the direction his room was, but halted in his steps hearing that voice.

"So how was my son's day? "

His icy grey eyes travelled to look at the owner of that voice and his lips stretched into a small grin when his gaze fell on those emerald orbs.

"As usual , " He answered and then hugged her.

"But endurable, " He completed his sentence which made those green eyes filled with curiosity.

"Really? " She asked and he nodded with a slight smirk on his face ,recalling the azure eyes of his reason behind that endurable day .

"Okay I am going to my room, maa. I am very tired, " He uttered and then went upstairs to his room, filling those green eyes with that certain question , what was the reason behind his endurable day?

He pushed his huge wooden door and stepped inside and immediately a scowl made its way on his devilishly handsome face by watching the person sitting on his bed.

"So my Arzal has finally decided to come back to me? "

His scowl turned more abrupt. He started losing his collar's button and spat.

"How many fucking times I have to told you not come in my room, Lyra? " His growling voice was lacing with irritation and exasperation but she decided to ignore it.

She got up on her feet, showing him her perfectly selendar bare legs. Her endearingly hourglass body was no joke. Her light amber orbs had the most enchanting shade of horizon. Her honey tanned skin was flawlessly shining. Her mid length blonde hair was making her beauty more tempting. She was gorgeous and had a look, to kill for .But he was least bit interested in her beauty .

She wrapped her arms around his neck and gazed into his cold silver eyes seductively.

"I missed you, Arzal, "

He scoffed and shrugged her arms away from his body, like she was a plague.

"Get the fuck out of my room, Lyra before I lose my calm, " He warned her and walked pass her.

He removed his blazer and threw it on his bed and was about to open his shirt when he felt her wrapping her arms around his hardened chest.

"Arzal, I have come straight to you after my flight reached here. You don't know how much I have missed you during this whole week, "

He rolled his eyes at her words and teared her hands away from his chest.

"I don't remember calling you here and asking you how much you have missed me, so get out, "

She continued to ignore his insults and then came in front of him. She pressed her entire body against his burly tall figure and then started tracing her palm on his groin.

"Then let me make you remember that and I promise, " She stopped and leaned closer to his face.

She licked his ear and whispered seductively in them

"I won't stop you even if you tear me apart, "

He chuckled hoarsely at her words and then aggressively pushed her on his bed, making her body bounce.

His gaze roamed over her almost naked body which turned his eyes dark. A devious grin appeared on his face as he started unbuttoning his shirt.

"A slut will always remain a slut, "

Again completely ignoring his insulting words, she spoke totally out of her lust for him.

"Only for you, Mr Grayson. "

His smirk turned predatory hearing her answer and watching the desperation in her eyes for him.

"Fine then, let's give a slut what she is begging for, " He spoke and then hovered over her and ripped her tiny piece of clothes, leaving her only in her panties.

He squeezed her bosoms harshly, leaving his dark red handprints on her flesh , making her moan in pain and pleasure.

She dug her nails on his exposed chest. He was about to tear her panties off her but suddenly his mind started flashing images of those innocuous baby blue eyes when she started touching him because her touch was desperate and greedy but that touch which belonged to the owner of those blue eyes was pure and innocuous.

Her soft touch, her tender voice, her shiny tears, her ethereal eyes, that little girl completely took over his mind, which made him clench his jaw . He immediately got up from that girl and then grabbed his hairs in rage.

Lyra stood on her feet and got confused by watching his sudden change in mood, who was growling like a caged wild animal.

"Arza.... "

"Get the fuck out of my room, right now, Lyra if you want to walk alive out of this room, " Now his insanely husky voice had turned venomously low which made her terrified, especially by watching that voracious darkness playing in his silver eyes .

She knew he wasn't someone to mess up with, especially when he had terrible anger and temper issues, so she grabbed her shredded clothes and ran out of his room.

He growled like a leashed beast and closed his eyes in order to calm himself down, but those azure eyes again flashed in front of his closed eyes because the innocence those azure eyes had held in them had captivated him to the extent that now he was painfully wanted to taint and ruin that innocence.

He started throwing things here and there and then stormed towards the huge mirror and losing himself in his anger and insanity, he punched the mirror as hard as possible, shattering it into uncountable pieces.

Blood started dripping from his knuckles . His blood thirsty gaze stared at his own reflection on that broken mirror which made a deadly sadistic smirk to crept on his face.

He darted his eyes down at his bleeding knuckles and exhaled sharply while closing his eyes again only to let those blue eyes to again come in front of him but this time instead of anger, images of those azure eyes had started calming the burning rage inside him .

Slowly unlatching his lashes, he again stared at his own reflection on that broken mirror and finally took that name which now he was going to shatter more than that mirror.

"SERAPHINA, "

Breaking The Rules

The beautiful rays of sun entered through the glass window and straight fell on those closed eyes which made them open and those baby blue eyes gleamed up more when the sun rays hit them.

Her rosy pale cheeks started glowing like the shine of white pearls. She slowly yawned and tossed her head and buried her face into her teddy bear.

"Wake up, Sephi. "

Hearing that voice, she again shifted and answered in her baby whining voice.

"Please two minutes more, Nate. I am very sleepy, "

Nathan smiled at her answer and then delicately tapped on her soft cheeks, making her squeal more and buried her face more into the teddy .

"If someone is sleepy than I guess I have to eat someone's favourite chocolate pastries alone "

She shot open her eyes and immediately got up.

"No. I am not sleepy. I will eat 6 pastries this time," She announced her tummy's desire which made her brother raise his eyebrow at her.

"And here I thought someone was sleepy? " He asked to which she shrugged her head and pointed her finger towards her big furry and pale grey teddy.

"No, I am not. Tinnie is sleepy, "

He chuckled hearing her and then pecked her head.

"Ok then, let Tinnie sleep and a very beautiful morning to my beautiful angel, "

She warmly smiled at her brother's words and hugged him.

"Good morning, my angel, " She wished him back and his smile widened hearing her because they both used to call each other with that same nickname.

"Ok now go and freshen up. Your chocolate pastries are waiting for you at the breakfast table, "

She giggled at his words in excitement and stormed towards her bathroom.

He smiled at her happiness and then his phone started beeping which gained his attention.

A sigh escaped from his mouth by watching the email of his job termination from his workplace but it didn't surprise him because his work head had already informed about it last evening and Nathan had nothing to say in it because he knew Seraphina had broken Grayson Corporation's rules and the only penalty he had to pay was with his job because Grayson Corporation was the top leading companies of their country and its rules and regulations were terribly strict and rigid.

Nathan sighed and shoved his phone back in his pocket because he didn't want Seraphina to know about any of this because he knew, she would blame herself for him losing his job and this would affect on her , both physically and mentally which he didn't want, so he decided to hide it from her and started planning on getting new job as soon as possible .

"Nate , it's so tasty. " Seraphina spoke, enjoying her pastries .

He beamed and gave her another piece of pastry and a glass of milk.

"Ok finish your breakfast, then I'll take you out to the amusement park, "

Her eyes widened hearing him

"Really? "

He chuckled and squeezed her fluffy soft cheeks.

"Really. Now finish your food, "

She nodded and hurriedly started finishing her food.

"Carefully, Sephi. "

She giggled and continued eating her food.

After getting done with her breakfast, she went to her room to change her clothes .

"Ready, " She came out of her room , wearing a plain black skirt which was covering her thighs and a pale white off-shoulder top , along with a matching pair of white color shoes.

Her hairs were open whereas her face wore nothing except that baby pink lip tint on her plummy petals.

"My little Sephi is looking beautiful, " Nathan uttered, smilingly.

She beamed back and walked towards him.

"Ok now let's go, "

Seraphina nodded at him, until that question came into her mind.

"Nate, "

"Hmm, " He hummed, locking the main door of their apartment.

"Have you taken a day off from work today? "

His hands halted at her question but he didn't let her catch the tension emerging into his eyes because he looked at her and smiled.

"Yes, I have taken my day off, so that I can take my Sephi out to that park, " He lied, which was the truth according to her, because she trusted him more than her own shadow.

"Ok now let's go, " He held her palm securely in his and they both left from that place.

After a couple of hours, they both were heading back home from the park when Nathan's phone started ringing. He looked at it and his brows wiggled in confusion by watching his work's head manager calling him .

He glanced at Seraphina who was eating her candyfloss and was busy admiring the outside view through their car's passenger seat's window.

He connected his earpiece with his phone and picked up the call.

"Hello, "

"Mr Miller? " The person on the other side of the call replied.

"Yes, Mr Smith. "

"Your job termination has been stopped. You have to urgently come to the Grayson Corporation right now , "

Nathan got confused by hearing him.

"But why and... "

"Mr Grayson has stopped your termination and he wants to meet you, "

Nathan was stunned at the answer because in all these 5 years of working, he had hardly met with his boss and the CEO, Arzal Grayson a couple of times and just had heard about him and his cold and strict personality.

"But Mr Smith, I am with my sister now and we are almost an hour away from my house and I can't take her to the company with me ,as it's against the company's regulations , " Nathan answered, while focusing on the road and driving his car.

Nathan heard the other side went silent for a minute after hearing his reply and then.

"You can take your sister with you , Mr Miller , "

Shock was an understatement, Nathan was bewildered hearing Mr Smith's words.

"But Mr Smith, it's... . "

"Mr Grayson himself has permitted about this, "

Now it was the time for Nathan to become silent for a while.

"Come faster as possible, Mr Miller because this opportunity is in your and your work's favour. Mr Grayson is waiting for you, "

With that, the phone call got hung.

Nathan sighed and then looked at Seraphina. He knew he needed this job, not for him but for his sister and her better livelihood because not only that job's remuneration and salary were more than high but it would be difficult for him to get another job like that ,easily and faster.

So keeping in mind all of that, he decided to do what was right and rational.

"Seraphina, "

Seraphina, who was busy admiring the beautiful blue sky until now ,turned her head towards her brother.

"Sephi, I have to go to work right now . My head manager has called me just now and informed me that my head boss wants to meet me, so angel I have to go there as soon as possible , so will you go with me there? "

Her azure eyes lost their shine after hearing him. Her smile dropped because her mind immediately started recalling what had happened with her at that place and how those people had behaved with her.

And the sadness and fear in her eyes didn't go unnoticed by Nathan.

"Sephi, if you don't want to go there, it's completely fine, my angel. No need to get worried. I will first drop you at home and then ... "

"No, Nate. It's okay. I'll come with you, " She halted him because Seraphina knew the relevance of his job for him and for their lives.

Her mind might be naive but she wasn't that dumb that she won't try to understand her brother and his problem because he was above everyone and everything for her and beside this time her brother was going to be with her and she knew in his presence, she was going to be completely safe and alright.

She beamed and spoke.

"Let's go. Otherwise your head boss will scold you, Naty and I will have to punish him for scolding you, " She spoke innocently, making him chuckle .

Nathan nodded at her and then drove towards his destiny but he didn't know that ,it was not his destiny but that destination was waiting for his little sister .

