

Oh My God 1221

Chapter 1221: Teeth of Corrosion

There were also many powerful beings among the superhumans of Dragon City's civilization and the super fierce beasts of the monster civilization that possessed the ability to "erode vitality."

However, it seemed that this fierce tiger warrior could instantly suck a strong orc, who was wearing armor, dry. Such a terrifying and ferocious ability was something that Meng Chao had never seen before.

Closing his eyes, Meng Chao put himself into the role of the furious lion warrior. He was surprised to find that even if he were to face the fierce tiger warrior and the mysterious and corrosive purple fog around him, apart from constantly dodging, there was no other way.

This guy was definitely a battle group level powerhouse, which was equivalent to the Deity Realm in Dragon City's cultivation system.

No wonder he dared to lead a group of people and enter the territory of the Wolf Clan's army alone to hunt down the Lion King's younger brother.

As expected, upon seeing the strange purple mist, Ice Storm's pupils suddenly constricted into two needle tips, revealing a never-before-seen solemnity.

She also constricted the sound waves into threads and accurately transmitted them into Meng Chao's ears. "This guy should be 'Teeth of Corrosion' Delavin.

"Just like 'Platinum Embrace' Rennes, in the entire Gold Clan, amongst the countless unruly wolves, tigers, and leopards, his combat ability can be ranked in the top ten experts.

"As early as three to five hundred years ago, in the north of the Gold Clan, to the west of the Tiger Clan settlement, there was a swamp forest that was shrouded in mist all year round, and fierce beasts roamed about. It's said that in the depths of the forest, there was a temple that was left behind from the era of the great extinction order, and it was almost destroyed by the Holy Light Army.

"Although the inheritance in the temple had long been cut off, the remnant totem power still gave birth to extremely powerful totem beasts.

"For hundreds of years, countless warriors of the Tiger clan formed exploration teams and went deep into the swamp forest in an attempt to capture the totem beasts and extract the totem power in the bodies of the beasts.

"However, most of the people were wandering around the periphery of the swamp forest. They did not dare to intrude into the depths of the forest and went into the corrosive mist to search for the relics of the temple.

"Those guys who were bold enough to venture deep into the fog were all swallowed by the fog and turned into vague skeletons. They could only reveal their miserable figures in the depths of the swamp forest when the sun was at its most intense at noon to warn those who came later.

“‘Teeth of Corrosion’ Delavin, on the other hand, was the only explorer who was able to stay in the dense fog surrounded by skeletons in the depths of the swamp forest for hundreds of years and still escape unscathed even after ten days and ten nights.

“It is said that he hunted a huge high-level totem beast that looked like a combination of a giant python, a giant crocodile, and a giant turtle from the dense fog of the swamp.

“This totem beast has been entrenched in the swamp forest for hundreds of years. After swallowing the lives of countless explorers and digesting all the flesh and blood of the explorers, its stomach was filled with all kinds of fragments of totem armor.

“Delavin cut open the stomach of the totem beast that was as hard as iron and took out the broken pieces of totem armor that were piled up like a mountain and had been soaked in the venom of the totem beast for hundreds of years. After being tempered and blessed by the nine high priests of the Tiger clan, it took several years and a lot of resources to produce this set of totem armor that was now installed on his body and possessed a terrifying corrosive ability.

“‘Teeth of Corrosion’ is the name of this set of totem armor, but it has also become a new name that everyone associates with Delavin. When his killing intent is raging, the flames that burst out from his body are like poisonous and corrosive fangs, able to corrode and devour everything around him!”

Meng Chao’s heart trembled when he heard this.

Platinum Embrace and the Teeth of Corrosion, two experts whose combat strength was enough to rank in the top ten of the Gold Clan, actually put on a show where they would fight to the death in this desolate wilderness.

This was enough to prove that, as he had expected, the Lion and Tiger Clans had completely broken off.

After all, in the Gold Clan, besides the Lion and Tiger Clans, there were also experts from the leopard people and seven or eight predator tribes. All of them were extremely fierce and were qualified to compete for the throne of the top ten experts.

In other words, whether it was Platinum Embrace or Teeth of Corrosion, in terms of combat strength, they were definitely ranked in the top five or even the top three in their respective clans.

Although it was common sense that there were five or even more than seventy or eighty experts among the four great experts.

However, even if only one of such battle group level experts was lost, it would still be too much for the lion and tiger tribes to bear.

It seems that, just like in my previous life, the scheme of “Jackal” Kanus is slowly and resolutely becoming a reality.

On the night when the Great Horn Army was almost completely annihilated, earth-shaking events also happened in Red-gold City.

“It’s possible that the once glorious crimson gold city is now nothing but burning ruins, or even a piece of white ground.

“Therefore, the big shots of their respective tribes, such as Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion, have left their nests and chased all the way here!”

This thought had just flashed through Meng Chao’s mind.

The two battle group level warriors below had already collided fiercely.

The first shock wave from Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion blew all the lion warriors around them away.

Even if the lion warriors that were shaped like iron towers and looked like mad demons, armed to the teeth, like statues of heavy metal, were swept away by the electric arcs, fireballs, wind blades, and sonic booms of the two battle group level warriors., it was either staggering back or running away with its head in its hands. Otherwise, it would be as if it had received a heavy hammer on its face and fell flat on its back.

Soon, the two battle group level powerhouses cleared out a large area of the death arena that looked like a crater.

Seeing that their subordinates had retreated to a safe area.

The two battle group level powerhouses unleashed their full firepower.

The purple fog around the Teeth of Corrosion became denser and brighter, gradually turning red, like a blood cloud that was floating on the ground, baring its fangs and brandishing its claws.

The eight light blades that were made of the extremely tough hair around Platinum Embrace’s head were rotating at high speed like the propellers of an armored airship, emitting a roar that was even more violent than that of a propeller, they gradually dispersed into a hazy mist of light.

The Bloody Cloud and the mist of light were like two hungry but experienced ferocious beasts that were devouring the distance between them bit by bit and testing each other carefully.

The surface of their contact kept exploding.

The blades of light kept tearing the blood cloud and almost touched the surface of the armor of the ‘teeth of corrosion’ several times.

The corrosive power contained in the blood cloud was also eroding the blades of light, causing putrid smoke to rise between the two of them.

However, the life magnetic field of the two of them and the liquid metal-like substances that made up the totem armors seemed to be inexhaustible. They were constantly regenerating to make up for the damage caused by the other party.

Meng Chao was amazed by the spectacular peak-level battle.

He had a deeper understanding of the strength of the totem armors and the Orc warriors.

According to his judgment, if both of them were in the best condition where their spiritual energy was abundant and their totem armors were intact,.

It would be difficult to determine the winner of the battle in half an hour.

Neither side had the ability to kill the opponent with one strike.

Even if one side was at a disadvantage, there were still plenty of opportunities for them to leave.

The problem was that Platinum Embrace was heavily injured.

There was also a shining spear in his chest that was filled with runes and threads.

Along with the fierce battle where the muscle fibers trembled at least hundreds of times every second, the wound that had just formed a scab near his heart burst open again.

Even with the blockage of the totem armor, hot blood still flowed out along the spiral patterns on the spear.

Moreover, the furious lion warriors beside him were falling down continuously.

The opponent was using a fighting method that risked their lives to quickly increase their advantage.

If it was originally ten furious Lion Warriors against thirty fierce tiger warriors, it would have to be one against three.

As long as there were five fierce tiger warriors who were willing to die together with the furious Lion Warriors.

It would have been five furious Lion Warriors against twenty-five fierce tiger warriors.

On average, five tiger warriors were standing around each lion man.

It was a very simple arithmetic problem.

However, it was also a difficult problem that even Platinum Embrace could not solve.

Even a team-level expert would be suppressed by his opponent in such a situation.

The blood cloud seemed to have absorbed the blood from Platinum Embrace's chest. It expanded in the shrieks and turned into a demon that was baring its fangs and brandishing its claws.

The light mist around Platinum Embrace was shrinking and dimming. It was even showing an ugly yellowish-brown color under the corrosion of the blood cloud.

Such a scene caused Ice Storm's eyes to spurt out icy flames.

His clenched fists were even emitting cracking sounds of bones cracking.

Meng Chao blinked his eyes and curiously asked, "Didn't you say that you don't know 'Platinum Embrace' Renne? Why does he look so distressed when he is at a disadvantage?"

"I'm not distressed about Platinum Embrace. I'm obviously distressed about his totem armor, okay?"

Ice Storm told Meng Chao, "You should know that the most powerful characteristic of my totem armor, the Platinum Ripper, is tearing.

"The most powerful characteristic of the Platinum Ripper's totem armor is also tearing.

“It can be said that his totem armor represents the direction of the Platinum Ripper’s evolution.

“If I can get a few pieces of his totem armor, I will definitely be able to evolve the Platinum Ripper to a more powerful, almost perfect level. Also, there will not be any failed fusion or backlash.

“Tell me, how can I not feel sorry when I see such a totem armor being destroyed by Teeth of Corrosion because its master is seriously injured?”

“I see.”

Meng Chao narrowed his eyes, which were as greedy and heartache as Ice Storm. He mumbled, “That’s right.. The totem armor of a battle group level powerhouse is indeed tempting!”

Chapter 1222: Stealth Technique

With Meng Chao and Ice Storm’s strength, they were far from the level where they could snatch the totem armors of two battle group level powerhouses.

However, if these two battle group level powerhouses had already killed each other and both of them were injured, with their last breaths left, or if one of them died and the other was also on the verge of death, that would be a different matter.

Once the thoughts of snatching the Platinum Embrace and the Teeth of Corrosion were ignited in his heart, they would flow through his nerves and sulci. Then, it would be unstoppable.

“Seize it, fuse with it, and eat it!”

Meng Chao heard a voice in his heart roaring crazily.

Thousands of strands of biological electricity surged out from his central nervous system, stimulating every nerve ending in his body to bloom like a flower, causing every muscle fiber and finger of his to be restless.

Indeed, before confronting “Jackal” Kanus head-on, it was extremely difficult for his combat strength to make an explosive leap.

But the fusion and upgrading of the totem battle armor was relatively easier.

As long as he was willing to take the slightest bit of insignificant risk..

Meng Chao’s heart trembled.

He suddenly realized that this wasn’t his idea.

It was the idea of the totem armor that he was wearing.

It was the artificial intelligence that was hidden in the depths of the totem armor that had implanted such a radical idea into his logical thinking.

The totem armor, to be more precise, was a liquid metal-like substance that formed the totem armor. It seemed to be a ferocious, treacherous, and insatiable creature.

Like all creatures, they had the instinct to constantly absorb materials and energy, and to continuously evolve and multiply.

All totem armors desired to constantly collide with other totem armors, tearing and destroying each other. In the end, they would devour or be devoured by the opponent, and then condense into even more powerful totem armors.

As for the nominal owner of the totem armors, the body of flesh and blood that was wrapped by it, after the incomparably tragic collision, whether he was dead or alive, that was a matter of no importance.

Anyway, Tu Lanze, no, the entire world, was obsessed with power. There were plenty of carbon-based humanoid creatures that yearned to obtain a set of totem armor and fight to the death to make a contribution.

If this owner died, the totem armor could change its new owner every minute.

Even if it could not find a suitable new owner for a time, the totem armor could still afford to wait in the depths of the temple or the swamp for hundreds or even thousands of years.

Thinking of this, Meng Chao calmed his mind and completely ignored the chattering of the totem armor in the depths of his brain.

“Calm down.”

He said to Ice Storm, “The totem armor of a battle group level powerhouse is indeed sharp, but only the two of us can take it with our lives!”

“I know.”

Ice Storm stared at the col and softly said, “Don’t worry, unless Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion both suffer heavy losses or even perish together, otherwise, I will not be impulsive.”

“Wrong. Even if they really die together, I can’t act rashly.”

Meng Chao said, “Didn’t you notice something very strange? The furious lion warriors and fierce tiger warriors below are fighting so fiercely. The mandala forest on both sides of the col has been blown to pieces by them. However, the Wolf King’s guards are still lurking around them, perfectly concealing their aura. They were not discovered by powerhouses like Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion!”

As soon as he said this, Ice Storm was also slightly stunned.

Indeed, this was really strange.

One should know that whether it was Platinum Embrace, Teeth of Corrosion or their subordinates, they were all experts who could fight against a hundred people by themselves.

Under the enhancement of the totem battle armor, each of them was like a human-shaped self-propelled cannon.

The furious lion warrior and the fierce tiger warrior each held an overweight weapon that weighed hundreds of pounds. When they fiercely collided with each other, there was a thunderous roar as well as a shock wave like a raging wave, it was no less intense than the fierce fire from the siege cannons against the city walls.

The battle was so intense that the entire col seemed to have been swept back and forth several times by storms, mudslides, and meteor showers.

The weeds, thorns, and shrubs in the col had long been burnt to ashes.

The scattered mud and swamps had also evaporated water, revealing the hardened mud.

The mandala trees on both sides of the col were either cut in half or uprooted.

The scene was a mess, and the aftermath was right in front of Meng Chao and Ice Storm.

Even they had to hold their breath, wiggle their bodies like earthworms, and keep retreating to avoid being exposed.

How could the Wolf King's personal guards hide under the eyes of the lion warriors and not reveal any flaws?

This was unreasonable.

One had to know that the individual combat strength of the wolf warriors should be far inferior to that of the lion warriors.

Normally, in such a situation, they would not even be able to maintain a uniform heartbeat and breathing under the lion warriors' burning rage.

Not to mention, they were able to hide themselves so perfectly.

"These wolf king guards are very strong. At the very least, their ability to hide is very strong, far beyond the Wolf Clan. No, it's beyond the standard of a high-level orc."

Meng Chao muttered to himself.

He narrowed his eyes, and his gaze was like a ray that could penetrate everything, scanning back and forth in front of the col.

Since the furious lion warrior and fierce tiger warrior kept surging the power of their totems, the collision created layers of spirit energy ripples that seriously interfered with his scanning.

This time, it took him more than half a minute to barely recognize the existence of more than ten Wolf King Guards.

They were still hiding behind trees, rocks, and deep in the swamp.

Under the violent pressure of the lion warriors, they did not move at all. They lowered their body temperature to the limit, and at the same time, they isolated their heartbeat and breathing.

They were like ice-cold corpses, perfectly integrated with the surrounding environment.

No, Meng Chao noticed that one of the lurkers' chest was deeply sunken, and his cheeks were bulging, as if they were filled with blood and minced meat spewing out from the depths of his throat. His eyes were wide open.

However, he died silently in the depths of the dry swamp and really became a corpse.

He should have been accidentally injured by the shock waves from Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion just now.

Until death slit his throat, the lurker did not even let out a single scream.

He even clenched his teeth tightly, not allowing even a drop of blood to seep out of the corner of his mouth.

This was such astonishing willpower and control.

How terrifying was his loyalty to 'Wolf King' Kanus!

If it wasn't for Meng Chao's unique keen senses as a ghost assassin, he would have been able to discern the subtle temperature difference between them and the surrounding environment.

He almost suspected that these guys were all killing machines in human skin. Their stomachs were filled with gears, bearings, and engines!

Wait a minute, when he mentioned the ghost assassins, Meng Chao suddenly had a very strange feeling in his heart.

The more he observed, the more he felt that the Wolf King's personal guards controlled their breathing, heartbeat, and body temperature. The method of hiding around the strong was similar to the "Undead technique" used by the ghost assassins.

No, that was simply the "Undead technique"!

The stealth and hiding technique used by the Wolf King's personal guards was almost exactly the same as what Meng Chao had learned in the black skeleton training camp in his previous life!

Meng Chao could not help but laugh in his heart.

"How is this possible?"

He told himself., "The "Undead technique" was an ancient technique that the Dragon City civilization had analyzed based on the number one Archeon ruins. In addition to the hundreds of years of accumulation of human engineering and life sciences in the Earth era, it was the crystallization of wisdom that was repeatedly pondered, accumulated, and created. Just like the "Strange Thorn Technique", it was the original martial arts of the Dragon City civilization.

"In my previous life, in the later stage of the war between worlds, the undead technique and the strange thorn technique might have been passed on to the high-level orcs who were my allies.

"But now, the Dragon City civilization and the Turan civilization haven't had any large-scale contact, and I haven't taught the profound meaning of the undead technique to Leaf or Ice Storm.

“How can the subordinates of ‘Jackal’ Kanus be so familiar with the original martial arts of the Dragon City’s civilization?”

“It must be a coincidence.”

“Either that, or the Turan civilization also has its own ruins, and there are similar techniques hidden in the depths of the ruins.”

“That’s right, it must be so.”

No matter what techniques these Wolf King’s personal guards used.

Meng Chao’s evaluation of their combat ability had increased by several levels.

Before completely understanding the strength of the Wolf King’s personal guards, seeing that both Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion had suffered heavy losses, he had rashly rushed out with Ice Storm to snatch the totem armor.

That was truly foolish to the extreme. He was seeking his own death!

This thought had just flashed past Meng Chao’s mind.

The battle situation that was constantly advancing towards the cliff in the col had undergone an avalanche-like change.

Originally, the heavily injured Platinum Embrace could still rely on his determination to perish together to slowly deal with Teeth of Corrosion.

However, as more and more of his subordinates around him were destroyed by the fierce tiger warriors one by one.

Almost all the remaining furious lion warriors were surrounded by the fierce lion warriors, and the distance between them and Platinum Embrace was getting farther and farther.

The fierce lion warriors, who had the absolute advantage in numbers, could free up weapons and space to help their generals deal with the most important target together.

A fierce lion warrior whose totem armor was broken, whose chest was full of swords and sabers, and whose shoulder was embedded with a battle axe, knew that he was going to die for sure. He actually felt the blessing of the ancestral spirit in a trance, he burst out with the last and most violent strength.

He threw down the battle hammer in his hand and grabbed the ankles of a furious lion warrior’s corpse with both of his arms. Even with the corpse and the armor, hundreds of pounds of heavy objects were danced vigorously by him, like a metal storm with blood and flesh flying everywhere, he pounced toward Platinum Embrace from behind.

Platinum Embrace had a head full of shiny, long hair that was as sharp as blades, as if it had a life of its own. It grew eyes and immediately circled behind him, tearing through the air and letting out a sharp whistle, forming a crisscrossing large net of flying blades, the Tiger Warrior’s limbs and head were precisely cut off from the root.

However, it was unable to stop the other party's severed limbs and two furious Lion Warriors' corpses from turning into a high-speed collision of blood and wind that rained down on the Tiger Warrior's head and body.

Chapter 1223: Holy Water and Strange Thorn Technique

These broken limbs, flesh, and bones naturally would not cause any damage to Platinum Embrace.

Even before he tarnished his totem armor, it had been burned to ashes by the white flames on the surface of the armor.

However, the bloody storm still interfered with Platinum Embrace's vision and vitality magnetic field, causing him to be slightly slower in resisting the Teeth of Corrosion.

For the two supreme experts who could fight against the entire battle group on their own, being slightly slower was equivalent to being slower by an entire era.

The Teeth of Corrosion let out a weird cry. The purple fog around its body expanded to its limit before condensing into a deformed claw that clawed at the platinum embrace.

The bones around the platinum embrace emitted a series of crackling sounds. It seemed that every joint did not move, but it moved back three to five steps weirdly, it narrowly avoided the attack of the Purple Mist Monster's hand.

If he was unharmed, the attack would have come to an end.

The problem was that there was a long spear sticking out of his chest!

The difference between the purple mist monster's hand and his helmet, face shield, and breastplate was just a hair's breadth.

However, it firmly grasped the tip of the spear.

Wisps of Purple Mist instantly split apart and turned into thousands of venomous snakes that drilled into the body of the 'platinum embrace' along the threads on the spear.

With the wound on the chest plate of the spear as the center, the glittering and translucent totem armor of the platinum embrace seemed to have been injected with a high concentration of venom and acid. It immediately corroded and corroded, circles of black lines spread out along the wound.

The Platinum embrace let out a miserable cry. Eight beams of light blades condensed from its fur slashed at the tooth of corrosion at the same time.

"Arghhh!" The tooth of corrosion retreated when it saw the opportunity. It grinned hideously as it controlled the purple mist monster hand to stir the spear violently, creating a shocking wound on platinum embrace's chest, only then did it calmly jump out of the encirclement before the eight light blades closed in.

It was not in a hurry to kill platinum embrace.

This was because the current situation was extremely disadvantageous to the furious Lion Warrior.

There were only four furious Lion Warriors left who could still stand and hold their weapons.

The chest of the platinum embrace was constantly bubbling, as if the black spots that were rapidly rotting were also slowly corroding the totem armor and the flesh and blood inside the armor.

From the eight beams of light blades that were flickering and flickering, it could be seen that the life magnetic field of the platinum embrace had already gone out of control.

It was difficult for him to control the frantic totem power in his body.

As for the fierce tiger warriors on the Fang of corrosion's side, although they were also killed by the opponent's last-ditch counterattack, they suffered heavy casualties.

But under the stimulation of success, they still maintained their vigorous fighting spirit and sharp eyes.

The Platinum Embrace's three consecutive pouncing attacks were all easily dodged by the Fang of corrosion.

His movements gradually slowed down. The tip of his blade trembled continuously, and the blood that flowed out of the spiral pattern of the spear gradually turned black like ink.

Hearing his heavy breathing and chaotic heartbeat, the tooth of corrosion knew that the time had come.

He condensed the purple mist around his body again and transformed into a deformed hand.

Under the cover of the Purple Mist's hand, he slowly pulled out two poisonous blades that were as thin as cicada wings and stinky.

The Weird Hands of the purple mist waved violently. Like a ferocious beast that came from the depths of a swamp and was covered in acid and venom, it roared shrilly and lunged at its injured prey.

All the furious Lion Warriors, including the platinum embrace himself, had despair in their eyes.

The Crimson Eyes of all the fierce tiger warriors were burning with the flames of victory.

However, what happened next was beyond everyone's expectations.

Dozens of explosions were heard from both sides of the hill.

The broken crystals that had been ground into powder were pushed by the shockwave and sprayed at the 'tooth of corrosion' and all the fierce tiger warriors at a lightning speed.

Although the high-speed friction and the burning of the tiny amount of crystal powder did not cause much damage, the impact of the explosion did not cause much damage.

However, the surface of the totem armor could temporarily interfere with the functions of the totem armor and the life magnetic field of the totem warriors.

It made them slow down by half a beat, just like the 'Platinum Embrace' just now.

In this half a beat.

From the burning bushes, from the dry swamp, from the broken rocks and the collapsed mandala trees, dozens of mournful black shadows flashed out.

The Wolf King's personal guards who had endured until now finally revealed their sharpest fangs.

The fierce tiger warriors who originally had the advantage in numbers suddenly became alone.

Almost every tiger warrior who was covered in wounds and bleeding profusely was attacked by four or five Wolf King's personal guards at the same time.

The Wolf King's personal guards used the tactic they had just used. They did not hesitate to die together and quickly exchange money to drag them into the abyss together.

Their battle sabers could cut off the shoulder blades of the first Wolf King's personal guard.

The tiger claws could also break through the totem armor and stab into the chest of the second Wolf King's personal guard.

However, their weapons and hands were tightly clenched by the flesh and blood of the Wolf King's personal guard as well as the bones that were closed like fangs. They could not move at all.

The remaining Wolf King's personal guards could naturally easily use their battle hammers and armor-piercing awls to hit their vertebrae and the back of their heads from behind.

Even the totem armors couldn't withstand the blunt attacks and directly destroyed their spines and brains.

While their brains were violently concussed and their vision was blank, the daggers with Sawteeth and curved hooks had long cut their throats and pierced into their hearts.

On the side of the 'tooth of corrosion', there were seven Fearless Wolf King's personal guards who jumped towards him and even took the initiative to jump into the attack range of the purple mist monster's claws.

These wolf king guards were naturally far from being a match for the tooth of corrosion.

Even under the situation of shock and anger, the tooth of corrosion expanded the purple mist around its body and the strange hands split into dozens of tentacles, which were able to resolve the seemingly fierce attacks of the Wolf King Guards one by one.

The seemingly formless purple mist lashed onto the totem armor of the Wolf King Guards like a real metal whip. It swung at a speed that surpassed the speed of sound waves and slashed through the armor like a heavy saber, emitting the sound of armor cracking.

Several Wolf King's personal guards didn't even have the time to scream before their chests sank deeply.

However, what shot out from their shattered chests wasn't fresh blood, but balls of glistening, viscous liquid.

If it wasn't for the fact that their physiques were different from ordinary people, they would have hidden large amounts of skins or beast bladders filled with glistening liquid under their armor long ago, calculating that they weren't a match for the "Tooth of corrosion", and the attack of the tooth of corrosion would definitely corrode their armor and squeeze out the glittering liquid on their chests.

And when the glittering liquid, which was as thick as honey, splashed onto the armor of the tooth of corrosion.

The purple mist, which was baring its fangs and brandishing its claws like a hungry beast just a moment ago, seemed to have been ruthlessly whipped and let out an incomparably shrill scream.

Wherever the glittering liquid went, the purple mist melted at a speed visible to the naked eye like black snow under the scorching sun.

Very soon, whether it was the tentacles that looked like venomous snakes or the fingers of the deformed claws, they were all melted away.

In fact, when the glittering liquid was spreading out on the surface of the 'tooth of corrosion' armor, it was even more terrifying than before.

The liquid metal-like substance that formed the armor seemed to have been invaded by a foreign substance. It could no longer maintain its fixed and hard structure and dispersed one after another.

Now, it was the "Tooth of corrosion"'s turn to be corroded.

Under the attack of the sparkling liquid, it jumped around and danced.

A strange and familiar scene turned into a terrifying name in Meng Chao's mind.

He blurted out almost at the same time as the ice storm, "Holy water!"

The so-called "Holy water" was a lethal weapon from the land of Holy Light.

It was not real water, but a mysterious substance that had the characteristics of a fluid and contained terrifying energy, just like the liquid metal substances that made up totem armor.

With Meng Chao's level in his previous life, he was naturally not qualified to know the nature of holy water.

He only knew that it was also a viscous liquid that contained super corrosive and destructive power.

Once it touched the target's body, it would continue to spread and spread until the target's body was completely corroded and destroyed.

Meng Chao searched through the memory fragments of his previous life and found a scene of a flood of steel from the Dragon City civilization being attacked by holy water on the battlefield.

A main battle tank wearing reactive armor was only near the cannon barrel at the beginning. It was attacked by the enemy's suicide attack and was stained with a little holy water the size of a fingernail.

However, this shimmering holy water continued to spread, like an alloy material that could swallow the main battle tank. It self-replicated and extended infinitely. In just a few seconds, the light spots spread from the cannon barrel to the cannon turret, then from the turret to the chassis and tracks, and finally, the entire main battle tank was turned into crisp scrap metal!

The holy water was one of the trump cards that the holy light humans had used to dominate the entire otherworld and occupy the core land of fertility.

Although the liquid metal-like material that formed the totem armor was much stronger than the alloy armor that was used to build the main battle tank.

However, it was unable to resist the melting power of the holy water. When it splashed onto the “Tooth of corrosion”, it immediately caused his totem armor to temporarily lose more than 30% of its functionality.

Of course, the power of the holy water was so strong that it was itself a very rare and precious thing.

Even in the land of Holy Light, the few holy water was only in the hands of a few holy light priests and high-level mages.

Unless it was the critical moment to decide victory or defeat, or the critical moment to turn the tide, the holy light priests and high-level mages would rather sacrifice their lives than use this weapon that originated from the starry sky, it was a weapon given by a true God.

No one had expected that the Wolf King’s personal guard would actually have holy water.

For Meng Chao, besides Holy Water, there was another thing that made him extremely shocked and surprised.

Just now, the Wolf King’s personal guard came out from the darkness, and a series of jumping rabbits and jumping jumped down.. With his skillful assassination techniques, Meng Chao felt more and more familiar. The more he looked at it, the more he felt that it was the ghost assassin of the Dragon City civilization, what about the strange assassination technique, which was used together with the undead technique?

Chapter 1224: Bizarre

The bizarre assassination technique was Dragon City’s ultimate killing technique in Meng Chao’s previous life. During the war between worlds, it was gradually honed through hundreds and thousands of assassinations aimed at the key figures of the Holy Light faction.

Its biggest characteristic was that it could completely separate “killing intent” from the “killing move.”

To give the simplest example, if an ordinary assassin wanted to pierce the throat of a target with a sword, the assassin’s gaze would definitely lock onto the target’s throat.

Before the tip of the sword pierced through the flesh and blood, his gaze that was filled with killing intent and as sharp as a blade had long disrupted the target’s life magnetic field.

As long as the target was an expert of a certain level and possessed a rather keen perception, he would naturally be able to detect the killing intent half a step ahead, defend, and even counterattack.

And after separating the “Killing intent” and “Killing move” through the “Strange assassination technique”...

It was completely possible for an assassin to do so. His gaze would be locked onto the flowers and plants around his target. From the time he went into hibernation to the time he attempted to assassinate and escape, he would not even look at his target's throat during the entire process. However, he would be able to accurately lock onto and pierce through his target's throat.

There was even a chance for him to do so. He clearly wanted to stab his target's throat, yet he chose to stare at his target's heart. This caused the target's chest and heart muscles to instinctively spasm, thus raising their vigilance and misjudging the actions of the assassin.

When the target focused all of his defensive power on the heart, the assassin would take him by surprise and go straight for the throat.

In Meng Chao's previous life, Dragon City, a brilliant ghost assassin could even split more than ten fake and real killing intents at the same time, using them to hide the true killer move.

He also had a deep understanding of the mysteries of ergonomics and psychology. He could deduce the target from finding the assassin, to defending, to launching a counterattack, to calling for help... more than ten steps to change and respond one by one.

He was like a puppeteer who controlled everything. He was able to lead the target by the nose all the way, causing the target to unknowingly step into a trap where death was inevitable.

It was precisely because this assassination method was as unpredictable as the fog, mysterious and unpredictable to the extreme. That was why it was known as the "Strange assassination technique" and was widely spread on both sides.

In short, this was an assassination technique with a very distinct style. It could almost be considered as "One and only".

Therefore, at the moment when dozens of Wolf King's personal guards suddenly launched their attacks, Meng Chao felt that something was wrong.

These Wolf clan assassins stared at the left side with their fiery eyes, while their blood-stained sharp blades stabbed towards the right side as fast as lightning.

Their battle sabers were clearly slashing towards the neck of the fierce tiger warrior. For some reason, when the fierce tiger warrior tried to block in a flurry, the battle sabers seemed to have eyes. They could even predict the fierce tiger warrior's reaction, which was faster by half a beat, it appeared in advance on the path that they had to pass through.

If the totem armor of the Wolf clan assassin and the face of the fierce wolf were covered by the mosaic, Meng Chao would have thought that they were a group of ghost assassins from Dragon City in his previous life!

"How is that possible?"

"When they were lurking just now, they used the undead spell, and when they were killing people, they used the strange assassination spell?"

Meng Chao big puzzled, "These Wolf clan assassins, are my brothers in the black skeleton training camp!"

Meng Chao's first idea, is from the Dragon City civilization technology, has been leaked out, was "Jackal"kanus learned hand.

That's not surprising.

For the past half century, dragon city has been surrounded by psionic storms, monsters, and deadly mists.

But it's not completely cut off from the rest of the world beyond the Monster Mountains.

Whether it is the red dragon river or the raging Tiger River, the two rolling rivers, always mighty and unceasing, will come from the Dragon City, that is, from the Earth's industrial products and life, rushed downstream.

Meng Chao in black-corner City, Blood Skull Arena treatment room, saw witch doctor used to store secret medicine carbonated beverage bottles, are plastic products of the Earth age.

Since the plastic bottles could travel down the river and come to Tulanze.

Of course, humans could do the same.

Since Meng Chao could travel down the river and fall into the Super Waterfall 'Guillotine'that was a kilometer away, he was lucky enough not to die.

Of course, other people could do the same.

Perhaps, a few years ago, a certain senior who was proficient in the 'undead technique'and the 'Strange Thorn Technique'fell into the raging Tiger River during an intense battle and ended up in Tulanze. He was exhausted, covered in wounds, and on the verge of death, when he was about to die, he was coincidentally picked up by "Jackal"kanus.

It sounded incredible, but it perfectly explained the high-end techniques used by the Wolf clan's assassins and another mystery that had puzzled Meng Chao for many days.

That was why "Jackal"kanus's individual combat strength was so strong?

One had to know that whether it was his benefactor, "Horn of destruction"Lexa, or the tiger clan's powerhouses, they all treated him like a puppet from head to toe.

No matter how loyal, hardworking, or even willing to die for their master on the surface, the masters wouldn't give him too much power.

From the fact that the lion and tiger clan had ordered the Wolf clan to attack the Great Horn Army, the intelligence of the Lion and Tiger clan's powerhouses such as the Horn of destruction, the platinum embrace, and the tooth of corrosion were all above the passing level, always on high alert against the wolves.

Canus the jackal could never have drawn enough power from them to threaten them.

So, the "Jackal" in the previous life, no, before he became a "Jackal,"he was just a small "Corpse-eating dog,"how exactly did he, in just half a year or even a few months, will rule Turanze for thousands of years of lions and tigers topple on the ground, become a whip world "Doomsday Wolf"?

Not to mention others, the Horn of Destruction Reyksa that Meng Chao had pieced together based on various rumors was already an invincible super warrior. In Dragon City, he was as powerful as the Einherjar Leizong.

Even if the jackal kanus could perfectly digest all the surrendered rats and had hundreds of thousands of iron-blood warriors who were not afraid of death.

Even “Horn of destruction”Lexa, who had been betrayed and was furious, could blow up his head in the midst of thousands of soldiers, right?

In his previous life, how could “Jackal”kanus kill all the super fierce people, including “Horn of Destruction”Lexa?

A lot of information said that “Jackal”kanus had obtained an ancient inheritance from tens of thousands of years ago in the process of exploring the temple, which was why he was able to create a miracle that soared to the sky.

Meng Chao had originally been skeptical of such a claim.

After personally exploring the not-so-old “Blood Skull Temple”, he was even more disdainful.

It was true that the Tulan civilization, which had a hundred times longer history than the Dragon City civilization, did indeed have a brilliant and prosperous civilization ten thousand years ago.

Part of the inheritance of the ancient Tulan civilization was indeed sealed in mysterious ancient temples.

However, not just anyone could extract, analyze, and digest these ancient inheritances.

Even with the strength of Meng Chao and ice storm, they were still in a perilous situation during the process of robbing the ancient inheritance of the blood skull temple.

If ‘Jackal’Kanus was really a puppet who only knew how to lick his boots, or if he was just a schemer with a good head and simple limbs, he would have been in a lost temple 800 years ago, reduced to ash soaked in pus and blood.

Now that “Jackal”kanus has successfully excavated a large number of lost temples,.

Where did the “First bucket of gold”that made him eligible for inheritance from these temples come from?

This question, once like a threatening mist, shrouded Meng Chao’s brain.

Until now, in the depths of the fog, finally revealed the first dazzling light.

However, the corner of Meng Chao’s mouth had only curled up three to five degrees before it froze and collapsed again.

His eyes were lost and he fell into an even greater confusion.

No, that was not right. He had thought wrongly.

Regardless of whether it was the undead technique or the strange thorn technique, they were all slowly formed and developed after the black skeleton training camp was established by the nine Super Enterprises of Dragon City and they began to create the 'Ghost Assassin'.

Just like the simplest three basic strength-generating techniques, they were all updated from version 1.0, to the invincible enhanced version, to the ultimate platinum decision version, and so on.

No matter if it was the undead technique or the sting technique, as far as Meng Chao knew, there were more than ten different versions.

Because Meng Chao was reborn and changed history, the Red Dragon Army's combat power and voice had greatly increased in Dragon City.

The nine super companies seemed to have not completed the integration of resources. They had established the "Black skeleton training camp" and created the "Ghost Assassin."

Naturally, the "Undead technique" and the "Strange thorn technique" did not exist. At most, they were just the rudiments of the martial arts laboratory.

Among them, the "Undead technique" was slightly better.

The principles of restraining one's breath, heartbeat, and body temperature, and hiding one's tracks, were basically discovered and honed. However, they had not been integrated and formed their own system.

After all, in the battle between humans and monsters, concealing one's whereabouts was an extremely important part.

Many universities, corporations, and transcendent families had poured a large amount of resources and energy into research in this area.

However, the strange thorn technique definitely hadn't been born yet, and it was hard to say if it even had a rudimentary form.

The reason was very simple. What was the separation of 'killing moves' and 'killing intent', calculating the changes of the target., capturing the target's mental state... those were the killing techniques used against carbon-based humanoid intelligent life forms that were almost the same as the humans on Earth.

During the Monster Wars, the enemies of the humans on Earth rarely had humanoid life forms.

Even if there were, they were still zombies.

When facing zombies and 'diamond nine-headed dragon' and other apocalyptic beasts, there was no point in studying their mental state!

However, even if the wolf assassins in front of Meng Chao hadn't reached the peak of their combat strength, the zombie technique and the strange thorn technique they used were relatively mature versions, they were the super combat martial arts that had been built after decades of fighting in a war between worlds, using countless blood, corpses, and broken bones.

Such an illogical thing was happening right in front of Meng Chao's eyes.

No wonder he, who boasted that he had seen through the future and had everything under control, was dumbfounded.

Could it be that there was another race from another world that possessed an assassination martial arts similar to the Dragon City Civilization?

No. Whether it was the Blood Moon clan, which was the most proficient in assassination in Tu Lanze, the bloodthirsty demon spirits living near the Eternal Night Abyss, the immortal lichs in the ancient yellow sand tomb, or those insidious and unpredictable fellows in the Abyss Demon Race, none of them were of this caliber..

"My eyes are playing tricks on me. I've remembered wrongly. Recently, I've recorded too much data into the depths of my brain through wireless brainwave transmission.. Is there a BUG in my brain?"

Chapter 1225: Fatal Embrace

A series of question marks danced on Meng Chao's cerebral cortex.

He did not have time to think about the illogical oddity, though, because the situation had already taken a hundred and eighty degree turn.

At first, neither Platinum Embrace nor Teeth of Corrosion had expected a large number of wolf assassins to lurk around them.

However, Platinum Embrace's elder brother, the Horn of Destruction, had been the first noble to discover and support Kanus, the Jackal.

Kanus, the Jackal had always considered himself the most loyal lackey under the Horn of Destruction.

Between the Lion and Tiger Clans, he naturally leaned toward the former.

After the wolf assassins rose up, they pounced on the fierce tiger warriors and killed them until their flesh and blood splattered everywhere. It was obvious that they were on the Lion Clan's side.

Platinum Embrace began to think quickly. His reaction speed was half a beat faster than Teeth of Corrosion's.

He roared and whipped his long hair. Eight light blades that resembled eight burning snakes were aimed at Teeth of Corrosion's four limbs, glabella, heart, abdomen, and crotch.

If the two of them were to fight one-on-one...

They would definitely not use such a fatal move that had a huge flaw.

Even if they were to use it, their opponent would have dozens of ways to dodge or even counterattack.

Even if they could not dodge, just the defensive power of their totem armor alone would be enough to cancel out most of the light blade's destructive power.

At most, they could cut seven or eight deep wounds through the totem armor to reveal the person's bones. They would not cause fatal damage to the flesh and blood.

In any case, the totem armor was made of a combination of hardness and softness. It was made of an unpredictable liquid metal-like material. As long as the material did not lose its vitality and swallowed enough resources, no matter how big the wound was, it would be able to heal in a few seconds. It would take a few minutes at most to heal perfectly.

The problem was that the surprise wolf assassin had entangled Teeth of Corrosion's hands and feet, distracting him as a result.

The holy water that originated from the land of Holy Light was more like a thick, shining sulfuric acid, constantly eroding and decomposing the surface of his totem armor.

Accompanied by a series of ear-piercing "chi chi" sounds, soon, his shiny armor was turned into pieces of scrap metal that were riddled with holes.

It was originally a move that Teeth of Corrosion would use.

He did not expect that someone would use it on him instead.

The strong scent of a wolf rushed into his nostrils. He realized that the situation was far beyond his control.

It was very likely that he and all the fierce tiger warriors would fall into a carefully planned and extremely dangerous trap.

It had become an impossible mission to hunt down Platinum Embrace.

The most important thing now was to save his own life!

Teeth of Corrosion's pupils contracted to its limit.

The joints of his legs released a series of crackling sounds, and the muscle fibers around his joints almost doubled in size in an instant.

Even the liquid metal-like substances that formed his totem armor kept surging toward his legs, immediately making them as thick as rocket propellers.

Teeth of Corrosion was just about to jump out of the encirclement without another care when Platinum Embrace's eight light blades arrived before him.

Together with the Wolf Clan assassin, they had covered all three hundred and sixty degrees of angles around him and blocked all escape routes.

Platinum Embrace's battle intent was akin to a volcanic eruption amongst the murderous intent that exuded from the several hundred Wolf Clan assassins' scarlet eyes. It simply gave Teeth of Corrosion the illusion of having his heart pierced by tens of thousands of arrows.

This ruthless man, who was infamous throughout the entire Gold Clan, made the most correct judgment within 0.01 seconds.

Instead of retreating, he advanced and charged at Platinum Embrace while he faced the eight light blades.

He tried to entangle himself with Platinum Embrace so that the situation would become completely chaotic. Only by using Platinum Embrace as his meat shield would he have a chance to kill his way out of the encirclement.

Among the hundreds of changes that Teeth of Corrosion had deduced in an instant, this was the only way to survive.

Unfortunately, he had underestimated a few things.

First, he had underestimated the Wolf Clan assassins' combat strength and the degree of their coordination.

Second, he had underestimated the density of the holy water that the Wolf Clan assassin had splashed on him and the speed at which it was destroying his totem armor.

Third, he had underestimated Platinum Embrace's hidden strength.

Lastly, and most importantly, he had forgotten that there was an extremely sharp spear stuck in Platinum Embrace's chest from the back to the front!

Clang! Clang clang clang!

The heavy weapons that the wolf assassins waved struck Teeth of Corrosion's back.

Without the purple fog's interference and the totem armor's buffer, the heavy weapons' destruction surged into Teeth of Corrosion's body. It made the fierce tiger warrior's neck even thicker than it had been a moment ago as a large amount of blood got stuck in his throat.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!

The eight light blades missed Teeth of Corrosion due to his high-speed dodging.

However, he paid the price of sustaining thousands of tiny cracks were invisible to the naked eye in his joints. The tendons next to his joints were also torn inch by inch, seriously affecting his subsequent movements.

Crack! Crack! Crack!

The arms of Platinum Embrace and Teeth of Corrosion were entangled like four giant pythons that had a deep hatred for each other.

Both of their bones and joints immediately emitted a series of exploding sounds that sounded like firecrackers being set off.

The thirty-six thousand tiny blood beads that seeped out of their thirty-six thousand pores dyed their tangled arms red.

This was the simplest and most violent kind of wrestling.

Their brute force had originally been evenly matched.

With the spear piercing through his chest, Platinum Embrace's strength had become even weaker.

The problem was that Teeth of Corrosion's totem armor had been corroded by holy water, and its various performance parameters were dropping at an astonishing speed. It was no longer able to provide its master with much offensive and defensive enhancement.

When Teeth of Corrosion realized that he had stepped into a trap, he had already lost the confidence that he was determined to obtain.

On the other hand, stimulated by his totem armor's enhancement and the chance of survival in a desperate situation, Platinum Embrace's strength exploded by 120%.

The difference was too great. In an instant, Platinum Embrace completely suppressed Teeth of Corrosion's arms.

Of course, it was impossible to kill his opponent with brute force alone.

To battle-level powerhouses like them, every piece of flesh on their body, including a single finger, a tail, and a feather, were all deadly weapons.

Teeth of Corrosion's eyes were covered in blood.

The determination of a warrior breaking his wrist appeared on his face.

He promptly made up his mind. He would jump out of the trap even if he had to tear his arms at the shoulders.

Unfortunately, his determination came too late.

Just as he was about to abruptly exert his strength and tear his arms apart to break away from Platinum Embrace's control...

Platinum Embrace released a shocking roar and pulled him into his arms. At the same time, the muscles and bones in Platinum Embrace's chest contracted violently as if a giant hand made of steel had grown out of his chest. He grabbed the spear that had pierced through his chest and stabbed Teeth of Corrosion's head fiercely.

If Teeth of Corrosion's totem armor had still been intact, the spearhead would have definitely graze the arc-shaped armor on his helmet, drawing sparks along the way and bouncing off his head.

Unfortunately, the holy water had already corroded his armor all the way to the helmet and its protective surface.

The holy water had corroded a hole that was neither too big nor too small at the position of his left eye.

So, the spear that had pierced through Platinum Embrace's chest followed this hole and easily pierced Teeth of Corrosion's left eye and brain.

Fresh blood dripped out the back of his head.

Teeth of Corrosion immediately began to twitch violently as if he had been struck by lightning.

The astonishing vitality of advanced orcs and battle-level powerhouses was on display.

Even though his left eye had exploded and his entire head had been pierced through by the spear, he did not die immediately. He did not even give up on struggling.

He still tried his best to bend his knees and hit Platinum Embrace's lower abdomen.

However, Platinum Embrace had already broken and let go of his opponent's arms.

With a bear hug, he put Teeth of Corrosion in a vice grip.

He exerted strength in his arms at the same time, and they were like red-hot iron rings that cut into a wooden barrel bit by bit.

As such, Teeth of Corrosion's arms, along with his chest, were tightened by Platinum Embrace.

His internal organs and even the bones in his chest were all squeezed into meat paste that spurted out from the bottom of his throat.

Platinum Embrace "hugged" him intensely while he simultaneously moved his pectoral muscles, causing the spear that had pierced through his chest and Teeth of Corrosion's brain to vibrate at a high frequency of several hundred times per second.

Platinum Embrace was already prepared. He gathered all his totem power near the core of the spear to protect his heart as much as possible.

The vitality of an advanced orc was ridiculously strong. Even if his heart was damaged, it would not be instantly fatal.

Teeth of Corrosion was caught off guard, and his left eyeball, as well as his brain, were stirred into a mess.

His eyeball, brain, lungs, heart, spinal cord... all suffered a devastating blow.

Even if the tiger ancestral spirit descended from the sky, he would probably die on the spot again.

Finally, a series of gurgling sounds came from Teeth of Corrosion's chest and abdomen. It was unknown whether he was wriggling or sighing.

Soon after, he stopped struggling.. His entire body collapsed in Platinum Embrace's arms and became completely still.

Chapter 1226: Still Have a Trump Card

Platinum Embrace's attack did not end with the death of the opponent.

He grinned hideously as he threw Teeth of Corrosion's rotten corpse high into the air. Eight light blades followed him closely, creating a crisscrossing net of light and ruthlessly cutting into the joints of the Teeth of Corrosion's hands and feet. In a literal sense, he tore this fierce tiger warrior, who had originally been on par with him, into thousands of pieces.

Broken limbs and bloody rain rained down on the remaining fierce tiger warriors.

These fierce tiger warriors were all scared out of their wits and their will to fight was completely gone.

The totem armor of the “Tooth of corrosion” was already corroded by the holy water, revealing its true form and hissing.

Sensing that the activity of their master’s cells had instantly dropped to zero, they could not be more dead. The fragments of the totem armor soaked in the holy water all struggled to turn into small mercury snakes, scrambling to escape from the body parts.

This scene of the fallen tree and the scattered monkeys made the fierce tiger warriors’ faces pale, and their psychological defenses completely collapsed.

The few remaining furious lion warriors were overjoyed, and their morale soared.

With the cooperation of the Wolf clan assassins, their momentum was like a rainbow, advancing with great speed. In a moment, they were like chopping melons and vegetables, chopping the fierce tiger warriors to the ground.

The entire process, with many changes, was complicated.

In reality, it was only a matter of a few breaths in a short minute.

In the blood-stained valley, what was still standing was only the heavily injured furious lion warrior who was panting heavily, and the mysterious Wolf clan assassin who was covered in totem armor.

“Damn it, now we have nothing to do.”

Ice storm muttered to herself.

Until now, she still did not fully trust Meng Chao’s judgment.

The main reason was that she could not imagine that “Jackal” kanus had such courage and appetite to turn against both the lion and tiger clans at the same time.

Combined with what she saw, ice storm guessed that “Jackal” kanus should have joined forces with the Lion clan and the Wolf clan under the instruction of “Horn of destruction” Lexa to deal with the Tiger clan.

It was more reasonable for the boss and the third brother to join forces to deal with the second brother.

The third brother was so ambitious that he wanted to kill the boss and the second brother together?

It was too risky.

No, it wasn’t risky. It was simply that he didn’t want to die fast enough.

They had been hiding here all this time because they wanted to see if there was a chance for them to benefit from the conflict.

Since all the fierce tiger warriors, including the teeth of corrosion, had been taken care of, and the furious Lion Warriors and the Wolf clan assassins were on the same side, what chance did they have?

However, the ice storm was secretly glad.

Fortunately, they were careful enough not to expose their existence.

Otherwise, no matter how much combat ability the platinum group had left, the unpredictable Wolf clan assassins alone would be enough to bring them fatal trouble.

However, Meng Chao had a different opinion.

He was still staring at the 'Platinum Arms' and the Wolf clan assassins below him.

At the same time, he was gesturing in the dark to prepare the ice storm for battle.

"They are not on the same side. The Wolf clan assassins are playing the trick of breaking the enemy one by one. First, they kill the 'tooth of corrosion', and then it will definitely be the 'Platinum Arms'!"

Meng Chao said confidently, "In the fierce battle just now, the Wolf clan assassins all displayed combat ability that was not inferior to that of the fierce tiger warriors.

"The fact that 'Jackal'kanus has created such a ferocious assassination team is enough to prove his disloyalty.

"Besides, since the assassins of the Wolf clan are so sharp, they should have helped the fierce tiger warriors and the furious Lion Warriors when they were fighting each other. In that case, there would have been fewer casualties on the side of the platinum group.

"However, they waited until both sides were exhausted, including the platinum embrace and the tooth of corrosion, before they jumped out to take advantage of the situation. How could a loyal lackey do such a thing?

"Right now, the platinum embrace has just experienced a life-and-death battle. Although he barely killed his opponent, he has lost too much blood and lacks oxygen in his brain. He hasn't figured out the reason yet.

"If I give him a little more time, he will definitely notice the strangeness of this team of wolf assassins and doubt the stance and motive of 'Jackal'kanus.

"And the wolf assassins will definitely not give him time to recover!"

Ice storm was slightly startled. She narrowed her eyes and once again observed the col that was covered with corpses.

As expected, after Meng Chao's reminder, she also discovered that the wolf assassins were respectful and fearful towards the 'platinum embrace' on the surface. They all went forward to salute and support him, and they all had a kind look on their faces, they wanted to treat the furious lion warriors who were seriously injured.

However, they still did not take off their totem armor.

At most, they lifted the masks under their helmets.

And from their position, they had also faintly surrounded all the furious lion warriors who were still alive, sealing off every escape route.

“Sure enough!”

Ice Storm’s pupils suddenly constricted. She said anxiously, “The Wolf clan assassins are sure to win. What should we do?”

Meng Chao understood what she meant.

If they wanted to take advantage of the situation, the prerequisite was that the snipe and clam were evenly matched. If they could kill each other, it would be difficult to determine who would win. Only then would there be a chance for a third party to take advantage of the situation.

However, from the looks of it, after throwing out the ultimate move, the last bit of totem power in his body had been completely squeezed out.

After the spear pierced through his chest, his heart and lungs were severely damaged.

He was in a rage just now, so his injuries didn’t have time to affect his combat ability.

Now that he had calmed down, his chest muscles were slightly relaxed. Strands of dark red and black blood were like small snakes that were wriggling along the spiral patterns on the spear. They were spurting out in circles and couldn’t be stopped no matter how hard he tried.

Such a ‘Platinum Embrace’ was definitely not an opponent that was meticulously planned, had the advantage of numbers, and had the ‘holy water’, a secret weapon that specialized in countering totem armors, to help the Wolf clan assassins.

Even on the side of the balance of life and death, with the addition of Meng Chao and ice storm, it was likely that they would not be able to change the one-sided outcome.

After all, this was the hinterland of the Wolf clan’s area of control. If Meng Chao and ice storm attacked, they would not be able to quickly end the battle. Instead, if they were to drag things out, they would not only have to face the Wolf clan assassins., there would also be thousands of soldiers and horses, including the Wolf clan’s heavy troops and the surrendered soldiers of the Great Horn Army.

What should he do?

If he attacked, he might very well attract trouble, and all his previous efforts would be wasted.

If he didn’t attack, the platinum embrace would definitely be killed.

Not only would the direct route to Lexa, the storm of destruction, be cut off, but Meng Chao wouldn’t be able to find out the truth about what had happened in Crimson Gold City through the platinum embrace.

I have to take this risk. It’s worth it

Meng Chao thought quickly and made a decision in an instant, “Things might not be as bad as we thought. After all, our goal is not to eliminate all the Wolf clan assassins. We are just running away with the platinum embrace right under the noses of the Wolf clan assassins!

“From this perspective, the more severely the platinum embrace is injured, the better. If it were not for the fact that he was seriously injured and had no other choice, how could the unparalleled, brutal man obediently follow us, two fellows of unknown origin, and tell us the whole truth

“Of course I know that.”

Ice storm said anxiously, “But —”

“There’s No ‘but’. We definitely have a chance.”

Meng Chao’s eyes flickered. “I bet, no, I’m sure that the platinum’s embrace still has a trump card. He’s still hiding his final battle strength!”

“What?”

Ice storm was greatly shocked.

“Don’t forget, he’s the current Lion King. He’s also the Golden Clan’s chief, the Horn of destruction, Lexa’s most valued younger brother.”

Meng Chao said, “As the strongest clan that has ruled Turanze for thousands of years, the golden clan naturally possesses many powerful and mysterious ancient weapons, totem secret medicines, and the like. They are the kind that can explode in an instant and increase one’s combat strength.

“There’s no reason for the platinum embrace to not bring a few of such good items with it, right?

“However, in the series of fierce battles just now, when did you see the combat strength of the platinum embrace explode to an abnormal level in an instant?”

Icestorm wanted to say something but stopped.

She wanted to say that Meng Chao’s reasoning was too far-fetched.

However, Meng Chao cut her off, he continued, “Also, since the platinum embrace has already fled all the way here, why didn’t he continue to flee and turn back to fight to the death? “Even if his mount died of exhaustion, he still had so many subordinates by his side that could delay the fierce tiger warrior’s pursuit, and he was alone in the Deep Mountains and forests, drilling into the chain of caves. Could it be that someone else could find him?

“Not to mention that high-ranking orcs are fearless warriors who advance without retreat. Since platinum embrace was able to escape all the way from Crimson Gold City to here, it was enough to prove that he was shouldering a mission that was more important than a heroic sacrifice. Otherwise, he could have died in crimson gold city.

“Since he disregarded the honor of a warrior and fled all the way here in a sorry state, but he chose to turn back and fight to the death, it proved that he must have a trump card that was enough to kill the tooth of corrosion.

“However, the value of this trump card is too high, or the price to pay is too high. Unless it’s absolutely necessary, we can’t activate it easily.

“As long as we can remind the platinum embrace to pay attention to the peculiarity of the wolf assassin and stimulate him to play his trump card, we might be able to stir up the water again. Then, we can take advantage of the situation and leave!”

Chapter 1227: Killing Intent Exposed in Advance

Even so, it was not easy to remind Platinum Embrace.

The furious lion warrior whose chest had been pierced by the spear was like a stiff statue. He knelt on one knee in his own pool of blood and panted in pain.

Every time he panted, a large pool of blood would flow out along the tip of the spear.

It seemed that if it were not for the support of the totem armor, he would not even be able to raise his head.

The Wolf clan assassins in the surroundings had already completed their deployment.

If the future didn't change, Meng Chao estimated that they would attack at the same time within ten seconds, making the name 'Platinum Embrace' disappear in the long river of history.

At the critical moment, Meng Chao had no time to think. He gathered his killing intent and tore apart the air in front of him. It turned into visible ripples and shot towards the forehead of the 'platinum embrace'.

Since the Wolf clan assassin would not reveal his killing intent until the very last moment, then Meng Chao would do it on their behalf.

Then, he would let Meng Chao leak it on their behalf!

Even if an expert like the 'Platinum Embrace' was heavily injured, he would still be very sensitive to the subtle changes in the surrounding environment, especially the killing intent from the enemy. In fact, he would be even more sensitive.

At the Instant Meng Chao opened his eyes wide, he immediately sensed that there seemed to be a deadly viper in the bushes not far away from the col opening its bloody mouth toward him, revealing its fangs that were still flowing with venom.

Of course, the platinum embrace did not know about the existence of the sniper class.

However, this did not stop the image of a green-skinned elf archer with sharp ears, surrounded by vines and weeds, quickly appearing in his mind, expressionlessly, he pulled open the short bow engraved with gorgeous patterns.

On the bowstring, the quivering arrow emitted a mysterious light similar to holy water. It seemed to be able to penetrate and erode everything it touched, including the soul of the platinum embrace.

The platinum embrace instantly broke out in cold sweat.

The joy and fatigue from killing the tooth of corrosion were all swept away.

Having entered a state of high alert, he immediately sensed a subtle abnormality from the position of the wolf assassin and the look in his eyes.

Furthermore, he used this change as the key to open the door of suspicion, linking all the suspicious points after the werewolf assassin appeared together.

“Platinum embrace”’s pupils suddenly contracted into two needle tips.

The two needle tips then exploded into two balls of raging flames.

Before the stunned werewolf assassins could react, “Platinum embrace” had already clenched his right fist and ruthlessly smashed it towards his chest, towards the wound where the spear had pierced through his chest.

An unbelievable thing happened.

Not only did the ‘platinum embrace’ not break the wound, more blood spurted out.

Instead, it seemed to have smashed the inside of the totem armor, something hanging on his chest.

Accompanied by a magnificent ‘buzz’ sound.

From the chest of the ‘Platinum Embrace’, a blinding light like the dawn burst out.

The brilliant light instantly surged through his entire body, as if he had put on a layer of crystal clear reactive armor outside of his totem armor.

The blood had almost dried up. The furious Lion Warrior, who could not even stand up, once again burst out an ear-piercing roar. It was unknown where he had overdrawn a brand new and barbaric power, like a furious lion.., jumping out from the depths of the trap, he suddenly jumped up.

“Swish, Swish, Swish, Swish, Swish, Swish!”

The eight light blades, which had already dimmed and drooped down, were once again injected with the violent and unparalleled totem power, and suddenly expanded.

Like eight burning whips embedded with thorns and blades, they were fiercely thrown at the eight wolf assassins closest to the platinum embrace.

The tip of the light blade dragged out afterimages and umbrella-shaped ripples — this was enough to prove that the speed of the light blade had broken through the speed of sound!

In order to win the trust of the platinum embrace so that they could stand at the best attacking position, these wolf assassins naturally could not stimulate their life magnetic field to the limit in advance and release the totem power that was strong enough.

In fact, they had to relax their muscles and nerves and could not gather the slightest bit of killing intent. Only then could they completely relax the vigilance of the “Platinum embrace”.

It was originally a foolproof arrangement.

After being exposed by Meng Chao in advance, it allowed them to step into the death trap that they had meticulously set up.

The “Platinum embrace”’s eight beams of light blades ruthlessly struck the chests of the eight Wolf clan assassins. Even with the protection of the totem battle armor, they were still struck until their sternum exploded and fresh blood spurted wildly, they flew out like withered branches in a hurricane.

No one had expected that such a shocking change would happen.

It was not until the eight Wolf clan assassins fell to the ground in a sorry state one after another, with the sounds of broken bones and blood spurting out, that the remaining Wolf clan assassins woke up from their dreams.

They were in a flurry, trying to fill in the gaps in their companions.

They had already played their trump card, overdrawing their lives in exchange for the temporary stabilization of their injuries and the rapid increase in their combat strength. How could the ‘platinum embrace’ let them have their wish again?

Before the Wolf Clan Assassins completed their encirclement, the ‘Platinum Embrace’ had already soared into the sky like a lion that had grown wings. Stepping on the elastic branches of the mandala tree around the col, it rose and fell a few times, it darted a distance of more than a hundred arms.

Meanwhile, the furious Lion Warriors, who were still on the ground and heavily wounded, also sensed the undisguised malice surging out of the Wolf clan assassins’ bodies.

They let out a final roar and fought to block the Wolf clan assassins. They did not hesitate to perish together and tangle with their enemies until they turned into burning fireballs to stall for time, they wanted the platinum embrace to escape dozens of arms’ distance!

Of course, the Wolf Clan Assassins also sensed Meng Chao’s unreserved killing intent.

Immediately, dozens of surprised and resentful gazes shot toward Meng Chao and the ice storm like burning icicles.

Meng Chao didn’t stop there. He jumped up and laughed weirdly. He waved his chain blade and chopped down seven or eight mandala trees as if he was harvesting wheat.

“Run!”

He said to the ice storm, “I think the platinum embrace is still in a good condition. There’s no need to rush to save him. He just needs to keep pace with the platinum embrace and make as much noise as possible to help him attract a few Wolf clan assassins and share his pressure.

“There’s no need to be nervous. The current situation is like a hunter who is exhausted and holding a rusty battle saber. He has encountered a wolf that is equally hungry and extremely weak deep in the mountains and forests. Neither of them knows the other’s background, and both of them are deeply afraid of the other.

“Although the Wolf clan assassins can call for reinforcements, they don’t know who we are exactly. It’s very likely that they will misjudge us as the reinforcements of the Lion clan or the tiger clan. The longer we hold on, the more nervous they will be, and they will definitely reveal a flaw!”

Before he finished speaking, seven or eight Wolf clan assassins had already pounced towards where the two of them were hiding.

After the remaining Wolf Clan Assassins finished off the last enraged lion warrior, they chased after the soaring platinum embrace.

Meng Chao and icestorm naturally wouldn't clash head-on with the Wolf clan assassins. The two of them had already discussed a simple strategy between the two of them. They would split up into two groups and rely on the dense forest to calmly deal with the Wolf clan assassins.

Before this, the two of them had already brought along the ancient Dream Saintess. They had spent a few days in this area and had gained a rather deep understanding of the surrounding terrain.

Their combat strength was already a notch higher than the Wolf clan assassins.

Under the circumstances where the enemy's situation was unknown, the Wolf clan assassins didn't dare to split up into several groups and surround and block them. Otherwise, they would be easily defeated by them.

The seven or eight Wolf clan assassins could only stick together. While their own safety was guaranteed, their tracking speed was greatly reduced.

Whether it was Meng Chao, the ghost assassin who was proficient in the "Undead spell" and the "Strange stab technique" from his previous life, or ice storm, the witch's daughter who had been hunted by the night watchmen for more than ten years in the land of Holy Light, they were all escape experts, how could it be so easy to be caught by them?

The two quickly shook off the pursuers and went their separate ways.

Ice storm sensed that the "Platinum embrace" had overdrawn its vitality, and the flames of war that burst forth, as well as the traces that he had rampaged all the way and could not erase in time, chased after her from the flank.

At the same time, he sprinkled tracking powder along the way so that Meng Chao could meet her at that time.

However, after going in a big circle, Meng Chao made a comeback and returned to the Col where the blood had not yet dried up.

As he had expected, he charged out from the side and overthrew the entire plan of the Wolf Clan Assassin.

He had to chase after the "Platinum Embrace", as well as himself and the ice storm. The Wolf Clan Assassin's military strength was stretched to the limit and could not spare even half an assassin to guard the corpses and the totem armors from the lion and tiger clans, they were disintegrated into fragments and took the initiative to peel off the totem armors from the dead.

Of course, even if two or three wolf assassins were left behind to guard the corpses and Totem armor.

Meng Chao was confident that he could kill them all in a breath's time!

Chapter 1228: Take It With You

Meng Chao's goal was the totem armor.

Almost all the furious lion warriors, tiger warriors, and wolf assassins wore high-level armor that had hundreds or even thousands of years of history. Their armor had been infused with the combat experience of the orc warriors of past generations.

It was originally valuable enough to cause a bloodbath and allow the advanced orcs to fight each other and beat each other to death.

However, due to the sudden change, it was scattered in the entire valley and became trash that could be obtained at any time.

Although the owner of these totem armors had already died and was even torn into pieces.

However, the broken pieces of the armor that were slowly falling off and escaping from the corpses still retained a strange activity.

The sunlight penetrated the blood mist that filled the air above the valley and turned into an unpredictable scarlet sea. As it shone on the broken pieces of the armor, ripples that seemed like breathing appeared.

It made these armor fragments look like minced leeches, soaked in a pool of blood, and slowly squirmed.

Walking among the thousands of armor fragments, Meng Chao had an extremely strange feeling.

The sunlight was reflected and disintegrated by the curved surface of the armor fragments, turning into a demonic dance halo that pierced through his retina. It seemed to interfere with his brain waves, causing him to have auditory hallucinations and hallucinations.

Through these halos, he seemed to see tens of thousands of horses galloping, galloping unhindered, sweeping through thousands of troops, making contributions... scenes that no warrior could resist.

He also heard roars, shouts, screams, the sound of swords clashing, the sound of Warhammers and battle axes hitting the shield and even the city gate.

This sound was enough to make any high-level Beastman's blood boil, unable to control themselves.

They would then be deeply attracted by the totem battle armor, unknowingly walking over and putting on a certain set of totem battle armor that matched their brainwaves the most, becoming the owner or slave of the totem battle armor., carrying out the will of the totem battle armor, throwing themselves into the next even more intense battle.

Of course, this kind of routine was completely ineffective to Meng Chao, who had seen it before.

He had long known that totem armors were not ordinary metals or cold, dead objects.

Instead, they had their own "Thoughts", or at least "Programs" that simulated thoughts.

Such programs were not under the master's control.

They would also continuously emit strange psionic ripples to simulate the brainwaves of carbon-based creatures, attracting carbon-based creatures to fuse with it.

And when more and more totem armor fragments condensed together in the form of liquid metal-like substances.

Their common "Killing program" would become more and more powerful, and thus exert a stronger interference on their master.

Meng Chao's totem armor had already absorbed too many fragments, upgrading to the limit that he could temporarily control.

In a short period of time, if there were no special circumstances, Meng Chao did not plan to upgrade his totem armor to a higher level and more dangerous level.

Moreover, they had only made a time difference and temporarily transferred the Wolf clan assassin away.

It would not be long before the Wolf clan assassin would realize his mistake and return here to pack up all the spoils of war that covered the col. then, they would destroy the corpse and leave no traces behind.

If at that time, Meng Chao was still peeling and packing up the totem armor fragments on the ground, it was inevitable that he would be entangled by these crazy dogs with an exceptionally sharp sense of smell.

Therefore, Meng Chao resisted the temptation of the totem armor fragments on the ground. He looked straight ahead and came before a dismembered corpse.

It was the corpse of the tooth of corrosion, the top ten battle group-level powerhouse of the Gold clan.

That's right. In the entire valley, the totem armors of all the other Orc warriors were not worth Meng Chao's time and increased risk.

Only this set of totem armors with a notorious reputation was worth it.

Originally, Meng Chao's combat strength, which was barely at the threshold of the "Godly state", was not enough to come into contact with this super totem armor that only battle group-level powerhouses were qualified to wear.

Under normal circumstances, as long as he touched the surface of this totem armor, it was highly likely that he would be corroded by the poisonous fog that was shot out, or he would be bombarded by the information flow that was like a flood or a fierce beast, his consciousness was dragged into the battlefield thousands of years ago, and he was subjected to an extremely cruel and endless trial.

Even if he did not die on the spot, his mind and flesh would be greatly shocked. At least for three to five hours, or even a few days, he would be in a state of being muddled and at the mercy of others.

Meng Chao was very self-aware.

He knew the consequences of swallowing an elephant with a snake.

But now, there was an unexpected advantage.

That was holy water.

Holy water was not water.

If one had to use the concept of dragon city civilization to define it, it was probably acid with super corrosive properties and super stabilizer.

That's right, corrosion and stability, two completely different characteristics, surprisingly merged in this shiny, crystal clear, viscous liquid.

Take the 'tooth of corrosion' in front of him as an example.

This set of super armor, which contained the violent and unparalleled totem power and countless terrifying legends, had already turned into fragments after being decomposed by the holy water.

However, when the corrosion and decomposing power in the holy water reached a certain level, it automatically released the power of stability and suppression.

No matter how violently the pieces of the 'Tooth of corrosion' shook and hissed, they were like mercury bugs trying to escape in all directions.

The holy water that had been contaminated with them all along locked onto them and suppressed them.

The effect was simply better than the organs of the monsters stored in the mithril stabilizer.

This was literally 'when the snipe and clam fight, the fisherman gains the benefit'.

If Meng Chao did not seize the opportunity, even the gods and demons would not forgive him.

He hurriedly pulled out a thin, soft skin bag from behind him.

This skin bag was the spoils of war that he and Ice Storm had obtained by chance when they broke out of the encirclement of the Wolf Cavalry the day before yesterday.

It was unknown what kind of ferocious totem beast they had peeled off, and how much secret medicine they had used to soak and tan it.

It was only the size of a fist, and there was no problem stuffing it at his waist. However, when it shook in the wind, even a strong Beastman could fit it. Moreover, it was not afraid of being hacked by knives and axes, and it was extremely magical.

Although in theory, the totem armor fragments could be incorporated into the flesh of carbon-based creatures.

However, Meng Chao obviously would not allow his delicate body to be tainted by the "Teeth of corrosion".

Not to mention that many pieces of his armor were stained with holy water.

Through the memory fragments from his previous life, Meng Chao vaguely remembered that the so-called 'holy water' did not seem to be a one-time consumable.

As long as enough spiritual energy was injected into it, the holy water that seemed to be dim and dry would also regain its vitality and shine again.

Of course, how to recharge the holy water was a top secret of the land of Holy Light. It was not something that a mere ghost assassin could know about in his previous life.

In short, Meng Chao carefully stored the fragments of the 'tooth of corrosion' and the holy water that was dimming and drying up on it into his leather bag.

This thing contained immeasurable combat ability and scientific research value. Regardless of whether he was equipped or not, he could use it to trade for astronomical cultivation resources.

Even if he could not take it with him for a while, he could still find a cave to bury it. It was a trump card that was neither too big nor too small.

After everything was done, Meng Chao took a deep breath and carefully identified the faint scent of tracking powder in the air. Then, he chased after the direction of the ice storm.

In fact, there was no need for tracking powder at all.

Because he was seriously injured and on the verge of collapse, he had to rely on his last trump card to forcefully stimulate the dried cells and broken nerves all over his body and release the last wisp of active 'Platinum Arms'. It was like a train that was burning out of control, he rampaged through the depths of the forest without any strength left to cover his tracks.

Meng Chao was still three to five miles away. He could hear the rumbling sound of the collapse of the mandala tree and the earth-shattering roar of the 'Platinum Embrace' coming from the depths of the forest.

Hundreds of arms away, he could see a burning white flame dashing toward the northwest.

The Wolf Clan Assassins chased closely from both sides.

Although they weren't too far behind their target.

However, facing this enraged lion that had fallen into a state of madness, these people who had received harsh training in the secret base and had a 95% elimination rate had long since frozen their central nervous system. Even if a sharp blade pierced through their eyeballs., they might not even blink, but they still had an extreme headache.

The Platinum Embrace's extreme overdraft ability had greatly exceeded their expectations.

And the instant before they completed the encirclement and attacked, they were interrupted by an inexplicable killing intent, which made them feel even more vexed.

No matter what, when the platinum embrace continued to charge forward, it stretched the battle line, preventing dozens of Wolf clan assassins from attacking him at the same time.

Trying to use the strength of three to five Wolf clan assassins to keep this battle group level powerhouse, it was truly difficult to ascend to the heavens!

Chapter 1229: The Dance of Prediction

After forcefully making their move, they were counterattacked by Platinum Embrace, which left behind three corpses.

The Wolf Clan assassins could only hang behind the Platinum Embrace, trying to chase him away from the Wolf Clan's heavy cavalry or the camp where the Great Horn soldiers who have surrendered were stationed.

After all, this area was under "Jackal" Kanus' control. As long as they crashed into any camp, facing hundreds and thousands of battle elite soldiers, no matter how much Platinum Embrace struggled on his deathbed, it was just the bottom of the barrel.

At the same time, such harassment and drive, but also can maximize the consumption of "Platinum embrace" vitality and totem power.

All the assassins realized that whatever the trump card of platinum embrace was, this state of extreme overdraft and backwardness could not last for long.

Therefore, there was no need for the Wolf clan assassin to fight him head-on. As long as he could deal with him for a moment or two, or even less, it was very likely that the "Platinum embrace" would ignite a raging flame from the depths of his genes and burn himself into a pile of ashes.

Of course, there was a crucial prerequisite for this plan to be 100% successful.

That was that there would be no interference from the unexpected factor of Meng Chao.

The platinum embrace was not familiar with the terrain of this area.

It did not know where the high mountains and dense forests were, where the hiding places were filled with stone pillars and caves; where there was a vast wilderness with no place to hide; and where the camps of elite troops were stationed.

Like blind men and blind horses, they galloped on the cliffs.

It was only a matter of time before they fell into the Abyss and were smashed to pieces.

However, Meng Chao and the ice storm had already been dealing with the wolf cavalry in this area for several days. In order to hide the existence of the ancient Dream Saintess, they naturally paid special attention to the remote corners.

Therefore, when Meng Chao and the "Platinum embrace" were driving side by side, they found that the other party was like a headless fly, rushing toward a camp where the surrendered soldiers of the Great Horn Army were stationed, he immediately shouted without hesitation, "There's danger ahead! To the left! Head Southeast!"

Deep in the dense forest, the 'platinum embrace's flames of battle instantly stopped.

This golden clan's battle group level powerhouse, who could be counted on one hand, seemed to be thinking about the credibility of Meng Chao's words.

However, his chest was still pierced with a spear, and his condition was extremely terrible. He could not help but grab onto his last life-saving straw.

Moreover, if the Wolf clan assassin really wanted to capture him or kill him, there was no need for him to play such a boring trick. As long as he continued to chase him, even if there was no danger ahead, he would die from exhaustion.

Thus, a moment later, the platinum embrace resolutely changed its direction. Amidst the Wolf Clan Assassin's cries of alarm and anger, it charged towards the southeast.

Of course, in this way, Meng Chao also exposed his existence in front of the Wolf clan assassins.

A fishy smell immediately rose in the surroundings.

A few Wolf clan assassins gave up on the platinum embrace and charged toward Meng Chao.

They looked at their ghostly figures under the cover of the dense forest.

A strange sense of familiarity appeared in Meng Chao's heart once again.

No, it wasn't an illusion. He was almost certain that these Wolf clan assassins were using the undead technique and the strange stab technique.

Through the rhythm of their breathing and heartbeats, as well as the killing intent of their feints, Meng Chao could practically predict the direction and pattern of their attacks.

Out of the Blue, Meng Chao took a light step to the left and bent his elbow, placing the blade outside his elbow.

On the contrary, there was a wolf clan assassin on his right. His killing intent turned into visible ripples. The ripples turned into a high-speed spiral and stabbed towards his right eye.

If it were anyone other than Meng Chao, they would probably subconsciously protect their right side.

Otherwise, they would be pierced from their right eye to their right brain by the Wolf clan assassin.

However, just as Meng Chao allowed the opening on his right side to open wide and bent his left arm, the aggressive Wolf clan assassin suddenly disappeared and teleported to Meng Chao's left side.

Then, he crashed into the blade and iron elbow on Meng Chao's left side.

"Puchi!"

"Crack!"

The breastplate and the breastbone caved in deeply together. The spiritual energy invaded and destroyed a large number of organs that were curled up in the chest like flames. The eyes of the wolf assassin instantly popped out and gradually dimmed, they were filled with disbelief, as if he would never have thought that Meng Chao could predict his unpredictable attack route.

Two more Wolf clan assassins emerged from the shadows behind them.

Based on their footsteps, killing intent, and the turbulence caused by the release of totem power, Meng Chao instantly sketched out their attack images in his heart.

This wasn't a desperate fight.

It was a one-way transparent teaching match.

Or rather, it was Meng Chao leading the two marionettes, stepping on blood-stained steps, and performing a dance of death as he wished.

When the two wolf assassins inexplicably "Took the initiative to collide" with Meng Chao's blade.

The remaining wolf assassins finally realized that this ordinary-looking guy in front of them was likely an even more troublesome existence than the platinum embrace.

They let out a series of rhythmic wolf howls in the depths of the dense forest.

They didn't dare to go forward and throw their lives away, so they could only hang on at a distance.

At this moment, the ice storm not far away also took advantage of the Wolf Clan Assassin's uncertainty to kill one of the pursuers, making the pursuers even more uncertain about their background.

Not far ahead, the mountain gradually rose. The precipitous mountain rocks were like iron walls, blocking everyone's path.

"Platinum embrace" let out a shocked and angry roar.

"There's a path there, right in front of you!" Meng Chao shouted again.

Indeed, when the platinum embrace reached the end of the forest, it discovered that between the steep mountain rocks that seemed to be made of iron, there seemed to be an invisible giant axe that had split open a winding path.

The path was only as wide as a person. Both sides were steep cliffs, and there was a thin line-like sky above their heads.

If a team of elites were to be ambushed here...

Even a battle group level powerhouse would probably be riddled with holes by the swords, spears, and halberds that descended from the sky.

The problem was that the Wolf clan assassin had never thought that the platinum embrace would escape so far. He had never thought that under Meng Chao's guidance, he would discover the line of heavens hidden in the depths of the dense forest.

He heard the wolf howls of Fury and shock from the pursuers behind him.

The platinum embrace had no other choice. Gritting his teeth, he squeezed into the line of heaven.

Meng Chao and ice storm were also ahead of the wolf assassin, entering one after another.

The ice storm moved as fast as lightning, leaving behind a crystal clear cluster of ice.

It was like an intersecting icicle blocking the path of the wolf assassin.

After entering the line of heaven, she shot out a large amount of ice fog, completely freezing the narrow path.

The Wolf clan assassins were both angry and anxious, and they bombarded the ice layer indiscriminately.

However, even if the ice layer broke apart and became sharper after it broke apart, it still slowed them down greatly.

Taking advantage of their helplessness, Meng Chao, the ice storm, and the 'Platinum Embrace' had already passed through the 'Frontline Heaven'.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom! Boom!

The moment they passed through the 'line of heaven', Meng Chao brandished his two heavy flaming sabers, 'Skull Crusher', and stabbed them deep into the rocks on both sides of the 'line of heaven' exit. Through the frenzied surging of spiritual energy, the rocks that weighed tens of thousands of tons collapsed and completely blocked the narrow path.

The dust that soared into the sky was like a mushroom cloud that slowly blossomed, causing the area within a radius of several kilometers to be in a state where one could not see one's fingers.

It was only at this moment that Meng Chao heaved a sigh of relief.

"Put away your totem battle armor and don't reveal even the slightest bit of totem power."

He turned around and said to the 'Platinum Embrace' who had tightened his spine and was filled with vigilance, "Follow me, this is your last chance."

..

In the depths of the dense forest between the mountains, at the bottom of the interconnected cave.

"Platinum embrace" held onto his chest that had lost too much blood and was gradually shriveling up. His gaze was still as sharp as a blade as he looked around vigilantly.

This cave was like a garbage dump.

It was filled with the junk that Meng Chao and ice storm had picked up from the chaos that had caused the collapse of the great horn army.

The war flags that were riddled with holes, the food that was covered in mud, and the inferior herbs that were emitting a pungent smell. "Platinum embrace" was unable to get a clear picture of Meng Chao and ice storm through these junk.

His eyes then shifted to Meng Chao and ice storm.

The two of them still used the dyes that Meng Chao had concocted to change the color of their hair and skin, disguising themselves as rat subjects.

Although the dyes were gradually burnt out by the spiritual energy after a series of fierce battles, their hair and skin became mottled and colorful.

However, the rat subjects were originally mixed-bloods mixed with the characteristics of the major clans. They had all kinds of weird appearances, the platinum embrace couldn't guess their origins for a while.

When Meng Chao took off the leather bag from his shoulder and poured out the fragments of the tooth of corrosion, the pupils of the platinum embrace suddenly contracted into the tip of a needle.

He subconsciously lowered his head and looked at the high-level totem armor on his body that was on the same level as the tooth of corrosion. He was very worried about the ownership of his ultimate equipment.

However, a series of coughs, along with the blood that sprayed out from the coughs and the intense pain that felt like his heart was about to explode, dispelled all of his wild thoughts..

Chapter 1230: The Power of Truth

Platinum Embrace knew that he was going to die.

Whether it was the spear that had pierced through his chest and torn his heart apart, or his blood and flesh that were drying up due to overexertion, or his nerves, blood vessels, and muscle fibers that were gradually decaying after being penetrated by Teeth of Corrosion's totem power...

All of this meant that his life could only be calculated in units of "moments."

Even if he was soaked in the thickest secret medicine and treated by the most powerful witch doctor and priest of the Gold Clan, he would not be able to see the sun rise tomorrow.

Therefore, his struggle had become meaningless.

The only thing he could do was to try his best to continue the mission that could prolong the life and death of the Lion clan after he died.

With this thought in mind, the platinum embrace's gaze shifted from Meng Chao and icestorm to the depths of the cave.

There was another person lying in the depths of the cave.

She seemed to be in a high fever and was unconscious. Her body was wrapped in seven or eight layers of bedding. She was still convulsing and groaning indistinctly.

The platinum embrace could not see this person's face clearly.

However, he could feel that her brain was like a furious volcano that was constantly releasing violent waves.

The invisible waves were like raging waves that crashed into the skull of the 'Platinum Embrace'. Even with the protection of the helmet and mask, it still gave him a splitting headache, and illusions appeared before his eyes.

It was strange. From the perspective of the 'Platinum Embrace', he should not have seen the person's back facing him and his face in the depths of the cave.

But in his trance, he clearly saw the man wearing a golden armor. He looked solemn, holy, and majestic, like a crystal statue.

In the next moment, the golden statue cracked and disintegrated, turning into a woman whose head was unbelievably big, ugly, ragged, and as humble as dust.

When he blinked for the third time, the 'Platinum Embrace' saw the eyes of 'Jackal'kanus on the woman's face. In the eyes of the wolf, which were as red as ink, there was undisguised ambition.

That's right, it was ambition. The platinum embrace had never seen anything in the eyes of this loyal lackey.

"How could this be?"

The platinum embrace was shocked.

He immediately realized that he was hallucinating.

As a first-rate expert of the furious Lion Clan, the platinum embrace had naturally come into contact with a large number of mysterious priests.

These priestesses all had the ability to see through the soul and create illusions.

However, even though this curled-up woman was clearly in a deep coma, she was still able to disrupt his brain in an instant.

It seemed that her strength was even stronger and purer than the priestesses of the lion and tiger clans.

Such a strange thing was something the platinum embrace had never encountered before.

"Who are you people?"

He could not hold it in any longer and could not help but ask, "Why did you save me?"

"We are members of the great horn army, rat people who rebelled against the rule of the five great clans."

Meng Chao took a deep breath and withdrew his totem armor. He opened his arms and exposed his chest and heart to the attack range of the platinum embrace.

The ice storm beside him could not help but widen his eyes.

He was sweating for his recklessness.

In theory, until now, the Great Horn Army and the five great clans were still mortal enemies.

If it were any other time, if the 'Platinum Embrace' had bumped into a member of the Great Horn Army, he would definitely not have minded. He would not have added any seasoning and would have swallowed the poor rat citizen alive.

However, Meng Chao insisted on being honest with the platinum embrace.

He believed that the other party wouldn't act impulsively.

It wasn't just because everyone could see that the platinum embrace was on the verge of dying. There was no point in dragging a few rat citizens to die with him. The final pride of the high orc nobles wouldn't allow him to do so.

Furthermore, Meng Chao knew that the platinum embrace was filled with confusion over the sudden betrayal.

And he was the only one who could solve the confusion before the "Platinum embrace" died.

As expected, the "Platinum embrace" was like a statue that was covered in icicles. After being stiff for more than half a minute, a weak sigh finally came from the depths of the armor.

He also imitated Meng Chao and took off his totem armor, revealing his body that was dyed a deep red by the dried blood.

"Do you know who I am?"

It was not a question, but a confirmation. The loose skin on the 'platinum embrace's face drooped down, covering the killing intent that originated from the Fury Lion bloodline, making him look like a drowning dog that had lost its way, he muttered, "Aren't you afraid of being killed by me, or even the great horn army being destroyed?"

"It doesn't matter anymore."

Meng Chao said calmly, "Because five days ago, the great horn army was destroyed by 'Hu Lang'kanus. To be more precise, it was 'annexed'."

"What?!"

The Platinum Group was shocked and cried out involuntarily.

It seemed that Hu Lang kanus had indeed failed to inform the lion and tiger clans in Crimson Gold City about the important military information that could change the ruling order of Turanze.

As a result, the surrendered soldiers of the Great Horn Army had been reorganized and obeyed the orders of "Jackal". Today, the "Platinum embrace" still knew nothing about this.

As the brother of the great chief of the gold clan, the "Platinum embrace" was obviously not a simple-minded boor with strong limbs.

He took a deep breath, closed his eyes, and thought quickly. When he opened his eyes again, his gaze had become clear and clear.

"What's going on?"

The noose of death tightened around his throat. His face was so pale that there was no color in it, and it was extremely difficult for him to breathe.

However, as his life force was rapidly draining away, his expression became calm as he muttered, "Even if the great horn army is just a motley crew, there's no reason for them to completely collapse within a few days. What exactly happened five days ago?"

"We are not too sure about the details. All We know is that many warriors and priests of the Great Horn Army went crazy on a dark night, and the ancient Dream Holy Maiden was assassinated."

Meng Chao briefly explained what had happened in the past few days to the 'Platinum Embrace'.

Other than his real identity and the methods that he used to rescue the ancient Dream Holy Maiden, he did not tamper with or hide anything else.

After all, the truth was the most powerful. If he wanted to gain the trust of the platinum embrace in the few hours before his death, he had to be open and honest.

Therefore., meng Chao didn't even hide anything. "This is the SAINTESS. We saved her by chance, but because of the bloody battles, her brain was severely damaged, her soul was consumed, and she fell into a deep coma. We couldn't wake her up no matter how hard we tried.

"We could only hide her here in the hope that we could avoid the enemy's search.

"Without the call of the SAINTESS, we no longer have any power to stop the collapse of the Great Horn Army.

"Within three to five days, most of the rat soldiers surrendered to 'Jackal'kanus, and a few warriors who were unwilling to surrender broke out of the siege and headed south, hoping to return to their nest.

"As for why we saved you, well, of course, we know who you are and that you are an enemy of the Great Horn Legion.

"However, the enemy who personally destroyed the Great Horn Legion is, after all, 'Jackal'kanus, and it seems that the subordinates of 'Jackal'Kanus are going to kill you.

"I don't know why they are doing this. I just don't want to let 'Jackal'kanus get what he wants.

"Jackwolf is our mortal enemy, and you're also the mortal enemy of 'Jackwolf.'then, perhaps, the mortal enemy of our mortal enemy might have a chance of cooperating?"

"At the very least, before you die, can you tell us some information so that we know how to escape and create more trouble for 'Jackwolf'Kanus?"

The platinum embrace stared at the unconscious ancient Dream Saintess for a long time.

He was filled with emotions. Before today, he never dreamed that he would meet the culprit who caused the great horn rebellion in such a situation.

"Platinum embrace"tried its best to find the flaws and contradictions in Meng Chao's words.

However, the more he thought about it, the more he felt that the information Meng Chao told him and the shocking changes that happened in Crimson Gold City in the past few days, as well as the strange sensations he sensed after he went deep into the area controlled by "Hu Lang"kanus.., they could be perfectly matched.

Moreover, the violent ripples that were constantly being released from the depths of the ancient Dream Saintess'brain were something that could not be faked no matter what.

Other than the witch who had wreaked havoc on the entire map, who else could plant so many vivid illusions into the brain of the 'platinum embrace'in such a short period of time?
