Chapter 1151: Chapter 1,150, loyalty and loyalty - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1151 - Chapter 1151: Chapter 1,150, loyalty and loyalty

Councilman Leon sighed softly. “200 million? It does seem like a lot. However, Donglong Company is at the end of its rope, and they are seriously short of manpower. They should throw everything they have at them and offer a huge reward... otherwise, who would be willing to work for them at such a disadvantage?”

Yu Tian said, (‘I don’t care if they’re selling everything they’ve got. I only know that I can earn quite a lot from this operation...’)

“How much did you earn?”

“So far, I’ve spent less than a million in all the operations. The expenses are mainly for the travel expenses to the wind country. “The rest of the money is the net profit that I earned... it’s almost two hundred million net profit.”

Yu Tian said proudly, “If there’s another wave of action, the higher-ups will add more funds. Not to mention those profits, I don’t even need to spend the fare, it’s all net profit...”

“You’re really good at making money.

Councilman Leon interrupted, “But the money of the East Dragon Company... You Won’t be able to earn it for long. Your current actions will only accelerate the destruction of the East Dragon Company. When that time comes, you ‘ll have to find another owner.”

Yu Tian waved his hand impatiently. “You keep saying the same thing... let me tell you, the East Dragon Company will not fail. “As long as Pm here, all the enemies of the East Dragon Company will be killed by me...”

“I’m not doubting your combat ability. The two of you barged into my club and killed all our bodyguards in one or two minutes...

Councilman Leon sighed and said, “This is enough to prove that you are indeed very strong... but no matter how powerful the gun is, it has to aim at the target in order to display its proper power.

“Why didn’t I aim at the target? Didn’t I capture you? This is called Operation Decapitation. How can it be more accurate than our actions?”

“Then what about after this? After the operation in dusk city is over, where is your next target?”

“Our next target...”Yu Tian paused for a moment. “How could we tell you our next target?”

Councilman Leon smiled. “I’m just a prisoner and a prisoner. Why Can’t you tell Yu Tian pretended to be speechless and rolled his eyes. “You’re just a captive. Why do you need to know so much? As for our target... naturally, there will be arrangements.

“You don’t have any arrangements because you won’t be able to find a target to kill next...”

Councilman Leon completely ignored the itching on his body and said slowly, “Other than the situation in Dusk City, you won’t know anything about Kronin.

Yu Tian shrugged. “It doesn’t matter. We’ll find out sooner or later, just like how we found you.

“It’s different. You were able to find us in Twilight City because we took action against Donglong Company. “Because we were in a hurry, we didn’t have time to mobilize other forces. We could only expose myself and use official forces to complete these arrests...”

Councilman Leon finally revealed some not-so-secret information, but none of it was of much value.

He continued to speak slowly, “However, this matter ends here. Next, you won’t be able to find any clues about the clone society...”

Yu Tian said, “We still have you and a lot of information that we found from your home...”

Councilman Leon said, “That’s useless. I don’t have any information about the clone society at home, and I won’t tell you anything.

Yu Tian said impatiently, “That’s none of my business. The higher-ups will always make arrangements.

Councilman Leon smiled and said, “Now that you have been exposed, you can’t find where our people are. “You will be in a very passive situation. You, the remnants of the East Dragon Company, can’t hold on for long...”

Yu Tian shrugged. “Your mouth is really talkative. I don’t want to talk to you about these theories. Anyway, as long as I’m here, I’ll take as many people as you kronin will send.”

Councilman Leon shook his head. "You think things are too simple. Do you think your enemies are only us? Do you think that Kronin will definitely send his own people to fight you head-on? "Have you not thought that the wind nation's officials might send their troops over after you've caused so much trouble in Twilight City?"

"Well... "

Yu Tian had indeed not thought about these problems. He felt that Piggy Liang would always have a solution.

When councilman Leon saw that he was at a loss for words, he immediately laughed again. "Although you and your subordinates are very powerful, can you fight against the entire wind country's army? What good will it do you if you fight against the wind country's army?"

Yu Tian did not speak and continued to pretend to be speechless.

Councilman Leon felt that he finally had the upper hand in the argument. He said slowly, "Actually, after you finish this mission and receive the 200 million funding... There's no need to work for the Donglong Company anymore.

Yu Tian pretended to be a little angry and said, "You're thinking too much. We easterners are most particular about the word loyalty..."

Councilman Leon was instantly even happier. Usually, when the word loyalty was mentioned, it meant that his confidence had been shaken.

People who were truly loyal and had confidence would never mention this word.

Therefore, councilman Leon continued, Loyalty, I know. I know some of the Eastern culture. "I also know a lot of ancient Eastern sayings. For example, a good bird chooses a tree to roost in. A wise man submits to the circumstances. A gentleman does not stand under a dangerous wall. When a building is about to collapse, a tree is unable to support it. Husband and wife are birds in the same forest. When disaster strikes, they fly separately..."

Yu Tian was immediately amused. "You Old Man... you're quite familiar with eastern idioms.

Councilman Leon said unhurriedly, "It's alright. After all, I'm a civil servant. Since I don't have the strength to truss a chicken, I naturally have to learn some more knowledge..."

Yu Tian sighed. "You can be considered a talent. If you surrender to our East Dragon Company and help us stabilize the situation in dusk city... then you 'll definitely have a very high position in the East Dragon Company in the future. Your position will definitely be much higher than your position in the Kronin Society. "

Yu Tian's words could be considered as sincere. Although he did not know how capable councilman Leon was, he was quite a braggart.

If he could really surrender, he might be able to stay in the East Dragon Company and use it as an individual.

Councilman Leon smiled. "Hehehe, what makes you think that my position in the colony is very low? My current position is enough to give you a huge benefit... if you surrender.

Yu Tian said disdainfully, "Go ahead, you have been treated as a castaway, how high can your position be?"

Leon councilman is not anxious and not annoyed: "How did I become abandoned?"

Translator: 549690339

"Don't you know that you've been abandoned?"

Yu Tian stared at Congressman Leon strangely and said, "There are so many members of the clone society. Why do you have to take charge of this operation against the headquarters of the East Dragon Company? "As far as I know, you don't often stay in Twilight City, right? "Don't tell me that there are no other people in charge in Twilight City?"

Councilman Leon laughed. "Well, it doesn't matter if I tell you about this.

Anyway, our arrangement in Twilight City will be abandoned later... "

"We don't have much arrangement in Twilight City to begin with. Other than the title of councilman, I didn't waste too much energy on other things... otherwise, the position of mayor wouldn't have been occupied by that Idiot Edward.

"I come here for a few days every month because there are indeed no other leaders of the Kronin Association here, so I'm the most suitable person to host an emergency mission... This has nothing to do with the abandonment. " Yu Tian didn't believe all of Councilman Leon's words.

Perhaps the Kronin Association really didn't have too many manpower and material resources in Twilight City, but it was impossible to only have a senior member like Councilman Leon.

Not to mention the peripheral members, there would definitely be a few high-level or middle-level members.

Otherwise, when councilman Leon had to deal with some internal affairs, he wouldn't even have an assistant by his side.

However, the status and status of the other members shouldn't be as high as councilman Leon's.

Therefore, the person in charge of these operations was still councilman Leon.

Those people in the club had all been wiped out by Yu Tian.

However, Councilman Leon still covered up the matter of the organization members, which meant that there were still members in Twilight City. Moreover, this person was not a peripheral member, but a senior member.

Who could it be?

Such a senior member would definitely not be a street cleaner. That kind of identity was meaningless.

He must also be a figure of great importance in Twilight City. Otherwise, there was no need for councilman Leon to cover for him.

What other important figures in Twilight City did not appear in Councilman Leon's Club?

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then, he continued to bullshit with councilman Leon. "Alright, even if you are not an abandoned child. But your organization exposed you and didn't provide you with strong protection. In the end, you were easily captured by us... This proves that your organization doesn't pay enough attention to you."

Congressman Leon said helplessly, "The protection around me is already very strong, but you're just stronger. This is indeed a little beyond my expectations... why can't you surrender to us? "If you are willing to cooperate with me, I can guarantee that you will get more benefits than this.

Yu Tian smiled and said, "There is no reason for the winner to surrender to the loser."

MP Leon said, "You are a smart person. I have already explained the current situation to you. Your current victory is just an illusion. "Tomorrow, at the most, the day after tomorrow, the wind country's officials will launch a severe crackdown on you. "No country will allow such horrible behavior. Surrendering to me is your last chance.

"Last Chance? What can those garbage police do to me?"

"Perhaps your strength is enough to let you escape from dusk city alive, but... you don't really want to be a street rat, do you? "How can you enjoy the life of a rich man like that?" councilman Leon Sighed. "The dilapidated donglong company behind you certainly can't continue to exist. In the future, you still need to find a new owner or a new partner..."

Yu Tian felt that the time was right, so he scratched his head and asked,

“Working with you... What benefits can I get?”

An amiable smile appeared on Congressman Leon’s face. “There are many benefits. For example, operational funds... for a high-level talent like you, the funds we can give you will definitely be higher than Donglong Company’s! ”

“You’re just bragging. How can you give a few hundred million a year just like that? As far as I know, you guys are still doing genetic research, right? That thing is so expensive, and you guys still have so much idle funds?”

Yu Tian had a skeptical expression.

Congressman Leon smiled. “You know quite a lot... that’s right, we do have a large amount of funds to spend on scientific research, but our huge organization system also needs to spend close to ten billion a year to maintain. This is our basic guarantee...”

Close to ten billion?

Yu Tian was secretly surprised. After all, many of the world’s first-rate powerful countries only spent tens of billions of dollars a year on military expenditures.

The Kroni Society was just an underground organization. How could it have such a large amount of expenditure?

The amount of information contained in this was really not small.

Councilman Leon continued, “Although I have not personally witnessed your full strength, since the East Dragon Company is willing to spend a few hundred million for you every year, it proves that your combat strength is definitely worth this price... if Pm not wrong, you should have a lot of subordinates, Yu Tian shrugged. “Of course, more than you can imagine... it’s no problem to flatten Twilight City.

Councilman Leon nodded. “No wonder you dare to make such a big deal in Twilight City. It seems that the official forces of Twilight City really can’t do anything to You?”

Yu Tian smiled proudly. “That’s right. Even if you gather all the police in Twilight City, I can easily destroy them.”

Councilman Leon Sighed. “It seems that you are the last trump card left by the East Dragon Company... The strongest force of the East Dragon Company should be you, right?”

Yu Tian rolled his eyes. "Then I don't know. Anyway, my people will be in charge of this mission."

Councilman Leon smiled and said, "The rules of our Kronin Society have always been fair. As long as you have enough strength and contribute enough to the organization, the organization will never be stingy with money. "Not to mention a few hundred million, even a few billion might not be impossible. " Yu Tian sneered, "You are just saying that..."

Congressman Leon said seriously, "I don't need to lie to you. As long as you can let me go, I can transfer one hundred million to you immediately."

"One hundred million..." Yu Tian rubbed his chin and said, "This money is much faster than kidnapping..."

Leon smiled and said, "Of course, kidnapping is something that only a little thief would do."

Yu Tian scratched his head and said, "Then what if I let you go... And you run away? Then wouldn't I Have Nothing?" Leon laughed and said, "How could it be..."

Translator: 549690339

"Let me go first, I can transfer the money to you now."

Congressman Leon didn't look like he was joking at all.

Yu Tian thought for a moment, and he really took the silver needles from Congressman Leon's body and opened some acupuncture points on his body.

Now, except for the fact that Congressman Leon couldn't shout, he wasn't restricted by anything.

Of course, under Yu Tian and the Big Guy's eyes, Councilman Leon had no chance to escape.

Councilman Leon moved his limbs and said to Yu Tian, "Give me a computer or a mobile phone with internet access. I can transfer the money to you now. Yu Tian scratched his chin and ordered the big guy, "Give him your mobile phone."

The Big Guy did not hesitate and immediately took out his phone.

Councilman Leon did not hesitate and immediately logged into the website. He asked for Yu Tian's account and completed the transfer for Yu Tian.

During this process, he did not do anything strange on his phone.

Yu Tian checked his account and found that he had indeed received 100 million without any delay.

No matter what happened next, this 100 million cash was picked up for nothing.

Later, he would ask No. 76 to transfer the money separately. By then, no one would be able to recover the money.

After asking the big guy to put away his phone, Yu Tian said to Congressman Leon with a smile, "You Old Man... are quite generous."

Congressman Leon said indifferently, "It's only 100 million. It's not a big money. If you can sincerely work for our organization, you will definitely gain more than just a little money."

Yu Tian pretended to be curious and asked, "Is there anything better than Money in your organization?"

Councilman Leon said proudly, "Of course there is. For example, power, status... for example, if you want to play as a mayor, I can arrange one for you at any time.

Yu Tian had a disdainful expression. "What's the point of being a mayor? It's more fun to be a gang leader..."

"Leader of a gang..."

Councilman Leon was stunned for a moment. He could not understand Yu Tian's taste.

However, the people in this world were all strange. They had all sorts of hobbies.

Councilman Leon did not pay too much attention to it. He continued, "Even if you don't like things like power, you must be very interested in increasing your strength, right?"

Yu Tian chuckled. "There's not much room for me to increase my strength anymore.

"That might not be the case. You should know that our clone society is currently conducting genetic research. Through genetic modification, you can become even stronger..."

"I'm not interested. I don't even know how many genetic warriors like you guys have killed." "Isn't there one in your club tonight?" "Yes." Yu Tian smiled. "Getting killed by my subordinates is as easy as squashing an ant." As Yu Tian spoke, he patted the shoulder of the big guy beside him.

“That’s just a first-generation genetic warrior. We are already studying the third generation...”

Councilman Leon defended himself, at the same time, he glanced at the big guy. “Of course, your men are equally powerful. It feels like their abilities are similar to ours. If he can accept our genetic modification, he will be ten times stronger than he is now...”

The Big Guy was a genetic warrior himself, but councilman Leon did not see through his background.

The simplest way to identify a genetic warrior was to look at the degree of bleeding after an injury, the speed of healing, and the speed of recovery.

The Big Guy was not injured tonight, and councilman Leon did not have the chance to find out his background.

Councilman Leon only thought that the big guy was gifted and was born strong. Or perhaps he trained himself to be so strong through traditional training methods.

In addition, the research on the third generation of genetic warriors was conducted on Demon Island. It was still in the experimental stage, and the clone society had yet to obtain any real research results.

The Big Guy was only a successful experimental subject. For the time being, he was also the only third generation genetic warrior that existed.

Demon Island had already been destroyed by a nuclear explosion. The Clone Society was not aware of the existence of a successful experimental subject, nor did they believe that any of the experimental subjects would survive, much less reveal the complete research data.

Therefore, Councilman Leon had never thought that big guy would be the only third-generation genetic warrior.

He felt that the reason why Yu Tian and Big Guy were so powerful was because they had cultivated the ancient martial arts of the east.

After all, there were indeed ancient martial arts practitioners from the east. There were also many individuals whose strength far exceeded that of genetic warriors.

Councilman Leon imagined in his heart that if he used the ancient martial arts cultivation techniques from the east or genetically modified the ancient martial arts practitioners from the east, then that would be a powerful group of combat strength..

“Hey, Hey, Hey, I know what you’re thinking, but don’t think about it blindly. We are completely not interested in any genetic modification.

Yu Tian interrupted congressman Leon’s imagination and said casually, “If you guys can only get so little benefits from cloning, then I’ll have to seriously consider our cooperation. ”

Congressman Leon hesitated for a moment, then he said, “Of course, there are more benefits, but it’s a deeper secret. I Can’t tell you now... in fact, even if there are no other benefits, just money and power, your gains in the cloning society will definitely not be less than the East Dragon Company...”

“I’m not interested in power, but I can consider money... but giving up the cooperation with these old friends of the East Dragon Company... This is a big matter, I have to discuss it with my brothers...”

Yu Tian turned around and gave the big guy a look. “You look after councilman Leon first, I’ll go down and talk to Piggy Liang.

The big guy said, “Don’t worry, Boss. He won’t be able to escape.”

Councilman Leon suddenly felt a little helpless, but he also knew that this kind of persuasion could not be accomplished overnight. Yu Tian definitely needed to think about it and discuss it with his capable subordinates.

Therefore, councilman Leon could only find a chair and sit down quietly, waiting for Yu Tian and his subordinates to come to a conclusion.

Yu Tian returned to the first floor and found that all the members of the mouse team had returned to the safe house. They were handing over the various computer hard drives and USB drives that they had collected to brother Pig.

Seeing Yu Tian go downstairs, brother pig casually greeted him and asked,

“How is it, Boss? Did you get anything from your interrogation?”

Yu Tian shrugged. “I... Didn’t get anything either. However, Councilman Leon now thinks that I might have to surrender to him...”

“You surrender to him?”

Piggy Liang paused for a moment and understood what was going on. He smiled and said, “Don’t tell me you’re going to play a trick on me again?”

Translator: 549690339

Piggy Liang asked No. 76 to use the computer to help him organize the information, at the same time, he said to Yu Tian, "If you want to gain the full trust of the Clone Society, you will definitely have to pay a heavy price. It is absolutely impossible to make them trust you with just a few words and tell you valuable information..."

Yu Tian shrugged again.

That's right, he had also considered this point, so he was still a little uncertain about the matter of pretending to surrender.

Huang Gai had used the bitter meat tactic, so he would at least be beaten up by Zhou Yu.

He was just saying a few empty words now, so it was impossible for councilman Leon to trust him so easily.

Unless he could really do something for the clone society, such as revealing important information about the East Dragon Company and attacking the remaining forces of the East Dragon Company. In this way, he would probably lose more than he gained.

There was indeed no need to resort to such cruel tactics.

At the moment, Councilman Leon had not revealed any important information to him apart from transferring 100 million yuan to him, that was not much money for a large organization like the Kroni Association.

This was just a small trick to win people's hearts. Even if it was thrown into the water, councilman Leon would not feel sorry for it.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then said to brother pig, "Although I didn't get anything out of the interrogation, I also found a few problems during my conversation with Councilman Leon.

"What problems? Tell me.

"First of all, the size of their organization. Aside from the research expenses, their annual expenditure is also close to ten billion.

"HMM, what else?"

"Don't you feel shocked by such a huge expenditure? It's even more than the military expenditure of those small countries.

“What’s there to be shocked about? It just means that they have a lot of manpower...”
“brother pig sighed. “According to the information you provided on Alcatraz, they must have a large army in their hands. Y’.” “If this kind of secret organization wants to control the army, the expenditure is much higher than that of a normal country. “For example, this group of warlords that you raised in F * cking hell...”

“Alright, that is indeed more expensive...” “Yu Tian nodded. “Then let me talk about the second problem that I found. There should still be important people in dusk city, and their status is probably only second to that of Councilman Leon.”

Brother pig nodded. “That’s not strange. It can only mean that they have prepared some backup plan to prevent Congressman Leon from having an accident and losing control of the situation.

(‘Then, who is this backup plan? Could it be the police station’s director Henry? He didn’t appear in Congressman Leon ‘s Club Tonight...

“That’s not important, because our next move will definitely make it too late for them to retaliate...

“Then do you want me to kill director Henry Tonight as well?”

“There’s no need for that. We still need to leave director Henry to take the blame...”

“brother Pig shook his head. (‘If you wash the police station with Blood Tonight, the wind nation’s army might enter the city early tomorrow morning. ”

“Alright, then I’ll continue with the next question, which is the wind nation’s army that you mentioned. “We’ve created such a huge commotion tonight. They might use the power of the government or even the army to launch a counterattack against us...

“You don’t have to worry about that. Even if they want to launch a counterattack, they have to find us first.

“Alright, let me think about it again. There are still some problems... for example, the Kronin Society seems to be able to provide some attractive benefits to the members of the organization. It’s not just money, power, and genetic modification...

“Sigh... ”

Piggy Liang sighed. “Boss, these problems are not the focus of our attention right now. We just need to defeat them, and those benefits will be ours sooner or later...

Yu Tian was stunned for a moment and realized that Piggy Liang was right.

Anyway, Piggy Liang had already made the action arrangements, so he did not have to worry about those trivial matters.

Piggy Liang had no interest in interrogating Congressman Leon, because this matter didn't affect the overall situation.

Piggy Liang waved his hand. "Boss, either you go and rest, or continue with the interrogation. I have something important to do here..."

"Well, you do your thing. I'll sit here and see what you're busy with."

Yu Tian forgot about councilman Leon in the blink of an eye. He curiously sat next to Brother Pig, wanting to see what important things he was busy with.

Brother Pig rolled his eyes and began to read the information on his phone.

This information was compiled by No. 76. It was all the trivial information that she had collected from the various systems of dusk city.

Piggy Liang was not picky. He flipped through the information one by one with great interest.

No. 76 was not idle either. She continued to collate the hard drive that the mouse team had brought back. She extracted all the information from it and then went through some simple filtering.

With No. 76's professional skills, the information on the hard drive could not be kept secret.

No matter where it was hidden, no matter what kind of encryption method was used, she could easily find it, categorize it, and organize it into folders.

Brother Pig had been flipping through all kinds of documents and a small number of video files.

Yu Tian was a little puzzled. He could not understand what brother pig was looking for from the messy information.

Piggy Liang wouldn't do anything meaningless, but now that the enemy was right in front of him and the situation was grim, what was his purpose in looking through all this information?

"Of course, it's to find those senior executives of your Donglong Company who were arrested..."

Piggy Liang was flipping through his phone at a leisurely pace as he slowly said to Yu Tian, "I seem to have found some clues."

"You found some clues?"

No. 76 was very surprised.

She also knew how to do some intelligence analysis, so she very much understood how difficult this job was.

It was a very time-consuming and brain-draining process to find some useful information from a huge amount of invalid information and then analyze the information to deduce the result she needed.

Brother Pig Liang had only looked at the information for one or two hours, but he had actually found the clues so quickly. Was this the efficiency of a professional?

Brother Pig Liang smiled lightly. "Actually, this isn't difficult. It's much easier than what I've done before..."

Yu Tian hurriedly asked, "What clues did you find?"

"These are the clues..."

Piggy Liang handed the phone to Yu Tian. On it were all the data that Yu Tian could not understand.

Not to mention the data, even the text was not very clear to Yu Tian.

He said in puzzlement, "Just tell me directly... what is this thing?"

"This is... The bill..."

"The bill..."

Yu Tian was deep in thought.

Brother pig slowly said, "That's right, these are some of the internal expense documents of the police..."

"The Kronin Association used the force of the dusk city police to carry out a raid and arrest mission on the headquarters of the Donglong Company. This incident illustrates a problem..."

“That is, at that time, the Kronin Society could not organize so many operational personnel in dusk city, and they did not have the strength to attack the DONGLONG company. Therefore, they could only rely on the force of the Dusk City Police.

“Similarly, after arresting so many prisoners, the cells that needed to be placed needed a lot of guards... the Kronin society would also not be able to prepare these things immediately.”

“So, they can only continue to use the manpower of the police, and even the places that the police provide to hold prisoners.

“Of course, we can already confirm that the places of detention have nothing to do with the authorities of Twilight City.”. “This is because whether it is the prison, other official office buildings, or property assets, they are not suitable places for secret detention, and there are no records of secret detention...”

“Although the Kronin Society is short-handed, it’s not difficult to provide a secret detention place. ”

“The key is where this place is.

“Actually, we can continue to follow these clues from the police.

“Because after the police send the prisoners to the detention place, they will continue to assist in custody.

“Even if the Kronin society mobilized sufficient manpower after this, they will be able to completely guard the prisoners themselves... They will not let the police leave either “Because this is a secret custody, any police who leaves may cause a leak

“Therefore, these police officers will continue to stay until certain tasks are completed

“They should interrogate the prisoners, but they won’t immediately transfer the prisoners.

“Because the place they are holding is already sufficiently secretive, if they transfer the prisoners rashly, it will expose their whereabouts more.”

“Unless they sense a threat and think that we might be able to find them and have the ability to ambush them, then they will be forced to move.

“After confirming this, we can find the location of these police officers. This location should be the location of the prisoners for the past two days. There will be no changes for the time being.

“Although the police do not have any operational records, the attendance and travel records of the various units are normal.

“However, the records can be forged, but there is one thing that is not convenient to forge.

“That is their expense bill...

“The police who go out to the field have to pay for their meals, including the prisoners they are guarding. They also have to eat.

“The police station might pay for this fee, but it might also be the Kronin Association.

“If the police station pays for this fee, then their team that participates in the guarding work will definitely have a much higher fee than usual.

“If Kronin would pay this fee, then this unit would have almost no expenses, and they wouldn't even need to refuel their cars.

“So, we just need to compare the recent expenses of these units. The units that have abnormal expenses are participating in the work of guarding the prisoners.”

“Of course, they still tampered with these bills, so No. 76 didn't see anything wrong.

“They directly copied the details of the previous bills into the Bills for the past few days. In this way, there doesn't seem to be anything unusual about the team's bills. ”

“It's a pity that this pretty boy has an amazing memory and is extremely sensitive to data. I saw through their simple copying with a glance...”

“Take a look at the details of the team's expenses for the past few days. is it exactly the same as the bill from a few months ago?”

“I can already confirm that this wild fox secret service team is carrying out the task of guarding the prisoners. “If you still have any doubts, you can go to the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base to check it out. The place should be empty, and there are only a few people left. ”

After explaining this, Piggy Liang put down his phone in satisfaction.

Yu Tian spread his hands. “What else is there to check? You've already confirmed it... Hurry up and tell us what we should do next. We know that they're watching over our people, but we still don't know their exact location. ”

Piggy Liang also spread his hands. “The rest of the work is not my business. Let's Get Madam 76 to track their phone's location.”

“Cell phone location? Doesn’t this thing have to be handed over and managed before carrying out a mission?”

“Yes, but do you think the commander will also hand over his cell phone? “Then how does he keep in contact with his superiors?” Zhu Gelang said helplessly. “And I don’t think that the discipline of the wind country’s police will be so strict that all the police will hand over their cell phones? “Is there any law? “Is there any human rights? “Is there any freedom? “It’s already good enough to restrict them from posting on wechat moments...

Yu Tian could not help but burst into laughter. That’s right, Western countries that advocate freedom..

The advancement of technology has brought convenience to them, as well as to us.

The cell phone numbers are all ready-made and can be found directly in the internal contact list of the police.

Tracking the location of the cell phone was also a small matter. For No. 76, it could be done in a minute.

Soon, the location of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was found.

Due to the convenience of technology, their whereabouts in the past two days were completely exposed on the cell phones.

They had basically not moved their positions in the past two days. If they were not guarding the prisoners, what else could they do?

Yu Tian immediately became excited. He slammed the table and said, “Then what are we waiting for? Let’s move quickly! Launch a surprise attack on them and get our people out!

Brother Pig rolled his eyes. “Don’t be anxious. How can you be anxious about such a thing? There are dozens of high-level and middle-level personnel of the East Dragon Company’s headquarters being held in that place. How many people do you think will be guarding it?”

“There should be... more than a hundred people... ”

“There are so many guards. If you don’t have a safe plan, aren’t you afraid that they will jump over the wall and kill all the prisoners?”

“Then what plan do you have?”

“Of course I have plans.”

Yu Tian sighed. "This kind of thing can only happen after a long time... When are your plans?"

Brother Pig smiled mysteriously. "Don't be anxious. Let's wait for a few more hours... when the night gets darker.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Don't keep me in suspense. What arrangements do you have?"

Brother pig said, "Of course I hired helpers. Otherwise, why do you think I asked you for so much money?"

Yu Tian's heart moved.. "You hired helpers? What Helpers? People from the Dongfang Kingdom?"

"How is that possible?"

Brother Pig rolled his eyes again. "Of course the people from the eastern country can't do it. Their skin color is too obvious. Even if they don't have any items to prove their identity, it will easily cause a diplomatic dispute.

Yu Tian said, "Then what kind of helpers did you find?"

Piggy Liang said, "Of course... It's your favorite mercenary.

Yu Tian was amused. "You actually hired a mercenary? Are you going to start a war in the wind country?"

Piggy Liang continued to roll his eyes. "What else? Do you think that our Operation Tonight will be very quiet?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "It's about the same. Our operation is not much gentler than starting a war.

Pig brother Liang said, "That's right. Anyway, we're going to make a big mess in dusk city. Who cares what mess he'll make... Let's win first!

If he won, he could clean up the mess.

If he lost, any mess or good mess would be meaningless.

The next thing was to rest and recharge for the upcoming battle.

As for Councilman Leon, Yu Tian knocked him out and put him in a large closet.

Without Yu Tian's help, he would never wake up. At most, he would be a healthy vegetable.

At two o'clock in the morning, Yu Tian and the others were finally woken up by Brother Pig's ringtone.

Brother Pig picked up the phone and said to Yu Tian and the others, "Let's go."

Everyone immediately woke up and did not have much to pack. They immediately walked out of the safe house.

The mouse team was divided into two groups. One group followed Yu Tian and brother pig to participate in the operation, while the other group stayed in the safe house to protect No. 76, as well as mayor Edward and other non-operational personnel.

For the sake of safety, Yu Tian also kept Cass.

Anyway, the main force of tonight's operation was the mercenaries. Whether the rat squad participated or not did not matter to the overall situation.

There were a few stolen cars hidden near the safe house. However, the dusk city police were very busy tonight, so they did not have the spare time to track down these stolen cars.

Everyone quickly got into the cars and sped off according to the address given by Brother Pig.

The destination was outside of dusk city. Their route had also bypassed the city and headed in a quiet and deserted direction.

The traffic was smooth at night. In less than half an hour, Yu Tian, brother Pig, and the rest arrived at the outskirts of the city.

When they arrived, everyone got out of the car without turning off the lights.

Brother Pig made a call and said simply, "We're here."

In less than two minutes, more than a dozen suvs stopped behind their motorcade.

More than a dozen suvs. This was considered a huge group when they were out shopping.

However, for an operation, especially an operation that was similar to a prison, the group of more than a dozen suvs appeared rather shabby.

A few people got out of the suvs and walked in large strides to Yu Tian and brother pig.

Following the lights of the car, Yu Tian saw their faces clearly.

The person walking at the front seemed to be an Easterner as well, and he was a very young easterner.

The few people behind him were all white friends, and they did not seem to be related to the eastern military.

“Long time no see, Brother Pig!

The person greeted brother Pig Liang in eastern language.

Brother Pig Liang also smiled and said, “Long time no see, pleasant goat!

Pleasant Goat?

Yu Tian almost laughed out loud when he heard this nickname. Was this a name that mercenaries should use?

Where was the killing intent that they had agreed upon?

Brother Pig Liang quickly hammered Yu Tian’s chest and introduced, “This is my boss, Yu Tian... This is my old friend, the captain of the pleasant goat mercenary group, pleasant goat.

Introducing Yu Tian by his real name meant that brother Pig believed that the other party could be trusted and had a lot of credibility.

Introducing happy sheep by his nickname was because it was customary for mercenaries to not have a real name.

Yu Tian shook hands with happy sheep and sighed, “It’s rare to see a mercenary from the eastern country, and it’s even a mercenary captain.

Pleasant goat cracked a smile. “This shows that the Motherland is strong, and everyone doesn’t need this way of making a living.

Yu Tian also smiled. “So, you became a mercenary just to make a living?”

Pleasant goat said, “That’s not it. The reason I became a mercenary... was just a coincidence. Later on... I became addicted. ”

“Addicted? You can be addicted to this job?”

“Yeah, I originally wanted to retire, but I couldn’t settle down and live my life. I couldn’t bear to part with these brothers... so I returned to the battlefield.

Pleasant goat smiled a little embarrassedly.

Brother Pig lightly snorted and said to Yu Tian, “Boss, don’t underestimate the pleasant goat mercenary group. This is a world-class top-tier mercenary group.

Yu Tian was a little surprised. Such a small team actually dared to be called a top-tier mercenary group?

Brother pig continued, “Do you know their appearance fee? It starts at 10 million, and they don’t even haggle!

Yu Tian was even more surprised. The few mercenary groups that he had hired in the F * Ck could easily have a team of more than a hundred people. Each mission would at most cost a few million appearance fees.

If it was a simple mission, a few hundred thousand would be enough to solve it.

The sheep mercenary group actually charged ten million. This was simply a sky-high price.

Happy sheep was even more embarrassed. “Actually, our starting price wasn’t this high in the past. It’s just that after everyone agreed to retire and then wanted to return, it felt a bit suicidal... so everyone agreed not to do missions below ten million...

There was a risk of death on the battlefield, no matter what top- tier mercenary group it was.

Every member of the sheep mercenary group didn’t lack money, so there was no need to seek death.

They clearly shouldn’t be on the battlefield, but they couldn’t endure a normal and peaceful life. That was why they set such a rule for themselves, reducing their chances of going to the battlefield.

Unfortunately, they met their old friend, Brother Pig Liang, who could afford the price. They finally found an excuse for themselves to go to the battlefield.

After hearing such an explanation, Yu Tian did not know what to say.

Brother Pig Liang said again, "The starting price of 10 million is to give me face. The few missions they have done this year are all priced at tens of millions..."

Pleasant goat said embarrassedly, "That's because those missions are really dangerous... your mission is relatively simple, 10 million is indeed enough."

Simple?

Yu Tian was already speechless.

Your mercenary group doesn't seem to have a total of 20 people, right?

Raiding a prison, facing hundreds of enemies, and rescuing dozens of hostages, and there was also a special police force among the enemies, called the Wild Fox Special Forces, just hearing the name gave one the feeling of being a ruthless character..

Yu Tian could only give him full marks for pretending..

Chapter 1157: Chapter 1,156, Vineyard

After a few minutes of small talk, the group finally set off.

Yu Tian couldn't help but become curious about the strength of this sheep and sheep mercenary group.

"I'm not bragging to them, they are indeed world-class top mercenary groups..."

Brother Pig explained to Yu Tian in the car, "Don't look at how small their numbers are, but they are all at the level of a soldier king. If an ordinary mercenary group were to face them... not to mention an ordinary mercenary group, those famous large-scale mercenary groups would be beaten up by them.

"So Fierce?"

"Of course it's fierce. Otherwise, how would they dare to be called a top-tier mercenary group? You'll see it later.

"Could it be that they are more powerful than me?"

"Uh, I don't know how powerful you are, Boss, but when you walk onto the battlefield with a Gun... I guess you'll only be beaten up by them.

"Hehe... I'm looking forward to their performance."

“Yeah, I’m looking forward to it too... but their fees are indeed a little too expensive. ‘h
“They’re only responsible for rescuing the hostages and sending them to the location I’ve specified for tonight’s ten million business. They won’t care about the battle after that. ”

“It’s very reasonable. One operation, one reward... if there’s a need next time, just continue to hire them again.”

“In less than a day, you have to spend 10 million. Only a rich man like you thinks it’s reasonable. “Piggy Liang sighed. “As for the next time, you might not be able to make an appointment...”

“Their business is so good?”

“Of course. The ones with the best business are usually the best in the industry. The harder it is to make an appointment, the more people will make an appointment...”

“How about... I make an appointment with them for 100 million?”

“Don’t, don’t waste your money. You Don’t need to kill a chicken with a butcher’s knife. If it wasn’t to ensure the safety of so many prisoners, I wouldn’t have hired them...”

Just attacking a prison and facing hundreds or even hundreds of armed police didn’t cost much.

On the battlefield, any mercenary group could easily complete this mission.

After all, the combat ability and experience of the army wasn’t something the police force could compare to.

But to ensure the safety of the prisoners rescued, Piggy Liang still put in a lot of money.

Every high-level member of the East Dragon Company represented a huge amount of wealth and value.

The things they had in their hands were definitely more than ten million.

Brother pig sighed again and said, “Moreover, they don’t accept all kinds of missions. Business is good, so they’re always a little picky. “If it weren’t for my reputation and reputation, they wouldn’t have accepted such a complicated situation like dusk city, a non-war zone, and suspected of provoking a military power...”

“Is that so? This sheep mercenary group... is quite interesting.

Yu Tian was looking forward to the sheep mercenary group’s performance more and more.

The target location was also in the suburbs. The information showed that the place was a vineyard, similar to the winery of the East Dragon Company's headquarters.

The difference was that the winery was definitely a place to make wine, while the vineyard might not necessarily be a place to make wine. It was also possible to sell most of the grapes to the neighboring wineries.

This was a very suitable place for a war because there were no civilians around.

According to the information No. 76 had gathered, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had a total of 178 people. Excluding some who stayed at the base, there should be more than 100 people guarding the prisoners here. In addition to the unknown number of Kronin's armed forces, the total strength of the enemy was hard to say.

Of course, it might not be convenient for the clone society to reveal too much strength in front of the police, especially those armed with guns. When the police saw them, they would always have a lot of doubts.

Therefore, the number of people they left in the vineyard might not be too many.

Of course, these information and speculations were meaningless.

Before the sheep mercenary group took action, they would do some reconnaissance on their own and then determine the specific action plan.

When they were still one or two kilometers away from the vineyard, the sheep mercenary group stopped their vehicles.

This was because they were not on a battlefield, but in a city of a peaceful country.

If they were on a battlefield, the sentry posts and Scouts would be placed a few kilometers, or even more than ten kilometers away, so they would definitely not be able to swagger so close to the target location.

After getting off the car, the sheep mercenary group put on their equipment and began to walk.

There were less than twenty people in their group, but they were driving more than ten cars.

This was not to make it more spacious and comfortable for one or two people to sit in a car, but to carry more equipment.

Yu Tian did not know what exactly they were carrying with so much equipment, but when he saw that they were carrying so many bags, he felt that they were very interesting.

There were five people from the mouse team, including Brother Pig, Big Guy, and Yu Tian himself. There were a total of eight people.

Eight people on such a battlefield did not feel like they could use much of their strength.

After all, they were not professional mercenaries. At most, they were a group killers. They were not suitable for the battlefield.

They followed behind. Their main task was to watch the show.

Perhaps they could help, but pleasant goat did not count their strength on the battlefield.

In order not to interfere with the Battle of the sheep mercenary group, they maintained a distance of one to two hundred meters from the sheep mercenary group. They could be considered to have fallen behind to watch the battle. Other than a few pistols and cold weapons such as daggers, they basically did not carry any equipment.

As a result, they advanced very easily, including Brother Pig, who was a non-combatant.

However, they didn't advance very fast. They could only barely keep up with the sheep mercenary group.

Although the sheep mercenary group was full of weight, their speed was very fast, making it difficult for them to keep up with the group.

The fastest were the three spearheads of the sheep mercenary group. Their backpacks were the smallest, leaving the others a hundred meters behind.

There was no moon in the early morning, but there was a weak light that came out of nowhere, allowing Yu Tian and the others to stumble forward without a flashlight.

After following the Yangyang mercenary group for a while, Yu Tian finally realized the reason why they were walking so fast.

Everyone in the sheep mercenary group was wearing night vision equipment, and it seemed to be a set of high-tech night vision equipment.

This thing was like an ordinary windproof goggles, and it looked very light.

Yu Tian didn't know how much this thing was worth, but it did bring great convenience to the sheep mercenary group's night activities. It made them see the darkness as nothing, and their movements were as easy as during the day.

Yu Tian's heart suddenly itched. He thought about asking Xi Yang Yang about where these good things were sold..

Chapter 1158: Chapter 1,157, the importance of intelligence work

After walking for a kilometer, Yu Tian finally saw the main building of the vineyard.

This place did not look like a private garden, but more like a village.

The owner's house was not just one house, but a large number of houses, just like a big landlord.

In addition to the houses, some of these houses should be warehouses and factories, used to make wine or handle grapes and the like.

However, due to the dim light at night, Yu Tian could not see the specific structure of these houses. He did not understand their specific functions and where they were more likely to hold prisoners.

However, he did not need to worry about these things because the sheep mercenary group had already begun to investigate the surroundings.

In order to not interfere with the sheep mercenary group's actions, Yu Tian and the others did not get too close to the sheep mercenary group. They followed them from a hundred meters away.

Yu Tian used his extraordinary eyes to carefully observe the sheep mercenary group's movements. He wanted to see what was so special about this top-tier mercenary group.

After arriving near the target, the sheep mercenary group began to investigate.

Their investigative tool looked like a camera. In front of it was a large square lens that looked like a telescope. Behind it was a large flat screen.

They had a few of these things in total, which allowed them to scout the target from different angles.

After half an hour, their scouting work seemed to have ended.

Pleasant goat and a few of his teammates huddled together and discussed in a low voice for a while, then scattered in all directions.

Yu Tian thought that their battle was about to begin, but he did not expect that after they separated, they would take out all kinds of different equipment and continue scouting.

This time, there were even more kinds of equipment. Yu Tian couldn't understand what kind of equipment they had.

He only recognized one piece of equipment, which was a few miniature drones.

Looking at the people of the sheep mercenary group disappearing into the surrounding grape forest with all kinds of equipment, Yu Tian couldn't help but sigh heavily.

He finally knew the reason why the sheep mercenary group could become a first-rate, or even top-tier mercenary group.

This was closely related to the importance they placed on intelligence work.

As the ancient saying goes, know yourself and know your enemy, and you will be victorious in every battle.

Just by looking at the investigative equipment of the sheep mercenary group, one could tell that they placed extreme importance on intelligence investigation.

If such a cautious mercenary group did not seek death, it would be very difficult for them to fail.

Even if they encountered an undefeatable enemy, they would definitely be able to anticipate the enemy's move and quickly retreat before the enemy made a move.

As the ancient people said, before the troops moved, the provisions moved first.

This concept of "Provisions" should also include intelligence work.

Adequate intelligence was the basis of victory.

The reason why the East Dragon Company had fallen to such a critical state, almost being killed by the clone and unable to fight back, was mainly because they didn't pay enough attention to intelligence work.

They did not have any warning of the enemy's conspiracy, including the abnormal signs of internal rebellion. Even Uncle Long had swaggered to San Mao country to deliver food..

These actions were like a joke to a secret organization.

On the contrary, Kronin had almost thoroughly investigated the DONGLONG company and even colluded with the traitors within the DONGLONG company.

In just a few days, they had entrapped, beheaded, and instigated a rebellion..

They had forcefully tortured such a big force like the East Dragon Company to the point of almost falling apart.

It was because of their intelligence work that they were able to stab the vital points of the East Dragon Company with every stab. They had almost put the East Dragon Company to death.

Fortunately, there was still Yu Tian behind the East Dragon Company. This was the last chance for them to turn things around.

Because Yu Tian's identity had never been made public in the East Dragon Company, he did not become the focus of attention of the clone society.

Otherwise, the clone society would definitely use all kinds of schemes and actions against him at all costs. Even if he could not get rid of him, he would at least trip him up and not be able to get out.

Yu Tian thought carefully and found that the clone society had actually already made a move against him.

Because the arms dealer Cui Zhengzhi whom he had dealt with in hell was also a lackey of the Kloni Association, the KLONI Association had already listed him as an enemy.

The oasis regime's encirclement and suppression of the Abu Group should have been driven by the KLONI association.

And the assassination he had encountered at the port of Manizadi was also related to the KLONI association.

However, the Kroni Society had never expected that the oasis army would be so easily defeated by Yu Tian.

That was why Yu Tian had the strength to come to dusk city to stir up trouble.

As he thought about these things, Yu Tian was suddenly filled with emotions.

If the Kroni Society's intelligence capabilities were stronger, or rather, if they investigated him in more detail, they would pay more attention to him..

As long as he understood his actual strength in the war zone, including the list of every batch of weapons sent to him by the East Dragon Company, then the strategy that the oasis side used to besiege him.., they would definitely not be so hasty.

The Kronin Association's forces in the war zone might not be able to completely defeat the Abu Group, but it was still possible to pin Yu Tian down in the war zone.

As long as the Oasis Army did not act rashly and did not let the outcome of the battle happen too early, Yu Tian would not dare to leave the battlefield.

From this, it could be seen that the importance of intelligence work could be placed at the top.

Yu Tian decided that he would complete the Donglong Company's intelligence system. He did not care how much money he spent.

Of course, this matter had to be handed over to Zhu Gelang. Such a professional intelligence person was most suitable to handle this kind of work.

There was also a technical expert like No. 76, who was also a very suitable assistant.

After Yu Tian pondered for nearly two hours, there was finally movement at the gathering point of the sheep mercenary group.

Yu Tian suddenly came back to his senses and found that the sky had already brightened slightly.

Looking at the time again, it was actually six o'clock in the morning.

The investigation work of the sheep mercenary group actually went on for two to three hours.

Two to three hours of Scouting was for such a small piece of house, a hundred or even a few hundred enemies..

Was he trying to find out the color of the enemy's underwear?

Yu Tian was completely convinced.

In terms of fighting, he wasn't afraid of anyone.

But in terms of fighting, he really wasn't as patient as these professional mercenaries, spending so much time to prepare.

Of course, the current situation was that the enemy was in the dark, and since the sheep mercenary group had sufficient investigative time, it would be a waste if they didn't make good use of it.

Several investigators returned one after another, and the sheep mercenary group's operation finally officially began..

Chapter 1159: Chapter 1158, observing

Translator: 549690339

Pleasant goat and his teammates gathered together and had a short meeting. It took about a few minutes.

After that, more than a dozen people put on their equipment and began to move to the side.

They did not split up into groups. Instead, all of them moved together and headed in the same direction.

Perhaps pleasant goat felt that there were not many people with more than a dozen people. After splitting up, their strength would be even weaker, and they would not be able to fight against hundreds or even hundreds of enemies.

Yu Tian and the others followed behind the Yang Yang mercenary group. They circled around the perimeter of the vineyard and finally arrived at the starting point of their attack.

Because their line of sight was much better than before, this time, the distance between Yu Tian and the Yang Yang mercenary group and them was a few hundred meters.

Yu Tian felt that it was a little strange because the Yang Yang mercenary group's location was a little unreasonable.

In front of them was a very open terrain. There was a road that led directly to the housing area of the vineyard. There were almost no obstructions or obstacles on the road.

This was more like a defensive position than a good place to attack.

In the other directions, most of them had dense vines as cover. It was very suitable for them to sneak into and approach the housing area.

However, they chose this open space, which was a smooth path to the housing area in the distance.

Yu Tian even suspected that the sheep mercenary group had hidden tanks in their backpacks.

Otherwise, why would they attack from the main road?

The only advantage of this main road was that there was a small slope on the side of the road.

This small slope was not too high, about two to three meters above the ground level.

The sheep mercenary group had set up a sniper on the slope. This sniper carried two different types of sniper rifles.

Although Yu Tian wasn't familiar with guns, he felt that the two sniper rifles were very valuable when he saw their appearance.

This slope was more than a kilometer away from the vineyard's housing area. Only a sniper could play a role at this distance.

Leaving the sniper behind, Happy Sheep's team continued to push forward.

Fortunately, they did not foolishly walk onto the flat road.

Instead, they finally went around the front, sneaked into the vineyard by the roadside, and began to spread out.

Yu Tian and the others quietly sneaked onto the small slope where the sniper was, and hid behind the sniper.

"Be careful to hide. Don't let the enemy's sentries discover you.

The sniper reminded them that he was also speaking in eastern language. Yu Tian took a closer look. This young man, whose face was covered in camouflage, was also an easterner.

It seemed that pleasant goat also preferred to hire some easterners, so there were rare easterners in the mercenary group.

However, the light infantrymen of the eastern country were recognized as the best in the world.

Being able to hire eastern mercenaries was definitely a very lucky thing for a small mercenary group.

After the pleasant goat mercenary group advanced about 500-600 meters, the group stopped again.

This time, they didn't stop for too long.

They left behind a portion of their equipment and members, as if they wanted to set up some positions.

After the others put down their items, they continued to move forward.

At this time, Yu Tian had already lost sight of the sheep mercenary group.

He suddenly couldn't hold it in any longer. Observing and learning from the sheep mercenary group's fighting style was also a very important matter.

If he couldn't see anything, how could he observe and learn?

It seemed that he could only move with the group.

Yu Tian lay on the slope and slowly moved to the side of the eastern sniper. He said in a low voice, "Brother, I want to go to the front of your team to take a look... It won't affect your operation, right?"

Although observing and learning were important, they couldn't delay the proper business.

The main purpose of this operation was to rescue the middle and high-level management cadres of the DONGLONG company. Yu Tian couldn't let go of the root of the problem.

At this moment, the sniper was holding a pair of binoculars. He was crouching behind the small slope and secretly paying attention to the movements of the housing area.

Perhaps it was because the surrounding land was too fertile, but the small slope was surrounded by lush vegetation. It was easier to hide this group of people.

The sniper slowly retracted his head. He lay on his side and said to Yu Tian, "If you also want to bring people to participate in the battle, then wait until we launch an attack before entering the battlefield..."

"Are you worried that we will be exposed too early?"

"Yes, there is also the problem of identifying the enemy and ourselves. Our team members have positions with each other. When you enter the battlefield, I will inform my teammates in front to prevent accidental injury..."

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and said to the sniper, "Then I will let my men stay here and go to the front to take a look by themselves. Don't worry, my skills will definitely not cause trouble for you..."

The sniper hurriedly shook his head. "I can't make the decision matter... the captain will definitely not agree."

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Why don't you ask your captain?"

The sniper hesitated for a moment, but still pressed down on the communicator at the side of his mouth. "Eagle calling little sheep... "Little sheep receives, please speak."

“The employer requests to enter the battlefield front line now...”

“No, “pleasant goat rejected immediately. “Tell the employer, boss, that if you want to ensure the success of the operation, you must not increase the chances of accidents! If you want to personally participate in the battle, wait until we launch an attack.

“Eagle, Roger!

The sniper helplessly spread his hands at Yu Tian. “Our captain said...

Yu Tian sighed. “I got it.”

Although the sound of the headset was very weak, it could not escape Yu Tian ‘s sharp hearing.

He did not need the sniper to relay his words. He heard happy sheep’s words clearly.

He could understand happy sheep’s decision. After all, this was a mission worth ten million dollars. No one wanted to mess it up.

Moreover, happy sheep had not seen Yu Tian’s skills. Naturally, he would not accept Yu Tian to join their operation.

Moreover, on the battlefield, apart from testing one’s military skills, the most important thing was the cooperation between comrades.

If Yu Tian joined their team rashly, not only would he not be able to provide them with help, but he would also bring them chaos and trouble.

Even if they were mercenaries with extraordinary skills, before they had gone through cooperation training and getting used to each other, happy sheep would not casually bring them onto the battlefield.

This was responsible for the mercenary group and the safety of every mercenary.

If Yu Tian wanted to bring people to participate in the battle, it would be best if he brought his subordinates to the battlefield as allies.

This way, it wouldn’t disrupt the coordination and command arrangements of the sheep mercenary group.

The complicated logic didn’t need to be said. Ordinary people could understand these things.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and suddenly had an idea.

Xi Yang Yang was just worried that he would be exposed too early, but with his qinggong level..

Not to mention the enemy, even the Yang Yang mercenary group might not be able to discover his whereabouts..

Chapter 1160: Chapter 1,159, the mortar again

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian's qinggong level was considered to be the highest among the few ancient martial arts he had practiced.

When experts competed in skills, they would definitely compete in Qinggong and leg strength.

Even if they were not good at fighting, if their qinggong was good enough, they would still be famous all over the world.

Because Qinggong was very useful, in novels, it was usually a necessary skill for hurrying and escaping.

Qinggong allowed people to run fast, jump high, and jump over many obstacles.

If one could find a substitute for horses while traveling, it was necessary to use Qinggong to escape in an emergency.

Especially in places with complicated terrain, such as urban alleys, qinggong was definitely more useful than riding a horse.

However, in reality, the most important aspect of Qinggong was not its ability to escape, but its ability to infiltrate and assassinate.

The Ancients said that chivalry violated the law with martial arts. The greatest threat to the government from those martial arts experts was qinggong.

Without Qinggong, no matter how strong the experts were, they would not be a match for the tactics of the Sea of people.

However, with Qinggong, experts had endless possibilities, and they could fully display the essence of guerrilla warfare.

The main characteristics of Yu Tian's qinggong were that he could jump high and run fast, but his dexterity was slightly inferior.

However, as long as his movements were slightly slower, he could still achieve the silent effect of the movie.

This could be a problem with the characteristics of Qinggong itself, or it could be that Yu Tian had not practiced to the point where he could only sacrifice his speed to ensure his dexterity.

After quietly withdrawing from the sniper position, Yu Tian once again approached Brother Pig Liang.

Brother Pig Liang was lying on the grass behind the small slope, ready to welcome the rising sun and enjoy the beauty of the Sun and morning.

Yu Tian went over and whispered, "I'll go to the front alone to take a look at the situation. You keep an eye on everyone. Don't act rashly before the fight starts. "

Brother Pig Liang said lazily, "You want to go to the front? Grasp it well. You Can't mess up such an important operation. "

"I know what to do..."

Yu Tian patted brother Pig Liang's shoulder and suddenly disappeared.

Brother Pig Liang sat up curiously and looked at the surrounding grape forest.

He rubbed his eyes and muttered, "It's really quite powerful..."

In the blink of an eye, Yu Tian had disappeared from his sight and entered the surrounding grape forest.

After entering the grape forest, Yu Tian slowed down a little.

If he didn't want to knock the entire forest upside down, he had to carefully avoid those branches and leaves. It was impossible for him to run at full speed.

But even so, his speed wasn't slow.

He quickly passed the position that the sheep mercenary group had set up halfway and silently entered the forefront of the battlefield.

Yu Tian didn't take the route that the sheep mercenary group had taken to avoid an embarrassing crash.

He went around to the side of the sheep mercenary group and found a grape shelf to barely hide. He began to secretly observe the movements of the sheep mercenary group.

The direction of the sheep mercenary group was very quiet. Yu Tian could not see what these mercenaries were doing.

However, from his point of view, the direction that the sheep mercenary group chose to attack was still a little strange.

Their target seemed to be a small warehouse in the middle of the housing area. There were many other buildings around the small warehouse. They should all have enemies stationed there.

There were many other buildings around the small warehouse. They should all have enemies stationed there.

According to common sense, the direction of their attack should be to break through from the edge and then gradually advance.

If they attacked the center directly, it would be very easy to fall into the enemy's encirclement.

Unless it was a decapitation operation, or the prisoners that they had to rescue were all in this small warehouse.

Yu Tian thought to himself, could it be that the sheep and sheep mercenary group had already found out the location of the prisoners? Was It this small warehouse?

There was a courtyard outside the small warehouse. There were some sundries and farm tools in the courtyard, but there were no vehicles or other means of transportation.

There were a few civilian vehicles near the buildings in the distance, but there were very few of them.

There were a few people patrolling the housing area. There were also not many people, and they were all wearing casual clothes.

They did not patrol very often. They basically patrolled in groups of two or three people. From time to time, they would circle around the building, then sit down at the entrance of a building and sit down in a corridor or other places to chat.

It seemed that these people weren't very vigilant.

However, on the roofs of those buildings, as well as on the balconies of some two-story buildings, there were some plainclothes sentries.

As these buildings weren't military buildings, and the layout wasn't for military purposes, the sentries on the balconies didn't have a comprehensive view.

However, with a few people sitting on the roofs, they could completely grasp the movements around them.

Yu Tian calculated in his heart and realized that even if he were to personally take action, it would be impossible to quietly eliminate all the enemies on the roof.

These enemies were too scattered. If he were to kill any one of them, he would be able to draw the attention of others and trigger an alarm.

Yu Tian was a little puzzled.

What did the sheep and sheep mercenary group plan to do? Did they have any good ways to sneak in?

Yu Tian waited quietly for a while before he suddenly heard gunshots.

At the same time, he heard a very familiar sound..

This was a mortar.

Yu Tian was instantly delighted. The sheep mercenary group actually liked this thing? This was the weapon of war for Light Infantry!

However, Yu Tian only heard one mortar sound at the same time. This proved that the sheep mercenary group only brought one mortar. How much use could a mortar have on such a battlefield?

Yu Tian was a little puzzled.

But he quickly stopped wondering, because the sound of the mortar did not stop after it started.

The sound of the mortar was neither fast nor slow. One shot after another sounded, and the firing did not stop.

What was even more bizarre was that after the shells exploded, Yu Tian realized that these shells did not land in the same place.

These shells hit every building around the small warehouse accurately, and the moment they hit, they ignited a violent flame, igniting these wooden buildings quickly.

Incendiary bombs!

Almost in the time it took to curse a few words, all the buildings around the small warehouse were ignited.

These were all done by the same mortar, and Yu Tian was a little dumbfounded.

How was this firing? This was simply firing.

Firing required aiming. Firing required aiming. and the gunner needed more time to aim.

Therefore, the speed of firing couldn't be too fast. It couldn't be as fast as firing.

Especially in this situation, every bullet had a new target and needed to be re-aimed.

However, this mortar member of the sheep mercenary group didn't seem to have stopped to take aim.

In other words, he didn't have the time to take aim..

The interval between each shot of this mortar gunner was only enough to load the shells.

Yu Tian was astonished. Could This Be... a sharpshooter?

A sharpshooter could raise his gun and shoot without aiming. could a sharpshooter also operate like this?

The image of a sharpshooter immediately appeared in Yu Tian 's mind. He held the cannon with one hand and stuffed the shells into the muzzle while shifting the direction of the muzzle with ease..

In fact, the real situation was almost the same as what Yu Tian had imagined.

The mortars of the sheep mercenary group casually poured their cannonballs into the buildings and blew them up one by one.

Except for the small warehouse in the middle.

His aiming method was purely based on experience and intuition. There was no need to calculate the trajectory of the cannonball. The parabola of the cannonball was engraved in his mind like a formula.

He held the body of the cannon with one hand and stuffed the cannonball into the cannon with the other hand.

This posture of adjusting the position of the muzzle with one hand was much more pretentious than driving a Ferrari with one hand.

It sounded a little magical, but in fact, this technique was the same as how ordinary people played the game of ring toss. Practice makes perfect.

It was just that ordinary people did not have the opportunity to familiarize themselves with the mortar, so they could only throw the plastic ring.

Not only did this mortar operator have talent, but he also had countless opportunities to practice. That was why he was able to raise the firing speed and accuracy to such an absurd level.

Sharpshooters were all fed with bullets, and it was the same for sharpshooters.

Yu Tian could not see the mortar operator from his position, and the enemy's situation was similar.

They were now in a mess, and they had no time to find the mortar operator's position, let alone attack this mortar operator.

In fact, the position of the mortar fighter was not hidden. He was squatting on the side of the road in the middle of the position, only a few hundred meters away from the housing area.

He was completely exposed in the open air and there was no shelter in front of him.

This was because he also needed to aim. Although the way of aiming was somewhat special, he still needed to see the position of the target in order to estimate the distance of the target in his mind.

If the enemy had a sentry who could open his eyes wide and observe carefully along the roadside, he would be able to find the figure of this mortar operator by the side of the grape tree.

Unfortunately, the continuous shelling quickly ignited the houses. The enemy's sentry simply did not dare to stay on the roof to observe.

While being attacked by the mortar, pleasant goat and the others were also calmly and quickly shooting the enemy.

This caused the enemy to quickly fall into chaos. Not only could they not arrange people to deal with the mortars, they could not even organize a decent resistance and counterattack.

Yu Tian quietly observed the battlefield from a few hundred meters away. He found that after the Yang Yang mercenary group launched an attack, in less than a minute, the sentries outside the enemy had basically died.

Next were the enemies who ran out of the buildings. Among them were the Nogitsune Secret Service members in police uniforms, and the KRONNY society operational personnel in casual clothes.

Because of the building's fire, these people were in a bit of a mess.

They ran out of the building in a panic and huddled together in a mess.

Then, the machine guns in the grape forest sounded, and the firing and explosion of the grenade launchers also sounded.

The crowded crowd became the easiest sheep to slaughter, falling into the barrage and explosions of the machine guns.

Yu Tian could not help but shake his head as he watched. This was the special police force of the windy nation? This was the operation personnel of the Kronin Society?

They were simply unable to withstand a single blow. Even the quality of the pirates in the F * CK was better than theirs.

However, Yu Tian could understand this situation.

After all, these people weren't soldiers in the army. They didn't have any battlefield experience.

A battle on the battlefield was definitely not the same as a normal gun battle in the city.

A normal gun battle only needed to shoot at the enemy, and it was basically a face-to-face shooting.

However, the situation on the battlefield was much more complicated.

They would have to withstand attacks from different directions, and they would be hit by the enemy at any moment.

At the same time, they would also have to withstand attacks from various weapons, such as mortars, machine guns, grenade launchers, grenades..

The guns used on the battlefield were more powerful, more varied, and more cruel and violent.

This was not only the difference between military firearms and police and civilian firearms, but also not only the difference in power, but the meaning of their existence was different.

Military weapons were used for large-scale killing, while police and civilian weapons were usually used to stop it.

Machine guns rarely appeared in the city, but the battlefield was almost filled with a rain of bullets, which multiplied the danger factor.

Using the army to deal with the police, as well as some operational personnel who could only be considered gangsters, was indeed a bit of a bully.

Especially the sheep and sheep mercenary group, their combat strength was much stronger than those special forces. It was simply not something these ordinary people with weapons could contend against.

These police officers who had never been attacked by artillery shells were in a mess for a moment. They did not have time to think about fighting back, and they even forgot to lie down.

They only wanted to escape the range of the explosion and the shooting. They thought that as long as they ran fast enough, they had a chance to survive.

However, no matter how fast they ran, they could not outrun bullets.

Once the machine guns opened fire, the group of people who gathered together would be the most likely to die.

Yu Tian just watched the scene in a daze. He watched as groups of police officers and operational personnel ran around and fell one after another.

Machine guns, rifles, rifle grenades, mortar shells..

These things were continuously sent into the crowd. Within a few minutes, the empty space between the surrounding buildings was filled with corpses. Yu Tian roughly calculated that there were at least 70 to 80 people.

This was simply a massacre.

He originally thought that the process of this battle would be very difficult. He did not expect that it would turn into a one-sided massacre like watching others play a shooting game.

However, the number of enemies was much more than he had expected.

The enemies that were killed were all gathered in a few buildings near the small warehouse. The other buildings that were further away were not attacked by too much firepower, except for the fact that they were on fire.

The people in these buildings also ran out, and they even had time to catch their breath.

After that, as if there was a commander giving them a unified command, a large number of people in civilian clothes began to circle to both sides, surrounding the direction of the grape forest where the sheep mercenary group was located.

Yu Tian roughly estimated that there were at least one to two hundred people here, and the number was still ten times that of the sheep mercenary group.

If it was a sneak attack before, using fierce firepower to catch the enemy off guard, then the next battle would be the true test of the sheep mercenary group's combat strength..

Chapter 1162: Chapter 1,161 was an eye-opener

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian was a little curious. Could the sheep and sheep mercenary group withstand the counterattack of the enemy?

Although the sheep and sheep mercenary group was very strong, the difference in numbers was too great.

Yu Tian began to think about how to support the sheep and sheep mercenary group, but what surprised him happened again.

The sheep and sheep mercenary group actually took the initiative to walk out of the grape forest and rushed into the courtyard where the small warehouse was located.

The so-called courtyard was not the kind of courtyard that had walls, but was similar to an open space in front of an ordinary person's house.

Although there were some obstacles and bunkers on the open space, such as farm tools and the like, it could not hide people at all. It was even more exposed than the multi-channel environment of the grape forest.

However, the members of the sheep mercenary group still rushed in without hesitation.

Yu Tian understood in his heart that they were going to defend this small warehouse.

He was certain that the people of the DONGLONG company were locked in this small warehouse.

The mission of the sheep mercenary group was to rescue these people, so the warehouse was a place that had to be protected.

At this time, it was impossible to transfer the prisoners. If that happened, the casualties would definitely be ridiculous.

Therefore, the sheep mercenary group had to defend this small warehouse to the death.

The first to charge into the courtyard were two assaulters. Taking advantage of the time when the surrounding enemies were temporarily cleared out, they quickly rushed into the small courtyard in front of the small warehouse and went around to the two sides.

Both sides were burning buildings, and the fire was fierce.

Yu Tian suddenly found that the fire was very beneficial. At least it blocked off a few of the enemy's attack routes, so the enemy could only go around from the outside.

The direction that the sheep mercenary group needed to defend now was mainly the left and right sides.

The mortars continued to fire incendiary bombs, slowly sealing off the surrounding roads.

Yu Tian was slightly worried that this fire might ignite the small warehouse.

However, this situation did not happen. Perhaps it was because the small warehouse was not high, or perhaps it was because the weather was very good and there was no strong wind.

A small group of enemies tried to pass through the fire, but within a few breaths of time, they were all knocked down by the bullets fired from the grape forest.

Yu Tian saw clearly that none of the enemies were left alive.

They also launched a counterattack against the grape forest. All the bullets were fired, but it did not seem to have any effect.

It was not easy to hit the target from a distance of a few hundred meters.

However, they were all defeated by the mercenaries in the grapevine forest. This proved that the shooting skills of the sheep mercenary group were not on the same level as theirs.

Then, something even more ridiculous happened.

The enemies who had circled to both sides began to approach the small warehouse and the grapevine forest.

The grape forest first rewarded them with a shuttle of machine guns, which made them immediately give up on charging forward.

The plain-clothes operation personnel began to counterattack aimlessly, pouring bullets into the small warehouse.

The Nogitsune Secret Service policemen began to crawl forward, and used various obstacles to cross and cover the way forward. It was very professional tactical cooperation.

However, it was not very effective.

The mercenaries on the side of the grape forest had already reached the edge of the forest. Yu Tian saw Xi Yang Yang. He crouched behind a pit on the side of the road and began to shoot at the enemy on the left.

His shooting rhythm was very fast. With every gunshot, one of the enemy's troops would fall.

This trend could not be stopped. Regardless of whether the wild fox secret service policemen were lying on the ground or behind an obstacle, they were inevitably shot to death.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team was also fighting back. Both sides basically had no cover, but there was still a few hundred meters between them. However, the Wild Fox Secret Service team's shooting did not even wipe a strand of pleasant goat's hair.

It seemed that after a while, Yu Tian suddenly understood.

This was the reason for the weapons. The Wild Fox Secret Service team's guns had poor shooting accuracy from a few hundred meters away.

However, the automatic rifle in Xi Yang's hands was not a standard weapon like theirs.

Although Yu Tian was not familiar with firearms, he knew that Xi Yang must have used a custom-made weapon or an advanced rifle that had been modified.

This kind of weapon could guarantee the accuracy of long-distance shooting. In addition to his marksmanship, he could basically shoot without missing a shot.

No wonder Zhu Ge Liang said that Yu Tian could not be a match for Xi Yang Yang and the others if he took a gun to the battlefield.

If Yu Tian did not use qinggong to cheat, he would not be able to fight against such a sharpshooter.

Moreover, Xi Yang was not the only sharpshooter in the Yang Yang mercenary group. His teammates' marksmanship was not bad, and their weapons were all different types of personal firearms. It was obvious that they were expensive.

The teammates of the sheep mercenary group were either lying in the courtyard or in some mounds and mud pits by the roadside.

There were less than ten of them, but with just the rifles in their hands, they were able to suppress the enemy several hundred meters away.

Yu Tian had finally opened his eyes.

This was purely a head-on confrontation. The enemy and the enemy were purely shooting at each other, and there weren't any good fortifications or bunkers.

However, the distance of a few hundred meters determined the life and death of both sides.

A few hundred meters might not seem far, but looking at the muzzle of the gun, the opposite side was just a small black dot.

To be able to hit the target at such a distance, one could definitely be called a sharpshooter.

Sharpshooters were generally not used to describe snipers, but to describe accurate shooters.

Accurate shooters and snipers had some similarities, but there were also some differences. These were two different positions.

Snipers usually hid for a long time and then found an opportunity to kill in one shot in the ultra-long range.

This ultra-long range could sometimes reach several kilometers away.

Therefore, the sniper rifle used by snipers had to have an ultra-long range and extremely high accuracy.

As for precision shooters, they were usually arranged in front of the battlefield.

They mainly used rapid shooting to kill the enemy in large numbers and accurately.

Precision shooters could sometimes replace the position of snipers, but they were not as professional as snipers in the ultra-long range.

A distance of several hundred meters was precisely the distance where precision shooters could take advantage of their shooting skills.

This was a distance where they could easily hit their opponents, but their opponents would find it difficult to hit them.

In small mercenary groups, precision shooters were used more than snipers, including in normal frontal battles.

The sheep and sheep mercenary group obviously had a few excellent precision shooters, so they openly blocked off the wild fox secret service team's frontal attack.

Seconds and minutes passed, and the gunshots did not stop.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team and the undercover personnel were constantly dying. Their commander did not know how to stop this process, and this feeling made one's scalp tingle..

Chapter 1163: Chapter 1,162, complete victory

The Nogitsune Secret Service team and the undercover personnel were all fighting back. Faced with the threat of death, they couldn't just sit around and wait for their deaths.

The collective counterattack of over a hundred people was massive. Countless bullets flew in the direction of the small warehouse.

Unfortunately, their shooting accuracy was a little off.

Perhaps some of the stray bullets were lucky enough to hit the target, but the members of the sheep mercenary group were all wearing bulletproof vests and bulletproof helmets.

Yu Tian didn't know what brand of equipment they were using, but it was definitely very expensive and of very good quality.

The occasional stray bullet didn't cause any trouble to the sheep mercenary group.

The sheep mercenary group's Raiders had already entered the small warehouse, but Yu Tian couldn't see the exact situation inside.

The battle outside was bustling with activity, but the situation seemed to have stabilized.

The sheep mercenary group firmly held the upper hand. The enemy was in a dilemma a few hundred meters away, and people were constantly being killed by the accurate shooters.

If the situation continued like this, Yu Tian felt that the battle would be over soon.

But the situation quickly changed.

After Yu Tian saw the buildings, two police armored vehicles suddenly rushed out and directly rushed over from the fire.

The police armored vehicles were hidden in a certain building, but because all the buildings were set ablaze by the mortars, the enemies who were busy running for their lives almost forgot about these vehicles.

But in the end, some of the braver ones braved the danger of mortar bombing and took out the two police armored vehicles despite the fire.

The armored vehicles were equipped with machine guns. This was definitely the king of the light infantry battlefield.

However, as soon as these two armored vehicles appeared, one of the armored vehicles was hit by a cannon.

The sheep and sheep mercenary group seemed to have used rpgs, or weapons similar to rpgs.

The police armored vehicle was stopped on the spot and started to burn.

Weapons like rpgs were definitely the most convenient weapons in the hands of the light infantry. They were also the necessary weapons for the mercenary group.

These weapons were similar to guns. They were easy to use and easy to operate. They only needed to aim in a straight line.

The disadvantage was that the user would have to risk his life.

However, the rocket launcher of the sheep mercenary group did not seem to be taking any risks. He hid at the edge of the grape forest. In the few seconds when the armored vehicle appeared, he quickly completed the launch.

Yu Tian did not even notice when he fired the rocket.

The other police armored vehicle did not survive for long. Yu Tian only heard a violent gunshot. The police armored vehicle rammed straight into a burning building.

Immediately after, the machine gunner on the vehicle ran out of the building in a panic, randomly patting the sparks on his body.

Following that, there was another gunshot, and the machine gunner suddenly turned into pieces.

Yu Tian immediately understood that these two shots were done by the sniper at the back.

Anti-material sniper rifles could easily penetrate the cab of this type of police armored vehicle, and could also easily blow up a human body.

Yu Tian remembered that the sniper had brought two sniper rifles. One of them should be an anti-material weapon, which he used specifically to deal with armored vehicles.

With the sniper hiding at the back, armored vehicles wouldn't pose much of a threat to the sheep mercenary group.

Moreover, the sheep mercenary group had long been mentally prepared for the appearance of armored vehicles. They even knew the direction in which they would appear.

This was related to their previous scouting work, as well as their close attention to the entire battlefield.

In war, it was definitely not a fierce battle with machine guns. This was a very calm and rational process.

The control of the sheep mercenary group over the entire battlefield had already reached the level of art.

Their actions were neither too fast nor too slow. In fact, it even felt a little understated. However, the entire battlefield was firmly in their hands.

The mortars continued to bombard, but the shells were no longer incendiary bombs. Instead, they were high explosive bombs that were used to kill infantry in a wide range.

When these shells fell into the crowd, they would immediately turn into a pile of fatal fragments that would fly in all directions. The destructive power of these shells on infantry was enormous.

Mortars were a very terrifying weapon for infantry, especially when they were controlled by a god-level gunner.

This was also a very ancient weapon. It had played a huge role in past wars, and it would also play a huge role in future wars.

The eastern country had experienced the advantages of mortars during that war that lasted for eight years.

Now that military technology was constantly improving, the types of mortars were more abundant, and they could play a greater role.

Under the bombardment of the sharpshooters, the enemy's attack finally collapsed.

Knowing that there was no hope of victory, no one was willing to lie on the battlefield and wait for death.

More than half of the enemy troops that were dead or injured became a little chaotic. Soon, some people began to retreat.

Following that, some people jumped up and ran to the back.

Running for their lives was a very contagious thing. If one person ran for their lives, it would cause a group of people to run for their lives. In the end, it would cause the entire army to flee.

This chaotic situation soon appeared. The enemies no longer had the desire to fight and all began to race.

The machine guns of the sheep mercenary group rang out again..

Yu Tian sighed. Sure enough, it was a top-tier mercenary group. They actually beat the enemies until they had no temper at all.

However, a top-tier mercenary group wasn't omnipotent.

With so many enemies running for their lives, they couldn't kill all of them, and it was even more inconvenient for them to chase after them.

They could only try to kill many as to prevent them from making a

However, this kind of worry was a little unnecessary. These enemies even threw away their weapons while they were running for their lives.

The enemies who were lucky enough to run out of the firing range didn't even turn their heads. They ran all the way out of the grape forest until there was no trace of them.

The gunshots gradually subsided until they stopped.

The sheep mercenary group did not pursue the enemy. They slightly adjusted their positions and continued to maintain a defensive position around the small warehouse.

After the battle ended, Yu Tian came out from the grape forest where he was hiding.

He followed the main road and quickly ran in the direction of the small warehouse.

Yu Tian's sudden appearance attracted the attention of the sheep mercenary group. However, the battle had already ended. Yu Tian did not carry any weapons on him, so the mercenaries did not immediately shoot at him.

Soon, Yu Tian's identity was confirmed by the sheep mercenary group.

When he ran to the small warehouse, happy sheep was already waiting for him at the door.

Yu Tian nodded at happy sheep and directly walked in through the half-opened door.

There were more than a dozen enemy corpses lying in the small warehouse. Most of them were lying near the door.

These people were all in civilian clothes. There were no police officers.

To Yu's surprise, there seemed to be no sign of a firefight in the small warehouse..

Chapter 1164: Chapter 1,163, leadership

Translator: 549690339

Generally speaking, the scene of a gunfight would definitely be filled with residue such as bullet shells and shrapnel, the smell of gunpowder and smoke, as well as the broken walls that were riddled with holes.

However, there were no such traces in the small warehouse. It seemed that the enemy had been shot to death with great precision without firing a single shot. Yu Tian was a little surprised. "Your commandos are so powerful..."

However, this did not seem to make sense because most of the enemies' corpses were gathered near the entrance.

Could it be that when the commandos charged in, the enemies suddenly ran up and wanted to fight with the commandos with bayonets?

Was that why they were all knocked down by the commandos, one shot at a time?

However, this still did not make sense.

When the commandos attacked a building, they should first throw grenades inside instead of running into the house.

Even if there were hostages in the house, they could also use non-lethal weapons such as stun grenades.

The scene in front of him really puzzled Yu Tian.

Xi Yang Yang, who was beside him, chuckled. "It's not as magical as you think. Actually, we used thermal imaging equipment..."

Yu Tian suddenly understood.

Using thermal imaging equipment, it indeed to accurately kill the enemies in a house. Especially in a house with wooden walls, there was no resistance to rifle bullets.

The reason why most of the enemies died at the door was probably because they were anxious to rush out after discovering that their teammates had been accurately killed by the wall.

In the end, it was even more convenient for everyone to eat bullets together. Yu Tian looked around the small warehouse and saw a few wooden stakes erected in the corner and some torture instruments beside them. This seemed to be the place where the prisoners were interrogated.

However, Yu Tian did not see any prisoners.

Could it be that the Yangyang mercenary group was protecting this empty warehouse?

Could it be that their investigation had gone wrong?

Xi Yangyang could see his confusion, he chuckled, "Don't worry, the people you want to save are all in the cellar. After we killed the enemy, the assault team immediately entered the house and put down the people on the torture equipment. Because there was still gunfire outside, in order to avoid accidental injuries from stray bullets, the assault team sent the people down the cellar..."

"The cellar..."

Yu Tian suddenly came to a realization.

The Yang Yang mercenary group could even find the cellar. What kind of detection equipment did they bring?

A combat mercenary group actually acted like a geological survey team and didn't find it troublesome.

As expected, the factors that determined the outcome of a war were usually outside of the battlefield.

As they spoke, a wooden floor in the corner was lifted.

With the help of the assault team, "Hostages" walked out of the cellar one by one.

These people were mostly Orientals, and there were a few white workers.

Although Yu Tian was unfamiliar with these oriental faces, under such circumstances, he could basically determine the identity of these people.

They were the East Dragon Company's headquarters, the middle and high-level managers who had been arrested.

These people were more or less injured, but with Yu Tian, the godly doctor, present, injuries were not a big deal.

As long as the people were not dead, Yu Tian could easily stabilize their injuries and allow them to quickly recover, or even recover.

Yu Tian immediately took out a silver needle and began to stabilize the injuries of the injured.

The hostages were not too excited and excited. Instead, they were a little vigilant.

While Yu Tian was treating some of the injured with simple acupuncture, an eastern man suddenly asked, "May I ask, who are you people?"

He was asking Pleasant Goat because Pleasant Goat had been standing at the side and looking like a boss.

"We are mercenaries, and this is our boss... if you have any questions, you can ask him. "

Pleasant Goat pointed at Yu Tian.

Everyone was a little surprised. They had thought that Yu Tian was just a medical staff who followed the team, but they did not expect him to be a proper boss.

All of a sudden, everyone's attention was focused on Yu Tian.

Yu Tian indeed acted like a doctor, because he was originally here to save people.

He had to try his best to ensure that more of the company's middle and upper management were alive, so that Donglong Company could return to the right track soon as and recover its strength.

Under everyone's puzzled and inquisitive gazes, Yu Tian answered unhurriedly as he injected the needles, "I am Yu Tian."

"Yu Tian... number one?"

The eastern man was stunned for a moment before a look of surprise and joy appeared on his face.

Many of the higher-ups of the Eastern Dragon Company knew of the existence of number one, but most of them did not know the specific information of number one.

And this eastern man in front of him was clearly the part of the people who knew the name Yu Tian.

Yu Tian's expression was a little helpless.

As he injected the wounded man with needles, he slowly said, "Yes, number one... the number uncle long arranged for me feels like the name of a beverage..."

Hearing this answer, many eastern people immediately became excited. "It's actually number one. Number One has come to save us personally..."

Someone carefully stared at Yu Tian's face for a few seconds and then said excitedly, "It's number one, it really is number one. Pve seen number one's photo information before..."

There were also members who were confused. They asked their partners in puzzlement, "What's number one's position?"

"I don't know either. A single-digit serial number... it should be a core manager, right?"

"Isn't our serial number irregular? What's the difference between a single-digit number and a ten-digit number?"

"It's irregular, but a special serial number like number one..."

"Of course it's special! Number One is our boss, the actual owner of our DONGLONG company, and the president is only his agent..."

"Oh? Uncle Long is only helping number one manage the company? I always thought Uncle Long was the boss..."

“Number one is the real boss... This used to be top secret, but now that Uncle Long is in trouble, number one can only publicly take over the company.

“Number one has finally appeared. When the president was in trouble, I knew that number one would definitely come out to take over the company...

“Hello, Number One! Number eight reporting to you, please take over the command of the company immediately...” “Hello, number one, reporting to you, number 33!” “Hello, number one, reporting to you, number 68!” “Hello, number one, reporting to you, number 99!”

“Hello, No. 1, reporting to you, No. 25!

“Hello, No 1

The East Dragon Company was now leaderless. Yu Tian, whose authority was far above Uncle Long’s, was naturally the only one who had the right to take over the company.

The members of the company, who were leaderless, hoped to find a backbone right now. Especially a backbone whose command was absolutely clear and without any disputes.

Yu Tian had just rescued everyone safely from the hands of the police force. This was enough to prove Yu Tian’s strength. He was absolutely capable of taking over the current mess of the donglong company.

This was the best leader without any other choice..

Chapter 1165: Chapter 1,164, five-star review

Translator: 549690339

Everyone had no objection to Yu Tian taking over the power. No one would be stupid enough to fight for power or question Yu Tian’s identity at this time.

“Everyone, there’s no need to rush...”

Yu Tian first gave the injured a simple treatment before instructing, “Let’s move first. Our vehicles are two kilometers away. If there’s anything, we’ll talk when we get to a safe place...”

The people from the East Dragon Company did not have any doubts and immediately took action.

After Yu Tian's simple treatment, most of them had regained the ability to move, but they were still a little weak.

However, Yu Tian and the sheep mercenary group's vehicles were not far, only two kilometers away.

No matter how weak their physical fitness was, it was not to the extent that they could not reach the place.

The mouse team led the way, and the Donglong Company's team soon entered the grape forest.

The group quickly left the vineyard and squeezed into more than 20 cars.

After everyone got into the cars, Yu Tian let out a sigh of relief.

He asked brother Pig Liang, "Have you arranged the evacuation location?"

Piggy Liang said, "Of course, I've already told Xi Yang about the evacuation plan. The convoy will follow them."

"Okay, we'll set off immediately..."

It was time to rush. Yu Tian's convoy and the convoy of the sheep mercenary group mixed together and left quickly.

The size of the convoy was a little eye-catching, but there were not many vehicles in the suburbs.

They continued to move in the direction of Dusk City and soon turned into a small road.

The traffic on the small road was even rarer, especially at this time of the morning. There were no other cars on the road at all.

Not long after, Yu Tian saw a large container truck parked on the side of the road in front.

The convoy slowly stopped at the side of the road. Brother Pig opened the door and said to Yu Tian, "We're here."

"We're here?"

Yu Tian was a little puzzled. In the wilderness... was this the safe point after the evacuation?

Brother pig smiled and said, "We'll change cars here. The motorcade's target is too big. It's easy for the authorities to target us."

"Oh.

Yu Tian slowly nodded.

If there were conditions, changing cars was indeed necessary.

Yu Tian also got off the car.

After getting off the car, he saw that the door of the passenger seat of the container truck in front also opened.

Then, an acquaintance jumped out of the truck. It was Xiao Wang from the eastern country's security department.

Two days earlier, Xiao Wang had brought Yu Tian to the wind country, including all the members of the mouse team.

Therefore, after seeing Xiao Wang, Yu Tian felt more assured about the safety of the evacuation operation.

With the assistance of the eastern country's security department, the people of the Donglong Company would definitely be sent to a safe place.

After a simple greeting, Xiao Wang began to arrange for the people of the DONGLONG company to board the vehicles.

Large container trucks were not passenger vehicles. The situation of using such containers to carry people usually happened to illegal immigrants.

A container the size of a container could even fit hundreds of people.

Those illegal immigrants were so crowded that they could not breathe. Sometimes, they would suffocate to death in the containers.

However, the container trucks arranged by the eastern countries were not so simple. They were professional vehicles for carrying passengers.

The container was a large freezer. On the surface, it was used to transport frozen food.

But it was also very suitable for carrying passengers.

With a little modification, it could provide passengers with the most comfortable temperature and fresh air.

There were enough seats in the freezer. At least everyone could sit there, not to mention how spacious and comfortable it was.

In addition, there was a layer of camouflage on the outer layer of the freezer, which was enough to deal with ordinary inspections.

As a temporary, emergency, and hidden means of transportation for personnel, this large truck was definitely an excellent choice.

Of course, Yu Tian didn't have time to choose now.

After all the East Dragon Company's personnel got on the truck, happy sheep brought his subordinates to Yu Tian.

They were here to hand in their mission and bid farewell.

"Are you leaving already?"

Yu Tian was a little reluctant.

He felt that there were many things worth learning from the sheep mercenary group, and he wanted to observe them for a while more.

Happy sheep smiled and said, "According to Brother Pig's mission requirements, we were originally going to escort you all to a safe place. However, the place you're going to now doesn't seem suitable for us to know..."

The one who received Yu Tian was little Wang. He represented the eastern country's security department, so the place they were going to was naturally a stronghold set up by the eastern country's security department.

Their safe stronghold naturally couldn't be casually revealed to a mercenary group.

Even if pleasant goat was such a well-known reputation team, and even the captain of Pleasant Goat was an easterner.

Under no special circumstances or necessary circumstances, the security department had to abide by certain rules and regulations in order to ensure the service life of the safe stronghold.

The sheep and sheep mercenary group could not escort them to the end, so they could only end the mission early.

Xiao Wang also said, "The most important thing now is not the combat strength of the escort team, but the concealment of our switching vehicles. "With such a huge escort team following our container truck... isn't this the same as saying that there's no silver in this place?"

Yu Tian could not help but laugh.

Indeed, with more than twenty small cars following the container truck, no matter how he looked at it, he felt that something was not right.

Now, it was indeed time for the sheep mercenary group to leave.

He could only shake hands with happy sheep regretfully. "Then... your mission ends here. As the employer, I'm very satisfied with your mission performance...

Yes, five stars!"

Xi Yang was happy. "Then I'm relieved... I was worried that the mission difficulty was too low, and we didn't complete the escort... you would complain that our service was not good enough.

Yu Tian said, "The mission difficulty is too low? It's just that your level is too high... I hope there will be a chance to cooperate with you next time." "I'll give you my email and phone number. You can contact me directly next time...

Xi Yang Yang and Yu Tian exchanged contact information and then said with a smile, "Donglong Company is a big client. If you have a suitable business in the future, please remember to take care of us first..."

The so-called suitable business was naturally a business of more than ten million yuan.

Yu Tian said solemnly, "Don't worry, we'll meet again soon..."

Xi Yang nodded. "Then... Goodbye!"

"Goodbye!"

Xi Yang Yang waved at Yu Tian and then led the convoy away.

They had their own way of evacuation, so Yu Tian and the others didn't need to worry.

Little Wang also quickly got into the container truck and the evacuation continued.

Yu Tian and the others didn't get into the container truck. They still drove a few of their cars.

However, they didn't all follow the container truck to evacuate.

The next step was to split up..

Chapter 1166: Chapter 1,165, secret hideout

According to Piggy Liang's arrangements, the rest of the people had to return to the safe house in dusk city. Only Yu Tian, Piggy Liang, and the big guy continued to follow the container truck and leave.

The three of them only needed one truck, and it would not look suspicious if they followed the container truck.

In addition, Piggy Liang also let No. 76 leave the safe house. Under the protection of a rat squad member, he quickly went to the hideout provided by the eastern country's security department.

The rest of the people continued to stay in the safe house, "To protect" Edward's safety.

Edward had to stay in Twilight City, because Twilight City would soon need him.

Yu Tian followed the container truck to continue the evacuation, and soon left Twilight City's state province.

A few hours later, Yu Tian and the others entered a suburban farm.

This was private territory, and there was a conspicuous wooden sign at the intersection that said: private territory, no visitors.

That was what it meant. No visitors were allowed in.

Outsiders rarely appeared in such places, except for the farmer's family.

The road was very quiet, and there was no one in sight except for the crops.

Yu Tian followed the container truck all the way to the farmer's house.

The farmer was already waiting outside the house. Xiao Wang got out of the car, and the farmer quickly came up to him.

Yu Tian also got out of the car and took a careful look at the farmer. He was indeed an easterner.

He should be an intelligence officer of the Easterner's security department. After all, other than his own people, it was hard to rely on others.

Even some of his compatriots were not suitable for delivering particularly important tasks.

However, this was the wind country after all. An Easterner's farmer seemed to be able to easily attract the attention of the enemy's intelligence department.

Did the eastern country's security department not consider this?

Yu Tian had some doubts, but his doubts were quickly answered.

The wife of the Oriental farmer was from the wind country, and she was the white partner of the wind country.

The farm they ran was also the ancestral property of the woman. The oriental farmer was like a son-in-law who came to visit.

Of course, there was no such thing as a son-in-law in the wind country.

But in this way, the identity of the eastern farmer was not so conspicuous.

After a simple greeting and introduction, the people in the container truck also got out one after another and gathered behind the farmer's house.

The Farmer had a very large house. Although the decoration was not high-end, it was spacious and comfortable enough.

In addition, he also had a very large barn, as well as various miscellaneous houses, wooden sheds, stables..

However, Xiao Wang did not arrange for the people of the Donglong Company to stay in the house.

All of them entered the barn behind the house.

The barn could also accommodate people. Although it was not very comfortable, everyone could accept it.

However, Xiao Wang still did not arrange for them to stay in the barn.

There was a basement under the barn that was thousands of square meters in size. This was the real secret stronghold.

The basement could accommodate more than 100 people for a short period of time. In addition to the ample space, the food and water could also store the consumption of more than 100 people for a month.

This was a place used by the eastern country's security agencies to hide important people or large numbers of operational personnel.

Xiao Wang said that this stronghold had been built for more than 10 years, and this was the first time it was really put to use today.

The basement's environment was relatively perfect. There was no lack of ventilation and sewage facilities, and it was a hundred times more comfortable than a dilapidated cellar.

In addition, there were all kinds of necessary equipment and weapons, including computers and networks needed for office work, as well as guns and ammunition sufficient to launch a small-scale battle.

"How is it? This place should be fine as your temporary headquarters, right?"

Little Wang led Yu Tian and the others around the basement, his face full of pride.

Yu Tian praised, "It's an excellent secret place. This place must have cost a lot of money, right?"

Little Wang said, "Money is still a small matter. The main reason is to ensure the concealment of the project, so we can only use our own construction team. Moreover, the scale of the construction can not be very large. It took a very long time..."

Yu Tian sighed and said, "I hope that our use this time will not let your stronghold be abandoned."

Little Wang said, "So be it. The purpose of building these secret strongholds is to deal with today's situation. As long as they play their due role, there's nothing to regret about being abandoned.

Brother Pig laughed at the side and said, "As long as there are no traitors among us, the possibility of this place being exposed is not very high..."

Security breaches usually happened to people. No matter how strict the confidentiality system was, as long as there was a problem, the secret could not be kept.

Yu Tian's heart skipped a beat. He asked Piggy Liang again, "Do you think there are traitors among these people?"

When they said these words, they did not avoid the other members of the East Dragon Company.

The people that Yu Tian was referring to were the members of the East Dragon company that they had rescued.

The people of the East Dragon Company immediately became serious.

No one could guarantee that there were no traitors among them.

Traitors could also be arrested with them and mingle among them to gain more trust.

For example, the current situation.

If there were traitors among them, he would successfully follow everyone and get in touch with the biggest secret of the East Dragon Company Yu Tian, the behind-the-scenes boss.

Then, they would discover a new stronghold of the DONGLONG company.

He might even discover that this new stronghold was related to the Dongfang country's security department and that the cooperation between the DONGLONG company and the Dongfang country had reached such a close degree..

The danger of a traitor was huge, and this topic made all the people of the DONGLONG company nervous.

Everyone looked at each other, their eyes alert. They were all trying to figure out who had suspicious traces.

Brother pig suddenly laughed, "Don't be nervous, spies and traitors are a long-term topic. Since you guys are here, it means that the boss trusts you guys. In the next few days, you guys just need to maintain normal vigilance and normal mutual supervision."

After a pause, brother Zhu Liang continued, "I forgot to introduce myself. My surname is Zhu, and my friends like to call me brother Zhu. Because I'm more handsome, my friends call me... Brother Zhu Liang!"

The people from the DONGLONG company immediately felt a sense of respect. The meaning of brother Zhu Liang's abbreviation was definitely not ordinary.

Brother Zhu Liang continued, "From now on, all the matters of the DONGLONG company will be handled by me. All of you have to report to me, and all the work will be arranged by me..."

At this point, the people of the DONGLONG company could not help but look at Yu Tian in unison.

Yu Tian nodded and said, "Zhu Ge Liang is now the acting president of the company until Uncle Long returns safely... Before that, his orders are my orders..

Chapter 1167: Chapter 1,166, temporary headquarters

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian's words were within everyone's expectations.

Zhuge Liang, the prime minister... Everyone knew what he was doing.

The current DONGLONG company was in a crisis. They really needed a talent like Zhuge Liang to turn the tide.

Yu Tian was their spiritual leader, but the one who really came up with ideas and did things was obviously someone else-

Brother pig observed everyone's reaction and found that the quality of these middle and high-level personnel of the DONGLONG company was still pretty good. There was no sign of them whispering to each other and discussing about their mental retardation.

Everyone remained silent and waited for Brother Pig to continue speaking.

Brother Pig nodded his head in satisfaction, then, he said, "Alright, there's no need to be too anxious about work. "Everyone, go and pick a room first. Then, have a meal and take a bath. Settle your personal matters and rest... in two hours, gather in this hall. Dismissed!"

With that order, everyone dispersed.

Everyone was indeed a little mentally and physically exhausted. When they were prisoners, they had all been tortured, and they had not had a good rest.

After rushing all the way to the safe house, they all needed a good rest.

They needed at least half an hour to lie down in bed and take a nap to recover their energy.

There was nothing to choose from in the basement rooms. After all, the environment and decoration of each bedroom were similar, and there were no windows or sunlight.

The conditions of the bedrooms were slightly simpler than normal houses, but the water and electricity supply were still guaranteed.

They had their own generators and multiple water pressure wells.

The food was mainly dry food, but there was also a variety of food.

However, no one cared about food and drink now. They went to the grain warehouse to get their own food and hurried back to their rooms.

An hour later, someone returned to the hall.

They really couldn't sleep, so they could only wait for the meeting to start.

Brother Pig ordered everyone to set up desks, chairs, and computers. He wanted to make this hall into an office hall, so that all the members could work here.

At this time, No. 76 also rushed to the farm under the protection of the mouse team.

Brother Pig immediately gave No. 76 a task.

They now needed a very safe computer network, in case there was a traitor who leaked their current location from the network.

Therefore, this office system and network, must have a professional to build. These are the 76 professional, and 76 is currently the most trustworthy candidate.

76 familiar with the road, from the company members to select a few as assistants, and immediately began to build the headquarters office system and network.

In addition to the computer network, mobile phones and satellite phones were also needed for work.

Since these middle and high-ranking officials had been arrested by the police before, they did not have mobile phones on them.

However, this was not a problem. Naturally, there would be some backup communication tools in the stronghold, including mobile phones and satellite phones.

Piggy Liang took these mobile phones out of the warehouse and began to charge and install phone cards.

The cell phones would be prohibited from being carried by private people and only allowed to be used in the office lobby.

These were all trivial tasks. Due to the shortage of manpower, many things required Zhu Geliang and Yu Tian to do personally.

When the network cable was set up on the 76th, the rest of the Donglong Company's senior executives gathered in the lobby.

Zhu Gelian began to arrange jobs for these people again.

If he wanted to arrange jobs for people, of course, he had to understand this person first.

Therefore, Piggy Liang's first task was to organize the people.

He first picked No. 8 out and asked No. 8 to help him organize the list and information of the people present.

No. 76 had said before that No. 8 might have the list of all the members of Donglong Company, so he should be in the "Personnel" position and should be familiar with the situation of other colleagues.

Now that Piggy Liang wanted to rebuild the high-level command system of the East Dragon Company, he needed No. 8's cooperation.

He wanted to build a complete headquarters based on the previous positions of every member of the East Dragon Company and the resources they had.

This job was not troublesome, but according to the confidentiality of the East

Dragon Company, each person's specific work could not be disclosed to others.

Therefore, Piggy Liang needed a separate room. According to the information provided by No. 8, he would meet with the management of the DONGLONG company one by one.

This job was supposed to be time-consuming, but Piggy Liang still had a lot of things to do, so he could only speed up the process as much as possible.

No. 8 had ready-made personnel information. Piggy Liang called the people on the information into the small office one by one. While reading the information, he asked a few simple questions, and then sent them out to wait for orders.

Then there was the next one..

Donglong company was a centralized structure. The branches were dismantled very piecemeal, and the power was concentrated in the hands of the high-level people in the headquarters.

Therefore, the work that these high-level people were responsible for was very diverse and complicated.

First of all, their headquarters was divided into eight large groups, which corresponded to the branches of the eight regions.

Then, these eight large groups were divided into several groups according to their respective division of labor.

For example, groups that were specifically responsible for managing various operations in the region, groups that were specifically responsible for managing legitimate businesses and companies, groups that were specifically responsible for maintaining relations with local officials, and groups that were specifically responsible for illegal businesses, groups that were specifically responsible for recruiting gangsters, groups that were specifically responsible for buying off and infiltrating key departments such as the police..

Every large group had a team leader. Six of them were eastern people, and two of them were white workers.

This arrangement was to prevent DONGLONG company from becoming too obviously Eastern.

However, the eastern company had already felt the trend of being eastern, so the two white workers 'team leaders rebelled without hesitation.

Fortunately, Uncle Long held back. He did not place the company's authority in the hands of these eight team leaders.

Each team leader was only responsible for coordinating public affairs in the region, but they could not interfere with the work of the team leaders.

For example, a company in a legitimate industry needed to bribe the official department. For example, an illegal business was threatened by a local gang. For example, an official who had been bribed was investigated, and the action personnel needed to remove the witnesses..

All of these tasks required the cooperation of two or even several teams.

The Big Team Leader coordinated and organized these collaborations, resolved some controversial and contradictory issues, and made the final decision, acting like a judge.

The big team leader was clear about the role and identity of the team leader, but he did not have the information and resources in the hands of the team leader.

Therefore, just the betrayal of the two group leaders could not immediately cause problems in the operation of the East Dragon Company.

The betrayal of the group leader, or the betrayal after he was arrested, would cause losses to some branches in a certain region..

Chapter 1168: Chapter 1,167, emergency measures

Translator: 549690339

Zhu Geliang's top priority was to preserve the strength of each division.

This time, he had defected two team leaders and more than ten team leaders.

On average, there were two team leaders defecting in each region.

However, according to Uncle Long's previous arrangements, the key departments of each region were in the hands of the eastern team leaders.

For example, the operations department.

For example, the public relations department (the department that maintains relations with the local area)

For example, the intelligence department (the department that buys and infiltrates the local official organizations)

The team leaders of non-oriental people were mainly responsible for managing affairs and making money for the company.

For example, legitimate and illegal businesses, as well as those gang affairs.

Thus, as long as the Oriental team leaders did not defect, the possibility of major departments suffering losses was not too high.

As for the branch heads in the eight regions, Piggy Liang felt that they did not have the courage to take the initiative to rebel.

Because a single branch was very weak.

For example, an operation branch usually only had a dozen or twenty people.

They relied on the funds of the headquarters to support themselves and directly followed the orders of the team leader.

Even if the branch heads wanted to rebel, they would not be able to cause any waves.

In addition, the biggest problem of a rebellion was that those who wanted to rebel didn't know how many of their colleagues would rebel with them.

If they rebelled alone, they would definitely be crushed into powder by the powerful force of the headquarters.

Only if they rebelled collectively and had a certain amount of strength would they have the possibility of working together to protect themselves.

However, each branch in the region was independent and didn't have any contact with each other.

Even if the branches had some contact because of their work, they were limited by the company's rules and not many people kept in touch in private.

This level of interaction was not enough for them to complete the whole region.

Therefore, it was unlikely that the branches would rebel alone.

Although the leader's rebellion would cause some trouble and affect the branches.

However, it was not possible for the team leader to lead the entire division to revolt in a short period of time.

After all, the rebellion was a very serious matter for the division. Most people did not have the courage to do so.

Even if they were very close to the team leader, they would be very hesitant on such a big matter.

In addition, because of the company system, the rebellion was also a more troublesome operation.

For example, the property and stock rights of those branch companies that did legitimate business were not in the hands of the branch head.

All the legitimate businesses of Donglong Company were held through complicated shareholdings, and finally, they were in the hands of some large enterprises in the eastern country.

If the branch head wanted to transfer the company's funds or do some other operations, it would not be done in a short period of time.

As for those illegal industries, the funds had basically been handed over to the headquarters, so they did not have much left.

As for those gangs, without the support of other departments, they would not be able to survive.

In short, at the moment, the problems of the various branches were not big.

The problem that brother pig was most worried about was not the rebellion of the small branches, but the big and small group leaders in the headquarters.

Although the big team leaders did not know much about the situation of the sub-groups, they had more or less grasped some information about the team leaders under them.

In the past few days, through the information provided by the two traitor big team leaders, the Kronin Society had started to pursue and kill some of the team leaders of the East Dragon Company.

This was the case with number 55, who had run to Damadi.

In addition, the rebel team leaders were also very dangerous.

Not only did they have a partial grasp of the situation of other group leaders, but they also had a complete grasp of the situation of their branches.

They would provide information to the Kronin order to hunt down and kill the eastern group leaders of the same group, and at the same time persuade the other non-eastern group leaders to surrender.

In addition, they would incite the branch rebellion, and at the same time, they would attack the branch leaders who were unwilling to betray.

The way to do it was still through the KLONI association. They would send the information of the branch directly to the KLONI association, and then the KLONI Association would destroy those branches one by one.

The power of the KLONI association was very huge. There were so many operational personnel in a small twilight city.

As long as they had the information of the branch of the DONGLONG company, they could easily mobilize a large number of people to launch armed attacks on the personnel and industries of the DONGLONG company.

The non-combatants of the East Dragon Company could not resist at all.

In addition, due to the disappearance of the headquarters, many branch heads might come to Twilight City to investigate.

Their information was not originally in the hands of the rebel team leaders, but coming to the headquarters of Twilight City was equivalent to a sheep entering the tiger's mouth.

Therefore, Piggy Liang must act quickly now.

He had to control the situation immediately before the losses increased.

He had to immediately establish contact with all the divisions and inform them that there was a rebellion in the headquarters.

This was the first major event after all of them entered the working state.

Number Eight had the list of all the members. Every division head, even the peripheral members of the division head's subordinates, had contact information on them.

Brother Pig quickly divided the responsibilities of everyone and the work arrangements of each region.

Immediately, the six team leaders began to contact the non-easterner team leaders. Dozens of team leaders began to contact the branches of each region. The office hall was filled with calls and orders were sent to each branch one by one.

All the branches had to leave their original command system, give up their original contact information, and be reassigned to a new team leader.

At the same time, the branches under the rebel team leaders would immediately go into hiding, and the ones that needed to be moved would be moved immediately to avoid being attacked by the Kronin Society.

Because of the lack of manpower, the middle and high-level managers of these eastern companies had to take on multiple jobs for the time being.

A team leader was temporarily in charge of several regional branches, and the number of calls they had to make had increased by several times.

The high-risk branches were given priority notice, and the branches they had in their hands were placed at the back.

In addition, the list of traitors was quickly compiled by number eight. The list was divided into two groups. One group was a red list of members who had been confirmed to have defected.

The second group was a yellow list of members who were suspected of defecting, as well as those who were at high risk of defecting.

Basically, apart from a small number of eastern members, the team leaders and the assistant staff members of the headquarters were all on the yellow list.

The team leaders also had to give them orders to hide. As for whether or not they were traitors, they could only be determined in the future.

While Brother Pig was busy, he also gave Yu Tian a very important task.

That was to go to dusk city immediately and completely destroy the headquarters of the East Dragon Company.

This task needed to be completed by Yu Tian and the mouse team personally..

Chapter 1169: Chapter 1,168, Winery

Yu Tian had planned to destroy his own headquarters a long time ago.

However, the situation at that time was different from now.

At that time, they had not rescued the middle and high-level personnel of the headquarters. After destroying the headquarters, it was very likely that they would lose contact with all the branches.

Now, there was no need to worry about this problem. On the 8th, there was a list of all the members, and the team leaders also had communication channels with their branches.

Wherever they were, that would be the headquarters.

As for the original headquarters, it was just a bunch of buildings. It was already dispensable.

The reason why they wanted to destroy the headquarters was mainly because they were worried that some of the lost branch leaders would come looking for them and deliver food to their doorstep.

In addition, the traitors occupied the headquarters, which was more orthodox on the surface.

If they were to confuse the public and accuse Yu Tian's people of being traitors, they would certainly create some chaos.

Yu Tian could not help with these matters in the headquarters.

Destroying the original headquarters was still very suitable for him.

There were sufficient weapons and ammunition in the basement, as well as some necessary equipment and equipment. It was enough for the entire mouse squad to be armed.

Yu Tian and the big guy filled up a truckload of guns and ammunition. Together with the mouse squad member who escorted No. 76 over, they also drove a car, which was also filled with a truckload of ammunition.

The two cars rushed to dusk city at high speed.

Guns and ammunition were not the most important things. Yu Tian felt that the most important things were the auxiliary equipment.

For example, night vision goggles, bulletproof vests, all kinds of functional grenades, rockets that could resist the power of armor..

Yu Tian wanted to get a mortar for fun, but unfortunately, his men did not have the manpower to use mortars.

He also wanted to get a thermal imaging and kill all the enemies through the wall.

Unfortunately, the arsenal in the basement did not have so many different kinds of equipment.

Another important auxiliary equipment was the personal communication system that he found in the basement.

This was military equipment obtained by the eastern country's security department. It looked like a goggles.

It was integrated with many functions, including communication, night vision, IFF, and even map navigation.

This was a microcomputer designed for combat. It was originally prepared for special forces, but it was also very suitable for intelligence and security agents. This communication system was much more useful than the things Yu Tian had gotten in the F * CK.

With this professional communication system, he could even throw away the satellite phone and maintain stable contact with Piggy Liang on the battlefield.

In addition, after the mouse team wore this set of things, it was much more convenient to command operations.

When they returned to dusk city, it was already dusk.

Yu Tian did not return to the safe house. Instead, he rushed directly to the vicinity of the East Dragon Company's headquarters.

There was a forest path nearby. Cass and the mouse squad were already waiting for him in the forest by the roadside.

After everyone met up, Yu Tian ordered everyone to change their equipment without saying a word.

This was a sneak attack to strengthen the attack. The number of enemies was definitely not small.

The members of the mouse squad were all assassins. Their mode of action was mainly sneak attacks and assassinations. The weapons they were used to were mainly pistols and cold weapons such as daggers.

Even on the battlefield, they did not have many opportunities to fight hard battles.

This operation was also the first time for the mouse squad to carry out such a formal battlefield attack.

According to Yu Tian's request, all of them changed into bulletproof vests and bulletproof heads, put on a personal communication system, and carried rifles, pistols, grenades, and PRG..

This was the first time they dressed up like soldiers of the special forces, and this immediately made them feel a little excited.

Yu Tian also dressed up like a special forces soldier, and the image of the sheep mercenary group involuntarily appeared in his mind.

That was a true war professional.

If they were to carry out this mission, it would probably be easier than shopping in the supermarket.

Of course, Yu Tian would not belittle himself.

After all, the mouse squad was still an assassin. There was no need to learn from the sheep mercenary group. It was also very difficult to learn from them.

Therefore, their battle mode was naturally different from the sheep mercenary group.

The sheep mercenary group spent the whole night doing reconnaissance and then launched a frontal assault when the sky was just bright.

The mouse team obviously had to sneak in during the night and launch a sneak attack first.

When the sneak attack was exposed, it was the time to take it head-on.

After changing their equipment, the sky was already dark.

Yu Tian led the mouse team into the car and then slowly rushed to the target location.

The headquarters of the Donglong Company was a winery. There was also a large grape forest near the winery.

This was quite common in the vicinity of dusk city. Many people relied on growing grapes and making wine to earn a living.

When they got close to the grape forest, Yu Tian and the others began to abandon the car and walk.

The soldier communication system was really useful. The seemingly simple goggles could actively ask if they wanted to switch to night vision mode, and they could also provide dim light and infrared night vision modes.

Yu Tian chose infrared because there was no moonlight at all that night, and it looked like it was going to rain.

Sure enough, just as they entered the grape forest, it started to drizzle.

This drizzle was almost soundless, and they could not feel the raindrops after entering the grape forest.

Yu Tian thought about it and felt that this drizzle did not have much effect on the battle, but it might have some effect on the enemy's sentries.

This could be considered as heaven helping me.

The individual soldier communication system was completely unaffected by the rain. Yu Tian and the others passed through the grape forest smoothly.

The artificially planted fruit forest was relatively spacious, and it was very convenient to pass through.

Other than the grape vines covering the top of their heads, there weren't too many obstacles in front, back, left, and right.

With the advantage of night vision equipment, Yu Tian didn't have to worry about accidentally encountering the enemy in the grape forest.

Yu Tian took the lead and personally took the lead.

After walking for several miles in the grape forest, Yu Tian finally saw the target winery.

This was the headquarters of the East Dragon Company. On the surface, it was a legal winery, and it was registered with a liquor company's license.

Therefore, the buildings here were mainly the winery's workplace.

The building in the middle was a two-story office building, which was also the largest building here.

The rest were warehouses of various sizes, as well as places like the brewing workshop.

There were also some smaller buildings at the back, which were the living areas.

The mouse squad only had about ten people in total. Including Yu Tian and the big guy, there were only ten people participating in the operation. Faced with such a large 'enemy base', they felt that they were lacking in manpower..

Chapter 1170: Chapter 1,169, insufficient manpower

Yu Tian decided to communicate with brother pig first to see if he had any good action plans.

"Boss, I'm very busy right now, super busy...

Brother Pig was currently in a meeting with a few big team leaders, and he had a headache when he received Yu Tian's communication request.

"If there's nothing particularly important, you'd better not delay my time. It's going to be tens of millions of dollars in minutes...

Brother Pig held the tablet in one hand. On it was the image of the battlefield seen through Yu Tian's goggles.

After taking a glance at the scene..., brother Pig was amused. "There are quite a lot of houses... boss, it's time to show your real skills! Didn't you always say that you're an expert? Go! Destroy everything you see in front of you!

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Don't you think that there are a little too many houses here?"

Piggy Liang asked curiously, "Don't tell me that you can't beat them?" Yu Tian rolled his eyes. "Do you really think that I'm a God?"

Piggy Liang said solemnly, "Boss, you have to have some confidence in your own strength... those traitors don't have a professional combat team in their hands, and the operation personnel of the Kronin Society have been eliminated by you guys. I think... in the current dusk city, other than the police force, you guys still have some fighting strength. You Won 't have any decent opponents.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and realized that what Piggy Liang said seemed to be true.

The traitor did not control the East Dragon Company's Operation Team, and he did not have any fighters.

Perhaps he did, but at most he had some private bodyguards.

There was no need to mention the Kronin order. The temporary stronghold had been cleaned up by Yu Tian.

In addition to the attack of the sheep mercenary group in the morning, the few members of Kronin Order's operation team had almost all been lost.

Perhaps they still had some remaining strength, but they definitely didn't have much combat power.

In the current Twilight City, other than the police and a few hundred armed men, there was no force that could be a match for the mouse squad.

Originally, the DONGLONG company still had some combat power in Twilight City, but in the past few days, during the police arrest operations, as well as the subsequent traitors and the pursuit of the Kronen group, the combat forces belonging to the DONGLONG company had basically been wiped out.

Therefore, there were indeed not many armed elements in twilight city now.

The mouse squad could practically do whatever they wanted in twilight city now, and there was absolutely no one who could resist them.

Seeing Yu Tian in a daze, Piggy Liang hurriedly reminded him, "Hurry up, those traitors are still waiting for you to send them on their way..."

Yu Tian smiled helplessly, "Alright, but we're still a little short-handed. The headquarters' territory is bigger than I imagined, so I can't control the overall situation... there might be many traitors escaping. "

"If they escape, then so be it. Anyway, our main goal is to destroy the headquarters' building. As for the traitors... there shouldn't be any important people there.

The most important traitors were the team leaders.

As for the other low-level assistants and staff, they were all worthless. It wasn't worth brother pig putting in too much effort to deal with them.

In the future, there would be a special cleaning team to hunt down and clean up these small fish and shrimp for a long time.

The most important thing now was to stabilize the situation in donglong company and solve the most important problem first.

After understanding these principles, Yu Tian did not bother with any action plans anymore.

He walked to the edge of the grape forest and observed the buildings in front of him.

The most conspicuous place was the two-story office building. It was brightly lit, and almost every window had lights shining through it.

The warehouses and factories in other places, big and small, could not be seen except for the street lights outside the building because of the structure.

As for the living area, there were not only lights, but also some people outside.

According to the information provided by their own people, the living area was not worth being the main target of the attack.

Because the employees living in the company's dormitory were basically all workers in the winery, their identity was not important.

Of course, this identity was not important, only relatively speaking.

There were no ordinary people in the winery. All the winery employees had the double identity of internal members of the DONGLONG company.

Including the winemakers in the winery, they were all low-level members of the DONGLONG company.

The reason why the identities of these workers were relatively not important was because their main job was to be responsible for the security of the headquarters.

The security personnel had no access to the company's internal confidential affairs, so it was indeed not very important to Yu Tian.

The number of these workers was not small either. There were about 40 to 50 people in the headquarters before the accident.

They did not spend much time working in the winery because the winery was basically operated by mechanical equipment. They could simply arrange a few people to work in shifts to complete it.

Therefore, they had enough time to focus on the Donglong Company's security matters.

In addition to the public security of the liquor company, the security force in the headquarters was actually not small.

However, this security force could not cause any trouble to Yu Tian. The main target he wanted to clean up was not these insignificant security guards.

The employees who were working in the office building were the main targets of this clean-up.

The office building was now brightly lit. Obviously, there were still many people working inside.

In fact, there was nothing special about this office building. It was similar to the situation in the office buildings of ordinary companies.

The staff in the office building usually operated the business of this winery.

Except for the fact that there were sometimes more people working, the situation was the same as that of ordinary companies.

Of course, the business of the winery was not their main business.

The purpose of the DONGLONG company running this winery was to provide cover for the headquarters, so it was run very casually. No one cared how much money it could make.

The so-called managers and supervisors in the winery were all low-level members of the DONGLONG company. Their main responsibility was to receive the foreign customers and provide cover for the other employees.

Their identities and ranks were the same as those of the security personnel, but they were non-combatants, so their identities were different on the surface.

The ones who really dealt with the affairs of the DONGLONG company were actually the seemingly ordinary white-collar workers in the wine company.

The donglong company wasn't just divided into eight regions. There were also many administrative and functional departments in the headquarters.

For example, No. 76 who was in charge of technology, No. 8 who was in charge of personnel, and those who were in charge of finance, security, logistics, intelligence, and public relations..

The larger the organization, the more trivial matters there were, and the more departments and manpower needed.

But the real middle-and upper-level managers don't actually show up at headquarters very often.

The real people who handle trivia at headquarters on a daily basis are the low-level assistants and staff..

Although the employees at the grassroots level didn't seem to have grasped the core secrets of the company, if they really participated in the rebellion, the impact on the company wouldn't be small.

Therefore, this office building was a must for cleaning up.

But there was another place that Yu Tian also wanted to go and check out.

It was an unremarkable small warehouse.

The heart of Donglong Company's headquarters was located in that inconspicuous small warehouse.

The winery had several warehouses of various sizes. Among them, there was a small warehouse that was rarely used. Uncle Long's office was hidden inside.

The meeting room of the higher-ups of the headquarters was also hidden in the wine cellar of that small warehouse.

Therefore, the heart of Donglong Company's headquarters was that small warehouse that was rarely used.

Generally speaking, there was no one in this small warehouse.

Uncle Long and the middle and high-ranking officials of the company rarely came to the winery to work.

Because the technology and Internet were too advanced nowadays, a lot of work could be handled on the internet.

The existence of the headquarters was mainly symbolic, and it had gradually lost its value as an office.

The office in the small warehouse was usually empty. Now that it had experienced the rebellion, it was in a state of abandonment.

Theoretically speaking, it was unlikely that the leaders of the traitors would stay at the winery to work.

If the DONGLONG company wanted to retaliate and retaliate, the winery would be the first to come looking for them.

Therefore, the leaders of the traitors did not have the guts to stay at the winery. They could only hide outside and control the situation at the headquarters through remote control.

However, Yu Tian decided to go into the small warehouse to take a look.

Because human psychology was very strange, perhaps there was a certain traitorous leader who wanted to stay in Uncle Long's office for a while?

Then he could easily catch a big fish.

"Cass, you lead the mouse team to be responsible for attacking that office building. First find the attacking position and wait for my notice...

Yu Tian decided to sneak into the small warehouse to investigate, but he was not in a hurry to let the mouse team launch an attack.

Because once the battle started, those traitors might start to flee in all directions.

The mouse team was short-handed and could not stop so many people who were running for their lives.

Therefore, they should first adopt a quiet sneak attack mode and wait until they were exposed before switching to a strong attack mode.

This was also a tactic that was more suitable to take advantage of the advantage of the mouse team.

Yu Tian left the mouse team and went toward the direction of the small warehouse alone.

He did not have to worry about his actions being easily exposed. If there were not enough enemies, even if they found him, they would not have the chance to warn him.

Soon, he reached the vicinity of the small warehouse.

There were street lights nearby, so he switched his goggles to normal mode.

The drizzle did not affect his line of sight. Yu Tian looked around the small warehouse, but he did not find any patrolling personnel.

According to the intelligence provided by his own people, there should be a lot of patrolling personnel in the winery.

The winemakers would usually gather in groups of two or three near the various buildings, pretending to drink and chat, or doing some outdoor exercise.

But now, Yu Tian did not see a single person.

This was probably because of the rain, so the patrol staff were lazy.

The patrol staff did not dare to be lazy in the past, but now that so many changes had occurred in the DONGLONG company, it was normal for the management to be a little chaotic.

Of course, there was another reason, which was that many members of the DONGLONG company had run away.

The evening city police operation at the winery had only captured some middle and high-level managers who happened to be staying in the headquarters. The low-level security guards and staff had only done some identity registration.

Because the police did not have that many police and prisons, they took all the people here.

Therefore, many members of the DONGLONG company had run away after the incident.

They did not have the strength to fight against the traitors, and they did not want to be in cahoots with the traitors.

After losing the command of their superiors, they had to “Leave” one after another, and fled to other places to hide, wanting to completely extricate themselves from the turmoil of the rebellion and stay out of it.

This was also illegal on the surface, because the police restricted their travel, just like the situation after bail.

However, the people of the DONGLONG company didn’t care about this.

There weren’t many members left in the headquarters. Regardless of the reason, whether they were willing or forced to do so. In a practical sense, those who stayed behind to work for the traitors were already traitors.

Therefore, from now on, everyone Yu Tian saw deserved to die, and he didn’t need to bear any psychological burden.

Since he didn’t see any patrolling personnel, Yu Tian directly jumped onto the roof of a nearby building.

He didn’t plan to go through the main door because there must be surveillance cameras near the main door, and they might be monitored by security personnel.

It was much safer on the roof.

One reason was that the cameras rarely aimed in the direction of the roof. Another reason was that there were no street lights on the roof, so the light was dim.

However, a roof was not a place that ordinary people could walk on, except for people like Yu Tian who could fly over the eaves and walk on the walls.

The warehouse and the factory were both single-storied, but the floors were basically five to six meters high, higher than the average house.

Yu Tian did not have to worry about being exposed on the roof. He only needed to pay a little attention when he jumped onto the other roofs, so as not to be seen by others.

The buildings weren’t too far away from each other. A distance of more than ten meters wasn’t a problem for Yu Tian.

Soon, he jumped onto the roof where the small warehouse was located.

Then, he squatted on the roof and looked at the warehouse doors and the surrounding windows. These entrances seemed to be within the surveillance range of the cameras.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and decided to enter the warehouse directly from the roof.

The material on the roof was neither wood nor stone. It seemed to be some kind of modern synthetic plastic material. It was very strong, but also felt very thin.

However, all of this was meaningless. Even an iron roof could not stop Yu Tian.

Yu Tian stretched out his finger and drew a circle on the roof with the Shang Yang Sword. Then, he stretched out his hand and pulled it open. A hole that was enough for him to pass through appeared on the roof.

There was more than one floor on the roof. After Yu Tian went down from the hole, he found that there was a layer of light insulation board below.

This was of course not an obstacle for him. Hanging on the roof beam, Yu Tian dug a hole in another position.

Below was the interior of the warehouse.

The lights in the warehouse were on, but the lights were not very bright. It was the kind of light that had to be maintained even if there was no one in the room.

However, it was impossible for the warehouse to be empty. Every warehouse here had guards on duty.

Yu Tian listened for a while at the entrance of the cave and soon determined the location of the guards.

There were two guards on duty. They were in the lounge and office at the entrance of the warehouse and seemed to be having a heated argument..

Chapter 1172: Chapter 1,171. There was someone in the basement

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian gently jumped down from the roof beam.

To him, a height of a few meters was equivalent to walking on flat ground. Although he was fully armed, he did not make any sound when he landed.

The two guards in the lounge were still arguing. Yu Tian curiously went to the door of the lounge and leaned against the wooden partition to listen for a while.

Bang!

These two idiots were actually playing a game, and it seemed like they were eating chickens.

Their argument and scolding were only for the trivial matters in the game. Yu Tian suddenly felt like cursing.

They were guarding such an important place, and they actually dared to be absent-minded and play the game?

No Wonder Donglong company had fallen to such a state. The entire company, from top to bottom, had completely forgotten what it felt like to be on guard.

Was this because the organization was too powerful and could not find an opponent all over the world? Was this the opposite of peace?

Or was it because the organization's management of personnel was too lax and the conditions for recruiting were too low?

It seemed that no matter what kind of secret organization or high-level organization, there would inevitably be some hooligans who muddled along. Yu Tian sighed and then quietly walked away from the side of the lounge. He didn't plan to kill the two guards for the time being, because it was unnecessary.

The two guards were busy eating chicken, so it was impossible for them to find him.

Leaving the two guards for the time being, the security center could keep in contact with them, and it would be even harder to detect what was happening in the small warehouse.

Yu Tian took a few steps back, and then began to look for the entrance to the basement in the small warehouse.

This small warehouse was used to store all kinds of tools and sundries, and it was different from those warehouses that stored red wine.

The warehouse that stored red wine had a temperature requirement, and it had to be clean and tidy to be able to greet customers with a normal appearance.

And this sundries warehouse usually didn't have any outsiders coming in, so it looked a little messy.

This was also a deliberate effect to make outsiders lose interest in this place.

Red wine warehouses usually had wine cellars, so the entrance was more obvious.

However, this kind of sundry warehouse usually did not need to build a basement, so in order to not appear special, the basement entrance here was more hidden.

Yu Tian had the information provided by an insider, so he quickly found the entrance.

The entrance had a large shelf as a cover, and there was a mechanism to move the shelf away. Below it was the entrance.

The noise of opening the entrance was very low, and the two guards in the lounge did not notice it at all.

The entrance led down to the stairs, and the top of the stairs was pitch black.

There should have been a weak light here, and it should have been kept in a constant state, so that at least the people who entered and exited the basement could see the stairs clearly.

But now it seemed that the power had been cut off, and there was only darkness below the entrance.

Yu Tian adjusted his goggles to infrared night vision mode and slowly walked down the steps.

After descending about ten meters, Yu Tian arrived at a very small living room.

It looked like an ordinary living room, with a sofa, a coffee table, and various oil painting specimens on the wall..

But in reality, this was a fatal trap.

There were secret rooms behind the walls of the living room, and more than a dozen security guards could be hidden inside.

There were observation holes and shooting holes on the walls. If the enemy invaded, the security guards could use their rifles to shoot the enemy into a sieve.

There was no room to hide in this narrow living room.

Originally, automatic weapons were supposed to be installed here, but uncle long felt that automatic weapons were not as reliable as human weapons. Moreover, it was very troublesome to install them. The amount of work was too large, and it would easily expose the existence of the basement, so he rejected the automation plan.

After that, because there were not many opportunities to use this office, uncle long even canceled the security personnel who were lying in ambush in the secret room.

Now, this basement was completely unguarded.

After passing through the living room, there was a winding corridor behind.

The end of the corridor was the office and the conference room. There was originally a weapons warehouse and a grain storage room, but uncle long canceled all of them and emptied them out.

Therefore, this place was now just an ordinary basement. There wasn't even anything valuable. Even a thief would feel disappointed.

However, Yu Tian could hear the presence of humans in this dark and quiet underground space.

After walking to the corridor, Yu Tian heard a very weak heartbeat.

Humans might be able to control the sound of their own breathing, but they were unable to stop their own hearts.

The sound of the heartbeat was very weak, but Yu Tian's hearing was very sharp. He could detect even the slightest heartbeat.

Especially in this absolutely quiet basement, any slight sound would be particularly prominent.

There was someone in the basement?

Yu Tian's spirit was roused, but he also felt a little puzzled.

There was no light in the basement, and it had always been very quiet.

Then, who would be hiding in this basement?

Was this person a friend or foe?

If a traitor was working here, he shouldn't be so sneaky, and he must have a lot of bodyguards and guards with him.

If a traitor had set up an ambush and a trap here, he shouldn't be alone.

Thinking about it, this person should not be an enemy, not a traitor or a member of the Kronin Society.

But if he was one of them, why would he come to this place?

Yu Tian was puzzled, so he could only sneak in the direction of the office.

This person was hiding in the office at the end of the corridor. Regardless of whether he was an enemy or a friend, Yu Tian decided to take him down first.

He silently walked to the door of the office, and Yu Tian carefully confirmed the other party's location.

The other party was in the office, and the only obstacle between the two parties was the office door.

Yu Tian gently pressed his hand on the door and pushed it slightly.

He couldn't push it, and the door was locked from the inside.

Yu Tian immediately had a headache.

The door to the office was made of iron, and it was very sturdy.

There was no lock on the outside, so one could enter by pushing the door open.

However, there was an old-fashioned iron bolt inside the door, which could be used to lock the door from the inside.

If someone in the room had locked the door, there would be no other way to enter except by smashing the door.

Yu Tian had the ability to break open the iron door, and he could also use the six meridians divine sword to cut the iron door into a few pieces of scrap metal.

However, no matter what method he used, he would inevitably make some noise and delay the time.

This noise and delay was enough for the people in the office to react in various ways.

If the other party was an enemy lying in ambush, then it would definitely be in time to send out an alarm.

Or if the other party was armed, then they would definitely shoot at the door and make a bigger noise.

Even if the other party was one of their own, they would definitely put up a resistance in such a sudden situation and would not surrender..

Yu Tian suddenly realized that it was unrealistic to break into the door..

Chapter 1173: Chapter 1,172, who are you

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian pondered for a long time outside the door, but he couldn't think of any good ideas. He could enter the office silently and control the other party before the other party could resist.

He wouldn't need to contact Piggy Liang to ask him for advice on such a matter, would he?

Yu Tian complained about Uncle Long's old-fashioned design in his heart, and then made up his mind.

He stretched out two fingers and gently knocked on the iron door twice.

That's right, he knocked on the door.

Although it was very strange to knock on the door under such circumstances, it was the quietest way to open the door that he could think of.

After waiting for a few seconds, the sound of the door bolt being pulled open came from the door.

Then, the iron door was actually slowly pulled open by someone.

Yu Tian suddenly felt that it was somewhat absurd.

He knocked on the door strangely, and the person inside also opened the door strangely.

He didn't even ask who was knocking on the door.

The current situation was a bit like having an appointment to visit a friend.

Normal knocking and normal opening of the door. It was really strange that it happened in this basement.

The iron door was completely opened.

The lights in the office were very weak, but it was enough for Yu Tian to see the scene in the office clearly.

Inside were simple desks and chairs, as well as a small amount of commonly used office equipment.

There were no computers or telephones, it seemed like they had been moved away.

A man stood at the door. He was tall and slender, wearing an exotic loose coat. He did not seem to have any weapons on him.

Yu Tian took a closer look at the man's face. The man actually had an oriental face. "Who are you?"

"Who are you?"

Both parties asked almost at the same time, and they spoke in an oriental language.

The familiar language made Yu Tian less wary, but he was not sure if the other party was an enemy or a friend.

Now that they were in the enemy's territory, the other party had opened the door so openly without any intention of hiding. This made Yu Tian feel that the other party's identity was more likely to be an enemy.

However, this eastern man did not shout or act like a warning, and Yu Tian did not take action to control him for the time being.

A peaceful conversation was sometimes easier to obtain information than a violent interrogation.

After both parties spoke at the same time, there was another two seconds of silence.

Yu Tian wanted to continue asking something, but the eastern man in the room slowly moved aside and said to Yu Tian indifferently, "Come in and talk."

This eastern man did not seem to have any weapons on him, but he did not panic in the face of Yu Tian, who was fully armed.

Yu Tian noticed his figure and posture. This eastern man seemed to be a martial artist as well.

In a narrow space like the office, guns were usually difficult to use. A strong fighting ability was more important.

It was not that guns were not lethal, but it was usually difficult for the user to pull out the gun in time and complete the action of pointing the muzzle at the enemy.

This was common sense. In close combat, a dagger was better than a gun.

So even today, with the development of hot weapons, special forces still had to learn fighting skills such as daggers.

In some cases, combat skills were indeed more useful than thermal weapons.

Yu Tian smiled and replied, "Alright."

He did not reject the other party's suggestion and walked into the office.

As the saying went, "The skilled are bold." Yu Tian was not worried that the other party would play any tricks, nor was he worried that there would be any traps or killer moves hidden in the office.

No matter what the other party wanted to do, he had the ability to control the situation.

He was very confident in his fighting ability.

After Yu Tian entered the office, the Oriental Man gently closed the office door again. He did not make any hostile moves.

Then, the oriental man walked behind the desk and said to Yu Tian, "Please take a seat.

There were two chairs in the office. One was behind the desk, which was obviously the master's seat.

The other was in front of the desk, which was obviously the guest's seat.

The Oriental man sat in the master's seat, as if the office was his own territory.

And Yu Tian's identity was just a visitor to him.

Yu Tian didn't care too much about the identity of the host and guest.

The entire headquarters was about to be abandoned, so it was meaningless to declare sovereignty in the CEO's office.

What Yu Tian cared about was what the eastern man's attitude implied.

Was he the owner of this place? Or was he just taking over?

Yu Tian casually sat down at his desk and said again, "Who are you? Why are you here?"

The eastern man smiled. "You should be the one to tell me first. Who Are You? Why are you here..."

Yu Tian shrugged helplessly. He felt that it was a waste of time to ask this question.

However, he did not plan to capture the other party immediately and force him to ask anything.

Hence. he changed the question.

“How did you know about this place?”

Since this was a secret room, naturally only the top management of the Eastern Dragon Company knew about it, including the traitors in the top management.

This eastern man must be related to a certain top management of the East Dragon Company he wouldn't get lost and end up here.

The eastern man looked calm and asked, “How did you know about this place?”

Yu Tian suddenly felt a little helpless. “You keep repeating my questions, and you can't get anything out of it even after a day of chatting. How about this... We each take a question and take turns, how about that?”

“Alright. ”

“Since it was my suggestion, I'll let you ask first.”

“Alright. ”

The eastern man did not stand on ceremony and casually said, “Just answer the question just now. How did you find this place?” Yu Tian smiled. “Of course someone told me. ”

“Who told you?”

The eastern man shook his head. “It doesn't count. It's your incomplete answer. Let's not play that childish game of words. Since we're going to ask each other questions, your answer should have more information. ”

Yu Tian smiled. “Alright, then I'll answer it again... the owner of this place told me the location of this place and the way to enter. I suddenly had a whim and decided to come in to take a look.”

The eastern man nodded. “It seems that you and the Donglong Company have a very deep relationship. ”

Yu Tian laughed in his heart. Wasn't this nonsense?

If he had nothing to do with the people from the DONGLONG company, how could he have found this place?

The eastern man's question only confirmed that Yu Tian was not a thief and was not just a random intruder.

Yu Tian smiled and said, "Since you're satisfied with my answer, then it's my turn to ask.

The eastern man said indifferently, "Please speak. Yu Tian smiled slightly. "Who are you?"

The answer to this question was the most informative.

According to the rules of the game, the eastern man had to reveal his identity now..

Chapter 1174: Chapter 1,173, Executioner

Translator: 549690339

The eastern man hesitated for a moment, but he quickly gave an answer.

"Who am I... This question is a little difficult to answer. I can say that I'm an eastern person, but this answer is meaningless. "But I really don't have any other identity... I can only say that I have some personal relationships with someone from the Donglong Company.

This answer was very simple, as if it didn't reveal anything.

Because to be able to come to this basement, he definitely had some relationship with the Donglong Company.

The eastern man said that he had a relationship with someone from the DONGLONG company, which was basically nonsense.

If they didn't have a relationship, who would tell him about the basement?

Although the existence of this basement wasn't that important, it was still a CEO's Secret Office, so it was impossible for it to be casually revealed to those unrelated people.

Therefore, their answers were basically nonsense.

However, Yu Tian confirmed one thing from the other's answer.

If this eastern man did not lie, then the possibility of him being an enemy was not high.

He said that he did not have any other identity, which meant that he was not a member of the Kronin Society, nor was he a subordinate of those traitors.

He said that he only had a personal relationship with a certain senior executive of the DONGLONG company, which meant that he was originally an outsider. Then, because of this personal relationship, he came to this place.

As for his purpose, it could be that his friend asked him to do something, or something else.

From his identity as an easterner, it was very likely that his friend from the DONGLONG company was also an Easterner.

Therefore, it was very likely that he was a "Friend".

Yu Tian felt that he should be able to lay his cards on the table.

At this moment, the Easterner said again, "It's my turn to ask... who are you?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "No, you should continue answering my question. Who Are You?"

The Easterner said, "Didn't I answer you? Don't tell me you still want to know my name, place of origin, work unit..."

Yu Tian said, "Your answer is also very incomplete. If there's nothing to describe your identity, then you should at least tell me who your friend in the Donglong Company is. Only then can it be considered to have expressed your identity and position?"

The eastern man hesitated for a moment, then smiled and said, "Alright, I'll tell you about my friend... He's the president of the Donglong Company. "

"Uncle Long?"

Yu Tian was a little surprised. This eastern man was actually Uncle Long's friend?

He didn't pay much attention to Uncle Long's personal matters, and he didn't know what kind of friends Uncle Long had.

But with Uncle Long's status and identity, making friends was actually a very difficult thing to do.

The people he made friends with were mostly related to the Donglong

Company's business, so it was very difficult to have any personal relationships.

Especially in this situation. Uncle Long had already met with an accident, so why would his friends come to the headquarters of the Donglong Company?

Yu Tian could not help but ask, "You and uncle long are friends? Have you been in contact recently? Why are you here?"

The eastern man said helplessly, "It should be my time to ask questions now, Yu Tian had a headache and said, "Your question... Don't ask any more questions. I'll tell you directly. I'm from the Donglong Company. I came here tonight to destroy this winery. "

The eastern man was a little puzzled. "Why do you want to destroy this winery? "

Yu Tian explained patiently, "This winery has been controlled by a traitor. If we don 't destroy it, many members of the company who have lost contact with US might come here and fall into our trap..."

"Oh... "the eastern man seemed to be in deep thought. Yu Tian said again, "Let's talk about you... What should I call you?"

The eastern man said, "You can call me... Executioner."

"Executioner?"

This nickname surprised Yu Tian a little, because the eastern man in front of him seemed to be the more delicate type.

He didn't say that he was very gentle and refined, but he definitely had nothing to do with that kind of burly executioner.

Nicknames were definitely not something that could be randomly picked. It was impossible for him to use a name that was completely unrelated to someone else for no reason.

It seemed that this executioner was also a ruthless character.

Yu Tian did not dwell on this nickname and continued, "Tell me how you came here... How did Uncle Long Contact You? When did he contact you?"

The executioner shrugged. "I received a call from him a few days ago. He said that something happened to him, but... Before I could ask him what happened, he hung up."

Yu Tian thought to himself, that should be when Uncle Long was arrested.

But why would uncle long call a friend at such an emergency and critical time?

At that time, he should have informed the armed forces around him, or some of the higher-ups in the company, or some emergency department, or called Yu Tian and asked him to go to the East Dragon Company to keep an eye on the situation..

Of course, Yu Tian was on the battlefield, so he might not be able to contact him at any time.

Therefore, in an emergency, uncle long should contact those reliable subordinates of the East Dragon Company instead of a friend.

No matter how good a friend was, they had nothing to do with the matters of the East Dragon Company and were not the ones who needed to be notified first.

Unless it was an allergic relationship, and this friend was very powerful.

Yu Tian asked again, "What are you doing here? Did Uncle Long ask you to do something?"

The executioner said helplessly, "No, we didn't have the time to say too much. I only know that something happened to him, and then I couldn't contact him..."

Sighing, the executioner continued, "He might want to entrust something to me, or he might want to ask me for help... Unfortunately, he didn't have the time to explain it clearly. "

Yu Tian said, "Then why are you here?"

The executioner said, "I already knew about this place... I used to come to this winery with Old Dragon, and I also know that this is the headquarters of the East Dragon Company. After Old Dragon's accident, I wanted to come here to take a look at the situation, but I didn't expect that the East Dragon Company had already experienced a major change... "

Yu Tian asked curiously, "Then why are you staying in this basement... ?"

The executioner said, "This is the most core place. I think that if we wait here, we might be able to wait for the core members of the East Dragon Company... Look, aren't you here already?"

Yu Tian sighed, "Yes, I am here, but it's just a coincidence. "This basement hasn't been used for a long time, and it's equivalent to a semi-abandoned state. "You might not be able to wait for our people here. Instead, you might be trapped here by traitors..."

The executioner shook his head nonchalantly and said, "I have the ability to protect myself. They can't find me, nor can they catch me..."

After saying that, the executioner suddenly disappeared from Yu Tian's sight..

Chapter 1175: Chapter 1,174. The police had arrived

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian was slightly shocked. This executioner was also using Qinggong?

Moreover, this executioner's qinggong level seemed to be slightly higher than Yu Tian's.

In fact, his qinggong technique was even more brilliant than the qinggong technique that Yu Tian had mastered.

Yu Tian's qinggong was relatively simple. It mainly increased his running speed and jumping strength.

However, this qinggong was slightly inferior in terms of dexterity. It did not have many special techniques for jumping over roofs and walls.

Compared to the executioner's Qinggong, Yu Tian's qinggong was more like a kind of "Brute force".

It was not surprising that the executioner disappeared in front of Yu Tian's eyes. Yu Tian's qinggong could also reach this speed. However, the operation of the executioner after it disappeared surprised Yu Tian a little.

He had actually stuck it to the ceiling, turning it into a poster.

Yu Tian had never seen a lightness skill like this before. It felt even better than a hanging bat.

This was because the bat had at least used its claws when it was hanging upside down. However, this executioner had not used its hands and feet to grab onto the ceiling at all.

It was as if he had smeared a layer of superglue on his back and stuck it to the ceiling.

Yu Tian had to admit that Uncle Long's friend was indeed not an ordinary person.

Just his amazing qinggong alone was enough for the executioner to be called an expert.

Perhaps his fighting ability was not as good as Yu Tian's, but it was also very difficult for Yu Tian to restrain him. Qinggong had a natural advantage when it came to escaping and preserving one's life.

The executioner stuck himself to the ceiling for a few seconds, then gently floated back to his seat and said indifferently, "You see, I can protect myself." Yu Tian shrugged. "Alright, you're right. So... What are your plans next?"

The executioner was silent for a moment, then slowly said, "I don't have any specific plans, but I hope that I can help old dragon do something... Do you know where Old Dragon is now?"

Yu Tian sighed. "If I knew, I would have saved him right now."

The executioner pondered for a moment and said, "Dong Long Company is old Long's hard work. I Won't let his hard work be destroyed by others... do you need my help?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "We need the help of our friends, but we don't need our friends to take risks."

The executioner said, "To me, nothing can be considered a risk. "

Yu Tian could not help but sigh and said, "That's right. You Dare to come here alone and even hide in an important place under the eyes of the enemy... " The executioner said, "So, if you need any help, you don't have to be polite to me."

Yu Tian said, "For the time being, there's nothing sDecial that we need to help with... what we need to do now is to preserve the power of the East Dragon Company and let the East Dragon Company resume its operation as soon as possible. A powerful East Dragon Company is the guarantee of Uncle Long's safety."

The executioner nodded and said, "Yes, before Donglong Company is completely destroyed, old long shouldn't have any major problems. At least...

he can still be a very important hostage."

"Yes... "

Yu Tian was about to chat with the executioner when the communication device beside his ear suddenly rang.

Cass 'voice appeared in the communication system.

"Calling the boss, calling the Boss... Please respond if you hear me! "

Yu Tian touched the frame of the goggles beside his ear and replied, "I heard Cass. What's the matter?"

Cass said, "Boss, there seems to be a situation behind us. " Yu Tian immediately said, "What's the situation?" "There's a motorcade approaching the winery.

"Motorcade? What motorcade?"

"It should be the police motorcade. I saw flashing police lights...

"Police cars... "

Yu Tian could not help but sigh.

The police's actions were out of their expectations, but also out of their expectations.

The Dusk City Police suffered a heavy blow today. They were beaten to a pulp by the sheep and sheep mercenary group.

Not only did they suffer heavy losses, but more importantly, they lost a lot of face.

Dusk city's police force had never encountered such a situation before. They were beaten to such a miserable state by a group of unidentified armed men.

This kind of incident was definitely much more sensational than that terrorist attack, and the impact was also very bad.

This was the windy nation, a strong and stable country.

It was not those countries that were troubled by war. Anti-government armed men would come out to stir up trouble and engage in direct confrontation with the official armed men.

Such a situation had never happened in Twilight City. A dignified police special armed force was actually crippled by a group of unidentified armed elements.

Not only the twilight city police, but the entire windy nation had never suffered such a great humiliation.

Therefore, the twilight city officials would certainly take revenge.

They wanted to get back at the scene before this matter was exposed.

This way, after the matter was exposed, they would be able to make a better impression on the public and make some explanations to the relevant departments.

For the entire day, the dusk city police were frantically searching for the suspects.

They knew that this matter was related to the DONGLONG company. This was an obvious case of prison break.

At this time, they had set their sights on the Donglong Company headquarters 'winery. It wasn't difficult to understand.

Yu Tian immediately stood up and said to the executioner, "We have to retreat first. The police are here."

"Police, how many police are there?" "We don't know yet, but there are definitely a lot of them. "

"What are the police here for?"

"They should be here to protect this winery... They might even search this winery while they're at it. This basement is no longer safe. Do you want to go with me?"

Yu Tian planned to bring the executioner back.

He didn't want to use him for anything, but he was very interested in the executioner's lightness skills.

He felt that he might have the opportunity to ask the executioner about his lightness skills.

The executioner didn't hesitate too much. After hesitating for a moment, he nodded and said, "Alright, let's leave this place together first.

"Let's go.

Yu Tian did not waste any more words. He took the lead and walked out of the basement.

After restoring the entrance to the basement to its original state, Yu Tian followed the route he had taken and flipped onto the roof.

The executioner followed behind him and also easily climbed onto the roof. This proved that all qinggong masters were indeed suitable to be thieves.

The two holes on the roof had been opened. Yu Tian could only put the materials that he had dug back together and barely managed to get it stuck.

Although it was a little sloppy, if no one had come to inspect it carefully, no one would have noticed the serious damage in the short term.

Originally, they were going to massacre the winery, so there was no need to cover up the destruction of the buildings.

But now that a police force had suddenly arrived, their plan to massacre the winery would probably be aborted.

Before the police motorcade arrived, Yu Tian immediately began to retreat with the mouse team..

Chapter 1176: Chapter 1,175. It was time to play

Translator: 549690339

The retreat was smooth. The people in the winery didn't seem to notice anything unusual.

Yu Tian quickly led the team back to the grape forest.

Although there was an extra person in the team, the mouse team didn't ask much.

The grape forest was pitch black, but it didn't affect the mouse team who wore night vision equipment.

The executioner also had his own night vision equipment, a flashlight.

The light emitted by this spy equipment was very weak, about the same brightness as when the phone was locked, but it was enough for the executioner to see the road clearly.

And unless the executioner looked at the light source from a close distance, it would be difficult to find it.

Although this kind of flashlight wasn't as convenient as night vision equipment, it wasn't dangerous to be exposed.

Taking advantage of the cover of darkness, everyone quickly retreated out of the winery's range.

At this time, the police convoy also arrived at the winery. The winery immediately became as lively as day.

On a small hill a kilometer away, Yu Tian used the binoculars on his goggles to observe the movements of the winery while sending a communication request to Brother Pig.

Brother Pig quickly opened the communication. "What happened? The operation ended so quickly?" "No, the operation has been suspended." "Oh... The police are here?"

Brother pig seemed to have guessed the reason.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Yes, there are dozens of cars, including armored personnel carriers. There are probably hundreds of people."

Brother Pig said with a smile, "It seems that these police officers are quite idle. They actually have nothing to do so quickly, and they can even take out so many police forces to protect those traitors... "

Yu Tian said, "What should we do next? It's impossible for us to storm the winery... unless they give us the equipment of the sheep mercenary group. "

Brother pig continued to tease, "It's useless even if we give you the equipment. The mouse squad is not suitable for this kind of battle mode. If you take the offensive, I'm afraid the mouse squad will be eliminated in the future." "Then what do you think we should do next? Should we retreat?"

"There's no need. You guys can rest over there first. It's still early anyway."

"Still early? Do you want us to launch a sneak attack in the middle of the

Yu Tian was a little puzzled.

Even if they waited until the latter half of the night, their sneak attack would not achieve much of a result.

After all, there were too many of these police officers. It was not meaningful for them to kill a few of them by sneak attack.

As long as their actions were discovered by the police, the entire attack would be in vain.

It wouldn't be a problem to kill a few enemies, but it would be impossible to destroy this winery.

Brother pig smiled and said, "Don't worry, I'll immediately arrange some tasks for the police.

Yu Tian asked in bafflement, "You arranged tasks for the police?"

Brother pig said, "Yes, to be more precise, mayor Edward arranged some tasks for them.

Yu Tian suddenly understood. "You're ready to let Edward go on stage?"

Piggy Liang said, "Yes, it's time for him to go on stage. "

“What’s Your Plan?”

“Deputy Chief Luc will bring his own subordinates to personally rescue mayor Edward from the kidnappers...”

“Who will you arrange to be the kidnapper?”

“Of course it will be councilman Leon. He will be shot dead by the police at the Yu Tian said hesitantly, “Councilman Leon is the kidnapper? Is this...

Rename”

Piggy Liang said seriously, “Of course it’s reliable. Because Edward and his friends will think that this matter is very reliable, so this matter must be reliable. ”

Yu Tian was instantly speechless.

The truth was always in the hands of the victor. The biggest winners of the twilight city officials were obviously mayor Edward and his friends.

Their political opponents were basically all dried up by Yu Tian with a big revolver. There was no voice against them in Twilight City.

The mayoral election was held every six years. Edward was able to win the election six years ago, so he naturally had his own ability and team support.

If it were not for councilman Leon stirring up trouble in Twilight City in the past few years and recruiting a large number of neutral members, Edward would not be so passive as he was now.

Now that almost all of councilman Leon’s people were dead, Edward naturally had absolute control over Twilight City’s Government and parliament.

The only remaining obstacle in Twilight City was the police chief, Henry.

The mayor had the right to fire the police chief, but if the police chief was brave enough, he could also go against the mayor.

Yu Tian could only wait for the news. He browsed the local news on his phone while waiting for Brother Pig’s notice.

Before Brother Pig’s notice arrived, there was already news on the local news. “Police... Edward... What does this word mean?”

Yu Tian could barely carry on a conversation in the language of wind country, but he really couldn't remember the words.

It was only after staying in the wind nation for a few days that he managed to remember some of the words.

He couldn't read the press release anymore, so he could only look at the pictures while calling the assassins from the mouse team over to translate.

The assassins were all talented, and they all spoke well and understood many languages.

They quickly explained the contents of the press release to Yu Tian.

The local police, under the leadership of Deputy Chief Luc, successfully destroyed the lair of a criminal gang and successfully rescued the kidnapped Mayor Edward.

The mastermind behind the criminal gang, Councilman Leon, was caught by the police.

It was obvious that he was the mastermind behind the kidnapping of the mayor, for those unspeakable political purposes.

The unspeakable political purpose was, of course, related to the upcoming mayoral election.

Councilman Leon wanted to eliminate Edward, the most popular and powerful rival of the citizens, so he took the risk and committed such a dangerous and shameless criminal act.

However, justice was served.

After being surrounded by the police, the criminal councilman Leon resisted the law.

In the end, in the gunfight with the police, Councilman Leon was shot and killed.

Well, Councilman Leon was shot a little too much, which was mainly the reason why the scene of the gunfight was very chaotic.

Of course, the police also had some wounded, which was caused by the armed gangsters.

But because the police were wearing bulletproof vests and other safety equipment, the injured police officers were all slightly injured, and no one died.

The operation was successfully concluded.

Oh, no, it was not over.

Because after Edward was rescued, he announced on the spot that he would launch a severe overnight crackdown on local gangsters.

Because the recent mass shootings in Twilight City, as well as various armed conflicts and violent incidents, were all the work of these gangsters.

Yes, they did it.

The news also issued an inquiry about this matter.

Why do gangsters have the guts? What's their purpose in creating chaos?

Chapter 1177: Chapter 1,176, the tables have turned

Translator: 549690339

The child has no mother. It's a long story.

The news media followed up on this matter overnight. What kind of evil story was behind this kidnapping?

Of course, this was related to... the international criminal gang behind Congressman Leon!

Brother pig casually dragged the Kronin Association into this matter and blamed them for all the recent shit.

The KLONI Society had no chance to retort. They didn't even have a voice in Twilight City.

The authorities were now firmly controlled by Edward's faction, including the media, and only Edward's people spoke up.

To Yu Tian's surprise, Chief Henry of the police department also expressed his support for mayor Edward's decision and immediately mobilized all the police forces to cooperate with Mayor Edward's anti-triad campaign.

This was probably just a fence-sitter, and had nothing to do with the KLONI association.

Congressman Leon was dead, and so were his henchmen. This matter had scared chief Henry to death.

Now that Edward was going to make a big move, chief Henry had no courage to stop it.

He might want to play by the rules and join Mayor Edward's side from now on, and let all those political positions go to Hell.

However, Yu Tian felt that this director Henry's end would certainly not be any better.

The cheapest result should also be for him to resign, take responsibility for the recent cases, and take the blame.

Director Luc would certainly be on the horse. Edward could not have one of his own people not to use, but to believe in director Henry, the capitulator.

These few days 'operations were the last time director Henry would shine in his post.

Before Yu Tian could finish watching the news, Cass came over to remind him, "Boss, the police at the winery seem to be retreating." This was within expectations.

Yu Tian looked at the time. It was not even twelve o'clock.

In just a few hours, so many changes had happened in Twilight City. The situation seemed to be huge.

So he said to Cass, "Don't worry, it's still early. Let them go first..."

The Big Guy carried his machine gun and squatted by the side. He said with an itch in his heart, "Actually, we can also ambush those policemen and beat them up!

After fighting a few battles on the battlefield, the big guy became very confident in the power and lethality of the machine gun.

He felt that under the violent firepower of the machine gun, the number of enemies was not a condition that needed to be considered too much.

Therefore, other than handguns, which were portable weapons, he was not interested in other rifles.

This time, he brought another machine gun from that secret stronghold, and it was a superior brand.

Although it did not look as powerful as Gatlin, its power and firing speed, as well as its ammunition supply and firepower sustainability were all excellent.

He felt that if he used this machine gun to beat up the police fleet, he would definitely beat them up until they cried for their parents.

Before they could react, he would be able to kill dozens of people and dozens of cars.

However, Yu Tian rolled his eyes. "Don't always think about fighting and killing. You have to look at the specific situation. These policemen... are now considered our allies."

"Allies? y,

"Yes, they will soon provide us with services..."

Yu Tian sighed and realized that the world was really fickle.

In the blink of an eye, the situation seemed to have changed again.

The Kronin Society had basically lost control of dusk city, including the headquarters of the DONGLONG company.

Then, did they still need to continue destroying this winery?

So, Yu Tian called brother pig again.

"The police on the winery's side have started to retreat. You told Edward to do this, right?"

"That's right. "

"Is the police force under our control now?"

"More or less. After all, Edward is still the mayor, and Luc will soon take over the position of chief. Those police won't be able to disobey the orders of their superiors.

"But... We can't use the power of the police to do something outrageous and illegal.

"Can 't we let them arrest the traitors in the winery? We can just plant some charges on them and let them rot in prison... "

"Of course not, "piggy said seriously, "That would be too easy for these traitors... and on this matter, we have to make a clean-up gesture and kill a group of them so that everyone can see the end of the traitors. "

"But, if there are only ten of us, I'm afraid we won't be able to kill them all... some of them will definitely escape.

"That's not important, this is just a gesture. Just go ahead and kill as many as you can.

"Remember, the methods must be brutal and the scene must be bloody... As for those who escaped, the police will arrest them, and we will chase after them in the future..."

"Then, what about the buildings in the winery? Do We still need to destroy them? By the way, I also brought a lot of explosives..."

“Then use the explosives. ”

“But, we can already control the winery now and blow up our own property... ”

“Do you still miss those few houses? Or do you want to continue using this winery as your headquarters?”

“Uh... I just don't think there's much need to blow up this place. ”

Yu Tian felt a little awkward about blowing up his own house.

Piggy Liang sighed, “This winery has already completed its historical mission. Its greatest value now is to be buried together with the traitor...”

He paused for a moment, piggy Liang continued, “There's no need for us to waste our strength guarding there anymore. That would only give kronin more chances to play dirty tricks. We have to go into the dark and disappear from their sight. “The essence of Donglong Company is still a secret organization. We don't need such a large-scale headquarters, nor do we need to use some winery as a cover for it...”

Yu Tian suddenly understood. “You're right. There's really no need for this winery to exist. ”

Brother pig smiled and said, “Then, let him shine for the last time.”

Yu Tian said, “I'll make it very, very hot... ”

Just as he was about to hang up the call, Brother Pig coughed twice and said, “Um, boss, don't be too anxious. It's said that every winery has a group of wine kings hidden in it. In one of the warehouses of your winery... ”

Yu Tian had a headache and said, “Don't worry. Before I set the explosives, I'll take out those wine kings... they're all yours.”

“Ahem, actually, that's not the main point... you just have to do your official business first. It doesn't matter about the wine. The main thing is that I don't like to waste it... Alright, I'll hang up the call first. “Inform me when you're done. I'll get the police to come over and clean up the mess...” Piggy finally cut off the communication with satisfaction..

Chapter 1178: Chapter 1,177, split up

After the communication was cut off, Yu Tian called the mouse team to move closer to the winery.

In order to avoid any more accidents, they had to launch an attack immediately after the police evacuated.

The police evacuated very quickly. After all, it was a disciplinary force. Although the decision to evacuate was rushed, they were still very orderly, so the efficiency of the operation was relatively high.

Of course, this was also related to the emergency order of the city hall.

Edward's request was for them to arrive at a certain designated place within a limited time, which made the commander of the police force feel a little flustered.

In a short while, the first police car drove out of the winery.

Then came the second car, the third car..

The police officers behind were still boarding the cars, but the police car in front had already walked a few miles, looking like it was fleeing in a panic.

Soon, the last police car drove out of the winery, and the vicinity of the winery suddenly became quiet.

Without these dozens of police cars, the empty land and roads near the winery fell into darkness again.

"Let's move out.

Yu Tian did not waste any more time and immediately gave an order to Cass, "Move fast, be handsome, and be ruthless... kill everyone you see. Don't worry about your actions being exposed, it doesn't matter if a few of them run away. "

"Got it. "

Cass nodded lightly and led the mouse squad to surround the office building.

This time, the mouse squad was fully armed. They were not just carrying pistols.

Not only did they carry rifles that were not commonly used, they also carried all kinds of grenades and a large number of magazines.

Because it was mainly an indoor battle, their main weapon was the automatic rifle with a shorter body.

The range and power of this rifle were slightly inferior, but it was easy to use and had a large magazine. It was often used in counter-terrorism operations, so it could be considered a very good police gun.

From these weapons, it could be seen that the eastern country's security department's crisis response measures and various preparations were also at an extreme level.

As long as they wanted to, they definitely had the ability to create great chaos in these countries and cities.

On the other hand, it would be much more difficult for those foreign forces to create chaos in the eastern country.

At the very least, they would not be able to prepare so many guns and ammunition in the eastern country.

The rat squad was soon scattered in the surrounding darkness. The Big Guy was also carrying a machine gun and was eager to give it a try.

However, Yu Tian had other plans for the big guy.

The Big Guy was tall and big. He was not suitable to be the vanguard of a sneak attack, nor was he good at the mode of action of those assassins.

Therefore, Yu Tian did not let him get involved in the operation of the mouse squad. Instead, he arranged for him to live near the dormitory in the living area.

The people living there were basically all security personnel and winery workers. Although they were not important people, there were still quite a number of them.

On a rainy day like this, they were more compatible with machine gun bullets.

In addition, the area near the dormitory was relatively spacious and empty. It was very suitable for machine guns to display their stance and display their power.

It was also very suitable for the big guy to fight head-on with the enemy.

As such, the cleaning of the living area was handed over to the big guy.

The Big Guy could fight alone. He did not need Yu Tian's command and cooperation, nor did he need Yu Tian to worry about his safety.

With a full set of bulletproof equipment for genetic warriors, even if the big guy wanted to court death, it would be very difficult for him to get injured.

Yu Tian also had his own matters to attend to.

For example, bringing back the high-quality wine stored in the winery.

This was a small request that Pig Bro Liang had mentioned, and it wasn't too troublesome for Yu Tian.

In addition, Yu Tian still had to arrange the explosives in the surrounding warehouses and factories.

Since he intended to destroy this place, he might as well destroy it thoroughly, leaving nothing behind.

At the same time, he would kill all the people guarding the warehouse and the factory.

There wasn't a single innocent person who was still working for the traitor.

In this way, Yu Tian had a lot of things to do, and he was also responsible for a large area of work.

However, not all of these tasks were done by him alone. He also had a helper by his side, the executioner who had followed him all the way from the basement.

Yu Tian had already communicated with the executioner when he was resting and waiting just now.

The executioner was mainly unaware of the current situation and had no way of finding Uncle Long. He also did not know what he could do for Uncle Long.

Now that he had finally met the people from the DONGLONG company, he could be considered to have found the organization and allies.

Therefore, the executioner decided to temporarily act together with Yu Tian and the others. This could be considered as helping Uncle Long.

In addition, if the DONGLONG company could resume its normal operations, it would definitely be able to provide him with a lot of intelligence and information.

At that time, it would be more convenient for him to have his own ideas and plans.

Therefore, the executioner temporarily became Yu Tian's henchman and temporarily joined in the work of destroying the winery, preparing to assist Yu Tian in dealing with these warehouses and factories.

Yu Tian brought a lot of explosives, which were all stored in the secret stronghold of the Eastern State's security department.

In Xiao Wang's words, if these explosives were not used, they would have to wait for themselves to expire.

Therefore, Yu Tian absolutely did not need to save when laying the explosives.

These explosives looked a little like plastic explosives, but in fact, they were an improved product with a different composition, and their power was much greater than C 4.

Yu Tian planned to give half of these explosives to the executioner. The two of them would go to the factories and warehouses to finish laying the explosives.

But the executioner refused without thinking. "I don't know how to use explosives. I can only help you kill all the guards. Then you can easily set up the explosives..."

Yu Tian smiled. "This kind of explosives is actually very simple. You just need to stick it together with the detonator on the target object. "We have a lot of explosives, and we don't need to pay attention to the location and technology of the explosion. "You can stick it all the way and blow it up wherever you want..."

The executioner said calmly, "I don't think so. I'm not good at these things... I'll be responsible for clearing the place for you."

"Alright."

Yu Tian did not force him. Everyone had their own things that they were not good at and did not like. For a job like theirs, the division of labor could not be forced.

Therefore, he and the executioner divided the work simply. He let the executioner go to the surrounding warehouses and factories to clean up the guards.

He went to a small warehouse by himself and first took out some high-quality wine from the collection inside.

After assigning the work, the two of them immediately took action.

Both of them had good lightness skills and were very fast. They even arrived at the target building faster than the mouse team that set off first.

Yu Tian continued to advance from the roof, avoiding the surveillance cameras and trying not to alarm the enemy in advance..

Chapter 1179: Chapter 1,178, the transportation of red wine

Translator: 549690339

There were several warehouses in the winery, which were used to store different types and vintages of red wine. The classification was quite detailed.

Yu Tian's target had already been confirmed. For this reason, Zhu Geliang had specially asked the middle-level of the company to determine which warehouse had the king of wine.

Then, he sent Yu Tian a location so that he wouldn't go to the wrong place.

Since Zhu Geliang was so cautious, Yu Tian had no choice but to take it seriously.

He still followed the original method and made a hole at the top of the target warehouse. Then, he directly entered the storage room inside the warehouse.

There was a lot of red wine in the warehouse. They were all packaged in glass bottles and labeled goods. They were neatly placed on the special wine racks.

The highest quality red wine was placed in the wine cellar. There was a wooden staircase that led directly down.

Of course, there was also an anti-theft door that was locked.

Yu Tian could use the Shangyang sword to easily cut open the anti-theft door, but he felt that there was no need to waste his internal energy at this time. The guards of the warehouse naturally had keys on them. After killing the guards, they could just take them and use them.

This was not a bank. It was not to the extent of having a few managers take care of a few keys and only open the door after putting them together.

The winery was originally a front for the DONGLONG company. The red wine it operated was not some famous brand, so a few bottles of red wine would not cause so much trouble.

Yu Tian listened carefully in the warehouse for a while. Other than the lounge, there was no other sound.

So he walked directly to the lounge.

There were three guards in the lounge, one more than the previous small warehouse.

This showed that the importance of the small warehouse was not as important as a wine cellar.

At least the red wine in the wine cellar could be sold for a few dollars.

Yu Tian pushed open the door of the lounge without even twisting the doorknob.

The simple door lock was scrapped, and even the door frame was squeezed open.

The three guards in the lounge were dumbfounded. They were still holding their phones and nervously eating chicken.

Yu Tian waved his hand, and the three guards died one after another, happily dying in their beds.

Yu Tian searched the three guards again and quickly found the key.

He decided to ban chicken eating in the company from now on. He even wanted No. 76 to use technology to prevent the employees from eating chicken when they went home.

Even more extreme, he would take certain actions against all the gaming companies that ate chicken.

Yu Tian took the key and smoothly entered the wine cellar. Then, he found the wine king that Pig Bro Liang had specifically asked for.

Although it was called Wine King, the quality was better and the taste was better.

The red wine here was not a big brand, and the price had not been hyped up. Other than his own people who thought the taste was good and could distribute some internally, there was no circulation in the outside market.

There were three or four types of wine king that Piggy Liang wanted. The quality was about the same, but each had its own flavor and age.

All the red wine added up to a total of two to three hundred bottles.

Yu Tian could only find some wooden boxes that were specially packed for red wine and pack the red wine boxes one by one.

After packing, he found that there was still a little more red wine in this batch. There were twelve bottles in a big box, and there were about twenty boxes in total.

An ordinary car would definitely not be able to fit in. Even if it was a business car, it would be difficult for them to take it away in one car.

The key point was that the cars they drove did not have any larger cars.

Yu Tian suddenly had a headache. Could it be that he had to specially find a car?

However, they mostly used small private cars, and it was definitely not enough to pull the red wine.

He had no choice but to contact brother pig again.

“About your wine king... There are dozens of boxes. Ask them where the winery has a bigger car.”

“Wait a minute...”

Piggy Liang immediately went to ask the staff of the East Dragon Company and quickly gave Yu Tian a reply.

Fortunately, although there were no large transport vehicles in the winery, there were still a few minivans.

More than twenty boxes of red wine could be handled by a minivan.

However, the minivans were all parked at the living area, so Yu Tian had to drive the car over himself.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment. It was definitely not a good time to drive.

The living area was the place with the most security personnel. It was impossible for him to drive the car away under the watchful eyes of so many people.

It was still a small matter to be treated as a thief. It would be a big trouble if the security guards were scared away.

However, if he waited until the battle was over before looking for a car, those minivans would probably have been beaten into scrap metal by the Big Guy.

It was also impossible for the Big Guy to avoid those minivans, because those security guards might have already driven away in the minivans.

Yu Tian was suddenly in a dilemma.

After pondering for a long time, he decided to go to the living area first to have a look.

For the sake of Piggy Liang’s group of wine kings, he had to take a risk and try.

Perhaps he could take advantage of the fact that the security guards were not paying attention and secretly move the minivans to a safe corner first.

Yu Tian jumped on the roof again and started to rush to the living area.

The lights near the living area were brighter because there were many outdoor activities.

For example, there were outdoor fitness equipment and basketball courts.

In the past, Donglong Company's workers would often play basketball at night. However, with so many things happening in Donglong company these days, basketball and other activities were temporarily canceled, including some messy entertainment activities.

However, the lights in the living area did not stop. There were still many workers outside.

This was probably a habit. Although there was no basketball game organized, the workers still surrounded the fitness equipment in groups of two or three. They chatted and exercised casually.

Yu Tian observed carefully and found that it was not completely impossible to steal the minivan.

The minivan was parked in a small parking lot. The location was closer to the dormitory, but it was still some distance away from the activity area of the workers and security guards.

There were not many vehicles in the parking lot. Because the office building was also some distance away from here, the employees in the office would not park their cars in this small parking lot.

There were only about ten cars in total, and they all quietly stayed in the parking lot.

It was not difficult to sneak into the parking lot, because although there were some lights, it was not particularly bright.

Although the dormitory was next to it, the people in the dormitory would not always keep an eye on the activity in the parking lot.

And because the workers and security guards were far away, it was even less likely that they would always pay attention to the parking lot.

The problem, though, is that getting the minivan out is a bit eye-catching..

Yu Tian relied on his fast movement speed to easily jump into the parking lot.

Using the cover of these vehicles, Yu Tian smoothly approached a small truck without being seen by anyone.

Then, Yu Tian thought of another problem that gave him a headache.

He didn't know how to steal a car.

Without a key, it was impossible for him to drive the car away.

The assassins from the mouse team had the ability to do so, but they had already sneaked over to the office building and were about to launch a sneak attack on it.

Was he going to call someone over to help steal the car?

Was it appropriate to call someone over to handle such a small matter at such a critical time when the operation was about to begin?

Yu Tian pondered for a moment. Cough, what kind of car keys did he need!

Anyway, with the car keys, they could not start the car openly.

If he wanted to secretly get the minivan out of the parking lot, he should use brute force to push the car out.

That way, it would not be easy to be discovered.

After thinking this through, Yu Tian immediately began to take action.

First, he used Shang Yang Sword to break the car door lock.

Then, he got into the car and put a space in the van.

Next, it was the old man's turn to push the van.

He looked around and found that no one had noticed the parking lot.

Yu Tian immediately went around to the front of the Van and pushed the van to the back.

The work of pushing the van was very easy for him. After all, his strength was far beyond that of an ordinary person.

Although this kind of van was much bigger and heavier than an ordinary car, Yu Tian did not need to use much strength to push it.

With a light push, the van quickly retreated. After a while, it left the range of the light and disappeared into the darkness.

Things went very smoothly. No one noticed that a car had run away from the parking lot.

Yu Tian could not help but feel a little smug.

At this moment, Cass 'voice suddenly rang in his ear.

"Boss, there are some people coming out from the office building. They... they seem to be evacuating.

"Evacuating?"

Yu Tian was slightly stunned, but then he immediately understood.

Perhaps the traitor realized that the situation in dusk city was not right and was worried that the winery would also be attacked by Yu Tian and the others, so he thought of evacuating.

After all, the actions of Yu Tian and the others in the past few days were really lawless. They had also caused a lot of chaos in Twilight City. They even dared to directly attack the temporary prison that the Wild Fox Secret Service team was stationed in.

If they still wanted to attack this winery, the traitors would not have the strength to resist at all.

Yu Tian hesitated for a moment, then immediately asked, "How many people have escaped?"

Cass answered, "Not many, about seven or eight people. "

"Only seven or eight people?"

Yu Tian was a little puzzled again.

Why only seven or eight people? Shouldn't all the traitors be running out in a swarm if they wanted to evacuate?

He was a little confused, but now was not the time to think about this.

So he asked Cass again, "Which way are they running?" "To the back of the office building. That's the parking lot."

"Can you stop them?"

Cass hesitated, "Our people have already sneaked into the office building, and I'm the only one still outside. If we want to stop these seven or eight people... I might make a lot of noise. "

It was not a problem to let Cass kill these seven or eight people, but Cass was not an immortal like Yu Tian. He did not have the ridiculous speed of Yu Tian.

He could not quickly finish off so many enemies in a very short period of time, and not let the other party make any movements.

Especially when the other party fled in a panic. They might still have guns on them, and if there was a slight situation, they might have already fired.

To let Cass kill all the enemies, he had to keep quiet the entire time, unless the other party had already dispersed and was basically alone.

For example, after these seven or eight people ran into the parking lot.

After these people entered the parking lot, they would definitely split up to look for their cars. It was impossible for them to coincidentally park their cars together.

At this time, Cass was confident that he could kill them one by one, but it was already too late.

After the enemies entered the parking lot, they would not waste any time and would immediately drive away.

Cass simply did not have enough time to chase after these scattered enemies.

He was afraid that he would only have enough time to sneak attack one or two enemies before the others had already driven away from the parking lot.

When that time came, if he wanted to stop these vehicles again, the commotion would only be greater.

This task was not easy for Cass to complete

Unless the mouse squad planned to start a forced attack on the office building, then Cass could directly use his rifle to fire at the seven or eight people.

Of course, the rat squad would be more likely to suffer casualties if they attacked by force. Traitors would more or less hide some weapons in the office building.

Moreover, the executioners were still cleaning up the warehouses and factories. If they attacked the office building now, the people in the other buildings would be scared away.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment. It seemed that he had to deal with this situation himself.

“Don ‘t worry about them. Continue with your operation... let me handle these people.

“Okay Boss... let me remind you again. They have entered the parking lot. ”

Cass did not dwell on this matter. If it really did not work out, he would just let these people run away.

Anyway, this was not a big deal.

Hearing that these people had already entered the parking lot, Yu Tian did not hesitate any longer and immediately rushed to the parking lot behind the office building.

The winery was located in the suburbs. Naturally, the employees needed vehicles to travel.

Therefore, the parking lot of the winery was very large. It could easily accommodate hundreds of vehicles.

However, the parking lot here was different from the parking lot in the city. It was just a wasteland near the grape forest. The ground was not as flat as the normal parking lot, and the shape was very irregular.

Naturally, this kind of wasteland would not be completely covered by lights. Moreover, they were not worried about the problem of theft of vehicles.

Because there was no exit for vehicles to leave around the parking lot. Even if a thief came to steal a car, they could only drive the car from the office building or other places with lights.

There were no other passageways here, unless it was in the grape forest. However, only heavy tanks could break through there.

Yu Tian could see the darkness in the parking lot from afar. This situation was very beneficial to him.

Especially the wasteland near the grape forest. It was almost completely dark. He could only rely on the flashlights that the workers brought with them to illuminate the area.

This time, Yu Tian did not walk on the roof. Instead, he walked along the dark area at the edge of the winery. He spread his feet and ran at high speed.

When Yu Tian ran at full speed, it was difficult for the cars in the city to catch up with him.

If he was not worried about causing a sensation, he would not have needed any other means of transportation in the city.

After taking a few deep breaths, Yu Tian ran to the parking lot..

Seven or eight of the traitors walked in a hurry, their faces solemn.

They used the light function of their cell phones to provide themselves with light and walked all the way into the parking lot.

After entering the parking lot, these people quickly scattered and went to find their own parked cars.

There was no parking space in this parking lot, only the ground that was suitable for parking, and the ground that was not suitable for parking.

Everyone had to find an opening to park their car. It didn't matter where they parked their car.

Most people wouldn't deliberately remember where their car was parked. They might not even remember the general direction.

These people could only press their car keys as they walked through the pile of cars.

Although their footsteps weren't considered slow, they were still a lot slower than Yu Tian's explosive speed.

When Yu Tian arrived at the parking lot, none of these people had gotten into the car.

Yu Tian did not have time to gloat and immediately rushed toward the nearest traitor.

The cell phones in the hands of these traitors were all lit up, which was equivalent to giving Yu Tian clear directions.

The dark parking lot also gave Yu Tian good cover.

He did not have to walk through the sea of cars like these traitors did. He directly jumped onto the roof of the car and flew straight towards the source of the light.

The traitor who was targeted by Yu Tian seemed to have heard something. This time, Yu Tian only pursued speed. He did not hide the sound of his movement.

He had a lot of equipment on him. Naturally, there would be the sound of friction and wind as he moved rapidly.

But that was it.

Just because he heard a sound did not mean that he would be able to react. Just because he reacted did not mean that he would be able to make any movements.

The traitor had only raised his head slightly when Yu Tian's flying needles had already arrived.

The traitor fainted silently. He fell onto the ground and did not make a single sound.

Yu Tian was still more than ten meters away from the traitor when he easily completed his attack.

He did not come over to check on the traitor's specific situation because he knew that his flying needle could not miss.

Therefore, he did not stop and continued flying toward the next light source.

His speed was indeed not as fast as a bullet, but when he moved quickly and launched a sneak attack, he did not leave much time for ordinary people to react.

The second traitor was brushed by Yu Tian and successfully fainted.

When there was one more, one more.

The advantage of the flying needle was fully displayed in this quiet parking lot. He did not need to get too close to the enemy, nor did he need to make too much noise. He quickly took down all the enemies.

This efficiency was similar to the speed of using a sniper rifle to kill them one by one.

To Yu Tian, this process was just like running half a lap in a large parking lot.

Then, he began to clean up the unconscious enemies and brought them all together.

There were a total of nine people. Yu Tian did not kill any of them, leaving all of them alive.

Because he felt that this matter was a little strange, he decided to ask Brother Pig Liang first.

"What's the matter now?"

Piggy Liang also felt a little puzzled.

It was just a small attack, why did it drag on for so long, and there were so many accidents and unforeseen circumstances?

Was there really too much to do tonight? Or was Yu Tian being overly cautious in doing things?

If it was a team like the sheep mercenary group, would they turn the winery into ruins without saying a word?

Yu Tian didn't feel that he had too many things to do, so he still pushed the blame to Brother Pig.

"I caught a few captives in the winery..."

"Captives? Do We need captives? Can't we just kill them all..."

"Ahem, what I mean is... the situation of these captives is a little strange. They began to evacuate before our operation was fully launched, but they didn't evacuate all of them..."

Yu Tian gave a rough description of the situation to Piggy Liang.

Piggy Liang said indifferently, "This is very normal. After all, they haven't received any definite news that can confirm that we're going to attack the winery soon..."

"So, under such circumstances, they can't panic and immediately organize the evacuation..."

After a pause, Piggy Liang began to chat slowly, "It should be because of the news just now..."

"Councilman Leon was killed by the police, and mayor Edward suddenly had so many abnormal actions..."

"Also, the police force that was supposed to protect them also suddenly retreated..."

"These signs should have made them sense something unusual and dangerous."

"When they connected it to the attack of the sheep mercenary group this morning, they realized our powerful combat strength and that the East Dragon Company still had a combat strength that they couldn't resist."

“They knew that without the protection of the police force, they wouldn’t be able to guarantee the safety of the winery with their own strength.. “Therefore, it was inevitable to evacuate the winery. ”

“However, in non-emergency situations, there was no need for such an evacuation to be too panicked and chaotic. ”

“They would inform a few important assistants to leave first. Then, they would ask the other low-level handymen to destroy some documents and information, as well as computers and other office equipment that could leak Information that couldn’t be taken away...”

When Yu Tian heard this, he suddenly understood. “You are saying that these few assistants who left first should be the more important assistants of the traitor leader’s subordinates?”

Brother pig said indifferently, “Yes, it must be the important assistants who can leave first. As for the other handymen... They are actually not worth much.

They may not even have the chance to leave.

“What do you mean?”

Piggy Liang smiled and said, “Those traitors might not be willing to give up this winery so easily. This place can attract some lost branch members to come and fall into their trap. It can also be used by them to prove that they are the rightful heir of the East Dragon Company and declare us traitors...

Yu Tian was speechless and said, “So, they will still let those low-level members stay behind to die?”

Brother Pig said with a smile, “It’s not really suicide. Those who stay can still continue to work and continue to use their remaining value. When we really attack, it won’t be too late for them to run away... ”

Yu Tian had nothing to say, so he could only change the topic. “Then, these important assistants of theirs should have a lot of interrogation value?”

“Yes, of course they are. At least their mouths are much easier to pry open than that councilman Leon ‘s.

Brother Pig said with a smile, “But I’m afraid they don’t know much. This is a matter of luck.

Yu Tian said, "Since they are important assistants, they must know some information... they might even know the whereabouts of those traitors! Piggy Liang did not comment. "You can let them interrogate him..

Chapter 1182: Chapter 1,181, aimed at handguns

Yu Tian decided to keep these captives alive for now. He would interrogate them after the battle at the winery was over.

Since they were the important assistants of the traitor leader, they should be able to get some valuable information out of them.

It would be a piece of cake anyway. There would be no delay.

So he took the captives and led them to the grape forest next to the parking lot.

After walking back and forth a few times, the work of moving the captives was finally completed.

But at this time, someone came from the dark parking lot.

It was the security guards patrolling nearby.

They saw someone from the office building enter the parking lot, but after waiting for a long time, they didn't see any cars coming out of the parking lot. They suddenly felt strange.

For the time being, they did not know what had happened in the parking lot, so they brought their flashlights over to check on the situation.

The few security guards obviously could not cause any trouble to Yu Tian. Yu Tian took care of them in a few moves.

For traitors like these who had no intelligence value, Yu Tian was a death blow.

The risk of being exposed was gone for the time being, but this situation meant that the entire operation was not far from being exposed.

If the security personnel in the winery lost contact, it would easily arouse the vigilance of the surveillance and command center. Then, their sneak attack would be exposed, and they would have no choice but to turn from a sneak attack to a forceful attack.

Therefore, Yu Tian and the mouse squad's mode of action was to start from the inside of those buildings. They did not plan to clean up the few patrolling security guards outside from the beginning.

Now that such a situation had occurred, Yu Tian could only remind everyone in the squad's communication channel.

"Let's speed up the pace of the operation. I've killed a few of the patrolling security guards outside. They will soon realize that something is wrong..."

"Roger." Roger."

The rat squad members responded one after another. Their footsteps also sped up a little.

Yu Tian jumped up again, jumped onto the roof of a warehouse, and began to speed up the cleaning of the various buildings.

Cass and the others entered the office building through the windows, and bypassed the hall where there must be surveillance cameras. They began to clean the small offices one by one.

Without using guns, these killers had their own methods.

After all, this was their old profession. Everyone had some unique skills in assassination. It was not difficult to deal with non-combatants with bare hands or using cold weapons.

Originally, their pace of action was not fast, mainly to ensure that they would not be exposed. Every time they sneaked into a room, they would carefully observe and consider the most suitable method to sneak in.

But now, to speed up the pace, their actions naturally had to take a lot of risks.

Yu Tian had just finished cleaning the second small warehouse when he heard gunshots coming from the office building.

The soundproofing of the office building was not bad. The gunshots inside did not sound particularly jarring outside.

However, the night air was especially quiet. These small gunshots quickly attracted the attention of the security guards and workers outside.

Some people hesitantly approached the office building, while some smart people quietly ran to some dark corners, ready to see what the situation was before deciding what to do.

Unfortunately, in the face of Yu Tian's absolute strength, these smart people's calculations were meaningless.

At this time, Yu Tian did not have to hide anymore. He directly jumped down from the roof and pounced on the patrolling personnel outside.

He did not use a pistol. This thing was not as good as his flying needles.

The biggest problem with flying needles was that their shooting range was a little short. It was not that they could not be thrown too far, but if they were thrown too far, they would easily lose their aim.

It was not impossible to ensure their accuracy from a long distance. They just needed to increase their own weight.

For example, they could change to a thicker batch of flying needles, or they could directly change to small flying knives.

However, this way, the number of flying knives that Yu Tian could carry on his body was very limited.

He pondered for a moment and decided to try using his internal force to support the flying needle.

This way, the force would be greater, and the flying needle would also be able to maintain a better inertia, so that it would not lose its accuracy due to the airflow.

Since it had already become a strong attack, Yu Tian did not care that the flying needle would miss.

With a few rapid leaps, he arrived at a spot thirty to forty meters away from the patrolling officers.

Then, he used his internal energy to support the flying needles and threw them over.

This time, he only threw one flying needle. It was an attempt to attack someone who was not very familiar with it.

Then, he saw the security guard lying down straight.

The method of using internal energy to support the flying needles was indeed feasible. However, the speed of his attack was a little slow because he was not very familiar with it.

Under the stunned gazes of the few security guards, Yu Tian continued to work hard and continued to shoot the flying needles in his hands.

The few security guards still did not know what was going on, but they instinctively began to scatter and Dodge. They also drew their guns and fired at

Yu Tian.

The few security guards all carried pistols because rifles and other things were too eye-catching. Those police officers were not blind. They could not just watch them carry their rifles and wander around without paying attention.

The effective range of a handgun was usually around 50 meters, and because of the recoil, it was difficult to hit the target from a distance of 50 meters.

The few security guards pulled out their guns and shot in a panic. Naturally, they could not be considered accurate.

Yu Tian was not a bulletproof monster like the big guy, but he was wearing a bulletproof vest, so there was no need to worry too much about the bullets from the handgun.

He just lowered his head slightly and then activated his Golden Shield iron shirt.

No matter how effective this defensive martial skill was, there would always be a sense of psychological security after it was activated.

Then, Yu Tian continued to shoot his flying needles.

After a round of shooting with a few security guards, the effect of the flying needles was actually much more powerful than the handgun.

Yu Tian did not even take a single shot, and those security guards all fell to the ground and died.

This result made Yu Tian extremely happy.

If he were to master this method of using his internal force to support the flying needles, it would be much more powerful than carrying a handgun.

However, now was not the time to be happy. He still had to continue to clean up the patrolling personnel outside.

At the same time, the workers in the living area also began to get lively.

They ran out of the dormitory one after another, and brought rifles and ammunition and other combat equipment.

Among these workers, there was also a team commander. He shouted for everyone to gather and prepare to go to the office building for support.

This was their post responsibility. They had been preparing for this day since the day they entered the winery.

However, the last time the police surrounded and arrested the DONGLONG company, they were asked by the traitor to give up resistance.

This time, no one interfered with their actions, but the commander was still a little hesitant.

Because the gunfire in the office building became more intense..

Chapter 1183: Chapter 1,182, monsters

Translator: 549690339

After the battle in the office building started, it immediately became explosive.

The mouse squad no longer had any cover. They raised their rifles and began the slaughter along the way.

The fully armed killers were all like brony.

Just like in the movies, they only needed to aim at every target that appeared and gently pull the trigger.

The killer's psychological quality was very stable, and the firing frequency was neither too fast nor too slow.

When it was time to shoot continuously, it was a chaotic sweep.

When it was time to fire at individual targets, they would definitely not waste their ammunition.

When it was time to use grenades, flashbangs, and the like, they would not hesitate to throw a few. There was no need to be stingy and save.

Although the killers did not cooperate much with each other, with the individual communication system, they at least knew the location of their teammates and the direction of their attack.

This way, they would coordinate their attack route and range a little more reasonably.

In addition, their military equipment had a high degree of recognition, so they would not accidentally injure their teammates.

They massacred and advanced along the way. It was as easy as playing a game.

There were also security guards in the office building. The security guards also carried weapons.

However, they were indoors after all. They did not have many heavy weapons. Most of them were pistols.

This kind of weapon could not compete with the mouse squad at all. Those pistols and bullets could not even break through the bulletproof vests of the mouse squad.

The security guards soon realized that the situation was not good. They did not have any advantage except that they had a little more people.

So they immediately began to retreat. They wanted to organize non-combatants to escape from the office building.

Unfortunately, the mouse team came prepared. All the passageways were blocked by them.

The attack approached from all directions from the inside. The upstairs and downstairs were fighting at the same time.

In the dormitory area.

The commander of the squad finally decided to attack the office building immediately.

Although the sound of gunfire and the explosion of grenades in the office building were very fierce, the commander judged that the number of enemies was not many based on his own experience.

Otherwise, the sound of gunfire in the office building would be ten times stronger.

As the saying goes, a thousand days of training a soldier, a moment of use.

These combatants had been idling for such a long time that they almost thought of themselves as ordinary winery workers.

Other than brewing wine and moving bricks, they had almost forgotten their combat skills.

Now, it was time to serve their boss.

Of course, the current boss was no longer the same as the previous boss, and the commander knew it in his heart.

But it didn't matter. In line with the principle of having milk, he still had to work hard for his milk powder quota.

"Brothers..."

Facing the sparsely gathered fighters, he was just about to say a few words to boost their morale when the explosive roar of machine guns suddenly sounded in his ears.

The Big Guy appeared in front of them very punctually and began to shoot fiercely at them.

The Big Guy had been waiting for a long time.

If it weren't for their delay in gathering, the Big Guy would have fought with them.

There weren't many workers gathered here, about 50 to 60 people.

Theoretically, there should be more fighters, but some of them had quit and run away, and some..

Maybe they quit and ran away at the last minute.

In short, there were only so many fighters who could still gather here.

The Big Guy felt that these few people were not enough for him to kill.

He stood in front of the dormitory with his machine gun and stood under the light casually.

There was a long bullet chain hanging on the machine gun, and the big guy carried a heavy ammunition box on his back.

However, there were only so few enemies. The Big Guy felt that he did not even need to change his bullets. With just this bullet chain, he could clean up the enemies.

In the first second of shooting, the Big Guy had already swept down more than a dozen people.

The shooting speed of this machine gun could reach up to thousands of bullets per minute, and at least dozens of bullets jumped out of the muzzle of the gun every second.

The power of machine gun bullets was much greater than ordinary guns. The bullets were much larger than ordinary bullets, and a single bullet could easily penetrate several people.

The word "Penetrate" was actually not quite appropriate, because the target that was hit by the bullet was usually not "Penetrated" by the bullet, but torn and exploded by the bullet.

Although this kind of machine gun could not penetrate armor, attacking ordinary vehicles and humans was simply torture.

He had a lot of strength, so the recoil of the machine gun had no effect on him.

He could hold the machine gun steadily and shoot accurately at the crowd.

In the first second, he took down more than a dozen enemies. In the next few seconds, more than half of the enemies fell under his muzzle.

It was not because he could not shoot accurately or because the firing speed of the machine gun was not good.

Some of the fighters were too smart. When the first spark was fired from the muzzle of the machine gun, those fighters scattered and fell to the ground.

Their commander had his back to the big guy. He was instantly smashed into minced meat by the machine gun bullets.

The fighters who wanted to scatter were not spared either. The speed of the bullets was countless times faster than the speed of their scattering.

The chaotic crowd did not have the time to expand their range before they all fell together.

The fighters who were lying on the ground were not new either. They fired back at the first moment.

It was useless to just run and hide. Only by eliminating the enemy could they truly be safe.

They only had one enemy. Even a blind person could see the person who fired at them.

The Big Guy stood under the streetlight without any thoughts of hiding.

He didn't even bother to lie down.

However, this posture was still a little creepy. To be able to withstand a machine gun in such a situation, one could imagine how terrifying his strength was.

Not to mention the weight of the machine gun and the ammunition itself, the recoil was definitely not something an ordinary person could withstand.

A normal machine gunner would have to set up the machine gun first so that it could withstand the recoil and allow the machine gun to fire smoothly.

People like the big guy who played with the machine gun were not individuals in the eyes of these fighters.

However, they still had to retaliate against the big guy. Just like in the movies, the opponents were usually aliens, robots, monsters, demons... and so on.

Knowing that it was futile, the soldiers still fired at the monsters.

The result of firing was usually hopeless, just like when they fired at the big guy.

The big guy could totally withstand it.

These soldiers' marksmanship was actually not bad, but because of the distance, their hits were still a little off.

In addition, the power of the bullets was a little low. The excellent bulletproof vest that the big guy was wearing was completely able to withstand it..

Chapter 1184: Chapter 1,183, killing captives

Translator: 549690339

The battle on the Big Guy's side was the fastest to end.

The enemy's counterattack was futile, and they had no chance to escape.

There was no cover around them. It was just an empty space in front of the dormitory. The whole place was empty.

Under the watchful eyes of the machine guns, they did not even dare to think of standing up and running for their lives.

And the Big Guy wasn't a fool. He couldn't empty the whole chain in one shot.

After all the enemies were down, he began to shoot at the ground.

The Big Guy's marksmanship was also mediocre, but he had enough bullets to practice on the spot.

He ignored the weight and recoil of the machine gun. Practicing machine gun shooting was similar to practicing pistol shooting.

In fact, if one could ignore the recoil of the machine gun, the accuracy of the machine gun would be higher than many rifles, especially at a long distance.

It didn't matter even if there was a slight error in the accuracy of the shooting. The machine gun was a weapon that suppressed the firepower. It didn't seek to destroy an enemy with a single bullet.

If the big guy missed, he could still shoot consecutively.

Two consecutive shots, three consecutive shots, four consecutive shots..

Anyway, as long as they could hit the enemy, it would be fine.

Those combatants quickly panicked. Don't think that you won't be shot just because you're lying down. That would only reduce the chance of being hit by stray bullets.

If you continue lying down like this, you'll sooner or later die.

Some people immediately began to crawl forward, wanting to leave this area of the battlefield.

But the big guy didn't give them a chance. The more outstanding the enemy was, the easier it was to attract his fire.

Moreover, the big guy started to close in on the targets. This kind of shooting would be more accurate.

The counterattacks of the fighters had no effect on him at all. They were already scared shitless.

Seeing the big guy start to close in on them, they immediately panicked.

Some people no longer cared about the danger. They threw away their weapons and began to run to both sides.

However, no matter how fast they ran, they could not outrun bullets. It was impossible for them to find cover in a few seconds and escape from the control range of the big guy.

The Big Guy was neither fast nor slow. A few long shots killed all the people who were trying to escape.

Up to now, his bullet chain had not been replaced. He still had a little bit of bullets left.

The Big Guy, who had experienced many battles, had a reasonable control over the use of bullets.

The rest of the combatants immediately fell into despair.

If the Big Guy had emptied his bullets, then they might still have a chance to escape.

After all, changing the bullet chain for a machine gun was a one-man operation, and it would take a few seconds no matter how fast it was.

But in this situation, they were afraid that they would not be able to last until the big guy had emptied his bullets.

There was nothing they could do. Someone threw away his weapon and shouted loudly, "Don't shoot, I Surrender! "

"We Surrender!

Immediately, someone followed suit and shouted without any hesitation.

This was a situation where death was inevitable. Only a fool would fight to the end under the threat of machine guns.

In order to show their sincerity, the combatants who shouted for surrender immediately threw away the weapons in their hands.

Anyway, these weapons had no effect on the big guy. In their hands, it was better to use a fire stick.

The gunshots stopped, and the big guy continued to approach them with a machine gun. he shouted expressionlessly, "Those who have surrendered, put down your weapons and raise your hands. Gather all of you...

When they got closer, the lethality of the rifle bullets would be much greater. It was not a meaningless move for the big guy to ask them to put down their weapons.

However, these enemies did not understand the mystery behind it. They only thought that this was the custom of surrendering which surrendering person still had a gun?

They obediently threw down their weapons and slowly got up from the ground.

Seeing that the big guy did not seem to have any intention of shooting again, these battle personnel were relieved.

Surrendering was not a big deal.

They could surrender on the battlefield, even if they were enemies of their country and their families. For people like them who worked for a living, surrendering was even less of a psychological burden.

The fighters finally gathered together slowly. They looked at each other and found that there were less than twenty people left.

Everyone was covered in dirt and sweat mixed with dirt and dust, making them look like coolies who had just gotten off work.

Some of them started to laugh bitterly, while others shrugged nonchalantly.

The Big Guy continued to approach them. His footsteps were steady, and his expression was cold, just like the Terminator in the movies. "Very good, looks like your people are all here..."

The Big Guy said in a muffled voice, "Who's the boss here?"

The fighters looked at each other, then looked at the corpses on the ground.

The corpses were almost incomplete. They were all broken limbs and even minced meat.

Holding back his disgust, someone pointed at the half of the corpse and said,

"Our boss is dead. I don't think we can save him even if we find a tailor..."

At this time, he was still in the mood to tease him. The Big Guy could not help but want to give this kid a bullet.

After two seconds of silence, the big guy asked again, "What about your second brother here? Who else is in charge?"

"Second brother..."

The survivors looked at the corpses at the scene resentfully. They really could not find the second brother.

The second brother was probably the only second brother left. Unfortunately, no one knew him.

The big guy said coldly, "Okay, so that means... no one here can make the decision?"

"We can make the decision for ourselves, we surrender, we want to be captives..."

The captives immediately made their stand clear. How could a leader make the decision for surrendering.

After surrendering, everyone would be captives, and no one could control anyone.

The big guy said coldly, "Since you are all small fries... then you have no value to exist anymore... better to be the chicken that makes an example out of others! "

"Wait... "

The captives were a little panicked.

"What do you mean by making an example out of others?"

"F * ck! What do you want to Do?"

"Let's not talk about chickens, let's talk about civilization. What do you mean by that..."

"F * ck, he wants to kill the captives!"

The captives suddenly realized something, but it was already too late.

The Big Guy opened fire. The crowd standing in the middle was already a good target for machine gun fire.

Moreover, they were only a dozen meters away from each other. All the captives had already put down their weapons.

In the blink of an eye, the captives in front of the big guy, who were less than twenty people, were all shot into pieces by the machine gun.

"It's already very shameful to rebel, but you still want to surrender..."

There was no trace of pity in the Big Guy's eyes. "Do you really think that you are just workers in an ordinary company? How dare you come to a secret organization like the East Dragon Company to look for a job when you don't even have the awareness?"

“Trash like you should just die here like this.. “

Chapter 1185: Chapter 1,184. The battle was over

Translator: 549690339

There was nothing to clean up the battlefield. This was not their job.

Yu Tian and the rest only had ten people. They did not have the extra strength to clean up the mess, nor did they intend to clean up the battlefield as beautifully as possible.

The more tragic and bloody the battlefield was, the more it was in line with their expectations.

The Big Guy changed the ammunition chain of the machine gun and started to rush towards the office building.

The office building didn't need his support. Cass reported that everything was going well in the communication system. The enemies in the office building were as weak as a chicken or a dog, they had enough manpower to clean up all the enemies inside.

But the big guy couldn't find any enemies now, so he could only go to the office building to join in the fun.

The road was empty, and no one could be seen. He could only occasionally see the bodies of a few patrolling officers lying alone in a corner.

On the way, he met Yu Tian, but Yu Tian had no intention of going to the office building to join in the fun. He was looking for the executioner.

They did not carry an extra personal communication system, so the executioner could not communicate with them in real time.

According to the agreement, after clearing out the enemies in the warehouse and the factory, the executioner should take the initiative to meet up with Yu Tian.

It was very easy for them to meet up. They just needed to jump on a roof and turn on the lights.

Both of them were martial artists who jumped over eaves and walls. Other than them, no one would try their best to climb to the roof.

Yu Tian looked around on the roof, but he did not find any sign of the executioner.

The target on the roof was actually very eye-catching. As long as both parties stood on the roof and deliberately looked for each other.

Even if they did not turn on their flashlights, they would be able to find each other very quickly.

However, other than Yu Tian, there was no one else on the roof.

Yu Tian suddenly felt a little strange. Where did the executioner go?

The battle on the other side of the office building had already begun. It was impossible for there to be any living people in the various buildings of the winery.

The guards inside were either dead or had run out just now and were killed by

Yu Tian.

The executioner could not stay in a certain building now because he knew that Yu Tian was going to start setting explosives next, so he had to come out and meet Yu Tian.

This was also the plan that they had agreed on before, unless they encountered some special circumstances.

Yu Tian could eliminate the possibility that the executioner was in danger, because the executioner's mission was not dangerous. He only needed to clear the guards in the warehouses and factories.

Those guards could not be the executioner's opponent, and there were not many guards. They did not have the ability to threaten the executioner at all.

The difficulty of the executioner's mission was nothing more than to do it secretly, so that the enemy would not find out and issue an alarm.

How could something bad happen to such a mission?

Yu Tian felt that this was simply an insult to an ancient martial art practitioner from the east.

Then, where did this kid go?

Yu Tian was puzzled for a while and decided to finish what he was doing first.

First, he ran to the dormitory to look for the keys to the minivan.

The company's car keys were all managed by the team of security drivers, so it was not difficult to find them. Yu Tian quickly found the place where the keys were hung on the wall of a dormitory.

Although the dormitory was beaten up, the keys were not damaged.

Yu Tian took a big bunch of keys and rushed to the small parking lot.

The small parking lot was indeed affected by the battle, but fortunately, the cars were not seriously damaged.

The thing that Yu Tian did to push the van out of the parking lot was equivalent to doing a useless job.

However, it did not take him much effort.

Although many things were found to be useless after the fact, they had to be done in the beginning.

Yu Tian picked a new minivan that was in good condition and tried the keys one by one. Soon, he started the car.

Then, he drove the car to the warehouse and moved the red wine that was previously packed into the minivan.

Then, he drove the minivan to a safe corner.

The next thing he did was to set up the explosives.

After returning to the grape forest to get the explosives, Yu Tian began to set up the factories and warehouses one by one. He also looked for the executioner in these buildings.

The way to find him was very simple, which was to shout at the top of his lungs.

“Executioner...”

This way of shouting always made Yu Tian feel a little awkward. However, other than that, there seemed to be no better way.

The task of setting up explosives was much easier.

This kind of explosion did not need to pay attention to the structure of the building. The explosive efficiency of setting up a few points was the highest.

Yu Tian only needed to stick an explosive to whichever point he liked.

The usage of this explosive was similar to that of plastic explosives. There was a small detonator similar to a detonator.

The explosive itself was similar to a lump of sticky mud. It would not be a problem for it to stick to any wall.

Yu Tian would stick an explosive to the vital parts of every building, such as the supporting pillars and load-bearing walls.

A building would only take a few seconds.

He would place the explosive on the wall as he walked, and he would also call the executioner a few times.

After walking around the building, the explosive was ready.

Then, it was time to move on to the next building.

When Yu Tian was almost done, the battle on Cass's side had ended.

The office building was mainly filled with non-combatants. The few combatants were not able to withstand a beating. Regardless of their quality or equipment, they were not a match for the mouse squad.

Later on, a big guy came to act as the vanguard. He directly carried a machine gun and charged into the crowd.

Those combatants were so scared that they almost peed their pants. They could not resist at all. Before they could even surrender, they were smashed into pieces by the Big Guy's machine gun.

Such a battle was purely bullying.

It was said that the poor relied on mutation, while the rich relied on technology.

The terrifying aspect of genetic warriors was not mentioned. If they were to be sent to such a large-scale battlefield, their effects might not be particularly obvious.

However, if they were placed in a city, without any heavy weapons, their effects would be extremely terrifying.

It was no wonder that the clone society would spend so much effort to research such a thing.

If the clone society were to mass produce genetic warriors, they might not be able to rule the world. At the very least, they could threaten and threaten the entire world.

If any country dared to defy them, they could use their genetic warrior squad to create countless chaos in this country.

They didn't need to go to any battlefield, nor did they need to start any direct war. They just needed to cause trouble, and they could drag down a country.

This was more terrifying than the power of any terrorist organization.

Yu Tian became more and more determined to destroy the clone society, and he felt that he could still seek the support of other countries for this matter.

For example, he was now in the wind country..

Chapter 1186: Chapter 1,185, Yu Tian's thoughts

Translator: 549690339

For any country, terrorist and extremist organizations were targets that had to be dealt with.

There was no need for Yu Tian to list all the bad things that the clone army had done. As long as he brought out the relevant evidence of their research on genetic warriors, even without any concrete evidence, those countries would take it seriously.

No country would allow such a force to exist, just like some prohibited weapons.

This was not a question of whether or not they would use prohibited weapons. Instead, possessing such weapons and abilities was a crime in itself.

Those first-rate big countries would absolutely not allow such a force to exist that could threaten their safety.

Of course, other than genetic warriors, which were modified human bodies, high-tech weapons and equipment were also very important.

Just like the bulletproof vests they had tonight, they were able to suppress the security guards.

Just like the weapons and investigative equipment of the sheep mercenary group, they were able to bully the Wild Fox Secret Service team until they had no way of retaliating.

Yu Tian felt that if the East Dragon Company were to train more combat personnel in the future, they could focus their efforts on training a small number of elites.

Combat personnel with outstanding qualities and equipped with high-tech equipment, such combat strength of one against ten was definitely more effective than raising a group of trash.

As Yu Tian mulled over this, he quickly arranged the remaining explosives.

Then, he began to hesitate about whether to blow them up.

What he was hesitating about was not whether these buildings should be destroyed, but where the executioner was.

After all, many of these buildings had cellars and basements, and there were even secret rooms like the CEO's office.

Although he had just shouted the name of the executioner in these buildings, it was also possible that the executioner did not hear it in those secret rooms.

If the executioner was delayed in the basement of a certain building for some reason, would he be able to explode the explosives and kill the executioner?

Or even if he had not been killed on the spot, it would have been a terrible thing to bury the executioner alive in the ruins after the buildings collapsed.

After hesitating for a long time, Yu Tian decided not to detonate the explosives for the time being. He wanted to search the basement of these buildings again.

The mouse team was not idle either. Yu Tian asked them to drive the minivan filled with red wine to the intersection of the winery and look for a few other cars that could be used.

As for the cars that they drove over, they could not be bothered to walk over to pick them up because the parking space was a little far. It was the same for them to pick up a few cars from the winery here.

There were a lot of cars in the winery, and the staff of the DONGLONG company did not lack money. There were also a lot of good cars.

The mouse team could totally choose cars that were more suitable for their use, such as some suvs with superior performance.

Then, there were the Donglong Company's commercial vehicles.

The carriages of these vehicles were big enough. Two of them could fit the captives that Yu Tian had captured.

Red wine and captives were things that had to be taken away.

As for the other things, there was no need to pack them up.

After all, they were not in a war zone. They attached great importance to the work of cleaning up the battlefield. They had to tidy up all the scrap metal.

Everyone split up. The mouse team went to pack up the people and things while Yu Tian began to search for the executioner.

After more than ten minutes of this, Yu Tian searched a few wine cellars in the red wine warehouse but did not find anything.

At this moment, Brother Pig's communication was sent over.

"Are you all done? If you 're done, hurry up and create a big explosion. Then, quickly retreat. "

Yu Tian was puzzled, "How do you know that we're all done? Have you been paying attention to our actions?"

Pig Bro Liang said, "I don't have the time to keep an eye on you guys. It's news from Edward.

"Edward? He's been keeping an eye on us?"

"He doesn't have that ability... "pig bro liang sighed, "It's those police! You guys fought so noisily in the winery, and the police haven't gone far yet. Do you really think that they're deaf and can't hear the gunshots at all?"

Yu Tian laughed. "It's not that noisily. I originally wanted to make a sneak attack. But you know, I caught a few captives, so they noticed it... "

Piggy Liang said, "Cough, so be it. It's not a big deal.". Those policemen were originally ordered to leave by Edward. Later, when they heard the gunshots, they hurriedly asked the police command center to return and check the situation..."

Yu Tian said, "So Edward told them to mind their own business?"

Brother pig said, "That's about it. Edward told them to stay put and wait for the city hall to confirm the information... There are always many excuses and explanations. "

"And then?"

"And then... of course, the information was confirmed. This is the remnants of councilman Leon's criminal gang, and they launched another attack on the East Dragon Company..."

"Are you saying that our operation today was Congressman Leon 's attack on the East Dragon Company? Does that... Make Sense?"

"What's there to make sense about? The first time we came to the East Dragon Company to arrest someone, wasn't it also done by them?"

"Uh... that seems to be the case. "

“So, Congressman Leon’s gang is extremely evil, and they created so many bloody cases in dusk city. It’s inevitable that... they’re wanted all over the country! ”

Brother pig seemed to be particularly happy when he talked about the framing.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then said to brother pig, “Actually, when it comes to the national wanted list, I do have some ideas...”

Brother pig smiled and said, “If you have any ideas, tell me for reference.”

Yu Tian said, “I want to contact the higher-ups of the wind nation and tell them about the cloning society. I’ve told you about the clone society. You should also understand now dangerous the genetic warriors they are researching will be to the world...”

Piggy Liang was somewhat surprised. “You want to convince the higher-ups of wind country to join forces with us?”

“Yes. ”

“The higher-ups of the country?”

“Yes. ”

Piggy Liang was even more surprised. “You know the higher-ups of wind country? Do you have friends in the Parliament or the parliament?”

“More or less. I’m quite familiar with their previous leader and his team... ” Yu Tian hesitated for a moment, then, he asked Zhu Ge Liang, “Didn’t Old Wang give you my information when he introduced me to You?”

Zhu Ge Liang was a little helpless. “There’s no serious information. With your identity, the information is classified as s grade secret by them... Old Wang only gave me a brief introduction of your situation verbally and didn’t dare to say much. “How would I know that you can still be so arrogant...” Yu Tian shrugged. “Alright, then what do you think of my idea?”

Chapter 1187: Chapter 1,186, the destruction of the headquarters

Translator: 549690339

“But... you’ve already wasted a lot of time. We’ll talk more about this matter when you come back. ”

Piggy Liang reminded Yu Tian, "Now you should hurry up and finish the matter, and then quickly retreat... the police are still waiting to clean up the mess for you.

This was the real business at hand.

In fact, the police force that had just left the winery did not go too far.

Especially after the fight at the winery, they immediately stopped retreating.

They originally wanted to return to the winery immediately. After all, they were police officers. In such a situation, they had the obligation to rush to the scene.

However, after the police commander reported to his superior, he was told to temporarily stand by.

This made the policemen feel very surprised and puzzled.

The fight at the winery was so lively that even the sound of machine guns and grenades exploding could be heard. The sound was so loud that it was comparable to a battlefield.

This was definitely a very rare situation in the country of wind.

It could be said that there had never been an exchange of fire of this scale in the country of wind before.

It was only in this short period of time that such a ridiculous situation occurred frequently in the city of dusk.

It was definitely unreasonable for the police to be ordered to stay put.

The order to stay put was, of course, Edward's doing.

Although it was somewhat unreasonable, there would always be an excuse after the event.

However, Edward could not keep suppressing the police and not let them take any action.

Although he could control the police's actions, it was impossible for him to blatantly break the law and completely ignore such a fight.

It had been about half an hour since the gunshots died down. Normally, such a long time was enough for the criminals to destroy all the evidence left at the scene.

If Edward did not let the police go to the scene, the police would not even be able to see the criminals' backs, let alone chase and catch them.

They would become like the people in the movies, and in the end, they could only come and clean up.

Edward's behavior was no different from an accomplice.

Therefore, there was not much time left for Yu Tian.

Pig Bro Liang reminded him solemnly, "Hurry up and evacuate as soon as possible. "

Yu Tian was a little hesitant. "There's one more thing... I lost a person here."

"Lost a person?" Pig Bro Liang was a little puzzled. "Aren't all the members of the rat squad by your side?"

All the members of the rat squad wore a personal communication system. This thing was not only used for communication, but it also had the necessary positioning function.

This was similar to the personal combat system used on the battlefield, but the software function was slightly different.

If they had the support of the command center, Piggy Liang could also build a local combat network and share the information of the entire battlefield with each soldier. He could also provide all kinds of powerful logistics and firepower support.

Of course, they did not have the conditions to build this command center yet.

However, Pigo Liang could easily check the position of each member, and through the equipment of the individual soldier system, he could detect the vital signs of the members and determine their safety issues.

Pigo Liang could clearly see that the mouse team did not have any casualties, and they were all around Yu Tian, so there was no possibility of anyone getting lost.

Yu Tian was helpless. He could only explain the matter of the executioner briefly.

Piggy Liang was a little puzzled. "There's such a thing... you casually went out and picked up an expert?"

Yu Tian sighed. "Yes, so I can't just casually blow up this expert, right?"

Piggy Liang said helplessly, "You don't have to think so much. Don't worry and Blow Up! Since he's an expert, how could he be blown up by you? He's definitely not in these buildings.

"Are you sure? Do you know where he went?"

"How would I know? I'm not a god. "Maybe he had something to do, or maybe he went to the toilet..." Piggy Liang shrugged. In short, hurry up and finish your own things, and then quickly retreat. Don't delay our overall plan.

"Uh... okay."

Yu Tian finally gave up the idea of continuing to look for the executioner. He couldn't mess up all of his plans for the sake of one executioner. He immediately ordered the mouse team to gather and prepare to detonate.

At this time, brother pig reminded them, "You can return to Twilight City directly later. Go to the safe house that you used before. You Don't have to meet me for the time being. "

Yu Tian replied without hesitation, "Alright."

The matters in Twilight City were not over yet, so it was more convenient for the mouse team to stay in Twilight City.

Piggy Liang added, "Also, if that executioner comes over again... don't tell him about the situation of our temporary headquarters for the time being, especially about our address and location. "

"Oh..."

Yu Tian was deep in thought.

Piggy Liang said calmly, "You can't have the intention to harm others, but you can't not have the intention to guard against others. The appearance of this executioner was relatively sudden, and his origin was unknown. Just based on his own account, it was still unable to confirm his identity and position. "You and the mouse squad must maintain a certain level of vigilance against him.

You Can't just treat him as one of us..."

"Alright, I got it. I'll get everyone to be more careful.

Yu Tian understood what Piggy Liang meant.

After cutting off the communication, the rat squad had already gathered around Yu Tian.

They had brought two minivans and three commercial vans.

Red wine and captives. They had already packed them into the minivans.

The commercial vans were their own vehicles.

Yu Tian did not hesitate. He held the detonator and got into a business car.

A few minutes later, a series of violent explosions sounded in the vicinity of the winery.

From Afar, the winery was emitting dazzling flames. All kinds of buildings were blasted into pieces and dust flew everywhere.

Then, the wooden houses began to burn gradually.

Not only did the buildings burn, but the mouse team also gathered the vehicles that had lost their owners near the buildings and huddled them together.

After the vehicles were affected by the explosion, they were killed again. The fuel in the fuel tank fueled the fire and soon, half of the sky in the direction of the winery was burned red.

The headquarters of the DONGLONG company that had been used for many years no longer existed.

A few minivans and commercial vehicles quickly left the intersection of the winery and entered a fork road.

There were several fork roads outside the winery. They avoided the direction of the police force and prepared to take a detour to dusk city.

Just as they entered the fork road, a figure floated over and jumped to the side of the road in front of the motorcade, exposed to the bright lights of the cars.

Chapter 1188: Chapter 1,187, interrogation of prisoners

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian recognized the identity of the intruder at a glance. It was the executioner who could not be found just now, so he hurriedly stopped the driver.

The motorcade stopped in a hurry.

Yu Tian opened the side door of the commercial vehicle and waved to the executioner. "Get in."

The executioner did not hesitate. His figure flashed and he quickly boarded the commercial vehicle where Yu Tian was.

Yu Tian immediately closed the door, and the convoy began to move again.

At this time, the police convoy in the distance finally began to move.

Regarding the reason why they had been standing in place for so long, chief Luc personally explained.

The reason why they had been slow to allow the police to approach the winery was because the city hall had received intelligence that the terrorist extremist criminal organization had planted a large number of explosives in the winery.

The matter of the explosives had now been confirmed, and the explosion in the winery was indeed like that of a movie.

If the police had entered the winery too early, there would have been countless people who wanted to fly the national flag.

Hearing this explanation, the police were immediately relieved.

Thanks to the accurate intelligence from the city hall, they had been able to avoid falling into the trap..

Of course, there were also some low-level police officers who felt that something was not right, so they raised their doubts to the higher-ups.

However, they were sent to clean the toilets the next day.

Yu Tian's motorcade sped all the way back to dusk city.

The journey was very smooth, and they did not encounter any police stops or checks.

Of course, this was also related to their destination, as well as the relatively remote route.

Their destination was still the previous safe house, the dilapidated residential house that had been abandoned by its owner.

This place was very quiet during the day, and now, in middle the night, there was not even a ghost on the road.

Soon, the motorcade arrived at the door of the safe house.

There seemed to be nothing unusual about the safe house. It stood quietly in the darkness.

There was no one in the house. Edward had already left this place. He was rescued by deputy director Luc in the Lair of a certain gang.

Councilman Leon had also left this place. He was killed by deputy director Luc in the Lair of the gang.

Several members of the rat squad temporarily followed Edward and acted as his temporary bodyguards.

One was to monitor and control Edward, and the other was really to protect Edward.

Edward was now their big card in Twilight City.

In order to prevent the enemy from copying their methods and directly assassinating important people, they had to protect Edward.

The safe house was empty, but because it was not exposed, it did not prevent them from continuing to use it.

Yu Tian got out of the car, and the others began to carry the captives.

These captives had been unconscious all this time, so they could only carry the captives into the house as if they were luggage.

While everyone was busy, the door of the safe house suddenly opened.

The members of the rat squad instantly raised their weapons and cautiously aimed at the door of the safe house.

"Don't be nervous, it's me, Pm Kobe."

A thin figure appeared behind the door and hurriedly waved at the crowd.

Yu Tian looked closely and saw that it was indeed Kobe, who had gotten separated from him previously.

Being separated was actually not a big deal.

Many operations would have some unexpected changes, and then some people would get separated and eventually regroup.

Each team had their own emergency communication plan.

Kobe didn't know everyone's phone numbers because everyone used their cell phones after they came to wind country.

Therefore, he could only communicate with other mouse team members through some chat social software.

But the worst thing about Kobe was that he didn't have anything on him. He had almost nothing on him except weapons. He didn't even have any change.

So, Kobe was miserable.

He had to rob on his own it was a shame, especially for a professional killer.

No killer had to rob for a living, and it was really necessary to rob for a living when there was an accident.

After that, he also needed to snatch a cell phone. This kind of business made him feel embarrassed.

Yu Tian did not ask Kobe what he had experienced in the past two days. It was definitely not a good time.

In short, as a killer, there would always be times when he would encounter such a situation. There was no need to take it to heart.

Yu Tian very calmly went forward and patted Kobe's shoulder. "Kobe, you came back at the right time. There are a few captives here who just happen to need your warm hospitality..."

"I'm happy to be of service to you, my boss.

Kobe calmly joined in the work of transporting the captives, as if he had never been lost before.

Everyone moved the unconscious captives into the house and parked the cars on the nearby streets.

Because this safe house was uninhabited on the surface, if the cars were parked at the entrance, it would easily arouse suspicion the neighbors and attract the investigation of the police.

Although the police in dusk city could be considered as one of their own, Yu Tian did not want to cause any more trouble if it was not necessary.

Who knew if there were any idiots in the police force who insisted on catching them as thieves or making a big deal out of it and exposing it on the internet.

This would be tantamount to adding to the workload of the busy Piggy Liang and the others.

After entering the safe house and covering the doors and windows, Yu Tian immediately began the interrogation.

He woke up the nine captives one by one, then everyone started to work together, preparing to torture the captives first.

What Yu Tian needed to know the most now was the information about the leader of the traitors.

He wanted to find the hiding place of the traitors, and then kill them all with the fastest speed possible.

But before Kobe and the others could torture the captives, the captives who had woken up immediately begged for mercy.

“Don’t hit me, I surrender. I can tell you anything you want to know...”

Just as Piggy Liang had expected, interrogating these captives was much easier than interrogating people like Congressman Leon.

They didn’t even need to torture to extract a confession, and they just started to confess.

But just as Piggy Liang had expected, these people didn’t have much valuable information.

They were all important assistants to the traitor leader, and among the low-level staff, they could be considered the management.

However, they didn’t know where their boss was hiding.

This situation was very reasonable, and the traitor leader couldn’t have leaked his hiding place.

The Assistants had information about their work.

But it wasn’t much.

First was the list of the rebels, the names of the top and middle-ranking members of the headquarters who had participated in the rebellion.

But they didn't have to..

Chapter 1189: Chapter 1,188, the value of captives

Translator: 549690339

The actions of the rebels were all on the surface. These lists had been exposed to Piggy Liang from the start.

No. 8 had detailed information on the rebels, much more detailed than what the assistants knew.

The rebels had a total of two regional team leaders and more than a dozen team leaders under them, plus some Western team leaders from other regions.

The total number of these mid-and high-level personnel was more than 20 people.

No. 8 had a clear record of each of them.

However, before the rebellion, these traitors had secretly moved their families and changed their residences.

No. 8 could not find the hiding place of these traitors for the time being, and the assistants did not know either.

The assistants had the most information about rebellion the various branches.

Their main task these days was to persuade the branches to surrender and close them up.

They sent notices to all the branches that could be contacted, announcing the rebellion at the headquarters, and declaring themselves the rightful successor of the Donglong Company. The others were all traitors.

They asked the branches to disconnect from the leaders of the original regional groups and reintegrate into their newly constructed command system.

This operation caused a lot of riots in all the branches.

With uncle long gone, the branch leaders had no idea who was the boss of the head office now.

Perhaps the middle and high-level people in the head office knew that there was such a person as number one, but the branch leaders basically did not know about this situation, and they could not tell who was the traitor.

In theory, Uncle Long was an easterner, and his subordinates were also the management of the Easterners. These easterners should not have rebelled.

However, the people in charge of the branches, as well as most of the members, were mostly westerners.

Psychologically, they felt closer to the traitors and trusted them more.

In other words, they were more willing to let the easterners become traitors and the westerners become the leaders of the organization.

The branch leaders didn't have the courage to rebel for the time being, but that didn't stop them from supporting the internal high-level people to seize power.

Standing on the side sounded more clear-minded than rebelling. If you stood on the wrong side, you could say that you were just deceived.

The headquarters of the East Dragon Company was now leaderless and in chaos.

Both the east and west camps were accusing each other of being traitors, which had already formed a de facto split.

No matter which camp the branch leaders chose to join, they could give their reasons and judgments, and they could be justified.

Therefore, the title of traitor was no longer important.

The so-called winner takes all, history was written by the victors.

The fact was that whoever had more power was the true orthodox.

It didn't even matter whether they were orthodox or not. At most, they could just change their name and start a new company.

Then they would completely split up and form their own system.

Therefore, it was time to see who could get more resources from the corpse of Donglong Company.

The job of these assistants was to win the support of the branches.

As long as they had enough support from the branches, the traitors could rebuild their system.

This was their plan.

Yu Tian was not interested in the traitors' plan. He did not even care about the attitude of the branches.

Piggy Liang had explained this to him seriously.

The rebellion of the branches was not the main point. At least in the short term, most of the branch leaders did not dare to make any abnormal moves.

The key point of this matter was still the traitors' leaders.

Right now, they wanted to find out where the traitors' leaders were hiding and then behead them.

After getting rid of these rebels who were openly waving their flags and shouting, Donglong company would quickly regain its stability.

As for those dishonest people, they would have plenty of time to clean up later.

Therefore, Yu Tian and the others were still interrogating the traitor leaders. Of course, the assistants did not know where the leaders were hiding. They could only provide some contact information on the phone and the Internet.

These contact information was immediately sent to Piggy Liang.

Then, No. 76 began to use these contact information to try to trace the location of these traitors.

Piggy Liang did not have much hope for this tracking result.

The traitors of course knew that there were hackers in Donglong Company, and their technology was very powerful.

They must have done sufficient concealment methods on these contact information.

It was unlikely that No. 76 wanted to use these things to trace the clues.

Yu Tian continued to interrogate them.

"You came out early today. Did your boss inform you?"

"Yes.

The captives nodded one after another and said, "The boss only asked us to completely destroy the data on the working computer and then leave the headquarters immediately.

“What about after leaving the headquarters? Did your boss ask you to do anything else?”

“No, the boss only asked us to leave quickly. There are no other orders for the time being.

“What method do you use to stay in contact?” “Your cell phones, or your email.

“Hand over your cell phones and email...”

Yu Tian decided to keep these captives alive for the time being and wait for the traitors to contact them.

As long as this connection was not broken, he still had a chance to continue investigating.

Yu Tian and the others had control over the phone numbers and email addresses of these assistants, but the traitor had yet to contact these assistants.

Yu Tian stopped the interrogation and arranged for the mouse team to rest.

There might still be operations in the next two days, so the team members had to maintain their full strength.

They did not need to worry about anyone breaking into the house. Everyone was on high alert.

Yu Tian's senses were especially sharp.

The captives did not need to be guarded either. Yu Tian poked each of them with his finger, and they all fell into a coma.

The next thing was to sleep. Everyone in the house fell into a quiet state of rest.

The safe house was completely quiet again.

Soon, it was daybreak. The assistants' phones did not move for the whole night.

After Yu Tian got up, the first thing he did was to check their email.

A new email appeared in the email, and it was sent to every assistant's email in a group.

Yu Tian opened the email and found that it was indeed an email from the leader of the traitors.

The content of the email was nothing special. It was just for the assistants to reply to the message after they saw the email to confirm their safety.

The winery had been blown up into ruins last night. The traitors of course already knew about this news.

What they needed to confirm now was whether the assistants had escaped safely.

After all, the time between the order they gave their assistants to evacuate and the explosion of the winery was too short..

Chapter 1190: Chapter 1,189, waiting for contact

Translator: 549690339

Of course, the assistants also had a chance to escape.

If Yu Tian and the others hadn't arrived at the winery early in the morning, the assistants could have followed the police force and left.

However, it was obvious that the assistants hadn't followed the police convoy last night.

Yu Tian believed that the police force should also have spies of the traitor, or spies of the Kronin Association. They should have known about this by now.

Therefore, the leader of the traitors was not sure whether the assistants had left the winery safely.

Sending an email to confirm was also an inevitable operation.

Yu Tian immediately woke up the captured assistants and asked them to reply to the leader of the traitors' email.

He asked each assistant to write down the content of their reply on a small note and then carefully checked it.

The content of each assistant's reply was different, and the words used were also different.

It seemed that there was no code word.

Yu Tian was slightly relieved, but he still warned the captives, "If there is any code word in your reply and you didn't tell me, I will cut you into pieces later. "There won't be any code. I'll use my grandfather's reputation to guarantee

“We’ve already surrendered. We won’t act irrationally anymore! “Yes, we’re now on the same side. I won’t serve the traitors anymore! ”

“Actually, we were forced to serve the traitors...

“I was forced too...

The assistants expressed their sincerity in a flurry of words.

They also knew about the sheep mercenary group’s attack on the temporary prison, and they were very afraid of Yu Tian and the others ‘strength.

For the low-level members of the East Dragon Company, the hidden strength of the headquarters had always been unfathomable. It was something that they usually could not see.

Therefore, many low-level members did not dare to get involved in the rebellion, and they “Resigned “early in the morning and ran away.

The assistants were also very worried about their own safety, especially after Yu Tian started to launch a counterattack recently.

However, the assistants could not bear to part with the temptation of Gao Xin. They always thought that there was a strong enough force behind the traitor to protect them.

In terms of strength, the traitor and Kronin combined would definitely be stronger than the DONGLONG company.

However, in the current Twilight City, Yu Tian and the others were the ones with the strongest fighting strength.

At their current position, no enemy had taken advantage of them. Even the clone society’s influence in dusk city had almost been eliminated.

This included the officials on the surface, as well as the operation personnel hiding in the temporary stronghold.

These assistants probably knew some inaccurate information and had a clear understanding of Yu Tian ‘s strength.

Now that they had become Yu Tian’s captives, they did not dare to play any tricks.

Yu Tian also felt that these captives did not dare to lie, so he had them stagger the time and reply to the leader of the traitors separately.

Of course, it was very suspicious for all of them to reply at the same time. At a glance, it felt like they had been gathered together.

The assistants successively replied to the leader of the Traitors' emails, but there were no abnormal actions on the operation.

After the operation was completed, it took more than an hour.

But after that, the traitor leader did not reply to their emails.

After waiting for another half an hour, Yu Tian was suddenly a little puzzled.

Looking at the situation, the traitor leader did not pay much attention to the assistants under him, and he seemed to be indifferent.

Of course, it could also be that the leader of the traitors was very busy at the moment and did not have any work to arrange for his assistants. Yu Tian could only continue interrogating his captives.

“Do you all have your own safe houses?”

“Yes, yes...”

The assistants did not dare to hide anything at this moment. They all gave out the address of their own safe houses.

Everyone had their own safe houses, and some of them even had more than one.

Yu Tian asked again, “Do you know the address of your safe houses... Your BOSS? ”

“Of course not! This is very personal. Even if it's the boss, we won't tell him! ” The assistants were very confident.

The western culture was different from the eastern culture. They would not obey the orders of their superiors, and they would not allow their superiors to dictate their private property and personal matters.

The safe house was of course the most private thing. If the boss knew about it, it would not be called a safe house.

If the assistants wanted to betray their boss one day, the safe house had to be guaranteed to work.

This situation made Yu Tian feel slightly relieved.

If the traitor leaders knew the location of their subordinates 'safe houses, they might send people to guard outside the safe house and observe whether the assistants had really returned safely.

This way, it was easy to determine whether the assistants had been captured by the enemy.

If the assistants did not return to the safe houses and replied to the boss about the safety, then it was basically suspicious that the assistants had been captured.

In this situation, the leader of the traitors did not know the real-time situation of the assistants, so Yu Tian still had the possibility of using the captives.

Of course, Yu Tian could not just wait. He still had a lot of things to do.

He first found a rat squad member, the one who escorted No. 76 to the temporary headquarters, and asked him to deliver the car full of red wine to Piggy Liang.

At the same time, he also brought back a car full of ammunition for everyone.

The others also temporarily started to move around freely. Those who wanted to eat breakfast went out to buy breakfast, while those who wanted to sleep continued to sleep.

Yu Tian himself was prepared to take advantage of this time to have a good chat with the executioner.

He invited the executioner to the living room upstairs and began to chat casually with the executioner.

"Did you rush over from the Eastern Kingdom?"

"Yes. "

"How did you and Uncle Long Meet?"

"We met by chance. During a trip, I helped him a little... there's nothing much to say about this. "

The executioner wasn't interested in talking about it in detail.

Yu Tian didn't ask too much either, in case it looked like an interrogation or a census.

During the conversation with the executioner, Yu Tian's personal communication system was always activated, and he kept talking to Piggy Liang.

He wanted Piggy Liang to judge the credibility of the executioner.

Therefore, Piggy Liang had no choice but to be busy with his work while listening to their small talk.

Yu Tian changed the topic and asked casually, "Do you like to travel a lot?"

"It's alright. I like to go around the world and take a look when I have nothing to do.

"It seems that you have been to a lot of countries?"

"Yes. "

"What do you do in the country? Do you have enough free time and financial conditions to support you to travel around the world?"

"What other industry can a martial artist have? You can just do something and have the money to travel.

The executioner blinked.. "You're very interested in my background?"

No matter how hard Yu Tian tried to hide it, after so many questions were asked, the feeling of checking the household registration was inevitable.

Yu Tian did not hide it and said generously, "Yes, we really need to understand your identity. Donglong company's current situation is special. We have to act cautiously in any situation...

The executioner shrugged. "I can understand. My appearance was indeed rather sudden. Moreover, I only have a personal relationship with old long, so there shouldn't be too many people in your company who know about me... "

Other than Uncle Long, the only people who had seen the executioner were Uncle Long's personal bodyguards, secretaries, and assistants..

However, these people had already lost contact with Uncle Long.

Therefore, no one could verify whether what the executioner said was true or false.

This was a very awkward situation.

Yu Tian could only try to talk to the executioner as much as possible to get more information out of him.

Then, from the content of the conversation, brother Pig could analyze and determine whether the executioner was lying.

This was also the scope of intelligence analysis, which was exactly what brother Pig was good at.

After chatting casually for a while, Yu Tian brought up the executioner's lightness skill again.

"Your lightness skill is very special... which sect are you from?"

This question made the executioner hesitate for a moment, then he said, "It's not convenient for me to answer this question because I've traveled in the pugilistic world for many years and have many enemies. If I reveal the origins of my sect, it's very likely that it will bring disaster to my sect..."

Yu Tian nodded slightly to show his understanding.

Then, he said, "Actually, I'm just more interested in your lightness skill. I want to see if there's a chance for me to become your disciple."

The executioner shook his head and smiled bitterly. "My sect has long stopped accepting disciples, and the martial arts in the sect will not be taught to outsiders. "Moreover, this lightness skill is the trump card of my sect. Many key techniques are kept secret. "Even if I wanted to give you some pointers, I wouldn't be able to. "

Yu Tian was a little disappointed. He had thought that if he met an expert, he would be able to learn a few of his skills.

He did not expect that learning martial arts was still very difficult.

Ordinary martial arts techniques could be learned in professional training institutions such as martial arts schools with a little money.

However, ordinary people did not have the means to learn such rare and profound ancient martial arts.

If even ordinary people could learn profound martial arts, then the world would be in chaos.

Martial Arts broke the law, and a large number of ordinary people learned profound martial arts. Then, it was inevitable that all kinds of criminals would appear.

Such criminals with unique skills were much more harmful to society than ordinary people.

Therefore, the martial arts sects in the eastern country emphasized on a moral issue first.

A villain would not only harm society, but also bring disaster and trouble to the sects.

It was just like what often happened in those wuxia movies.

When someone was killed, others could judge the type of martial arts used by the murderer from his body and wounds, and then deduce the identity of the murderer.

Then, the sects would suffer.

They would be visited by people for revenge, or at least asked to hand over the murderer.

Faced with such a reasonable request, they could only check one by one from a large number of disciples, hoping to find the murderer and give the other party an explanation.

However, if they took in a little more disciples, and most of them went out to travel the jianghu, and had no contact with the sect for a long time, and had no exact whereabouts, the sect could only be caught blind.

If the sect could not find out the reason, and the enemy was unwilling to let it go, then the sect could only bear the responsibility and bear the burden.

A villain definitely had a chance to cause the sect to be exterminated.

Therefore, the sect should be cautious when taking in disciples, and they had to think twice before imparting that unique skill.

It was basically impossible for Yu Tian to learn Qinggong from the executioner.

Seeing that Yu Tian was a little disappointed, the executioner said again,

“Although I can’t give you the martial arts of my sect, but...”

Yu Tian immediately became interested. “But what?”

The executioner smiled and said, "I have also collected a lot of ancient martial arts manuals over the years. Among them, there is indeed a pretty good qinggong..."

Yu Tian was instantly delighted. The executioner felt that a pretty good qinggong was definitely not bad either.

For Yu Tian, martial arts were something that could be improved with more.

Previously, he had also snatched some martial arts manuals from the KLONI society. However, other than the six meridians godly sword, all the other martial arts were ordinary.

According to the novels, martial arts were divided into different grades.

High-grade and low-grade, Heaven, earth, black, yellow, and so on.

Theoretically, the six meridians godly sword should be a commodity. However, it was hard to say for the golden bell cover and iron cloth. It did not seem to be of much use.

As for the other inner strength cultivation techniques and Qinggong, they didn't even have a name, so it felt even more inferior.

Yu Tian immediately said to the executioner, "You've collected all those martial arts? Can you sell them to me?"

The executioner smiled and said, "It's okay to give them to you, but most of the martial arts that can be collected outside are some inferior martial arts and some incomplete scrolls... only that Qinggong is passable.

"Oh? What Qinggong is it?" "En... have you heard of the Lingbo micro-step?"

"Lingbo micro-step?"

Yu Tian was instantly stunned.

He had the six meridians divine sword in his hand. Now that he had gathered another lingbo micro-step, wouldn't he also become a bookworm and a fool?

Seeing Yu Tian's stunned expression, the executioner quickly explained, "Actually, you don't have to pay too much attention to the names of these martial arts. Many of the martial arts nowadays have actually been improved by others many times. "Some people are bored and change the names of these martial arts into something strange. That doesn't mean anything..."

Yu Tian was puzzled, "You can change these martial arts as you please?"

The executioner said, "Of course, but before you change and innovate, you have to understand this martial art to a certain extent. That is to say, you have to practice this martial art to the end and master it..."

"Won't changing it like this affect the quality of the martial art?"

The executioner smiled. ('As long as it's not a random change, it won't affect the quality of the martial art... You Don't have any senior brothers, right?" Yu Tian was stunned. "How do you know?"

The executioner said, ('If you're in a large sect and have many senior brothers, it's easy to understand this principle..."

Yu Tian cupped his hands. "I really don't have any fellow disciples. I can only ask you to explain it in detail.

"The principle is actually very simple..."

The executioner did not have any intention of keeping it to himself. He explained unhurriedly, "There is a saying in the ancient times called teaching according to one's aptitude. It is to teach each person different things according to their own circumstances.

"The same kind of martial arts, but the effects of each person's training are different. "

"If you want to practice it to the best effect, you must adjust it according to your own circumstances.. "

Chapter 1192: Chapter 1,191: I have money

Translator: 549690339

Teaching according to one's aptitude and varying from person to person was a very simple truth that almost everyone understood.

However, it was very strange. When this truth was placed above martial arts, some people felt that something was wrong.

They felt that everyone should follow the same routine to practice and learn, and absolutely not mess around on their own.

If someone took an unusual path and arbitrarily changed the things passed down from their ancestors, they would immediately be regarded as a deviant. They might even commit heresy and betray their teachers and ancestors.

This was the rule, and the dignity of a teacher.

Then, a very interesting situation occurred.

Some sects and martial arts were once a sensation, but after being passed down for a few generations, they rapidly declined.

In fact, even after only one generation, the successor immediately became an unrated character and lost all the prestige of his father's generation.

This was the result of rote learning.

No matter what kind of top-grade martial arts were, if they were not suitable for him, he would not be able to practice them to the best level.

"Therefore, we martial artists must make some adjustments according to our own conditions during the process of practicing martial arts. When our understanding of martial arts has reached a certain level, we can make even greater changes..."

The executioner handed his phone to Yu Tian. It was full of groups of photos.

"This is the secret manual of the Lingbo micro-step. I only have photos here. The secret manual was originally kept in my hometown in China, but it's actually not much of an original. It's just an improved codex..."

Yu Tian took the phone and carefully looked at the photos inside.

The most important thing about the secret manual was the content. Yu Tian didn't collect antiques, so it didn't matter what form the secret manual was in.

He didn't care about these things at all. He just read the content carefully from beginning to end.

Yu Tian, who had practiced qinggong once, could naturally tell whether this secret manual was real or fake.

The executioner also said from the side, "This Lingbo microsteps is indeed very good. Its characteristics are similar to the Qinggong in novels. It can exercise one's inner strength while performing qinggong... This may be the origin of this nonsense name."

"How's its movement ability?"

"Well... I haven't practiced it before, so I'm not too sure. But looking at its characteristics, it should be an exquisite footwork that is good at dodging." "It sounds pretty good, why don't you practice Lingbo microstep?"

"I already have the Qinggong of my master, so there's no need to practice Lingbo microstep anymore." The executioner collapsed. "Also, it's the same principle of teaching according to one's aptitude. "Without master's guidance, it's very difficult to learn a martial art on your own, and the speed of your cultivation will be very slow. "This is because you're not familiar with and understand this martial art. You Don't know where you need to adjust and improve in order to adapt to your own situation..."

Yu Tian nodded silently.

If the scientific expedition team hadn't given him a treasure and forced him to use his inner energy, he probably wouldn't have been able to master the six meridians divine sword by now.

With his master's guidance, it was a completely different situation from him.

However, he did not have any sect or sect, let alone a master. No matter what kind of kung fu he practiced, he could only rely on himself to figure it out.

This kind of wild secret manual was the most suitable thing for him.

Yu Tian sent the photo to his phone and then used his phone to send a backup to his email. Then, he returned the executioner's phone to him.

"How much did you spend to collect these secret manuals? I'll transfer them to you."

Yu Tian did not want to take the executioner's things for free.

The executioner was originally here to help. It was already good enough that he did not ask Donglong company for compensation and travel expenses. He was too embarrassed to take the executioner's things for free.

The executioner chuckled and said, "There's no need. I did not spend much money on these things. I only found them by chance..."

This was a little troublesome.

Yu Tian scratched his head and said, "Is that so... Then I'll transfer ten million to you-

The executioner was slightly stunned. "That much?"

Yu Tian laughed. "I have money, and I feel that this set of martial arts is worth this money. "

The executioner hesitated for a moment before saying, "Speaking of which, I have indeed been short of money recently... Then I'll thank you."

"You're too kind. I should thank you for being willing to sell me the Secret Manual.

“You’re too kind. In fact, this kind of ownerless secret manual doesn’t have much value. “Without the guidance of a master, many people wouldn’t practice this kind of wild martial arts the efficiency of practicing is much worse than the martial arts of a sect.”

The two of them exchanged some pleasantries, and Yu Tian could roughly guess the origin of the executioner.

He should have come from a large sect, and had many fellow disciples.

The executioner could also roughly guess Yu Tian’s background. Either he was a wild expert who had learned by himself through some secret manuals he had picked up.

Or he didn’t have a sect. He only had a wild master, and he didn’t have any fellow disciples.

Just like some old men who hid in a small mountain village, he only found two cowherd boys to pass on his legacy. He didn’t have any sect or influence.

This kind of wild martial artist without any sect or sect was called a wandering cultivator in xianxia novels. Unless they were extremely powerful, they would be bullied.

Of course, the real world and the world in novels were completely different things.

It wasn’t those big sects that maintained the world order. The power of the martial arts sects was pitifully small compared to the secular forces.

Although Yu Tian did not have a sect, the East Dragon Company behind him was much more powerful than any sect.

The executioner had no intention of underestimating Yu Tian at all.

Yu Tian transferred ten million to the executioner casually. This was the proof of his strength.

After receiving the transfer, the executioner seemed to feel that he had taken too much advantage. He continued to take out some martial arts manuals that he had collected and gave them to Yu Tian.

These martial arts manuals basically did not have a name, or they had a strange name that was completely unknown. Most of them were incomplete.

The executioner could not tell the origins of these martial arts sects, but there were indeed many martial arts sects among the people of the Eastern kingdom. Many small sects and even the martial arts passed down in the family had many outstanding aspects.

These martial arts among the people could have been passed down from the mainstream martial arts of some large sects at the very beginning. It was only after several generations of continuous changes and changes that all sorts of martial arts sects were formed.

Therefore, these messy secret manuals were not completely worthless. It was still up to Yu Tian to see how well they could be used.

What Yu Tian lacked the most right now was time to practice these martial arts. Therefore, he was not interested in those external martial arts and fighting styles.

What was really useful to him were those internal martial arts.

For example, things like the limbo micro step could also be used to practice inner strenuth..

Chapter 1193: Chapter 1,192, the loss of the East Dragon Company

Translator: 549690339

The executioner gave all the martial arts manuals he had collected to Yu Tian. Then, he asked curiously, "With such a large amount of money in your hands, your position in the East Dragon Company shouldn't be low, right?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, ("The East Dragon Company doesn't lack money. They have a lot of members who have hundreds of millions and billions in their hands."

The executioner said, "But those people should be the upper echelons of the Eastern Dragon Company. You... are more like a combatant. "

Yu Tian smiled and said, "There are also people who are not short of money. To maintain a powerful force, it also requires a lot of financial support. The funds that I handle are a huge number every year... "

The executioner shook his head and said, "I've heard old long say that the eastern company is not actually his business. He has a real boss behind him... This can't Be You, right?"

Yu Tian asked curiously, "I'm so young. Why do you think I have such a big business?"

The executioner smiled. "It's just my intuition. I feel that you're not a worker, but more like a boss.

Yu Tian smiled. "Many of our company's managers act like bosses, especially the people in charge of the branch... They are the bosses of the branch."

The executioner shook his head. "It's different. I feel that you should be the biggest boss. "

Yu Tian smiled mysteriously. "The biggest boss... you will meet him."

He felt that it was not the right time to reveal his identity to the executioner, even though the executioner had just sold him a bunch of martial arts manuals.

However, this was just a transaction. The executioner had given him a bunch of martial arts manuals that he did not think were of much value. They were not particularly important.

Therefore, this still did not prove that the identity of the executioner was a guarantee of safety.

His attitude towards the executioner now was that he had to cooperate enthusiastically and give people the treatment and respect that they deserved. At the same time, he had to be careful and vigilant. He could not reveal his background.

The two of them continued to chat for a while before brother Pig took the initiative to call Yu Tian to remind him.

Yu Tian pretended that he had just received a call. In front of the executioner, he started to talk to Brother Pig.

However, Piggy Liang did not talk to him about the executioner. "I just received some bad news. I think I should tell you."

"What Bad News?"

Yu Tian did not panic at all. Even if Donglong company was completely destroyed, would not cause him to panic.

At most, he would be a little anxious before Donglong company was destroyed.

Piggy Liang did not panic. He said calmly, Some branches of the East Dragon Company have been attacked. The losses are not small. "

"Will you do it?"

Yu Tian nodded to the executioner. Then, he left the living room and walked into the bedroom alone.

Piggy Liang said, "It should be. There's no one else besides them."

Yu Tian asked curiously, "Don't those traitors want to take over the power of the branches for their own use?"

Piggy Liang said, "That's what they think, but the Kronin society might not think the same as them. "I think... the Kronin society might feel that the traitors don't have the ability to control the branch forces. In addition to our actions in dusk city yesterday, the Kronin Society might have the idea of taking revenge on us. "So they decided to eliminate all the branch forces that couldn't be controlled..."

"How big is our loss?"

"If measured in terms of economic value, it's already over 100 billion. " "That Big?"

"Of course it's that big. "Piggy Liang explained, "The branches that are most easily exposed are those companies and enterprises that operate in legitimate industries. "Once they are attacked, the company's operations will be affected. And it won't be a temporary effect, but a long-term effect..."

This was easy to understand. For example, a retail chain company that opened a supermarket.

If the supermarket was threatened by a bomb, or if a bomb really exploded in the supermarket, then the supermarket's business would basically be finished.

If the situation was more serious, if there were one or two more bomb incidents, then their business would be even colder.

The methods that Kronen knew were not as simple as planting a bomb.

Not only would they attack the supermarket, they would also attack the warehouse, distribution and logistics headquarters of the retail enterprise..

This included cleaning up the company's boss and main management personnel.

This kind of terrorist action did not require a high success rate. They could easily kill half of the targets and completely destroy the entire company.

All the employees would panic and leave, and the whole company would enter a state of paralysis.

This kind of action was as simple as a child's game to an organization like the clone society.

Any company that did legitimate business would not be able to withstand this kind of terrorist attack.

Moreover, the assets of this kind of physical company were all on the surface. Unlike other branches that could hide, they could only face the attack of the clone society head on.

If there was enough time, these branches could also sell their assets, take the cash, and start a new business.

But the time now was obviously not enough.

As soon as the KLONI Society started its operation, those branches that were attacked immediately suffered heavy losses.

The situation was slightly better. The branch leaders had received a warning from the temporary headquarters early in the morning. The main personnel had gone into hiding in advance and no longer appeared in public. 'Ineretore, the losses they had sutrered were only nnanclal.

In the future, with the support of the headquarters, they still had a chance to make a comeback.

However, if the losses were more serious, the entire branch would be completely out of contact.

It could be imagined that the head of the branch and his important assistants had all been killed by the Kronin Society.

If the DONGLONG company wanted to recover these assets in the future, it would inevitably be a pile of trouble.

However, Yu Tian did not feel much heartache about the loss of capital. The wealth that Donglong company had accumulated was far beyond the imagination of ordinary people.

As long as the people in the branch were still there, their connections and talents were still there, they could reinvest in a new company, restart their business, and continue to create profits for the headquarters.

The main thing that made Yu Tian feel heartache was the loss of personnel. He felt that once those management talents were lost, it would be difficult to cultivate and replenish them in a short period of time.

However, Zhu Ge Liang had a different view.

He said unhurriedly, "Actually, these losses are not important. Regardless of whether it is the industry or the personnel, they are just a drop in the bucket for Donglong Company. "

Sighing, Zhu Ge Liang continued, "Donglong Company is now like a billionaire. Losing a little money and losing a few subordinates won't hurt their foundation. On the contrary, I think this is a good thing."

"A good thing?"

Yu Tian did not quite understand this statement.

Piggy Liang smiled and said, "Yes, a good thing." The current structure and model of Dong Long Company was actually very bad. It was very bloated and very chaotic. It was not conducive to management, and it was also unable to cope with crises and changes... It's time for a change.."

Chapter 1194: Chapter 1,193, reorganization plan

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian was not good at managing companies or organizations, so he left everything to Uncle Long.

Uncle Long was still barely competent, but his management style was not suitable for running a secret organization.

Uncle Long did things with less killing intent. It was more like he was running an ordinary company.

"No Destruction, no establishment. Now is the time to change."

Brother pig said indifferently, "Even if those branches were not destroyed by the clone society, I will still cancel them in the future. Donglong Company doesn't need so many industries, nor does it need so many branches. "

Yu Tian said, "I remember Uncle Long said in the past that he wanted to break the whole into pieces, so that it would be convenient for the headquarters to centralize power and control. Those industries below would not attract attention and attract the attention of the officials of various countries..." Brother Pig Liang smiled. "His idea is too conservative. He's like a miser. " Yu Tian was speechless. "Then what do you want to Do?"

Brother Pig Liang said casually, "It's very simple. I will reorganize the structure of the DONGLONG company. "In general, it will still be divided into eight regions. However, the eight regions will no longer be divided into so many branches. All the power will be concentrated in the hands of the eight regional group leaders..." "

"Don't you have to worry about a rebellion in the regions like this?"

“Why would people who run secret organizations be afraid of a rebellion? Don’t you have weapons in your hands?” Brother Pig smiled. “It’s not that easy to have a rebellion. Of course, you have to have the means to restrict the power of those regional team leaders.

“How do I restrict them?”

Brother Pig began to describe the structure of the donglong company to Yu Tian in detail.

“The headquarters will be completely hidden in the future. It will no longer be in frequent contact with the various regions and branches. Moreover, the headquarters will only do three things in the future: collect money, intelligence, and action.”

“Collecting money is very easy to understand. It means controlling the shares of the various companies and enterprises under your command, taking away all the revenue in the region, and controlling the financial power of all the departments. ”

“Intelligence means controlling all the intelligence personnel in the hands of the headquarters, and only being responsible for the headquarters. It also means only contacting the intelligence team in the headquarters on a one-way basis. “The headquarters invests more in the intelligence department to make it truly meaningful to exist

“Operation means gathering all the messy and scattered operational personnel in the branch, and handing them over to be screened and trained. We only keep the elites, and don’t support the useless

“In the future, all combat operations will be arranged and dispatched by the headquarters. Only the headquarters will know where the combatants are stationed and hidden. They will not have any relationship with the branch. ”

“Other than the basic bodyguards and security, the branch does not need to spend money on the operations department, nor do they need to spend money on combat. The only thing they need to do is to make money for the headquarters.

“The regional team leader and his management team are directly stationed in the region. Each region is directly divided into a few large departments to manage the companies, gangs, and illegal industries of the entire region, and handle the local public relations...

“In short, the eight regions are responsible for making money for the headquarters, and the headquarters is responsible for protecting the regional branches. ”

“The power of the regions seems to be concentrated, but whether it is financial or military, they are all in the hands of the headquarters. Their situation is like an elementary scholar rebellion. If they fail to succeed in three years, they simply don’t have the ability to rebel.

“In addition, the legitimate industries of the branches are all consolidated, giving up on those physical enterprises with low returns, selling off those non-performing assets, fixed assets, and heavy assets...”

“We should focus our efforts on building a group company. We don’t have to worry about attracting attention to a big tree. The bigger the tree, the more stable it will be. No government will dare to lay their hands on a behemoth

“Our focus should be on the finance, technology, and other industries. “If any government offends us, we will directly break up with them. We will withdraw our capital and technology and move to another country to continue making money. “We will leave them with a pile of worthless mess

“I suggest that we directly set up a large group company in the eastern country to control the legitimate industries in the various regions and supervise the operation of the regions. “The focus of the region’s work will still be on those illegal businesses... that is also a lucrative industry. We can obtain more cash for the headquarters. ”

Zhu Geliang began to explain to Yu Tian how to better control the power of the branch, but Yu Tian didn’t know much about these things, so he wasn’t interested in listening in detail.

He interrupted Zhu Geliang and said, “How long will it take you to complete this transformation?”

Zhu Geliang said, “If it’s all completed, it should take a few months... We can start now. First, we’ll quickly get rid of those messy industries. At the same time, we’ll register the company in eastern country and complete the transfer and control of the shares...”

Yu Tian was more in favor of registering the company in the eastern country. At the very least, the environment in the eastern country was very safe, so there was no need to worry about being attacked by the Kroni.

Just like a certain mobile phone company, the headquarters would stay in their own country steadily. They would spread their tentacles all over the world and use their products, technology, and patents to plunder the wealth of the world.

Not to mention those financial giants and capital, no one could do anything to them even if they massacred a country’s financial market.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then said, "How about putting the headquarters of the DONGLONG company in the eastern country?"

Brother pig said, "Yes, the eastern country is safer, and the staff can work in peace. However, there should still be a few secret sub-bases abroad. Because some things are not convenient to do in China, such as training the fighters..."

Yu Tian was silent for a moment and muttered, "Actually, as long as we don't carry out illegal acts in the eastern country... with my relationship with the higher-ups of the eastern country, it wouldn't be a big deal to borrow their military base to conduct training.

Brother Pig was slightly stunned. "This... isn't very good. The operational personnel that we need to train... might even be considered terrorists. If this gets out, the eastern country will even help terrorists conduct training..."

Yu Tian shrugged. "Who can spread it out? The personnel will enter and leave in strict confidentiality. They won't have any contact with the outside world.

Who else can have evidence?"

Piggy Liang said with a pained expression, "We'll see... actually, there's really no need for this. It's just a training base... we're in some small countries overseas. We can get suitable territory with just a few dollars."

"Uh, then we'll talk about it later. You should be busy with the company restructuring first. With such a big change... can you handle it?"

Brother pig said, "It's alright. If you agree with my restructuring plan, the work will actually be a little easier than it is now. "If we go to the country to establish our headquarters now, I can let a large number of high-and middle-level personnel gather directly in the country. It will be much more efficient than working abroad..

Chapter 1195: Chapter 1,194, other methods

Yu Tian didn't have much of an opinion on Piggy Liang's plan. In fact, he didn't really care about how donglong company would go about doing things in the future.

What he was more concerned about now was whether No. 76 had found out the location of those traitors through technical means.

Food had to be eaten bit by bit, and things had to be done one by one.

Yu Tian wanted to kill all the traitors now. This could also be considered as clearing some of the interference factors for Brother Pig to reorganize Donglong company.

Therefore, he asked Brother Pig again, "Is there any news about the traitors? Have you found their hiding place?"

Brother Pig said, "It's not that easy. Those traitors are not idiots. Their internet connections are all through the dark net, so they can't be tracked. It's also a bit troublesome to use a satellite phone..."

"Satellite phones, there are ways to track them, right?"

"There are ways, but they don't use technical means to crack the satellites..." Piggy Liang sighed. "They're using the military communications satellites of the Wheat Kingdom. If we touch the military satellites of the Wheat Kingdom, I'm afraid something big will happen."

Yu Tian suddenly had a headache. The Wheat Kingdom was known as the world's most powerful country. Whether it was its technical strength or military strength, it was not something the Donglong Company could casually provoke.

At least for now, the DONGLONG company did not have the strength to do so.

If they went to get the wheat kingdom's satellite, regardless of whether No. 76 had the technology or not, even if she really hacked into the satellite system's database, No. 76 would probably be hunted down by the Wheat Kingdom's security department for the rest of her life.

Piggy Liang said again, "Don't you have connections with many countries' leaders? Should we go and ask the people of the wheat kingdom to see if they can provide us with a convenience?"

Yu Tian sighed, "The wheat kingdom... It's not easy to communicate with them. The main reason is that their leadership has already changed. Among the new leadership, I don't have a single familiar face. Even if we contact them through others, they might not give us face..."

Zhu Geliang said helplessly, "If that's the case, there's no other way. We'd better go and find it ourselves."

"Do you have any other ways?"

"Of course there are some ways, but they're just not that efficient."

"What do you plan to do?"

“Trace back the bodies of those branches under them and find them. ”

“Branches? How do we trace back?” Yu Tian was a little confused.

Yu Tian was a little confused.

Piggy Liang explained, “These traitors must definitely be in contact with the branches they control, especially those team leaders. They even need to show their faces to make contact with those branch leaders... This is a good opportunity to catch them.

Yu Tian frowned and said, “Then don’t we have to follow and monitor those branch leaders?”

“Yes, that’s about it.”

“Do we have so many people now?”

“We don’t need too many people...” Piggy Liang smiled and said, “I forgot to tell you that among the two traitors, one of them is in charge of a large region, including the entire area of Wind Country...”

“Including Wind Country? Doesn’t that mean that the headquarters is also within his sphere of influence?”

“From the geographical location... Yes, that’s right, Twilight City is also under his jurisdiction. ”

Brother Pig nodded indifferently.

Yu Tian wondered, “Such an important region, why would Uncle Long hand him over to the foreigner team leader?”

Brother Pig said, “Is it very important? It’s just that the headquarters happens to be in Twilight City.”

“That’s already very important. ”

“Maybe. This just so happens to show Uncle Long’s trust in these foreigners... it’s just that these foreigners have betrayed his trust. ”

“These ingrates... What’s your plan? Keep an eye on these branches in Wind Country? They should have also gone into hiding, right?”

“Yeah, of course they’ve gone into hiding, but we still have a way to find them. All the information about these branches is within our grasp. Even if they’ve hidden it, there’s still a trail to be followed.”

Brother pig slowly explained to Yu Tian, “The phone numbers, addresses, family relationships, interpersonal relationships, frequently used networks and software, restaurants, hotels, and entertainment venues that they frequent...”

“Where did you get so much information? Where did the intelligence personnel come from? Did they always keep an eye on the internal members of the company?”

“Not all of them. It’s impossible for the intelligence personnel to keep an eye on their own people all day long, and there aren’t that many people keeping an eye on so many targets all day long. This information mainly comes from technical surveillance...”

Brother Pig said with a smile, “No. 76 hacked into the phones of these people in charge before and planted Trojans into their phones. “This thing collected a lot of information about them and stored it in a secret big data system...”

“No. 76 did this? She did it herself?”

“Of course, it was under the instruction of Uncle Long. Otherwise, she wouldn’t have given herself so much trouble. “When Uncle Long set up this database, he probably only wanted to create a database of employees and the like. “He probably wouldn’t have thought that these things would be used to track down traitors now...”

“Alright, this is really a pleasant surprise... “Yu Tian’s interest was immediately piqued. “When will you be able to find the traces of those rebel branches?”

“Don’t worry, I think we should be able to find some clues before tonight, “brother Pig Liang said calmly. “Wait for my news.”

“Okay, tell them to hurry up.”

After cutting off the communication, Yu Tian began to idle again.

He went downstairs and checked the captives ‘phones.

The leader of the traitors still didn’t reply to their assistants. He didn’t know whether it was because he was too busy or because he didn’t have anything to arrange for these assistants to do for the time being.

However, these so-called “Important” assistants were actually not that important to the traitors.

What the traitors really relied on was the resources they already had in their hands.

The two regional group leaders and the dozen or so group leaders under them had over a hundred branches under their direct control.

To some small organizations, this was already a huge force.

Even if the two regions were independent, they were still two regional organizations with huge forces.

Only by managing their own forces would they be able to attract other branches, or even branches from other regions.

As for the work of these assistants, it was just as the Kloni Society thought. It would be very difficult for them to successfully subdue the heads of the branches in other regions in the short term.

Therefore, the traitorous leaders' minds were not focused on the work of these assistants.

They must seize the time to organize the divisions they control so that they do not suffer the same fate as their headquarters in twilight..

Chapter 1196: Chapter 1,195: Evacuation from Twilight City

Translator: 549690339

The members of the mouse team had already started eating breakfast. They had all brought back some simple fast food from the outside.

Yu Tian casually ate something and then became idle again.

The others began to rest and recuperate, ready to receive the next mission at any time.

Yu Tian was in good spirits, so he decided to try to practice the Lingbo microsteps first.

The lingbo micro-steps were very convenient to practice because it did not require much space to display. It could be practiced even in the bedroom.

The method of practice was also very simple. It was to walk.

In the novel, the Lingbo micro-steps was based on the 8864 divinatory trigrams of the Yi Jing. It followed a specific sequence and walked in the direction of the divinatory trigrams.

From the first step to the last step, it was just a big circle. It was equivalent to having practiced it once and adding one inner force.

The imitation version of the gentle wave steps was similar. It was also based on the divinatory signs and then practiced walking in a small circle.

However, it didn't matter whether he finished walking in this circle or not, and he didn't have to walk in a circle.

As long as he walked at a specific pace and used his inner force to walk, his inner force could continue to add one, add one, add one..

However, Yu Tian stumbled a few times and still did not feel any changes.

He could understand this situation. Other people would practice martial arts for eight to ten years at a time. How could he achieve results in just a few minutes.

The reason why he could not feel anything was that the internal energy added to the micro-steps of the waves was too little.

It might be the meaning of that 0.0001.

However, Yu Tian felt that it didn't matter if he used a little bit less. After all, this set of Qinggong could be practiced even when walking, and it could take the initiative to train continuously. This was much more efficient than other internal energy.

After practicing for another hour, Yu Tian had a sudden idea.

Since he needed to use his internal energy to walk this set of steps, why didn't he use the spirit stones that the expedition team had given him?

While absorbing the inner energy in the spirit stones, he used the inner energy in the spirit stones to practice the qinggong steps. Perhaps the high-quality inner energy could make the effects of qinggong more obvious?

Thus, he immediately took out the spirit stones that he kept close to his body, and then he held the spirit stones and started to practice the Lingbo microstep.

The effect was indeed remarkable. After walking a few rounds, he felt that the Lingbo microstep had indeed generated inner energy.

However, he soon realized that something was not right.

The inner force generated by the Lingbo micro-steps seemed to be different from the original inner force in his body.

This phenomenon was not difficult to understand.

Yu Tian had also read wuxia novels. He knew that inner force could be divided into many types.

The Lingbo micro-steps 'inner force was different from his original inner force. This was also a normal phenomenon.

But the problem was, how should he deal with these two different internal forces?

He felt that the internal force that he had practiced through the Lingbo micro-steps was obviously much more irritable and a little out of control.

Was it because he had not yet mastered the control of these new internal forces?

Then, should he continue practicing and master the Lingbo micro-steps to master the control of these internal forces, so that these new internal forces and the old internal forces would become one?

Yu Tian practiced until dusk.

The new internal forces from the gentle steps of the waves had increased a lot, but they were still not under his control. They seemed to be very irritable in his dantian.

What made his balls hurt even more was that these new internal forces seemed to have some conflicts with the old internal forces.

This kind of conflict made him feel a little awkward. He felt like his stomach was bloated and he was holding a stool.

He had no experience in this area at all, so he could only go and consult the executioner.

The executioner said calmly, "This is a normal phenomenon. It means that you have not mastered the new internal energy.

"Will the new and old internal energy, which have different attributes, clash and cause Qi deviation like in the novels?"

"No, Qi deviation is due to bad luck. It is not as easy as you think. 'h "In fact, no matter what kind of internal energy it is, the essence is the same. It's a type of energy. "As long as you can master it skillfully, you can fuse them all together.

"So, I still feel so awkward because I'm not familiar with the new internal

"Yes, so you have to seize the time to familiarize yourself with it. "The executioner smiled and said, "I think the Lingbo micro step suits you very well.

It's very rare for you to have such an obvious effect in just half a day. "

Yu Tian laughed. "Is that so? Perhaps I'm too talented, so I can practice anything very quickly. "

He now felt that his spiritual stone was a treasure even more.

After resting for a moment, Yu Tian originally planned to continue practicing the limbo micro-step, but brother Pig Liang just happened to send him a communication link.

Yu Tian could not wait to receive the communication link. Then, he hurriedly asked, "How is it? Is there any news?"

"Yes, I think I have some clues."

Piggy Liang calmly said, "We have selected a few targets in the mini-bull market and prepared some clues... you and the mouse team are going to leave Twilight City temporarily. "

"Mini-bull market? Why Don't you choose a few targets in Twilight City?" "There are no branches in Twilight City. This is the headquarters 'territory.'" "Alright, then dusk city..."

"There's nothing else to do in dusk city. The winery doesn't exist anymore. Our people will also leave this place.". "What's left is to clean up the traces we left behind in these matters and hand over all the blame to the Kronin

Association. 'h "This is Edward's job. We will keep in touch with him..." "We still have a few members on Edward's side."

"I know. I have already hired professional guards and bodyguards from the security company. They will take over Edward's security work. We will be responsible for the safety of his friends as well. "The members of the mouse team can all be evacuated. Leave the rest to me."

"What about the captives in my hands?"

"You keep them in the safe house and keep them unconscious. Tonight, the operations personnel of the East Dragon Company will come over to take over. "

Yu Tian was puzzled. "The operations personnel of the East Dragon Company? Where do you get the manpower?"

Brother Pig rolled his eyes. "There are so many middle-level and high-level executives in the headquarters. Who doesn't have a few people in their hands?" ? "You have to know that this is the backbone of Donglong Company. Most of Donglong Company's funds, as well as the main operations branch, are in their hands. "As long as they leave the prison, the power they can mobilize will definitely be much stronger than you imagine..." "

“Alright. ”

Yu Tian shrugged. Since brother pig had already made proper arrangements, he did not need to worry about these messy matters anymore.

The donglong company was strong to begin with, but it was just a little chaotic for the time being.

When these middle and high-level easterners played their part, their strength would be extremely terrifying..

Chapter 1197: Chapter 1,196, a fair and aboveboard identity

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian and the mouse squad began to pack up and leave, accompanied by the executioner.

They didn 't have much to pack, mainly weapons and equipment, along with some food and water.

In addition, the team member who had gone to deliver red wine to brother pig in the morning had already returned and brought back half a cart of bullets and grenades.

However, these weapons and ammunition were not the main point. What was really important was the set of documents that the team member had brought back.

This set of documents had transformed the mouse team from a group of illegal armed criminals into a secret team of a certain intervention force in Twilight City.

Chief Luc had given them a number that belonged to the police. This number allowed them to carry their weapons and equipment legally, and then wander around the streets.

This was very important because the twilight city police had already started a city-wide lockdown. They had mobilized more than 2,000 armed police forces to conduct a city-wide search.

The purpose of Piggy Liang's operation was to eliminate the remnants of the clone society and the people that the traitors had gathered in the city.

The police would conduct a screening of all suspicious people from other places. Those who did not have a suitable identity to cover for the enemy would not be able to escape this city-wide search.

Edward and his friends did not have to worry that the enemy would use the same method to assassinate them.

With the ID and documents, the mouse team could move freely in Twilight City and carry weapons.

This official identity made it much more convenient for them.

In the current Twilight City, except for the people from the East Dragon Company, the other criminals could not move an inch.

Of course, if the mouse team did something outrageous, Edward would immediately disown them and declare them as criminals and imposters.

It was almost evening. Yu Tian did not have to wait for the East Dragon Company's operational personnel to come and take over the prisoners. He knocked them unconscious and packed them up, then threw them into the safe house, then, he set off with the mouse team, which had all been assembled.

Although they had the police's number, they did not have any police vehicles.

Now, they could only drive commercial vehicles and small trucks, dressed in casual clothes, and leave the city as if they were on a secret mission.

The police's search work had just begun. They were going through the streets and neighborhoods of dusk city one by one according to the districts.

Apart from the communities that were being searched, there were not many police officers in other places, and there were not many police cars on the streets.

It was not until they left the edge of the city that Yu Tian and the others came across the checkpoint set up by the police.

There were armored vehicles parked next to the checkpoint, and machine gunners on them were glaring at them.

Dozens of police officers were fully armed and heavily guarded.

There were not many police forces in Twilight City. These police forces were all transferred from the surrounding cities to provide support.

It could be seen that Edward attached great importance to the fight against the Kronin Society.

This was not only a matter of the DONGLONG company, but also related to his own safety.

Yu Tian and the others had police documents, so they passed the checkpoint smoothly. The police even wished them a smooth journey.

This feeling made everyone feel a little strange.

After leaving the city, there was a spacious highway.

Although it was not a highway, the driving efficiency was not much lower than the domestic highway.

The mini-bull city was not far from Huanghun City. It was more than 100 kilometers, about two hours by car.

Yu Tian looked at the information provided by Zhu Ge Liang and found that the mini-bull city was actually a much more prosperous provincial capital than Huanghun city.

Not only was the area of the city large, but the population was also several times larger than Twilight City. The economy was also much more prosperous.

In fact, Twilight City did not have many industries that could be put to good use. At the very beginning, there were some wineries and vineyards here, so the economy was not considered to be prosperous.

Later, because of immigration, the wind country welcomed a large number of black friends. The population of each city began to increase in large numbers, and the size of Twilight City seemed to have increased by a lot.

The Maverick city was different. It was originally a very prosperous metropolis, and it was also a provincial capital. It was on a completely different level from dusk city.

This city was close to the coastline and had beautiful scenery. It was a world-famous tourist city.

In addition, it was also known as the center of the world's rich gathering.

From this title, the prosperity and luxury of the Maverick City could be seen.

Such a city, of course, would inevitably become the fat meat in the eyes of various illegal organizations.

There were many branches of the DONGLONG company here. There were more than a dozen companies that operated various legitimate industries.

Then there was a branch that engaged in smuggling business, a branch that engaged in mafia business.

It was rare for so many branches to be concentrated in the same city. Moreover, because the management model of the DONGLONG company was very complicated, there was a team leader of a management company branch in this region, a company that was specifically responsible for the management of this region.

This kind of troublesome management style would no longer exist in the future. Even those messy illegal businesses would be gradually abandoned by Piggy Liang, or be transformed.

If one wanted to do a legitimate business, one had to do it openly. One didn't have to be like a thief and scatter into dozens of small companies. Even earning money felt sneaky.

The illegal business depended on the situation.

Those who were troublesome and did not earn money simply gave up. The East Dragon Company was not short of such a small profit.

Those who could earn large amounts of money concentrated their strength to do it. They integrated the strength of the entire region, and even several regions combined to do it.

Just like how they transported arms and supplies to hell, they directly transported the weapons of an army from San Mao country to hell. They had the ability to subvert a regime at any time.

Of course, these things had to be sorted out slowly by Piggy Liang. Yu Tian didn't need to worry about it.

After Yu Tian and the others arrived at the mini-bull market, they immediately called the contact number left by Piggy Liang.

Donglong company had people in this city to receive them, and they were from the operations department.

All the operations personnel in this region were under the control of the same Easterner team leader.

The other team leaders had rebelled together with the big team leader, but the Easterner team leader couldn't possibly rebel.

Moreover, because he had a large amount of force in his hands, after the Easterner team leader found out about Uncle Long's accident, he immediately mobilized people to protect himself and quickly went into hiding.

When the headquarters changed, the Easterner team leader was safe and sound.

Of course, the team leader was not in the mini-bull market. He was only controlling the three operations branches of the mini-bull market.

The information of the three operations branches was only known to the Easterner team leader, so it was not exposed to the traitor. The current manpower of the three operations branches was still very complete..

Chapter 1198: Chapter 1,197, pest control company

Translator: 549690339

After Yu Tian and the others made a phone call, they followed the address and found the base of one of the operation branches.

This base had a very special identity as a cover. They disguised themselves as a professional pest control company.

When Yu Tian saw the small building of their company, he almost laughed out loud.

The name of their company translated as "Kill them all

The name of the company was not too ridiculous. It was just that the killing intent was a little too strong, and ordinary people would feel a little awkward.

For example, when cockroaches, mice, and termites were suddenly found in their home, and the company sent a group of murderous men to break into their home, it always felt like their house was going to be demolished.

Therefore, the business of this pest control company was very bad.

However, this was also in line with their wishes. After all, the income of the operation personnel came from the funds of the headquarters, and they did not need to find their own way to make money.

Without business, it would be easier for them to do their own work.

In order to try not to expose this operation division, the mouse team did not park their car in front of the entrance of the pest control company. Instead, they bypassed this street and found a parking space on the side of the road to park their car.

Then, Yu Tian went to the exterminating pest company alone.

The exterminating pest company had a separate five-story building. It did not take up a large area, and the surface of the wall looked a little old.

There were exaggerated signs and all kinds of cruel advertisements hanging on the door. Due to the fact that it was night time, there were neon lights flashing in all kinds of colors.

Yu Tian walked into the open door of the exterminating pest company. The hall was messy.

The hall was designed in the style of the fire department. In addition to the large amount of orange, Yu Tian also saw that in the corner, there was a special fire pole used by the fire department.

After the fire department received the alarm, they carried the pole and quickly slid from the upstairs to the first floor.

The pest control company also made such a thing. It looked very formal.

Pest control, we are serious.

Yu Tian suddenly found it funny. He shook his head and looked around the hall.

There was a reception desk in the hall. Behind the reception desk lay a woman who seemed to be sleeping.

This should be the receptionist.

Yu Tian walked to the reception desk and asked, "Excuse me..."

The woman lying on the desk slowly raised her head and said in a daze,

"There's no need to disturb us. We have already finished work."

It was a middle-aged woman with freckles all over her face. As the receptionist, her appearance and attitude could probably reduce the workload of the pest control company by half.

Yu Tian could not help but admire the wise arrangement of this branch manager. If it were not for their special identity, this kind of company would have long gone bankrupt.

Originally, judging from their style of decoration, they should have treated the pest control business as a fire rescue.

Such a company should not have any off-duty activities. As soon as they heard news of pests, they would rush out like the soldiers in the movies, exterminating all the pests they could find.

However, Yu Tian did not have the time to tease them about their business anymore. He directly said to the woman, "I'm looking for George." "There are a lot of George here. Which George are you looking for?"

"I'm looking for the first George. "

"Alright, then I should tell him who is looking for him. "

"I'm his first client. "

This was a simple set of code words, but Yu Tian still finished reading it on his cell phone.

His language in the country of wind was not very fluent, and he could not read it smoothly on his cell phone.

After reading the code words, the middle-aged woman quickly got up and changed into a respectful attitude. "Welcome, sir. George is waiting for you upstairs... Please follow me. "

Yu Tian followed the middle-aged woman to the second floor.

There was also a hall on the second floor, which was also messy with all kinds of daily necessities. At a glance, one could tell that there were many rough men living there.

The most conspicuous place was a big kitchen, which was tidied up... not clean at all.

The kitchen was full of all kinds of messy and convenient food, as well as leftover fast food and unwashed pots and pans.

The people here seemed to have no concept of hygiene at all. Even if there was such a middle-aged woman here, she had no intention of helping to clean up.

The middle-aged woman pulled the sofa in the living room and removed the messy clothes and smelly socks. Then, she said to Yu Tian, "Please take a seat, sir. You can take a rest first. I'll call George over. "

"Okay.

Yu Tian was not pretentious. She sat down casually on the dirty sofa.

The middle-aged woman left the living room. Not long after, a middle-aged man with a big beard walked out from the corridor.

"Hello, I'm George."

Upon seeing Yu Tian, George extended his hand politely without losing his enthusiasm.

Yu Tian shook hands with George and teased, "The disguise of your base is really unique.

George said seriously, "Yes, this kind of pest control company usually doesn't have thieves visiting, and ordinary people aren't interested in visiting. "In addition, our place is dirty and messy. The health department doesn't bother to inspect us except for fines. " "Well, you talk a lot... "yu tian nodded and said, "Shall we talk in this living

"Of course not. Please follow me."

George led the way in front and led Yu Tian to the corridor.

There were rooms on both sides of the corridor. There was also a large shared bathroom, and the stench in it was overwhelming.

There was a large window at the end of the corridor. If one jumped off a building, they could jump directly onto the street behind them.

There were rooms on both sides. George gave Yu Tian a brief introduction.

One was his bedroom, and the other was his office.

The office was relatively empty. There were no big desks or chairs. There were only some simple desks and chairs. It looked like an empty room.

This was a meeting place for the operation personnel. It had nothing to do with the business of the pest control company.

The real territory of the pest control company was on the first floor. There was an equipment room and a warehouse there. All kinds of tools related to the pest control business were stored there.

The upper floor was considered a living area. Other than the kitchen and George's office on the second floor, the other floors were all bedrooms.

After entering the office and guarding the door, Yu Tian and George casually pulled a chair and sat down.

George then said, ("According to the rules, let's confirm our identity again. I'm George, the leader of the 1658 Operation Group. The password for this operation is 346583..."

Yu Tian shrugged. "I'm number one, the authentication code is..."

He glanced at his phone and reported a series of messy numbers.

George was a little surprised. "Number one? Oh, my God... you actually came in person. "

He had long received the notice from the team leader and knew that number one was now the Supreme Leader of the East Dragon Company.

He was indeed surprised that the leader was personally involved in front-line operations..

Chapter 1199: Chapter 1,198, intelligence work

The news of Uncle Long's disappearance could not be concealed within the donglong company because the traitors would definitely announce this situation to create a split and find an excuse for their own rebellion.

Therefore, Zhu Ge Liang and the Dongfang higher-ups did not avoid it either. They had already informed all the branches that the DONGLONG company would now accept the leadership of number one.

Most of the people in charge of the branches did not know the existence of number one, but a small number of people knew that there was a mysterious figure behind the East Dragon Company.

Number One had never appeared in the company's various news, so many people did not know the specific identity of number one.

However, the number one itself already explained the problem. Without sufficient status, it was impossible to place number one on the list.

Although George was a little surprised, he did not show too much excitement.

The Westerners 'attitude towards their superiors was not particularly respectful, and they would not exaggerate to curry favor with their superiors.

At least, that was the case in most cases.

After George was a little surprised, he immediately checked Yu Tian's identity verification code.

After confirming that there were no mistakes, George heaved a sigh of relief and said, "Nice to meet you, number one... you're much younger than I imagined.

“Haha, of course it’s better to make a contribution as early as possible... Alright, let’s get down to business. Can you still accommodate more than a dozen people in this place?”

“No problem. I’ve always had enough rooms here. It Won’t be too crowded to stay in two more groups. ”

George paused for a moment and said, “However, when the group leader informed me about this, it was already almost night time. I haven’t had time to get those little brats to tidy up these rooms...

“It’s okay. The people I brought are the most professional. They won’t mind sleeping in the garbage.

“It’s not necessary to dump the garbage. They just deliberately piled up some sundries. “George smiled embarrassedly and stood up. “I’ll get someone to clean it up immediately... do you want to move in now?”

Yu Tian said, “There’s no rush. We still have a mission. We Won’t rest so soon the same goes for you guys. I need your people to cooperate with us now. George quickly said, “No problem. We’re on standby at all times.”

“Very good. ”

Yu Tian took out his phone, he flipped through it. “I’m giving you a document now. It includes some addresses and some photos of people. You get your people to investigate these places and see if they can find those people on the document. ”

George also took out his phone, opened his Bluetooth, and accepted the document.

He roughly looked through the document and said, “These people... look familiar. There seem to be some local businessmen inside?” “That’s right. ” “And this... I know this. He seems to be a gang figure...”

“That’s right. ”

“Could they be.. ”

“That’s right. They are the people in charge of the other branches, but they are now traitors. ”

“I knew it... “George Sighed, he hesitated again and said, “However, my people are not good at investigating and intelligence. If we find the target, we can directly eliminate him. “Shouldn’t there be a professional intelligence branch to do the investigation?”

“The local intelligence branch has been destroyed...”

Yu Tian was also somewhat helpless.

The intelligence team leader of the region where the wind nation was located was also an easterner. This was an important position, just like the operations department.

The intelligence team leader did not need to appear at the headquarters often, so he was not arrested at the headquarters.

However, he was killed by the traitors or the operation personnel sent by the Kronin Society during the pursuit.

He did intelligence work, but his intelligence handling was terrible.

In the East Dragon Company, the team leader and the team leader were not allowed to ask each other other other information except for work contact.

Especially personal information such as address.

However, the team leader had already checked the information of the intelligence team leader, but he did not know anything about it.

The enemy immediately found the apartment where he lived and wanted to capture him alive.

Fortunately, he was an Easterner and had no intention of surrendering.

When he was attacked, he immediately took out his small pistol and fought with the enemy to the death. In the end, he was shot to death by a random gun.

This incident exposed a problem. When uncle long used a large number of Easterners, he mainly took a liking to their race and trusted their loyalty, but he neglected their ability.

There were many easterners working overseas, but not many were willing to join secret organizations.

This was because most of these people were satisfied with their jobs and income overseas. They were unwilling to take risks and do dangerous jobs.

It was already not easy for uncle long to find an Easterner with a qualified resume.

But it was not easy to find real talent.

In an important position, just having a qualified resume was not enough.

In this situation, one could only hope that after Zhu Geliang reorganized the company, it could be changed.

Speaking of which, when this intelligence team leader was killed by a gunman in his apartment, a neighbor immediately reported it to the police.

Subsequently, after the assistant of the intelligence team leader found out about this, the first thing he did was to contact the big team leader.

However, the big team leader claimed that the intelligence team leader was a traitor and asked the assistant to return to headquarters to report to him immediately and accept the work arrangements of the headquarters.

The assistant already knew about the changes that had happened in the headquarters at this time and felt that something was not right.

The situation in the headquarters was unclear, and he did not want to participate in the internal struggle, so he hid.

This hiding meant that he had lost contact with both sides.

After the eastern high -level personnel were rescued, number 8 pulled out the list of all the members and started to contact the various team leaders.

After discovering that the regional intelligence team leader had lost contact, number 8 immediately contacted the head of the Intelligence Division under the intelligence team leader.

However, after contacting him, he discovered that all the intelligence divisions in the entire region had lost contact.

In the end, they only managed to contact this hidden assistant, who was also the only member of the intelligence team leader that could still be found.

This situation basically explained one result. Other than this assistant, all the intelligence branches in the entire region had been destroyed by the enemy.

As for how the information of these intelligence branches had been leaked, the problem might lie with the intelligence team leader. He might have kept some information in his apartment. Or other places might have leaked the information, and even his information had long been stolen by the team leader.

In short, this intelligence team leader's secrecy work was very bad, causing the DONGLONG company to suffer heavy losses in this entire region.

The intelligence force of the DONGLONG company was not strong to begin with. After these intelligence divisions were destroyed, they became blind in this region, making Yu Tian's operation a lot more troublesome..

Fortunately, Donglong Company had a very fierce No. 76.

The power of hackers could never be ignored. If it were not for the fact that No. 76 had secretly monitored all the employees, Yu Tian would not have been able to get any clues at the moment.

"There is no intelligence group anymore. Now, we have to do the intelligence work ourselves. "

Yu Tian sighed, he then said to George, "The matter isn't complicated. There's no need for you to disguise yourselves and sneak in or steal any intelligence information. You just need to send people to those addresses to keep an eye on them. If there's a chance, go into the target's address to check it out. If there's no chance, keep an eye on it from the outside... This job isn't difficult, right?"

George considered it for a moment. "That's not a problem... then, if we find a traitor, should we act immediately, or..."

Yu Tian said, "In principle, you should inform me immediately, because I want to capture the target alive. If you don't have absolute confidence in capturing the target alive, it's best if you don't act on your own."

"What if there's an emergency? For example, if you find that the target is about to leave..."

"Then continue to follow. "

"I'm afraid it'll be easier to lose him this way, right?"

"Try to follow them! If you don't have the confidence to capture them alive, even if you lose them, don't make a move and don't alert the enemy."

Yu Tian emphasized solemnly, "The most important thing in your operation is to keep it a secret. Don't let the enemy find out that we're looking for them. "

These traitors had always been in a state of hiding. If they found out that someone was looking for them, they would only be even more cautious.

They would once again change their hiding places and even leave the city, completely disappearing without a trace.

This would make things even more troublesome.

George thought for a moment and said, "Alright, I know what to do. If we are not 100% sure, we will definitely not act rashly. We will only carry out surveillance and tracking. "

"That's it. Quickly arrange for your men to start moving. "

"Yes, sir. "

George took out his cell phone and asked Yu Tian, "I want my brothers to come here for a meeting. Do you need to avoid them?"

"No need. I think it will be difficult for them to remember the faces of the Easterners."

Yu Tian laughed and did not care too much.

He did not even care if his enemies saw his face, let alone his own people.

He had already walked up to the front desk of the East Dragon Company. Photos and the like would soon be leaked.

As the saying goes, paper can not hide the truth. Kronin would soon know of his existence. Other than his identity and background, he would definitely be able to get a headshot.

Therefore, there was no need for him to hide it now. He just had to show up openly at the meeting of the operations department.

The operations personnel usually stayed in the small building of the pest control company. They basically did not go out except on vacation.

This was especially true at night.

Therefore, George quickly gathered all the members, including the receptionist, Emily.

To Yu Tian's surprise, Emily was also a member of the action team, and she was George's deputy.

There was an old saying in the east, "One can not judge a book by its cover. "Emily might not be as mediocre as she looked.

Although Yu Tian did not think Emily would be a particularly powerful martial arts master, a woman who could become a member of the action team definitely had good abilities.

According to the information that Yu Tian gave him, George began to assign tasks to his team members.

There were a lot of places that needed to be monitored and investigated. There were more than a dozen of them.

And this operation branch only had a total of more than a dozen people. They could only investigate the target alone.

It was actually very inconvenient to investigate alone, especially in situations where they needed to constantly monitor the target. They could not even go to the toilet.

But the situation was still good. As long as they found the target, they could immediately report the situation. There weren't too many troublesome operations.

More than a dozen people had assigned the target. There were two people left who could act as a mobile force.

George didn't waste any time. He asked the people who had assigned the task to set off immediately.

Of course, this kind of operation couldn't be done in an insecticide company uniform. It couldn't even be done in a T-shirt with the insecticide company logo.

The personnel had all changed into casual clothes, and they were all in very low-key and inconspicuous casual clothes.

They could not use the vehicles of the pest control company, because the branch had also prepared sufficient means of transportation, including bicycles and motorcycles.

The personnel each rode their own motorcycles and left the small building of the company separately.

Yu Tian could not stay idle either. He and the mouse team also had their own tasks.

After the operation personnel left, Yu Tian said to George, "Now, I need you to arrange someone to be my guide."

"Guide? No problem, where are you going?"

"Here, this address, something called blue something... Bar."

Yu Tian handed the phone to George with a headache.

With his level of language in the wind country, he couldn't spell the name of this kind of shop.

"Blue Booma?"

George was slightly stunned. "This is the territory of that gang, Blue Underpants?"

Yu Tian nodded and said, "Yes, I'm going to their territory. Blue underpants. Heh, this unlucky name... I'm going to find their boss."

"I understand..."

George nodded slightly and then said to Emily, "Then, I'll leave the task of the Guide to you."

Emily readily agreed. "Yes, Boss."

Yu Tian was a little puzzled. "You're asking Ms. Emily to be our guide? Are we going to a gang's territory or a bar? Emily is a lady..."

"Don't worry, sir. A lady is the most suitable to appear in a bar and gang's territory!" Emily laughed and patted her chest. "I'll be very competent for this job."

Yu Tian said helplessly, "That's not what I mean. I just need a guide. I don't need to wear makeup to infiltrate and gather intelligence. As for a lady... are you familiar with the situation of these gangs and bars?"

Emily said happily, "Of course I'm familiar. No one here is more familiar than me."

George also said, "Yes, sir. Emily is the person who is most familiar with bars here. She likes to go to bars for a drink. She has basically been to all the bars in the mini-bull market."

Emily added, "That's right, not only am I familiar with those bars, but I'm also familiar with the territory of those gangs. I even have two gang lovers..."

Yu Tian looked at Emily with some confusion. He really could not understand how this middle-aged woman with Freckles could have two gang lovers.

DIG gangs really have no bottom liner

"Hey! Hey! Hey!"

Emily called out in dissatisfaction, “Sir, that look of yours is very rude! I think I need to impress you! “
