

I Have 108 Older Sisters #Chapter 1301 - 1,300: find the entrance - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1301 - 1,300: find the entrance

Chapter 1301: Chapter 1,300: find the entrance

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian went straight for the small house at the outermost part of the small village, which he had already set a target for.

This kind of village-style small house was very unique. Most of the building materials were made of wood, and it was wood that he had cut and processed himself. It was very rough and primitive.

Unfortunately, Yu Tian was not in the mood to appreciate these things. He felt that the biggest benefit of this kind of house was that it had almost no defense or anti-theft ability.

Breaking through this kind of house did not even require breaking the door or the lock. It was just a matter of pulling open a window or directly pushing open the door of the house.

Perhaps it was because there were no thieves in this kind of place, or perhaps it was because Kroni was very confident in his security measures, or perhaps there was no need for these houses to be anti-theft.

Yu Tian directly pushed open the door of the wooden house.

As the saying went, a man of great skill is bold. As long as he did not make a particularly big noise, the whole village would know, and Yu Tian was not worried about alerting the people in the house.

However, there was no one in the living room of the wooden house, and Yu Tian did not alert anyone.

With the help of night vision, Yu Tian did not need to turn on the lights, so he quickly saw the situation inside the house.

The furnishings in the house were very simple, similar to the situation in an ordinary person's home. Apart from some furniture and daily necessities, there didn't seem to be any secrets.

Yu Tian paused for two seconds and followed the instructions of the technicians. He looked around the living room and had his helmet scan the structure of the house and the wires.

There was basically no possibility of a hidden sandwich in this kind of wooden house. Moreover, the wires were arranged on the surface of the wall. There was no basement or hidden room space in the house, basically, it could be deduced from the electrical wires.

After the scan was completed, Yu Tian continued to search the next room.

Kitchen, dining room, bathroom..

Soon, he found the bedroom.

The wooden houses in the village only had a single floor. Just like an ordinary village, each house had different sizes. It indeed looked like a village where normal people lived.

This wooden house had four bedrooms. Of course, there were people living in the bedrooms, but this was no different to Yu Tian.

It was as if he had walked into an empty room. He gave the sleeping master a few flying needles and turned them from sleeping to unconscious.

There were people living in the four bedrooms. Among them, there was a middle-aged couple who looked like normal villagers.

The rest were adult men who looked like hired helpers.

However, this small village did not cultivate too much land and did not raise too many livestock. It did not need to hire too many helpers like those big farms.

Therefore, these adult men were undoubtedly members of the Clone Society.

According to this situation, the entire small village should be members of the clone society. There was no possibility of ordinary residents living there.

The best way to find the dungeon was to directly interrogate the members of the Clone Society.

However, Yu Tian did not have the time for that.

He was not sure how long the interrogation would take, nor could he guarantee that the interrogated people would not shout and warn the others in the village.

Therefore, the best way for Yu Tian now was to first control the entire village.

Then, whether it was an interrogation or a search, there must be a way to find the dungeon that he saw in the video.

After settling the first house, Yu Tian immediately rushed to the next wooden house.

The situation of the second wooden house was similar to the first wooden house, except that there was one more bedroom.

After settling the second wooden house, Yu Tian felt that he had become a habitual criminal. He was already familiar with sneaking into other people's houses.

However, this was not considered sneaking into other people's "Houses." The people living here were all members of the Clone Society. This was just their workplace.

The third wooden house was a warehouse. After a simple scan and analysis, they basically ruled out the possibility of hiding a basement.

Then, it was a residential house. Next was the sheep pen.

The people in this village raised sheep, but there were not many of them. They were probably used to deceive people.

Yu Tian's route of action was to move from the outside to the inside, and from the outside to the middle of the village.

After searching in circles, Yu Tian finally cleaned up all the houses in the village, and then approached the largest houses in the middle of the village.

These were the most suspicious locations, and also the houses that were most likely to have hidden basements.

Yu Tian was familiar with the way, so he touched them and entered one of the large houses.

His search sequence started from the living room and dining room, and then he went to clean up the people in the bedroom.

As soon as he entered the dining room, he felt that something was wrong.

This room was bigger than the surrounding rooms, so the dining room was naturally bigger.

However, there was a very unreasonable thing about this dining room. His cabinets and stove area were also very big.

The kitchens of Westerners were generally simpler. They did not have as many complicated items as the kitchens of Easterners. The main thing was that they had more cabinets.

Moreover, the space of their restaurants was usually more spacious. Most of them were open-style kitchens. The kitchens and the restaurants were all a whole.

Generally speaking, the cooking area did not need too much space.

In particular, this kind of open-style kitchen, the cooking area was mainly a range hood, followed by a few simple stoves, as well as an oven and a microwave oven.

The washing and cutting are done outside the kitchen, which is equivalent to the restaurant's location.

These places are mainly cabinets, large and small, up and down cabinets.

These cabinets are used to cut and wash the operation platform, can also be used to store tableware, and even some food.

However, now this restaurant has a lot of cabinets.

Not only many, but also a lot of big cabinets.

Yu Tian noticed a row of big cabinets against the wall and a big refrigerator built inside the cabinets at first glance.

He walked up and opened the refrigerator door to take a look.

The refrigerator was still a normal refrigerator, and there was a lot of food in it.

He pulled the cabinet next to it again, but he couldn't move it.

The cabinet seemed to be locked.

Did the kitchen cabinet need to be locked?

The answer was self-evident. There was something wrong with this cabinet.

"Please take a step back and scan the entire cabinet. We will immediately analyze the method to open the cabinet..."

('There's no need.

Yu Tian did not need such a troublesome operation. Anyway, the technical team had already controlled the monitoring and alarm system in the village. As long as he did not make a loud noise, he did not have to worry about triggering any traps or alarms.

Thus, he directly took out the Shang Yang sword and gently slashed at the gap of the cabinet.

The wooden cabinet door emitted a slight squeezing and cracking sound, and the hidden door lock was destroyed along with it.

Yu Tian pulled open the broken cabinet door, revealing the pitch-black passage inside..

Chapter 1302: Chapter 1,301, entering the dungeon

Translator: 549690339

There was a tunnel under the cupboard, and a staircase was built.

Yu Tian was overjoyed. If there really was a dungeon in the village, it must be under this tunnel.

Without thinking, he ran straight down the tunnel.

The technician quickly reminded him, "There are guards in the dungeon...

"Don't worry about the guards. Just control the alarm system.

Yu Tian had no intention of slowing down at all.

To him, what he needed to worry about the most was not the humans, but the messy high-tech equipment.

The tunnel entrance was not very big, only enough for one person to pass through.

However, this tunnel was a little deep. The stairs led to a depth of more than ten meters underground, and one could see the faint lights at the end of the stairs.

Yu Tian reached the end of the stairs in one breath. Below him was a room that was about 10 square meters.

The room had been reinforced with cement. Yu Tian could immediately see the small metal door at the other end of the room, as well as the two guards who were napping in the room.

The two guards were relatively tall and burly. They looked much stronger and sturdier than ordinary people.

Yu Tian immediately realized the identity of these two guards. They were genetic warriors.

Although these two genetic warriors were not wearing bullet-proof equipment, Yu Tian's flying needles were not of much use to them.

Hence, Yu Tian simply grabbed his club and pounced on the two guards.

His speed was very fast, creating a strong gust of wind in the small room.

The two guards suddenly woke up.

Before they could figure out what had happened, they realized that there was a sneak attack.

However, it was meaningless. Yu Tian was too fast, and they had no time to react at all.

Yu Tian swung his club and smashed it on the head of one of the guards.

The guard did not have time to dodge. He did not even have time to raise his arm to block. Yu Tian's Club smashed heavily on his head.

Yu Tian felt that this head was a little hard, much harder than the heads of the sentries outside.

However, it was meaningless. In front of a metal mallet that weighed dozens of pounds and Yu Tian's rapid charge, even the hardest head was nothing.

The head exploded like a watermelon in an instant, and the body of the guard was also sent flying by Yu Tian's mallet.

Another guard hurriedly got up from his chair and wanted to reach for his gun.

Yu Tian did not give him any more time, and another mallet smashed toward his head.

The guard suddenly squatted down and sat back on his chair, narrowly avoiding Yu Tian's Club.

Yu Tian was slightly stunned. This kid had practiced before?

Before he had time to think, the guard had already used his foot to kick his chair and slide it backward.

Their chairs had pulleys. Although the slide was not very smooth, it was enough to quickly increase the distance between them and Yu Tian.

At the same time, the guard took out his pistol from his waist and prepared to load it.

This was a big mistake. If it was a loaded pistol, he could open the safety with one hand and shoot at any time.

Unfortunately, as a guard of a secret dungeon, he had never needed to use a pistol, so it was impossible for him to keep the pistol loaded at all times. It was obviously too late to load the pistol now. Yu Tian would not give him this opportunity.

Yu Tian flipped his hand and smashed his club onto the guard's wrist.

A crisp crack sounded. Just from the sound alone, one could tell that the guard's wrist was at least fractured.

Naturally, his pistol could not be held anymore. It was sent flying by the Smash and fell into a corner.

The guard did not even frown. The genetic warrior basically could not feel any pain.

He was still retreating. Stepping on his chair, he quickly left Yu Tian's attack range.

The guard did not know what was happening up there. How did Yu Tian find this dungeon.

However, he did not hear any sounds of battle from up there. Hence, he guessed that Yu Tian had sneaked into this dungeon.

The most important thing for him now was to warn him. He could forget about living.

He could not fire a gun to warn him. The most primitive method was to shout loudly.

Yu Tian's Club had shattered his wrist, but it also gave him time to catch his breath. It allowed him to temporarily escape with his life and live a little longer.

He immediately opened his mouth wide and prepared to shout loudly. Yu Tian released the club, moved his fingers, and a stream of sword qi shot out..

The battle ended.

Yu Tian sighed slightly.

If he had known that he would use sword qi to exhaust a wave of inner strength, he would have used sword Qi from the start and taken care of the two guards at the same time. He would have saved himself a lot of trouble later on.

However, when he thought back, it felt pretty good to hit someone with a club.

Moreover, he could not just rely on sword Qi to fight. Sword Qi was like a spear on a cold weapon battlefield. If he had too much of an advantage in fighting the enemy, it would be very easy for him to waste his other combat skills.

Yu Tian took a look at the small iron door in the room.

This small iron door only had a window the size of a palm. Through the window, he could see that the room inside was also lit up with a weak light.

The rest of the iron door was made of thick steel, and there was a big lock on the outside.

Yu Tian found a bunch of keys from the guard and was ready to open the door.

At this time, the technician reminded him, "There are guards inside. They are coming to the door.

There were some sounds of fighting in the room, such as the sound of a pistol falling to the ground and the sound of a corpse falling.

Although normal people would make some noise from time to time, a bored guard in the dungeon still decided to come over and take a look.

Yu Tian paused for a moment and then stood at the side of the iron door.

Light footsteps came from inside the iron door, and Yu Tian could clearly hear the other party's position.

The guard walked to the side of the iron door. Because the iron door could not be opened from the inside, he could only lean against the window and take a look outside.

The situation in the room outside gave him a big surprise.

Two Guards'corpses, one without a head and the other with half of its head blown off. It was bloody and terrifying, which made him enter a state of emergency in an instant.

Of course, this was also meaningless.

A short sword aura passed through his eyes, and then his head exploded.

Then, Yu Tian opened the iron door as fast as he could and walked into the next part of the dungeon.

There was a long corridor inside, but unlike the normal corridor, this corridor did not have any decoration, not even the simplest scratch.

This was a simple tunnel, even the shape was not neat.

The walls and ceiling of the tunnel were simply reinforced with cement, and a few dim light bulbs were installed on top of their heads.

The ground was still wet with mud, and it looked even shabbier than the room outside.

The place where the prisoners were held did not need to care about the environment..

Chapter 1303: Chapter 1302, the living

Translator: 549690339

The corpse of the Guard was lying at the door. Since the ground was covered in mud, he did not make much noise when he fell.

Yu Tian did not know how many guards were still in the dungeon, and he did not plan to give the other guards a chance to find him.

He quickly ran deeper into the dungeon.

After running for more than ten meters, Yu Tian saw the cells on both sides of the passage.

These cells were all made of iron bars. Yu Tian could clearly see the prisoners who were crowded in the cells.

Although the light in the cells was dim, Yu Tian could still clearly see a few familiar faces through the night vision device.

They were the members of the mouse team. As expected, they were imprisoned here.

Yu Tian was not in a hurry to open the cell door. Instead, he continued to run forward.

He wanted to clear out all the guards in the dungeon first.

Soon, he reached the corner of the tunnel.

At the corner was a hall-like space that was about twenty square meters in size.

There were a few chairs, a small square table, and three guards sitting at the square table.

Seeing Yu Tian suddenly rush over, the three guards were slightly stunned.

When they saw Yu Tian's motorcycle-like outfit, the guards immediately reached out for their guns.

This time, Yu Tian did not waste any more time. He waved his hand and sent out a stream of sword qi, taking the guards away in one wave.

He did not stop because there was still a long passage at the other end of the hall.

This passage was curved, and no one knew where it led to.

Yu Tian continued to run along the tunnel.

There was still room for digging on both sides of the tunnel, but there were no gates or fences.

It seemed that most of the space in the tunnel had not been used, and the Kronian Society did not have that many prisoners to lock up.

Yu Tian ran a few hundred meters in one go, and he became more and more confused.

Where did this tunnel lead to?

The tunnel was dilapidated. Other than simple cement reinforcement and weak light bulbs that were more than ten meters long, there were no other man-made facilities.

There were originally rooms that had been dug out on both sides of the tunnel, but there was only a tunnel behind it.

Yu Tian ran a few kilometers in one go and finally reached the end.

At the end of the tunnel was another large iron door, but it looked much stronger than the previous one. There were no windows on the door.

Yu Tian went to the side of the iron door and observed it for a bit, but he did not find a lock on the door.

"This is a mechanical password lock.

The technician immediately made an analysis and marked out the location of the mechanism on the iron door.

There were some inconspicuous small squares on the mechanism, which were very inconspicuous under the weak light. If one did not look carefully, they would only think that they were part of the iron door.

There were a total of sixteen small squares, forming a square with four vertical squares. They did not occupy a large area.

Since it was a password lock, it was naturally not so easy to crack.

Sixteen squares could have thousands of password combinations. It was not something that could be cracked in a short period of time.

Moreover, this was not an electronic password lock. It was countless times more difficult to crack a mechanical lock than an electronic lock.

Of course, this was only for ordinary people.

For Yu Tian, whether it was an electronic lock or a mechanical lock, it was a matter of sword aura to him.

However, he could not easily break the door now because he did not know if there were other mechanisms on the door.

The alarm facilities had already been controlled by the technical team, but it was very likely that explosives would be installed on the mechanical door.

If there was a violent break in the door, it could directly cause an explosion.

The hostages were still in the cell, so Yu Tian didn't want to cause any more trouble.

This iron door looked very tight, and it was also carefully installed with a password lock. It didn't seem like people often went in and out. Yu Tian simply threw the iron door aside and ran back to the cell.

A few minutes later, he ran back to the cell.

The people in the cell seemed to realize what had happened. Yu Tian ran past the cell door like a gust of wind just now, which was already a very unusual thing.

Therefore, the people in the cell all squeezed to the iron fence at this time and watched the movements outside curiously.

Yu Tian ran back to the cell door and then ordered, "Cass, ask everyone to move back a little.

"It's the Boss!

"I knew the boss would come to save us!

The people in the cell all cheered in low voices.

Although Yu Tian was wearing a helmet, the members of the mouse team were very familiar with his voice.

“Step back! Step back! The boss is going to open the door!

Cass hurriedly shouted at the people in the cell, and the people in the cell immediately stepped back to the side.

Yu Tian was too lazy to check the keys, so he directly used his sword energy to scratch the locks on the doors.

The prison doors were all opened, and the people inside began to walk out in an orderly manner.

Yu Tian took two steps back and then asked, “Cass, are all our people here?”

“The living are all here. ”

This answer made Yu Tian speechless.

That’s right, only the living had the chance to be imprisoned. This was considered lucky.

“Hey! Are you the boss? It’s great that you ‘re still alive!

Aunt Emily also came out of the cell and curiously touched the bulletproof vest on Yu Tian’s body.

Yu Tian’s bulletproof helmet was a whole body. It did not have the function of opening the mask. Emily could only identify Yu Tian’s identity from his voice.

Yu Tian saw Emily and was slightly surprised. “Ms. Emily? So you were also caught here... This is finally a good thing. Who Was it that caught you?”

Emily spread her hands. “It was the eastern man that you were with. The one you called the executioner. Cass and the others said that they had long thought that there was something wrong with that guy.

This finally confirmed the identity of the executioner. He was indeed a member of the Clone Society.

Although Piggy Liang had long suspected the identity of the executioner, he could not do anything more to him under such circumstances. He could only be careful.

However, it was difficult to guard against thieves day and night. In the end, Yu Tian and the others were tricked by the executioner.

Now that they thought about it, their whereabouts should have been leaked by the executioner.

That was why Kroni attacked them with such precision and captured the mouse squad and the other operation branches. Yu Tian sighed and changed the topic. "Where's the Big Guy?"

Cass calmly replied, "The big guy was injured..."

The Big Guy was carried out by someone, and he was unconscious. It seemed that his injuries were not light.

Yu Tian went up to check the Big Guy's pulse. He found that the aura in his body was somewhat chaotic, but he could not tell what the specific injuries were.

However, this kind of injury would not be fatal for a while, so Yu Tian did not have time to treat the big guy for now.

Now, he should take everyone out..

Chapter 1304: Chapter 1303, rest

Translator: 549690339

Everyone walked out of the cell, except for the big guy who was being carried.

"Prepare to retreat... can you all still walk?"

Yu Tian was a little worried when he saw that everyone was more or less injured.

Cass said, "We're okay... just a little hungry. These bastards didn't give us anything to eat. "

"That's good. Let's talk about it outside.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team outside had brought energy food with them, such as energy bars such as chocolate.

The mouse team and the other members of the operation were all people who had received a certain level of training. Their bodies wouldn't be too weak.

Just giving them a little energy and water would be enough to support them to evacuate to the fishing boat.

Yu Tian brought everyone out of the dark and damp dungeon and walked all the way to the small room outside.

The small room could not accommodate more than a few dozen people. Everyone squeezed into a pile at the door of the room and in the tunnel.

“Let’s stop for a moment. I’ll go and finish off the enemies above.”

Yu Tian suddenly remembered that the enemies in the room above had not been finished off yet. Now that so many people were going up together, there would definitely be a lot of chaotic footsteps and the enemies would definitely be alerted.

Cass and the others were still relatively weak and basically had no fighting capacity.

If they alerted the enemies, it was very likely that they would be in danger.

Although the Wild Fox Secret Service team had basically taken control of the village now, Yu Tian still had to be careful.

After leaving Cass and the others temporarily in the tunnel, Yu Tian returned to the dining room.

Next, he began to clean the bedrooms one by one.

Previously, when he was cleaning up the other houses, the people Yu Tian met were all ordinary people. In order to keep them alive for interrogation, he had used all methods of knocking them out.

Currently, all the people living in this house were genetic warriors. It would not be easy to knock them out. Yu Tian could only kill them directly, killing all the genetic warriors in the house.

In any case, the mouse squad had already been found. Keeping them alive for interrogation was no longer of much significance.

The clean-up operation was unusually smooth. The village was still quiet, and no one knew that Yu Tian had already massacred more than half of the village.

At this moment, Brother Pig’s voice sounded from Yu Tian’s helmet.

“Boss, I suggest that you continue to clean up and completely control the entire village. Then, let the rat squad evacuate calmly...”

“Okay.

This task was not difficult for Yu Tian, so he agreed immediately.

Brother pig said, “Try to keep them alive. Perhaps after we take control of this village, we can still interrogate them and get some useful information. ”

According to the original plan, the Wild Fox Secret Service team was going to raid this village.

They had already prepared for an exchange of fire, and they had also formulated a plan for how to quickly evacuate after the intense battle ended.

However, Yu Tian 's combat strength had already exceeded Piggy Liang's expectations. He alone had quietly exterminated more than half of the village.

Therefore, Piggy Liang changed his plan at the last minute. He was not in a hurry to let the Wild Fox Secret Service team retreat.

As long as Yu Tian could quietly take down this village and not give the enemy the chance to send out a distress signal, they could temporarily occupy this small village.

No matter what, the village would be safe tonight and even tomorrow.

Soon, Yu Tian fulfilled Piggy Liang's expectations and took down all the houses in the village.

The whole process was quiet. If the Wild Fox Secret Service team could not receive the command from the headquarters, they would not know that the village had been taken down.

Following that, the seven teams of the Wild Fox Secret Service quickly charged into the village and gathered the people in the houses.

The people in the houses were all unconscious, so controlling these people was not a problem. The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service felt like they were only there for fun the entire time, just like the policemen who appeared last in the movie.

There were more than a dozen houses and warehouses. Other than the genetic warriors who were killed by Yu Tian, there were about 70 to 80 people left alive.

These people were all gathered in three large houses in the middle of the village. Each of them was guarded by three secret service teams.

Yu Tian was not in a hurry to arrange an interrogation. First, he had the Wild Fox Secret Service team bring the people in the dungeon to the surface.

After Cass and the others had reached the surface, Yu Tian roughly counted the number of people.

There were only nine people left in the mouse team, including Cass.

The Big Guy was still alive, but he was still in a coma.

Aunt Emily, whom Yu Tian was more familiar with, was also alive. There was also George, the person in charge of Emily's Operation Branch.

However, there were only around 30 people left. The genetic warriors had caused close to half of their losses during the attack on the hotel.

Yu Tian was somewhat puzzled. "Weren't there only a dozen or so bodies found in the hotel?"

Cass said calmly, "Yes, only a dozen people died on the spot. Most of them were brought to this dungeon. "However, some of them were seriously injured, and the Kronin order did not arrange treatment for us. In addition, we had to use torture, so..."

Yu Tian was silent for a moment, and he silently mourned for his comrades and teammates.

War was cruel. No family could avoid death.

From the enemy's point of view, the actions of the Kronin Society were within everyone's expectations.

If the Kronin Society members fell into Yu Tian's hands, Yu Tian would definitely torture them and kill them in the end.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team was already starting to do this job. The captives had already been woken up by them one by one, and they were interrogated one by one. From time to time, there would be a few screams coming from the room.

The mouse team and the other captured operational personnel sat on the floor in the dining room. They had already started eating, replenishing some energy and water, and taking a short break.

The interrogation of the enemy captives was handled by the Wild Fox Secret Service team. Yu Tian was temporarily idle, so he might as well take this time to examine the big guy's body first.

Cass quickly finished eating his energy bar and water, and then began to meditate with his legs crossed.

Actually, Cass's injuries weren't light either. Most of them were from torture. There were quite a number of scars left behind by torture on his body.

The injuries on his body weren't too big of a problem. Yu Tian could take some time to resolve them.

On the other hand, the injuries on the big guy's body were somewhat troublesome.

The Big Guy was also a genetic warrior. Ordinary external injuries would not affect him much.

Yu Tian did not find any large wounds or scars on the big guy's body. He could confirm that the big guy's injuries were only internal injuries.

However, Yu Tian was also unable to find out exactly what internal injuries he had sustained. He looked extremely weak. All of his internal organs and meridians were in a weak state.

It looked more like he had suffered a serious illness. His overall physical condition had weakened, and it had nothing to do with an injury to an organ or a certain location..

Chapter 1305: Chapter 1,304, first evacuation

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian was somewhat puzzled, so he asked Cass, "How did the big guy get injured?"

"I'm not too sure," Cass replied. "He was still fine when he was sent to the prison with us. Later, he was captured and tortured a few times. After coming back and taking a nap, he suddenly couldn't wake up."

Yu Tian didn't think that the big guy wouldn't be able to survive the torture.

Genetic warriors weren't afraid of pain. Torture didn't mean much to them.

The Big Guy had fallen into the hands of the clone society. Yu Tian felt that the clone society wouldn't be unable to see through the big guy's identity.

After knowing that the Big Guy was also a genetic warrior, the clone society would definitely lose their interest in using torture on the Big Guy.

The only thing they could do was to execute the big guy.

This way, they would be able to better protect the secrets of genetic warriors, and it could also be considered revenge on Yu Tian.

It was also very easy to execute the big guy. All they had to do was to shoot him in the head.

Although the big guy could withstand some bullets from a small caliber pistol, he could not withstand a rifle. Kronny would have plenty of ways to execute him.

However, the strange thing was that Kronny did not execute the big guy directly. Instead, he made him look like he was in a coma.

Could it be that keeping the big guy alive was still of some value to the clone society?

Yu Tian thought of the big guy's identity and suddenly had a thought. Could it be that the clone society was using the Big Guy to test out a new gene drug?

Speaking of which, the big guy should be considered a very successful test subject in the genetic warriors' experiments.

Yu Tian did not know which generation these genetic warriors he was seeing were from, but the Big Guy's combat power was definitely one of the best among these genetic warriors.

Perhaps their ability to take hits was similar, but the big guy's combat power and attack power were much stronger than ordinary genetic warriors.

He was like an expert among genetic warriors.

Seeing the big guy's unconscious appearance, Yu Tian could only think that he had been injected with some kind of new drug.

In this situation, Yu Tian could not think of any treatment for the time being, because genetic and biological technology had already exceeded the scope of normal medical knowledge.

If he wanted to try using medical methods to solve the big guy's problem, Yu Tian still needed to think about it.

Although the Big Guy was in a coma, his vital signs were still stable, so there was no need to rush the treatment for the time being. Yu Tian planned to bring him back first.

Next, Yu Tian decided to treat the injuries on Cass and the others first.

The injuries on Cass and the others were not troublesome. Yu Tian could solve them with a few needles.

However, the injuries caused by the injuries would take some time to recover. It was impossible for them to be full of vigor after a few needles.

This kind of recovery relied mainly on the body's own self-healing ability. The recovery speed was related to the individual's physique. The medicine could only play a supporting role.

Yu Tian did not have any medicine to heal his injuries and nourish his body, so Cass and the others still needed some time to recover from their injuries. They had to go back and rest well for a few days.

They were temporarily unable to participate in Yu Tian's operation. After Yu Tian gave them acupuncture treatment, they had to retreat first.

Treating patients and saving people was Yu Tian's specialty. He started work on both sides and began to treat the captured people.

As he injected the needles, he asked Cass about the situation in the hotel that day.

"Actually, I don't know the exact details of the battle..."

Cass was a little ashamed. "I was knocked out by a few grenades at the first moment.

A member of the rat squad interrupted, "The enemy suddenly launched attacks from all the windows. The grenades were thrown into the room like they were free. "Most of the brothers in the windows were killed or seriously injured. Most of them didn't have time to dodge..."

"The ones in the rooms inside couldn't Dodge either. They used stun grenades, stun grenades, and poison gas grenades... anyway, I was so shocked that I couldn't even stand up.

("The attack was too sudden. We didn't have such protective equipment."

"A few of our brothers were not affected by the grenade and fought back... but they didn't last long before they died in battle.

"The enemy was very professional, and their equipment was also very complete. We were not prepared, so we were not their opponent.

"I think the main reason is that there are too many enemies, and they used despicable sneak attacks, which made most of us lose our ability to fight. Only a few of our brothers can still resist, so naturally, we can't stop them.

"Do you know how many enemies there are? This is not a problem of numbers, nor is it a problem of sneak attacks sneak attacks are a normal means of fighting. I think the biggest problem is still the problem of intelligence..." "

"That's right, we've only moved into the hotel for one night, and the enemy came to find us. There must be a mole!"

"Who's the Mole?"

"Isn't it that..."

"Maybe there's a mole among us too..." "

“It’s not necessary. At this time, what’s the mole doing hiding among us...

The captured people started to discuss.

Yu Tian sighed. “You don’t have to worry about these things. The identity of the mole has been confirmed. The people here are not moles.

Emily interrupted from the side, “That’s right. The Mole is the guy who captured me. “I believe that there is no mole among our team members. We have been together for so many years. How can we still be considered traitors at this time...”

Having a mole was a matter that greatly affected the morale of the army. Only by confirming that there was no mole could the team be more stable.

Yu Tian used his fastest speed to perform basic treatment on the thirty-odd people. He also performed acupuncture on them from both left and right.

However, even with such a speed, it took Yu Tian more than half an hour.

The acupuncture was very fast, but the acupuncture treatment did not completely stop after the acupuncture was done. There were also some needle twisting operations, as well as Yu Tian’s unique method of activating the acupuncture force with his internal energy.

After the treatment was over, Yu Tian immediately instructed cass, “You guys rest for a while. Once you’re done resting, leave immediately.

Cass said, “We’ve almost rested. The retreat location isn’t far from here, right

“It’s only a few kilometers away. ”

“Then there’s no problem. We’ll definitely be able to walk over.

“I’ll get two teams to escort you over.”

The captives did not have any weapons on them. Even if they were given weapons, they would not be able to fight much.

For safety reasons, accompanying guards had to be arranged.

There were a total of seven wild Fox Secret Service teams in the village. After taking away two teams, there were more than 70 people from five teams. It would not affect their control of the village.

The tasks were quickly distributed. Cass and the others began to evacuate with the Nogitsune Secret Service team..

Chapter 1306: Chapter 1,305, continued to explore

Translator: 549690339

The Nogitsune Secret Service team that remained in the village did not idle either. Other than the three teams that guarded and interrogated the captives, the other two teams were responsible for setting up a guard in the village and began to search the various houses, they hoped to find something valuable.

After Yu Tian sent off Cass's people, he also had to get busy with his work.

He wanted to go under the tunnel to see what was going on with the password door at the end of the tunnel.

The entire village was now under the control of the Wild Fox Secret Service team, but there was no movement behind the password door. The technical team at headquarters did not intercept any distress signals or network signals.

This meant that there might not be any other people stationed behind the password door. It was very likely that it was just a warehouse or something.

Yu Tian ran to the gate at the end of the tunnel.

"Are you sure you want to use your sword aura to cut open this gate?"

Brother Pig was still a little worried. From the appearance of the gate, it was impossible to tell how thick the gate was, whether there was a layer inside, whether there were explosives hidden, and what was behind the gate.

From the surveillance footage they controlled, it seemed that there were no surveillance cameras behind the iron gate. None of the surveillance cameras were able to find a camera that seemed to be behind the Iron Gate.

This increased the risk and uncertainty of breaking through the gate.

However, Yu Tian was very confident in his bulletproof vest. He even opened his shield.

"This should be enough, right? Didn't you say that this shield can withstand a missile? With this shield, even if there is an explosion, I should be fine." Piggy Liang was speechless.

It was only a theoretical matter that a shield could withstand a missile. It had never been tested.

Letting a shield withstand an explosion from a missile and letting someone use a shield to withstand an explosion from a missile were two completely different things.

A shield might be able to survive an explosion, but the person holding the shield might not.

Even someone with a strong constitution like Yu Tian might be injured in the huge impact of the explosion.

Brother pig said helplessly, "You are the core leader of the entire organization, the spiritual leader of everyone. I think you shouldn't take such risks so easily..."

Yu Tian said, "Then do you have any other good ideas?"

Brother pig said, "We can arrange for professional personnel to crack the password, or explosion-proof personnel to cut it..."

"How long will it take?" Yu Tian shook his head and said, "No matter how professional bomb-proof personnel are, they may not be as resistant as me. "As for cracking the code... Don't Fool Me. There is no way to crack this mechanical code. "You have just scanned it. There are no fingerprints or other traces on it, and there are no other flaws

"We can use professional equipment to detect and analyze the internal structure of this iron gate.

"Forget it. I don't know when you'll send someone to send the professional equipment over... I'll do it myself.

Yu Tian did not believe that this broken iron gate could pose much of a threat to him. Could it be that there was a nuclear bomb hidden behind the gate?

Would kroni dare to hide such a destructive weapon on his brother's Island?

Did he really think that this was a deserted island like demon island?

Yu Tian did not delay any further. He immediately unleashed his killer move, Shang Yang Sword.

Any door lock, regardless of the type of door lock, would ultimately require a lock core that would be stuck between the door and the door frame in order to complete the operation of locking the door.

In other words, under normal circumstances, the lock bolt was in the gap between the door and the door frame.

However, there was also a relatively special design. The door and the door frame were not aligned neatly. It was also possible that the design was in the form of a ladder, hiding the lock bolt behind the door and the door frame.

Yu Tian was too lazy to figure out what kind of strange design would be used for this iron door. He directly stuffed the Shang Yang sword into the gap of the door.

Although the iron gate was made of metal, it still could not resist Yu Tian's sword qi.

With a soft sound, countless metal fragments flew in all directions. It was as if he had used a cutting machine and a drill.

Yu Tian felt that it was a waste to use the sword Qi like this. He tried to control the sword Qi as thinly as possible, even to the point that it was only as narrow as the gap of the gate.

This control was a little strenuous, but after repeated attempts, Yu Tian gradually became familiar with this operation.

Perhaps it was because he had used the Shang Yang sword many times, Yu Tian became more familiar with the control of the Shang Yang Sword. He also became more in control of this move that used his internal energy as a weapon.

Very soon, the sword Qi began to become more concentrated and sharp.

Yu Tian became more and more adept at controlling the sword qi. He waved the sword qi and circled around the side frame of the large iron gate.

Other than the part that was cut at the beginning that was a little gruesome, the other parts of the iron gate were basically not damaged. It just looked like the gap of the gate had become a little bigger.

After the cutting was done, Yu Tian pushed the large iron door with all his strength.

It still could not be pushed.

Yu Tian sighed. It seemed like he could only cut the door into a few pieces.

Seeing that he was about to make a move again, Piggy Liang could not help but interrupt, "Can you try pulling the door to see?"

"Pull? How? Is this a door that is pulled outward?"

There was not even a handle outside the door. Yu Tian did not think that this door was pulled outward.

Piggy Liang said helplessly, "This is a trap door, and it looks very heavy. Generally speaking, this kind of door should be opened by itself after pressing the correct password, so there's no need to manually push and pull it..." "That's true... but how do I pull it..."

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then stretched out his hand and stabbed a hole in the door with his sword energy.

Then, he put his finger into the hole, grabbed the iron door, and pulled it out with all his strength.

After grabbing the hole, Yu Tian realized that the door was not as thick as he had imagined. The thickness of the entire door was not as long as his finger.

His finger had already pierced through the door. After grabbing the door, he exerted some strength, and the large iron door was finally pulled by him.

“Oh, right, be careful of the explosion...”

Yu Tian reminded himself and quickly raised his shield.

Piggy Liang sighed. “Isn’t it a little too late for you to think of this now?” “Is it too Tian shrugged. “It’s better than never thinking of it. “There’s no need to raise your shield anymore. This door is safe.”

Actually, when he saw Yu Tian wantonly cut the door open, Piggy Liang knew that there wouldn’t be any explosives hidden inside.

Even if there were explosives hidden inside, the door had been damaged to such a state and hadn’t exploded yet. The explosives must have lost their effectiveness for some reason.

With Yu Tian’s strength, the large iron door was finally pulled aside.

Space]

Chapter 1307: Chapter 1,306, the strange living room

Translator: 549690339

Behind the door was a large room, about fifty to sixty square meters, arranged in the shape of a living room.

Since it was a living room, it naturally had some simple decorations. There was also a sofa, a coffee table, and some messy utensils and accessories.

There was even a tea set on the coffee table. It could not be seen whether it was an oriental or western style tea set.

There were lights in the living room, but they were not turned on. The entire living room was dark.

However, Yu Tian's helmet had night vision, so the darkness did not affect his vision.

He immediately saw the huge staircase in front of the living room, which led up to the ground.

The staircase was about three to four meters wide. Half of it was a pedestrian staircase, and the other half was a slope.

The design of the living room facing the staircase was a little strange. It felt like there was a toilet next to the dining room, but there were no walls.

Yu Tian looked around the living room and did not find anything special, so he walked straight to the side of the stairs.

The slope of the stairs was not very steep, so at a glance, it was much longer than the stairs at the other end of the tunnel.

The stairs were straight. Yu Tian could see the end of the stairs at a glance.

There seemed to be a door there.

He quickly climbed up the stairs and came to the top of the tunnel.

There was indeed a door at the top. In front of the door was a space of only a few square meters, just like the entrance of an ordinary resident's home.

It was still an iron door, only a meter wide, about the same size as the password-protected iron door from before.

Yu Tian looked at the iron door carefully and found that it was still an iron door with a mechanical password lock.

On the door, he could clearly see the small square buttons and the corresponding mechanism.

This should be the same type of iron door below.

However, Yu Tian was now inside the password-protected door, so he could see that there was a large deadbolt lock on the door and a large push rod beside the door.

Although Yu Tian didn't pay attention to the structure behind the door, after seeing the 16 small squares on the door, he could basically confirm that the two iron doors were the same.

"What's behind this door? Tell me... Should I open it to take a look?"

As Yu Tian muttered, he quickly reached out and used his sword Qi to cut the door latch twice.

Piggy Liang was instantly speechless.

He had already dried up, yet he still asked.

The technical team answered Yu Tian's question, "According to your movement trajectory, your current position should be at the foot of a mountain outside the village..."

A 3D topographic map appeared on Yu Tian's screen. On it was the terrain of the entire village, the tunnel he had come down, the passage he had walked through, and the stairs he had climbed up now.

All the places he had passed by, and the places that had been scanned by the helmet, had been drawn with simple lines to form a structural model.

From this model, it seemed that he was indeed on the ground level, at the same altitude as the village on the ground.

"So, the exit is outside this iron door?"

Yu Tian curiously pulled open the iron door.

It was indeed a dark night sky with stars everywhere.

In front of them was a dense forest, surrounded by messy mountain walls and rocks.

This door was opened on the mountain range's stone wall, and there was a layer of rock camouflage outside.

If the door was closed, it would look like a dirty stone wall from the outside. Not only was the shape very uneven, but there were also many large and small holes.

The surrounding mountain ranges and stone walls were similar in appearance. There were some vines covering the surroundings, and there were also dense trees blocking the view.

Brother's Island had many mountains to begin with. Other than the mountains, there were also many trees.

In such an environment, it was very difficult for people to find the hidden door hidden in the mountain rocks. Very few people would think that there was a hidden door here, and they would run to these mountains and forests to find the entrance of the hidden door.

Yu Tian jumped on the rocks outside the hidden door, looked around, and found the direction of the village.

There were a few lights in the village. It was the Wild Fox Secret Service team searching the houses in the village.

The exit of the secret passage was not far from the village, only about two kilometers away.

Yu Tian was a little puzzled. "Why did they set up an exit of the secret passage here? Could it be used to escape?"

"It's possible. But there are cells inside the tunnel, and the cells can lead directly to this secret exit. This kind of escape tunnel isn't hidden, and it doesn't have much meaning..."

Brother pig paused for a moment and said, "I think you can go down and check it carefully. Maybe you'll find something else."

"I think so too."

Yu Tian also felt that this tunnel was a little strange, especially the large living room at the end.

If this tunnel was used as an escape tunnel, then it should not be built together with the dungeon.

At the very least, there should be a hidden door at the back of the dungeon. It should not be so obvious to expose the tunnel at the back.

The large living room at the end was even more strange. Why did an escape tunnel need a living room?

Was he going to sit down and have a cup of tea and rest when he ran for his life to the door?

This was simply superfluous.

Yu Tian returned to the large living room in the tunnel. He found light on the wall and lit up the lights in the living room.

Then, he took a look at the exquisite chandelier in the living room.

The electric lights naturally needed electricity, and they also needed wires to connect them.

There were electric lamps all the way in the tunnel in front of him, and the cable ran along the top of the tunnel all the way to the living room.

However, there was no decoration in the tunnel, and the cable was exposed to the surface of the cave wall.

When it reached the living room, the cable went through a small hole in the iron door, and then disappeared.

Because the living room had been decorated simply, the cable was buried under the wall.

This was a very normal phenomenon, because most people's homes were designed in this way, and it looked more beautiful.

Putting aside the significance of the current living room's renovation, just the disappearing wire made Yu Tian feel a little strange.

This was because the wire was obviously much thicker than the wires commonly used at home, just like the wires used in air-conditioning refrigerators were certainly thicker than the wires used for a small table lamp.

Was such a thick cable laid all the way to this big living room to supply power to a chandelier?

This was obviously a little unnecessary.

Pulling a thick cable and pulling a thin wire were very different workloads. Just the weight of the large cable was enough to make people tired, not to mention laying a few miles of winding roads in the tunnel.

This cable definitely wasn't just to supply a chandelier.

Somewhere in this living room, there must be a passageway connecting to other spaces..

Chapter 1308: Chapter 1307, Armory

Translator: 549690339

It was not a complicated method to confirm whether there was a hidden door in the living room.

Wherever there was a hidden door, there would definitely be cracks. Yu Tian only needed to find these cracks.

However, in order to hide the uniqueness of the cracks, the living room's walls were decorated into a grid, and they were all plastered with neat bricks, leaving a small crack.

Just by looking at it with the naked eye, one would not be able to tell which crack was the hidden passage door.

Thus, Yu Tian began to smash the walls. He hammered the four walls of the living room one by one, and not a single corner fell down.

An ordinary person did not have much strength when knocking on the walls. No matter how thick the wall was, the sound was basically the same.

However, the feeling of Yu Tian knocking on the wall was like an earthquake.

Very soon, he found the position where the sound was not the same.

He did not need to confirm it again. Yu Tian immediately took out his big club and smashed it at this position.

He found that the club had many benefits. At least, it was much more convenient to use as a tool than those short knives and daggers.

Soon, he smashed open a hole in the wall, revealing the inner layer of metal.

"There really is a secret door!"

Yu Tianle was overjoyed.

Then, he smashed the wall again, breaking off the outer layer of bricks and cement, completely exposing the location of the secret door.

It was still a very thick iron door, but there was no lock on the door. There were no small squares, buttons, or keyholes.

Yu Tian was too lazy to think about it. He used the same trick again and drew a circle in the gap with his sword energy. Then, he pushed the door, pulled the door..

He couldn't open it.

"It can't be horizontal, right?"

Yu Tian looked at the walls on both sides in confusion. There was no place to move even if it was horizontal.

Brother pig reminded him, "Maybe your sword energy didn't damage the position of the door lock. "

The door lock wasn't necessarily at the edge of the door or at the gap. Many household anti-theft doors had this kind of protective door lock design, which allowed the door lock and the gap to be staggered.

If it was a household anti-theft door, it would be fine. At least the lock hole on the outside could be used to determine the location of the lock core.

But this kind of hidden door couldn't do anything to it. Its door lock bolt could be hidden behind the door at any location, either above the head or under the feet.

If he wanted to find the location of the lock, he would have to tear down the entire door.

In other words, Yu Tian would have to cut deeper and tear down the entire door.

"I still don't believe this..."

Although Yu Tian had used up a lot of his internal energy that night, he did not need to continue fighting. There was no other place for him to use up his internal energy. Hence, he did not need to save this little bit of internal energy.

He decided to tear down the door panel directly.

He did not care about the secret door lock. He would tear down the door panel directly.

He did not need to cut down the entire area of the door. He planned to just make a hole in the door that was enough for him to enter and exit.

This was a big project.

Yu Tian first used his sword energy to pierce through the large iron door. Then, he looked at the thickness of the large iron door.

Fortunately, this iron gate was not very thick, only slightly thicker than the length of a finger.

Perhaps Kroni would feel that there was no need for the iron gate to be too thick. If this level of iron gate could not stop the thieves, then the people who came here must be bandits.

If they encountered bandits, no matter how thick the iron gate was, it would be opened by someone because the bandits would not care about the noise that would be caused by destroying the iron gate.

After cutting the iron door, Yu Tian's internal energy was finally exhausted temporarily.

He had not even finished cutting the last part in one breath. He even practiced the gentle steps of the soaring waves for a while before he temporarily recovered some internal energy and completed all the cutting work.

After taking a short break, Yu Tian recovered some internal energy.

He felt that he should at least have some internal energy on his body to prevent any accidents from happening.

After resting for a while, he entered through the doorway.

Inside was a very wide corridor, about two to three meters wide.

There were lights in the corridor, and they were voice-activated. When he had cut the iron door, these lights had already been turned on.

This corridor did not look dangerous, and it was not too long.

There was a door on the right side of the corridor, and there was a door at the end of the corridor.

Yu Tian walked along the corridor and soon arrived at the door on the right side of the corridor.

It was a very ordinary simple wooden door. It looked a bit like a fire door. There were two pages on the door, and it was the kind that was opened on both sides.

Yu Tian pushed the door and found that the door was not locked. He pushed it open easily.

Behind the door was a large warehouse. There were piles of wooden boxes and neat shelves.

There was a light switch at the door. Yu Tian turned on the light, and the entire warehouse suddenly lit up.

Yu Tian began to check the shelves and wooden boxes, wanting to see what good things Kronin had hidden here.

He quickly got the results.

This warehouse was full of all kinds of weapons and ammunition, including various types of guns and ammunition, as well as some heavy weapons, heavy machine guns, and rocket launchers.

There were also quite a lot of grenades and explosives. There were also some detonators, timing devices, remote control devices, and even land mines.

In addition, there were also bulletproof vests and helmets worn by genetic warriors, as well as other tactical support equipment, such as tactical vests, tactical gloves, and tactical belts.

That was not all. There were also quite a few other support equipment on the battlefield. For example, night vision goggles, various detection and detection equipment. Yu Tian could not name many of them.

Yu Tian even found small reconnaissance drones in some of the wooden boxes, as well as a set of launch equipment.

This was an arsenal, and it had all kinds of weapons and equipment.

"I'm afraid this is a very important warehouse that the Kroni Society has set up in wind country and the surrounding countries...

Brother Pig's voice rang in Yu Tian's ears again, "With so many weapons and equipment, it wouldn't be a problem to arm up to a thousand people. "

Yu Tian couldn't help but sigh, "How many armed forces have the Kronin Association set up in the wind country... and the surrounding countries in the wind country? They actually need so many weapons and equipment to support them

These weapons were not only used to arm an army of over 1,000 people, but there were also many heavy weapons among them.

For example, things like heavy machine guns and rocket launchers were used on the battlefield.

In cities, especially in countries with stable political regimes, it was very difficult for heavy weapons to be used.

Normal operational personnel would not need such a complete set of equipment. Only combat squads like genetic warriors would need such a complete set of equipment.

In other words, the clone society already had quite a number of combat teams like the genetic warriors..

Chapter 1309: Chapter 1,308, dealing with the armory

Translator: 549690339

The power of the clone society was far greater than they had imagined.

In truth, the Eastern Dragon Company had set up quite a number of operations in wind country as well. Adding the operations of the surrounding countries, there were more than 1,000 personnel in the entire region.

However, the personnel of the Eastern Dragon Company were far from being as elite as the genetic warriors. Under normal circumstances, their equipment was not as professional as the genetic warriors.

It was only recently that the Nogitsune Secret Service team had gathered their personnel and put on the official disguise. Only then could they be fully armed.

Under normal circumstances, they would have to hide their pistols, not to mention their bulletproof vests. Their rifles would have to be hidden in secret rooms.

Therefore, the East Dragon Company did not need to stock up on so many weapons, especially heavy weapons.

Yu Tian could not help but wonder what the Kronen were planning to do.

Could it be that they wanted to start a war in a certain country and overthrow a certain regime?

After leaving the weapons warehouse, Yu Tian continued to walk toward the door at the end of the corridor.

The room behind the door was smaller. It seemed to be filled with things related to biological genetic experiments. Most of them were drugs that Yu Tian could not understand.

The Kronin Society seemed to like to place some of these things on their territory, as if they were ready to carry out experiments at any time.

Yu Tian could not understand the markings on the potions, but these things could not be left to the Kronin Society. Destroying them was the best choice.

However, the weapons warehouse was a little difficult to deal with.

Destroying all these weapons and ammunition would not only be a waste, but it would also be troublesome.

The explosion of the weapons warehouse would definitely alarm half of his brother's Island.

This would be another major incident, and it wouldn't be able to hide from the official authorities of the windy nation.

At least the Military Intelligence Bureau would definitely be able to find out that this matter was related to them.

However, if they didn't destroy these weapons and ammunition, they would definitely have to move them away. It would be impossible for them to stay in the Kronin Society's stronghold and return them to the Kronin Society for free.

Donglong company could not move these things away in a short period of time. Their various departments in the wind country had already been completely destroyed. It would be a little troublesome to find a suitable ship now.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment. "Why don't we move these weapons and ammunition out first and find a place to hide them on the island?"

Brother Pig was delighted. "Hide them? Where do you plan to hide them? In the woods?"

Of course, hiding them in the forest would not work. Not to mention whether the weapons and ammunition would be affected by the moisture outside, or whether they would be damaged by the sea breeze, even if a toy drone flew over, it would be able to discover their hiding location.

It would be better not to hide them like this. At least, it would not be a waste of effort.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Then what do you think we should do?"

Brother Pig Liang said, "Try to take away some that we can use. Blow Up the rest.

Yu Tian was stunned for a moment. "Blow up all of them? Such a large armory... nothing will happen, right?"

Brother Pig Liang smiled and said, "Of course something will happen. Perhaps the entire brother's Island will shake.

"Then what you mean is...

"Isn't there a ready-made remote control and timing device in this armory? We can leave a surprise for the clone society. When all our people have left and the clone society people have returned..."

"Eh, that's not a bad idea!" Yu Tianle said, "Then quickly get someone to set it up.

There were naturally people in the Wild Fox Secret Service team who were good at blasting and playing with explosives. Setting up an explosive device was just a matter of minutes.

Piggy Liang said with a hint of regret, "It's a pity that you used a violent method to open the door. The door outside should be controlled by the power switch. The controller should be in that living room. "If you look carefully and find the switch..."

Yu Tian understood what Piggy Liang meant.

If the door hidden in the wall outside was not damaged, then the members of the clone society would think that the arsenal had not been discovered by them, and they would not have checked the arsenal carefully.

Then they would not have to be in a hurry to detonate the explosives hidden in the arsenal. They could have chosen the best time to do it.

In this situation, of course, it was not up to them to choose the time.

The moment the Kronians arrived at the village, they would find that the village had been attacked. Then, they would begin to check the dungeons, tunnels, and warehouses..

At that time, they had to detonate the explosives.

Otherwise, when the Kronians discovered that the arsenal had been opened by someone, they would definitely go in to take stock of the losses. Then, they would definitely find the explosives that had been set up.

Brother pig sighed. "Forget it. Let's just blow it up as soon as possible. Don't be too stubborn. We can blow up as many as we can... anyway, it's already quite a big loss for them to be able to destroy their stronghold."

Yu Tian grinned and did not reply.

He was no longer interested in continuing to visit the armory. He turned around and returned to the ground.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team was still busy interrogating the captives, but Piggy Liang had always felt that it was difficult to obtain any valuable information through interrogation.

That was indeed the case. The Wild Fox Secret Service team had been busy for so long, but they had yet to obtain any valuable information.

Piggy Liang gave out the task of planting explosives, and the captain of the Secret Service team immediately made the arrangements. He transferred a team of people to the tunnel.

Other than setting the explosives in the armory, they also needed to take away some useful things.

The main thing was not guns, ammunition, or bulletproof vests. The Wild Fox Secret Service team did not lack these things.

All sorts of supporting equipment were the main points. For example, the steel ball grenades that genetic warriors liked the most, as well as stun grenades and flashbangs.

There were also some night vision goggles, gas masks, frogman sets, drones, and all sorts of detectors..

All sorts of random things were packed into a large pile. It was enough for the 70 to 80 members to carry a large backpack.

Time passed quickly. Cass and the others had already been successfully sent back to the Wild Fox Secret Service base. The fishing boat that sent them back once again returned to the coast near their brother's Island. Piggy Liang decided to let the Wild Fox Secret Service team begin their evacuation.

Although it was not dangerous to continue staying in this small village, this small village was no longer of value to them.

Moreover, it was not convenient for the fishing boat to stay at the nearby coast after daytime. Their secret operation this time would be more easily exposed. Therefore, everyone immediately began to pack up their things and prepare to evacuate.

As for the captives, Piggy Liang did not hesitate to order all of them to be executed. He used a method of execution that did not waste bullets, and then threw the bodies into their own dungeons.

After that, it was time for the official retreat.

However, the Wild Fox Secret Service team did not leave completely. A small team was left alone..

Chapter 1310: Chapter 1,309, no action

Translator: 549690339

The team that stayed included a few members who were good at explosives.

Their mission was to detonate the armory.

In the end, Piggy Liang chose to detonate the armory by remote control because the timing of the detonation was not easy to choose.

When Kronin discovered that the stronghold had gone missing, he would definitely realize that the stronghold had been attacked and would immediately send a combat team to check the situation.

The number of this combat team would not be too small, because if they were too small, they might be ambushed.

If they could not rescue them, they would lose their men for nothing.

Therefore, the team that returned to the base to scout and rescue should have at least 100 people, with a certain size.

In order to ensure that as many as possible could kill the enemy, the timing of the explosion of the armory was very important.

They had to blow up the village just right after the enemy entered the village, before they found and destroyed the detonator.

The remaining team was responsible for choosing the timing of the explosion.

They all changed into the civilian clothes found in the village, and brought the necessary equipment, as well as enough food and water, and hid in the mountains around the village.

They would monitor the village at any time, including the forest and the beach around the village, also under their surveillance.

The specific timing of the detonation was up to them, as long as they killed as many enemies as possible.

After completing the task, they would leave on their own, and come back from their brother's Island by ship.

With the identity of the police as cover, they did not need to worry about the safety of their journey.

Of course, they also maintained contact with the headquarters 'command center at all times. If there were any problems, they could also get support from the headquarters.

The donglong company's operational personnel were now under the direct management of the headquarters, including their combat operations. They also began to receive direct command from the headquarters.

The headquarters was currently trying to establish a Combat Command Center. This operation of the Wild Fox Secret Service team could be considered the first time this half-established command center had been put into practice.

This included all of Yu Tian's operations, the technical team that supported him behind the scenes, and the Operation Planning Team. They were all part of this Combat Command Center.

Yu Tian had already experienced the benefits of this kind of behind-the-scenes support. The operational personnel did not need to use their brains at all. They only needed to execute the orders as quickly as possible.

After Brother Pig was done, he planned to streamline the combat team and improve the quality of the members. This included the equipment of the members.

Every member of the combat team would be equipped with a single combat system. There was no need for the equipment to be luxurious. It was enough to ensure that they could connect to satellite communications and transmit video and image information steadily.

With the current communication technology of the eastern country, the speed of this video transmission could definitely be synchronized in real time.

In addition to the manufacturing capabilities of the eastern country, the price of this single combat system would also be very low. It was even cheaper than a mobile phone.

It was nothing more than voice and video functions. This was a problem that could be solved with a camera and a set of headsets. Together with a chip with a special system installed, a simple single combat system would be completed.

After significant technological progress, the single combat system that was once considered high-tech was now just an ordinary toy in this era.

The only troublesome thing was the command center.

The command center had to have the ability and efficiency to deal with various battlefield issues, and it also needed the assistance of various intelligent analysis software.

The system that Piggy Liang was currently getting was a product of the eastern country's military.

However, this product was not complete. Many of the things that involved the eastern country's military secrets had been deleted.

Therefore, the command system of the DONGLONG company was still under construction. No. 76 was responsible for recruiting talents and further developing the castrated version of the command system.

Now that the headquarters of the DONGLONG company had moved back to China, it was very beneficial to their work.

Not only could they work in an open office, but it was also much more convenient to recruit talents.

If one could not find any talents from the east abroad, one could easily find a large number of them in the east.

Technical talents were readily available, and relevant military talents could also be recruited from the military. All kinds of talents could even be openly recruited.

Talent was an organization's greatest asset. Zhu Gelang said that the development speed of the DONGLONG company would increase by leaps and bounds.

Yu Tian was looking forward to it.

At dawn, Yu Tian and the Wild Fox Secret Service team finally returned to their base.

Strangely, there were no traces of battle at the base.

The Kronin Society had already deployed those genetic warriors near the mini bull market, and they were not too far away from the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base.

Zhu Gelang had originally thought that they might launch a sneak attack on the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base. He had even specially arranged the base and prepared anti-material weapons for the members of the team.

Out of the 300 anti-material micro-charges that he had bought from General Hugo, 200 of them had been sent back to the eastern country and given to the eastern country's military.

As for the remaining 100, half of them had been brought to his brother's Island by the team that had followed Yu Tian. The other half had been left at the base to deal with the sneak attacks of the genetic warriors.

With these weapons, the secret service would not be at a disadvantage when fighting against the genetic warriors. There was no situation where an iron turtle like the genetic warriors could not do anything about it.

To be on the safe side, brother pig even contacted the Military Intelligence Bureau's troops. They were prepared to reinforce the wild fox secret service team's base at any time.

These arrangements were basically a trap specifically targeted at genetic warriors.

However, strangely, the genetic warriors near the mini bull market did not move at all. They did not move for a whole night.

"Perhaps, they are not too interested in the Wild Fox Secret Service Team..."

Brother Pig Thought for a moment, then he said, "Actually, the location of the Wild Fox Special Forces has long been exposed to them. When our people rushed to the mini bull market under the name of the Twilight City police force, it was equivalent to publicly exposing ourselves to the Kronin Society..." Yu Tian nodded and said, "That's right. The Twilight City is equivalent to labeling us. The Kronin society will be able to associate the true identity of the Wild Fox Special Forces.

Brother pig said, "If they wanted to attack the Wild Fox Secret Service team, they should have done so a long time ago. There's no need for them to drag things out until now..."

"Then why did they transfer their genetic warriors to the Mini Bull Market?"

"I feel that their target should still be you."

"They still want to ambush me? They still haven't given up?" Yu Tian smiled. "I can't wait for them to come find me. I will definitely accompany them in a good fight. It will definitely be a head-on fight."

Brother pig said, "Then there's no need. You're a big shot after all. There's no need to be angry with these small fries.... could it be that you want the Wild Fox Secret Service team to become the Wild Fox Logistics team?"

I Have 108 Older Sisters #Chapter 1311 - 1,310, internal energy therapy - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1311 - 1,310, internal energy therapy

Chapter 1311: Chapter 1,310, internal energy therapy

Translator: 549690339

This question of Brother Pig's made Yu Tian not know whether to laugh or cry. The sneak attack on his brother's Island had almost become a one-man battle for Yu Tian. The Wild Fox Secret Service team had indeed become a logistics team. They were only responsible for cleaning up the battlefield for Yu Tian.

This was no different from those policemen who appeared last in the movie.

Brother Pig Liang said, "I feel that unless it's absolutely necessary, you shouldn't fight genetic warriors.

Yu Tian was puzzled. "Why? With my current set of equipment, I no longer need to worry about them relying on their numbers to win. Their weapons are no longer of any use to me. If they encounter me, they can only wait to be massacred... "

Piggy Liang said, "I'm not worried that you'll be in danger, but I'm worried about exposing your current combat strength. "If the clone discovers that the genetic warriors don't have the chance to kill you, they might really launch missiles at you next time...

Yu Tian was instantly stunned. This possibility was not impossible.

If he were to turn into an iron tortoise and the genetic warriors were able to gnaw on him completely with their conventional weapons, then they would really be able to do something extremely extreme.

Not to mention using nuclear weapons, even if he were to create a huge explosion or really use a missile, Yu Tian would still be in deep trouble.

Furthermore, it might implicate others, causing the east dragon company to suffer huge losses.

Brother pig sighed. "I prepared this new set of equipment for you. It is for your own safety, not for you to take the initiative to fight with the enemy. Yu Tian was speechless. After all, you were the leader of the company. Don't keep thinking about charging at the front line and fighting head-on with the enemy..

Yu Tian rolled his eyes helplessly. He did not argue.

Piggy Liang was right. No leader of any organization would always lead the charge.

Piggy Liang continued, "You also have to give your subordinates some opportunities to fight. Only then will they be able to receive more actual combat training. Only then will they be able to improve and grow. "Leave these genetic warriors to the Wild Fox Secret Service team to handle. Otherwise, when they truly become the wild fox logistics team, I'm afraid they will become useless in the future..."

Yu Tian sighed. The Eastern Dragon Company was not his company alone, and it was also impossible for them to rely on him alone to support them.

If the combat department wanted to become stronger, they had to constantly participate in actual combat and face stronger opponents.

Currently, the Wild Fox Secret Service team was already equipped with 100 anti-equipment micro-charge units. Against genetic warriors, they had the power to deal lethal damage. These genetic warriors were also the best training opportunities for them.

After this battle, they would at least understand the coordination of small-scale battles better. They would also be able to eliminate those members whose military qualities were truly too poor.

The team members who were eliminated in actual combat would definitely be more convinced than those who were eliminated on the training ground.

Fighting was not a joke. Whether they could fight or not, whether they had the ability or not, it would be clear as soon as they entered the battlefield.

They could still be unconvinced on the training ground, but if they did not have the ability on the battlefield, they would die.

Anyone who was unconvinced after being eliminated should enter this kind of high-intensity battle to make a trip and let them know that they were facing professional combat units, not those gangsters.., if they were not those police units with mediocre combat strength, the battles would not be so easy anymore.

Perhaps after a fight with genetic warriors, many members with weaker mental fortitude would take the initiative to request to be eliminated.

Such a situation was not impossible. Fighting on the battlefield and fighting on the streets were still very different in intensity, and many people's mental fortitude could not bear it.

In short, true gold still needed to be tempered by fire.

Genetic warriors were the best sharpening stones. If Ge Liang Pig wanted to create an elite combat unit, he had to let the Wild Fox Secret Service team fight against the genetic warriors.

Ge Liang Pig decided to take the initiative to attack.

If the enemy did not come looking for us, we could still take the initiative to look for the enemy.

After all, through satellite reconnaissance, they were also clear about the location where the genetic warriors were hiding, and they were even clearer about the terrain there.

After ambushing the Clone Society's base on Brother's Island, they would continue ambushing the location where the genetic warriors were hiding, so that the clone would have a good taste of the Eastern Dragon Company's fist.

Piggy Liang did not object to Yu Tian participating in this operation. However, this time, Yu Tian could only act as a reserve member. Unless the Wild Fox Secret Service team was defeated, he would not be allowed to participate in the battle.

The operation was still arranged at night. During the day, the Wild Fox Secret Service team was all resting, leaving only the necessary sentries and guards on duty.

Yu Tian was not in a hurry to rest because the rest time he needed was very short. Even if he did not sleep for a few days, it would not be a big deal.

He needed to give the mouse team and the other captured members of the operation final treatment.

The focus was on the big guy. He had to solve the problem of the big guy being unconscious and his body continuing to weaken.

According to his observation, although the big guy was not dead yet, if he continued to sleep like this, all the organs in his body would definitely completely collapse until he died.

This kind of weakening speed was useless even if he was injected with sugar, water, salt, and all kinds of life-sustaining nutrition drugs.

His body was not weakened because he was unconscious and unable to eat, but because something was corroding and destroying his body.

Yu Tian felt that this should be some kind of experiment that Kronin had done on the big guy and injected some genetic drugs.

He did not plan to do a blood test on the big guy. The things that Kronin would do would definitely not be found by normal medical institutions.

Yu Tian now had sufficient internal force. He could use it to investigate the situation in the Big Guy's body.

Oriental medical technology did not delve into the cause of the disease. The treatment plan was decided based on the symptoms of the human body.

In other words, if a patient coughed, oriental medical technology would not study what bacteria or viruses caused the patient to cough. Instead, they would study what changes had happened to the patient's body to produce the symptoms of a cough.

After correcting the abnormal state of the human body, the disease would naturally be cured. There was no need to target a particular bacteria or virus.

Therefore, the big guy's current situation was Yang Qi exhaustion. Moreover, the Yang Qi in each of his internal organs was extremely weak.

In front of an ordinary doctor, this was basically a state of dying.

However, it was not difficult to solve it in front of Yu Tian, the godly doctor.

First, he used acupuncture to stimulate the big guy's body skills, allowing his body to enter a state of active recovery.

Then, Yu Tian began to use his internal energy to support the big guy. The method was simple, but the treatment process still took Yu Tian more than an hour.

It was also the first time for Yu Tian to use his internal energy to treat someone else's illness.

But he found that internal force was more effective in treating the disease..

Chapter 1312: Chapter 1,311, genetic medicine

Translator: 549690339

Perhaps it was because the nameless internal force had the attribute of healing, or perhaps internal force was a type of biological energy that was suitable for the human body.

After Yu Tian poured a large amount of internal force into the big guy's body, his organs finally became active.

At a speed visible to the naked eye, the Big Guy's heartbeat began to become more powerful.

Internal force was like the most needed nutrients in the human body, providing great power to the big guy's organs.

After more than an hour, the big guy finally opened his eyes.

"Cough, cough, boss..."

("How do you feel? Are you better?")

Yu Tian finally breathed a sigh of relief. To be able to recover from the coma meant that the big guy had indeed begun to recover.

At this moment, the big guy was lying on the bed, feeling a little soft.

He tried to sit up slowly and said, "I'm alright. Pm just a little hungry. It seems like I haven't eaten for a long time... how long have I slept?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "Not too long, about three days." The big guy said, "Three days... no wonder Pm so thin from hunger." "Have you lost weight?" Yu Tian could not tell.

The big guy nodded and said, "Definitely. I want to eat a cow now.

Yu Tian smiled and said, "You mean, you're so hungry that you can eat a cow? But according to my treatment rules, you can only eat porridge when you've just recovered from a serious illness. You Can't drink too much. You have to let your stomach recover and get used to it..."

The Big Guy blinked his eyes and suddenly said, "They injected me with a new type of gene strengthening agent.

Yu Tian was slightly startled. "You mean... the agent that Kroni will inject you with? Gene strengthening agent?"

The big guy said, "Yes, the person who injected me said that if I could survive, they might spare my life... and then let me continue to do research for them. "

"I asked them what they injected me with. They said it was a good thing that could make me stronger. Of course, it could also make me die.

"Oh? Then are you stronger now?"

"I don't know. Right now I'm so hungry that I can't feel it." The Big Guy licked his lips and said, "They have been researching gene enhancers for a long time, but they didn't succeed. They even caused the death of many experimental subjects..."

"What's the difference between this gene enhancer and other gene enhancers? For example, your second and third generation..."

"The difference is huge. These are two completely different directions," the big guy said. "Each generation of gene enhancers is equivalent to a new product. The gene warriors produced are also different, and their abilities are also different. "As for the gene enhancers, they strengthen the abilities of the genetic warriors on the basis of the original gene reagents..."

"Oh..."

Yu Tian roughly understood what the big guy meant.

Based on the information they had gathered, the clone society had already entered the research of the fourth generation of gene reagents. It was even possible that they had successfully developed the fourth generation of gene reagents and put them into use.

However, this did not mean that the fourth-generation gene reagent was stronger than the previous three generations.

In other words, the fourth-generation gene reagent might have more advantages than the previous generations. However, the gene warriors that were produced might not be stronger than the previous generations.

This was the conclusion of some biological experts from the eastern countries.

They were referring to the hard drives that Yu Tian had brought back from Demon Island, the USB flash drives that he had obtained from hell, and the data obtained through various channels.

They had a rough understanding of the genetic research of the clone society, and they also had a certain level of understanding of genetic warriors.

However, they did not share the detailed research data with other countries.

Based on the data, the first generation of genetic warriors were generally considered failures.

They were improving the genes of the human body in an attempt to make genetic warriors stronger than ordinary people.

For example, they were not afraid of pain. The wound muscles could contract automatically and heal quickly.

These were the basic abilities of some genetic warriors. They were not particularly powerful or ridiculous, but they were also unusually difficult to improve.

However, the effects of this improvement were not obvious in other aspects. They were not able to make genetic warriors become superpowers that far surpassed ordinary humans.

They were not afraid of pain or blood, so they did not have much of an advantage in actual combat.

In addition, the failure rate and death rate of the first generation of gene experiments were very high. Kronin would soon give up on further research on this path.

The second generation of gene reagents had added animal gene fragments and modified humans, creating a large number of monsters.

Big Guy belonged to this category. It was said that he had the genes of rhinoceroses.

Of course, there were many animal genes that could be used, such as ants and fleas.

These small creatures looked unremarkable, but some of their genes were ridiculously powerful.

They were weak because their bodies were too small.

If they were magnified a thousand times or ten thousand times, making them the size of a human, they would probably be able to rule the animal world.

The genetic warriors created by this gene reagent were very powerful, but there was still a problem that could not be solved. The mortality rate was even higher.

Transferring animal genes into the human body was already a super difficult problem that broke the boundaries of the species.

While the second generation of the gene reagent did not have any breakthroughs, the third generation of the gene reagent was also in the development stage.

The third generation of gene reagents came from successful test subjects. The researchers extracted the gene fragments from the surviving second generation of genetic warriors and conducted the third generation of research again.

There were many types of these gene fragments, and the genes in each genetic warrior were different.

Some were extremely powerful, some were extremely fast, some had hand mutations, and some had foot mutations.

After researching and organizing, the third generation of genetic warriors had also developed various types of genetic warriors.

For example, agility type, strength type, endurance type, and defense type..

These genetic warriors had the embryonic form of a superman. Together with the research results of the first generation of gene reagents, a genetic warrior type that was more valuable in actual combat had appeared.

The third generation of gene reagents was basically a successful product. Moreover, the death rate was greatly reduced, and the genetic warriors were finally mass-produced.

However, the third generation of gene reagents also had a drawback, which was that the individual differences were quite large.

Just like the genetic warriors that Yu Tian had encountered, some of them had quick reactions and were agile, while others were difficult to kill with bulletproof vests.

Of course, there were also some who were very strong, but Yu Tian had yet to feel them clearly.

However, Yu Tian had met some who were very strong in combat.

These could be considered comprehensive. Their strength, speed, and physical abilities should be quite good. Furthermore, they could also receive combat training and quickly grasp combat abilities.

The 3rd generation genetic warriors were currently the main fighting force of the clone society..

Chapter 1313: Chapter 1,312: How Long Can One Live

Translator: 549690339

The Clone Society had already started the research on the fourth generation of genetic warriors, but Donglong company hadn't obtained any specific information on this.

This should be the start of their research, so there hadn't been any related reports. The basic level of the organization also didn't know much about the situation and characteristics of the fourth generation of genetic warriors.

However, Donglong company had still obtained relevant information regarding genetic enhancers, and there were even some experimental data.

Yu Tian did not pay much attention to things like genetic warriors that were anti-human, so he did not know much about the specific experimental situation.

As for GE Liang Pig, he was much clearer than him.

Genetic enhancers, or enhancers, were things that the clone society had started researching before they gave up on the first generation of genetic enhancers. Originally, they had wanted to use them on the first generation of genetic warriors to strengthen their abilities.

However, the death rate of the first generation of genetic warriors was too high, and the entire plan had been abandoned. Hence, the gene enhancers continued to be improved, preparing to be used on the second generation of genetic warriors.

However, it was clear that the death rate of the second generation of genetic warriors was similarly high. The genetic warriors that managed to survive were too different, and they were unable to be mass-produced.

The gene enhancers could not be tested on the second generation of genetic warriors, and could only be used on the third generation of genetic warriors.

After the first experiment, all the test subjects died. The survival rate was zero.

After the second experiment, one out of ten test subjects finally survived.

The surviving genetic warrior was a strength-type warrior. Furthermore, his individual combat strength was extremely strong.

Under the circumstances where he was already extremely strong, this genetic warrior was strengthened once again. His strength had finally surpassed the limits of humans.

If someone else was driving a Ferrari with one hand, he would be able to flip the Ferrari with one hand. It would be as easy as a crow flipping a table.

This meant that the utility of the gene enhancer was extremely strong. Its effects were extremely strong, and its value was extremely high..

However, that person who flipped the table... No, it was that strength-type genetic warrior who had only lived for half a month before dying again.

In short, the gene enhancer had indeed succeeded. However, it was still unable to control the death rate.

The Clone Society continued to improve and experiment on the gene enhancer, and they recruited the most powerful genetic warriors from various branches around the world to participate in the experiment.

In the end, they came to a conclusion. The stronger the individual, the greater the chance of survival, and the longer they lived.

However, this conclusion still didn't seem to make much sense, because the experimental subjects eventually died one by one, and the longest lived was less than two months.

The researchers believed that there must be some kind of flaw in the gene enhancer, which led to this inevitable side effect.

As for the powerful individual genetic warriors, there should be some special genetic components in their bodies that could allow them to resist the side effects of the gene enhancer.

Therefore, the research continued, the improvement continued, and the experiment continued.

They needed a successful individual to study the flaws in the gene enhancer.

When the Big Guy was caught by them at his brother's stronghold on the island, the management of the stronghold gave the big guy a shot.

If the Big Guy was lucky enough to survive, he would be their best research specimen.

Brother Pig explained the situation to Yu Tian in detail, and Yu Tian immediately became nervous again.

Could it be that the big guy would not live for more than a month or two? Was the current recovery just an illusion?

He carefully checked the big guy's body. His condition seemed to be normal, except for a little weakness.

Yu Tian was still a little worried. He decided to try his best to keep the big guy by his side for the next two months.

As for Cass and the mouse squad, as well as the other operational personnel, they still needed to continue to evacuate.

Staying in the mini bull market would face battles at any time, and the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base was not an absolutely safe place.

In order to ensure the safety of Cass and the others, and to let them completely recover, Piggy Liang decided to first arrange a vacation for them, and let them rest for at least one or two weeks before making other arrangements. The best place to take a vacation was the eastern country.

That was the safest place in the world. They never had to worry about the enemy's sneak attack.

The Eastern Dragon Company had booked a plane for them early in the morning. Moreover, it was a charter flight. They would fly directly to the southern island of the eastern country and head to the headquarters of the Eastern Dragon Company.

It was a vacation as well as a vacation.

At noon, the airport bus arrived at the base of the Wild Fox Secret Service team and picked up more than 30 people from Cass's group to the airport.

In addition, Donglong company also contacted the calf city police and arranged for the police team to escort the bus.

Under the circumstances of the police escort, the possibility of the bus being attacked was not high.

After Cass and the others left, Yu Tian became idle.

The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team were all resting. Yu Tian also began to rest, while lying on the bed to continue practicing his nameless internal strength.

He felt that the total amount of his internal energy was still a little too little. It was not enough to support an intense battle. If the battle lasted a little longer, his internal energy would not be able to supply it.

A man without foresight would have immediate worries. He felt that it was very necessary for him to improve his combat strength to deal with more complicated and difficult battles.

After resting for an hour or two, Yu Tian felt that he was almost fully recovered. He got up again and began to practice the gentle wave steps. At the same time, he asked about the situation at his brother's Home Island.

Piggy Liang was not online at this time. The person in charge of maintaining communication with Yu Tian was the "President's assistant team" that the headquarters had specially arranged for him.

The situation at his brother's home island had slightly surprised him, but it seemed to be within reason.

As expected, the Kronin society quickly discovered that something had happened at his brother's Home Island's stronghold. They immediately arranged for a combat team to return to the island to rescue him.

However, the team they arranged was the genetic warrior unit hidden in the mini bull market.

This might be because the genetic warrior unit in the mini bull market was the closest to his brother's Island, but it was also possible that the Clone Society felt that the hiding place of this genetic warrior unit had been exposed.

Since the base on his brother's Island had been exposed, this proved that the actions of this genetic warrior unit yesterday might have been followed, naturally, the Kroni society would not allow this genetic warrior unit to remain at their original hiding place.

This genetic warrior unit rushed to his brother's Island and suffered from the explosion.

Donglong company still deployed a satellite to monitor this genetic warrior unit.

According to the images captured by the satellite and the statistics of the Nogitsune Secret Service members responsible for detonating the explosives, the damage caused by this explosion was not particularly serious.

There were around 20 genetic warriors that had entered the tunnel. This portion of them should have died in the explosion.

Or perhaps they hadn't been killed on the spot and had been buried alive. However, the rest of the genetic warriors were basically uninjured..

Chapter 1314: Chapter 1,313: Lost

Translator: 549690339

The killing effect of a normal explosion was much lower than Yu Tian had expected.

The main reason was that the armory was hidden deep underground, and it was not directly below the village. As such, it could not cause the most damage to the village.

As for the genetic warriors, they had thick skin, and the shockwaves from some of the explosions were not enough to kill them on the spot.

Although this huge explosion had left them in a sorry state, the actual casualties they had suffered were not much.

According to Brother Pig, it would be considered pretty good if they were able to blow up an arsenal and a stronghold.

As for the casualties, they could only kill as many as they could.

However, the satellite reconnaissance this time had discovered a new piece of information. The number of members of this genetic warrior unit was slightly more than what they had previously estimated.

This genetic warrior unit already had close to 300 members, double the number of teams that had participated in the sneak attack on Yu Tian previously.

According to the intelligence personnel of the headquarters, these genetic warriors that had come from many places should be the teams that had been waiting for orders at that hiding spot.

Yu Tian recalled for a moment and also noticed that the genetic warrior teams that had launched two sneak attacks on him did not seem to be the same team.

This proved that the Combat Power that the clone society could mobilize was extremely sufficient.

From this situation, the military power that the clone society had hidden in wind country was truly quite large.

The genetic warriors that they had seen were merely the tip of the iceberg.

Wind country, as well as the regions around wind country, the clone society might have hidden even more genetic warriors.

This conclusion could also be confirmed from the amount of weapons stored in the armory.

The only thing that could not be confirmed was how many genetic warriors there were in the military forces of the Clone Society, and how many ordinary personnel there were.

If they turned all the personnel into genetic warriors, then this power would be a little terrifying.

Now, the third generation genetic technology of the clone society had matured. Since 300 genetic warriors could be gathered on the elder brother's Island, this proved that the clone society had started mass-producing gene reagents and was using them in large quantities.

Yu Tian had a headache. If the clone society was given more time to develop, they would definitely be able to quickly produce tens of thousands of genetic warriors, spreading to every corner of the world.

Yu Tian himself wasn't afraid of any genetic warriors. However, it would be very difficult for the operations personnel of the East Dragon Company to fight against genetic warriors.

If the Combat Power of the clone society was strong to a certain extent, they might even directly attack the legitimate industries of the East Dragon Company. As such, they might as well become terrorists.

He felt that the East Dragon Company should hurry up and take measures against the clone society as soon as possible. They could not let the clone society continue to develop smoothly.

Thinking of this, Yu Tian could not stay idle.

"Oh right, isn't there a spy of the clone society inside the Red Dragonfly? Have they been found?"

The assistant replied, "Yes, we have. We have already started to screen the leaders of the red dragonfly yesterday, but before we found the results, this spy was exposed. "

“Oh? How was he exposed?”

“After the technical personnel of the Clone Society committed suicide yesterday, the spy of the red dragonfly suddenly went missing. “We’re using technical means to track down his whereabouts, and we’ve requested the assistance of the Military Intelligence Bureau...”

Donglong company’s current strength in wind country was still too weak. Other than the operational personnel of the Wild Fox Secret Service Team, Blue Underpants, and the red dragonfly, they did not have any other strength, especially the lack of intelligence capabilities.

Naturally, Yu Tian did not need to pay attention to the matter of investigating the spies. He did not even need to do the job of hunting down the spies.

This was just a small matter. It was insignificant.

What he should pay attention to was those genetic warriors.

After pondering for a moment, Yu Tian asked again, “What about the brother’s Island? Where Are They Now?”

“After the explosion on brother’s Island, all the genetic warriors have already evacuated. Their current location is in the open sea. Our satellites are still tracking them. We don’t know their destination yet.”

As long as the satellites could continue tracking them, there was no need to fear that they would not be able to find the whereabouts of these genetic warriors.

When these genetic warriors stopped to rest, it would be time for the Wild Fox Secret Service team to launch an attack on them.

Yu Tian could only wait.

He continued to practice in his room. Fortunately, he did not need too much space to practice the gentle steps. There was enough space in his bedroom for him to do whatever he wanted.

At night, after Yu Tian had a midnight snack, the assistant team finally sent news that the genetic warriors had been lost.

Yu Tian was somewhat surprised. “They can lose track of them with satellite tracking?”

The assistant replied, “Their ship entered the storm zone, and the satellite’s observation was affected. After the storm passes, it will be very difficult to find their tracks in the surrounding waters...”

The sea was incomparably vast, and it extended in all directions. There was no fixed route.

If the ship left the normal route and ran to a random corner, the satellite would not know which direction to continue tracking.

If they deliberately turned off all the lights, it would be even more difficult to find their position on the surface of the sea.

Yu Tian was helpless. "So we have to cancel tonight's operation?"

"Yes, but we have already tracked the location of the Red Dragonfly spy..."

"Send it to me, I'll catch the spy... uh, catch the spy!"

Yu Tian couldn't stay idle any longer. He immediately began to pack up his things, including his big club and bulletproof helmet.

The assistant replied, Please Wait a moment..."

Soon, his phone and bulletproof helmet received a map location simultaneously.

At the same time, there was an additional app on his phone.

It was called the Donglong network, and the pattern was a golden dragon APP.

Yu Tian asked curiously, "What's This?"

The assistant explained, "This is Donglong's own network communication system, a special software for internal communication. "This software has been installed in your helmet. You can operate it directly through the helmet.

"Oh, a special internal communication software..." Yu Tian said in realization, "I should have created this long ago... is it different from other social software?"

"Yes, after opening this software, the operator's network connection will enter the dark net, and the user's IP address can be hidden..."

"This thing is not bad!"

Yu Tian was happy. With this special network communication software, not only could it make communication between members more convenient, but it could also protect the location information of members and make members more secure.

In the future, even if there were spies in the company, it would be very difficult to cause great losses to Donglong Company..

Chapter 1315: Chapter 1,314, internal communication system

Translator: 549690339

The reason Donglong Company suffered such a huge loss was that the traitor's higher-ups had too much information about their members.

Not only did they have information about the members of the regions and groups they managed, but they also had information about the members who were not under their responsibility.

This led to one person defecting, and many other departments' information was leaked. A group of people mutiny, the various departments of the company have suffered varying degrees of damage.

The key is that this kind of information is difficult to avoid exposure.

Donglong company can not be a one-way contact in all departments, the various regional teams will always work together.

This can not avoid everyone to leave their contact information, communication on the work side of the situation.

Over time, many members were able to get hold of some information about other colleagues. Once a traitor was found, it could implicate a large group of people.

Now that there was a dedicated internal communication system, and the information of each member was hidden to the maximum extent, even if there was a traitor, it would be difficult to trace the information or location of other members through this communication system.

This thing was much safer than using a cell phone to communicate directly.

Of course, the confidentiality of the software could only play a supporting role. The company members must have their own sense of confidentiality, except for the special communication system, they did not use any other means to communicate with colleagues from other departments, only in this way could they ensure their own safety to the maximum extent.

As for the communication method of making a phone call, it would only be used in the same department or Group in the future, and then gradually be phased out.

In the current network environment, it was very convenient to directly use the network software for voice and video, and there was no difference from calling.

Yu Tian entered the Donglong network APP and saw the detailed groups inside.

These groups basically represented the future organizational structure of the DONGLONG company, including the headquarters of each department, as well as the detailed groups of each regional branch.

Of course, many of the group menus were empty at the moment, and not all the members of the company had been recorded into the system.

It would take a certain amount of time to sort out the list of all the members, rearrange their posts, and group them into communication groups.

Yu Tian could only see the entire structure of the company now. On the first-level menu, there was the group headquarters and the five divisions that had been reclassified from the original eight regions.

Opening the headquarters menu, the second-level menu was the Commerce Department, Operations Department, Intelligence Department, Business Department... and the headquarters.

The structure of the headquarters itself was similar to that of a normal company. It was also divided into administration, personnel, finance, technology, and command center..

These divisions were already very detailed, but not all of the personnel were in place. Many of the departments' lists were empty.

Yu Tian looked at the menus at all levels and said, "Isn't the company's Combat Command Center on this list?"

The assistant replied, "The Combat Command system is a separate system, but the staff of the command center is still on this software's contact list. You can click on them to make a private call..."

"Oh..."

Yu Tian did not know the names of those staff members. The list in the command center was unfamiliar to him, so there was naturally no need for him to talk to anyone alone.

He quickly found Mina's name in the business department. It seemed that Mina had officially accepted a new job and joined the DONGLONG company.

Mina's name could be found in the menu of the business department. He could also find Mina's name from the menu of the five branches to the lower level menu.

This structure showed that the business department was under the jurisdiction of both the branch and the headquarters.

Under normal circumstances, the branch was mainly responsible for the management of the business department in its own jurisdiction.

However, when the headquarters intervened, all orders were based on the headquarters.

This was another way of centralizing the power of the headquarters.

After Yu Tian understood this structure, he asked curiously, "This contact list is so detailed. Can everyone in the company contact each other?"

"No, only your contact list is so detailed. The other members of the company, including most of the members of the headquarters, only have a contact list of colleagues who are related to their work..."

The assistant explained, "For example, members of the operations department can only contact members of their own team, as well as their immediate managers and upper managers. They don't have the contact information of their colleagues from other departments. "Only when they enter the mission state will the headquarters give them access to the relevant permissions. Only then will the list of people related to the work appear in their contact list..." "

"I understand. It's a very thoughtful design.

Yu Tian sighed and then closed the contact list.

The permissions were too high, and the contact list was too detailed. There was also a drawback, which was that it was easy for him to see wrongly.

There were tens of thousands of Donglong company members. If all of them were added to this contact list in the future, it would be much more difficult for him to find a particular member.

Putting away his phone, Yu Tian put on his bulletproof helmet and left the bedroom.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team had already bought Yu Tian a motorcycle and a very ordinary motorcycle rider jacket.

According to Yu Tian's request, these things had to be kept low-key. They could not attract the attention of the people on the street as soon as they stepped onto the street.

Especially the motorcycle. It absolutely could not make that kind of engine noise.

Therefore, his motorcycle was a very ordinary motorcycle. Other than its excellent off-road performance, it did not have a flashy appearance and the support of an expensive brand. The price was also relatively cheap.

After getting on the motorcycle, Yu Tian began to set off towards the location marked on the map.

The helmet had already imported the target's location and provided Yu Tian with navigation.

The command center had also been connected, and the staff of the intelligence and technical teams had also joined their voice communication.

"Hello, number one, I am your operation assistant this time."

A staff member reminded Yu Tian, "You're still two hours away from the target location, but there's no need to be too anxious. Our operation personnel have already rushed to the target's address, we won't let the target escape... "Are some of our people already here? Which Department are they from?"

"They're blue underpants and Red Dragonfly's people. The Operation Department and the command center think... their strength is enough to complete this mission.

Catching a spy who was hiding did not require too much strength.

However, Yu Tian could not stay idle. He did not want others to snatch this opportunity for him to make a move.

Thus, he instructed, "Don't be anxious. Tell them to wait. Wait for me to arrive before making a move. "

As he said this, he forcefully twisted the accelerator of his two motorcycles, causing his speed to increase a little..

Chapter 1316: Chapter 1315, Strange Safe House

Translator: 549690339

Two hours later, Yu Tian finally arrived at his destination.

This place was already at the edge of the mini-bull market, and the streets were very quiet.

Of course, this could also be because it was already night time.

The target address was a single two-story house. It looked a little old, and the area was not very large.

However, there was still a small lawn in front of the house, which could be considered a courtyard.

There was also a garage on the first floor with a rolled-up gate.

As a residence, this place was already more comfortable than most of the residences in the eastern country. It was not too much to call it a mansion.

However, in the mini-bull market, this was just an ordinary person's house. It was only slightly better than those poor people who rented apartments.

Yu Tian parked his motorcycle by the side of the road. Then, he saw two figures walking out from the back of a house next to him.

The streetlights here were dim, so it was difficult to find these two people hiding in the shadows of the house.

Yu Tian could roughly see the faces of these two people through the night vision lens. One of them looked a little familiar.

He thought carefully and remembered that this was one of Mina's bodyguards. The two men walked to Yu Tian's side and asked hesitantly, "Number One?" During the operation, Yu Tian was still given the code name number one.

Although many people in the East Dragon Company knew that number one was the boss, the gang members in blue underpants and red dragonfly could only be considered peripheral members. They did not know the internal situation of the East Dragon Company.

Although Mina's bodyguards had seen Yu Tian before, they did not know Yu Tian's specific identity. In addition, Yu Tian was still wearing a helmet, so he was even more confused about who this mysterious number one was.

In addition, these gang members were not connected to the combat system of the command center because they were not equipped with corresponding battlefield communication equipment.

This was mainly because the Donglong Company's Combat Command Center had just been established, and they had not yet produced a dedicated individual battlefield system.

Yu Tian's bulletproof helmet had comprehensive functions and superior performance, which was why it could perfectly connect to the DONGLONG company's command system and receive all kinds of support from the command center.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team could not enjoy such treatment. They were now using the eastern country's military reduced edition product.

It was the glasses-type communication system that the mouse team had used in their previous missions. There were dozens of them in total.

These glasses-type communication systems could only be used to communicate with the command center for the time being. If they wanted to use more functions, they would need Donglong company to make some improvements to the glasses.

For example, they would add cameras, detectors, and the ability to project screens on the lenses.

It would take a certain amount of time to produce a new soldier system. Even in a country with a strong manufacturing industry like the eastern country, the production speed was not a problem. It would also require time to modify the design and practical tests.

This kind of soldier system was basically impossible to be used on gang members because there was no need for it.

At the moment, because of the shortage of manpower in the mini-bull market, the situation was special. That was why gang members were allowed to participate in combat operations to help.

In the future, the combat operations would be completed by professional combat teams, and there was no need for the gang members to participate.

In addition, the gang members were not suitable to accept this kind of combat command. They could not even understand some basic tactical instructions.

Therefore, the gang members' operations could only be indirectly commanded by the headquarters.

The headquarters only gave them a mission target, and the specific completion was up to them to decide.

These gang members had received orders from the gang leader to come here to monitor the traitor's movements.

In addition, they had to wait for the arrival of No. 1. The next concrete actions would be arranged by No. 1.

Yu Tian did not stand on ceremony with them. He asked directly, "Is the target still in the house?"

The two gang members did not suspect Yu Tian's identity. The higher-ups had already told them about the appearance of No. 1, the model of No. 1's car, and the estimated time of arrival.

Therefore, the two of them quickly replied, "We don't know if the target is in the house, but since we rushed here, no one has come out of this house. "

Yu Tian nodded. "How many people have come?"

"More than a dozen people. Surround this house and keep a close watch on it. There will definitely be no omissions..."

"Very good. You guys just wait outside. I'll go in and capture them."

Yu Tian had no intention of letting these gang members participate in the operation. Although the target was only one of the red dragonfly's leaders and looked like an ordinary person.

But if he were to put up a stubborn resistance, it would also cause injuries to the members.

With Yu Tian present, there was no need for these members to be injured. He could settle these matters alone.

Leaving the two gang members behind, Yu Tian walked straight towards the target's house.

He did not conceal his whereabouts, and he also felt that there was no need to conceal his whereabouts.

Even if the target discovered that he was approaching his house and intended to rush into his house, there was no way to stop him.

Yu Tian was attacking by force, not by surprise.

He did not need to save any hostages. He did not even need to leave anyone alive for interrogation.

The ultimate goal of capturing this spy was to execute him.

For a spy, his identity was basically worthless after it was exposed, and Donglong company didn't expect to get any useful information from him.

Yu Tian walked quickly to the door of the house and listened to the movements in the house.

The house was very quiet, as if there was no one inside.

Of course, it was also possible that the people in the house had already gone to bed and did not have the habit of snoring, so they would not make too much noise.

In addition, Yu Tianren was outside the house and was wearing a full-coverage helmet. Even if there were small sounds like breathing and heartbeat inside the house, it was impossible for him to hear it so easily.

He took two steps back and looked at the second floor of the house.

He was surprised to find that the windows of the rooms on the second floor were all open.

Normally, a spy would feel very insecure when he was hiding to save his life.

The place where he lived would definitely close the doors and windows tightly. He would also close the curtains and other things so that no one would see his movements in the house. He did not even want anyone to know that someone was living in the house.

Opening the windows like this, as if he was welcoming Yu Tian, was a little illogical.

The operations assistant immediately warned Yu Tian, “No. 1, please be careful. There might be a trap in this civilian house.

There were all kinds of experts in the command center, including psychological experts, various intelligence analysts, some experienced secret agents, and battle commanders..

These people almost instantly made a dangerous judgment..

Chapter 1317: Chapter 1,316, the possibility of a trap

Translator: 549690339

The newly established Battle Command Center of the DONGLONG company did not have many tasks at the moment. Everyone was very idle, and almost everyone was circling around Yu Tian.

Yu Tian's actions received a high degree of attention. The dozen or so professionals behind the scenes all sent warnings to Yu Tian based on their own expertise and experience.

These warnings coincided with Yu Tian 's feeling. He also felt that the feeling of the window opening was very abnormal.

After pondering for a moment, Yu Tian suddenly jumped into a window on the second floor.

It was just a small private house. What kind of dragon's Den or tiger's Den could it be?

The biggest danger was nothing more than having explosives hidden in the house.

Yu Tian felt that as long as he was careful, even if there was an explosion in the house, he would not be affected too much.

Jumping into the window, Yu Tian entered a room on the second floor.

It was a bedroom, but there was no one living in it.

The layout and furnishings of the bedroom looked very simple, and there were no personal items or small items. It did not look like someone was living or living in it.

It was almost the same for houses that were not inhabited. However, some safe houses would make some disguises and deliberately put some traces of people living in the room.

For example, they would throw away some clothes, hats, shoes, and socks that had not been changed. They would throw away some household garbage, food and beverage packaging, food residue, mess up the bed and sofa, leave the wardrobe door open, and leave the TV remote control lying around. In short, the more untidied the house, the more the feeling of life.

But there is one thing that can not be hidden, that is dust.

If a house is not inhabited for too long, it will inevitably leave dust.

Especially the dining table, sofa, bed and other places that are often occupied by people, as long as there are people living, it is basically impossible to accumulate dust, even if the owner of the house is lazy to clean up.

As a place to hide in an emergency, the safe house naturally should not be used often, so dust was unavoidable.

This was the biggest characteristic of the safe house.

Yu Tian carelessly touched the headboard of the bed, and sure enough, there was a thick layer of dust.

He could basically confirm that this was indeed a safe house.

If there were people living here, it was definitely not an ordinary civilian.

The technical department must have found the correct address.

Opening the door, Yu Tian walked from the bedroom to the living room and began to search room by room.

He was very fast.

He had to be prepared for traps and possible explosions.

He had to be able to leave the house as quickly as possible, so he would not stay in these rooms too long.

He opened the doors of every room and stood at the door to take a look. The layout of these rooms was not complicated, so it was clear whether there was anyone there.

Soon, he searched the second floor.

There was no one in any of the rooms, not even a trace of a person living there.

Yu Tian was a little puzzled, so he rushed down the first floor as fast as he could and searched the first floor as well.

Similarly, there was no one on the first floor. The entire house was empty.

Yu Tian checked it carefully again. This house did not look like it had been occupied recently.

Normally, if someone checked into this house, even if they were too lazy to clean, they would at least “Scrape” some dust off.

The sofa, bed, dining table, and chairs. These places would always be scratched.

However, after Yu Tian carefully examined the house, he found that there were no marks at all.

In other words, the spy did not live here.

Could it be that the headquarters’ intelligence was wrong?

Yu Tian was a little puzzled. This house clearly fit the characteristics of a safe house.

If the intelligence was wrong, how could he have come to a safe house by coincidence?

If this was just an ordinary empty house, the owner of the house would have tidied up the house before he left. He would have taken away some household items and covered the furniture with a sheet and cloth.

The most unreasonable thing was that the windows on the second floor were still open.

Even if it was a burglar, it was impossible for him to open all the windows so brazenly.

No matter how they thought about it, it was all very strange.

“What’s going on? How did the technical department track this location?”

Yu Tian directly asked the command center.

Soon, the technical department was connected to the communication.

“Hello Number One... We found this address based on the location of the target’s cell phone.”

“That spy still dared to bring the original cell phone when he was running for his life?”

“The target isn’t using his original cell phone, but he used a new cell phone to log into his original Internet account. We tracked him here using the IP address on the Internet...”

There was nothing wrong with the tracking method.

If he had directly tracked the original cell phone number, Yu Tian would have thought that it was a trap, but if he had tracked it through some internet accounts..

He could not rule out the possibility of a trap.

However, Yu Tian did not find anything dangerous in this house.

There should not be any explosives hidden here. If there were explosives, they should have detonated a long time ago.

Then what was going on with this internet signal?

Why did this spy deliberately set up a trap to lure him into this empty house?

Now that he had already arrived and had stayed in this house for a few minutes, why did the other party still not make any move?

“Number one, we suggest that you retreat immediately!

The combat assistant spoke again, “No matter what the enemy’s goal is, we shouldn’t give the enemy the chance to carry it out. The command center suggests that you retreat immediately and leave the rest of the work to the peripheral personnel...”

The peripheral personnel were those gang members. In the eyes of the command center, these gang members were insignificant pawns who could be sacrificed at any time.

As for Yu Tian, he was the leader of the East Dragon Company. He absolutely could not risk it.

It was a reliable operation to let the peripheral members test the enemy's intentions.

Yu Tian did not care about any danger, but he did not want to be led by the enemy's nose.

The great man once said, "We must oppose anything the enemy supports.

No matter what the enemy's strange arrangement was for, he should not give in to the enemy's intentions.

He did not intend to conduct a search of the house, nor did he intend to touch anything in the house. He walked straight to the entrance window and prepared to leave the house first.

It was easy to find out what the enemy was playing at. He just needed to get someone to keep an eye on the house.

As for Yu Tian himself, he decided to go "Missing"

He wanted to make the enemy unsure whether he had returned to the base of the Wild Fox Secret Service team or was lying in ambush near the house.

If Kronen had arranged for intelligence and observation personnel nearby.

Walking to the window, Yu Tian jumped straight down the first floor.

Then, he fell flat on his face..

Chapter 1318: Chapter 1,317. It was impossible to guard against

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian fell into a daze.

Jumping off a building was very dangerous for ordinary people, but for Yu Tian, it was as easy as walking.

That was because he had qinggong.

Whether it was the nameless qinggong or the gentle steps of the wave, this kind of height was not a problem.

However, Qinggong required inner strength, especially when jumping high and long. Inner strength was needed to help him.

Even if Yu Tian was already very proficient in qinggong and consumed very little inner strength, he still needed to circulate some inner strength to support some of the Qinggong movements.

However, when he jumped down from the window just now, he suddenly realized that his inner strength did not listen to his commands.

Under normal conditions, inner strength was like running water, but at this moment, it was like a paste, unable to flow smoothly.

Yu Tian immediately felt that something was wrong.

The sudden change in his internal energy was definitely not due to him.

He was poisoned!

There was indeed a trap in this house, but it was not something like explosives, but poison.

Yu Tian did not have the time to recall how he was poisoned. It was either something he had come into contact with, or there was something wrong with the air in a certain room.

The most important thing now was to solve the problem of poisoning immediately. Otherwise, there might be very troublesome things to do next.

He immediately got up and began to check the condition of his body.

At this moment, a figure suddenly rushed in front of him.

“Hehehe...”

Strange laughter sounded, and Yu Tian’s heart sank.

Standing in front of him was a thin man who looked like a drug addict.

The drug addict had long hair that was tied up at the back of his head. He looked like a homeless man with mental problems.

However, his clothes were very clean and neat. It was obvious that he was wearing an expensive suit.

Judging from his facial features, this drug addict seemed to be from the east or southeast.

However, his skin color was more like that of a black dude. He looked as if he had been dried by the sun. He was dark and thin.

Yu Tian sighed in his heart and reached out to take out the big club by his waist.

The person who came was not kind, and the kind did not come. The person who jumped in front of him at this time definitely did not come to ask if he needed help.

However, this drug addict was not in a hurry to make a move. After a few strange laughs, he said slowly, "It seems that my luck is indeed not bad. I caught a big fish..."

This person was speaking in eastern language. Yu Tian frowned. "An Easterner?"

The drug addict laughed twice. "I used to be."

"I used to be..."

Yu Tian sneered twice.

Although donglong company was independent from each country and was not under the jurisdiction of any other country, Yu Tian was a patriot in his bones.

He would not harm the interests of the Easterners. He would only try his best to help the development of the easterners in his own way and cooperate with the officials of the Easterners.

Therefore, he was very disrespectful to those who changed their nationality, no matter what the excuse was.

The drug addict could hear the disdain in Yu Tian's laughter, but he did not care.

A person who had forgotten his own race and ancestors, of course, did not care about what others thought of him, nor did he care about the disdainful looks in others' eyes.

In their hearts, they would only be proud of their new nationality.

The drug addict was too lazy to argue with Yu Tian about these things. He slowly said, "As far as I know, in the mini-bull market, there seems to be only one qinggong master in the East Dragon Company... right, number one, or rather, the boss of the East Dragon Company?"

"You know quite a lot..."

Yu Tian did not hide his identity. There was no need for that.

Taking advantage of the other party's willingness to say a few words of nonsense, he began to seize the time to check his own physical condition.

At the same time, he asked in return, "I'm a little curious. How exactly did you poison me?"

The drug addict smiled smugly. "How is it? Does it feel very uncomfortable to lose all your inner energy?"

Lose all his inner energy?

Yu Tian had some doubts in his heart. It was just that the circulation of his inner energy was somewhat obstructed. Why would this drug addict say that he had lost all his inner energy?

Could it be that there was a quality problem with these poisons? Or perhaps his internal energy and physique were a little special, and the poison did not have a complete effect on him?

Seeing Yu Tian remain silent, the drug addict thought that he had already lost his temper after being dealt with by the poison, so he laughed complacently again, he said, "This is the ten fragrances soft tendons powder that I have been devoting myself to for many years and developed independently. It is the best choice for ancient martial arts practitioners who are specially used to deal with internal energy. This medicine is colorless, odorless, shapeless, and as fine as dust. Those who are poisoned will not be aware of it until the poison is released. Only when they are facing the enemy will they realize that their Dantian is empty... "

"So, how did you poison me?"

"Of course, I hid the poison in the air. My ten fragrances soft tendons powder is as fine as dust. That way, no one will know..."

"You opened the window upstairs so wide. The air in the room has been circulating with the air outside. How could you hide the poison?"

"Haha, this is the subtlety of my poison method! Opening the window will naturally make you careless and not suspect that there is poison in the air. However, as long as you push open the doors of those rooms..." "So you hid the poison on the doors..."

Yu Tian suddenly realized that this was really hard to guard against.

If he wanted to search this house, he naturally had to push open the doors one by one to check.

The poison was hidden on the doors. When the doors were pushed open, it would scatter in the surrounding air. On top of that, the poison was colorless, tasteless, and as fine as dust..

This method of poisoning was indeed a little undetectable.

The addict said proudly, “Now that you know my methods, you should be able to die willingly today.”

Yu Tian sneered, “Is it important for you to die willingly?”

The addict was stunned for a moment. “Speaking of which, it’s actually not that important... I just want to share my pride with a person who is about to die.

“Mm, to be able to create a poison that only exists in novels is indeed worthy of your pride.

Yu Tian chatted with the drug addict while thinking of a solution to this situation.

Although he didn’t understand the composition and principle of this ten fragrances soft tendons powder, as long as he found the problem, he still had a way to solve this abnormal state of internal force.

After a careful inspection, he found that these toxins were integrated into his internal energy, like an anesthetic that specifically targeted internal energy, making his internal energy unable to function.

This was probably the reason why his internal energy was sluggish, as well as the reason why others felt that their internal energy had been completely lost.

As long as his internal energy was still there, it was impossible to completely remove these toxins.

It was indeed a very overbearing poison, and it was indeed the nemesis of ancient martial arts practitioners who possessed internal energy.

Unfortunately, Yu Tian was not only an ancient martial arts practitioner, but also a godly doctor..

Chapter 1319: Chapter 1,318, detoxification methods

Translator: 549690339

If it was an ordinary ancient martial arts practitioner who encountered this situation, they might really be helpless.

These toxins and internal energy had merged into one, and it was simply impossible to separate them from the internal energy.

If one wanted to get rid of these toxins, they could only use the antidote to neutralize these toxins. There was no way to use internal energy to force the toxins out.

However, it was not an easy task to find the antidote.

Even if he did not have to use a unique antidote, it was still very difficult to find an antidote that could neutralize the poison and not produce any other side effects.

At the very least, he had to be very familiar with the composition of the poison.

Detoxification and forcing the poison out were not the best methods, nor could they solve this problem in a short period of time.

Yu Tian planned to drain all of his internal energy, along with the poison that had fused together.

If it were other ancient martial art practitioners, they would not be able to completely drain their internal energy.

Even if their internal energy was exhausted, there would always be a little bit left.

In this way, the poison could not be completely removed, and then it would make a comeback.

If they truly drained their internal energy completely, then it would not be called exhaustion of internal energy, but exhaustion of internal energy.

According to Hong Qigong and Ouyang Feng's situation, it would be a situation where his vitality was exhausted and he would definitely die.

However, Yu Tian had a way to drain his inner energy.

Because his body originally had two different types of inner energy. Later, through the spirit stone, he fused the two different types of inner energy into a new type of inner energy.

Stone inner energy.

After this, all the inner energy that he cultivated would have to be fused into the stone inner energy.

If he didn't take the initiative to integrate it, three different types of internal energy would appear in his body.

If the nameless internal energy and the internal energy of the gentle steps of the soaring waves appeared in his dantian at the same time, it would inevitably lead to another fight.

Therefore, every time he finished cultivating, he would spend some time to allow the internal energy he cultivated to merge with the Stone's internal energy before he cultivated another type of internal energy.

This situation could be used on the current problem of poisoning.

Yu Tian didn't know whether this poison could be spread through different internal energy, but before the internal energy was fused, the spread wouldn't be so fast.

In addition, he had another trump card, which was to send all his internal energy into the spirit stone.

Then, he would use the gentle steps of the wave to generate new internal energy.

In this way, all the problems would be solved.

Moreover, after all the internal energy was drained, he could draw it back from the spirit stone.

He didn't believe that the poison could continue to exist in the spirit stone.

Only pure energy existed in the spirit stone. Other substances would be repelled by it and change their shape.

It was definitely impossible for a mere poison to survive in the spirit stone.

Yu Tian immediately reached for the spirit stone in his pocket and held it in his hand.

Immediately after, all of his internal energy rushed into the spirit stone.

He didn't know whether he should be grateful or not, but the amount of internal energy in Yu Tian's body wasn't much. When he exerted all of his internal energy, it was drained in a short while.

At the same time, he immediately began to take light steps to restore his mana.

"You want to run?"

The drug addict misunderstood Yu Tian's motive and immediately pounced on Yu Tian.

This drug addict's Qinggong was not bad. If Yu Tian just wanted to run for his life, there was no way he could shake him off.

However, Yu Tian's goal was not to run for his life. Moreover, the advantage of the limbo micro step was not the speed of running, but the agility of dodging.

During Yu Tian's dodging, the addict's two consecutive pouncing attacks were dodged by him agilely. Not a single hair was hurt.

Looking at the situation, the addict would not be able to take him down in a short period of time.

The addict was a little angry. "I know that you know the limbo micro-step. Do you think that you can recover your inner energy through this method? It's useless. No matter how you recover your inner energy, it will be completely corroded by my poison..."

Yu Tian dodged as he said indifferently, "So what? Even if I lose all my inner energy, can you still catch me?"

The junkie snorted coldly. "Let's see how long you can dodge! How can an ordinary martial artist without inner energy be my opponent!"

As the saying goes, if you defend for a long time, you will lose. If you attack for a long time, you will break.

Yu Tian naturally could not dodge all the time. The junkie's continuous attacks would eventually hit him.

Moreover, the addict also possessed inner strength. His punches and palm strikes were definitely not something that a martial artist without inner strength could withstand.

Very soon, Yu Tian's chest was hit by the addict's palm.

The addict laughed out loud, "Remember this kid, the person who killed you is called he Feihong!"

"Are You Dreaming? The person who could kill me hasn't even been born yet!"

Yu Tian laughed loudly, full of energy.

He Feihong was slightly stunned. He looked at Yu Tian with a puzzled look, and then said with a sudden realization, "Good Kid, you actually wore an inner armor!"

Yu Tian said with disdain, "What inner armor? This is a high-tech product, a bulletproof vest! An ignorant country bumpkin!"

He Feihong said angrily, "Do you think that I can't do anything to you just because you wear a bulletproof vest... if you have the guts, Take Off Your Helmet!"

Yu Tianle was amused. “Do you think I’m Stupid?”

He Feihong said indignantly, “What kind of hero can you be if you rely on your soldiers and armor!

Yu Tian spat, “You dare to talk about a hero? are your methods of poisoning very honorable?”

“Poison and hidden weapons are part of the ancient Eastern martial arts. Why Can’t I Be Honorable? P’ “Bulletproof vests are an indispensable piece of equipment in modern warfare.

Why Can’t I wear them? ! ”

“You... You’re making excuses! ”

“You’re full of nonsense. If you want to fight, then hurry up and fight. Don’t be so long-winded! ”

Yu Tian was full of confidence at this moment. The bulletproof vests on his body were not even afraid of the huge kinetic energy of bullets. His fists and legs were even more helpless against the blunt weapons.

Even he Feihong’s internal force could not completely penetrate his bulletproof vest.

The slap he received was similar to the feeling of being punched by a normal person.

With his physical fitness, an attack of this level was meaningless to him.

Therefore, he was in the mood to slowly deal with he feihong and take the opportunity to quickly recover his internal force.

Soon, he feihong slapped Yu Tian’s shoulder again and wanted to seize the opportunity to catch Yu Tian.

Yu Tian took a slight step and brushed past he feihong. He swung his big club and gave he feihong a blow.

The limbo micro step was not only used to avoid the enemy’s attack, but also to use positioning to gain an advantage in the attack position.

He Feihong hurriedly raised his hand and wanted to block Yu Tian’s Club.

He had obviously underestimated Yu Tian’s strength. Even when he did not have inner strength, Yu Tian’s strength was not considered small.

The huge club that weighed dozens of Jin smashed into he Feihong's arm. It was so painful that his eyeballs almost popped out..

Chapter 1320: Chapter 1,319, Entanglement

Translator: 549690339

“What kind of weapon is this?”

He Feihong felt the pain and hurriedly took two steps back. He rubbed his arm with all his strength.

Fortunately, his punches and kicks were protected by internal energy. Otherwise, Yu Tian's club would have broken his bones.

Yu Tian weighed his club and said seriously, “This is a dog-beating club. It specializes in beating dogs.

“I'm so crude...

He Feihong couldn't help but swear, “I told you that I shouldn 't have sold you the Lingbo microsteps back then. I didn't expect that you could master the Lingbo microsteps without the internal strength of the Xiaoyao sect...” “Is there really a Xiaoyao sect? “Yu Tian couldn 't help but be a little curious.

“WHO KNOWS! “He Feihong said unhappily.

Yu Tian smiled. “That executioner is one of your people, isn't he? He originally wanted to use the limbo micro-steps to harm me, right? Unfortunately, I am a martial arts genius. Not only did I master the Limbo micro-steps, but I also solved the problem of the conflict between two types of internal energy.

“Humph! ”

He Feihong originally did not want to talk more with Yu Tian, but when he saw Yu Tian's smug smile.., he couldn't help but say, “Don't think that you're great just because you've learned the Lingbo microsteps. Don't you know the internal cultivation formula of the carefree sect? Your Lingbo microsteps can only be practiced to this level at most.”

Yu Tian shrugged. “It doesn't matter. I can still practice other qinggong... besides, it's not bad to practice internal cultivation with Lingbo microsteps.”

“Not bad? Hahaha, this kind of cultivation speed is not bad? If you continue to practice like this, you won't become a Master in your lifetime.

He Feihong could not help but laugh loudly.

Yu Tian said calmly, "How can you be considered an expert? Are you considered an expert like this?"

He Feihong was stunned for a moment. "Of course I am not considered an expert... but I still have a chance. As long as I practice diligently and persevere, I will naturally become an expert in the future. And you don't have a suitable cultivation technique or a sect. You will never have the chance in your life..."

"You should be forty years old, right?" Yu Tian suddenly interrupted he Feihong's words and asked, "How many years have you practiced internal martial arts?"

He Feihong snorted coldly and said, "Me? Don't tell me you still want to compete with me? Not only have I practiced martial arts for thirty years, but I also have the guidance of my master and senior brother in the sect..."

"You, a person who has practiced martial arts for thirty years, are not considered an expert. I have just started to enter the sect. Is there a need for me to be as anxious as you?"

Yu Tian laughed out loud.

He did not know what was the situation of an ordinary ancient martial arts practitioner, nor did he know whether the rate of growth of his internal energy was fast or slow.

However, if he feihong had practiced for thirty years before reaching this level, then he really could not be compared to him.

Yu Tian had only practiced the internal martial arts for a few months, and his current self-feeling was not much inferior to he feihong.

To Yu Tian's internal energy cultivation speed, he feihong was a piece of trash.

Of course, he Feihong had trained hard for more than thirty years, so his internal energy reserves and endurance were definitely stronger than Yu Tian's.

But Yu Tian felt that this was useless.

Practicing ancient martial arts was used for fighting, not to stand together and compare who had more internal energy.

Even without internal energy, Yu Tian could still contend with he feihong for so long, and he could even swing the big club to counterattack twice.

If he waited for his internal energy to recover, wouldn't that mean that he would beat he Feihong into a dog?

Although his kung fu was a little messy, as long as it could be used to kill enemies and was practical enough, then his kung fu was not practiced wrongly.

He Feihong said that Yu Tian would never become an expert in his lifetime, but Yu Tianquan treated him as Bullsh * t.

Wait until I beat you down, then you will know how strong my talent is.

He Feihong was speechless. He had practiced martial arts for more than 30 years, and now he couldn 't even do anything to Yu Tian, this little brat. This was really not something to be proud of.

Moreover, he had poisoned Yu Tian.

He was a little embarrassed and angry, so he didn't say any more nonsense and immediately pounced on Yu Tian again.

It was enough to just talk about it. Martial artists still needed to rely on their fists to speak.

Yu Tian took the time to recover his inner energy while he continued to deal with He Feihong.

He Feihong felt that Yu Tian, who was wearing a bulletproof vest, was indeed a little troublesome.

Although Yu Tian did not have any inner energy, he could still use light-body techniques such as the gentle steps of the waves without any inner energy. It was just that he could not fly over roofs or walls anymore.

With a certain amount of dodging ability and a body full of bulletproof equipment, he feihong also felt a little helpless against Yu Tian.

After a few more meetings, he feihong began to think about whether he should find another opportunity to poison Yu Tian.

However, it was also a more troublesome thing to poison in a fight.

There had to be a way for poison to enter the human body.

It was nothing more than breathing, eating, and blood from wounds.

According to legends, there were people who were immediately poisoned when they touched the skin, but he Feihong did not have this kind of poison in his hands.

The only drug that could cause hallucinations still needed to be stuck on the skin for a certain amount of time.

Yu Tian could not allow him to apply the ointment on his body now, nor would he allow him to use the poison-dipped weapon to cause wounds, much less eat anything.

Therefore, the only way he Feihong could use the medicine now was to sprinkle the powder in the air, just like the ten fragrances soft tendons powder from before, to poison Yu Tian through breathing.

However, with the two of them fighting on the street, it was very difficult for the poison in the air to spread.

Not to mention a gust of wind at any time, even the airflow of the two fighting could blow away the powder in the air. He Feihong immediately had a headache, Yu Tian no longer had a headache at this time.

He had been talking nonsense with he Feihong for so long, and after fighting for so long, his internal energy had completely recovered, and the poison had been completely removed.

He was now completely confident in killing he Feihong unless he Feihong fled for his life, he might not be able to catch up with him.

Therefore, the key was not how to kill he Feihong, but how to stop him from escaping.

Yu Tian still pretended that his internal energy had not recovered and continued to fight with He Feihong.

The two of them fought and moved as they gradually approached a certain house's courtyard.

He Feihong snorted coldly and said, "Don't continue to resist for no reason. I know you're already tired. "Don't even think about someone coming to save you. Pve already killed all your subordinates. It'll take at least two hours to wait for your reinforcements! "

Yu Tian panted and said, "No wonder you set the trap in such a remote place. It turns out that you didn't want me to send reinforcements... how do you know that it must be me?"

He Feihong snorted coldly and said, "No matter who it is, I'll kill them.

According to your behavior, you 'll come here personally sooner or later... "It seems that you know me very well... Ouch!

Yu Tian suddenly tripped on the small steps in front of the courtyard. His whole body lost its balance and crashed toward he feihong..

I Have 108 Older Sisters #Chapter 1321 - 1,320, break up peacefully - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1321 - 1,320, break up peacefully

Chapter 1321: Chapter 1,320, break up peacefully

Translator: 549690339

"Haha! You're still alive!"

He Feihong was overjoyed.

He had been fighting with Yu Tian for so long just to wait for Yu Tian to be exhausted before making a mistake.

Everyone made mistakes sometimes. It was inevitable.

However, making a mistake when surrounded by powerful enemies was a fatal thing.

It was fine if he feihong made a mistake. Without internal energy, Yu Tian wouldn't be able to hurt him.

However, if Yu Tian made a mistake, he feihong felt that he could end the battle.

He suddenly leaned forward and grabbed Yu Tian's head.

He couldn't break Yu Tian's bulletproof helmet, but he could rip Yu Tian's head off.

Just like how Yu Tian had dealt with those genetic warriors back then.

However, before he could grab Yu Tian's head, he suddenly felt a dangerous aura.

Martial artists were prone to developing intuition toward danger, and they were also more sensitive to the aura of internal energy.

He could sense the powerful aura of internal energy on Yu Tian's body, and it was also a great threat to him.

At such a time, he feihong had no time to determine if this feeling was accurate or not.

Compared to snapping Yu Tian 's neck, his own safety was obviously more important.

He did not care about grabbing Yu Tian's head anymore. He hurriedly twisted his body, kicked his legs, jumped up in the air, and leaped to the side at the fastest speed possible.

"Rip..."

The sound of cloth tearing rang out. He Feihong's thigh suddenly went numb, followed by a burning sensation.

He Feihong's Qinggong was indeed not bad. At least, he was very fast in moving over a large distance. In an instant, he was out of Yu Tian's attack range and was more than ten meters away from Yu Tian.

Yu Tian wanted to use the six meridians shooting to shoot him again, but he felt that he feihong still had the ability to dodge this kind of sword qi attack, so he could only give up this idea.

At this time, he Feihong was still a little surprised. He stared at Yu Tian for a long time and said hesitantly, "Your internal energy has recovered?"

Yu Tian knew that he couldn't hide it, so he could only shrug his shoulders and say, "It seems so."

"How is this possible? How can you recover your internal energy..."

He Feihong was a little in disbelief. "My ten fragrance soft tendons powder has been used for so many years, but no one has been able to detoxify it on their own. "So many senior experts have fallen under my tenderloin powder, but they were helpless against it. "You're just a young kid who has just entered the martial arts world. How is it possible..."

"Stop babbling nonsense. "Yu Tian said impatiently, "If you 're not convinced, hurry up and come over. Let's fight another 300 rounds.

He Feihong pulled up his trouser leg and checked the wound on his thigh.

The wound was long and narrow, as if it had been cut by a sharp weapon.

He frowned. "Internal energy release? No... This is sword qi? You Really Know Sword Qi?"

Yu Tian curled his lips. "Cut the crap. If you don't like it, come and fight me.

Internal energy release and Sword Qi were two completely different things. It seemed to have similar effects, but in reality, the efficiency of the use of internal energy was vastly different.

Yu Tian had previously used sword Qi to kill traitors in the red dragonfly. However, from the descriptions of those laymen, no one could determine what method he used.

Releasing inner energy could also tear a person apart. Many ancient martial arts also had methods of using inner energy.

However, for ordinary ancient martial arts practitioners, releasing inner energy consumed a lot of inner energy. The effects were similar to fist and foot moves.

Therefore, no one would use this kind of inner energy release move in battle. It would be too wasteful.

Of course, there were special situations, but they were not very common.

Yu Tian used the six meridians divine sword, and the effect created was completely different from ordinary inner energy release moves.

He Feihong was also considered to be very experienced and knowledgeable. Naturally, he could easily identify it.

He glanced at the wound on his thigh and started to have a headache again.

Since Yu Tian could use sword qi, it was impossible for him to finish it in one or two strikes.

As long as he had enough internal energy, he could release sword Qi continuously and beat he feihong into a stray dog.

Just Look at Duan Yu in the TV series. With enough internal energy, he could beat experts like Jiu Mozhi to a pulp.

Before Duan Yu 's internal energy was exhausted, Jiu Mozhi had no chance to fight back at all.

He could only wait until Duan Yu dropped the ball before he had the right to act arrogantly.

He Hongfei pondered for a moment and felt that he was no match for Yu Tian.

Putting aside whether he had any way to harm Yu Tian, if Yu Tian really released his sword aura like he was going crazy, he would have no other means to deal with him other than dodging.

If he was not careful and could not dodge it, his life would be forfeited here today.

This was a loss-making deal.

He Feihong sighed. He felt that it was time for him to retreat.

Yu Tian also sighed slightly. He knew that it would be very difficult for him to stop he feihong.

In a fight between two martial artists, unless there was a huge difference in strength between the two sides, it would not be too much of a problem for the one who could not win to run for his life.

If the escaping side was faster and had longer internal energy, escaping with their lives was basically a done deal.

Even if the escaping side was slightly slower and had less internal energy, they could still escape from the pursuers through various terrains and environments.

After all, the escaping side was more proactive in choosing the route.

Yu Tian's internal energy was not as profound as he Feihong's, and there was no advantage in the speed of the limbo micro steps. If he feihong was determined to escape, there was nothing he could do to he feihong.

Both parties had no intention of continuing to entangle with each other. At this time, they could only "Break up peacefully." Both parties were unwilling, but there was nothing they could do about it.

Before he Feihong left, he decided to leave a few more words for the occasion. "Kid, the Green Mountains will not change, the green waters will flow forever..."

"Cut the crap, I'll wait for You!" Yu Tian waved his hand and said, "And that person, the executioner... This nickname can't be fake, right?"

He Feihong choked for a moment, then he snorted coldly and said, "The executioner's nickname naturally can't be fake. He is also a famous figure in the martial arts world for many years, not a nameless person like you. How can he say nonsense about his name?"

"A famous figure for many years?" Yu Tian was a little puzzled. "Then, he also dares to say his name in front of me? Isn't he afraid that Pve heard of his name and see through his identity?"

“What kind of identity can you see through Feihong sneered. “You are a martial arts rookie, how can you know any martial arts anecdotes... I am not afraid to tell you that the executioner has no identity at all. He is just a killer who works for money.”

“You really know how to talk nonsense. “Yu Tian was skeptical. “The reason why he did not directly assassinate me is because he thinks that I am too strong, so... do I need him to pay more money?”

“How would I know? Anyway... getting information about your identity has already let him make a fortune.”

He Feihong seemed to be a little envious..

Chapter 1322: Chapter 1,321, making a deal

Translator: 549690339

As if he knew that Yu Tian couldn't do anything to him, he Feihong wasn't in a hurry to leave.

He rolled his eyes a few times and said to Yu Tian, “Why don't we make a Deal?”

Tian was a little interested. “What kind of deal do you want to

He Feihong said, “An intelligence deal. I want to know what method you used to remove the poison in my ten fragrances soft tendons powder.

Yu Tian shrugged. “Then what information can you tell me?”

He Feihong said, “For example, the information on the executioner. He sold all your identity information to the Clone Society, which led to so many assassinations against you. Don't you want to seek revenge on him?”

Yu Tian shrugged again. “It doesn't matter. Didn't you say that he was an assassin? “Since he's working for money, then the problem between us is only a business problem. I don't have any need to take revenge on him. Besides, I still have to thank him for selling the Lingbo microsteps to me.

(‘Humph, Lingbo microsteps...”he feihong was a little disdainful. “Do you really think that Lingbo microsteps is a valuable commodity? Or do you really think that this qinggong is as exaggerated as those in novels and TV dramas?”

“What do you mean? “Yu Tian had always been very interested in martial arts matters and attached great importance to obtaining relevant information.

He Feihong did not intend to hide it and said generously, "This matter is not a secret. Most people in the martial arts world know about it. In fact, many people have the secret manual of Limbo micro-steps in their hands, but no one has practiced it."

"That's just because they are not talented enough to learn it.

Yu Tian's words were a little boastful. He wanted to deliberately provoke he feihong to argue with him so that he could get more information.

However, there was nothing wrong with his words. It was indeed impossible for a normal person to master the Limbo micro-steps.

When Yu Tian first started to practice the limbo micro-steps, he did not make any progress no matter how hard he practiced it. He did not even have the slightest sense of inner force.

Later on, he had borrowed the internal force in the spirit stones and then used the Limbo micro-steps to get the limbo micro-steps.

However, under normal circumstances, people who hadn't practiced the internal force of the carefree sect wouldn't be able to practice the limbo micro-steps.

No matter how good and accurate the steps were, they wouldn't be able to achieve the unique effect of the limbo micro-steps.

In the original book, Duan Yu had obtained the secret manual of the beiming divine art of the carefree sect in the cave. At the end of the book, there was the cultivation method of the limbo micro-steps.

He had practiced the beiming divine technique first, so he could practice the limbo micro-steps.

However, there was still a bug in the middle, or rather, the protagonist's halo.

The limbo micro-steps should only be practiced after one had learned the beiming divine technique and had reached an extremely profound level of cultivation.

However, Duan Yu obviously did not have this condition. He had not mastered the beiming divine technique at all, but the limbo micro-steps was extremely smooth.

The Lingbo microsteps in Yu Tian's hand had nothing to do with the Lingbo microsteps in the original novel.

It was just that someone had created this lightness skill, and it had the effect of "Encountering a strong enemy suddenly to protect oneself, accumulate inner strength, and then take the enemy's life. "That was why it was named Lingbo microsteps by later generations.

In other words, someone had brought the name of the martial art in the novel into reality.

Similarly, one needed to practice the Lingbo microsteps and the corresponding inner strength cultivation method first.

Unfortunately, the thing that was called the carefree inner strength by the people in the martial arts world had long been lost.

Therefore, the Lingbo microsteps had become a decoration. Without the corresponding inner strength, no one could practice it.

However, this was not an absolute. After all, this was not the genuine Lingbo microsteps from the novel. Later on, someone discovered that as long as the nature of the inner strength matched this qinggong, it could also be used to drive this qinggong and cultivate it.

Therefore, many people became interested and wanted to see what magical aspects this legendary Qinggong had.

As a result, after practicing it, they found that this qinggong was just a little special in the way it moved and dodged. It was not as magical and outrageous as in the novel.

This kind of Qinggong movement technique could not be said to be everywhere, but many sects' similar movement techniques were not inferior to it.

The key was that other qinggong movement techniques were much easier to cultivate than the limbo micro steps.

If the limbo micro steps had an extremely strong effect on increasing one's internal energy, people might even abandon the internal energy they originally cultivated and cultivate this carefree internal energy technique instead.

However, the limbo micro steps was also very inefficient in cultivating internal energy. It was basically equivalent to the cultivation speed of some low-grade internal energy techniques.

With this, the Lingbo micro-steps was completely useless.

It looked like it could be used to cultivate qinggong and internal energy, but in reality, both types of martial arts were at the level of low-grade martial arts.

Any martial artist with a little bit of resources would not be able to practice this kind of useless lingbo micro-steps.

He Feihong patiently explained it to Yu Tian, then said, "Didn't you notice that this T incrh

Yu Tian also noticed this problem.

The nameless internal strength he practiced was divided into nine levels, the golden bell shield iron cloth shirt was also divided into several stages, and even the six meridians divine sword was divided into six swords.

However, Lingbo microstep and nameless qinggong were not divided into levels.

He originally thought that Qinggong would not be divided into several levels, but he Feihong's words clearly meant that qinggong should also be divided into levels.

He feihong continued, "There is only one level of the Lingbo microsteps, but every sect's qinggong has several levels. Everyone in the martial arts world thinks that this is the creator's inability to think of a better method to cultivate it, as well as a way to improve it..."

Yu Tian frowned.

He feihong smiled and said, "So, no matter how much you cultivate this

Lingbo microsteps, it is only at this level. "In the beginning, you might think that it's very powerful, but in the future, when you meet more experts, you 'll realize that this technique is actually trash. "

Yu Tian sighed, "So what if it's trash? It's already good enough that it can be used. At least, it was hard for you to hit me just now. In the future, I'll just change to another set of lightness skills.

He feihong laughed, "If it's really as simple as you say, then doesn't that mean that everyone in the martial arts world has learned over a hundred unique skills? Changing to a different set of qinggong... Let's not talk about how to solve the problem of your internal energy conflicts. Every set of martial arts has a corresponding internal energy cultivation method, and even different martial arts are suitable for different qinggong footwork. "Do you still plan to change all the martial arts that you 've practiced?"

"If you've changed them all, then so be it. It's not a difficult thing. "

Yu Tian was spouting nonsense. He did not plan to push all the things that he had practiced back to the beginning.

He could use spirit stones to solve the problem of inner strength. No matter what kind of inner strength he had, he could easily merge them into one.

In terms of Qinggong, footwork, and battle martial arts, he felt that the current situation was pretty good.

The six meridians divine sword was definitely a top-notch martial technique that could fight against senior experts, because its lethality was really strong. The only drawback was that it consumed too much inner strength..

Chapter 1323: Chapter 1,322, Yu Tian gave himself a nickname

Translator: 549690339

However, Yu Tian felt that he could solve this problem by practicing his internal strength diligently.

The nameless internal strength had a total of nine levels, and he had only just started learning it. In the future, the efficiency of practicing his internal strength would definitely be much higher than it was now.

As for the gentle steps of the waves, Yu Tian felt that there was still a lot of room for improvement. He did not think that he Feihong's words were so unsightly.

This might really be a peerless martial art, but people in the martial arts world were blind and could not see the beauty in it.

Inner strength, Qinggong, and martial arts were all fine. Yu Tian naturally did not have the need to change them.

He Feihong smiled at this time and said, "You really overestimate yourself. Do you really think that it will be so easy to change and retrain all your martial arts? "A person's time is limited. It's impossible for you to have the energy to practice so many martial arts again. "A genius like me has only practiced one internal force, one qinggong, and two sets of martial arts...

Yu Tian shrugged. "I'm sorry, but I'm even more of a genius than you. You've practiced martial arts for thirty years, but you still can't beat me. Now, I've practiced a lot more types of martial arts than you, and it's still as easy as ever... "

"Hahaha... Okay, even if you're a genius, "he feihong laughed. "The more talented you are, the more difficult it is to change to other martial arts. "It's because it's very difficult to change your memory and habits. When you practice a new martial art, you'll unconsciously practice it in the same way as before... I'll just wait and see how you get possessed. "

Yu Tian didn't know that there was such a saying in the way of practicing martial arts, so he casually said, "Do you think I'm Scared? I won't have such a problem."

He Feihong snorted and said, "Anyway, I've already told you the common knowledge of the martial arts world. You can listen to it or not. Go and look at those people in the martial arts world yourself. Who would choose to join a few sects and practice a few different sets of martial arts?"

Yu Tian said indifferently, "I'm a genius, and I've already practiced several different inner strength and martial arts. I don't think there's any difficulty. If I encounter any good martial arts in the future, it doesn't matter if I practice a few more sets."

He Feihong said noncommittally, "You can do whatever you want. After all, a real genius wouldn't practice so recklessly. Even if they want to practice a few more skills, they would still choose carefully and choose some that are compatible with their original martial arts..."

"I will naturally choose those that are compatible."

Yu Tian was full of confidence, but his heart was filled with confusion.

Right now, he did not know what was meant by 'compatible'. In any case, if his internal strength was not compatible, he would use spirit stones to modify it.

If the other martial arts were not compatible, then he would practice them separately.

Since he had already practiced two types of Qinggong, he did not feel any conflict or interference between the two types of Qinggong practice methods.

He Feihong did not continue this topic and said slowly, "I've told you so many martial arts principles and rules. You should also tell me... How did you detoxify yourself?"

Yu Tian scratched his head. "Didn't you want to tell me about the executioner?"

He Feihong asked curiously, "Aren't you not interested in his information?"

Yu Tian giggled and said, "I'm not interested, but... it's free information. It's a waste not to listen to it."

He Feihong choked for a moment, then he panted again. "Information about the executioner... Okay, I'll tell you about it... do you know how he got his nickname?"

Yu Tian blinked. "Didn't he just pick it himself?"

He Feihong nearly choked again. "Are you kidding me? How can a martial artist pick his own nickname?"

Yu Tian laughed. "I'm just kidding. Of course, I know that things like nicknames are usually given by friends in the martial arts world. Forget about people in the martial arts world. Even ordinary people are usually given nicknames by others. There's no reason for them to pick their own nicknames.

He Feihong snorted, "Boring... of course, there's a reason for the nickname 'Executioner'. This has something to do with his style of doing things.

Yu Tian nodded and said, "So... he likes to chop off other people's heads? Executioners seem to be good at chopping off heads, right? Or does he have some unique skill that is very good at chopping off other people's Heads?"

He Feihong said, "I don't know what unique skill he has. In the pugilistic world, there are only rumors that his lightness skills are very powerful. As for his nickname... it was not earned from beheading others, but it is about the same as beheading others. He is very good at beheading..."

Yu Tian came to a realization and said, "You mean... beheading tactics?"

He Feihong said, "That's right. It is said that the assassin business that he took on was to get rid of the leaders of some organizations and gangs. "This kid is relying on his strange lightness skills. Every time he assassinates someone, he can easily get close to the target and even escape unscathed... an organization leader like you is exactly what he's best at.

"I'm afraid that the rumors in the pugilistic world are a little exaggerated.

Yu Tian sighed. The reason why the executioner got close to him and hid by his side was not because of his lightness skills, but because of his eloquence that could deceive people to death.

The key point was that he was relatively familiar with the situation at the DONGLONG company. The lie he made was even related to uncle long. He claimed to be Uncle Long's friend, so he was unable to verify it for the time being.

He Feihong coughed lightly. "In short, the executioner will definitely pose a huge threat to you. Even if he didn't personally assassinate you the last time, he might not let you off the hook the next time..."

Yu Tian was suddenly a little curious. "Am I the Big Bounty? How much is the Bounty?"

He Feihong said, "One billion."

"Only one billion..."

Yu Tian was slightly disappointed. How could his net worth be only one billion.

After a slight pause, Yu Tian said again, "This is the bounty offered by the Clone Society, Right?"

He Feihong said, "That's right. The mission to assassinate the President of the East Dragon Company has long been publicly posted on the dark net. "Now, your information has been updated in more detail. Easterner, ancient martial arts practitioner, number one... Even the photos are available."

"It seems that there will be a lot of people who will look for me to earn the bounty in the future..." Yu Tian sighed. "No, I have to think of a way... I have to change my code name. I will not be called number one in the future. He Feihong was stunned. "What do you mean?"

Yu Tian said, "I've decided to give myself a nickname, called... Dragon King! King of the East Dragon Company, come to me if you have the guts. Let's see if you can earn this one billion bounty. "

He Feihong had a strange look on his face. "Dragon King... This nickname is very reasonable, but... who gives themselves a nickname?"

Yu Tian said indifferently, "As long as I say it's okay. In the future, all the people in the East Dragon Company will call me Dragon King, so my nicknames, nicknames, nicknames, bandit names, nicknames... are all Dragon Kings."

"Alright, Dragon King... I'm afraid I won't be able to get this one billion reward. You should also tell me how you detoxified the poison."

He Feihong licked his lips..

Chapter 1324: Chapter 1,323. Name your price

Translator: 549690339

"There's no rush..."

Yu Tian smiled and said, "I have another question to ask you. "

He Feihong said unhappily, "What else do you want to ask? I've already said so much about you. You Can't possibly ask about my own secrets, right?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "Don't worry, I Won't ask about your secrets. I just want to ask you... Are You also an assassin?"

"I'm not an assassin!

He Feihong quickly denied, "How can an expert like me be an assassin for someone else... I was invited by a friend to help out and get a red packet at the same time. "

Yu Tian shrugged. "Alright, then this friend of yours..."

"I won 't tell you.

Before Yu Tian could finish, he Feihong interrupted him, "Don't ask me such questions. I Won't tell you even if you ask me. Anyway, I'm just helping out and earning some hard work fees.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Alright, then how about I hire you to kill the members of the Clone Society?"

He Feihong said angrily, "I said that I'm not an assassin, and I won't do such a thing without principles.

Yu Tian shrugged. "Alright, then... I'm also very interested in the information about the clone society, and our Donglong Company can also afford it.

He Feihong snorted coldly and said, "Don 't even think about it. Don't say that I don't know what information the Kronin Society has, even if I did, I wouldn 't tell you... even those killers who want money but don't want their lives don 't have the rule of killing their employers in return.

Yu Tian sighed. "Alright, then... do you have any martial arts manuals? Sell me a few.

Yu Tian was a little curious about martial arts manuals. He did not care whether the other party was an enemy or not. He did not care if the other party would play some tricks like 'internal energy conflict' or 'Qi deviation'. As long as it was a martial arts manual, he was interested in collecting and learning it.

In any case, he was not short of money.

He Feihong hesitated for a moment. "I do have some martial arts manuals... do you really want them? Aren 't you afraid that you will get too mixed up and Qi Deviation?"

Yu Tian said proudly, "I'm a genius."

He Feihong suddenly smiled and said, "Since you want to court death, of course I can help you... But if you want me to sell you martial arts manuals, you have to agree to one condition of mine. "

"What condition?"

(‘If you go berserk one day, please announce to the whole world that it was the martial arts manuals I gave you that caused you to go berserk...

(‘Hahaha... “Yu Tian was amused. “Even if you let me practice martial arts until

I die, you’ll still get the reward, right?”

He Feihong said, “Of course.”

Yu Tian smiled and said, “No problem, I promise you. However, since the executioner didn’t succeed, you won’t have a chance.

He Feihong said indifferently, “Who knows? Maybe you really went berserk and died after practicing my martial arts manual...

Yu Tian said, “Then hurry up and bring your secret manuals over.”

He Feihong slowly took out his phone from his pocket and said, “I have many kinds of secret manuals here. They are divided into high-grade, middle-grade, low — blue...

Yu Tian waved his hand and said heroically, “Cut the crap. How much is the package price? Just tell me directly!

He Feihong said in a daze, “You want all of them?”

Yu Tian said casually, “That’s right. Even if I can’t practice them, I want to collect all of them so that I can establish a sect and become a grandmaster in the future...”

“Alright, I’ll sell them all to you. In any case, I picked them up for nothing... I worked hard to collect them. Other than the cultivation techniques of my sect, I can sell the rest to you.

He Feihong was quite decisive.

Yu Tian waved his hand again. “Name your price!”

He Feihong blinked his eyes. “I have more than twenty books here, and there are quite a few high-tier martial arts among them...”

“Name your price!

“Among these martial arts of mine, there are also very rare protective cultivation techniques in the martial arts world...

“Name your price!

“These are high-tier protective cultivation techniques... ” “Name your price!

“Why don’t we do it all together... I’ll give you 10 million?”

“Send me the secret manual, and send me your bank account number!

Yu Tian wasn’t even interested in haggling over the price.

Back then, when he bought the executioner’s book, he had also bought it for 10 million with some random stuff.

Now that he Feihong’s survival rate seemed to be higher, he felt that it was a good deal to buy it for 10 million.

He Feihong felt that his bid seemed to be a little low, because Yu Tian did not even blink.

He felt that if the bid was twice as high, Yu Tian might also buy it without batting an eyelid.

However, since the bid had already been made, he did not seem to be able to go back on his words.

The Big Boss did not like to bargain when buying things, but if he suddenly raised the price, the big bosses might decide not to buy it.

In fact, the martial arts manuals in he Feihong’s hands were not considered rare treasures. Many of them were common goods that were relatively easy to obtain in the martial arts world.

Even if there were some high-tier martial arts, they were all martial arts that were difficult to practice. It was similar to the situation with the Lingbo microstep.

If he feihong did not take advantage of this opportunity to make a huge profit, it would be impossible to sell the martial arts manuals in his hands at this price in the future.

Other than Yu Tian, who did not understand the rules of the martial arts world, who would spend so much money to buy these low-value secret manuals? Those sects would not sell the truly valuable martial arts in the martial arts world.

Only those martial arts that ordinary people could not practice and that could not produce any effects would be sold.

The reason why ordinary people could not become ancient martial art practitioners was that these secret manuals that could be bought with money could not be practiced at all. Even if ordinary people practiced for decades, they would not be able to find a sense of Qi.

For example, the Lingbo micro-steps did not have a matching internal cultivation method.

Other than that, the secret manuals themselves were incomplete, and the requirements of the secret manuals for talent and physique were very special. The cultivation of the secret manuals required a certain level of martial arts foundation..

More importantly, without the guidance of a master, ordinary people would not be able to understand those martial arts secret manuals at all, and they would not know how to find the Qi feeling of internal martial arts. They would also be unable to step into the door of ancient martial arts.

For a situation like Yu Tian who had entered the door of ancient martial arts on his own, he could be considered to have entered the path of medicine. He had found the Qi feeling of acupuncture, which was why he could successfully enter the door of ancient martial arts.

Only warriors like Yu Tian, who had entered the gate of ancient martial arts and had no systematic martial techniques to learn, would spend a lot of money to buy these useless secret manuals that were useless to ordinary people, he would slowly study his own martial arts from these wild books.

This was the best customer he Feihong could find.

He Feihong did not hesitate any longer and directly packaged the secret manuals and sent them to Yu Tian.

A big boss like Yu Tian naturally would not play any tricks of “Receiving the goods but not giving the money”. He happily completed the transfer of the money to He Feihong.

Looking at the string of extra balances in his bank account, he Feihong suddenly felt a little confused..

Chapter 1325: Chapter 1,324, Show me your skills

Translator: 549690339

He Feihong remembered that he was here to be an assassin.

Ah Pei, he was not an assassin. He was just here to help a friend and kill someone at the same time.

But now, he actually made a business deal with the target he wanted to kill, and it was a big deal with a considerable amount of money.

He Feihong put away his phone and found that he was a little reluctant to make a move on Yu Tian.

Perhaps the next time he returned to China to collect some martial arts manuals, he could sell them at a good price at Yu Tian's place.

It was really hard to find such a sucker.

The people in the martial arts world would not be tricked by him like this, because everyone knew the goods very well.

Ordinary people did not know the goods, but they would not spend so much money to buy a bunch of things that were not known to be real or fake.

They might even ask for a trial experience, and then the business would be even more hopeless.

Yu Tian was such a high-quality customer. Not only could he not kill him, but he should also protect him well. He could not let others kill Yu Tian.

In any case, he did not have the ability to get Yu Tian's reward.

"Alright, in the future, if you have any secret manuals that I don't have, you can come to me. I don't care about any martial arts secret manuals."

After completing the transaction, Yu Tian also checked the contents of these secret manuals.

Only two of them were duplicates of the martial arts that he had previously collected. The rest were martial arts that he had never seen before.

Yu Tian was instantly in a great mood. "On account of you selling me the secret manuals, I won't pursue the matter of you assassinating me today. You can leave now and take care of yourself in the future..."

"What do you mean by Take Care of yourself? Can you even pursue me? I bet you can't catch up to me at all!"

He Feihong suddenly realized that a big boss like Yu Tian was indeed thick-skinned enough to be comparable to him.

Yu Tian chuckled. "I told you to leave but you didn't. Do you really think that I can't catch up to you? Do you know that my forty-meter-long saber... my sword aura can shoot dozens of meters!

He Feihong snorted coldly. "Keep bragging...

As soon as he finished speaking, Yu Tian swung his hand and sent a streak of sword aura straight toward he Feihong's crotch.

He Feihong jumped in fright and hurriedly dodged.

Fortunately, he was still quite agile and managed to Dodge Yu Tian's sword aura in a hurry. However, a deep crack appeared on the road under his feet due to the sword aura.

The two of them had maintained a distance of more than ten meters when they were talking just now. He Feihong did not dare to get too close to Yu Tian because he was trying to guard against Yu Tian's sword qi.

There were indeed many moves that released true energy in the martial arts world, but they were usually close-combat moves. The furthest distance was only two to three meters.

Yu Tianlu's move really shocked him.

Moreover, Yu Tian did not only show off his moves. A few sword Qi flew toward he feihong one after another, scaring he feihong so much that he screamed and jumped more than ten meters.

He Feihong wiped off his cold sweat and said angrily, "Brat, are you trying to kill me after just finishing your business?

Yu Tian laughed, ('Business is business. Killing You is killing you. These two things are not related, okay? "Moreover, I have already asked you to leave. If you don't leave, aren't you just trying to taste my sword qi? "If you can't even Dodge these few sword energies, you deserve to die."

"Okay, okay, okay..."

He Feihong was speechless. He could only say, "The Green Mountain will never change, and the green water will always flow..." "

Yu Tian raised his finger and pretended to shoot out his sword energy again.

He Feihong immediately jumped up and ran into the distance without saying a word. Soon, he disappeared from Yu Tian's sight.

After running for more than ten minutes, he Feihong was suddenly stunned. Damn it, that Brat still hasn't told me how he cracked my ten fragrance soft tendons powder..

Yu Tian's internal energy was almost exhausted at this moment.

The six meridians divine sword consumed internal energy. The further it shot, the more internal energy it consumed.

This wasn't a flying sword. No matter how far it flew, it would still be the original sword.

This was sword qi. If it flew for 40 meters, it would be a great sword that was 40 meters long.

No matter how short the sword Qi lasted, the amount of inner energy it consumed was not small.

After a few flashes of sword qi, the inner energy in Yu Tian's body could only go on strike.

Seeing that he feihong ran away without a trace, Yu Tian could only wipe away his cold sweat.

He did not expect that these sword Qi could really kill he feihong. If the distance was too far, the opponent would have more time and space to dodge.

If the first sneak attack did not succeed, it would be very difficult to have another chance to succeed.

However, his sword Qi was not wasted.

The reason why he revealed this move in front of He Feihong and revealed his battle intelligence was to intimidate the enemies.

He wanted to create the illusion that he could use the sword Qi at will and use it as a conventional battle method.

He wanted the enemy's intelligence to be realistic. Not only could Yu Tian's sword aura shoot far away, but he could also shoot it many times in a row.

No one was willing to fight with the sword aura, not even an expert like Jiu Mozhi.

After those ordinary killers learned of this situation, they would definitely not accept the bounty business related to Yu Tian. No one would complain about their long life.

In this way, Yu Tian would reduce a lot of trouble.

He was not afraid of thieves, but he was afraid of thieves.

If there were so many assassins targeting him, even if he had the ability to save his life, he would be annoyed to death.

In addition, after exposing the information that his sword aura could shoot dozens of meters away, some hidden weapon experts would give up on using hidden weapons against him.

Because they could not take advantage of this mid-range distance, they could only get close to him.

This could also be considered to have saved Yu Tian's internal energy and reduced the difficulty of his sword Qi hitting the target.

In short, it was very advantageous for him to show off his skills like this.

Yu Tian got on his motorcycle and prepared to retreat back to the base.

This operation couldn't be considered a failure, but it could also be considered a fruitless return.

In addition, he had also lost more than a dozen peripheral members. Those gangsters were all killed silently by HE Feihong.

In this situation, Yu Tian was also helpless.

If the war between the East Dragon Company and the Kronin Society began to produce high-level combat strength like ancient martial art practitioners, then this kind of battle was not something that ordinary people could participate in.

The gangsters could not do it, and so could the ordinary operational personnel.

Even the Wild Fox Secret Service team, which had only strengthened their equipment and had not received more professional combat training, could not do it.

They had to follow Brother Pig's elite plan, carefully select and form a stronger and more specialized combat team. Only then would they have the possibility of fighting against those higher-level combat strength.

Yu Tian felt that the combat strength of a regular combat team should at least reach the level of a genetic warrior.

Just like how he had been forced to jump into the sea by genetic warriors, only a combat team of that level could pose a threat to high-level combat strength like ancient martial art practitioners.

The current Nogitsune Secret Service team obviously could not reach that level yet. This was because their previous opponents were too weak and could not cause them too much pressure in battle.

Without a strong opponent, it was naturally difficult for them to improve..

Chapter 1326: Chapter 1,325, the strategy of the rich

Translator: 549690339

It was commonly said that the greater the pressure, the greater the motivation.

For an army, the logic was the same.

Without a powerful enemy, the army would naturally slack off.

Just like the assault or charge on the battlefield, if the enemy's marksmanship was truly terrible, then the assault team might not even bother to look for cover and take turns to cover.

A powerful combat team was bound to be experienced in hundreds of battles.

The Kronin society could rely on gene reagents to produce genetic warriors with such powerful combat strength. Naturally, the Eastern Dragon Company would not use such inhuman methods.

They could only strengthen their training and participate in actual combat.

Yu Tian returned to the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base. Then, he dialed Brother Pig's communication device and mentioned the matter of streamlining and rebuilding the combat department.

Zhu Ge Liang already knew the details of Yu Tian 's operation. His expression was very calm.

"Actually, you don't have to worry too much about the high-end combat strength of the Kronin Society. They can hire ancient martial art practitioners to participate in the battle. We can also hire ancient martial art practitioners to participate in the battle.

"This kind of battle is a competition of economic strength. Obviously, the funds we can allocate are much more abundant than theirs. "Because they still need to carry out genetic research, the purpose of their organization collecting money is to carry out genetic research. "Therefore, they won't give up the root of the problem and burn money to fight with us. "

“In addition, we are Easterners, and now our headquarters have moved to China. “In matters like hiring ancient martial art practitioners, we have an advantage over them. “The number and combat strength of the ancient martial art practitioners hidden among the easterners are also far higher than those overseas...”

When Piggy Liang said this, Yu Tian could not help but curiously interrupt, “How do you know that the eastern country has more ancient martial arts practitioners than overseas? Do you know a lot about the eastern country’s martial arts world? There should be many powerful hidden martial arts practitioners overseas, right?”

“Of course there are. There are quite a number of them, but they are still not comparable to the eastern country.

Piggy Liang said indifferently, “Don’t forget what I used to do in the past. Of course, I know some of these things. The number and quality of the eastern country’s martial arts practitioners are enough to compete with all the other countries in the world. ”

Yu Tian could not help but laugh. “So Strong? This is really something to be proud of... But why are the other countries so weak?”

Piggy Liang said, “Because of the heritage of civilization, the Eastern kingdom is the only ancient civilization that still exists, and there are still many cultural heritages. “And the other countries either don’t have an ancient civilization, and were barbarians a thousand years ago. “Or their civilization has been destroyed and rebuilt, and they are no longer related to the original ancient civilization...”

Yu Tian nodded and said, “That’s true. There’s no such thing as a martial arts manual overseas.

Brother pig said again, “Of course, not everything left behind by the Ancients is suitable for modern times. “After all, civilization is always improving. The technology developed by the Westerners in the last few hundred years clearly has more advantages. “For example, the bulletproof vest you ‘re wearing was also made by the Westerners in the first place. that he feihong can’t do anything to you either. ”

Yu Tian’s heart moved. “Can this bulletproof vest be popularized in our combat team?”

Brother pig said, “The one you’re wearing won ‘t work because it uses a lot of high-end materials. The cost is too high. “The modified version can be considered for our elite troops. Under the condition that the defense is strong, it can at least make their movements more flexible. ”

Yu Tian sighed and said, “If our combat teams can equip this kind of bulletproof vest, then we won ‘t be at a disadvantage when facing those ancient martial art practitioners or foreign high-level combat forces.

Brother pig smiled and said, "That's why some people say that the poor rely on mutation, and the rich rely on technology. '(Kronin knows how to play with biotechnology. We don't do things that are inhumane, so we can only put in some effort on weapons, equipment, and training... Fortunately, we have money.

The rich relied on technology. This sentence actually had two important points.

Besides technology, what was more important was money.

Modern Wars were not about fighting wars, but burning money.

Between countries, it was a competition of comprehensive national strength. Whoever had the most money would be the final victor.

Unless there was an era-spanning gap in technology.

It was the same for wars between organizations. The winner and loser would still depend on who had the most money.

Although the genetic technology of the clone society had some advantages, this gap was not irreparable. Piggy Liang could totally smash it back with money.

"The anti-material weapons that you bought from General Hugo, I have already given them to the military in the country. The military has begun to imitate them, and this kind of weapon will soon be popularized in our combat team

"Our Company's technical department is also stepping up the production of new individual battlefield systems, as well as various individual equipment used for battlefield support. "These equipment have basically been finalized in terms of design. We are only waiting for the production samples to be tested in actual combat.

"What's left is the training of the personnel. I believe that as long as we receive professional training, our combat team will be sufficient to fight against those genetic warriors of the Clone Society. "

"If we go through a few more high-intensity actual combat, the combat experience of the team will become richer. The clone society will no longer have any advantage in front of us."

"As for those ancient martial art practitioners and high-end combat strength.. I actually don 't take them to heart.

"To solve this kind of problem, we just need to spend money. We can also hire assassins and hire those ancient martial art experts.

“However, the people we hire are still not as good as our own people, just like that he feihong. In the end, he actually made a deal with you. If you were his employer, you would definitely be so angry that you would vomit blood.

After hearing what Zhu Geliang said, Yu Tian could not help but laugh.

That’s right, hiring people to work was not a long-term solution. Of course, the East Dragon Company had to spend their energy on cultivating their own combat strength.

However, in the current situation, the KLONI association had already hired ancient martial art practitioners to participate in the battle. The East Dragon Company could also use the same method to fight back.

In fact, Yu Tian had collected so many martial arts manuals. He also had the idea of training the company’s combat team in the hope of cultivating some martial art practitioners with a certain combat strength.

However, he didn’t know how much time and energy it would take to cultivate an ancient martial artist. In fact, he might not even be able to cultivate a few impressive martial artists in a few decades.

Therefore, at this stage, it was more convenient to hire people to do the work.

“Of course, we have to hire people,” brother pig said, “But our most important problem now is still the problem of intelligence. “Without the information from the clone society, we can’t find any traces of the enemy. Even if we want to hire people to attack them, we can’t do anything about it...”

Yu Tian was puzzled.. “What about the former Intelligence Department of Our Donglong Company? Could it be that they can’t play any role at all?”

Chapter 1327: Chapter 1,326, unconfirmed information

Translator: 549690339

“It’s not like it can’t be used at all.”

Brother pig sighed. “In the past, intelligence work was too haphazard. We gathered almost all kinds of information, and all kinds of industries had their own arrangements. “Moreover, it was mainly business intelligence, as well as technical intelligence for certain technological industries...”

When it came to technical intelligence, Yu Tian quickly understood what it was.

When the eastern country was founded, it had a lot of waste waiting to be rebuilt. It was poor, especially in terms of technology. It had almost no foundation.

If they wanted to develop technology quickly, they naturally had to import it from abroad.

However, foreigners were not willing to sell any technology to the eastern country. They could not help but impose all kinds of restrictions on the eastern country.

In this era, the oriental companies overseas began to play their role.

These patriots used the convenience of their identity and tried every means to send all kinds of technology and goods to their home countries.

In fact, many ordinary small goods could reflect high-end manufacturing technology and design ideas. This was very valuable to the eastern countries, which were just starting out in all kinds of industries.

Not to mention those big guys, the technology involved was even more extensive.

Many patriotic companies had forcibly sent these technologies back to China at the cost of bankruptcy or seizure.

There were even some overseas gangs that spared no effort in this matter.

Of course, professional spies were also involved in this matter.

Donglong company certainly could not fall behind in this kind of thing. Their intelligence personnel were much more professional than ordinary businessmen. In the past two years, they had also done a lot of this kind of stealing of intelligence and technology.

Now that Zhu Geliang wanted to reorganize Donglong Company's intelligence department, this kind of intelligence work naturally could not be stopped.

Not only could it not be stopped, but they also had to increase the investment of funds and personnel.

However, the intelligence personnel in other areas were not easy to deal with.

Other than business and technology, the rest of the intelligence personnel were a little messy. They were mainly small hooligans from the periphery of the gangs.

They were the best intelligence agents on the streets, but the information they gathered was quite extensive.

Although the price for buying this information was very low, an intelligence officer who used his gang identity as a cover could easily buy some messy information from the periphery members with just a few tens of dollars in red packets.

However, most of this information was not of much value. Even if it was valuable, it was only some local information.

For example, where a gang leader had an illegitimate child, where a local official maintained a lover, who met with whom in secret, carried out some power and money transactions, or criminal transactions between gangs..

This information had nothing to do with the Kronin Society, and it wouldn't be of much help to the current war of the Donglong Company.

Therefore, the most troublesome thing for Piggy Liang was how to establish an effective and efficient intelligence organization.

Even though Piggy Liang was a professional intelligence officer, he still felt overwhelmed in front of such a huge workload.

The reorganization of the intelligence department was not something that could be completed in a short period of time.

The next morning, Yu Tian received a notification from the intelligence department. They had also received information about the location of the red dragonfly spy.

However, this time, it was not the location that the technical department had found through technical means. Instead, Mina had directly submitted the information to the intelligence department without any confirmation.

This kind of information was originally needed to be confirmed before it could be transferred to the hands of the operation personnel.

However, the intelligence force in the mini-bull market was really insufficient. If those gangsters were to confirm the information, they would be afraid of alerting the enemy.

It would be better to just let the gangsters break into the target's address and capture the person.

Therefore, this unconfirmed information was directly transferred to Yu Tian. If he was interested in this operation, he could directly go over and capture the person. At the same time, he could also complete the task of confirming the information.

Yu Tian could not stay idle. Of course, he was interested in personally catching the spy.

He got on his motorcycle and rushed to the location of the information while conveniently making a call to Mina.

Mina already had the identity of an official member of the DONGLONG company. She had also used the internal communication network of the DONGLONG company. Yu Tian did not need to look for the phone number anymore.

This type of internet phone was as convenient as a normal phone. As long as the DONGLONG network software was installed on the phone and all permissions were given, the phone could be connected at any time even if the software was not turned on. Mina quickly picked up the phone.

“Hi, Boss, I knew you would call me. ”

Mina was now very clear about her identity. Other than the few personal friendships she had with Yu Tian, she was only a grassroots employee of the DONGLONG company.

The news that Yu Tian had decided to change his code name to Dragon King Last Night had already been spread by the people in the command center.

Many people felt that Dragon King’s code name suited Yu Tian very well and was very powerful.

Mina also thought so, but in private, she felt that calling Yu Tian boss would be more intimate.

Yu Tian did not care about these details and went straight to the point. “What exactly is the information you submitted?”

Mina said, “It was discovered by one of our red dragonfly’s peripheral members. Bono is most likely hiding in ice city Hell’s territory.

“How did the peripheral members find out about this?”

“About this... Bono has a lover. Our people found his lover in Ice City Hell ‘s territory and followed him to an apartment... ”

“I understand. are your peripheral members still near that apartment?”

“They’re still there. I’ve already notified them. They’ve been waiting outside the apartment. We can confirm that Bono ‘s lover hasn’t left the apartment.

“Very good. Tell him that I’ll be there in an hour.”

Yu Tian still acted alone this time.

He could solve the problem by himself, so he didn’t need more support. Otherwise, like yesterday, these gang members would have lost their lives in vain.

Otherwise, like yesterday, these gang members would have lost their lives in vain.

Soon, Yu Tian arrived at the place.

This time it was daytime, and there were many passers-by around the apartment.

Yu Tian parked his motorcycle by the roadside near the apartment and then stood aside to wait.

Soon, a white guy came up and asked politely, "Excuse me, is it the Dragon King?"

"Yes, it's me."

This was the first time he had been called by this code name. Yu Tian suddenly felt that he had become much more arrogant, and even his internal energy had become more vigorous.

He glanced at the six-story apartment next to him and then asked the young white man, "Is Bono still in this apartment?"

This question could be considered as confirming Yu Tian's identity, and there was no case of mistaken identity..

Chapter 1328: Chapter 1,327, insurance

Translator: 549690339

The White Guy didn't know Yu Tian's identity, but he felt that someone with the code name of Dragon King must be a very powerful guy, much more powerful than his boss.

Moreover, his boss had reminded him that Dragon King was a big shot, even bigger than the leader of their red dragonfly, so big that it was beyond the imagination of the punks.

The white boy was as respectful to Yu Tian as if he had seen his own father.

This metaphor was not appropriate because Westerners did not respect their own father very much.

It should be said that he treated Yu Tian as if he was meeting the king.

Although the Westerners talked about freedom and democracy, they could not change their old habit of being enslaved by others.

Many Westerners felt uncomfortable without a king on their heads. Even their own kings had lost their inheritance, no one had inherited the throne, and they had to invite a king back from someone else's house.

These westerners' respectful attitude toward the king puzzled the Easterners.

The white guy treated Yu Tian as if he was a king.

He answered Yu Tian respectfully, "Yes, Mr. Dragon King. My two brothers and I have been guarding outside this apartment. Bono's lover hasn't come out since he entered the apartment..."

"Very good... What's Your Name?"

"Ah, my name is Arman.

"Well, Arman, don't be so formal... do you know which room the target lives

(I'm not sure about that. We didn't dare to follow her into the apartment because we were afraid that she would recognize us..."

At this point, Arman pulled his hair, he said confidently, "After all, I'm also a famous prostitute in red dragonfly. Those women who are kept by the big bosses like to hook up with young fresh meat like me the most. "I feel that the little girl has been secretly watching me. If she sees me, she will definitely recognize me at a glance. "At that time, she will definitely feel that something is wrong, because we usually don't come to the territory of Ice City Hell.

"Then, she might discover that we are following her, and she will suspect..."

"That's enough. "Yu Tian waved his hand with a headache. "Do you have a photo of her?"

Arman hurriedly waved his hand and said, "No! Absolutely Not! How could I possibly hide the photos of these women? I would never do such a dirty thing. If the big shots knew about it..."

"Okay, okay, I got it."

Yu Tian was also very helpless against this chatterbox.

He only had a photo of Bono himself. As for the photo of Bono's lover, no one in red dragonfly could provide it.

After pondering for a moment, Yu Tian patted Arman's shoulder and said, ('Let's go. You Go up with me."

“Go Up Together?”

“Yes, you go up with me and find that woman’s room.”

“Uh, okay, Mr. Dragon King.”

According to the boss ‘instructions, Arman had to obey the Dragon King’s orders completely, so he could not refuse Yu Tian’s request now.

Although he felt that it would be a bit dangerous to enter the apartment, this apartment was not a dangerous place. He would not be so timid as to not even have the courage to lead the way.

The two quickly entered the apartment and began to search the floor by floor.

This was actually a very troublesome matter, because they had to knock on the door one by one and then confirm who lived in the room.

The point was to knock on the door.

Other than the police, very few people could open the doors of these private houses.

Yu Tian regretted not bringing a few members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team. At least, these members had police officer credentials.

Or perhaps he should also get a few official documents. When he needed them, he could use them as a front.

This meant that everyone was not omnipotent. Even the most powerful person needed the assistance of others. Many things could not be done by himself alone.

Yu Tian could not impersonate a police officer. Not only did he not have any documents, but the main reason was that he and Arman did not dress like plainclothes detectives.

He could not turn into a robber and break into houses one by one.

Therefore, he could only let Arman impersonate an insurance salesman.

Although Arman did not look like an insurance salesman, he had to admit his identity. No one would suspect him.

After all, an insurance salesman was not an honorable profession. No one would pretend to be an insurance salesman.

After knocking on the first door, the owner of the house quickly replied,

“Who’s knocking?” “I’m an insurance salesman!”

Arman replied confidently.

The owner of the house was even more confident. “Get lost! I don’t need any insurance! YOU BUNCH OF DAMN LIARS!”

Arman was a gangster after all. How could he tolerate others being so disrespectful to him.

He immediately rolled up his sleeves, hammering at the door as he cursed,

“Bastard! Which Eye of yours saw that I’m a liar! Open the damn door! ”

The owner of the house did not show any weakness. “Bastard, get away from my door, or I’ll call the police! ”

“Call the police? You Reckless Bastard, haven’t you tasted the Iron Fist of our organization?”

Arman was aggressive, like a street thug who was about to fight with someone.

Yu Tian suddenly came back to his senses. This was indeed a street thug.

So he pulled Arman to the side and asked, “You should be able to recognize Bono’s voice, right?”

“Of course, I’m a high -level gang member who has had many intimate conversations with many big shots. I can’t be compared to those ordinary street thugs...”

Arman could not be bothered to argue with the owner of the house anymore. He immediately started boasting in front of Yu Tian.

Yu Tian had no choice but to cut him off. “Is there anything wrong with the voice of the person in the house? Is it that Bono?”

“It’s not him. I’m very familiar with his voice. He has a duck-like voice. When he speaks, he sounds like this...”

“Alright, there’s no need to describe him anymore. Let’s go to the next house.”

Yu Tian directly pulled Arman to the door of the next house.

Next, he continued to knock on the door.

“Who is it?”

“It’s the insurance seller! “Who is it?”

“It’s the insurance seller! “Who is it?”

“It’s the insurance seller! ”

This time, without Arman’s confirmation, Yu Tian knew that this was not the voice of the spy Bono.

Because it was obviously a blind parrot.

The owner of the house was not at home, and there was only one unlucky parrot in the house.

He continued to knock on the door of the next house, but there was no response from the house.

This was also a house whose owner was not at home.

In fact, most of the residents would not be at home during this time of day.

At this time, everyone should go out to work, earn money, and eat.

Except for a spy like Bono, few people would hide at home..

Chapter 1329: Chapter 1,328 -capture the target

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian suddenly realized that it was not that difficult to find Bono in this apartment.

Most of the residents in the apartment were not at home. A few knocks on the door and there was no response from the room could quickly eliminate him.

There was no need to say too much nonsense when there was a response. Arman could distinguish the voices of Bono and his lover. A few words with the room could also quickly eliminate the suspect.

This saved them a lot of time. They soon found the fourth floor of the apartment.

They knocked on the door again, but there was no response from the room.

Arman knocked twice. He waited for a few seconds, but there was still no response from the room.

He shrugged and took the initiative to walk to the next house. Yu Tian did not move. He stood quietly by the door and listened to the movements in the room.

Yu Tian did not move. He stood quietly by the door and listened to the movements in the room.

Very light footsteps could be heard from the room. These sounds could not be hidden from Yu Tian's ears.

In order to hear the movements in the room more clearly, Yu Tian had already taken off his bulletproof helmet and hung it on the belt of his pants.

Although the footsteps in the room were light, Yu Tian could hear them clearly.

It was only a door apart. To Yu Tian, it was equivalent to having no obstacles.

The footsteps stopped at the door. It was as if they were peeking through the peephole.

However, Arman had already left the door. Yu Tian stood at the side of the door. The person behind the door could not see anything.

The person behind the door peeked through the peephole for a while. Then, he quietly retreated.

Yu Tian also quietly took two steps forward and pressed his ear against the door.

This way, he could hear it more clearly.

Someone was whispering in the room.

A male voice asked, "Who is it?"

A female voice said, "I don't know. He knocked on the door a few times and then left he might be selling insurance."

Yu Tian grinned. His guess was right.

The male voice let out a long sigh. "No matter what it is, don't open the door. You must keep it a secret..."

The female voice said impatiently, "I don't know what you're afraid of. This is the Ice City Hell's territory. Don't tell me they can find us here?" "It's the same for everyone. They might find us."

"Didn't you talk to the Ice City HelPs People? Don't they have someone protecting you nearby?"

“What do you know? You have no idea how terrifying the people behind the red dragonfly are. If they really want to find us, the Ice City Hell ‘s people won’t be able to do anything...”

The female voice was a little surprised. “Then why did you come to the hell of Ice City’s territory?”

The male voice said in a low voice, “Lower Your Voice. The people outside might not have left yet.

The female voice lowered her voice again. “There’s no one outside. I just saw it.

The male voice said, “That’s not necessarily true. We have to be more careful.

The female voice sighed. “I’ve already stayed here with you for two days. It’s too boring. I want to go to the beach...”

(‘We’ll talk about it after this period of time.”

“You haven’t answered my question just now. Why are we hiding here? Since the hell of ice city’s territory isn’t safe, why don’t we leave the Mini Bull Market?”

“I still have work here. I still have some things to discuss with the hell of Ice City.

(‘How long do we have to stay here? I don ‘t want to stay here anymore. I want to go out for a walk, watch a movie, or go shopping...”

“No, you can’t. Now, other than going out to buy necessary food and daily necessities, try not to show your face outside.

“But this is too boring...”

“If you don’t want to become a pauper in the future, you’d better do as I say!

Now, Yu Tian didn’t need to confirm the identity of the people in the house through Arman.

Bono and his lover were these two.

Yu Tian didn’t waste any more time and pushed the door open.

The lock was broken in an instant, and the two people in the house were dumbfounded.

Yu Tian Strode into the house. Armand was stunned for a moment, suddenly realizing that this big shot was indeed amazing, just like the legendary Holy Knight.

He immediately followed Yu Tian into the house and closed the door.

While the two people in the house were still in a daze, Yu Tian had already walked up to them.

“Bono, it’s really not easy to find you.”

Yu Tian sat down on the sofa in front of Bono with a smile.

Bono did not even dare to think of escaping.

He had already met Yu Tian during the red dragonfly’s high-level meeting and had also witnessed Yu Tian’s methods.

From the moment Yu Tian entered the room, he had recognized Yu Tian and realized that it was impossible for him to escape.

It was even more impossible for him to resist. At Bono’s age, he might not even be able to defeat Armand.

Bono sat on the sofa and did not dare to move. 1–1’s lover was also influenced by him and did not dare to act rashly.

After a long while, Bono smiled bitterly and said, “Boss...”

Yu Tian interrupted him, “You’re using the wrong name. I’m not your boss. Kronin Association is your boss.

Bono was instantly speechless.

Yu Tian said again, “Alright Bono, there’s no need to talk nonsense. You know what topic I’m interested in. You should say something useful to me. That will give you a greater chance of survival.

Bono smiled bitterly. “Actually, I never thought of betraying the red dragonfly. I just never thought that you would be an enemy of the organization...”

Bono had two identities. The first was the leader of the red dragonfly, and the other was a gangster who had been a gangster for decades.

The other identity came later, and that was to become a member of the Clone Society.

The reason he had joined the clone society was simple. It was to make money.

Of course, although the clone society was rich, it couldn’t make its members rich.

Bono could make money from the Clone Society for a reason.

The Clone Society's biggest business was genetic research.

Their gene reagents were developed for humans, so animal experiments were meaningless to them.

They needed a lot of living people for human testing.

Bono had a way to do that.

There were a lot of human traffickers in the mini-bull market, and tourists went missing all the time in this godforsaken tourist city. Not only tourists, but locals went missing all the time.

Especially the black refugees, the immigrants.

The black guys were not popular in the city, and the police didn't bother to track them down they thought they were wandering to another city.

In addition, most of the professional women in the mini-bull market were abducted from abroad.

Therefore, for the local gangs in the mini-bull market, human trafficking was a very common business.

Gangs like the red dragonfly, which mainly engaged in the flesh business, naturally had some contact with these human traffickers and occasionally bought some fresh blood..

Chapter 1330: Chapter 1,329, abandoning children

Translator: 549690339

Although the red dragonfly had never been a compulsive trader, it also advocated that women should be willing to engage in this industry in order to improve their service level.

However, there would always be times when they were short of manpower and labor shortage.

Therefore, they occasionally needed to replenish their fresh blood and buy a few foreign women from those human traffickers.

Bono, as an elder of the red dragonfly, had been in the mini-bull market for so many years, so he naturally knew many human traffickers.

He was able to get sufficient supplies from various human traffickers, which was exactly what the clone society needed as business partners.

Bono collected goods from various human traffickers, then gathered them together and sold them to the clone society at a high price.

For convenience, the Kronin Association was willing to hand over these trivial matters to Bono.

After several transactions, the Kronin Association decided to recruit Bono and let him become an official human business agent.

In these few transactions, Bono also sensed the powerful strength of the Kronin Association.

Red Dragonfly, this small gang that lived in the crevice, really made Bono not feel too safe.

The recruitment of the Clone Society made him feel that he had found a backer and a way out.

The two parties hit it off and Bono became a member of the Clone Society.

From then on, Bono had two identities. On the surface, he was the leader of a gang, but on the surface, he was a member of a secret organization.

These two identities did not conflict, and Bono did not want to betray red dragonfly.

The KLONI Society did not ask him to betray the red dragonfly, or to say that the KLONI society was not interested in the red dragonfly.

Bono's income did not change much after he became a member of the KLONI society.

The KLONI Society was not a charity organization, and it did not give money to its members for no reason.

Bono enjoyed the benefits of the Kloni Society's powerful force, which provided him with security.

They included combat teams on call, secret official support, and all kinds of information and resources from the Kronin Society.

Bono also obtained a new identity through the Kronin Society and bought property in a neighboring country.

This made him feel even more secure.

If he couldn't survive in the gang business that day, or if the red dragonfly was destroyed, or if he encountered a bad situation where he was being hunted down, he could escape to a neighboring country and hide his identity for the rest of his life, he could be a wealthy man.

Of course, Bono felt that he had the support of Kronin, so he wouldn't have to run away.

Bono took a share of the profits from red dragonfly and did business in private.

His life was much more comfortable than other red dragonfly people.

Sometimes, something would happen, such as being targeted by the authorities. Kronin would help him settle the matter quickly.

Bono felt that he should be able to continue living peacefully until he met Yu Tian.

During the internal meeting of the Red Dragonfly, Yu Tian had split the spy of Ice City's Hell in two, giving Bono a shock.

He secretly took a video and sent it back to the Kronen Association. In the end, Kronen informed him that he was an important enemy of the organization.

As such, he provided information about Yu Tian to the Kronen Association, including the relationship between Yu Tian and Mina.

This was how Mina was followed and monitored, and then the genetic warriors attacked Yu Tian.

Later on, the Technical Department of the East Dragon Company backtracked and found out who was following Yu Tian and Mina.

Yu Tian personally went to capture them, forcing the information technicians of the clone society to self-destruct.

After Bono received this information, he immediately started running.

He felt that Yu Tian would find out about him sooner or later, and he was definitely not Yu Tian's match.

"Since you've already planned to run, why are you still staying in the Mini Bull Market? And you've even run to the territory of Ice City Hell?"

Yu Tian continued to ask.

Bono said helplessly, "I also wanted to run directly to a neighboring country, but... the Kronin Society won't let me go. They've arranged a new mission for me. I can only leave the mini bull market after I've completed the task."

"If they don't let you run, you really won't Run?" Yu Tianle couldn't help but tease, "Are you so honest?"

Bono said helplessly, "If they don't let me run, I really can't run. "They know about my new passport and my business in the neighboring country... and they have the ability to tamper with my passport so that I can't leave the country. I can't even get on a plane. As soon as I enter the airport, I'm arrested by the police..."

This was a very normal phenomenon. Any secret organization would closely manage and control its members.

If its members could run away if they wanted to, and leave the organization if they wanted to, then such an organization would have long been broken up.

Bono wanted to get rid of the clone society, unless he encountered a situation like the East Dragon Company, where there was a large-scale rebellion in the organization so that the higher-ups couldn't care about a small fry like him.

Only then would he have a chance to escape the sight of the clone society.

However, the East Dragon Company was still different from the clone society.

Although the East Dragon Company had strict control over its members, it was more humane. It was not to the extent of forcing its members to take risks.

In a situation like Bono's, which should have been an emergency evacuation, it was impossible to force him to stay and continue working.

Yu Tian could not help but tease Bono again. "Looks like you've been tricked by the Kronin Society."

Bono still smiled wryly, his smile stiff.

Yu Tian asked again, "Then, why would Kronin want you to stay?"

Bono hesitated for a moment, then said, "It's not a big deal... They want me to assist Ice City Hell to deal with blue underpants together."

Yu Tian could not help but laugh. "Ask you to help? How are you going to help? Fight Blue Underpants with a knife and a gun? This is really a big responsibility..."

Bono's greatest value was nothing more than providing Ice City Hell with some information about the Red Dragonfly.

However, his identity had been exposed, and all the information he could provide had been handed over to the Clone Society, so it was impossible for him to get any new information in the future.

Secondly, he could also act as a liaison between the Clone Society and Ice City Hell. He could use the Clone Society's Combat Team to help Ice City Hell fight.

However, these things were not necessary for Bono. There were plenty of people in the Clone Society who could complete these tasks.

Whether it was intelligence or operations, there would be people who could do better than Bono, and they would be more suitable.

Bono was no longer valuable.

These jobs that could be easily replaced by others had to be handed over to Bono. It was obvious that they wanted him to stay in the bull market and wait for death.

Would Kronin treat worthless abandoned children like this?

Yu Tian even felt a little sympathetic for Bono's fate.

Bono was suddenly enlightened by Yu Tian's question.

He also realized that the Clone Society's arrangement was to treat him like a piece of trash, and his face instantly became even uglier..

I Have 108 Older Sisters #Chapter 1331 - 1,330. Keep him - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1331 - 1,330. Keep him

Chapter 1331: Chapter 1,330. Keep him

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian looked at Bono's face and sighed. "So... you've already told the people of Ice City Hell that Blue Underpants helped Red Dragonfly?"

Bono shook his head. "No, I haven't had the chance to tell them.

Yu Tian nodded slightly and said, "Then, the Kronin Society should know about blue underpants, red dragonfly, and my relationship, right?"

Bono nodded silently.

It was precisely because they knew about the background of blue underpants and red dragonfly that the Kronin Society made the decision to let Bono Help Ice City Hell deal with blue underpants.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and asked again, "What is the relationship between the Kronin Society and Ice City Hell?"

Bono shook his head and said, "There is no relationship. As far as I know... They have no previous connection.

"Oh?" Yu Tian frowned and said, "Did the members of the Clone Society tell you why they want to help Icecrown Hell deal with Blue Underpants?"

Bono said, "They said that the enemy of the enemy is a friend. "Since blue underpants and red dragonfly are both businesses of donglong company, then we should support Icecrown Hell and let Icecrown Hell suppress the development of blue underpants and red dragonfly..."

"Suppress? Won't Kronin directly attack Blue Underpants?"

Yu Tian was slightly puzzled. If Kronin would personally come down, it would be too easy to deal with these gangs.

Even if they didn't send out genetic warriors and only used ordinary personnel, it would be enough to beat Blue Underpants and red dragonfly to a pulp, or even wipe them out.

What the hell was this suppression?

Could it be the same plot as in the movie? The villains could have killed the main character, but they were unwilling to kill him. Instead, they had to drag it out slowly and send the small soldiers to the main character bit by bit to give him more experience..

Yu Tian could not understand.

Bono was also puzzled. "I don't know. They did not say how to deal with these matters. They just told me to help Ice City Hell and suppress blue underpants and Red Dragonfly's development..."

Yu Tian rubbed his head. "Okay, then... what resources did Kroni leave for you? What kind of support are they going to give Ice City Hell?"

"Resources?"

Bono was slightly stunned, and then his face turned ugly again. "They just asked me to talk about cooperation with Ice City Hell. They didn't tell me anything else, and they didn't leave me any... resources.

Yu Tian sighed. "It seems that you're really an abandoned child... they probably left you in the Mini Bull Market so that you could act as a bait to attract me...

In order to capture Bono, Yu Tian was ambushed by He Feihong yesterday.

If he didn't have a way to get rid of the poison ten incense tendons powder, he would probably have fallen into he Feihong's hands.

Speaking of which, Bono could be considered to have played a part as a bait.

However, other than that, Bono had no other value.

Looking at his current appearance, it seemed like he had already been abandoned by the clone society.

He was a typical case of being sent to the border without a care in the world.

Bono also understood his own situation and immediately became dejected.

Yu Tian shook his head slightly and said, "You should already understand your own situation. Is there anything else you want to tell me now? For example, your superiors, contacts, colleagues in the clone society..."

"I have a few contact details, phone numbers, internet accounts, email addresses...

Bono did not hesitate and immediately took out all the information he knew.

However, other than the names and contact details of a few members of the Clone Society, he did not have any other detailed information.

The technical team behind Yu Tian immediately checked these information.

The result was also expected. All the phone and internet software could not be contacted. Even the number had been canceled.

The only remaining contact method was the email address. However, these email addresses were all on the Dark Net's server. If the other party did not reply to any emails, these email addresses would lose their meaning.

This result made Yu Tian shake his head repeatedly. He had almost lost interest in Bono, who was abandoned.

In fact, Bono was only a formal member at the lowest level of the KLONI association, which was just an additional formal identity in name compared to the peripheral members.

In terms of rank, the low-level administrators and the low-level operational personnel were all the same.

It was just that the operational personnel only cared about fighting and did not have any power in the organization.

The low-level administrators had much more power than the operational personnel, and their income was higher, and their lives were much more comfortable.

However, in the eyes of the higher-ups of the organization, the operational personnel were obviously more trustworthy because their environment was simpler and there was little possibility of betrayal.

The lower-level managers were different. The organization had to be prepared for their betrayal at any time. The system had to have emergency and preventive measures.

For a mercenary gang member like Bono, Kroni would naturally not give him too much trust and would not expose him to too many internal affairs.

It could be said that Bono was destined to be abandoned.

If he was just doing his human trade in the red dragonfly, he might have been able to continue doing so.

However, after he sold Yu Tian's information, he had completely lost his value.

To Kronny, Bono, who did not have the identity of the red dragonfly leader and had become a stray dog, was not worth as much as an ordinary operational member.

At least the operative was more capable of fighting than Bono, and could also charge at the frontline of battle.

Yu Tian began to think about how to deal with Bono, this piece of trash.

Should he be simply executed, or should he continue to explore his usefulness.

What other use could he have on him?

At this moment, a soft sound came from the helmet on Yu Tian's waist. It was a notification of a communication connection.

Therefore, Yu Tian put on the helmet and connected to the internal phone of Donglong network.

“Keep him.

The person who spoke was Brother Pig Liang. He even yawned loudly as he spoke.

Yu Tian smiled and said, “You’re finally online. Did you just wake up?”

Brother Pig Liang said, “Yes, I slept for a while just now. ”

Sleeping for a while just now and sleeping for a while last night were two completely different things.

This meant that Zhu Gelang often stayed up late to work, and his level of diligence was really on par with Zhuge Liang’ s.

Yu Tian could not help but be a little worried. “You don’t have to do everything yourself. Some tasks can be assigned to the other management of the company to complete. There are so many people in the headquarters. It’s impossible that you can’t even find a few assistants, right? You have to believe in the power of the masses...

Brother pig smiled and said, (‘I know. I’ve been recruiting assistants recently...

Yu Tian was slightly stunned. “Recruiting? Recruiting from outside?”

Brother pig said, “That’s right. There are many things in the company that are put on the surface, such as the business department....”

Chapter 1332: Chapter 1,331: Traitors as undercover agents

Translator: 549690339

Donglong company had now established a group company in China, and was ready to publicly restructure its branches abroad and take control of the company openly.

These tasks would be carried out openly.

Therefore, Zhu Gelang had begun to recruit professional business talents directly in the eastern country, and was ready to manage and operate donglong group as a normal company.

Professional people did professional things, and there was no need to hide when doing business.

Such operations would not only be more professional and efficient, but the pressure and gap in the company's talent demand would also be greatly reduced.

In addition, some jobs in the technical department, such as the R & D and manufacturing department under the technical department, could also be openly recruited to obtain a large number of talents from the eastern country.

The eastern country's talent pool was already considered the world's first, so recruiting talents was naturally not a problem.

After solving the talent problem, Donglong Company's development would naturally be much smoother, and so would Zhu Ge Liang.

Zhu Ge Liang explained a little to Yu Tian before changing the topic, "Let's not talk about this. Let's talk about this spy in front of you... Bono, is that the

"Yes. "

"Let him live and let him continue to work for us."

"Work for us? You want a traitor to betray us again?"

Yu Tian did not quite understand. He felt that people like Bono were unreliable.

Piggy Liang smiled and said, "He's not a traitor. He's just a spy."

"Are there so many differences?"

"There's a big difference. "Piggy Liang smiled and said, "Take a guess. Why would Kronny want him to cooperate with Ice City Hell?"

"What's there to guess? Kronny would want Ice City Hell to deal with Blue Underpants. "

"Why do you think Kronny didn't personally participate in the battle? Instead, he wanted to borrow Ice City Hell's Power? If they acted on their own, it wouldn't take them more than a few days to deal with blue underpants and red dragonfly, right?"

"I think..." Yu Tian pondered for a moment. "Perhaps they don't want to create too much chaos in the mini bull market and avoid attracting the attention of the authorities..."

Brother Pig smiled. "They even dare to use genetic warriors to start a war. Why are they afraid of creating chaos? This isn't the main reason."

Yu Tian asked doubtfully, "Then what are they trying to do? Give Blue underpants some experience?"

Brother Pig smiled. "You're thinking too much... actually, regardless of whether it's for us or the Kronin society, these gangs aren't important departments. "Gang affairs aren't important matters either, especially gangs in a single city... Even if blue underpants and red dragonfly are all destroyed, it won't have much of an impact on the strength of our East Dragon Company. Yu Tian nodded and said, "That's right..."

Piggy Liang sighed and said, "So that's the problem. Mina is your woman..." "She's just my old classmate," Yu Tian corrected him immediately.

Piggy Liang said, "Alright, she's your old classmate... but Kronin wouldn't think so. They would think that your relationship with Mina is extraordinary, so they would waste a lot of time and energy on Mina to help her develop red dragonfly and make her the underground queen of the Mini Bull Market..."

Yu Tian could not help but laugh. "I just want Donglong Company to control more power. Moreover, Mina might not stay in red dragonfly in the future. If she has enough ability, we can arrange a more suitable position for her in the future..."

Brother pig said, "But Kronin won't know what you're thinking, and you've been wasting a little too much time in the mini bull market recently..."

Yu Tian said helplessly, "So, Kronin will think that I'll personally participate in the Red Dragonfly's matter?"

Piggy Liang said, "At least they think that you'll be very concerned about the red dragonfly's matter and spend a lot of time and energy on Mina and the red dragonfly."

Yu Tian could not help but laugh. "So they want to use the red dragonfly to stall me? Or even to keep me in the mini-bull market?"

"That's more or less what they mean," Piggy Liang said. "They may not even have the intention to completely destroy the red dragonfly. They only plan to let the Ice City Hell and the red dragonfly waste their time. "Other than providing some financial aid to the ice city hell or assisting some ordinary personnel, they don't need to waste any energy at all..."

Yu Tian said helplessly, "I won't waste too much energy on the red dragonfly."

Brother pig said, "But you'll stay in the Mini Bull Market and intervene in the red dragonfly from time to time... actually, it's not a big deal to waste some time and energy. The most important thing is that if you often take part in the operation for a small matter, it's equivalent to giving Kronin more chances to assassinate..."

Yu Tian shrugged. "I can't wait for them to send more people to assassinate me, so I can take care of them one by one."

Piggy Liang sighed. "Perhaps, Kronin won't waste too much energy on assassinating you. They can hire assassins. "Is there any point in wasting your time on those assassins and gangs like Ice City and Hell?"

Assassins were paid to do things. The enemies and targets of the East Dragon Company were not those assassins.

Yu Tian fighting with those assassins was obviously a very irrational act.

He should not have fought with those assassins and wasted his time. Yu Tian pondered for a moment and then said, "Then what do you plan to do?"

Brother pig smiled and said, "Let blue underpants and red dragonfly handle these problems on their own. Also, let Bono go to Ice City Hell as a spy. "With such a spy, Ice City Hell is even less of a threat to Mina and the others." "Bono... is this guy reliable?"

"That's not important. Even if he's unreliable, he won't cause too much damage to blue underpants and red dragonfly." "Furthermore, he's also an elder of red dragonfly. If we give him another chance to contribute to red dragonfly, I don't think he'll really work for Kronin anymore."

"Alright." Yu Tian sighed. "Then how do you plan to arrange this Bono? Also, how's the war between Red Dragonfly and Ice City Hell?"

Brother pig said, "Red Dragonfly has already formed an alliance with those small gangs and has already started a war with Ice City Hell." At this stage, they were only assassinating the leaders of those gangs. At least half of the leaders of that small gang called big wave had been killed. "The leaders of the alliance also suffered some losses, but..."

Piggy Liang suddenly said seriously, "You don't need to care about these gang wars. "As an important force of the East Dragon Company, you should at least invest in battles at the level of genetic warriors. "You should be concerned about the main force and members of the Clone Society, as well as those traitors of the East Dragon Company..."

"Traitors? Any news on those traitors?"

Chapter 1333: Chapter 1,332: It's time for me to run

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian immediately became excited at the mention of the traitor.

The headquarters of the DONGLONG company had already moved to Donglong Kingdom. The internal structure of the company had also been messed up and rebuilt.

Moreover, the positions and residences of the company's members had been moved on a large scale..

It could be said that the information that the traitor possessed about the DONGLONG company had basically become history. It was also basically impossible to cause any damage to the new donglong company.

However, the existence of the traitors had always been a hidden danger to the East Dragon Company.

If there were some omissions in the structure or personnel of the new company, the traitors still had the opportunity to cause trouble for the East Dragon Company.

Therefore, the matter of cleaning up the traitors was still very important.

Piggy Liang said calmly, "We have already obtained some information about the traitors, but we haven't confirmed their location yet. You should now get out of other things and be ready to deal with the traitors at any time. Yu Tian smiled and said, "No problem."

Piggy Liang said, "Then, now I'll tell you how to arrange Bono..."

"Okay.

Piggy Liang briefly explained the arrangements for Bono and then cut off the communication.

Yu Tian took off his helmet and looked at Bono again.

Bono did not dare to move from the beginning to the end, and his lover did not dare to take a deep breath beside him.

Yu Tian said slowly, "Bono..."

Bono knew that his plan was coming. He quickly sat up straight and put on an obedient and obedient look.

Yu Tian had not killed him for so long. He suddenly felt that he might still have a chance to survive.

Sure enough, Yu Tian said, "Bono, I can give you a chance."

Bono quickly said, "Thank you, boss. I will definitely seize this opportunity."

Yu Tian shook his head and said, "You don't have to call me boss anymore. When you have done what I asked you to do, I can let you leave the mini-bull market and take your property to a certain country to live the rest of your life peacefully..."

('Thank you, thank you...

Bono thanked him profusely.

He did not expect to be able to return to the red dragonfly as his leader. It was already a huge luxury for Yu Tian to spare his life.

Moreover, he could also take away his own assets. This was a pleasant surprise.

Of course, he still had to work for Yu Tian and there might be danger.

However, no matter how dangerous the mission that Yu Tian arranged was, he could only agree to it first.

Bono thought to himself, as long as he could escape death in front of him, everything would be easy in the future.

If the mission Yu Tian arranged was easier, then he would finish it well and take the money to retire abroad.

If the mission Yu Tian arranged for him was too dangerous, then he might as well give up everything and run away immediately.

In short, it was impossible to work for the colony.

In fact, if Bono really wanted to run away, it was not completely impossible.

However, his identity and assets were under the surveillance of the colony. If he ran away, he would not be able to take a single cent with him. He would only be able to leave with nothing. From then on, he would become a common homeless refugee on the streets of the windy nation.

However, compared to being able to live, it was not unacceptable to become a homeless person.

Bono had his own plans in mind, but his expression did not change.

Actually, Yu Tian could also guess his thoughts. After all, survival was a human 's instinct.

Yu Tian calmly said, "Your mission is not complicated. It is to continue to maintain your current identity and continue to interact with Ice City Hell. According to the requirements of the Clone Society, Help Ice City Hell deal with the Blue Underpants...

Bono was not stupid. He immediately said, "Then, I will provide information to the red dragonfly in the Dark?"

Yu Tian said, "That's about it. We will have someone specifically to contact you for the specific matter. You have Mina's previous contact information. You can contact Mina yourself later..."

Bono quickly nodded and said, "Okay, I will contact Miss Mina as soon as possible. "

This mission was not difficult for him. If he hid it carefully, there would not be any danger.

Bono finally heaved a sigh of relief.

"Also..."

Yu Tian glanced at his lover beside Bono and sighed. "I'm sorry, she's about to die..."

Bono's lover's face instantly turned pale, and her lips trembled so much that she could not speak.

Bono glanced at the woman beside him and said ruthlessly, "Yes, we must kill her to silence her. We must ensure that what happened today will not be leaked..."

"Bono, you bastard, you were still F * cking me last night..."

The woman immediately went crazy. She originally thought that if Bono did not have to die, she would not have to die either.

However, she did not expect that she would actually be silenced now.

This made her both shocked and indignant.

She scolded Bono angrily, as if she was going to fight Bono to the death.

But before Bono could fight with her, she suddenly jumped up on the sofa and ran toward the door.

Unfortunately, before she could take two steps, she was shot through the head by Yu Tian with a tiny sword energy and fell to the ground.

Yu Tian was now very familiar with the control of the Shang Yang Sword. He did not need to expend too much internal energy just to kill someone.

The sword qi the size of a hair was enough to take a person's life.

This way, it would be environmentally friendly and save on Blue. It would not scare the children anymore.

Seeing his lover die, Bono's emotions were a little complicated, but he quickly recovered.

As long as he was still alive, it was good enough, wasn't it?

Yu Tian retracted his finger and said calmly, "Killing her wasn't just to silence her..."

Bono replied absent-mindedly, "Oh.

Yu Tian continued, "I found your apartment today. This matter definitely couldn't be hidden from the Kronin Society. "So your hiding place has been exposed now. Your woman was killed after I found her. "As for you... Think of an excuse yourself. How did you just happen to not be in the apartment, and thus escaped a disaster..."

Bono immediately came back to his senses. "Yes, I just happened to go downstairs to buy cigarettes. Oh No. I don't smoke. and I won't go downstairs easily... I, I just happened to go to the rooftop to get some fresh air!

"Very good, the rooftop is indeed a good place to get some fresh air. So, I didn't find you in your apartment, so I will definitely continue to search the other rooms, all the way to the rooftop... What should you do?"

Yu Tian glanced at Bono.

Bono immediately stood up. "When I was about to return to my room, it just so happened that... Yes, I discovered that you guys had just entered my room, so I knew that something had happened, so I immediately sneaked downstairs..."

Yu Tian nodded. "Very good, then you should run now."

"Yes, sir, I Should Run."

Boehner took another look at his lover's corpse on the ground, then ran out of the room without looking back..

Chapter 1334: Chapter 1,333, ACALAN?THA

Translator: 549690339

Bono left the apartment, and Yu Tian asked Arman to slightly fake the scene.

In fact, there wasn't much need for disguises at the scene. Just Open the tables and cabinets, dig out all the things inside, and casually throw them on the ground as if they had been searched.

The woman's body didn't need to be placed on purpose, because after they entered the apartment, they could have all kinds of interactions with the woman, including questioning, threatening, and beating..

The woman could also react in any way, including feigning civility and running for her life..

Therefore, no matter where the woman died and what posture she took, there could be a reasonable explanation.

Forging the scene was not the main point. The main point was that Yu Tian suddenly remembered that he had not checked if there were any eavesdropping devices in the room.

This apartment was personally selected and rented by Bono's lover. In theory, neither Kroni nor ice city hell had the time to set up eavesdropping devices, and Bono would definitely check it carefully after he moved in.

However, in order to feel at ease, Yu Tian still carefully searched it.

His helmet had the sensing function of an electronic device, so it was not too troublesome to conduct such a search. At the same time, it could make the scene look more like it had been searched.

Soon, the apartment was cleaned by Yu Tian and Arman, and there was nothing special.

Then, Yu Tian continued to knock on the door at a leisurely pace, harassing all the residents in the apartment.

In the end, he couldn't let go of the rooftop. Yu Tian pretended to go up to the rooftop and check it out.

Obviously, his operation failed again, and Bono, the spy, ran away again. After completing these tasks, Yu Tian returned to the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

And Arman, the lucky person who accompanied Yu Tian into the apartment to search, was given a chance to "Travel abroad. ".

In order to avoid revealing the truth from Arman, Yu Tian sent him to other regions to receive training as an intelligence officer.

Although Arman was a bit of a braggart, he did have a good appearance. It was not an exaggeration to call him a red dragonfly.

Such a young man was most suitable to be a liar and then to hook up with some Important People's women and get information from them.

To make the best use of everything and make the best use of everyone was the most suitable arrangement for Arman.

After finishing these things, Yu Tian was free again.

Apart from continuing to practice, he had nothing else to do for the time being.

He now practiced the nameless internal strength every day during his sleep time, and after waking up, he began to practice the gentle steps of the waves.

For the time being, he did not continue to practice the other sword techniques of the six meridians divine sword because the difficulty was too high. Moreover, Yu Tian felt that having the Shang Yang sword technique was enough.

The Sword Qi had the feeling of killing Gods and Buddhas when they blocked it.

As for the other martial arts, including the nameless lightness skill and the golden bell cover iron shirt, Yu Tian also did not practice them for the time being.

The nameless lightness skill was also a martial art that only had one level. According to HE Feihong, this was a low-grade martial art that did not have much room for improvement.

Yu Tian's practice to this extent was already considered to be his limit. His jumping ability and traveling speed had also reached a bottleneck.

Therefore, there was not much point in continuing to practice the nameless lightness skill.

As for the golden bell cover and the iron cloth shirt, Yu Tian felt that they were not very effective, nor did they have much effect.

Moreover, this kind of body-protection cross-training martial art was also very difficult. Yu Tian felt that it might not be suitable for him, or it might have been a garbage martial art to begin with.

Therefore, Yu Tian prepared to unlock the new posture.

According to he Feihong, among the martial arts he had collected, there was a very good body-protection martial art.

Yu Tian searched carefully and very quickly found it from a pile of information.

Body-protection martial art Acalan?tha.

He Feihong did not lie about this kind of business. This ACALAN?THA had a total of twelve levels.

However, after Yu Tian roughly looked at the body-protection martial art's training method, he was instantly dumbfounded.

This was not a set of martial arts that used inner energy to defend, but a set of martial arts that used inner energy to temper one's body.

This kind of martial arts that used inner energy to temper one's body sounded awesome, but the training method was not something that an ordinary person could accept.

To put it bluntly, Acalan?tha was training his body to improve his ability to withstand blows.

This was the same as the most basic horizontal training martial arts. One could only improve and become stronger by getting beaten up.

This was not something that he could accomplish alone. Yu Tian still had to find someone to beat him up with a weapon.

Moreover, an ordinary person would not be able to do this job because the strength of the blow was too light. It would not be able to temper one's body at all.

If one wanted to achieve success in this martial arts, one would have to exhaust a few sparring partners to death.

In addition, the human body had a limit.

No matter how tough the muscles were, they could not be as tough as steel.

The Big Guy's body, which had been modified by genetic technology, could only withstand some small caliber firearms.

No matter how powerful the ACALAN?THA King was, it was impossible for him to turn Yu Tian into a superman.

Yu Tian felt that unless he released his internal energy and formed a protective layer on the surface of his body, it would be able to have a strong defensive effect.

It was only to temper his body, and it was impossible for his body to exceed the limits of a human.

Was this Acalan?tha King worth his training?

Yu Tian carefully read some of the ACALAN?THA King's descriptions. According to the secret manual, after Acalan?tha King had trained to a certain level, his internal energy would fuse with his body, forming a powerful defensive force.

Whether this powerful defensive force could defend against bullets was not stated in the secret manual.

When inner strength and the body were fused together, whether it was physical defense or magic defense, Yu Tian could not figure it out.

After thinking about it, Yu Tian felt that since he had nothing to do, he might as well try to practice one level first.

After all, the ACALAN?THA was a high-grade secret manual, so it should not be too fraudulent.

First, he circulated his qi and circulated his inner strength according to the way the ACALAN?THA operated, covering his entire body.

Then, he started to get beaten up.

Fortunately, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had a lot of violent men. Yu Tian randomly called a few members to take turns and beat him up with a stick.

That posture was similar to when he practiced the hard qi technique in the army.

After beating him for half an hour, Yu Tian couldn't take it anymore.

Getting beaten up was very painful at first, but it became even more painful when he was repeatedly beaten at the same spot.

In the end, his entire body became numb. He only knew the pain, but he didn't know where it was.

Pain wasn't just a feeling, it also consumed a lot of physical energy.

The few strong men were very tired, and Yu Tian himself was also extremely tired. His entire body was covered in sweat.

Although everyone said that they had never seen someone who could take a beating like this.

Yu Tian decided to stop practicing.

This kind of cultivation method was really painful, and Yu Tian did not know how long he could last.

Fortunately, he could still heal himself. The nameless inner strength was a very good healing method..

Chapter 1335: Chapter 1,334. The base was ambushed

Translator: 549690339

The first day of cultivation passed just like that. Yu Tian was so tired that he laid on the bed for the entire night.

He was too lazy to get up and practice the gentle steps of the soaring waves. All he wanted to do was lie down and practice the nameless internal force.

The next day, he felt that his body was a little stiff. He did not know if it was because he had been beaten too badly that his nerves had developed an illusion or if the ACALAN?THA King had such an effect to begin with.

Yu Tian decided to stop practicing and let his body recover to get used to it.

In any case, the ACALAN?TI-IA King did not require a specific training rhythm. He only asked the practitioner to act according to his ability and not beat him to death.

At night, Yu Tian finally felt that his body was a little more normal. His nerves and feelings had recovered, and the stiffness in his body had basically disappeared.

However, he did not continue to practice Acalan?tha. He felt that it was better to rest for two days and consolidate the effects of Yesterday's practice.

Although body protection kungfu was an important thing to protect his life, Yu Tian now had a set of powerful protective equipment, so he did not have to practice body protection.

At night, he practiced limbo micro step again, and then went to bed early to rest.

After sleeping until midnight, Yu Tian was suddenly woken up by a series of intense gunshots.

Then, a series of loud explosions sounded one after another, and the entire building shook like an earthquake.

Yu Tian jumped up from his bed, quickly put on his equipment, and took his weapon.

At this time, countless gunshots were heard inside and outside the base.

Clearly, someone was attacking the Wild Fox Secret Service base and exchanging fire with the sentry guards.

Yu Tian's first thought was that the genetic warriors of the Clone Society had come for a sneak attack.

Actually, the Wild Fox Secret Service had always been on guard against sneak attacks from genetic warriors. The location of their base was indeed a very suitable place for sneak attacks.

Their base was located in the suburbs. There were no residents around.

Even if this place caused a huge ruckus, it would not cause any chaos in the mini bull market.

Usually, there would be some shooting targets in the base. The citizens would not be surprised when they passed by.

Everyone knew that this was the base of the police force. The officials would not even bother with the sound of gunshots.

Compared to the police forces stationed in the city, the Wild Fox Special Forces could be considered a frontier force.

However, Piggy Liang did not have any intention of moving the Wild Fox

Special Forces. He did not mind Kronny running over to attack this base.

In other words, he was looking forward to Kronny's sneak attack.

It was not a bad thing to let the Wild Fox Special Forces and genetic warriors fight a few rounds.

The goal wasn't just to train the soldiers, but also to exhaust the number of genetic warriors.

Piggy Liang felt that there was a huge flaw in the genetic warriors.

Not to mention the cost of producing the gene reagent, the clone would be able to amass money all over the world. No matter what, they would be able to support these expenses.

Their biggest flaw was that the number of genetic warriors was bound to be limited.

Regardless of which generation of genetic agents they produced or how high the success rate was, the genetic modification process of genetic warriors would inevitably be accompanied by a large number of deaths.

As for the death rate of those experimental subjects, even if it was an official genetic modification of genetic warriors, there would still be a high death rate.

Therefore, the production of genetic warriors could not be too outrageous. It was impossible for them to be produced as quickly as a factory assembly line.

In addition, the reason why Kroni would create these genetic warriors was because they had to be chosen from their own personnel.

This was the only way to ensure their loyalty and control over the genetic warriors.

It was impossible for them to simply go out and capture a strong man before transforming into their own genetic warriors.

Even if such genetic warriors did not rebel, they did not have any fighting spirit.

If they could not properly receive military training and cultivate their own fighting spirit, these genetic warriors that had been modified by civilians would not be considered warriors at all.

Other than being able to take a beating, they would only be living targets on the battlefield.

Therefore, the production of genetic warriors was not a simple matter. They would always be limited by the supply of "Raw materials."

After a certain amount of production was reached, the production of the clones would be greatly reduced due to the lack of "Raw materials." As a result, the production of genetic warriors would even be halted.

Therefore, the DONGLONG company only needed to kill as many genetic warriors as possible.

In the end, they would discover that the number of genetic warriors was decreasing until the clone would no longer have any new members to replenish.

Of course, during this process, the Eastern Dragon Company would naturally lose a lot of members.

However, for the Eastern Dragon Company, the price of recruiting an ordinary warrior was not too high. At least, the price was many times lower than the price of producing a genetic warrior from the clone.

This kind of mutual consumption was a very advantageous thing for the Eastern Dragon Company.

Piggy Liang was happy to see this happen. He welcomed the genetic warriors to provoke the Eastern Dragon Company's operations department.

This was much better than letting the genetic warriors destroy the other departments of the Dong Long Company.

The reason why the Wild Fox Secret Service team was stationed so casually in the outskirts of calf city was to give the Kronin society a convenient target to choose and attract the attention of the Kronin Society to the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team had long been prepared to deal with a sneak attack. Yu Tian did not need to worry about the battle command.

He dressed neatly, walked out of the room, and headed straight for the rooftop.

Yu Tian lived in the first building on the front of the base, and the rooftop was the battle command position that he had previously reserved.

If there was a sneak attack, No. 12 and the captain of the Wild Fox Secret Service team would gather on the rooftop of this building.

In the corridor, Secret Service team members rushed past. They followed the battle plan and quickly headed to their own positions.

There were also some members who carried their weapons and ammunition and directly rushed into the dormitories at the front.

The windows of the rooms were a good defensive position in themselves.

The windows at the front were reinforced with concrete. If a table was casually moved inside, a machine gun could be set up and the front door of the base could be sealed.

The positions of the dormitories on the upper floors were even better, especially the rooftop at the top. They were all situated at a high vantage point.

There was no high ground around the base. The three buildings in the base were the best vantage points. This was called geographical advantage.

Yu Tian quickly went up to the rooftop.

There were already bunkers and machine guns on the rooftop. There were about 30 secret service members on the rooftop. All of them had entered the bunkers and were shooting in the direction of the front gate of the base. Yu Tian quickly found No. 12.

No. 12 did not participate in commanding the battle. He seemed to be waiting for Yu Tian.

Yu Tian walked up quickly and asked casually, "How's the situation?"

"No problem. We have the terrain advantage. We won't be at a disadvantage.

No. 12 shouted loudly.

There were gunshots and explosions everywhere. Normal conversations were impossible..

Chapter 1336: Chapter 1,335, ancient charge tactics

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian approached the edge of the rooftop and checked the situation at the main entrance.

Strangely, there was no sign of the enemy forming a team to charge around the base.

If the enemy was a genetic warrior, they should be charging through the rain of bullets, right?

Could it be that these fellows with rough skin were also afraid of death?

This question was quickly answered. A sentry on the rooftop reported to them what had just happened.

This time, the enemy had launched a sneak attack. It was also a surprise attack and a strong attack.

There were street lamps outside the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base. Moreover, they had intentionally encircled the area within 100 meters of the base within the lighting range of the street lamps.

Although the light from these street lamps was dim, the general situation on the road could still be seen clearly.

Therefore, the enemy's attack position could only be 100 meters away from the base.

They gathered in the darkness, then set up the attack task and formation, and finally launched the charge without making a sound.

In this era, an attack did not need a charge signal, such as flares, signal guns, and so on.

The charge signal would expose their actions faster and more obviously.

In modern warfare, all one needed to do was give an order through the communicator.

Such a charge looked a little like a sneak attack.

If the sentry in charge of the Guard was a little lazy and did not pay attention to the movements outside, they could at least take this opportunity to run dozens of meters and quickly approach the outer perimeter of the base.

This was also the effect of a sneak attack.

However, the sentry of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was not just standing at the door or patrolling in the courtyard.

The ones who were most able to play a warning role were the sentry stationed on the rooftop.

Their field of vision was the farthest and broadest, and the sentry position was also very safe.

The sneak attack of the enemy was quickly discovered by the sentry on the rooftop.

In the middle of the night, such a large-scale armed assault was naturally the enemy.

The sentry did not even give a warning and immediately started shooting.

At the same time, the enemy also started to counterattack.

In the darkness, more than ten rockets flew towards the top of the building, almost shaking the members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team off their beds.

The battle started. The enemy's sneak attack turned into a surprise attack and a strong attack. They resisted the Sentry's attacks and charged towards the gate of the base.

But they quickly learned that the Nogitsune sentry was equipped with anti-material micro-charge, a weapon that could easily rip through body armor and deal fatal damage to genetic warriors.

The enemy's desperate pig tu immediately tasted the bitter fruit and several genetic warriors were killed on the spot.

This situation makes the genetic warriors behind the commander slightly stunned.

Following that, an even more explosive situation occurred. Suddenly, the sound of heavy machine guns could be heard from the rooftop.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team also had a few heavy machine guns. These kinds of big guns were also able to cause a huge amount of damage to genetic warriors. However, because it was somewhat troublesome to carry them, they were usually left at the base.

The moment the battle started, the heavy machine guns that had been prepared earlier were immediately pushed to the front of the base by the sentries. They started to unleash their terrifying firepower.

The charge of the genetic warriors slowed down slightly.

Soon after, the counterattacks started from the windows of the building in front of them.

The Secret Service members did not even bother to put on their clothes. They rushed to the windows and started firing first.

In such an emergency situation, they had to gather the fiercest firepower in the shortest amount of time possible.

After defeating this wave of enemies, there was no rush to change their clothes slowly.

By the time Yu Tian slowly put on his equipment and walked out of the room, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had already entered combat mode.

The ones who were supposed to guard the windows, the ones who were supposed to mobilize the troops.

The genetic warriors 'charge quickly stopped.

Just a single heavy machine gun was not enough to make them retreat. They could also suppress the firepower of the heavy machine guns.

However, the concentrated firing from the various windows of the building in front of them forced them to retreat.

Initially, Kronen had thought that the genetic warriors would be able to run amok on the battlefield, charge through the rain of bullets, and enter the building in a minute.

However, they had not expected that the wild fox secret service team would actually have weapons that could harm genetic warriors.

Under the threat of death, the genetic warriors could only give up on their ancient charging tactics and retreat into the darkness.

Next, both sides started shooting at each other.

The genetic warriors suddenly lost their advantage of being able to take a beating. For a moment, they were at a loss.

Actually, the Wild Fox Secret Service did not have many anti-equipment weapons. Out of the 300 micro-charge weapons, 200 had been sent back to the country, leaving only 100 for them.

Out of the 200 to 300 members of the Wild Fox Secret Service, half of them were using ordinary rifles.

Ordinary rifles were very difficult to deal damage to genetic warriors. In fact, they might not even be able to penetrate bulletproof vests.

However, if a single shot was fired, there would always be a chance for the genetic warriors to fall to the ground.

Coupled with the anti-material micro-charge and heavy machine gun, they could also create a lot of trouble for the genetic warriors.

The charging tactics of the genetic warriors were restrained. Both sides could only enter battle mode.

The only place the genetic warriors could use was the dark zone 100 meters away from the base.

That place was not only pitch black, but the terrain was also wide. It was more suitable for them to spread out their troops.

The advantage of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was their vantage point, as well as their perfect defensive position.

After the genetic warriors gave up their assault and scattered, the heavy machine guns temporarily lost their chance to unleash their full power.

Hence, the team members withdrew their heavy machine guns to prevent them from being damaged by stray bullets.

The genetic warriors started to adjust their attack plans. They no longer expected a wave of forced charging to enter the base. They could only surround the base from all directions and look for an opportunity to break in.

However, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had already set up an arrangement on the top of the three buildings in the base. After probing a few directions, the genetic warriors could only retreat into the darkness.

Just like that, the battlefield came to a standstill.

The lights of the Wild Fox Secret Service team 's base were also switched off. Both sides could only rely on night vision equipment to exchange fire.

The genetic warriors had weapons like bazookas in their hands, but there weren't many of them.

These things couldn't cause too much damage to the main structure of the building. They could only be used to remove the firing points.

However, the Wild Fox Secret Service team's greatest reliance was the anti-material micro-charge. Even if those heavy machine gun positions were removed, they could still cause a large amount of damage to the genetic warriors.

This was especially so after all the secret service members had entered the positions. The firepower density of these automatic weapons was not lower than that of the heavy machine guns.

The commander of the genetic warriors immediately felt a headache coming. Should they use the rocket launchers as sniper rifles? One by one, they would fire at the windows of those buildings?

If they were not used to destroy the positions and weapons, the effect of the rocket launchers on a single soldier might not be better than that of the sniper rifles.

The Nogitsune Secret Service members can also jump behind cover when they see rockets coming..

Chapter 1337: Chapter 1,336, another attack

Translator: 549690339

One rocket might not be able to kill a Nogitsune Secret Service member. This was an awkward situation.

Even a few rockets might not be able to kill a Nogitsune Secret Service member. This was because a genetic warrior's rocket might not be able to accurately shoot into the target's window.

This was even more awkward.

Although genetic warriors were powerful in combat, they were not a real army. They had never participated in high-intensity battles and had no real battlefield experience.

Hence, their military skills were not strong.

To put it simply, their marksmanship was terrible.

It would be better if they were closer. However, if they were further away, they would start to fall apart.

This was the real awkward part. They did not have snipers.

Neither side had snipers.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team was also not a real army. They also lacked battlefield experience.

Therefore, everyone was in an awkward situation.

Both sides were like the random troops of war-torn countries, randomly shooting at each other in the darkness.

Apart from the initial wave of charge, both sides were relatively close to each other, and under the concentrated firepower, they caused some casualties. Now, both sides started shooting at each other from two to three hundred meters away. After shooting for a long time, they did not achieve any results.

Yu Tian watched the battle from the rooftop awkwardly for a long time. He suddenly felt that those damn pirates were better at fighting than these guys.

Except for the fact that the equipment and morale of the pirates were a little poor.

Yu Tian was also fine, but he was not in a hurry in his heart.

He felt that the combatants had to go through a process of growth. Tonight's battle could be considered a tempering for the wild fox secret service team.

In the past, they had only fought against gangs and criminal gangs. At most, they had only fought against a dozen policemen. They had never tried this type of battle before.

Tonight could be considered a grand opening. They could only slowly get used to it.

However, the commander of the genetic warriors was somewhat anxious.

If this dragged on for too long, the Wild Fox special forces might be waiting for reinforcements.

After all, the Wild Fox Special Forces still had an official status.

Hence, they had to think of a way to quickly break through the Wild Fox Secret Service team's defensive line and charge into the interior of the base building.

In the narrow environment of the interior of the building, only genetic warriors could utilize their advantages. They could use their grenades and their ability to withstand blows to engage the wild fox secret service team in melee combat.

Otherwise, they could only retreat and return empty-handed tonight.

Returning empty-handed was only one aspect.

When they retreated, they had to think of ways to conceal their tracks, so as to avoid being followed to their nest by their opponents again.

This was a huge problem.

They couldn't continue shooting like this. They had to seize the time to attack and win.

Thus, the attack started once again.

This time, it wasn't a sneak attack, nor was it an unbridled assault.

Under the circumstances where the first wave of assault had resulted in casualties, the genetic warriors started destroying the street lights and throwing a large number of smoke bombs on the road ahead.

Smoke bombs were also a weapon that was extremely beneficial to the genetic warriors. The more blurry one's vision was on the battlefield, the greater their advantage would be.

The night vision device could penetrate the darkness, but it couldn't penetrate the smoke.

Although the battlefield was outdoors and the smoke was rather strong, when there were enough smoke grenades, they could still cover a large area of the battlefield.

The genetic warriors entered the smoke grenades one after another and charged toward the base once more.

Their rocket launchers started firing frequently, and the firepower of all sorts of rifles became fiercer.

This was also to provide cover fire for the attacking teams.

The best cover fire should have been machine guns, but the genetic warriors did not carry machine guns.

In their original plan, they should have used sprinting speed to quickly charge into the buildings of the encampment, and then engage in a chaotic battle with the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

Machine guns did not have the opportunity to be used.

In addition, the terrain of the encampment was not suitable for them to set up machine gun positions.

The Nogitsune Secret Service team could easily clear out their firing points from the high ground.

As such, carrying heavy machine guns would only occupy the space of their vehicles.

Light machine guns were easy to carry, but in this era, many automatic rifles could play the role of light machine guns.

If there were a few more automatic rifles, the firepower density would not be inferior to light machine guns.

As such, other than rocket launchers, the genetic warriors did not have any other more ferocious firepower.

Dozens of rocket launchers exploded on the buildings of the base one after another. More or less, they had some lethality effects. For a moment, the surroundings were filled with smoke.

“Pay attention! The enemy is about to attack again!”

The captain of Wild Fox Secret Service team immediately reminded the various squads through his communication device.

Actually, there was no need to remind them on purpose. The Secret Service members had also noticed the abnormal movements of the enemy.

The enemy's firepower had suddenly become denser. This was definitely something they wanted to do.

Hence, the firepower of the Wild Fox Secret Service team had also started to become denser.

Outside the base was an open terrain. Although the smoke screen could provide some cover, there were still some genetic warriors charging forward that were exposed to the muzzles of the Secret Service members.

If the Wild Fox Secret Service team did not have anti-material weapons, it would still be fine. The genetic warriors would definitely be able to successfully charge into the base.

However, with anti-material weapons, the open area outside the base was equivalent to a shooting range.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team did not care about aiming and shooting anymore. They fired fiercely into the smoke screen, quickly emptying their magazines.

The heavy machine guns were pushed out again, slanting the rain of bullets into the smoke screen.

In addition, there were a large number of rocket launchers in the base.

Apart from being used to clear out the enemy's machine gun base, this thing was mainly used to fight against tanks and armored vehicles.

Although it was unlikely that unofficial armed tanks and armored vehicles would appear in the little bull market, they did not rule out the possibility that Kroni would suddenly go crazy and really bring the tanks into the little bull market.

Although there were no tanks or armored vehicles on the battlefield, the Wild Fox Secret Service had also brought their rocket launchers up from the basement one after another and started to take revenge on the enemy.

The fierce attack of the rocket launchers from the genetic warriors earlier had also caused some casualties to the wild Fox Secret Service team behind the window.

Now was the time for the Wild Fox Secret Service team to return blood for blood and a tooth for a tooth.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team was fighting on their home ground, so they had ample ammunition reserves.

After the rocket launchers were brought out, they immediately tilted towards the open space outside the base like it was free.

Their targets were not only the enemies charging forward, but also the enemies in the darkness in the distance of the base.

The enemies that did not enter the smoke screen were the most conspicuous targets.

Although the Wild Fox Secret Service team 's shooting accuracy was not very good, under the compensation of the firepower density, they could still blow up the enemies.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team used RPG, which was the type of rocket that Yu Tian was most familiar with. It was also the type of rocket that Donglong Company bought and sold the most.

This thing was very useful on the battlefield in Damadi. However, when used here, the effect was not satisfactory..

Chapter 1338: Chapter 1,337, attacking the base

Translator: 549690339

After a flurry of rocket attacks, the rocket attacks actually did not cause many casualties to the genetic warriors.

In the end, the powerful resistance ability of the genetic warriors was still effective.

Unless the rocket attacks hit their bodies directly, it would be very difficult to kill them with just the shrapnel and shockwaves from the explosions.

In terms of resistance, most of these genetic warriors were stronger than Yu Tian.

Some of the defensive-type genetic warriors were even able to stand up after being knocked over by the rockets as if nothing had happened and continue charging forward.

This time, the genetic warriors were ruthless. At the cost of some casualties, they charged to the wall of the encampment.

However, their casualty rate wasn't too high.

Because they had been prepared, the formation of the genetic warriors charging this time was more reasonable.

Coupled with the cover of the smoke screen, the casualty rate of this charge was much lower than that of the first charge.

Yu Tian roughly estimated that the first charge of the genetic warriors had lost around 20 to 30 people.

Then, they quickly retreated, avoiding even more losses.

The second wave of attacks. Although the firepower of the Wild Fox Secret Service team had increased by several times, under the cover of the smoke screen, they had only managed to kill less than 20 genetic warriors.

Half of them had been hit by luck in the smoke.

There were over a hundred genetic warriors who had entered the smoke one after another. Most of them had successfully gotten close to the wall.

As they got closer to the outer wall, not only was there an additional cover, it also created more difficulties for the firepower coverage on the rooftop.

The closer they got to the dormitory building, the smaller the angle of fire on the rooftop. The shooters needed to poke out more body parts from the cover, which made it more dangerous.

Although the secret service team's weapons could penetrate the wall, when they could not see the enemy's position, shooting through the wall recklessly was just a waste of ammunition.

"Hurry up, heat detection equipment! "

The Wild Fox Secret Service team immediately took action.

This was not a godforsaken place, but a country with advanced technology and economy. The Wild Fox Secret Service team had all sorts of battlefield support equipment.

Moreover, they were staying in their own base to fight. All their equipment was stored in the basement, waiting for them to use it at any time.

As genetic warriors fought in an away battlefield, their weapons, equipment, and ammunition reserves were much weaker than theirs.

The genetic warriors started to break through the wall. They knew that it wasn't a place for them to stay behind the wall for too long.

They had to quickly enter the base, end the battle, and retreat as soon as possible.

Soon, dozens of cracks appeared on the wall. Moreover, these cracks weren't all on the front of the base. On each wall, there were more than ten paths of attack.

Once they were close to the wall, the genetic warriors immediately spread out along the wall, surrounding the entire base. Moreover, the four walls of the base were riddled with holes.

Now that they could enter the base from all directions, the pressure on the Wild Fox Secret Service team increased greatly.

The wall was only about a hundred meters away from the dormitory building. This was enough time for the genetic warriors to catch their breath.

This was especially true for some speed-type genetic warriors. They could definitely reach the world record of 100 meters and 10 seconds.

Even when they were fully armed and carrying heavy loads.

The genetic warriors did the same thing again, throwing smoke bombs into the wall.

All types of grenades had always been the weapons that the genetic warriors carried the most. Especially for this indoor scuffle, they had also prepared quite a number of smoke bombs.

Soon, the courtyard of the base was filled with thick smoke. Smoke grenades were practically scattered all over the field of the base.

A few captains of the Wild Fox Secret Service team immediately led their guards downstairs. Right now, the defense on the first floor was the key point of the battlefield.

The genetic warriors did not stop. After the smoke grenades had shown some effect, they immediately started attacking the dormitory building.

The genetic warriors outside the base were still charging into the smoke. The windows and rooftops on the upper floors were still blocking their charge.

However, the attention of the windows on the lower floors were all focused on the courtyard.

A rocket hit the door of the dormitory building. The ordinary glass door was instantly shattered.

The location of the door could have been used to build a defensive position, but it was not necessary.

Unless the gate was sealed like a wall, the defensive structures would not be able to withstand the damage from the rockets.

However, even if the gate was blocked with concrete, the enemy would still have to use explosives to blast a path out of the gate.

If they did not blow up the gate, they would blow up the walls or windows in other places.

In short, the genetic warriors would have to blow up a path into the building.

Therefore, it would be better to leave the main entrance to these genetic warriors, allowing them to charge towards the main entrance.

This would allow the defensive forces to be more concentrated.

The worst case scenario would be that the entire dormitory building would be riddled with holes from the explosions. The genetic warriors could organize attacks from all directions, which would require even more soldiers for the defense.

Inside the main entrance of the dormitory was a hall. There was no defensive position set up in the hall, and this position was easy to be bombed.

Therefore, the hall was currently blocked by some random obstacles. A few double-decked iron beds made it extremely troublesome to pass through.

Soon, the genetic warriors approached the main entrance of the dormitory through the smoke. Then, they tried to break through the entrance.

Soon, they discovered the trouble caused by these obstacles. The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team were waiting for them at the corner behind the hall.

As long as they entered the entrance hall, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would give them a volley of bullets.

The obstacles in the entrance hall prevented the genetic warriors from entering quickly. With a slight delay, the anti-material weapons of the Wild Fox Secret Service team could easily cause them casualties.

The genetic warriors did not stay at the entrance for too long. They immediately threw grenades at the corner, intending to use an explosion to open a path.

Although there were many obstacles in the entrance hall, after paying attention to the angle, they were still able to throw grenades smoothly.

However, their grenades did not have much effect. The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team behind the corner had long been guarding against the grenades.

Behind the corner, there were fortifications and explosion-proof shields. These things could resist the impact of the grenades and the shrapnel.

In addition, the bullet-proof equipment of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was not inferior to that of the genetic warriors. As long as they hid behind the fortifications and shields, they would not be injured by the grenade explosion.

The combat style of the genetic warriors was more violent. Urban Street battles and indoor battles were the battle scenes that they were more familiar with.

The weapons they used were mainly short bursts and grenades. Grenades were considered the means that they were best at using.

Therefore, they had many types of grenades. In addition to using explosions and shrapnel as their killing methods, stun grenades were also a type of hunting that they used very often.

Stun grenades were non-lethal weapons that used strong light and loud noises as their attacking methods. The mouse squad had been mainly defeated by these weapons before..

Chapter 1339: Chapter 1,338, tactical flaws

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian had fought with genetic warriors many times, so he had a better understanding of their methods.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team had also taken precautions against stun bullets. All the members wore earmuffs and goggles.

Regardless of whether it was strong light or loud noises, none of them could cause any damage to them.

The genetic warriors once again attempted to charge at the entrance hall. However, they discovered that the firepower behind the corner was still as fierce as before.

This instantly caused their commander to have a headache.

If he had known earlier that the defense of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was so tough, he would have brought along tanks or cannons.

After being delayed in the entrance hall for a while, the commander of the genetic warriors made a prompt decision. Immediately, he had the genetic warriors blast a few more tunnels on the walls of the dormitory building.

He did not believe that the Wild Fox Secret Service team would still be able to completely block off all the tunnels.

As long as they found an opening and allowed the genetic warriors to break into the building, they would definitely be able to achieve a complete victory.

Hence, the genetic warriors immediately started blasting the outer walls of the dormitory.

However, the results of the blasting caused them to feel a headache.

These three dormitory buildings looked ordinary. However, as the headquarters of the police force, they had naturally been reinforced.

The first explosion of the genetic warriors actually did not blow up the wall of the window.

Instead, a grenade flew out from the window, blowing up the two genetic warriors by the window until they were covered in dust.

In the midst of the pain, the genetic warriors immediately retaliated by throwing a few grenades into the window.

The grenade explosion did not do much other than making the dormitory even harder to pass through.

The genetic warriors could only increase the amount of explosives they used.

When they finally blew a hole in the window, they discovered that there was still a pile of obstacles in front of them. It was the same as the situation in the hallway, giving them a headache.

The space in the dormitory room was even narrower, making it even harder to break through.

The commander of the genetic warriors was instantly dumbfounded. This tactic of setting up obstacles to prevent them from charging forward seemed to have eliminated the advantage of the genetic warriors.

As the battle progressed to this point, both sides were still in a stalemate.

The genetic warriors had thick skin and flesh, so their losses weren't too great.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team relied on the geographical advantage and defensive fortification to defend to the death. Similarly, there weren't too many losses.

The losses of the genetic warriors were mainly due to the way they charged forward. A total of 40 to 50 people had died, while the entrance hall had not suffered too many casualties.

The main losses of the Wild Fox Secret Service team were due to the firing point at the window. A few people had been killed and injured by the rocket attacks.

However, the situation seemed to have come to a standstill after that.

The commander of the genetic warriors could not think of a way to break into the dormitory buildings for the time being. He felt that other than using cannons to bombard these dormitory buildings, there was no other better method.

They had tried all three dormitories, and the situation was more or less the same.

Under such circumstances, they might as well concentrate their strength and take down one of the dormitories first. That way, they would at least have a high vantage point.

However, even if they concentrated their strength to forcefully take down one of the dormitories, it would still be extremely difficult.

The true fear was due to the lack of firepower.

Genetic warriors had always relied on their powerful defenses to bully their opponents. However, now that they had encountered an iron tortoise like them, they felt that they had no way to deal with it.

Light infantrymen were not suitable for offense. Using light infantrymen to fight against those sturdy fortifications was a helpless move.

In the past, genetic warriors had relied on their rough skin to be able to charge around in the city.

However, now that they had encountered anti-material weapons, their greatest advantage was that their waist was instantly cut in half. For the time being, they could only be helpless.

At this moment, Yu Tian also carried his huge club to the first floor.

He did not participate in the battle. He only watched from the back of the formation.

The performance of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was basically passable. At least, they did not retreat in such an intense battle.

However, the occasional casualties proved that the Wild Fox Secret Service team was still lacking in experience.

An excellent combat team must have rich combat experience.

They had to experience all sorts of battlefields, understand all sorts of weapons and tactics on the battlefield, and be able to adopt appropriate offensive and defensive methods under all sorts of circumstances.

This wealth of experience and knowledge had to be learned with fresh blood on the battlefield.

Although the Wild Fox Secret Service team could now withstand the attacks of genetic warriors, they were still in a perfect fortification and position.

This was not enough for Yu Tian. He needed the wild Fox Secret Service team to be able to engage in melee combat with the genetic warriors.

Of course, to reach this level of combat power, not only did they need their own combat experience and quality, they also needed better weapons and equipment.

After all, the physique of an ordinary person could not be compared to that of a genetic warrior. They could only use their equipment to bridge the gap.

After watching them fight for such a long time, Yu Tian finally saw through the biggest flaw of the clone warriors.

Their tactics were too monotonous. This was also the reason why they did not have sufficient combat experience. This was also the reason why their previous opponents were too weak.

They only needed to use a simple charge tactic to deal with those weak opponents.

As such, they did not receive too much tactical training. Their weapons and equipment were all prepared for charging and melee battles.

This type of combat style finally hit a wall in front of the sturdy fortifications. This also proved that in a frontal battlefield, genetic warriors were not stronger than ordinary soldiers.

They could only roam the city for a bit.

In addition, the Genetic Warriors' marksmanship was also very ordinary.

This should be the reason why their combat style was all melee combat, which was why they did not undergo too much training in marksmanship.

Hence, in terms of military quality, the genetic warriors and the Wild Fox Secret Service team were about the same. Their standard was not even comparable to a professional army.

If it was not for the fact that the genetic warriors' physical quality was too strong, they would have long been defeated in this battle.

However, their current situation was not far from being defeated.

The genetic warriors could not take down the wild Fox Secret Service team outside the dormitory building for a long time. However, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would not wait inside the building.

The Secret Service team members upstairs started throwing grenades at the corner of the wall.

This was a very safe method of attack. It was not easy to get shot, and there was no need for them to lean out.

Although grenades were difficult to kill genetic warriors, they could still be used to harass genetic warriors.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team had sufficient ammunition reserves. The captain did not mind creating more trouble for the genetic warriors.

The grenades started dropping like they were free.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team did not have many types of grenades. The most common type of grenades were shrapnel-type grenades.

These grenades were mainly shrapnel-type grenades. However, the explosive power was not small either.

At first, the genetic warriors did not pay much attention to these grenades. They merely hid in a corner and endured the explosions.

However, once the number of grenades dropped increased, the genetic warriors started to suffer..

Chapter 1340: Chapter 1,339, equipment advantage

Translator: 549690339

Genetic warriors weren't truly superhumans, and there was a limit to their physical strength.

The continuous explosion could also cause their blood and Qi to boil, and it could even overturn some light-weight genetic warriors.

This was a situation that consumed a lot of physical strength.

However, what was worse was that their bulletproof vests were starting to have problems.

The defensive capabilities of bulletproof vests also had a limit. If they were continuously attacked at the same location, the bulletproof steel plates and ceramics would be damaged, and they would eventually lose their bulletproof capabilities.

Even though the genetic warriors were all wearing high-quality heavy bulletproof vests, they were only able to withstand a few more hits.

The continuous battles and saturated attacks had already begun to damage their bulletproof equipment.

Soon, some genetic warriors reported to their commander that their bulletproof vests had been damaged, and the shrapnel from the grenade explosion had already embedded itself into their bodies.

Fortunately, genetic warriors weren't afraid of pain or bleeding. One or two shrapnel wouldn't be enough to take their lives.

However, if this continued, more casualties would appear among their troops.

If even their bulletproof helmets were damaged, it would be fatal.

The commander of the genetic warriors instantly became anxious.

He immediately ordered his troops to forcefully attack the entrance hall of the dormitory building. He gathered all his forces and prepared to charge into the building even if he had to use his life to do so.

The genetic warriors were all fearless fellows. Under the command of their commander, they resolutely charged forward.

A few burly men took the lead and silently rammed into the obstacles in the hallway.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team at the corner of the hallway immediately started shooting. After firing a few rounds of anti-material assault, they easily killed the few genetic warriors at the front.

However, the genetic warriors at the back did not stop. They fired back while continuing to charge forward.

At the same time, they continued to throw grenades around the corner.

This type of life-for-life fighting style caused the Nogitsune Secret Service members to be unable to dodge in time.

Some members took two rounds of bullets. Even though they were wearing bulletproof vests, they almost died from the pain.

There were also some members who did not have the time to hide behind their bunkers and shields. They were immediately blown away by the grenades and fainted on the spot.

The rest of the soldiers dodged the explosion and quickly dragged their injured comrades into the corridor behind them.

“Continue firing! Maintain Fire! ”

The team leader who was commanding the scene immediately shouted.

The commander on the battlefield was often in a state of failure because the noise on the battlefield was too loud.

Especially when the battle was intense or when the guns were firing at the same time on the battlefield, many soldiers had already lost their hearing.

It was very normal for their eardrums to be ruptured. Both sides of the battle were often an entire deaf army.

Therefore, after the battle had reached a certain extent, the soldiers could no longer carry out those complicated orders.

The order to fire did not need to be repeated. It was impossible for the soldiers' weapons to stop firing.

When it was time to charge and retreat, the basic officers could only slap their own subordinates and wave their hands to signal the soldiers to follow them.

The Wild Fox Secret Service members were all wearing big earplugs, so they were not completely deaf.

However, the command of the squad leader on the spot was also somewhat strenuous. As his microphone would also be affected by the noise, he had no choice but to hold the microphone and shout loudly.

Fortunately, the secret service members also knew that they had to carry out a firepower blockade. Otherwise, the situation would be even worse.

There was no room for fear of death on the battlefield. At this time, if they were afraid of death, they could only wait for death.

The Secret Service members were also bloodthirsty. They scrambled to stretch out their bodies and engage in a shoot-out with the genetic warriors.

Such a shoot-out actually gave them an advantage.

This was because the anti-material micro-charge could basically kill the genetic warriors. Even if it hit the limbs, it could still cripple them.

As for the members of Wild Fox Secret Service, if they were hit, they would basically only suffer some internal injuries. In fact, they would not even suffer any injuries. They could just get up and continue fighting.

After comparing the two, the genetic warriors had left behind another dozen bodies in the hall. On the other hand, the Wild Fox Secret Service team only had about a dozen more injured members.

The advantage of the Wild Fox Secret Service team's equipment finally showed its obvious advantage. Anti-material weapons were indeed the nemesis of the genetic warriors.

The short charge and grenade attacks of the genetic warriors were not effective. In the end, they were unable to pass through the large number of obstacles in the hall.

Although the genetic warriors still had rocket launchers, they were not very useful.

At most, they could only destroy a small corner of the wall. However, the damage they could cause to their members was not much stronger than the grenades.

Unless the rocket launchers could make a turn.

However, their attacks did not stop. Soon, the second group of people charged forward again.

The commander of the genetic warriors still did not give up on attacking forcefully. He also did not give the defensive forces in the building a chance to catch their breath.

However, the captain of the Wild Fox Secret Service team had already arranged for a reserve team. He continued to send his members to the front of the formation.

There were three dormitory buildings. Each dormitory building had close to a hundred people.

Currently, only about a dozen people were left on the rooftop. There were also only about a dozen people left in the window positions on the upper floors. Most of the members were gathered on the first floor to defend.

For the time being, there was no shortage of soldiers.

This time, the Wild Fox Secret Service team that was defending the ground fired a rocket at the enemy's head.

The bullet head rammed the body of the genetic warrior at the very front, blasting him into a few pieces on the spot.

The genetic warriors at the back were not having an easy time either. All of them were sent flying by the shockwave of the rocket explosion, falling to the ground.

The genetic warriors at the back, who weren't afraid of death, were still charging into the entrance hall. The Wild Fox Secret Service team threw out another bunch of grenades.

This batch of members seemed to prefer using explosive weapons. There weren't many who fired.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team also had an advantage when it came to grenades.

Although there were many types of grenades used by genetic warriors, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had even more grenades.

Right now, not only were grenades being thrown out from the entrance hall, the Secret Service members from the upstairs windows were also starting to appear. They started throwing grenades at the entrance noiselessly, and there were quite a few of them.

The attack that the genetic warriors had just organized had yet to start when they were blown apart by this round of grenades.

Although they were able to take a beating, they couldn't just stand there and take a beating. They could only scatter from the entrance immediately.

The entrance of the dormitory was now in a mess. The air was filled with smoke and dust.

The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service raised their shields and peered at the entrance. Occasionally, they would fire a few shots into the smoke at the entrance, keeping an eye on the movements in the hall.

The genetic warriors originally wanted to take this opportunity to charge into the hall. However, when they saw the Wild Fox Secret Service team's tight defense, they instantly gave up on the idea.

“Retreat! Everyone Retreat!

The commander of the genetic warriors finally gave the order to retreat.

He felt that there wasn't much chance for his side to take down the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base..

I Have 108 Older Sisters #Chapter 1341 - 1,340, the end of the battle - Read I Have 108 Older Sisters Chapter 1341 - 1,340, the end of the battle

Chapter 1341: Chapter 1,340, the end of the battle

Translator: 549690339

The genetic warriors were able to withstand a very high casualty rate. Even if they were to fight to the very end, it would be very difficult for their morale to collapse.

This might be due to the fact that after undergoing genetic modification, their limbs were too developed, resulting in them being so simple-minded that they only had a single brain.

In short, the theory that the troops would collapse at a 30% casualty rate was not applicable to them.

A total of 300 to 400 genetic warriors had come. Up till now, only around 100 of them had suffered casualties.

This was still a long time before their army would collapse.

The reason why their commander decided to retreat was not only because they could not take down the base for a long time, but also because of their weapons and equipment.

After fighting for so long, the bullets and grenades of the genetic warriors were not enough.

This was a combat situation that they had never encountered before. They could only shoot at each other and deplete their bullets.

In the past, their guiding ideology was: there was no problem in this world that could not be solved with one charge. If there was, they would charge twice.

However, they had charged n times now, and the problem was still not solved.

They were not prepared for a continuous battle of attrition. This kind of stalemate was beyond their expectations.

Apart from the lack of ammunition, their bulletproof equipment could not hold on any longer.

Not to mention anti-equipment and weapons, even the Wild Fox Secret Service team could kill them with a large number of grenades.

If they persisted and continued to fight, the casualties of the genetic warriors would suddenly increase, and they would be buried on this battlefield with no chance of victory.

Retreating in a rush was often a wise choice.

Of course, retreating was not something that could be done just by running away.

Not only did the firepower of the genetic warriors not decrease, they became even fiercer.

There was no need for them to keep their rocket launchers anymore. All of them were raining down on the rooftop and windows of the dormitory building, so much so that the secret service members did not dare to show their heads for a moment.

There was no need to bring the smoke bombs back home. They continued to drop them on the ground on the way back.

These abnormal situations immediately attracted the attention of the Wild Fox Secret Service team. After some thought, the captain immediately made a judgment: the enemy was about to escape.

This conclusion made everyone very excited, and the Wild Fox Secret Service team's firepower suddenly became much fiercer.

Everyone started cursing. Did they think this place was a public toilet? They could come and go as they pleased?

This stimulant-like state caused quite a bit of trouble for the genetic warriors.

In order to prevent the dense firepower from causing too much damage, the genetic warriors could only retreat in batches and take turns to provide cover fire.

Without the pressure of defense at the main entrance, the members of the Wild

Fox Secret Service team immediately went upstairs and started shooting at the

The heavy machine guns also started to show their might, raining down bullets without hesitation.

However, perhaps they were too complacent, as the heavy machine guns finally took a rocket bullet.

The bullet just happened to pass through the shooting hole of the fortification, blasting the heavy machine guns and their positions into pieces. The main and secondary gunners of the machine guns also lost their lives on the spot.

They had seen that they were about to win the battle, yet they had lost their lives like this. One could only say that they were truly unlucky.

The battle ended very quickly. The speed at which the genetic warriors fled was very fast. Within ten minutes, they had all escaped the firing range.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team did not give chase. Other than being worried about an ambush, they were also rather fearful of the ferocity of the genetic warriors.

Without the protection of the fortifications, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would not be able to withstand the frenzied assault of the genetic warriors.

If the genetic warriors were to charge at them with their cars and then charge at them, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would only be wiped out in the wilderness.

In addition, the 100 anti-equipment weapons were still a little lacking. The Wild Fox Secret Service team was also afraid that they would not have enough firepower.

When the genetic warriors finally disappeared from their sight, the Wild Fox Secret Service team finally relaxed a little.

However, the necessary vigilance was still in place. The fortifications and obstacles in the dormitory building had not been removed, and the Wild Fox Secret Service team was not in a hurry to clean up the battlefield.

They left nearly a hundred people in charge of the vigilance while the rest of them took the time to rest.

Half an hour later, a convoy appeared at the end of the road in front of the base.

This time, it was not the enemy that came, but the army of the Military Intelligence Bureau.

The military's base of operations wasn't in the mini-bull market, and it was located very far away from the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

This battle lasted less than an hour, and the military's temporary deployment was ultimately unable to catch up to the end of the battle.

Otherwise, if the military were to pursue the genetic warriors from behind, the genetic warriors would definitely have a headache.

This was because the military was equipped with a large number of armored vehicles and light assault vehicles, all of which were loaded with heavy firepower for use on the battlefield.

In the face of such unreasonable heavy firepower, no matter how sturdy a genetic warrior's body was, they could only be beaten to a pulp along with their vehicles.

Actually, Yu Tian felt that this result was quite good. At the very least, it was a form of training for the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

If the reinforcements from the military arrived too quickly, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would not be able to feel the combat pressure brought by the genetic warriors.

Looking at the devastation in the base, the Military Intelligence Bureau was somewhat shocked.

Although the East Dragon Company had emphasized the destructive power of the genetic warriors, as well as the unbridled combat style of the Kroni, the Military Intelligence Bureau had always thought that the description of the East Dragon Company was too exaggerated.

They felt that the genetic warriors were nothing more than stronger terrorists, but their armed forces were more advanced.

However, now that they saw the battlefield wreckage, they suddenly realized that the combat power of these militants was comparable to that of an army.

Other than the monotonous weapons, the intensity of the battle was no less than that of an ordinary battlefield.

This caused the military intelligence bureau to be much more vigilant against genetic warriors.

At dawn, the police convoy finally arrived.

However, by this time, the Wild Fox Secret Service team had already started cleaning up the battlefield. The Military Intelligence Bureau's troops had already left.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team did not call for the police's support. This was because the police's combat level and equipment were not enough to fight against the genetic warriors.

This was especially true for weapons and equipment. Since the police were used to maintain the city's public order, they did not need too many heavy weapons.

Although they also had a few armored vehicles, it was not enough to form an overwhelming advantage. It was very easy for them to become live targets for rocket launchers.

Therefore, the Wild Fox Secret Service team only informed the police after the incident. The police also waited until daybreak before they slowly came over to check on the situation.

The situation at the scene still gave the police a shock. Although the Wild Fox Secret Service team was already cleaning up the battlefield, the intensity of the battle could be seen from the damage to the buildings.

This made the higher-ups of the police feel both shocked and angry.

These terrorists actually dared to openly provoke the police, completely disregarding the official power of the mini bull market..

Was there any law? was there any law?

Chapter 1342: Chapter 1,341, corporate training

Translator: 549690339

Kronen wouldn't take the authorities seriously, and neither would donglong.

What they did in twilight was just as bad as Kronen.

But with Mayor Edward's cover, the Nogitsune Secret Service was able to show up in the bull market.

In terms of damage and destruction to the city, Donglong company was no less than the KLONI society.

However, in the eyes of the mini-bull market police, the KLONI Society was now the world's biggest cancer.

Both the Oriental Country and old Mao country had classified the KLONI Society as a terrorist group, and released some information about the KLONI Society's ongoing genetic research and human trials.

These are all information that has been released to the world.

Although other countries have not made public statements, the contents of the international conference in Daybreak City have also spread through the official circles.

Including these official agencies and officials of the windy nation, they all have a rough idea of the situation of the KLONI society.

Although the authorities have not publicly announced how they intend to crack down on the KLONI society, when these dangerous terrorist activities occur in the windy nation, the authorities will certainly go all out to investigate and crack down.

The Maverick police had been investigating the Kronin society previously, mainly because of the attack on the hotel and the attacks on Yu Tian.

But now, the incident at the Wild Fox Secret Service base was obviously much more serious. The Kronin Society's strength in this battle was even more powerful, even hundreds of fully armed police officers could be surrounded and beaten by them.

They were even beaten to the point that they did not dare to go out or chase after them. They just watched them run away.

This meant that the power of the police would be very difficult to contend with Kronny. Even when arresting these criminals, they would be met with violent resistance against the law.

The term violent resistance against the law was not accurate enough. It should be called armed resistance.

There had been some drug lords who had done this kind of armed resistance against the authorities, causing the entire country to be in a mess.

The officials of the mini-bull market suddenly felt a great sense of pressure and crisis. They could not allow such a situation to happen in the windy nation and the mini-bull market.

In the next few days, the atmosphere in the mini-bull market suddenly became tense.

The police increased the patrolling force on the streets. Not only did the density of the patrolling police increase greatly, but even the police armored vehicles occasionally passed through the streets of the city.

They began to search for suspicious citizens and search for places that might contain armed elements and weapons.

The authorities hoped to find out where the genetic warriors were hiding. They could not allow such an armed force to hide within the jurisdiction of the mini bull market.

However, a secret organization like the Kronin Society was not so easy to catch. The police operation did catch a few wanted criminals who had been on the run for many years, but they did not find anything on the Kronin Society.

In addition, the gangsters had started to restrain themselves recently. The war between the red dragonflies and the ice city hell had also stopped temporarily.

Naturally, the Kronin Society's genetic warriors had also disappeared. Once again, they had escaped the tracking of the satellites and disappeared into an unknown corner.

Donglong company had also provided the Military Intelligence Bureau with a few hiding places for the genetic warriors, but those places had already been emptied out.

It seemed that after the Wild Fox Secret Service team's base had suffered a setback, the Kronin Association had temporarily withdrawn their strength.

"It seems like the Kronin Association has decided to go home and shut their doors to reflect on their actions," brother Pig joked.

Perhaps the genetic warriors had carried out many important missions in the past, eliminating many seemingly powerful enemies for the Kronin Association. As such, the Kronin Association had always been very confident in the combat strength of the genetic warriors.

However, this time, despite having a slightly superior military strength, they were still unable to take down a small base of the Wild Fox Special Forces. This was indeed worthy of them reflecting on the combat style of the genetic warriors.

("Therefore, the next time we meet the genetic warriors, they might become even stronger than before...")

Pig Geoliang's tone was very calm, causing Yu Tian to feel somewhat puzzled. "The genetic warriors themselves are already very difficult to deal with. If they become even stronger, wouldn't that be a huge problem for our Eastern Dragon Company?"

Brother Pig smiled. "Yes, it's a little troublesome, but it's not a big problem. "As genetic warriors become stronger, it's not very likely for them to obtain more breakthroughs in their techniques. The only possibility is for them to improve their battle tactics and their individual military capabilities. "That's already very troublesome. "Yu Tian sighed. "Those genetic warriors I've met before, there are also some fellows who are very good at fighting. (‘I don’t know what the highest level of their combat standards can reach, but as long as a portion of the extraordinary genetic warriors appear, it will be enough to decide the outcome of a small-scale battle...

Brother pig said, “That’s why, not only do we need to strengthen the military training of ordinary operation personnel, we also need to select outstanding individuals from among them and carry out even stronger training for them. “We don’t expect to turn them into experts like you, but we need to train at least a group of medium-to-high-level fighters like Big Guy and Cass...”

At the mention of Cass, Yu Tian could not help but ask again, “How are the members of the Rat Squad Now?”

Piggy Liang said, “They have basically recovered and are ready to start new training...”

“Training? In the country?”

“Yes, a military training camp has been set up in the country and will be temporarily handed over to us. “I have contacted some professional instructors to prepare for special training for the mouse squad and other operational personnel. “Our future combat teams will be sent to the training camp after our special training and selection...”

“You plan to train the mouse squad into soldiers?”

The mouse team was made up of a group of assassins. Although the missions they had recently carried out were not much different from other operational personnel, Yu Tian did not want to turn them into pawns on the battlefield. It would be a bit of a waste.

They were more suitable to carry out some special missions, some more secretive and low-key missions, and only a small number of operational personnel could participate in them.

This was the specialty of assassins. They could not erase their advantages and turn them into soldiers who charged and fired with rifles.

Brother Pig laughed. “Don’t worry, I know how to train the mouse squad. I Won’t train them into idiots. In the future, not only will we have the mouse squad, but we will also have the old cat squad, the Old Dog Squad...

Yu Tian said with a pained expression, “It sounds pretty good, but are you sure you want to use such a casual name?”

Brother pig laughed and said, “The name is not important. What’s important is our training. We have to raise Donglong Company’s combat strength to another level, be it in training or equipment....

Chapter 1343: Chapter 1,342, mass production of weapons

Translator: 549690339

Yu Tian was suddenly a little curious. "What kind of instructors did you hire? A normal military instructor can't train a member like the mouse squad.

Brother pig smiled and said, "What kind of instructors can you hire in the eastern country? Of course, it's the Eastern martial artists. Don't tell me you can find a few assassins to be instructors?"

"Martial artists? Ancient martial artists?"

Yu Tian's interest was immediately piqued. He had always wanted to find some ancient martial artists to exchange information about cultivation techniques.

Or rather, he wanted to ask them questions about ancient martial arts cultivation.

Zhu Ge Liang said helplessly, "Calm down. Although there are a few ancient martial artists, their standards are far inferior to yours. "Your progress is already very fast. I think you should stick to your own path. Don't want to learn everything, and don't be influenced by other people's experience. "As for some general knowledge and basic information about martial arts, I will help you prepare it.

Zhu Ge Liang was right.

Although Yu Tian had relied on his own trial and error to enter the door of ancient martial arts. But his cultivation speed and achievements were already considered very outstanding.

Under the guidance of his master, an ancient martial arts practitioner like he feihong who had cultivated for decades could only run away in front of a newbie like him.

This meant that there was no problem with Yu Tian's cultivation method and speed. In fact, he was even more outstanding than the current ancient martial arts world.

Then why did he have to imitate the cultivation methods of those ancient martial arts practitioners?

Just like some scenes in wuxia novels, a young man who had just come out of a mountain village was already a peerless expert. Yet, he was still so foolish that he didn't know anything. He was still trying to get his hands on those famous sects.

There was no need for Yu Tian to do that. He just needed to continue practicing according to his own methods.

What he lacked was nothing more than some common knowledge on ancient martial arts. This was not something confidential. Brother Zhu Liang could definitely help him gather information on this.

After pondering for a while, Yu Tian asked again, “Are you planning to train some teams of ancient martial arts practitioners?”

“You’re thinking too much. Normally, it would take at least ten years for a person to achieve anything by practicing ancient martial arts. “I don’t expect to really train an ancient martial art team. I just want to select some outstanding operational personnel to strengthen their individual strength. This is still very necessary.

Brother pig slowly said, ‘CA combat team will encounter many different types of missions, so it’s very necessary to have a model like the mouse team. “Moreover, our training model doesn’t only have these two types. We also need all kinds of talents in the combat team..

“For example, those who are good at blasting, and those who are good at all kinds of weapons, including cannons. “There are also those who are good at driving combat vehicles, including tanks and airplanes, and even those who are good at basic operation of electronic equipment. They can cooperate with the technical team in the command center to carry out electronic warfare...

Yu Tian felt a little dizzy listening to this. “Are you trying to train all kinds of special forces?”

“More or less, “brother Pig said. “After all, our opponent is a genetic warrior. If a combat team doesn’t have some skills, how can they be their opponent?” “You want the combat team to become like the sheep mercenary group?”

“More or less. It’s just that it’s impossible to reach their level of expertise. “Some things require talent, such as marksmanship, and battle awareness... it’s already pretty good if our team can have half of their combat strength.”

Brother pig calmly said, “Of course, they’re a small mercenary group after all. Although they’re elite, their numbers are still too few. “We’re a large organization, so we can take advantage of our numbers. We can have more types of soldiers on the battlefield, and we can also carry more types of weapons and equipment...

Yu Tian asked, “How are our weapons and equipment?”

Brother Pig Liang said, “The design has already been finalized. Some of them need to be tested, and some of them can be directly produced.”

Yu Tian said, “The most important thing is the weapons. We still have too few light anti-material weapons.”

Brother Pig Liang said, "Weapons are not a problem. The Chinese have always been very good at copying. Moreover, the cost of production in the country is very low. One anti-material micro-flush only costs 1 to 2,000 yuan..."

Yu Tian said in surprise, "One to two thousand yuan? You Mean Oriental Coins?"

Pig Bro Liang smiled and said, "Yes. "

Yu Tian exclaimed, "So cheap? Isn't that dozens of times cheaper than buying it from General Hugo?"

Pig Bro Liang said indifferently, "Of course. That's why we must control the technology in our own hands. "Foreigners will always treat us as fat sheep and sell the technology we need to sky-high prices. "When we master the technology ourselves, their price will immediately drop by a hundred times..." "

Yu Tian said, "If foreigners want to buy our technology, we should sell it at sky-high prices too. "

Brother pig said, "We usually don't sell the technology, we only sell the products. "Foreigners generally prefer our products because even if they buy the technology and produce it themselves, the cost will still be higher than our selling price. "This involves the industrial system and the industrial chain. Unless it's a superpower, most countries don't have such a perfect industrial system..."

Yu Tian nodded slightly and said, "Since our manufacturing costs are so low, we might as well order more weapons and save them for later use."

Brother pig said, "There's no need. This anti-material micro-impact is only a reduced version of the anti-material weapon. Its range is limited, and its scope of application is also limited. "We will have better weapons in the future, as well as more weapon combinations. This anti-material micro-impact doesn't require too much equipment..." ("Then how much do you plan to order?"

"Twenty thousand is more or less enough.

"Twenty thousand... Alright, that's not too much indeed.

Yu Tian felt speechless.

Pig Bro Liang smiled and said, "This is due to the issue of wear and tear.

Taking the wear and tear into account, the quantity is indeed not much. " Yu Tian asked again, "What about bulletproof vests and other equipment?"

Piggy Liang said, "We will prepare more of those things because the wear and tear will be even greater.

"When can we bring the equipment to the Wild Fox Secret Service Team?"

"Soon... in addition, the Wild Fox Secret Service team needs to make a trip back to their country. "Piggy Liang paused for a moment before continuing, "It's time for them to participate in the special training. At the same time, they can also test the performance of their new equipment.

Yu Tian was stunned. "Return to their country at this time?"

Brother pig said, "That's right. After experiencing the battle with the genetic warriors, they need to rest and reorganize now. This is also a good time for the special training. "

"Then, for the Little Bull Market...

"For the time being, we don't need them in the little bull market, "brother Pig said. "There are no more worthy targets in the little bull market. Since the genetic warriors have already hidden themselves, there's no need for us to waste any more time in the little bull market. "You have a new mission. Dawn city is still waiting for you to personally take charge of it.... "

Chapter 1344: Chapter 1,343, structural changes

Translator: 549690339

The reason why Yu Tian had come to the mini bull market was because of the traitors of the commercial branch.

Later on, the mouse squad had been attacked by the genetic warriors at the hotel. The traitors that had been captured had fallen into the hands of the Clone Society, and their whereabouts were unknown.

The next step was to rescue the mouse squad and the other captured combatants. During this process, they would launch a counterattack against the Clone Society.

Now, the mouse squad and the captured fighters had been sent back to the country to rest and reorganize. The genetic warriors had also disappeared without a trace.

Indeed, there was no longer any target worth remaining in the mini-bull market.

The war with the red dragonfly was only a small matter. The outcome of the war between the gangs did not have much of an impact on the East Dragon Company.

Moreover, the Red Dragonfly had blue underpants supporting them from behind. The East Dragon Company would also send other operations departments from other regions to support their battle.

If this still could not take down an ice city hell, then it would only prove that Mina, the big shots in blue underpants, and the new gang administrator were too incompetent.

The departure of the Wild Fox Secret Service team was also part of the original plan. The operations departments from all regions of the world would be sent to the eastern country for special training. After the special training eliminated a batch of people, they would rebuild more elite operations departments.

Before the other operations departments were sent to the eastern country, a batch of people would be eliminated. The main ones would be those who voluntarily left.

These eliminated operations personnel would be assigned to the business department and become the armed forces of smuggling gangs or the hidden forces of some gangs.

The Wild Fox Secret Service team had just fought against the genetic warriors. This was the time when their morale was high.

They suddenly felt that the war with the clone society was not dangerous, and they had no intention of quitting the Combat Department. All of them expressed that they wanted to go to the eastern country to participate in special training and receive higher rewards in the future.

That's right. After the combat department was streamlined, their salaries would be greatly increased. This was a very attractive thing for many powerful combat personnel.

Moreover, these salaries were not uniform. The more outstanding fighters or fighters with skills, the more subsidies they could get.

The salary of the combat department was originally higher than that of other departments. It was just that they did not have as much extra income as the managers.

Now, Brother Pig had implemented a new personnel rank system in the DONGLONG company. The salary of the combat department had also been raised to the level of the middle-level members. Moreover, they had increased the bonuses and subsidies for performing missions, this made their mission income more cost-effective than earning extra money.

Only such a team would be more effective.

As a result, the East Dragon Company's expenses seemed to be higher. However, after streamlining and eliminating a large number of operational personnel, the expenditure on basic salary was actually slightly lower.

The mission's bonuses and subsidies were indeed much higher than before, but compared to the rewards from the missions, these expenses were worth it.

The other big expense was the new weapons and equipment.

However, the East Dragon Group was not short of money. They could spend billions on Yu Tian in the F * Ck. The new equipment of the combat department was just a drop in the bucket for them.

After the commercial department was organized, the East Dragon Group would start to dabble in the financial industry.

Under the condition of abundant capital, this type of industry was basically robbing money.

So Donglong company will only be richer in the future.

In addition, the smuggling business of the ministry, as well as the illegal business of the gangs around the world, can also provide a lot of cash for Donglong Company.

Especially after Donglong Company reformed its organizational structure.

Zhu Gelang divided the ministry into five regions, and then handed over to the five branches to manage by themselves, concentrating power in the hands of the five branches.

This model would make the company's affairs more efficient, and the strength of each region would be more concentrated.

There were many benefits that this would bring. For example, the cost of the business would be reduced, and the efficiency of the operation would be increased. The organization would be more competitive, and the revenue would naturally be more.

For example, those departments that engaged in smuggling business used to operate independently as small divisions, and the power was also in the hands of the small divisions.

The region did not ask about their specific business plans, but only helped these branches to communicate and coordinate.

Many things needed to be done by these branches themselves, such as negotiating the source of goods, finding channels, finding buyers, and contacting transportation and warehousing... it was no different from some small-scale smuggling companies.

Now that it had become a group operation, the entire region branch was under unified management, and the branches could mobilize all the resources to serve all the departments under them.

The regional branch would be responsible for negotiating the procurement, or the Headquarters Group company would provide the source of the goods. Then, the region would have its own cargo ships and transportation channels. They could be deployed uniformly and arrange transportation and storage for the departments under them.

After sending the goods to the destination, the local gangs would also assist under the arrangement of the branch and participate in the smuggling affairs.

They would be responsible for the local transshipment, hiding, security, sales..

All the links would be handled by the most professional department. The overall efficiency would be improved, the operating costs would be reduced, and it would be more secure.

The only flaw was that there were more connections between some managers.

If one person had problems, it would easily implicate other contacts.

But at this time, the intelligence department could play a role.

Although the intelligence department was not yet perfect, it still had sufficient manpower.

It might not be easy to investigate the information of the clone society, but it was very easy to monitor their own people.

As long as the intelligence department found that some members fell into the hands of the enemy, or suspected that there was a problem, the relevant contacts would break off contact and take precautions.

Now, Donglong had its own private communication network, which could well ensure the information security of each member.

Unless these members showed up themselves and met with the problem members, it was difficult for them to be caught.

In addition, Donglong still had an even more important security measure, which was the technical monitoring measure adopted before the 76th.

Zhu Geliang now requested the 76th to further improve this technical monitoring method. Through the DONGLONG network, this internal communication software, it could monitor all the company members.

Once some members had problems, they could directly obtain relevant information from their mobile phones.

This kind of technology was not very difficult to achieve. Think about the means of big data, kill them, and recommend advertisements..

Donglong network, this communication software, was also the biggest Trojan Horse Software. It could completely monitor all the members of the company, and the technical means of monitoring were still being perfected.

This was the biggest security guarantee in the future..

Chapter 1345: Chapter 1,344, the terrible capital

Translator: 549690339

The Wild Fox Secret Service team finally left the Little Bull City, chartered a large passenger plane, and left the windy nation openly.

However, their police force id still remained in Twilight City. To The Twilight City police force, they were only going abroad for exchange and training. It was still considered public service.

After the special training ended, the Wild Fox Secret Service team would still return to Twilight City. They would continue to hang the police id and openly settle down in the windy nation.

This was Piggy Liang's plan. He would use his official identity to attack the clone society. This would make many of their operations more convenient. In addition, this was also using the money of the country of wind to support his own team. It was a very good deal.

This model could be used in other countries and regions in the future. Piggy Liang planned to let some of the operations teams put on a legal coat and hide legally under their official identity.

It didn't matter if the background of their DONGLONG company was leaked. If Kroni took the initiative to attack the official teams, it would also cause dissatisfaction in various countries.

However, this model also had a condition, which was that other regions could have the same convenience as dusk city.

The officials had to have a mayor like Edward to endorse them, and no other opponents would interfere.

This, of course, required the use of money as an excuse, as well as the fight against terrorist groups.

These were things to deal with in the future.

Yu Tian was now on his beloved scooter and rushing to Dawn City on his stomach.

The Donglong Company's Technical Department had obtained new clues, and the traitors they had previously arrested had resurfaced in Dawn City.

This time, they did not track their cell phone signals or traces of their use on the internet. Instead, they found their traces through the street cameras.

The face recognition technology was especially mature in the eastern country of this era. The only troublesome thing was to collect the official street surveillance videos.

If it was in the eastern country, it would be very convenient to download and view these videos. This was because the eastern country's network transmission technology was very advanced. The speed had long surpassed the previous 5G era by a thousand times.

However, the wind country was still very backward in this aspect. The authorities were not willing to invest too much in this aspect, nor were they willing to let the eastern country fork out money from their pockets, as a result, the network environment of the wind country was much worse than that of the eastern country.

The technical department of the Donglong Company spent a few days to complete this video screening.

Their screening started on brother's Island.

As the mouse team had been locked up on brother's Island, the technical department believed that after the genetic warriors attacked the hotel, they should have brought everyone in the hotel to Brother's Island first.

After that, they would conduct an identity check and decide on how to deal with them.

The traitors of the East Dragon Company naturally did not need to be locked up and tortured for interrogation. However, Kroni would not leave them at their own home to eat.

The correct way to deal with them was to contact the leader of the traitors, confirm their identities, and then send the burden out.

In fact, the traitors of the business sector no longer had much value.

The industries they controlled were immediately taken over by the DONGLONG company, and then they were transferred and dealt with.

After so many days, these traitors no longer had the chance to fight for control of those industries.

To the East Dragon Company, these traitors could be used as clues and bait, and they had no value to be interrogated.

To the leader of the traitors, they also had no value.

However, there was a shortage of manpower in the traitors' organization. These merchants had more or less business experience, and they could continue to serve the traitors' organization in the future.

Therefore, the traitors' organization still sent people to welcome them.

Kronin would cover the eyes of these traitors with a black cloth, then find a small van that was completely sealed, send them out of the stronghold, and hand them over to the receiving personnel.

After that, these traitors left their brother's Island by boat.

The technical department found their figures through the surveillance video at the dock, and then tracked them all the way to Dawn City.

It was certain that at least a part of the traitors were hiding in Dawn city.

However, the technical department was still searching through the massive amount of surveillance video for their exact location.

Therefore, the current situation could only be said to have some clues. After Yu Tian rushed to dawn city, he still had to wait for the information to be confirmed.

As the capital of wind country, Dawn city was generally very safe.

Of course, this meant that there wouldn't be any armed elements fighting here, and the clone society wouldn't send armed genetic warriors to Dawn City to start a war.

After all, this was the capital of wind country, and the government couldn't possibly allow armed forces to invade.

Moreover, the population here was very dense, and it was very inconvenient for the armed forces to move around.

For the members of these secret organizations, at least they didn't have to worry too much about their lives while hiding in Dawn City.

They only needed to bring a few bodyguards to guard against some assassinations.

However, the security in Dawn City was really bad.

Moreover, the situation hadn't been improved, and the government had no way to change the security situation.

The main reason for this was the population composition of the wind country.

The wind country had a large number of immigrants, which was the main reason for the high crime rate.

One of the races had a very high crime talent, and the crime rate was more than a hundred times that of other races, leaving the black gang behind by a few hundred streets.

The authorities were helpless against many criminal acts, and they did not even dare to arrest the immigrants and local criminals.

It was easy to arrest a few criminals, but if it triggered demonstrations and riots, the authorities would have a huge headache.

Moreover, these ethnic groups had already affected the political arena and the presidential election of the Windy Nation. The authorities didn't dare to offend these ethnic groups, much less use force to suppress these riots.

As a result, these criminals became more rampant and even dared to rob the officials.

When foreign tourists came to Dawn City, there was almost no one who had not been robbed. Even the diplomatic ambassadors had been robbed before.

Yu Tian rode his motorcycle to dawn city alone and was soon targeted.

A foreign motorcycle and an oriental face. In the eyes of the robbers, this was obviously a fat sheep waiting to be slaughtered.

The robbers felt that he was a foreign student from the windy nation who had just arrived in Dawn City.

The easterners were rich and liked to show off their wealth. The main point was that they were very weak and afraid of trouble. This was simply the best target for robbery..

Chapter 1346: Chapter 1,345, the Eastern Guy who knows kung fu

Translator: 549690339

After entering the downtown area of Dawn City, Yu Tian quickly found a few motorcycles following behind him.

However, he didn't care. He didn't need to worry about any safety issues as he was traveling alone.

In addition, there would still be people from Donglong company waiting for him in Dawn City.

Donglong company naturally controlled some gangs in Dawn City. However, because of the special situation in Dawn City, the gangs here weren't too big.

Donglong company controlled a few small gangs, and their goal was not to earn much money, but because Dawn city was the capital of wind country, they had to deploy some spies and manpower in the city.

Even if they did nothing, these arrangements were necessary.

The person in charge of receiving Yu Tian was a small gang called David. The name of this gang came from their boss, and their boss's name was David.

This was a very young gang. They did not even have a fixed territory in the past. They were just doing tricks on the streets to make a living.

After getting on the big ship of the East Dragon Company, the David Gang finally had their own business and bought a medium-sized bar.

The bar was called David Bar. That was Yu Tian's destination.

Originally, Yu Tian should have worn a bulletproof helmet. As an easterner, this would save him a lot of unnecessary trouble.

However, Yu Tian felt that it would be cooler without a helmet, and wearing a helmet would make him look more like one of those robbers.

In addition, after he rushed to David's bar, the faces of the easterners could be easily recognized by the people of the David Gang.

Therefore, he still chose not to wear a helmet. He swept through the streets of Dawn City and attracted the attention of many robbers.

When he parked his motorcycle at the entrance of David's bar, seven or eight motorcycles immediately surrounded him from behind.

Yu Tian parked his motorcycle, and a dozen people got off the seven or eight motorcycles and surrounded Yu Tian and his motorcycle.

Before the robbery started, the dozen or so people began to fight among themselves.

“What do you mean, red -haired ghost? We took a liking to him first!

“Hot dog, he’s already in our territory. Of course, we should be the ones doing the business!

The one called red-haired ghost was naturally a red-haired man. However, Yu Tian could not understand why he was called hot dog.

Perhaps he liked eating hot dogs very much.

“Red -haired ghost, do you still follow the rules? This is coming from our territory, so of course we should be the ones doing this business!”

“This is obviously a motorcycle coming from outside, do you think Pm Blind? ‘Q “If you have the guts to stop him on your territory, we definitely won’t interfere. “Now that this foreigner has come to our territory, we should definitely be the ones doing this business.

“Then are you trying to break the rules?”

“You should be the one who doesn’t follow the rules!”

“I say... you don’t have to argue anymore. “Yu Tian helplessly interrupted the dispute between the two robbers. “Haven ‘t you ever thought that none of you can do this business?”

“What do you mean?”

The red-haired ghost and hot dog’s attention finally fell on Yu Tian. “Oriental man, are you talking to us?”

Yu Tian shrugged. “Of course. Other than you bastards, are there other people

The red-haired ghost and hot dog looked at each other and suddenly burst into laughter.

After a few laughs, the red-haired ghost stared at Yu Tian and said, “Oriental man, do you know who you’re talking to? Do you know what we’re going to do to you?”

Yu Tian said impatiently, “Aren’t you just a few robbers? If you know what’s good for you, then get lost. Don’t Wait for me to personally take care of you.

“Whoa! This oriental man is still very arrogant! “Hot Dog said in surprise, “Is this your first time coming to Dawn City? You’ve never enjoyed the beating of society, Right?”

The red-haired ghost pulled out a small knife from his waist and put on a fierce look. He said to Yu Tian, “Oriental man, if you don’t want to be stabbed, then obediently take out your wallet!

Hot dog quickly added, “And your phone, motorcycle keys... And your helmet!

The red-haired ghost glared at hot dog. “I can give you the motorcycle, but this helmet must be mine!

Hot Dog snorted. “Sure, if you can take care of this oriental man alone, then everything will be yours.

As he spoke, hot dog took two steps back.

The red-haired ghost was a little indignant. “Are you looking down on me?

Don’t you know that I’m a professional boxer?”

Hot Dog still snorted. “Don’t you know that many Easterners know kung fu? This eastern Guy has nothing to fear. Pm afraid he’s not as easy to deal with as you think...”

“Impossible. “The red-haired ghost said casually, “I’ve already robbed many Easterners, and they are all tourists from the east. None of them know kung fu. The rumor that Easterners know kunz fu is false!

Hot dog shrugged indifferently, “Then you can try. If you can handle this kid alone and don’t need other people’s help, then this business will be yours.

“Then this business will definitely be mine.

The red-haired ghost put away the dagger with a smile and said to Yu Tian, “Come on kid, let me see what you’re capable of!

As he said that, the red-haired ghost pretended to jump around in front of Yu Tian.

A dagger could easily kill people, and it was even more dangerous than a watermelon knife.

To these gangsters, other crimes were trivial, but it was still more troublesome to kill someone.

Therefore, a dagger was usually used to scare the foreign tourists. It rarely became their murder weapon.

When it came to actual fighting, these robbers still relied on their own martial arts.

Of course, the so-called professional boxers like the red-haired ghost did not have much martial arts. They just knew some punching techniques and practiced a few moves of strength.

He took small steps and hopped toward Yu Tian.

But before he could make a move, Yu Tian kicked him away, causing him to walk a few steps in vain.

Yu Tian did not exert too much strength, but the red-haired ghost was in so much pain that he could not stand up.

He clutched his stomach and groaned on the ground. The robbers beside him were dumbfounded.

Hot Dog took out a stick from his pocket and said fiercely, "Look, I knew this was a kung fu oriental! Brothers, quickly take out your weapons, we have to do it together!

The rest of the robbers woke up from their dreams and began to take their weapons.

Their main weapons were sticks. Some were held in their hands, and some were inserted into motorcycles.

Armed, the gang of robbers became a bunch of street thugs ready to go to war..

Chapter 1347: Chapter 1,346. This is a misunderstanding

Translator: 549690339

Generally speaking, robbers and gangsters should be two completely different professions.

Robbers are usually more professional and their crimes are more serious. Very few robbers wander the streets all day like gangsters.

They seldom commit any other crimes besides robbery and even avoid appearing in public too much.

However, in Dawn City, these robbers were a little brazen.

They were usually a group of hooligans, and once they found a suitable target, they began to rob.

They were not afraid of being identified by the victim, and even being caught by the police on the spot was not a big deal.

The authorities basically would not seriously deal with this kind of robbery that involved a small amount of money, and they did not even bother to detain them.

Many police officers arrested thieves and criminals in front of foreign tourists, but they let them go as soon as they turned around.

Some of them simply took some bribes, and some didn't even want to cause trouble for themselves.

In any case, the thieves and robbers arrested by the police wouldn't be sent to prison because they were afraid of triggering riots and protests.

Therefore, the police would not seriously arrest criminals and provoke enemies.

The crime costs of these hooligans were basically zero. They were openly switching identities between the robbers and the hooligans.

Therefore, Hot Dog began to openly call on his brothers to prepare for a fight. This was something that hooligans often did. The police did not even bother to ask about it.

Yu Tian could not complain about the law and order in Dawn City. Fortunately, he could still fight. If other easterners were to encounter such a situation here, they would probably be at the mercy of others.

"Hurry up and come up. Don't waste time."

Yu Tian impatiently waved at these robbers. He wanted to teach these robbers a lesson.

Hot Dog did not dawdle. He swung his stick and charged forward.

"Kill him!"

The other robbers did not hesitate. They carried their weapons and charged in Yu Tian's direction.

They decided to beat him down first and then slowly rob and search him.

Unfortunately, the result disappointed them.

Yu Tian's bulletproof vest could even withstand bullets. Naturally, these sticks could not hurt him at all.

Moreover, he was still practicing the ACALAN?THA. The members of the Wild Fox Secret Service team used clubs to give him a good beating. Their attacks were much fiercer than these hooligans.

It could be said that even if Yu Tian took off his bulletproof vest and stood here and let the Hooligans beat him up, he would not feel much.

At least, when he started to feel unbearable, these hooligans had already collapsed from exhaustion.

Yu Tian simply didn't dodge. He just stood where he was and let the Hooligans beat him up.

He even unzipped his bulletproof vest, took off his upper body clothes, and peeled them to his waist. He opened his chest and let the Hooligans beat him up.

At the same time, he could also practice the ACALAN?THA's body protection kungfu.

After resting for a few days, he found that his first practice seemed to have some effect.

He now had a feeling that his skin was rough and his flesh was rough. The Punks's stick attacks no longer made him feel pain.

Looking at the fierce expressions of these punks, Yu Tian could not doubt that they had not eaten or had shown mercy.

These punks were still very hard-working when they beat him up.

Yu Tian thought to himself, it seems that this Acalan?tha still has some effect. At least in the early stages, the improvement was still very obvious.

If he continued to practice, he might really be able to practice to the point where he was invulnerable to all kinds of weapons.

Yu Tian muffled his voice and resisted the beating, but the hooligans became more and more flustered.

They soon realized that something was wrong. There was no change in the expression on this oriental man's face, including his body posture.

Did this look like a normal person getting beaten up?

This was obviously not normal.

Hot Dog carried the guy and panted as he retreated to the back.

He looked at Yu Tian, who was still being crazily attacked by the hooligans, and suddenly felt a little uneasy.

There was naturally no room for more than a dozen hooligans to attack Yu Tian. This was already the third group of people to attack him.

Yu Tian still had that calm and composed expression on his face. He did not retaliate against these hooligans.

Hot Dog hesitated for a moment and immediately shouted, "Stop, all of You stop!

After shouting a few times, those hooligans who were attacking immediately stopped their attacks and took a few steps back.

Those exhausted hooligans noticed the abnormality. The hooligans who were attacking also noticed the abnormality.

They had wanted to stop for a long time, but it was a little difficult for them to stop.

According to the Hooligans 'tradition, after a fight started, it was not good for anyone to retreat.

They would only stop if their bosses gave the order, or if the fight had already ended.

Now that hot dog gave the order to stop, it gave them an excuse to stop. The two groups of hooligans took the opportunity to retreat, and then stared at Yu Tian in a daze.

Yu Tian immediately felt bored. His acalan?tha had just started warming up. How many experience points could he gain from beating them up?

If he had known earlier, he would have just gotten rid of these hooligans and saved him the trouble of taking off his clothes.

Hot Dog did not know what Yu Tian was thinking. He only felt that the situation was not looking good, so he immediately said, "Brother Dongfang, there might have been a misunderstanding today... "

"Misunderstanding? What misunderstanding?"

Yu Tian slowly put on the bulletproof vest and began to zip up.

Hot Dog revealed an ugly smile. "I don't know what misunderstanding it is either. If I knew... there wouldn't be such a misunderstanding today."

“What kind of logic is this? Are you lying to a child? Is this the usual IQ of you people from Wind Nation?”

Yu Tian had already picked up his metal mallet. He weighed it lightly and felt that this weapon was not suitable to deal with these ordinary people. A metal mallet that weighed dozens of kilograms could easily kill with a wave of a hand.

These robbers and hooligans did not deserve to die. Beating them up was more than enough. They did not need to use a large mallet.

In addition, Yu Tian felt that these hooligans had some value, so he did not plan to beat them up to the point of breaking their arms and legs.

Hot Dog also saw the big club in Yu Tian's hand. He felt that this thing did not look like a weapon. Instead, it looked like an antique.

Therefore, he did not care too much. He continued, “In short, this is a misunderstanding. Since the misunderstanding has been explained clearly, you can also leave freely...”

Yu Tian was amused. “Why should I Leave?”

Hot Dog was stunned for a moment. “Oh, that's right. It's time for us to leave...”

“Did I say to let you guys leave?”

Yu Tian still had that strange smile on his face, which made hot dog feel even more flustered..

Chapter 1348: Chapter 1347, manager Henry

Translator: 549690339

Hot Dog licked his lips and said to Yu Tian, “What do you mean? Do you want to become our enemy?”

At this time, the red-haired ghost had also recovered a little. He also stood beside hot dog and said fiercely, “We blockheads are not to be trifled with! ”

“Oh, from your tone, the blockheads are quite powerful?”

Yu Tian was immediately interested. The bigger the power of these hooligans, the more useful they would be to him.

No matter how big their power was, they were still just a group of gangsters.

In front of the Behemoth East Dragon Company, any gang was just an ant.

They had countless methods to deal with these gangs, and they were even more effective than the official methods.

Just because the authorities couldn't deal with these gangs and criminals didn't mean that the Donglong Company couldn't deal with them. It was just a matter of whether there was a need or how much money they had to spend.

Therefore, even though hot dog and red-haired ghost had revealed their identities and backgrounds, they didn't pose any threat to Yu Tian. Seeing Yu Tian's indifferent expression, hot dog and red-haired ghost both had a headache.

If it was just a newborn calf that was not afraid of tigers, they could still teach Yu Tian a lesson.

However, Yu Tian seemed to be very powerful. Such a hothead was the most troublesome for them.

At this time, the red-haired ghost could only continue to describe his powerful background. "Offending Us Blockheads, you will definitely not have an easy time in Dawn City. Our hundreds of thousands of brothers will definitely not let you off..."

"Hundreds of thousands of brothers..."

Yu Tian's interest was immediately piqued.

Although he knew that the red-haired ghost was bragging, to be able to boast to such an extent, he definitely had to have some confidence.

He was very curious about what kind of gang the wooden man was.

According to the information he knew, Dawn City did not have a large-scale gang. Where did this wooden man, who was said to have hundreds of thousands of people, come from?

Yu Tian decided to take down these two robbers first.

He didn't waste time talking to these hooligans and suddenly dashed forward.

These hooligans only saw a blur before the red-haired ghost and hot dog were grabbed by Yu Tian.

Both of them were grabbed by the collar at the back of their necks and had already fainted.

The other hooligans were shocked and angry at the same time. They shouted, "What are you doing? D * MN Orientals, let them go!"

“Let them go? What the F * Ck do you want to eat? If you want to save your boss, come up yourself.

Yu Tian giggled as he looked at the hooligans around him. He wondered if these hooligans would still dare to come over and beat him up.

However, these hooligans no longer dared to fight with Yu Tian.

They had already tried their best to beat Yu Tian up earlier, but reality had proven that their clubs were completely ineffective against Yu Tian.

Now that Yu Tian had started to fight back, they did not want to end up like the hot dog and the red-haired ghost.

Therefore, they could only surround Yu Tian from afar and shout, but they did not dare to take any action.

Some people secretly regretted it. If they had known that they would encounter such a tough guy today, they would have put a gun in their pocket and left the house.

With a gun in hand, they would not panic.

If they took out the gun, this oriental man would not dare to be so arrogant in front of them.

Yu Tian saw that these hooligans had lost the courage to beat him up, and he was a little helpless.

Just as he was about to take care of these cursing hooligans, the people in David's bar finally showed up.

More than ten white men also held clubs in their hands and silently surrounded the hooligans behind them.

In fact, the people in David's bar had long been alerted. These hooligans were fighting and causing trouble outside, so naturally they would attract the attention of the security guards at the entrance.

However, the security guards generally did not pay attention to what happened outside the bar.

No matter what happened outside, as long as they did not cause trouble in the bar, it was none of their business.

However, when the security guards suddenly realized that Yu Tian, an Easterner, was among this group of people, they immediately began to grumble in their hearts.

Their boss, David, had told them that there would be an oriental guest visiting them today, and had also told them to receive him well.

So the security guards immediately went upstairs and told their boss about the situation.

David was entertaining a guest. This guest was Henry, the newly arranged gangster manager of the Donglong Company in Dawn City.

The reason why Henry was at David's bar was naturally to receive Yu Tian, who was about to arrive.

So, when someone ran into David's office and reported the situation outside, Henry immediately ran out.

Henry was the new dawn city gangster administrator, but his previous identity was not related to the gang.

The previous Henry was just an ordinary intelligence officer assigned by the East Dragon Company to Dawn City.

But when the dawn city gangster administrator participated in the rebellion, Henry promptly reported the situation to the Dawn City Operations Division and cooperated with the operations division to control the traitor.

Therefore, when the East Dragon Company's higher-ups resumed operations, they decided to hand over the vacant gang manager position to Henry.

Henry was instantly overjoyed.

The gang manager was a very lucrative position because they were responsible for calculating the gang's income and then handing over the gang's profits to the headquarters.

There would be some money in between, which was much more lucrative than the meager income of the intelligence personnel.

The top management of the East Dragon Company also understood the principle of "When the water is clear, there will be no fish." Therefore, as long as the profits of the gang reached the expected goal, they would not be too harsh.

If these managers had the ability to make more money, the East Dragon Company would also allow them to earn some bonuses for themselves.

The intelligence personnel had a much poorer life. Usually, they could only get a reliable reward when they produced valuable information.

As for the basic salary, it was naturally not too much.

The basic salary could only let them maintain their lives. It could not let them enjoy life.

Therefore, if the intelligence personnel could not often get useful information, they might as well do a normal job.

Although normal work was tiring, it could let them live peacefully.

As long as they could persevere in the position of intelligence officer, there would be some channels for them to continuously obtain intelligence, which would make them live a slightly better life.

Although Henry's income was passable, he was still not satisfied.

He had always hoped that he could climb to a higher position, or obtain more intelligence channels and income.

This change of position was a big surprise for Henry.

Henry loved his new job very much, and he could not allow this opportunity to get promoted and get rich to be ruined by him.

So after taking over as a gangster administrator, Henry immediately forced himself to become a ruthless character..

Chapter 1349: Chapter 1348, wooden man

Translator: 549690339

Henry carried the traitor's head and came before the gang leaders of Dawn City. He announced his identity to them in an awe-inspiring manner.

He also cleverly made use of the deterrence of the Operation Division and his ability to use flowery words to create a big pie. He quickly gained the recognition and trust of the gang leaders.

Now, Henry had successfully taken over the position of the gang manager and was sitting firmly in front of the gang leaders.

Receiving Yu Tian was Henry's first important task after becoming the gang manager.

He did not dare to make any mistakes and rushed to David Bar early in the morning, waiting for Yu Tian to arrive.

At this time, he appeared at the door of David Bar and happened to be an easterner. Who else could it be other than Yu Tian?

Henry realized Yu Tian's identity and immediately called David to bring his gang members and rushed out of the bar's door.

After seeing Yu Tian, Henry immediately recognized this face that he had seen countless times.

Yu Tian's appearance and appearance were no longer a secret in the East Dragon Company.

Because the Kronin Association already knew about Yu Tian's information, the East Dragon Company did not need to hide it anymore.

After recognizing Yu Tian, Henry immediately roared, "You Thieves! What do you want to do to our guests from the David Gang? ! "

The hooligans surrounding Yu Tian immediately retreated to one side and confronted the people from the David Gang.

They began to feel that things were a little troublesome.

They had originally found a random foreigner to rob, but they did not expect the target to be so troublesome. Not only that, they had also provoked another gang.

However, the Hooligans were still stubborn. One of them shouted, "What's so great about the David Gang? We are people of the wooden men!

"So what if we are wooden men! If you dare to hurt our distinguished guests, our David Gang will definitely fight you until the end!

Henry was as angry as a barking watchdog, directly representing the attitude of the David Gang.

This gave David a headache, but there was nothing he could do.

In fact, it was much more dangerous to be a gang member in Dawn City than in other cities.

Because the security in Dawn city was worse than in many windy nation cities, the authorities basically didn't care about the gang fights.

As long as the gangs didn't use guns and didn't kill people all the time, it was fine.

Therefore, when gangsters fought, they were usually more impudent.

As long as they couldn't be beaten to death, they would beat them to death.

The real reason that restricted them from killing people wasn't the law, but whether it was necessary, how much they had to pay, and what kind of consequences and revenge they would have.

When it was necessary, it wasn't a big deal to really beat people to death.

In wind country, especially in a ghost place like Dawn City, if the person who died wasn't someone with a background, a life sentence of two to three years would be over.

If the murderer had some means and background, he could even use money to solve these problems.

This kind of background did not only include power and money, but also their race.

The wooden men were such a race.

They were not a real gang. The wooden men were just a name for their race.

This race liked to riot and cause trouble. Even the officials could not do anything to them.

Their crime rate had always been at the top of the wind country. If a few young people from the race gathered together, they could easily commit robbery, theft, and fraud and earn a few living expenses for themselves.

They didn't have any serious gang organization either. The race was their gang, and the hundreds of thousands of people in Dawn City were their gang members.

Under such circumstances, it seemed that the huge "Gang" of the wooden men could completely sweep over the entire dawn city.

But even a small gang like the David Gang didn't need to fear them too much.

The strength of the wooden men was for the officials.

The officials were most concerned about social stability and votes. There were more than ten million wooden men in all of wind country, and the votes of this ethnic group were very important to the officials.

The situation of the presidential election in the country of wind was a little different from that in other countries. They had a lot of candidates for the preswency.

In other countries, a candidate could usually get tens of percent of the votes, while the candidates in the country of wind usually only got tens of percent of the votes.

Winning the support of an entire ethnic group was crucial to winning the presidential election.

That was why the authorities tolerated the wooden men, who had an extremely high crime rate.

But the gangs would not tolerate their bad habits.

If the David Gang clashed with the wooden men's hooligans, they would end up in a gang war.

A gang war depended on which family was more ruthless and which family was more willing to risk their lives.

The wooden men might be able to gather more people, but they would not be able to gather the entire tribe to participate in such a gang war.

It was one thing to march on the streets and riot, but it was another thing to fight the gangs with real weapons.

Although the wooden men's tribe was large, not everyone was willing to risk their lives for such a trivial matter.

It did not involve the interests of the majority of the people. The wooden men were just a loose tribe. They were different from the gangs, which were closely united and blood-thirsty.

Therefore, when faced with the wooden men, the David Gang did not need to be too timid.

To join a gang, one needed to be ruthless.

Henry was very suitable for this industry.

When the gangsters saw Henry's tough attitude, they did not want to have a conflict with the David Gang over a fat sheep.

They could only say, "We did not want to offend your distinguished guest, but this guest of yours... he killed our boss! "

"Humph!

Seeing the other party's tone soften, Henry also eased up a little.

He didn't want to push the wooden figure too hard, so he said indifferently, "You must have offended our guest. Our brothers just saw you beating our guest. Don't think that I don't know what you are doing. You treat our guest as a foreign tourist and then want to rob him!"

"This is a misunderstanding!

The hooligan immediately said, "We have explained the misunderstanding and are ready to leave, but your guest killed our boss..."

"Stop talking nonsense. "Henry glanced at the two hooligans in Yu Tian's hand and said, "They just fainted. This is the punishment they should receive..."

"Even if it's a punishment, it's enough. Anyway, your guest is not hurt. We have to take our boss back. Let him go and we'll leave immediately.

"This is not a decision that you can do whatever you want, and it's not a decision that I can make."

Henry snorted twice, then quickly walked to Yu Tian and said respectfully,

"Mr. Dragon King, I'm sorry to let you encounter such an unpleasant thing..."

Chapter 1350: Chapter 1,349, drinks are on me

Translator: 549690339

Before Yu Tianlai came, he also took a look at the information in Dawn City.

Due to the traitors' destruction, the Donglong Company's power in wind country was basically lost.

Dawn city originally had two operations branches of the DONGLONG company, but they had already transferred all their manpower to the Mini Bull City and formed the Wild Fox Secret Service team.

Now in Dawn City, the East Dragon Company could almost be said to have no power at all.

Yu Tian came to dawn city to do things, so he could only rely on these local gangs.

If Henry could not control these gangs and let these gangs leave the control of the East Dragon Company, the East Dragon Company would not have the conditions to punish them for the time being.

Therefore, this Henry could be considered a talent. He was actually able to subdue a few gangs under such conditions by himself and follow his lead.

Yu Tian had always admired such capable people.

He smiled and said to Henry, "No need to apologize. I don't feel unhappy. These guys just added some fun to me. Also... They are still of some use to me. I want to bring them back for a chat."

"Oh..."

Henry seemed to be deep in thought. He turned around and glanced at the hooligans. Then, he stared at them and said, "Did you hear that? Our guest wants to treat your boss to a drink!"

"A drink..."

The hooligans looked at each other.

Yu Tian suddenly laughed. "If you're not in a hurry, I'll treat you to a drink too... Let's go to the bar."

The hooligans were confused.

Just now, they were still robbing Yu Tian, but now it was Yu Tian who wanted to treat them to a drink.

This made them feel very confused. They did not know what Yu Tian wanted to do. For a moment, they could only look at each other. No one dared to take the lead and go to the bar.

Yu Tian laughed out loud. "What? You Don't even dare to go to the bar even though I'm treating all of you to a drink? Is that all you blockheads have?" Young people usually could not stand goading. Sometimes, even if they knew that it was goading, they would not be able to swallow their anger.

Immediately, a hooligan said, "Fine, let's go. Isn't it just a drink? I originally planned to find a bar to have a drink with today. Now that someone is treating, why shouldn't I Go!"

Someone echoed, "Yeah, isn't it just David's Bar? It's not like I've never been there before!"

The other hooligans immediately followed suit and shouted, "Let's go, let's go and have a drink!"

Although they did not understand what Yu Tian was up to, David's bar was not a forbidden place like a dragon's Den or a tiger's den. It would not be a big deal to go in and have a drink.

So, this group of hooligans followed Yu Tian and the others into the bar.

David Bar was also open during the day, and business was good.

In addition to selling alcohol, this place also sold some simple food. It had the feeling of a fast-food restaurant and a bit of a music restaurant. When there were singing and dancing programs in the evening, this place had the taste of a disco bar.

In short, David's Bar had a kind of nondescript feeling, but it was still quite popular with customers.

As the only serious business of the David Gang, David had spent a lot of effort on the bar. He wanted the bar to be open 24 hours a day, and business was booming all the time.

So, he could count on the bar to retire.

Yu Tian asked Henry to arrange the hooligans in the lobby on the first floor, then carried the hot dogs and the red-haired ghost to the second floor.

The second floor was a non-business area. The entire floor was filled with offices, and there were also kitchens and warehouses.

The bar was large, so there were a lot of offices on the second floor.

These offices were mainly for the gang members to stay in.

Some of the cash-strapped gangsters and vagrants were not much different. In the past, they would pool their money to rent an apartment, and seven or eight people would squeeze together, as if they were living in a refugee camp.

Now that the David Gang had their own business, these people had a much more comfortable life.

With so much space in the David Bar and so many offices, they could live more comfortably without having to pay rent.

This made the David Gang much more cohesive.

Therefore, the investment of the patron was especially important for the David Gang, which had no future.

David found an empty office and threw the hot dog and the red-haired ghost onto the sofa.

Yu Tian woke them up and asked David to arrange for some drinks and food.

The Hot Dog and the red-haired ghost woke up slowly. They looked at their surroundings and suddenly felt nervous.

It was a small matter to be beaten up outside, but if they were taken away and detained, they would be in big trouble.

There were often scenes like this in movies. When the gangsters punished some enemies and traitors, they would hang them up and beat them up. Eventually, they would be tortured to death, or even tortured to death.

However, hot dog and red-haired ghost soon found that they were not tied up. They were still free to move. It did not look like they were being detained.

This made them slightly relieved.

They soon found Yu Tian, Henry, and the others. Yu Tian and Henry were sitting at a desk at the other end of the office, talking in a low voice.

They found that Yu Tian, Henry, and the others did not seem to be paying full attention to them. When they saw that they had woken up, they did not seem to take any action.

After waiting for a while, hot dog and the red-haired ghost found that Yu Tian still did not pay attention to them. They relaxed and became even more confused.

Why did Yu Tian bring them here?

After waiting for a while, hot dog couldn't help but ask, "What is this place?"

A burly man from the David Gang looked at them and said calmly, "This is David's bar."

"Why did you bring us here?" Hot Dog asked nervously, "What do you want?" "Our guests want to treat you to a drink, so you can just stay here."

The burly man next to him was a little impatient. At this time, someone brought the wine into the office, the burly man immediately said to them, "See, this is for you to drink. Prepare to open your bellies and enjoy it..."

The beer that David had sent in was all beer because the price of this self-brewed beer was very cheap, much cheaper than other alcohol.

However, in order not to appear stingy, David sent over a lot of beer. The beer cups were almost filled to the brim of the coffee table.

The hot dogs and the red-haired ghost instantly turned pale.

It was not like they had not seen the scene of him buying them a drink. It was not impossible for him to get them drunk to death.

Looking at the current situation, Yu Tian definitely wanted to pour them a drink.

The script was that if they did not drink all the beer on the coffee table, they would not be able to walk out of David's bar.

This was their punishment. It was much more sinister than hanging them up and beating them up..