Chapter 951 – Chapter 950. You Want To Be A Hero?

The mouse squad did not attack Park Kuo-chang and bang bang, because the two people have no resistance. Even physically, they have no chance of escaping now.

The men and women, racing against time, were like lambs surrounded by a pack of wolves, and lambs with broken legs.

In addition, they did not have any weapons on them, so no one paid much attention to their small movements.

However, Yu Tian did not like to hear this kind of woman's screams.

He frowned slightly. Cass stepped forward and grabbed the woman's neck, as if he was grabbing a chicken.

Cass originally wanted to scold her and say, "Shut up."

However, the woman suddenly fainted. It was unknown whether it was because of Cass's strangling or Cass's scare.

Park Guochang immediately started to panic. "Mr. Yu, what are you doing?"

"Don't be nervous!"

Yu Tian slowly walked in front of Park Guochang and slowly adjusted park Guochang's collar. "I just want to have a good chat with you."

Even in such hot weather, Park Guochang was still dressed in a suit, just like some black guys.

His suit was very thin and breathable, but it could not withstand such hot weather. It had long been soaked in sweat.

In addition to Yu Tian's inexplicable behavior, Park Guochang was sweating even more heavily. He even had a feeling that he was about to be dehydrated.

He said weakly, "What do you want to talk about? Is it about the compensation? "If you're not satisfied with the compensation, we can still discuss it! that's right, the search and rescue work in that cave is indeed very difficult. I did underestimate the cost of the rescue earlier. We can add another million. "But I don't have any cash on me, and it's not convenient to transfer money here. We have to return to Kannima first!"

"No need. I don't care about the compensation. Even if you can't take out a single cent, it won't affect our search and rescue work."

"Then what exactly do you want?" "I've said it before. I just want to talk to you. "

"What do you want to talk about?"

Park Guochang sat down beside the shade of the tree dejectedly.

Yu Tian smiled and said, "Just talk about it. For example, you can tell me first! What does lumberjack 22 mean?"

Park Guochang shook his head. "It's just a code name. I don't know what it means either."

"Looks like! you want to be a hero?"

Yu Tian smiled and did not continue asking.

He rummaged through the luggage that Park Guochang had brought with him and found a few mazhas.

Then, he took the mazhas and sat down in the shade beside him. Then, he said to the mouse squad beside him "Who's better at torture?"

A skinny assassin walked up to Park Guochang. He had a strange smile on his face, as if he was a hunter who had seen his prey.

He stared at Park Guochang for more than ten seconds before he slowly said,

"Hello, Mr. Park Guochang. My name is Kobe. I'm happy to serve you."

Park Guochang shuddered. Although the weather was hot, he could not help but shiver.

The servants were thrown under the shade of the trees, deliberately avoiding the sun to prevent them from dying from the Sun.

As for the Bang Bang Girl, Cass didn't even bother to tie her up. He casually threw her in the middle of the killers, asking them to keep an eye on her. Park Guochang was a little desperate. Under such circumstances, he had no chance to escape.

Kobe gently squatted down in front of him. "Mr. Park Guochang, let's take off our clothes first. Your clothes are quite expensive. It Won't be good if they get torn later. "

Park Guochang began to tremble. He allowed Kobe to strip him like a puppet, leaving only a pair of underwear.

Kobe sighed in satisfaction. "Alright, although your underwear is also brand-name goods, I've decided to leave you with a bit of human dignity. I hope that you! Don't be ungrateful."

Park Guochang gulped, he turned his head with difficulty and said to Yu Tian,

"I really don't know what lumberjack means. That's just my boss's nickname. It shouldn't have any special meaning. "I just heard him call those people lumberjack! "

"Who are those people? "Yu Tian continued to ask. "They're! the people who disappeared here. "

"Who are they?"

"I don't know. They might be the boss's friends or clients who came here for a f * cking vacation!"

"You 're lying. "

Yu Tian sighed.

Kobe pulled out his belt with a sinister smile. "Hello, hero. Please try the appetizer I prepared for you! "

"Don't hit me. I'm telling the truth!"

After a few hard slashes, Park Guochang immediately started crying.

Hitting people was also a hard job. After a few slashes, Kobe stopped.

He wanted to change to a more energy-saving method of torture.

"Now, let's begin the main course. For the first dish, I'll pull out all your nails. "Don't worry, removing all your fingernails won't kill you. "However, in such a hot place like this, fingernails that don't have fingernails will always have some infection, and then it'll be covered in sores and pus!"

"No, no, no, don't be like this. I'll say it, I'll say it, Alright?"

Park Guochang realized that he was not cut out to be a hero. Whenever he thought of how his delicate fingers would be covered in sores, his heart would start to feel uneasy.

Yu Tian sighed, he said to park guochang, "Mr. Park, I hope that you can understand that you will definitely not be able to withstand the torture. Since the final outcome is the same, why do you have to suffer so much? It's better to say it sooner rather than later. You should just be straightforward. " Park Guochang said helplessly, "I'll say it, I'll say it. What do you want to

"Let's continue to talk about the code name of Lumberjack No. 22. "

"Alright, this is my boss's code name, but I really don't know the exact meaning. I only know that when my boss communicated with those people, he used this code name!"

"To be clear, who are those people?" "These are the missing people. "

"Go on, who are they?"

"I'm not sure about their identities, I only know that the boss calls them salesmen!

"What's their relationship with you?"

"They! are our colleagues, we all work for the same boss.

"Who is the Boss?"

"I don't know, I have to ask my boss about this. Pm just a small salesman, a low-level employee! "

Park Guochang said with a sad face, "Even if it's my boss, he might not know.."

Chapter 952 – Chapter 951, Interrogation

After interrogating Park Guochang repeatedly, Yu Tian had a rough idea of the situation.

Park Guochang's boss was called Cui Zhengzhi, codenamed Lumberjack number 22.

The name didn't mean much, because it was very easy for such a person to change his name and identity. Even if he was investigated by his name, there wasn't much information.

Cui zhengzhi used to be from Bang Bang Country. Now, he was a beautiful person.

Behind him was an organization of unknown scale. Cui Zhengzhi was the person in charge of this organization in Ma Tei. In this organization, Park Guochang could only be considered a peripheral member.

Other than following Cui Zhengzhi's instructions, Park Guochang had no access to other superiors in the organization. His understanding of the organization was extremely limited.

According to Park Guochang's knowledge, their organization did not have any special activities in Ma Di. It was just arms trading.

Park Guochang and a few other salesmen were only responsible for finding buyers and negotiating business in Ma Di. They did not have any contact with their superiors.

Every time arms were transported to Ma Di, it was Cui Zhengzhi who personally contacted them and only brought them along when they received the goods.

Other than being able to meet some of the workers involved in transporting and loading the goods, they didn't even know who their contact was.

It could be said that without Cui Zhengzhi, Park Guochang and the rest would have no relationship with this organization, and wouldn't even be able to continue dealing in arms.

In Park Guochang's eyes, this organization was just an ordinary arms organization. He didn't even know the name of the organization, and Cui Zhengzhi had never told him about these things before.

As for the missing salesmen, they were considered members of the organization that Park Guochang knew about for the first time.

They were originally escorting a piece of goods to the Motherf * cker region, wanting to hand it over to Cui Zhengzhi. However, there were some accidents along the way, which resulted in the current situation.

As for what kind of goods were being escorted, Park Guochang had no idea at all.

The entire situation didn't seem to be anything strange. It was just an arms dealer doing business.

If it wasn't for the fact that those few promoters were genetic warriors, it wouldn't have been worth Yu Tian's attention.

Yu Tian sighed. It seemed like this park Guochang was indeed just a low-level lackey. Other than helping his boss sell arms, he truly couldn't get in touch with the core secrets.

If he wanted to know more, he could only capture Park Guochang's boss, that beautiful person called Cui Zhengzhi.

"Where is your boss now?"

"He returned to the beautiful country a few days ago!"

Park Guochang said dejectedly, "Because there has been no news from those salesmen, he has to go back personally to report the situation to the Big Boss. "

Yu Tian asked again, "Then when will he come back?"

Park Guochang shook his head and said, "I'm not sure, but two days ago, after General Abu received the news from the salesmen, he called my boss and informed him that he should be rushing back to Damadi very soon. "Before he comes back, Pll be in charge of the rescue work for the time being."

"Do you have a headquarters in the capital? Your boss should have a permanent residence in the capital, right?"

"We don't have a headquarters, but the boss has a villa in the capital. He usually doesn't leave the capital and stays in his own villa. "

"Oh, then the rescue work is still going on. Won't he come over personally to see the situation?"

"I don't know, but according to my understanding of my boss, he won't leave the F * cking capital unless it's absolutely necessary.". "He can totally let me complete the rescue work like this alone." "When I find those salesmen, he will definitely let me send them to the capital. "

"So, do you want to see your boss, or do you want to go to the capital personally?"

"Yes, if you want to discuss business with our boss, I can bring you to the capital. "

Park Guochang's face was filled with obedience and anticipation.

If Yu Tian decided to bring him to the capital oasis, then he would have a chance to survive and escape.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment, then immediately got someone to search for park Guochang's phone number.

For the time being, he had no way to obtain more information from Park Guochang. He could only control park Guochang first, and wait for Cui Zhengzhi to contact him.

This small forest was indeed a good resting place. However, Yu Tian didn't find it for Park Guochang. Instead, he found it for the mouse squad.

The mouse squad consisted of nine people. Including Cass, there was a total of ten people. They set up camp in this small forest.

The camping tools that Park Guochang brought over just so happened to benefit the mouse squad.

In order to save trouble and reduce the probability of accidents, the mouse squad simply tied Park Guochang and the others to a tree. Other than going to the toilet, they weren't given any space to move.

And in order to reduce the number of times they went to the toilet, Cass even provided them with minimum food and water.

Cass was very experienced in fasting because he used to be a monk.

He believed that when people did not have any extra activities, they did not need to eat too much food. A steamed bun and a bottle of water every day was enough to survive.

Just Like Park Guochang and the others, they were tied up every day and didn't expend any energy.

Moreover, there was another advantage to controlling their diet. Park

Guochang's followers didn't even have the strength to resist or escape.

Therefore, the most important time for them to be guarded was on the first day.

After the first day, Park Guochang and the others had even less chance to escape.

The rat squad had a total of ten people. They had no problems guarding Park Guochang and the rest. They could even send people back to the pirate village to replenish their food and water. There was no need for Yu Tian to worry at all.

Actually, Yu Tian didn't have anything else to do for the rest of the day.

Other than going to the beach every day to inquire about the progress of the search and rescue work, he would run over to the small forest and wait for Cui Zhengzhi to contact Park Guochang.

In the blink of an eye, two days had passed, and the search and rescue work had yielded no results.

Instead, Cui Zhengzhi called Park Guochang and inquired about the situation regarding the search and rescue.

Under Yu Tian's instructions and the surveillance of Cass and the others, Park Guochang reported the current situation to his boss obediently: there was no progress in the search and rescue work for the time being.

Cui Zhengzhi did not accuse Park Guochang of not doing a good job. Instead, he gave another instruction: if he could not find those salesmen, it would be fine if he could find the password box that they carried.

According to Cui Zhengzhi's description, it was a black metal password box. It was shaped like a cube and was slightly bigger than a basketball. It was very easy to identify.

It was obvious that this was the goods that the genetic warriors wanted to hand over to Cui Zhengzhi. Moreover, to their organization, this goods was more important than the lives of the genetic warriors.

This request was immediately conveyed to Faraday and the rest by Yu Tian..

Chapter 953 – : Chapter 952, Landing Ship

Yu Tian did not know what was in the password box that they were carrying, but he was very interested in getting his hands on it.

Another day passed, and uncle long finally called.

"I've already contacted the weapons and equipment you need. If there are no special requirements, we can arrange for transportation today. "According to the situation in Damadan, the first batch of weapons and equipment that I've arranged will have ten tanks and armored vehicles. "These include the t-series Heavy 10 and medium 55 tanks, three each, and four infantry combat vehicles!"

"I'm not too familiar with these models. How are their performance?"

"In terms of performance! they're still a little behind the mainstream tanks of today. After all, they're products from decades ago. "However, their quality is definitely not a problem. They are also very suitable to be used in such a backward place."

"How is their maneuverability? Is it easy to learn how to drive and shoot them?"

How long will it take for these mother f*cker pirates to master them?"

"The control of these first-generation equipment is not complicated. As long as they have some strength and a little bit of brain, they can complete the basic training in half a month. "We can arrange the training personnel ourselves.

They can arrive together with the tanks. "

"Okay, let's do it this way. Hurry up and arrange the delivery. "

"In addition, this batch of goods also has a large amount of ammunition and fuel, as well as 1,000 ACAR rifles and 100 PK general purpose machine guns.

"Also, I found some old-fashioned grenade launchers in their warehouse. These things should be very suitable for the use of F * CK City, so I also took

"You can decide on these. As long as they are suitable weapons for F * CK City and the price is right, you can get them. I want to arm a military force in F * Ck city that is sufficient to protect myself. "

Yu Tian cared about tanks and armored vehicles the most. These things could basically run rampant in F * CK City.

As for guns, they were just icing on the cake.

In fact, there was an even more powerful war weapon, the armed helicopter.

However, this thing didn't seem to have any good effects in F * Ck land. It could be shot down at any time.

Moreover, the armed helicopter was too difficult for the people of F * Ck land to operate.

If general Abu suddenly had two armed helicopters, it would cause too much of a stir. It would easily attract the attention of some big countries and intelligence agencies.

For the time being, it was enough to get some obsolete weapons and equipment for general Abu.

Yu Tian informed General Abu of this news, and general Abu was immediately overjoyed.

The delivery time was set for the next night, and the speed was unimaginable.

Uncle Long's transportation method was air and sea transportation. First, the weapons and equipment would be sent to a certain country near Ma di by large military transport planes, and then transferred over by ship.

If it weren't for the lack of an airport and runway near Kainima, which made it impossible to provide a place for the large transport aircraft to land, the weapons and equipment would have arrived on the same day.

The agreed pick-up point was also a beach, which was a little far from the pirate village and located in an uninhabited area near the Gobi Desert.

General Abu brought his own elite troops to personally pick up the goods. Along with him were general Abu and the Tiger Squad. They both had the ability to drive tanks and armored vehicles.

Yu Tian only brought the big guy with him. Together with General Abu's army, they rushed to the deserted beach.

The actions of hundreds of people were obviously eye-catching. However, there were no residents in the area around the Gobi Desert, so the actions of the army did not need to be too secretive.

When the army reached the beach, the sky had completely darkened.

Everyone began to rest on the spot, eating, drinking, and taking a dump.

As soon as the hundreds of people dispersed, the sound of chattering could be heard on the beach, just like the noise of a wet market.

Yu Tian did not have much hope for general Abu's military discipline in the first place, because the entire army in the entire Damadi was similar in character, so Yu Tian was not surprised by this situation.

After waiting in the darkness for a few hours, Yu Tian finally received a call.

After another half an hour, lights finally appeared on the surface of the sea. The shadow of a huge ship quickly approached the surface of the sea from afar.

General Abu was immediately excited, but Yu Tian suddenly felt a little sad for him.

No matter what, the Damadi was still a country, but the coastline was completely unguarded. Smugglers and pirates could come and go as they pleased, and they could not do anything to them.

The regime did not have the ability to control the entire country, and the warlords who were entrenched in various places were also unable to control their own territory. Such a state was far inferior to that of the eastern countries hundreds of years ago.

If it were not for the poverty and chaos of this country, this era would not be the era of global chaos and war. They would have long been annexed by other countries.

General Abu gave the order to turn on the headlights. The military vehicles lined up in a row immediately provided a clear target for landing on the sea.

After waiting for a few more minutes, the shadow of the ship gradually approached and slowly approached the shore.

The shadow of the ship in the darkness appeared particularly tall. When the shadow of the ship gradually approached, Yu Tian took a closer look and realized that it was actually a strange-looking amphibious landing ship.

There were two huge things that looked like wind turbines at the back of the ship. There was also a large air cushion under the ship. This was clearly the kind of ship that could land on the shoals. Moreover, it was a huge ship that had ocean-going capabilities, it was also a large landing ship that could carry a considerable number of war chariots.

When General Caro saw this thing, he immediately said in surprise, "This seems to be the latest type of landing ship of the eastern country. How could it

It was impossible for any country to export the latest type of weapons, and it was even more impossible for individual organizations and forces to control them. To be able to get their hands on such a thing was already enough to show the powerful strength of the East Dragon Company.

General Abu's jaw dropped as well. He could not help but exclaim, "Boss Yu, your company is simply! Rich and powerful. "

After integrating with the demon snake, Uncle Long's main focus was on making money. With sufficient capital, making money was actually not a difficult task.

In addition to having sufficient connections, donglong company was able to get involved in many important industries. It was said that they had also taken down many oil fields, mines, and ports in backward countries.

This type of industry was much more profitable and large-scale than real estate.

Of course, the investment in this type of industry was also huge. Not only did it require the behind-the-scenes boss to have strong strength and background, but he also had to be willing to give up the benefits and share them equally with all the other forces.

General Abu was amazed, but he also began to ponder in his heart.. Did the Donglong Company have some mysterious connection with the eastern country?

Chapter 9

The landing ship crashed into the shallows, and then the front cabin door slowly opened.

After the cabin door opened, one could see the light coming out of the hull.

In order to reduce the target and not attract attention, there were not many lights left outside the landing ship.

However, the cabin could be brightly lit. Yu Tian could see the spacious interior space at a glance, as well as the various tanks and armored vehicles parked neatly inside.

The hull of the ship did not shake at all. A tank slowly sailed out of the cabin and clumsily climbed onto the beach.

General Abu immediately rubbed his palms in excitement. His army also stared at the heavy tanks that came out of the cabin with excitement. They all made lively discussions like a market.

With such a big guy, General Abu's strength was naturally stronger. The forces around him did not dare to easily clash with him.

For the soldiers in the army, they also had a lot of benefits. They would feel more secure and have more morale.

Just like when they attacked the pirates, the pirates did not even have the courage to fight back. They could only focus on escaping.

This was the benefit of having powerful weapons and equipment. As long as they had an overwhelming advantage, the casualties on their side would be very small.

Especially in a place like this, the army basically did not have much discipline. Once they encountered an enemy that had an overwhelming advantage, they would basically lose the will to fight. Their morale would directly drop to the bottom line, and they would even start to flee without fighting.

Therefore, the excitement of these soldiers was not much less than general Abu's.

While everyone was paying attention to the tank landing, a man in a suit quickly walked to Yu Tian's side.

"Hello, number one. The goods have arrived successfully. This is the list of supplies. Please check it. "

"Thank you for your hard work. "

Yu Tian had already met number 55 and knew that he was an internal member of the East Dragon Company. Therefore, he took the list casually and did not bother to check it for the time being.

When one's own people transported things to one's own people, there would usually not be a situation where there was a shortage of weight.

If such a situation really happened, the person responsible could be investigated at any time. It was not as troublesome as dealing with outsiders.

"This time, there are also a few coaches who are in charge of teaching and training. They are all peripheral members of our East Dragon Company, so they can be considered as one of us. "Right now, they are sending the tank ashore. They will report to you later. "If you have any orders after the 1st, you can directly pass them down. "

"Okay."

Yu Tian nodded.

Uncle Long's management skills were pretty good. The East Dragon Company was also more appropriate and thorough.

After the 10 tanks and armored vehicles landed, they would be loaded with guns and ammunition. These things needed to be transported manually.

The army brought by General Abu was used to do this kind of rough work.

They first drove the truck into the cabin, and then the soldiers began to move the weapons and ammunition boxes. Hundreds of people took turns to work, and the loading speed was much faster than expected.

When the soldiers were moving the supplies, the tank instructors came to report to Yu Tian.

As Yu Tian expected, these instructors were all old Russians.

Old Russians were usually a little arrogant, especially when facing the easterners and backward countries.

But now that they knew Yu Tian was their boss, they were very polite and honest.

In front of Yu Tian, general Abu, and General Karo, the three old Russians began to introduce themselves.

The names of the old Russians were more talkative. Yu Tian usually only remembered the name with the shortest syllable.

Their names were Ivan, Ivan, and Ivan.

Yu Tian was stunned.

Why are all these old Russians with the same name? Are the names of your country that monotonous?

At least give us a 20,000 yuan or three cakes. Yu Tian could only say, "That! Ivan!"

"Yes, Boss, please give us your orders. "

The three Ivan saluted at the same time.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "In order to distinguish you, I plan to call you old Ivan, Big Ivan, Little Ivan! What do you think?"

"No problem, boss. You can call us 20,000 yuan and three cakes."

"Okay."

"From now on, your work and life will be handled by General Caro. He will make arrangements for your training courses. If there are any problems, you can directly communicate with him. "

The trainees were general Abu's soldiers, but Yu Tian did not have the intention of handing over all the instructors to general Abu.

One reason was that general Abu was not familiar with military training. Another reason was that Yu Tian hoped that General Caro would lead this group of instructors and gain some prestige in general Abu's army.

In the future, if General Abu was not obedient, general Caro might have the ability to mobilize some soldiers. He might even be able to control general Abu.

Therefore, General Caro's training course would be long-term and continuous. He might even become General Abu's military staff officer in the future.

After the weapons and equipment were handed over, No. 55 took the landing ship and quickly disappeared on the surface of the sea.

General Caro and the others began to return with General Abu.

The three old Russian instructors obviously could not drive so many tanks and armored vehicles at the same time. Therefore, some members of the tiger team also changed their jobs to temporary tank drivers.

It was not difficult to drive a pure tank, just like learning to drive a car. It was just a test of physical strength and endurance.

In addition, the environment inside the cockpit of this old-style tank was not very friendly, and it was uncomfortable to stay in it for a long time.

On the way back, the driving training began.

In each tank and armored vehicle, except for one instructor, the others were all cadets under General Abu's command.

These people were proficient in driving cars, and they would learn faster when driving a tank.

In the past, the tank driver's configuration was usually five people, with a Commander, a driver, a co-driver, a gunner who controlled the artillery, and a loader who loaded the ammunition.

In modern tanks, there were usually four people, but there was no co-pilot.

In the past, the main role of the co-pilot was to control the machine gun, be responsible for communications, and act as a spare tire, and so on.

But because of the improvement in technology, the work efficiency of the captain and the driver was also high. The machine gun was electronically controlled, so the position of co-pilot was abolished in many countries.

Some tanks did not even need a loader anymore because of the invention of the automatic loader.

However, these old-fashioned tanks still needed a minimum of five people.

Tonight's training was mainly for the drivers and captains. General Abu was not satisfied with just ten tanks and armored vehicles. He had already prepared an armored force of 200 people. Now, all he needed was tanks and training..

Chapter 9

This batch of tanks and armored vehicles had given general Abu quite a shock. He no longer had any doubts about Yu Tian's strength.

At the same time, he also knew that he no longer needed to buy weapons from other arms dealers in the future.

Although it looked like he had been kidnapped by Yu Tian, he could only rely on Yu Tian's blood transfusion in the future.

However, general Abu felt that he had to ensure his own survival. Even if he had to pay a price, it was still acceptable.

Moreover, when he became truly powerful, he would naturally come into contact with better resources. Yu Tian might not be able to control him.

This was the same reason why many countries imported foreign capital. It seemed like they had become cheap labor, but in the process, they were able to continuously grow stronger and gain skills and abilities.

Finally, when their wings hardened, they could get rid of those foreign capital and develop independently.

General Abu secretly had his own plans in his heart.

Yu Tian didn't care if general Abu had his own plans. He didn't accompany the army back to Kannima. Instead, he stayed in the pirate village and continued to keep an eye on the search and rescue work by the sea.

General Abu was very tactful. He called Yu Tian the next day and "Reported "his work.

He was going to build a new military camp in khannima. In addition to expanding the army, it was mainly used to house the tanks and armored vehicles.

This batch of tanks and armored vehicles was temporarily placed in the residential houses on the edge of the city. For this, he also forcibly commandeered and destroyed some of the residents 'houses.

However, according to Yu Tian's request, he also made satisfactory compensation to those residents.

After all, if one wanted to have a stable rule, one must have rules in doing things, and one must learn to convince others with virtue.

These were all Yu Tian's requests to him.

Regarding the construction of the new barracks, general Abu contacted a construction and engineering company in the eastern country. Their work efficiency was higher than that of any other construction company in any other country.

Although it was a simple barracks construction, the budget was more than a million yuan. General Abu felt that it was necessary to report to the investor, Yu Tian.

Yu Tian did not object to the cost, and general Abu was slightly relieved.

In addition, General Caro also briefly reported his work to Yu Tian.

The official tank driving training had begun. According to General Caro's requirements, all the soldiers who participated in the training had to graduate within half a month.

He did not require those soldiers to be ace tank operators, but at least they had to be able to drive their tanks onto the battlefield and be able to cause damage to the enemy.

In the F * CK, reaching this level was more or less enough.

After reporting on the work matters, General Caro hesitated again. "Boss, do you think we need to strengthen our own strength?"

Yu Tian asked, "What do you mean?"

General Caro said, "Actually, I used to have a lot of old subordinates. Some of them have retired, and some have gone to join the mercenary group. Many of them are not satisfied with their lives!" "Do you still keep in touch with those old subordinates?"

"Yes, some of them still keep in touch."

"You want to call them over and add them to your tiger team?"

"Yes, I feel that there is a bright future here, and the job is not very dangerous.

They should be happy to accept this new job. "

After seeing the huge amount of money spent on the landing ship last night, General Caro also confirmed that Yu Tian had a lot of hidden forces in his hands. He could definitely support more troops.

Therefore, he now wanted to recruit his old subordinates back under his command. This could increase his weight in Yu Tian's heart, and it could also increase the strength of his own side, making it more convenient for him to work in Hell.

Yu Tian thought about it for a while and agreed with General Caro's idea of expanding the tiger squad.

Increasing General Caro's strength was not a bad thing. The only troublesome thing was that the expenses would be larger.

Whether it was the tiger squad or the rat squad, Yu Tian had to pay them thousands of dollars per month, as well as equip them with basic equipment, provide them with basic necessities such as food, clothing, shelter, and so on.

This was just their daily state.

If they were to carry out a special mission that was more difficult or more dangerous, then they would have to pay a high reward, or even equip them with more expensive weapons and equipment.

Yu Tian had to be more generous to his subordinates. The treatment and reward he gave them could not be lower than those mercenaries. The weapons and equipment provided were also suitable. When it was time to use good things, they had to use them.

The sum of these things added up, the monthly expenditure was not small. Moreover, it was a long-term and continuous expenditure.

If General Caro recruited a few dozen or a few hundred good people, it would be equivalent to an additional expenditure for the East Dragon Company.

Because Yu Tian had retired a long time ago, the East Dragon Company was now a company owned by the collective.

But now, he had to run out to stir up trouble and keep taking money from the East Dragon Company. This made him feel a little embarrassed.

In particular, the new subordinates that he recruited now belonged to his personal power. It was even less suitable to let the East Dragon Company support him for a long time.

Separating business from personal was also a rule in doing things.

Yu Tian began to think that he should open up some more financial channels.

Thinking of this, he called Uncle Long again.

"I need a professional mineral exploration team. "

Uncle Long immediately guessed what he meant. "You want to open a mine in Tamar?"

Yu Tian said, "I have this plan, but I have to survey the geological environment here first. If there are suitable resources, I will consider the matter of official mining. "

Uncle Long said with a low voice, 'C I don't really recommend mining in Damadi. The political situation in this place is very unstable. If you gain anything from mining, it will be very easy for other forces to covet you. Even this general Abu will have some thoughts that he shouldn't have! "

Yu Tian said, "I know. Since I plan to mine here, I will definitely create a force that can protect the mine. As for general Abu, there's no need to worry about that. "

Uncle Long was a little puzzled. "Why don't you go to other countries with stable political regimes to open a mine? There's no need to invest so much effort to ensure the safety of mining in those countries. "

"Well, actually, mining is also a cover."

"Cover? Cover for what?"

"General Abu's sudden increase in strength will definitely attract the attention of some people. Those people will also begin to investigate who exactly is supporting general Abu and the purpose of supporting him! "

Yu Tian smiled and said, " So, I plan to set up a mining company. Because I want to open a mine, I invested in general Abu. This is much more reasonable.."

Chapter 956 – Chapter 955, Conditions

Uncle Long was silent for a while, then he slowly said, "I still don't quite understand your ultimate purpose of investing in general Abu. Why do we have to support such a large army? General Abu should have one or two thousand soldiers under him, right?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "It won't be just one or two thousand very soon. It might even be ten or twenty thousand."

"What do you need so many troops for?"

"You'll know in the future."

Yu Tian did not explain too much.

He had originally retired, but now he was busy with the issue of the Kronin Society. His ultimate goal was definitely to take care of the Kronin Society.

In his intuition, the Kronin Society's power was definitely stronger than what he saw at the moment.

An organization that could make such a big fuss on Demon Island and even had a small nuclear facility was comparable to some ordinary countries.

If there was a more direct conflict with the KRONNY Society in the future, Yu Tian would need a powerful force on the scale of an army.

Although the East Dragon Company had money and people, they did not have large-scale military equipment.

Their strength was enough to deal with ordinary underground organizations, but it would definitely be very difficult to deal with those behemoths.

Yu Tian was playing this military-formed game now to deal with the possible crisis situation in the future.

There was no need to explain these things in detail to uncle long for the time being.

In short, uncle long quickly arranged the mineral exploration team and rushed to damadei on the third day.

Yu Tian didn't need to worry about the work of the exploration team. He just asked General Abu to arrange for a team of soldiers to protect them.

On the same day, Cui Zhengzhi also called Park Guochang. He was about to return to the Happy Valley.

There was still no progress in the search and rescue work. Faraday and the others didn't find anything in the cave either.

Yu Tian felt that the possibility of luring Cui zhengzhi out wasn't high. Now, he could only make a trip to the capital oasis to capture Cui Zhengzhi.

This matter naturally required the assistance of Park Guochang.

In the small forest at the top of the cliff, Park Guochang and his female companion had already transformed into beggars.

Including their entourage, all of them were weak and lacked any semblance of authority.

Yu Tian smiled and said to park guochang, "Let me tell you a piece of good news. Your life of being imprisoned can end now. "

Park Guochang's eyes lit up. "Are you going to let us leave?"

"I'll take you with me."

"You'll come with us? Where do you want to take us?"

Park Guochang's face was full of anticipation.

Yu Tian said indifferently, "We'll go to the oasis to meet your boss. I want to talk to your boss. "

Park Guochang said suspiciously, "Talk? Like How We Talk?"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "More or less! in short, you're responsible for bringing me to your boss. "

Park Guochang hesitated.

He had originally wanted to go back to Oasis and even bring Yu Tian to his boss's villa. That way, he would have a lot of chances to escape.

But now, he had become a traitor under Yu Tian's torture, betraying a lot of information about his boss and the organization.

Even though this information wasn't very important, it was still a fact that he had become a traitor.

Now that he had escaped from Yu Tian's hands, it was impossible for him to return to Cui Zhengzhi's hands.

Not only was it impossible for him to continue working for Cui Zhengzhi, he might even have to face the pursuit of Cui Zhengzhi. Even if he ran back to Bang Bang State, he wouldn't be safe.

Park Guochang smiled bitterly, then said weakly to Yu Tian, "You can ask me to help you, but I have a request."

Yu Tian said, "Tell me. "

Park Guochang said, "If I help you kidnap Cui Zhengzhi, you must not let him live. Even if you want to interrogate him, you must kill him after the interrogation. "

"It seems that you hate your boss."

"No, I don't hate him. Actually, as a fellow countryman of Bang Bang State, Cui Zhengzhi gave me a good treatment. He trusted me with many things and was willing to hand over some important things to me to do. "

"Oh.

"But there's no other way. Pve already betrayed him. If he doesn't die after this incident, then the one who will die will definitely be me!"

Park Guochang's expression was filled with helplessness. "Even though I don't know how much power our organization has hidden behind the scenes, but

Yu Tian instantly became interested. "Tell me, how did they deal with the traitors?"

Park Guochang said, "Previously, Cui Zhengzhi had a pretty good salesperson under him. Initially, he was doing well and his income wasn't bad. Cui Zhengzhi also trusted him very much. But once, after he completed a large transaction, he suddenly made a donation and fled! "

"And then? He was caught and brought back?"

"Yes, you might not understand the meaning of this."

Piao Guochang sighed. "That kid is from the black continent. No matter if he is hiding in Dama di, or returning to their black continent, he can easily hide. Especially in black continent. As long as he finds a place to hide his identity and change his identity, it's impossible to find out his background and background under normal circumstances. "It's even possible! if he changes his clothes and stands in front of me, I might not be able to recognize him. Many people in black continent look exactly the same. "

Yu Tian immediately laughed, "That's right. At least from our point of view, many black people look the same. Moreover, they have an advantage. In some photos and videos, their faces can not be seen clearly."

Park Guochang said solemnly, "Yes, that's why I always thought that if he ran back to Black Zhou, the entire world would not be able to find him. "

Yu Tian nodded, "But he was still captured by your organization?"

"He was captured by their organization. "Park Guochang corrected, "US sales staff! perhaps we are not even considered as peripheral members of their organization, we are just helpers hired by Cui Zhengzhi personally. "

Yu Tian said, "Since you're only Cui Zhengzhi's private employees, then you're definitely not on their organization's list! How can you be called traitors in such a situation?"

Park Guochang smiled bitterly. "That's right. We might not even be qualified to be called traitors, but the result is still the same. That Black Kid had betrayed Cui Zhengzhi in the end and harmed the organization's interests. The organization will not let him off. "

Yu Tian asked again, "Then do you know how he was brought back?"

Park Guochang shook his head. "Of course I don't know. I only saw him when he was brought back. Cui Zhengzhi deliberately let us see him to make an example out of others. "

"Then, who was he brought back by?"

Chapter 957 – : Chapter 956, Surveillance

"Armband?"

Yu Tian's heart skipped a beat.

Park Guochang continued, "Yes, armband.". They wore uniform and looked like soldiers in the army. There was an armband on the upper arm of their sleeves. It seemed to be! a rotten human face."

"Rotten human face!"

Yu Tian immediately recalled the appearance of the soldiers on Demon Island. There was also an armband on their upper arms.

A rotting human face, the clone society.

Even though on the surface, Cui Zhengzhi was only in the ordinary arms business.

However, it was impossible for the clone society to send people to help an ordinary arms dealer deal with traitors. An ordinary arms dealer would also not have such connections with genetic warriors.

Even though Yu Tian had yet to figure out the background of the Kronin Society, judging from the arms business on Demon Island and in Happy Valley, the Kronin Society was quite rich.

A rich organization might not necessarily be powerful, but a powerful organization definitely needed money.

Since the Kronin Society was also involved in the arms business, they definitely did not only do business in Happy Valley.

One could easily imagine that in these war-torn regions, their agents were indispensable. For example, an arms dealer like Cui Zhengzhi.

Yu Tian instantly laughed out loud. Good! Then, I'll start with arms dealers like you.

Not only Cui Zhengzhi, but the arms dealers in those war-torn regions could also be screened. They could investigate all the members of the Kronin Association and then deal with them.

The expenses of large-scale organizations were also very high, especially a secret organization like the Clone Society. They were still secretly researching genetic warriors, and the expenditure was an astronomical figure.

Eliminating these arms dealers was equivalent to cutting off a source of income for the clone society. This was definitely enough to make the clone society feel pained.

Who knows, they might even jump out to cause trouble for Yu Tian.

This way, it would be easier for them to reveal their true strength and weaknesses.

Once a secret evil organization lost its secrecy, it would become much easier to deal with.

They would become street rats and enjoy the powerful attacks from all the countries in the world.

When Yu Tian saw this result, he immediately became much happier.

He immediately said to Park Guochang, "Alright, I have more or less understood the situation. Don't worry, I will definitely deal with that Cui Zhengzhi properly. I will not give him any chance to take revenge on you, nor will I give them any chance to organize any revenge. "

Park Guochang was silent for a moment. "Alright, then I will help you capture Cui Zhengzhi. "

Yu Tian nodded slightly to Cass. "Let him go! also, return his clothes to him."

Park Guochang was still only wearing a pair of underpants. In such a hot place like this, he felt exceptionally cool.

After letting go of the rope, the disheveled Park Guochang slowly put on his clothes again.

He glanced at his female companion and entourage, then said to Yu Tian, "You have to let go of my men as well. I have to bring them back to the oasis!

otherwise, Cui Zhengzhi will be suspicious. "

Park Guochang could bring Yu Tian's men back to the oasis, but he still had to bring his original troops with him.

If Cui Zhengzhi saw that the things around him had changed, and there wasn't a single familiar face, he would definitely have some doubts.

Any detail that was overlooked could lead to very serious consequences.

Therefore, Park Guochang felt that he had to bring his entourage.

Yu Tian glanced at his followers and asked, "Are your followers your own people?"

Park Guochang replied, "Yes, they are all bodyguards that I personally recruited. "

Yu Tian said, "Are you sure that Cui Zhengzhi didn't leave any spies by your side among them?"

Park Guochang shook his head and said, "Impossible, I personally recruited these people on the website. It's very random. Cui Zhengzhi couldn't have arranged so many people in advance and even let me choose them. "

Yu Tian glanced at that bang bang girl again. "Then what about her?"

"Jin Xiuyan!" Park Guochang hesitated for a moment. "She's a woman I know in Bang Bang State. It's impossible that she has anything to do with Cui Zhengzhi. "

Jin Xiuyan raised her head and looked at Yu Tian weakly. Then, she squeezed out a fawning smile and used the Bang Bang Girl to say to park guochang, "Oppa, are you talking about me? Is this man going to let me go? He won't kill me, right?"

Jin Xiuyan basically did not understand the international language, so Park Guochang could only helplessly explain, "No, you don't have to think about it.

This gentleman will let us go. We're going to be free soon."

Jin Xiuyan immediately revealed a look of joy. "That's great, Oppa. Being trapped here these past few days is really too uncomfortable. I want to go back to Kannima immediately to take a bath. "And this set of clothes. I want to throw them away and go back to bang bang country to buy new clothes. and a new bag! "

Park Guochang sighed and said to Yu Tian, "I just want to drink more water and eat something."

Yu Tian laughed and said to cass, "Let them all go, and then give them water and food! be careful not to give them too much food."

Cass nodded, and then the assassins of his mouse team immediately took action.

They Untied Park Guochang's entourage, including Jin Xiuyan, and put them down from the tree.

When the entourage warmed up a little and began to drink water again.., yu Tian said to them, "You probably understand the situation now. Although Pll let you go temporarily, it doesn't mean that you're free of suspicion. After all, things like spies and spies are always unexpected!"

Park Guochang hurriedly said, "I will have them monitor each other. If there really is Cui Zhengzhi's spy among them, I will definitely not give him the chance to report it. "

This matter also concerned Park Guochang's safety, so he was also very concerned about the unexpected situation. He took the initiative to raise a precautionary request to his followers.

But this was not enough.

Yu Tian said again, "In short, before we capture your boss's boss, all of you can not act on your own. You can not leave our surveillance. The things like phones and phones will continue to be kept by us. You must also sleep under our surveillance!"

The bodyguards instantly fell silent.

However, although it was somewhat uncomfortable to be monitored by others, it was not that they could not endure it in order to survive.

Furthermore, they wouldn't be monitored for too long. After capturing Cui Zhengzhi, Yu Tian naturally had no interest in keeping an eye on them.

With this thought, the bodyguards instantly felt much more at ease.

Yu Tian then said to park guochang, "You have to pass these words to your Bang Bang Nation woman. She will also be subject to our surveillance. You had better tell her not to cause any trouble.."

Chapter 958 – Chapter 957, Back To Kannima

Women were always troublesome creatures, especially those who were slightly beautiful. They always thought that they had some privileges, and they often didn't understand their own situation.

Under this illusion, women often liked to provoke the rules and do some suicidal things.

Therefore, Yu Tian had to specifically remind Park Guochang, "You must take my warning seriously. If she does anything inexplicable that affects our actions, I will make her into a pile of fat and protein, and she will never have the chance to act coquettishly."

Park Guochang quickly said, "I will. I will seriously warn her and personally keep an eye on her, so that she doesn't do anything stupid."

"That's good."

Yu Tian nodded and said to Cass, "Let them rest here first. When their physical strength is almost recovered, we will go to Kannima."

Cass nodded in agreement.

At this time, Park Guochang seemed to have suddenly remembered something and hurriedly asked Yu Tian, "Does anyone else know that I'm tied up here by

Yu Tian smiled and said, "I know what you're worried about! Don't worry, I've long been prepared for this situation. Other than the people in this small forest, no one knows that you're imprisoned here. Including the pirates below who are busy with the search and rescue work, including General Abu's people. "

Park Guochang heaved a sigh of relief. "That's good. What I'm most worried about is the terrifying ability of their organization to obtain information. I don't know what kind of methods they have, but they can even find the black kid hiding in Black Island. They must have a terrifying number of intelligence personnel. Perhaps they have many spies hiding in the dark!"

Yu Tian smiled.

It seemed that Park Guochang had already been traumatized by the information abilities of the Kronin Association.

The fact that the Kronin Association had caught the traitor of Black Zhou made Park Guochang feel a little incredulous, and even scared him completely.

But in fact, the Kronin Association might not be the traitor that they had caught in Black Zhou, and it might not be a tactic of relying on a large number of intelligence personnel.

Park Guochang might not know much about intelligence work, but Yu Tianguo knew it well.

No organization could develop the number of intelligence personnel to the level of the Chaoyang Masses. The amount of money needed for such a situation could not be described by astronomical figures.

Moreover, in a place like Hei Zhou, there was not much value in investing in intelligence, let alone monitoring every corner and every person.

They must have other means to catch that traitor.

Yu Tian did not know the specific situation yet, and he was not interested in studying this problem.

Because every organization had their own way of doing things, as well as their own advantages, Yu Tian had no need to study these things.

What he needed to do now was to try his best to avoid the fact that Park Guochang was under his control.

These few days, Park Guochang and the others were all trapped in the small forest. The only contact they had with the outside world was with Cui Zhengzhi.

As for the rest, not a single pirate came up to the top of the cliff.

All the food and water were obtained by the assassins of the mouse squad from the pirate village.

In addition, general Abu didn't send anyone to ask about Park Guochang. Because there were more than two days left to manage the situation here, general Abu tactfully didn't disturb them.

After getting the tanks and armored vehicles, general Abu Even forgot about Park Guochang and Cui Zhengzhi, the arms dealer.

Actually, Cui Zhengzhi also called General Abu to inquire about the situation of the search and rescue work from the side.

But, what did general Abu know about the situation? He could only say that Park Guochang was working at the seaside and had never returned. He was extremely hardworking and conscientious.

These words of prevarication actually made Cui Zhengzhi feel much more at ease. In his heart, he praised Park Guochang even more.

At night, Yu Tian brought everyone and rushed to Kannima.

After a simple cleaning, Park Guochang and the others looked a little better.

However, their bodies were dirty and looked like beggars.

When General Abu saw their honorable appearance, he thought that they were made like this because of work. He immediately praised them.

Park Guochang was too embarrassed to explain. He could only call his entourage to return to their rooms.

General Abu's rooms were divided into two types. One was to entertain important guests, and the conditions and decorations were similar to a hotel.

The other was a dormitory-style room, which could be used to entertain guests' entourage, as well as to house the guards and soldiers for their own villa.

The dormitory rooms were usually four beds, and some had eight beds. This kind of structure was just convenient for the mouse team to monitor Park Kuo-chang's entourage.

Park Guochang and Kim Xiuyan stayed in the VIP room, but there were still two assassins from Lao Su's team who followed them in and monitored them 24/7.

This feeling made Park Guochang and Kim Xiuyan's balls hurt.

It was impossible for them to race against time at night. Even Kim Xiuyan's shower and change of clothes were a little troublesome. She couldn't expose herself too much in front of Park Guochang.

This strange accommodation arrangement made general Abu feel somewhat puzzled.

But then, he was pulled into his office by Yu Tian.

"Arrange a convoy and a team of soldiers to accompany me to the oasis. "

Yu Tian went straight to the point and made a request to general Abu.

General Abu was somewhat surprised. "Oasis? What are you going there for? My army going to the capital! isn't very convenient. "

"I'm going to capture that Cui Zhengzhi. "

Yu Tian's tone was calm, but what he said shocked general Abu even more.

General Abu took a long time to recover. "Why are you capturing that arms dealer? Are you trying to steal his business? I think you might as well talk to him. These arms dealers are not to be trifled with. They all have powerful backing. This Cui Zhengzhi is able to run an arms business and live peacefully in the oasis. His relationship with the capital government is also extraordinary. If you go to the capital to capture him!"

At this point, general Abu hesitated again, helplessly, he said, "The oasis is the capital. It is neither my territory nor some remote place. If you attack Cui Zhengzhi in the oasis, I'm afraid you won't be able to return safely!"

Yu Tian smiled and said, "I have my own plans. You just need to prepare more troops for me."

General Abu said anxiously, "It's no use. Even if I send all my troops there, I won't be a match for the capital's army."

Yu Tian continued to smile and said, "We are not going to war. It's just a simple kidnapping operation. We don't need to consider the capital's army! nor do we need your army to participate in the operation.. "

Chapter 959 – Chapter 958: Go To The Oasis

General Abu was a little confused. "What do you plan to do? What do you want my army for?"

"The army is just for the guards along the way to avoid encountering some blind robbers and possible pursuers."

Yu Tian said casually, "Your Army doesn't need to participate in other operations. However, if your army can smoothly enter the oasis and reach the edge of the capital city! There shouldn't be any problems in this area, right?"

General Abu said, "If there are no special operations, I can send a small team over and carry out limited freedom of movement around the capital city. "After all, I have also participated in the presidential election. I am also a person with a proper identity in the F * * King horse country. My Army is a legal organization in the F * * King Horse Country."

This was the advantage of the warlords.

Compared to the pirates, the warlords were at least nominally a legal local government. Their army was also a theoretical national armed force.

Although everyone listened to the tone and did not listen to the orders, they did not even care about the orders of the capital government.

However, on the surface, everyone could still be considered amiable. They maintained a nominally unified government, and acted like their own local administrators. They would report their achievements to the capital every now and then and make some suggestions.

In short, the situation in F * Ck city was still relatively stable. However, there were occasional conflicts between the warlords. Every few months, some small warlord faction would mysteriously disappear.

General Abu's convoy could smoothly head to the capital circle. They could use any excuse to transport people and supplies or send letters to reach the outskirts of the oasis city.

As for entering the area of the oasis city, that was impossible.

Not to mention the armies of local warlords, even the armies of the capital could not enter the city casually.

In addition, the convoy that general Abu sent out could not be too large. If it was too large, it would be easy for people to suspect that there was a military purpose, and they would be shut out of the capital.

Yu Tian's plan was to have ten carriages, about 30 to 40 people.

This scale was more in line with the normal size of the convoy. Even the bodyguards of some businessmen could reach this scale.

The convoy included two civilian off-road vehicles belonging to Park

Guochang, four military vehicles belonging to Yu Tian and the mouse squad, as well as twenty elite soldiers sent by General Abu. There were also four military vehicles.

After a night of nothing, the convoy set off the next day.

Other than Yu Tian and the mouse squad, Park Guochang and general Abu's soldiers were more familiar with the route to the oasis.

There was no so-called "Road "on this route, and they could only run around in the Gobi Desert.

In fact, there was a more comfortable route to reach the oasis, and that was the sea route.

The Oasis was a port city, and it was one of the important ports in the south of Tamar. It was also one of the main reasons why it became the capital.

However, Yu Tian did not plan to take the sea route. One reason was that the oasis attached great importance to its port, and the management of the port was much more strict.

Another reason was that Yu Tian did not have a suitable ship for the time being. If anything happened and they were pursued by the capital's army, they would not even have a place to escape at sea.

The Gobi Desert and desert were the safest routes.

The time of arrival at the oasis was the evening of the next day. According to Yu Tian's plan, the kidnapping operation did not take too much time, and the night was usually the most suitable time for the operation.

The scenery of the oasis was somewhat out of Yu Tian's expectations. This place was actually covered with trees and rich vegetation. It was completely different from Kannima.

The buildings in this city were basically white and looked clean and tidy. It did not look like a world-class poor country at all.

Moreover, these buildings had a very foreign artistic style. Yu Tian even saw many ancient castles and temples along the way. They had a very historical and cultural atmosphere.

The oasis was very big. It had a circumference of more than ten to twenty kilometers and could accommodate one to two million people. It was similar to some small cities in the eastern country.

The roads in the city were wide, and pedestrians and vehicles flowed endlessly. It did not look like a country that was troubled by war at all.

Yu Tian was a little reluctant to cause trouble here. It was not easy to find a place where ordinary people could live and work in peace. He really did not want to cause trouble in the most beautiful city in Damadi.

The army stayed outside the city, including half of the members of the rat squad.

The Big Guy was also left outside the city because his body size was too intimidating and easily made people feel threatened.

Cass brought four killers of the rat squad and accompanied Yu Tian into the city.

Including Park Guochang and his entourage, there were a total of twelve people and three vehicles.

Apart from two civilian suvs, Yu Tian also drove his broken military vehicle.

This broken military vehicle no longer had a machine gun frame, and it had been replaced with an old windshield.

This kind of military vehicle for civilian use was not uncommon in the F * Ck land, but it still seemed a little out of place in the oasis.

It was already late, and the residents of the oasis were not interested in watching them. The group quickly drove to the location of Cui Zhengzhi's villa.

Cui Zhengzhi's villa was close to the coast, but not near the port. He felt that it was too noisy near the port.

His place was much quieter. There were not many residents nearby.

Yu Tian observed the evacuation route. The coast of the sea had a great advantage. The seashore roads were usually very wide, and there were fewer vehicles.

It seemed like this was the case in the cities of the Eastern kingdom. As long as it was close to the seaside and the river, there would be a more convenient transportation environment.

When he arrived at Cui Zhengzhi's villa, Yu Tian saw a few bodyguards standing in the courtyard of the villa.

There was no way to prohibit civilians from carrying guns. These bodyguards were even more brazenly carrying mini submachine guns, and were constantly swaying in the courtyard.

"Get out of the car. Relax a little."

Yu Tian and Park Guochang sat in the same car. Before getting out of the car, he patted Park Guochang on the shoulder to Refresh Park Guochang.

Everyone got out of the car outside the courtyard and swaggered to the entrance of the courtyard.

The bodyguards in the courtyard obviously knew Park Guochang. Someone cheerfully greeted park guochang, "Mr. Park, I haven't seen you for many days. Did you go on a business trip again?"

Park Guochang relaxed his expression and said with a smile, "Yes, I just came back from a business trip. I'm ready to report the situation to the boss. "

The bodyguards in the courtyard opened the big iron gate and smilingly welcomed Yu Tian and the others into the courtyard.

Yu Tian and the few strangers immediately attracted the attention of the bodyguards. The head of the bodyguards immediately asked, "Who are these people?"

Park Guochang said very casually, "These are general Abu's people, our partners. They have something to discuss with the boss! well, it has something to do with the work that the boss has told us.. "

Chapter 960 – Chapter 959, Variables

This lie was not brilliant. Everyone knew that General Abu was a local warlord, and there were no foreigners under his command.

Even if he suddenly had a whim and recruited a few foreign consultants or assistants, it was impossible for him to entrust everything to foreigners. There was not even a single local in the whole team.

The few assassins that Yu Tian and Cass had brought, not to mention the locals, there wasn't even a single black person.

If one thought about it carefully, they would definitely find it very illogical.

However, Yu Tian and the rest were brought by Park Guochang. Furthermore, this city was an oasis with extremely high security. Including the bodyguards inside and outside the villa, there were more than a dozen people.

Hence, the bodyguards at the entrance didn't expect that someone would dare to attack the villa. They even wanted to capture Cui Zhengzhi alive and bring him away.

The head bodyguard looked at Yu Tian and the rest suspiciously. Then, he said half-jokingly, "I know General Abu. When did he become rich? Can he afford to hire foreigners to work for him?"

Without waiting for Park Guochang to speak, Yu Tian smiled and said, "I am general Abu's military consultant. From now on, I will be in charge of his weapons and equipment purchases! so, I want to personally discuss the new cooperation plan with your boss. "

The head bodyguard suddenly understood. General Abu had found a foreign expert to help him pick the goods and haggle over the price.

"Alright, Welcome. But according to our rules here, your weapons must be left outside. "

As he said this, the head bodyguard glanced at the big revolver on Yu Tian's waist.

When he had met general Abu alone before, Yu Tian's big revolver had been taken out once. This time, he could be considered to be used to it.

He took out the big revolver without hesitation and handed it to Cass who was behind him.

Then, he said to the head bodyguard, "They are all my bodyguards. It's none of their business to discuss business. Let them stay outside. I'll go meet your boss alone. "

The head bodyguard shrugged. "Alright, since they don't intend to go in for tea! you just need to not bring any weapons in. "

The customs here were very warm. Normally, not only did guests have to be served tea, the entire family had to go out to welcome them. They had to greet each other and then exchange a lot of nonsense..

However, now that everyone was a foreigner, Yu Tian's bodyguards did not treat themselves as guests and voluntarily stayed at the entrance of the courtyard. As a result, Cui Zhengzhi's bodyguards naturally felt that the pressure on their defenses was much less.

This courtyard was completely covered in firepower. Not only were there people guarding the courtyard, there were even people watching the windows of the villa's balcony.

These people's hands were always on their guns. If Cass and the others wanted to cause trouble in the courtyard, they would be shot into sieves before they could even pull out their guns.

Furthermore, there were naturally bodyguards guarding the interior of the villa. Hence, the head bodyguard was very assured that Yu Tian would enter the villa alone.

Of course, Park Guochang also entered the villa with Yu Tian. The rest of the entourage simply stayed in the courtyard.

Yu Tian was about to enter the villa with Park Guochang when Jin Xiuyan suddenly grabbed Park Guochang's arm and said coquettishly, "Oppa, bring me in too. I want to go in and blow on the air conditioner. It's too hot outside." Park Guochang couldn't help but frown. "Everyone is staying outside. Why are you going in alone? Just stay outside with them. "

Jin Xiuyan continued to act coquettishly. "You guys go and see the boss. I'll just sit in the living room. I Won't disturb you guys."

"Shiba! "Park Guochang couldn't help but berate. "We men do things. Why are you a B * Tch joining in the fun? Don't you know! Shiba!"

Park Guochang was really angry. They were going to kidnap Cui Zhengzhi now, and when they saw Cui Zhengzhi alone later, Yu Tian would definitely launch an attack.

What happened next was hard to predict. Perhaps Yu Tian would silently control Cui zhengzhi, or perhaps he would start a fight in the villa, and then fight inside and outside.

Park Guochang knew that the people under Yu Tian were very powerful, but there were still a few people. If they really fought, who would win.

Now that Jin Xiuyan was going to follow him into the villa, Park Guochang felt that this was simply adding to his troubles, adding more variables to his actions and adding more burdens.

This woman was too brainless!

If not for the special circumstances, Park Guochang could not help but slap her to death on the spot.

Yu Tian also frowned, then asked park guochang, "What did your woman say?" Park Guochang suppressed his anger and said, "This woman also wants to go in with us!"

The head of the villa's bodyguards at the side suddenly laughed. He greedily glanced at Jin Xiuyan's chest, then he said, "Beautiful women always have some privileges! it's so hot outside, how can you leave her outside and wait with those smelly men?"

Park Guochang was instantly speechless. He thought to himself, 'what the hell do you know?h

At this time, Jin Xiuyan acted coquettishly again. "Oppa, just bring me in. It's so hot outside!"

Park Guochang said: "If you are afraid of heat, go to the car to blow air conditioning, it is already evening, the sun is not so fierce! "

"I don't! "Kim Soo-yeon vigorously shaking his chest, in park kuo-chang body rub: "I am thirsty, I want to go in to drink tea."

Pak Kwok-cheong was furious and wanted to drink your spicy chicken!

He was about to slap Kim Soo-yeon, yu Tian suddenly said, "Bring her in.

Doesn't she just want to see your boss and climb up another tree?"? Brother Piao, I think it's better for you to let go of such a promiscuous woman as soon as possible. Why Don't you take this opportunity to give her to your boss. Maybe your boss will even give you a big red packet. "

When he said this, the bodyguards at the villa beside him were stunned for a moment. Then, they immediately revealed a strange smile that said, "You know. "

The head of the bodyguards couldn't help but take another glance at Jin

Xiuyan, licking his lips, he said, "Sigh, what a pity! but it doesn't matter. Anyway, Mr. Park has already enjoyed it. We men have always liked the freshness. After using it for so long, Mr. Park shouldn't have much interest in this beauty anymore. Giving it to the boss is also a good choice."

Park Guochang was instantly stunned. Jin Xiuyan wanted to "Jump ship "to Cui Zhengzhi?

When did this happen? Why didn't he know? Jin Xiuyan didn't seem to have any intentions in this regard.

It wasn't that Jin Xiuyan hadn't seen Cui Zhengzhi before. Park Guochang had even brought Jin Xiuyan along to have a meal with Cui Zhengzhi.

At that time, Jin Xiuyan didn't seem to have any intentions of climbing up the ladder. She had absolutely no interest in a fat and bald man like Cui Zhengzhi.

Park was confused..

Chapter 961 – : Chapter 960, Spies

Park Guochang was very confused, so he couldn't help but turn his head to look at Yu Tian, wanting to ask what Yu Tian's suggestion meant.

Yu Tian didn't say anything else, but just smiled meaningfully at him.

Park Guochang suddenly understood something, and his body stiffened slightly, then immediately returned to normal.

There was something wrong with Kim Soo-yeon.

Before they set off, he had already told Kim Soo-yeon what he wanted to do. This kind of thing was obviously very dangerous.

Anyone with a bit of brain would not cause too much trouble at this time. They would only follow the original plan and let things proceed smoothly.

Any small matter that went beyond the plan could lead to an accident.

It was impossible for Jin Xiuyan not to understand such a thing.

However, she was still causing trouble here, creating such an accident.

It was obvious that she had a motive. She was very likely one of Cui Zhengzhi's people, a spy that Cui Zhengzhi had planted by Park Guochang's side.

Park Guochang quickly recalled the process of him and Jin Xiuyan getting to know each other.

That's right, he did meet Kim Soo-yeon in Bang Bang State. She didn't seem to have anything to do with this.

However, he met Kim Soo-yeon in a bar. After a chat, the two of them slept together.

Then, Kim Soo-yeon, who didn't have a job, naturally stuck with park kuo-chang. She even wanted to travel abroad with him.

This kind of thing might seem like a chance encounter, but it might not necessarily have been arranged by Cui Zhengzhi.

Cui Zhengzhi knew Park Kuo-chang's background, knew his address in Bang Bang Country, and also knew his hobby of going to bars and hunting for women.

Under these conditions, arranging a woman to "Meet"him by chance wasn't a difficult thing.

Furthermore, Kim Soo-yeon happened to be unemployed. She loafed around all day long, and was able to travel abroad with Park Kuo-chang whenever she needed a visa. Furthermore, she was willing to travel to a dangerous country like Ma Di.

When he thought about this situation, Park Guochang instantly broke out in a cold sweat. He suddenly understood how that black colleague was captured by Cui Zhengzhi.

If he also wanted to defect, then bring Jin Xiuyan along, or let Jin Xiuyan know where he was hiding, or even just talk to Jin Xiuyan on the phone..

Cui Zhengzhi was able to follow the clues and capture him.

This was too sinister. This Cui Zhengzhi, this organization, their methods were too sinister.

Park Guochang immediately hesitated. He wondered if it was still too late to turn around and run.

Bringing Jin Xiuyan into the villa, this was definitely a fatal matter.

He and Yu Tian didn't carry guns, so it was very difficult to quickly pose a fatal threat to Jin Xiuyan. If that was the case, then it would be impossible to control Jin Xiuyan.

If Jin Xiuyan suddenly shouted in the villa, he and Yu Tian would probably be shot to pieces by the machine guns of the bodyguards.

As his thoughts ran wild, Yu Tian stepped forward and patted him on the shoulder. He said calmly, "Let's go. Bring a woman like you who was picked up for free to meet your boss. "

The bodyguards around them laughed softly again. Someone teased, "Mr. Park is still a little reluctant. "

Park Guochang moved his feet in a daze and looked at Yu Tian's face. Yu Tian's expression was very calm, which made Park Guochang feel a lot more at ease.

Jin Xiuyan suddenly became much quieter. She did not Shake Park Guochang's arm anymore. Instead, she let go a little.

Yu Tian glanced at Jin Xiuyan. Her face seemed to be a little pale, and her body seemed to be a little stiff and nervous.

Yu Tian was instantly amused.

He had already guessed that Jin Xiuyan could understand the international language, but she had been pretending to be dumb.

He said that he wanted to give Jin Xiuyan to Cui Zhengzhi, but it seemed to be nonsense. However, the meaning of his words made Jin Xiuyan, who had understood him, feel a little scared.

Yu Tian wanted to bring her to see Cui Zhengzhi, not to bring her into the villa and let her sit alone in the living room and drink tea.

In other words, Yu Tian wanted to continue holding her hostage and not give her the chance to be alone.

Jin Xiuyan was a little nervous. She felt that Yu Tian had already seen through her identity.

However, it was very strange. Since Yu Tian had already seen through her identity, why didn't he immediately take action, attack or retreat? Instead, he wanted to bring her into the villa?

Why did Yu Tian have nothing to fear? Could it be that he had a bomb strapped to his body?

Jin Xiuyan could not help but break out in a cold sweat. Just Like Park Guochang, the two of them were extremely nervous and their hearts were heavy.

"Let's go, the sky is almost dark."

Yu Tian gently pushed park Guochang's shoulder again, indicating for him to bring Jin Xiuyan to walk in front.

The troubled couple finally took a step and walked towards the villa.

Things had already come to this point, and neither of them could easily escape.

They could only wait for an opportunity and plan in their hearts how to subdue the other party and protect themselves.

Under the lead of the head bodyguard, the three of them walked into the gate of the villa.

As for Cass, the mouse team, and the bodyguards brought by Park Guochang, they were all left at the gate of the courtyard.

A dozen people crowded at the gate of the courtyard was a bit of an eyesore, so Park Guochang's bodyguards retreated out of the courtyard one by one and returned to their cars to blow on the air conditioner.

This seemed to be a very normal situation, because waiting for people was a long thing, and everyone would find a more comfortable place to stay.

Park Guochang was going to meet his boss, so naturally, there was no danger. Hence, his bodyguards were naturally very relaxed.

And this was Yu Tian's first time meeting Cui Zhengzhi. Cass and the other "Bodyguards" naturally had to be more cautious, always on guard against any accidents that happened to their boss.

All of this, the bodyguards in the courtyard felt that it was understandable, and also very normal.

However, Cass and the mouse squad knew what Park Guochang's bodyguards were thinking.

Everyone knew what would happen next. Yu Tian was here to kidnap Cui Zhengzhi. They would soon clash, or even exchange fire.

If the situation turned bad, Park Guochang's bodyguards would immediately drive away, not even caring about Park Guochang.

They couldn't be blamed for their lack of professional ethics. Ever since Park Guochang was controlled by Yu Tian, they had already failed in their duty.

Now That Park Guochang was going to do such a dangerous thing again, it was already beyond the protection of the bodyguards.

After all, the responsibility of the bodyguards was only to protect the employer, not to accompany the employer to be a killer agent.

They would not carry out such an offensive mission for the employer, and would not allow the employer to do such a thing as "Knowing that there are Tigers on the mountain, but walking toward the Tiger Mountain".

So Park's bodyguards were ready to run at any time. They got into the car, seemingly to blow the air conditioner, but in fact, they were ready to drive at any time to escape..

Chapter 962 – Chapter 961, Eastern Kungfu

Kass silently glanced at Park Guochang's bodyguards, but did not stop them.

He felt that as long as these people did not betray him and cause any trouble, they would be able to escape.

If there was a firefight and a conflict, Kass did not expect these ordinary bodyguards to provide much support.

This wasn't their fight to begin with. It was enough for Cass to bring four murderers with him.

In terms of individual combat strength, these murderers who escaped from the Demon Island were all stronger than the bodyguards in the villa.

However, they only brought pistols now. The bodyguards in the villa had micro-charge, so their firepower was fiercer and the terrain was more advantageous.

Therefore, Cass pretended to be nonchalant and began to pace back and forth in front of the courtyard.

This behavior was not awkward, because when the bodyguards were guarding the courtyard, they also walked around unconsciously. Sometimes, they would sit on the chairs under the eaves and lie down.

This kind of work was too boring. No one had the patience to keep watch all the time. They would have to take a break after an hour, and walking back and forth was a necessary skill.

Unknowingly, the few members of the mouse team dispersed a little. They began to smoke with the bodyguards in the villa, getting close to each other.

Cui Zhengzhi's bodyguards were not locals. Even if they were black, they were not F * cking people.

After a simple chat, Cass knew that they were a professional bodyguard team from a security company.

Cass was a little puzzled. Why didn't Cui Zhengzhi use the members of the Kronin Society as bodyguards?

But he quickly understood. This wasn't strange.

Cui Zhengzhi's identity was only an arms dealer. The bodyguards he placed in the villa didn't need to come into contact with the Kronin Society, so there was no need to waste the Kronin Society's manpower.

The Kronin Association's own soldiers and bodyguards would only be used in the more secretive places on the demon island, for some places that had to be kept secret.

And although the arms business was not very legal, it was not something that could not be seen in the dark. Hiring the bodyguards of the security company was a very reasonable operation.

If that was the case..

Cass smiled. These ordinary bodyguards felt easier to deal with.

Yu Tian and the other two followed the head bodyguard into the villa. The first room inside was naturally a luxurious living room.

Behind the living room was a staircase. They went up from the middle and then split into two passageways to the left and right to go around to the second floor.

"Mr. Park wants to see the boss and general Abu's people."

The head bodyguard instructed, then sat down on the sofa and began to drink tea.

A series of soft footsteps sounded from the second floor. It seemed like the bodyguard had gone to report to Cui Zhengzhi.

However, Yu Tian was standing right beside her, making her feel extremely dangerous.

If she were to reveal this matter now, Cui Zhengzhi would definitely be safe, but she would definitely die.

Since Yu Tian dared to take the risk alone, then he had to at least have the ability to snap a woman's neck. He could even snap the head bodyguard's neck together.

Jin Xiuyan didn't dare to take the risk. She could only sigh and faintly said to park guochang, "Oppa, let's stop here. There's only one Yu now. This is the best chance to get rid of his control! "

"You're Cui Zhengzhi's Man?"

Park Guochang interrupted Jin Xiuyan's words.

Jin Xiuyan was silent for a moment. "Yes, it's not too late for you to regret now. I can plead with Mr. Cui for you. You didn't make an irreparable mistake. These things were forced by Yu! "

"This result is really too unexpected! Pm a little confused now. Let me think about it. "

Park Guochang was somewhat dejected. Jin Xiuyan was indeed the spy that Cui Zhengzhi had arranged for him. He felt as though he could do nothing about anything and could only become a chess piece controlled by someone.

There was still time for regret?

He had already confessed so many things to Yu Tian. Whether it was related to Cui Zhengzhi's core secrets or not, it already constituted the fact that he had become a traitor.

How could the ruthless and merciless Cui Zhengzhi let go of a traitor like him?

Plead for mercy? Even a chess piece had to plead for mercy? This was simply a joke that overestimated his own capabilities.

"Cough cough! "

Yu Tian coughed lightly twice, he interrupted the conversation between the two of them. "Don't say that damn Korean anymore. I don't know as many languages as Ms. Jin Xiuyan. If you say anything that I don't understand, I can only cut your necks right now. "

After saying this, a short and thin dagger appeared in Yu Tian's hand. He even threw it up lightly twice.

Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan were both shocked, and they simultaneously turned around to look at the head bodyguard.

Yu Tian even took out his dagger, so why didn't the head bodyguard have any reaction at all?

With this look, Jin Xiuyan 's heart instantly turned cold.

The head bodyguard seemed to be sitting on the sofa to rest, but with a closer look, it could be seen that he couldn't move at all.

No normal person could maintain such a motionless sitting position without moving at all.

Even when sleeping, normal people would move a few times inadvertently.

Even under deliberate control, it was difficult for normal people to maintain such a motionless position.

But now, this head bodyguard was truly motionless.

Not only did he not move his limbs, but his expression did not change at all. He did not even have the ability to open his mouth to speak.

Other than his eyeballs, he could even move them to prove that he was still alive.

This strange phenomenon was difficult to understand in the eyes of many westerners. But Park Guochang and Kim Xiuyan quickly understood what was going on.

In the culture of Bang Bang Country, there was also the concept of acupoints. They had also seen ancient martial arts like acupoints in some of the eastern country's movies and TV shows.

At first, they thought that these things were fictional or perhaps not that magical. However, the current situation had really shocked them.

Jin Xiuyan felt a little scared. She realized that she had still underestimated Yu Tian's methods.

Park Guochang's expression was complicated. He could not help but ask Yu Tian, "How did you do it?"

Yu Tian chuckled. "You don't have to worry about this. From now on, this villa is under my control. You can accompany me to see Cui Zhengzhi in peace!

including Miss Jin Xiuyan.. "

Chapter 963 – Chapter 962, Shaking Hands

Jin Xiuyan instantly felt her limbs go weak. She realized that the entire situation had always been under Yu Tian's control. She had never had the chance to resist.

Even if they had come to Cui Zhengzhi's villa, in Cui Zhengzhi's territory, they were still under Yu Tian's control.

Jin Xiuyan did not even have the intention to resist now. She looked at Yu Tian as if he was a great devil.

A wolf entering a flock of sheep. This was the most suitable description for Jin Xiuyan in the current situation.

At this moment, the bodyguard on the upper floor stuck his head out again and shouted to the people below, "Mr. Park, the boss wants you to bring the guest to the study."

"Okay."

Park Guochang replied happily and immediately returned to his normal state.

The methods that Yu Tian displayed made him suddenly feel a little confident. He now felt that he could do whatever he wanted in this villa.

The study was also on the second floor. Led by Park Guochang, the three of them walked towards the stairs at a moderate pace. Jin Xiuyan walked at the back like a marionette.

When they reached the second floor, there was also a small living room on the second floor.

There were three people in the living room. Other than the bodyguard who shouted at them, the other two were resting on the sofa with guns in their hands.

Because Yu Tian did not make any movements when he took care of the head bodyguard downstairs, the bodyguards upstairs did not notice anything unusual.

They were still calm and collected as they casually sized up the three people upstairs.

Jin Xiuyan suddenly hesitated. The three armed bodyguards here were scattered and were quite far away from Yu Tian. Did Yu Tian have the ability to take them down quickly?

Were these three bodyguards Yu Tian's opponents?

It was not to the extent that they would not even have the chance to fight back and be instantly killed by Yu Tian, right?

Jin Xiuyan was now at the back of the team. She felt that she had a great chance to escape from Yu Tian's control.

As long as she turned around and ran downstairs and shouted, Yu Tian's actions would be exposed.

What followed might be a chaotic battle. These three bodyguards would always have a chance to shoot. In addition to the support of the other bodyguards inside and outside the villa, Yu Tian would immediately be surrounded and attacked.

Yu Tian's greatest disadvantage was that he didn't have a gun.

Jin Xiuyan felt that no matter how powerful Yu Tian was, to be able to kill all the bodyguards here single-handedly, he would at least need some time.

He would at least be delayed by the bodyguards for a period of time.

This little time was enough for Jin Xiuyan to escape for her life, and also enough for Cui Zhengzhi to escape for his life.

Jin Xiuyan didn't think that she could kill Yu Tian, but she felt that it wasn't to the extent that she didn't even have a chance to escape for her life.

Thus, she slowed down and prepared to turn around and run downstairs.

Jin Xiuyan was stunned for a moment. She did not know what the meaning of Yu Tian's action was.

Yu Tian said slowly, "It seems that Miss Jin Xiuyan also wants to be a hero?"

There was no need for Jin Xiuyan to pretend that she did not understand the international language anymore. She stuttered, "I just, I just!"

"You don't have to explain to me!" Yu Tian shook his head, he then said to park guochang, "Mr. Park Guochang, please control your woman and don't let her cause trouble for everyone. I don't like hitting women. If you can't control her, then I can only break her neck. "

As he said this, Yu Tian took another step forward.

At the same time, the bodyguard who called them upstairs fell straight to the ground.

But before he could reach the end, Yu Tian grabbed his collar with one hand and casually threw him onto the sofa at the side.

Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan were stunned again.

Because the two bodyguards on the sofa had no reaction at all. They were like the head bodyguard downstairs, unable to move at all.

The same was true for the bodyguard that Yu Tian had thrown onto the sofa. He had already lost the ability to move and could only lie on the sofa and roll his eyes.

This result made Jin Xiuyan's hair stand on end. She could not help but tremble as she said, "Is this! a demonic technique?"

Yu Tian said indifferently, "Don't make it sound so unpleasant. This is the authentic Eastern martial arts. You guys can't understand it. "

Jin Xiuyan was dumbfounded, piao Guochang flattered him excitedly, "Mr. Yu is really amazing. This is simply! The sun rises in the east, and I am the only one who is undefeated. That! Old Immortal Xingsu, boundless magical power, divine dragon cult master, longevity as equal to heaven!"

Yu tianxin accepted this flattery with ease.

He said that this was oriental kung fu, but in fact, he himself was not sure whether this flying needle technique, which was born from acupuncture, could be counted as kung fu or not, and whether it had anything to do with ancient martial arts.

However, this flying needle technique was indeed very useful, especially when dealing with people who were slightly weaker. It was much more useful than many kungfu techniques.

For this kidnapping operation, Yu Tian had prepared hundreds of steel needles. It was definitely enough for this villa.

Park Guochang's flattery was still like a torrential river, unending.

However, Yu Tian did not waste time listening to flattery. He had already noticed in the courtyard that there were two bodyguards on the balcony of the second floor of the villa on guard.

Now that he had started to make his move, Yu Tian naturally would not leave any hidden dangers for himself. He would definitely take care of all the bodyguards in the villa.

On one side of the living room was a large French window with thick curtains. The balcony was right outside.

This structure made it easy for the bodyguards to enter the balcony at any time, control the height, and provide support to the front yard.

But at the same time, it was also convenient for Yu Tian to capture them all at once.

Yu Tian was about to go to the balcony to deal with the two bodyguards when he saw a bald middle-aged man with two bodyguards in suits walking slowly towards him in the corridor facing the living room.

Yu Tian didn't need to look carefully to know the identity of the intruder.

This was Park Guochang's boss a€“ a€“ Cui Zhengzhi, a fat and bald old pervert. These were Park Guochang's original words.

When Cui Zhengzhi saw Yu Tian and the other two, he immediately revealed an amiable smile. Little Park, is this gentleman an important guest from General Abu's side? Why Don't you introduce him to us?"

Although general Abu could not be considered a truly important client, a qualified businessman like Cui Zhengzhi would always be extremely polite and considerate in front of any small client.

Park Guochang was slightly stunned, then immediately said, "Yes boss, this is general Abu's newly hired military consultant, Mr. Yu! "

Yu Tian immediately went forward enthusiastically and extended his hands, making a gesture of wanting to shake hands. He also said courteously, "Hello, Mr. Cui, nice to meet you."

Chapter 964 – : Chapter 963, It Was Already Too Late

Without a doubt, Jin Xiuyan felt that Yu Tian had already taken control of the entire situation.

Since he was able to take down the three bodyguards in the living room without anyone noticing, he would naturally be able to take down Cui Zhengzhi easily.

Jin Xiuyan felt that she no longer had the chance to turn the tables.

Even Cui Zhengzhi, who appeared in Yu Tian's line of sight, was the same. There was no way he could escape from Yu Tian's grasp.

Jin Xiuyan's lips quivered, but in the end, she could not make a sound.

It was too late to warn him now.

Yu Tian smoothly walked over and shook hands with Cui Zhengzhi. Both of them were smiling like old friends who had not seen each other for many years.

"Let's go to the study room and have a chat. We can also taste my prized civet coffee!"

Cui zhengzhi held Yu Tian's hand enthusiastically and led him to the study room at the side.

The study room was just on the corridor. After taking two steps, they would be there after pushing open the door.

Yu Tian acted as if nothing had happened. He smiled and said nonsense, "Civet coffee? It's the shit that those kittens shit, right? I don't have any interest in this kind of thing."

"It's Alright, I still have the best black tea! Oh, right, Mr. Yu is from the east, right? I still have the best black tea from the east. "

Cui Zhengzhi was still smiling as he led everyone into the study.

He did not notice that the three bodyguards in the small living room had been crippled, nor did he notice that Park Guochang was plotting against him.

When he sat down on the sofa in the study room, he realized that the expression on Jin Xiuyan's face was a little strange.

Jin Xiuyan wanted to say something but hesitated, her face filled with a bitter smile.

Cui Zhengzhi's heart skipped a beat, then, he pretended to be surprised and said, "Oh, isn't this Xiao Pu's girlfriend, called! Jin Xiuyan, is that the name? Ah, right, this is the first time both of you have come to my house as guests, I should prepare a gift for both of you. Xiao Pu, please entertain the guests for me first, I will go back to my room to bring the gift over! "

Cui Zhengzhi noticed something unusual, but he still hadn't figured out what was going on.

He was usually very cautious, without adequate planning and proper preparations, he would never risk his life.

He even rarely left the capital circle of the oasis, even if he had to travel far, he would still make proper arrangements for the safety of his journey.

In his villa, he was protected by more than ten bodyguards. He had always thought that it was very safe, so he let his guard down a little.

After all, no one could be nervous 24 hours a day, and not even be able to relax at home.

Cui Zhengzhi suddenly remembered that before entering the study room, Yu Tian and the others did not follow his bodyguards.

Normally speaking, these people should have been welcomed and escorted up by his bodyguards. How could the bodyguards let them out of their sight?

Even if it was an "Acquaintance" like Park Guochang, the bodyguards would still keep an eye on him. This was the professional habit of the bodyguards.

Cui Zhengzhi immediately sensed that something was wrong, so he decided to leave the study room first and distance himself from Yu Tian and the rest. Unfortunately, it was too late to leave now.

Cui Zhengzhi suddenly realized that he could no longer move, he could not even sit up from the sofa.

He wanted to call for help from the bodyguards, but he realized that he could not even make a sound.

Yu Tian had already sent a few needles towards him without anyone noticing.

Cui Zhengzhi was so anxious that his forehead was covered in sweat, he did not know what to do.

Fortunately, the two bodyguards beside him did not disappoint him.

They suddenly let out a low roar in unison. At the same time, they reached for the pistol at their waists and pounced towards Cui Zhengzhi.

They wanted to stand in front of Cui Zhengzhi and perform their duties as bodyguards. Then, they pulled out their guns and fired at Yu Tian.

This sudden turn of events stunned Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan. They had no idea what had happened. Why did these two bodyguards suddenly react in such a manner.

Even though Cui Zhengzhi had been ambushed by Yu Tian, the entire process had gone on without anyone noticing.

If Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan had not already known of Yu Tian's methods, and had not been paying attention to Cui Zhengzhi's movements, it would have been impossible for them to notice that Cui Zhengzhi had been ambushed.

How did Cui Zhengzhi's two bodyguards notice the abnormality?

No one came to explain these questions to them. Yu Tian suddenly jumped up and pounced towards the two bodyguards.

Actually, Yu Tian was also very surprised.

Because not only did he sneak attack Cui Zhengzhi, he also secretly sent a few needles flying towards the two bodyguards.

Initially, he thought that he could easily subdue all of these people. He didn't expect that the two bodyguards wouldn't be affected by the flying needles.

Yu Tian was sure that he had accurately pierced the acupuncture points of the two bodyguards with the steel needles. He did not miss, and there was no deviation.

However, the two bodyguards did not show any signs of being hit. This only meant that they..

Perhaps they did not have acupuncture points at all?

In an instant, Yu Tian made this guess in his mind.

At this time, the two bodyguards had already drawn their pistols from their waists.

Of course, Yu Tian would not give them the chance to shoot.

Once the gunshots were fired, the entire villa would immediately enter a state of battle, and things would become very troublesome.

One problem was the safety of Cass and the others.

The two bodyguards on the balcony had not been resolved yet. They looked down from above and held heavy firepower, which was the biggest threat to Cass and the others.

However, this was only a small matter. The real trouble was the chain reaction that followed the gunshot.

According to the previous plan, Yu Tian would enter the villa and meet with Cui Zhengzhi first.

If Cui Zhengzhi was not in the villa, he would not be able to alert the enemy.

After meeting Cui Zhengzhi, Yu Tian would start to take action and control the interior of the villa.

On this point, Cass was very confident in Yu Tian.

A man who could easily clear the demon island, how could he not be able to take down this small villa.

However, there was also the possibility of an accident happening.

This accident was not because Yu Tian failed to kidnap Cui zhengzhi, but rather, it would cause a huge commotion.

If Yu Tian happened to be caught by Cui Zhengzhi's bodyguard while he was working. And because of the distance, Yu Tian did not have time to kill this bodyguard, causing this bodyguard to fire a warning shot, or shout loudly..

At this time, the time to test Cass and the others had arrived.

The interior of the villa was Yu Tian's job, and they could not control it.

Their responsibility was to quickly subdue the bodyguards in the courtyard, and try their best not to shoot at each other and make too much noise.

That was the focus of Yu and Cass..

Chapter 965 – : Chapter 964, Fighting

What Yu Tian wanted to do was to quietly take care of the bodyguards in the villa.

What Cass wanted to do was to quickly control or kill the bodyguards in the courtyard.

There was an important point in the actions inside and outside the villa. It was to not shoot and not make too much noise.

Because this place was an oasis, once there was a gunfight, the police and army would swarm over.

Foreigners were much more enthusiastic than easterners when it came to meddling in other people's business and calling the police.

Especially in the oasis, which was almost the only pure land in Malaysia, the residents nearby would definitely not tolerate illegal armed elements causing trouble here.

The biggest problem was here.

Yu Tian's situation was slightly better because the sound insulation of the villa was not bad. If it was just a single pistol shot, it might not attract the attention of the surrounding neighbors.

However, the responsibility of Cass and the others was greater. Once there was a disturbance in the villa, the bodyguards outside would definitely become frantic.

They had to subdue all the bodyguards within a very short period of time, or kill them all, as far as possible to avoid a shooting situation.

The few below the courtyard were still easy to clean up, but the two bodyguards standing on the balcony were somewhat troublesome.

Park Kuo-chang had already informed them of this situation. Cass and the others had long been prepared to deal with the bodyguards on the balcony. One was a pistol silencer. This thing could make the sound of a gunshot very faint, but it didn't make the sound as faint as a fart.

The effect of the silencer was to make the neighbors sit at home and watch TV, completely unable to sense what was happening in the neighbor's courtyard.

However, if he took a glance at the neighbor's balcony, the truth would be revealed.

In addition, the pistols that Cass and the others had that could use silencers were too small.

If they could not hit the fatal part with one shot, the other party would still have the strength to pull the trigger and counterattack.

Once the other party was given the opportunity to shoot, the operation could basically be declared a failure.

Therefore, Cass and the others had a second plan throwing knives.

There was a killer who was good at throwing knives in the mouse team. He could throw a throwing knife to the balcony, slit the throat, and kill the two bodyguards.

But the problem was that he could not guarantee that he would hit every target.

In addition, he could not throw 200 throwing knives in two directions at the same time.

Hence, there would be a delay in throwing the throwing knives. This would give the other party another chance to shoot.

This way, unless he had no other choice, it was best not to use either of these two methods.

The best method was for Yu Tian to get rid of the two bodyguards on the balcony from the inside of the villa.

In order to truly ensure the smooth operation, Yu Tian had to perform the perfect operation in the villa.

He had to kill everyone and not make a single sound.

Cui Zhengzhi's two bodyguards were already in an unexpected situation. They were not under the control of the acupuncture points at all.

The two bodyguards had just pulled out their pistols from their waists when Yu Tian had already smashed his fist onto their wrists.

In close combat, pulling out a knife was definitely faster than pulling out a gun, and swinging his fist was definitely faster than pulling out a knife.

Fists and feet were the last resort of humans.

Yu Tian's strength was extraordinary. Although these two bodyguards were strong and strong, their wrists were completely unable to withstand Yu Tian's attack. The two pistols in their hands were smashed off on the spot.

They also wanted to fire a warning shot. They did not even plan to aim at Yu Tian. They only planned to fire first.

However, they did not even have the time to turn on the safety of their handguns.

It was impossible to load and turn on the safety of the handguns that were strapped to their belts.

This was especially so in Cui Zhengzhi's villa. With more than a dozen bodyguards guarding the perimeter, who would have expected the enemy to enter the villa and launch such a sudden attack.

The two handguns immediately became two pieces of scrap metal and were smashed to the ground by Yu Tian.

The two bodyguards no longer had the intention to pick up the pistols. One of them swung his fist towards Yu Tian's throat, while the other wanted to grab Yu Tian's hair.

In close combat, guns were indeed redundant.

But cold weapons were not.

A dagger instantly appeared in Yu Tian's hand. It was short and thin, sharp and sturdy.

The reason why he did not use the dagger previously was mainly because he did not want to be stained with blood. It did not mean that he was merciful. Now that he had successfully captured Cui Zhengzhi, Yu Tian naturally did not need to hide anything.

He raised the dagger, slightly tilted his body to avoid the vital parts, and conveniently slashed at the necks of the two bodyguards.

Exchanging injuries for lives was a very good deal.

As a godly doctor, Yu Tian had sufficient technical ability to control his injuries. Some minor injuries could even be healed quickly without any effort.

Even if some serious injuries could not be healed immediately, he still had ways to control his injuries and not affect his subsequent battles.

At least, it would not affect his throwing of needles.

The two bodyguards were immediately helpless and could only quickly withdraw their attacks.

They gave up on attacking Yu Tian, and at the same time, they dodged Yu Tian's dagger.

After all, no one would do such a stupid thing to exchange their own life for someone else's injury.

However, with this retreat, they immediately fell into a passive situation.

Yu Tian seized the opportunity and continued to stab at their vital points with his dagger.

These two bodyguards were originally two against one. Although it couldn't be said to be a definite victory, they weren't forced to such an extent by Yu Tian.

However, their biggest weakness was that they had to protect Cui Zhengzhi in front of him. They didn't dare to dodge in a large scale.

They were bodyguards and their job was to protect Cui Zhengzhi.

They had to stand in front of Cui Zhengzhi and did not have the right to fight.

What was even sadder was that they did not know that Cui Zhengzhi had been hit and had lost the ability to move.

The reason why they took the initiative to attack Yu Tian was because they had taken a few flying needles and realized that it was Yu Tian who had attacked them.

However, they did not know that Cui Zhengzhi was also hit by a few needles.

Cui Zhengzhi did not move.

Yu Tian was also very anxious. Even though the soundproofing in the study was very good, he was still worried that the noise of the fight would attract the attention of the other bodyguards.

He did not expect that Cui Zhengzhi had two powerful characters by his side. This was a mistake and an accident. He had to try his best to fix it.

Hence, his next move was to trade his life for his life. He only attacked and did not defend.

The two bodyguards were pinned down by Cui Zhengzhi. In the end, they were unable to completely avoid Yu Tian's attacks. Very quickly, they were hit by Yu Tian's two slashes.

However, they did their best to avoid their vitals. These two slashes only landed on their shoulders and arms respectively.

A trace of blood immediately oozed out from their wounds, but there was not a large amount of blood loss.

"Genetic Warriors?"

Chapter 966 – Chapter 965, Killer Move

These two wounds were so deep that it was impossible for such a small amount of blood to flow out of them. The body of an ordinary person would definitely not be like this.

Only genetic warriors that had undergone modifications would have such a strange condition appear on their bodies.

However, these two genetic warriors were different from the genetic warriors that Yu Tian had seen before.

Their bodies were not as strong as other genetic warriors, and their strength was also much weaker than the large genetic warriors. This seemed to be another type of genetic warrior.

The structure of their muscles was somewhat strange. They were actually able to tighten their wounds without bleeding.

This genetic change might not be a good thing for the body, but it was very beneficial for combat.

In addition, the acupuncture points did not have any effect on them. Yu Tian had struck several of their acupuncture points consecutively, but none of them had any effect.

Chapter 967 – Chapter 966, Take Care Of The Bodyguard

Although Yu Tian could use Qi as an attack, it was far from being able to release qi and control it freely.

Moreover, these methods were not something that he could figure out by himself. He should look for those ancient martial arts masters and learn from them.

Sighing, Yu Tian put away these messy thoughts. He still had to deal with the matters in the villa.

He looked at Cui Zhengzhi and revealed a faint smile, "Mr. Cui, I think you should understand the current situation! that's right, you have been kidnapped by me."

Cui Zhengzhi moved his eyes helplessly.

Yu Tian continued, "Since you understand the current situation, then please do your part as a hostage. Don't cause trouble and create more trouble for everyone!"

As he spoke, Yu Tian pinched Cui Zhengzhi's mouth and observed his mouth.

According to Yu Tian's common sense, every member of a secret organization would have some means of suicide.

This kind of thing was very easy to understand. The secret organization was most afraid of revealing secrets. And the members of the secret organization were most afraid of being interrogated and tortured.

Most people would not be able to withstand the torture. If they did not want to confess or endure the pain of torture, they could only commit suicide.

The most common way to commit suicide was to hide poison in one's teeth.

This was the most convenient method. It was quick to act and quick to die.

This sort of rough job of putting one's finger into another's mouth was naturally left to Park Guochang to do.

Park Guochang couldn't care less about hygiene and disgusting matters at this moment. He took a few glances at Cui Zhengzhi's mouth, then reached out and dug it out.

Very quickly, the poisonous teeth were pulled out by Park Guochang, and handed in front of Yu Tian.

"Throw it away. "

Yu Tian was not interested in collecting these dirty things. He allowed Park

Guochang to throw the teeth into the trash can and conveniently pulled out the steel needle on Cui Zhengzhi's throat.

Cui Zhengzhi took a deep breath and realized that he could speak.

Hence, he tried to speak, "You! who exactly are you?"

Yu Tian said indifferently, "Now is not the time for you to ask questions. Tell Me First, how many bodyguards are there in this villa of yours."

Cui Zhengzhi fell silent.

He clearly did not want to be at Yu Tian's mercy. He even felt that he might have a chance to escape.

This was an oasis. As long as there was a certain amount of commotion, it would attract a large number of troops and police.

Under such circumstances, it was impossible for Yu Tian to escape with him.

This was not a democratic and free country. The troops and police would not patiently negotiate with the kidnappers and allow them to blackmail and extort.

The biggest possibility was to turn the kidnappers into a sieve.

If Yu Tian did not want to die, then he could only surrender and surrender.

This way, Cui Zhengzhi would have a chance to live.

Of course, all of this was based on the premise that Yu Tian did not intend to kill him.

Cui Zhengzhi thought about it in his heart. He was basically certain that Yu Tian did not intend to kill him. At least, he would not kill him now.

Otherwise, Yu Tian would have already made a move on him long ago. There was no need to talk so much nonsense like this.

For example, his villa had an alarm that was directly connected to the police station. There was one in the bedroom and one in the study room.

However, he did not seem to have the chance to come into contact with those alarms at all.

He began to think about the bodyguards in his villa again. What kind of situation was it now? were they all defeated by Yu Tian.

He immediately recalled the situation after he saw Yu Tian. He did not see any of his bodyguards.

This phenomenon seemed to mean that all the bodyguards had been subdued by Yu Tian.

Cui Zhengzhi instantly panicked. He began to think whether he should try to shout and see if there were any bodyguards who could respond.

However, the soundproofing in the study was too good. His shout might not be heard by the people outside.

"Looks like Mr. Cui Zhengzhi also likes to be a hero!"

Cui zhengzhi still did not speak.

"Since you don't want to speak, I won't force you for the time being."

Yu Tian casually stabbed another needle into the acupuncture point on Cui Zhengzhi's throat, making him lose the ability to speak again.

Then, Yu Tian said to Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan, "Hold him, follow me." After saying that, Yu Tian turned around and walked out of the study.

Jin Xiuyan no longer had any thoughts of resisting. She knew very well that if she wanted to cause trouble, Yu Tian would definitely kill her without hesitation.

She could not compare to Cui Zhengzhi. Cui zhengzhi still had the value of being interrogated. Yu Tian would not kill him so quickly.

Hence, Jin Xiuyan obediently followed Park Guochang and supported Cui Zhengzhi out of the study.

Cui Zhengzhi could only move his two legs now. He was practically pushed out by the two of them.

The few of them came to the small living room on the second floor.

The three bodyguards were still lying on the sofa in the living room. There was no movement.

In just a few minutes, the bodyguards on the balcony outside did not notice anything unusual. The living room was quiet.

Yu Tian turned to look at Park Guochang. "Do you have a way to call the bodyguards on the balcony in?"

Park Guochang thought for a moment and replied, "I can't call them in, and I can't call them either. This is too abnormal! but I have a way to attract them over. "

"What way?"

"It's very simple. We'll pretend to quarrel. They'll definitely come in to see what's going on. "

"That's right!"

Yu Tian smiled. This method was indeed possible.

Humans were all curious creatures. If someone suddenly quarreled in the living room, the bodyguards on the balcony outside would definitely come in to watch the commotion.

Moreover, this kind of thing would not arouse their vigilance, because when a dangerous situation really happened, no one would have the time to quarrel with others.

Yu Tian said cheerfully, "Then, please start your performance."

"This matter! still needs Jin Xiuyan's cooperation. "

Park Guochang glanced at Jin Xiuyan, and Jin Xiuyan hurriedly nodded and said, "No problem, Oppa. I will definitely cooperate with you well. "

"Very good, then!"

With a sizzle, more than half of Kim Soo-yeon's clothes were torn.

Because the weather was very hot, Kim Soo-yeon did not wear underwear. This time, a large patch of White was immediately exposed.

Chapter 968 – Chapter 968: Chapter 967, Mission Accomplished

Park Guochang might have deliberately humiliated Jin Xiuyan, but the effect was quite good.

At least, when the two bodyguards came in from the balcony, it was easy for Jin Xiuyan to distract them.

Park Guochang didn't care about Jin Xiuyan's expression. He just nodded in satisfaction and said, "This is much more reasonable!"

Jin Xiuyan's face was full of grievance.

Park Guochang cleared his throat and gathered his emotions. Then, he shouted angrily, "Hey! You B * Tch! What are you doing with this man!"

As he said this, Park Guochang pushed Jin Xiuyan and pushed her onto the sofa.

Jin Xiuyan was caught off guard and fell into a ball with the bodyguard who could not move on the sofa.

After that, Jin Xiuyan immediately reacted and yelled back, "You useless man, what right do you have to scold me!"

"You actually dared to steal a man behind my back!"

"This is all your fault for being useless! If you didn't have some money, do you think I would follow you!"

The two of them immediately entered into a state of quarrel.

Yu Tian watched the commotion with a smile on his face. Cui Zhengzhi also stood helplessly at the side. He was even grabbed by Park Guochang's arm, and could only watch as this trap gradually took shape.

Within a few seconds, the two bodyguards on the balcony had indeed lifted the curtains, and leaned their bodies into the house.

They immediately saw Jin Xiuyan, who was revealing her beauty, and the expressions on their faces instantly blossomed with joy.

If it wasn't for the fact that they saw Cui Zhengzhi standing in the living room, and that there were so many people present in the living room, they probably wouldn't be able to resist saying a few dirty words to tease Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan.

However, they didn't have the chance to speak.

Yu Tian flung out a few flying needles. The bodies of these two bodyguards instantly stiffened, and they slowly fell forward.

Fortunately, these two bodyguards weren't genetic warriors. Yu Tian easily dealt with them, and there were no accidents.

Yu Tian swiftly took a few steps forward, reached out and grabbed the collars of these two bodyguards, dragging them into the living room, and threw them on the floor.

The argument between Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan came to an abrupt end.

Looking at the bodyguards lying quietly in the living room, Park Guochang and Jin Xiuyan were already used to it.

Next, Yu Tian began to knock out the bodyguards one by one, and put away his steel needles.

Flying Needles were a very good method of attack. Not only could it control the enemy's ability to move, but it could also create an illusion.

The enemies who had their acupoints sealed looked like they were just resting, and their eyes were open. This way, it would be difficult for others to suspect them.

However, now that the situation in the villa was basically under control, Yu Tian no longer needed to create such an illusion.

The bodyguards who had been knocked out would be able to sleep at least until the next morning. By then, Yu Tian and the others would have already evacuated from the oasis.

By then, if the bodyguards wanted to call the police or take other actions, Yu Tian didn't care.

In fact, he originally wanted to kill these bodyguards directly. That way, it would be safer and less troublesome.

But after thinking about it, he felt that if it wasn't necessary, it was best to avoid killing.

He walked to the balcony and looked around the courtyard.

Cass and the others were chatting with the guards in the courtyard. The guards didn't notice that there were two people missing on the balcony.

But Cass and the others had been paying attention to the movements on the balcony.

When Yu Tian took care of the two guards on the balcony, it was the time for them to make a move.

Just as Yu Tian appeared on the balcony, Cass saw him.

Yu Tian made a gesture, and Cass immediately understood.

He coughed lightly and gave a secret signal to the assassins of the mouse team, "It's getting dark. We should get off work. "

"Get off work?"The bodyguard who was chatting with Cass laughed. "Are you kidding? How can you get off work when you're a bodyguard?"

Cass said seriously, "Of course there's time to get off work. We have to rest."

"Rest is necessary, but we don't get off work in this line of work. We have to be on call 24 hours a day. Even if we're sleeping, we might get up at any time to work! "

"You guys are really working hard!"

"What do you mean?"

The bodyguard felt that there was something wrong with this sentence, but then he understood what Cass meant.

Cass stretched out his hand and broke his neck. He immediately threw down his body and pounced on another bodyguard beside him.

At the same time, the other mouse team members also suddenly made their moves and pounced on their assigned targets.

There were only four bodyguards in the courtyard, one less than the mouse team.

Cass killed one in an instant and crushed the throat of the second bodyguard before he could react.

However, Cass and the others would not leave anyone alive. They did not have Yu Tian's needle-flying skills, so in order to ensure their safety, they had to kill them.

After killing a few bodyguards, the mouse team immediately dragged their bodies into the villa.

The bodyguards that Park Guochang brought were still in the car outside the courtyard. They were dumbfounded when they saw this.

Cass looked at them with contempt and said, "What are you staring at? Come in and Stand Guard! "

The bodyguards of Park Guochang got out of the car and walked into the courtyard of the villa.

Next, they would pretend to be the bodyguards of the villa and stand guard in the courtyard.

There was also an assassin of the mouse squad who stood guard with them because Cass was worried about the abilities of these guys.

The arrangement of these details was also important. If there were no bodyguards standing guard in the courtyard, the neighbors would feel strange.

Perhaps they would meddle in other people's business and pay a visit to see what was going on.

Yu Tian naturally wanted to prevent any accidents from happening.

Cass and the rest entered the villa. Yu Tian brought Cui Zhengzhi down to the living room on the first floor.

"Mission completed! boss, should we evacuate now?"

"There's no rush. Since things are going so smoothly, we can stay here and search the villa to see if we can find anything interesting. "

Yu Tian glanced at the two corridors beside the living room and said, "Let's search the villa first to see if there's anyone else in it. "

According to the information provided by Park Guochang, there were at least a dozen bodyguards in the villa. Other than the two genetic warriors that Cui Zhengzhi had brought along with him, there were only a total of ten other bodyguards.

The rest of the bodyguards naturally slept in their own bedrooms and would only wake up at night to be on duty..

Chapter 969 – : Chapter 968, Interrogation

It wasn't a big deal to deal with a group of sleeping bodyguards. These assassins from the rat squad were already familiar with this kind of assassination.

The operation progressed very smoothly. The remaining bodyguards were quickly taken care of by Cass and the others.

According to Yu Tian's request, these bodyguards weren't killed by Cass and the others directly. Instead, they were lucky enough to stay alive and were knocked unconscious by Cass and the others.

This way, there were more than ten bodyguards left alive in the villa, and all of them were knocked unconscious.

Next, they began to search the villa.

According to Park Guochang's description, Cui Zhengzhi's living conditions were actually a little abnormal.

Cui Zhengzhi didn't hire any chefs or servants, so the personnel structure in the villa was very simple, only bodyguards.

Park Guochang said that Cui Zhengzhi had never believed in the job of a servant.

He believed that servants were the easiest job to be bought over by the enemy, and were the most likely to cause fatal harm to the owner.

Even the servants of a large family, who had been employed for decades and served the owner for generations, all had the possibility of betrayal.

Therefore, Cui Zhengzhi did not trust servants, especially those who were hired locally.

Cui Zhengzhi believed that the people of Ma di were very poor, so their hands and feet were definitely dirty, and it was easier for them to betray their employers.

Therefore, even though Cui Zhengzhi was rich, he had always taken care of his own life.

He did not have a family, nor was he married. He was even very cautious when dealing with women, and would not even bring a woman back to the villa for the night.

His bodyguards were all professional security companies from Western countries, and they were all reputable companies internationally. Their professional ethics were guaranteed.

Not to mention his two personal genetic warriors. They were truly his own people, the ultimate bodyguards that Kroni would arrange for him.

Of course, the sanitation work in the villa still had to be done by someone.

Hence, Cui Zhengzhi hired two hourly workers from the local household management company. Every morning, they would come to the villa to clean up.

The scope of the hourly workers did not include Cui Zhengzhi's bedroom and study. Those two places were cleaned by Cui Zhengzhi himself.

And the entire process of these two hourly workers was under the watchful eyes of the bodyguards. There was absolutely no situation where they would wander around randomly.

If the hourly workers suddenly changed people one day, Cui Zhengzhi would have the bodyguards repeatedly check with the household management company to ensure that there was no problem with the identity of the hourly workers.

Furthermore, there was no cook in the villa. The bodyguards had to cook three meals a day, or Cui Zhengzhi had to cook personally.

Cooking was actually not troublesome, because the westerners ate more simply. It was much simpler than the eating habits of the F * cking locals.

The things they bought from the supermarket were basically semi-finished products, and could be eaten directly after a little processing.

It was nothing more than bread, eggs, vegetable leaves, ham and meat! and then mixed with things like ketchup and peanut butter, and made into a sandwich or burger, filling one's stomach in two or three bites.

Or, they could directly order takeout.

Cui zhengzhi would occasionally go to some high-class restaurants, and bring some of the beauties he had picked up to eat pickled vegetables and grilled pork belly.

All in all, Cui Zhengzhi's lifestyle was very different from that of an ordinary person. His caution and strictness had already reached an appalling level.

Even if he was a spy, he would not live like this.

Yu Tian felt that Cui Zhengzhi must have many secrets on him, including this villa. He must have hidden some secrets too.

He did not waste any more time. He immediately got Cass and the rest to go with Park Guochang to conduct a thorough search of the villa.

The only people who were still awake in the living room were Yu Tian, Cui Zhengzhi, and Jin Xiuyan.

Even though Jin Xiuyan was behaving honestly, Yu Tian did not trust her. He could not give her a chance to act alone, and she did not need to search the villa.

While Cass and the rest were free to search the villa, Yu Tian decided to interrogate Cui Zhengzhi first.

Even though Cui Zhengzhi might not confess anything important, Yu Tian was free anyway.

"Mr. Cui, you should be very clear about the current situation, right? It is obvious that you have no more chances."

"You have no chance to commit suicide, nor do you have the chance to escape.

I will bring you back to Kannima and let a professional interrogator interrogate you. Believe me, you definitely don't want to endure those torture methods. So, I think you should tell me what I want to know earlier. That way, you don't have to endure those torture methods anymore! What do you think?"

Cui Zhengzhi laughed bitterly, and didn't answer him. Instead, he asked, "Did general Abu ask you to do this? What is your purpose?"

"You see, you are always confused about your situation. I have to remind you that now is not the time for you to ask questions. Your responsibility is to answer the questions properly. That will make the rest of your life much more comfortable. "

"I know!" Cui Zhengzhi sighed. "I am just a little curious. If you can answer my doubts, perhaps we can have a more pleasant exchange? I might be able to tell you more about what you want to know? Interrogation is actually a special way of communication, isn't it?"

Yu Tianle said, "That's right, Mr. Cui is indeed a businessman. You are indeed very proficient in negotiation! Alright, since I'm not in a hurry, I don't mind letting you know some things. "What questions do you have? Tell me." "Are you working for general Abu?"

"Yes, to be precise, the current general Abu is considered to be my man."

"General Abu is your man?"

Cui Zhengzhi was a little surprised. "You control a warlord? Why do you want to control a warlord? What's the point? Do you think that a F * cking warlord has loyalty?"

Yu Tian smiled. "You sure have a lot of questions. I don't have time to explain such complicated things to you in detail. "

Cui Zhengzhi was silent for a moment, then said, "Alright, then I'll ask another question! who are you?"

"This question is much more direct!" Yu Tian said slowly, "Isn't my identity obvious? I'm an enemy of the Kronin Association. "

Cui Zhengzhi was shocked, "You! how did you know the name of the Kronin Association? Don't tell me! I know, you are the one who did the incident on the Demon Island! "

The Demon Island had been completely destroyed, there were almost no valuable clues left on the island.

However, the higher-ups of the Kronin Association knew very well that this was not an accident..

Chapter 970 – : Chapter 969, The Secret Chamber

But before the destruction of Alcatraz Island, there had been live broadcasts, and some information had been left on the live broadcasts.

Kronin would analyze the live broadcasts and basically confirm some of the things that had happened on Alcatraz Island.

They knew that someone had launched an attack on Demon Island from the inside and used the chaos to create an explosion that detonated the nuclear generator.

The identity of the attackers was unknown, but the Kloni Society' s higher-ups believed that the purpose of the attackers was purely to destroy and destroy.

This was war, and the enemies of the Kloni Society had appeared.

Cui Zhengzhi had gone to pretty country earlier in the day, and it was because of this matter that he had attended the KLONI Society's internal meeting.

The higher-ups of the Kronin Association believed that the attackers on the demon island would continue to attack the Kronin Association's industries. Hence, they requested the people in charge of the various regions and industries to take appropriate measures to prevent the organization's industries from suffering losses.

Cui Zhengzhi initially did not think much of it. After all, he was making a living in this godforsaken place. No one would be interested in his small business.

However, he did not expect Yu Tian to come looking for him.

Yu Tian did not try to hide it and admitted openly, "That's right, I was the one who blew up your demon island. Cough, I forgot that there was a nuclear generator on the island. In the end, it caused such a huge commotion!"

"It really is you!" Cui Zhengzhi sighed, "What are you trying to do? I'm just a small arms dealer, an insignificant character in the organization. Why did you come to capture me?"

"It was just along the way, because I just happened to arrive at the MOTHERF * cker region, so I conveniently kidnapped you! Alright, now it's time to talk about you, what good things are hidden in your villa, take the initiative to hand them over."

"Good things! Just some money, it's all in the safe, the key is on me!"

Speaking up to this point, Cui Zhengzhi sighed again. His upper limbs were still unable to move, and he was also unable to get the key for Yu Tian.

Yu Tian pondered for a moment in his heart. He felt that the villa was already completely controlled, and Cui Zhengzhi wouldn't be able to cause any trouble. Hence, he went forward and pulled out the steel needles on Cui Zhengzhi's body, allowing him to regain his normal ability to move.

Cui Zhengzhi moved slightly, and took out a bunch of keys from his pocket. "The key is here, the password is 16576346! you guys can go and get it yourselves. "

Yu Tian took the keys and chuckled. "You are quite generous, handing over all your belongings so easily?"

Cui Zhengzhi spread his hands. "Otherwise, I would have been kidnapped by you guys, I might not have the chance to return in the future! Furthermore, I don't have much money on hand, most of the funds have been handed over to the organization!"

"Secret Room?"

Yu Tian was instantly interested. He smiled and patted Cui Zhengzhi's shoulder. "Looks like you have really hidden some good things! Let's go and take a look at your secret room."

Cui Zhengzhi's face instantly turned slightly pale.

However, he did not have the right to refuse. He could only obediently follow Jin Xiuyan up to the second floor.

The secret room was in Cui Zhengzhi's bedroom. It was hidden in the wall of the cloakroom.

Although it was called a secret room, it was actually a little room. At most, it was just a small mezzanine.

Perhaps it was because the assassins of the mouse team had seen too many of these mezzanines, or perhaps it was because the technology of this mezzanine was too low, they easily discovered the mezzanine and removed all the things in the mezzanine.

There was no door lock or mechanism in the interlayer. Other than being slightly hidden, the security was even worse than those safes that cost a few hundred yuan.

There weren't many things in the interlayer, only a small black box with a square shape and a USB flash drive.

Yu Tian picked up the box and realized that it was quite heavy. "Open the box, Mr. Cui, do you still want to watch us pick the lock?"

Cui Zhengzhi smiled bitterly, "I don't have the key."

"Transit?"

Someone gave it to me for temporary safekeeping for a few days, and then someone else took it away. "

"To be more specific, who gave it to you for safekeeping, and then who wanted to take it away."

Yu Tian continued to ask, but Cui Zhengzhi fell silent.

"Alright, Mr. Cui wants to be a hero! Our eastern country has an old saying, don't shed tears until you see the coffin, don't give up until you see the Yellow River." Mr. Cui may feel that he can still hold on! It's okay, we have plenty of time.

Yu Tian did not waste any more time. He instructed Cass to bring the password box, then he put the USB into his pocket and began to evacuate.

On his way back, Yu Tian conveniently brought the property in Cui Zhengzhi's safe, some gold bars and cash.

These things were probably worth a few million. Yu Tian decided to distribute them to the mouse squad as a reward.

Cui Zhengzhi's acupuncture points were still sealed by Yu Tian. However, this time, he didn't need to use steel needles to seal his acupuncture points. Yu Tian solved the problem with a few fingers.

Then, Cui Zhengzhi was stuffed into Park Guochang's off-road vehicle, under the personal supervision of Cass.

There was one more person on the way back. However, it wasn't crowded for thirteen people to sit in three vehicles. Only one off-road vehicle required five people to sit in.

Actually, Cui Zhengzhi also had vehicles in his garage. However, Yu Tian felt that there might be some GPS and tracking devices in those vehicles.

He didn't have the time to check those cars carefully now. In order to avoid trouble, he might as well give up on those cars.

The sky gradually darkened, and the lights in the oasis city gradually lit up.

Everyone relaxed, and quickly drove along the seaside avenue towards the direction outside the city.

Not long after, Yu Tian frowned.

He seemed to have heard the sound of a police car, and it was coming from the direction of Cui Zhengzhi's villa behind him.

It seemed that Cui Zhengzhi's house still had some sort of alarm device, which was secretly activated by Cui Zhengzhi.

Fortunately, Yu Tian did not interrogate Cui Zhengzhi in Cui Zhengzhi's villa, and did not waste much time after getting the things in the mezzanine.

Now, as long as they quickly left the oasis, they would basically not encounter any danger.

The police could not determine that Cui Zhengzhi had been kidnapped so quickly, and would not set up targeted interceptions outside the city so quickly.

As expected, the group successfully left the city and met up with the Big Guy and the others who were left outside the city.

There was no delay. After everyone met up, they immediately began to move towards Kainima.

This was supposed to be dinner time, but Yu Tian could only eat some dry rations in the car..

After leaving the oasis city, Yu Tian and the rest were like dragons entering the sea, immediately relaxing.

Yu Tian picked up the walkie-talkie and informed Cass, who was in the SUV ahead, to strip Cui Zhengzhi into a naked pig and throw all his clothes on the road.

After all, the person they kidnapped was not an ordinary arms dealer, but a chess piece of a secret organization.

Cui Zhengzhi might also have some tracking devices on him.

As for Oasis city, there might be other forces hidden by Kroni. They would secretly monitor and protect Cui Zhengzhi.

Therefore, before they returned to kannima, they could not let their guard down too much.

There were still roads outside Oasis city. However, after walking for an hour, the roads started to become dilapidated.

So Yu Tian and the others did not continue walking along the road, but directly turned into the Gobi Wilderness.

The direction they were going was roughly along the coastline. There was no fixed route in this place, and it was basically the Gobi landscape, so they could drive at will.

The direction near the inland was basically a desert. From a distance, one could see piles of sand dunes, which turned into dark shadows under the night sky.

After walking for another half an hour or so, the communicator on Yu Tian's car rang.

"Mr. Yu, there's a helicopter coming towards us from behind. "

Yu Tian was originally dozing off in the car, but when he heard the news, he hurriedly stood up from his seat.

He turned his head to look. In the distant night sky, he could indeed see the shadow of a helicopter chasing in the direction of the motorcade.

Yu Tian immediately picked up his communicator. "Everyone, pay attention. A helicopter is approaching. Machine gunners, be on alert. The convoy should not slow down and continue to move forward."

The convoy was not moving very fast in the wilderness because the road was rather bumpy. Therefore, in order to make the journey back more comfortable, the convoy only maintained a speed of around 50 to 60 yards.

When the helicopter closed in, Yu Tian could see more clearly.

This was a military helicopter, not a sightseeing toy for those rich people.

There were many types of military helicopters. Some were specially used for fighting, some were used for transportation and reconnaissance, and some were multi-functional.

This helicopter was not big, and it looked more like it was used for reconnaissance.

However, the helicopter was still equipped with heavy machine guns, and it also possessed considerable offensive capabilities.

Helicopters had always been a deterrent to the army, and the atmosphere in the convoy instantly became tense.

The military helicopters that appeared near the oasis should belong to the army of the oasis.

It was very likely that they came here for Cui Zhengzhi.

Yu Tian was slightly surprised. Cui Zhengzhi had such a good relationship with the official army of the Oasis?

He was just a small arms dealer. Was it worth for the official army to send a helicopter out to search for him?

Or was there someone from the Kronin Society in the Oasis?

Yu Tian did not take any other measures and allowed the helicopter to chase up to the top of the convoy.

The helicopter did not make any strange movements. It just circled around the top of the motorcade and returned to the rear of the motorcade. Then, it Hung Far Behind the motorcade and continued to move forward with the motorcade.

Although the helicopter had always restrained the army, there were seven machine guns in the motorcade, which could also pose a considerable threat to the helicopter.

In addition, Yu Tian's team also brought rpgs.

The people of Ma were as familiar with these weapons as their own chickens. If the helicopters showed off in front of them, the chances of them shooting down the helicopters were very high.

Of course, if there was really a firefight, even if the convoy could kill the helicopters, they would definitely suffer heavy casualties.

Therefore, Yu Tian did not intend to initiate a conflict.

The light in the wilderness was very weak, and the helicopter could not figure out the actual situation of the motorcade. It only knew that this was a fully armed army, so it did not dare to act rashly.

It did not even dare to shout for the motorcade to stop for inspection, so it could only hang at the back of the team from a distance.

('Mr. Yu, this should be a reconnaissance plane. They will definitely have a motorcade following behind them, and perhaps they will catch up very soon! " The captain of the soldiers reminded Yu Tian through the communicator.

Yu Tian picked up the communicator and said, "Everyone, don't worry. Even if there is a convoy following us, they will be at least half an hour behind us!"

"Should we speed up?"

"Of course we should speed up. After all! if there is someone chasing us, they will definitely be running very fast! take note of the lead car and speed up."

Yu Tian's tone was very relaxed, and the atmosphere of the motorcade also relaxed a little.

After that, the motorcade began to speed up, and it began to bump crazily in the wilderness.

However, Yu Tian was not as relaxed as he appeared on the surface. He began to consider whether to change the route.

The purpose of changing the route was, of course, to shake off the possible pursuers, but the biggest problem now was that the helicopters were tailing them.

They wouldn't be faster than the helicopters unless they killed them. But if they wanted to kill the helicopters, the helicopters had to enter their range.

Now the helicopters were only following them from a distance, and they didn't give them a chance to attack.

After thinking for a while, Yu Tian picked up the communicator again. "Change the route, let's go to the desert."

The desert was further away from the coastline. The temperature was higher during the day, but it didn't matter at night. It was cooler to walk on the edge of the desert.

Moreover, from the route, it was closer to Kannima by walking in the desert.

The only trouble was that it was difficult to run fast in the desert, and the possibility of the car breaking down was higher.

It was still a small matter if the car was slow. In any case, their speed was slow, and so was the speed of the pursuers.

The soldiers were most worried about the sudden breakdown of the car. It did not matter if the pursuers broke down, but the broken down car and the people left behind to slowly repair the car.

If a car in Yu Tian's convoy broke down, they would not even have time to repair the car. They could only abandon the car and squeeze the people in the car into other cars.

In this way, not only would the supplies and weapons in the car be thrown away, it would also drag down the speed of the entire convoy.

The soldier captain was a little hesitant. "Mr. Yu, are you sure you want to go into the desert?"

Yu Tian said, "I'm very sure. Just carry out the orders."

The soldier captain immediately fell silent and did not say anything else.

Very quickly, the convoy deviated from its original direction and started to drive into the desert.

After more than ten minutes, the convoy entered the desert.

The wheels ran over the sand, and the speed obviously decreased.

However, it was not bumpy on the sand, and everyone immediately felt much better physically..

After walking for a few minutes in the desert, Yu Tian drove his car to the front of the group.

"Each car has its own idea. I will lead the way now. Everyone, turn off your headlights and follow the group. "

Yu Tian suddenly gave a new order, which made each car slightly stunned.

However, everyone quickly carried out Yu Tian's order and turned off all the headlights.

Their vision suddenly turned dark.

Fortunately, everyone could see the dark shadow in front of them. However, if they followed the team, it would not be a big problem.

As Yu Tian was the lead car, it was slightly more troublesome to go forward.

However, this was a desert, so there were definitely no inexplicable obstacles on the road. As long as Yu Tian did not hit the sand dunes, he basically did not care about the road.

This was safer than racing on the prairie, because there might be a huge pile of horse manure on the prairie.

It was not a problem for everyone to tarnish their reputation. The real problem was the helicopters chasing after them.

After the motorcade turned off all the headlights, the helicopters were completely blind.

The ground was completely dark. The helicopters, which were high in the sky and far away, could not see the motorcade clearly.

If the helicopters did not have the noise of the propellers, they might have been able to track the convoy from the sound.

But now, they could only lower their altitude and follow the direction of the convoy, starting to carefully observe the ground.

Fortunately, they did not need to observe very clearly, as long as they saw something moving.

In such a desolate wilderness, the only ones who could maintain fast movement were Yu Tian 's convoy.

After chasing for a few minutes, the people on the helicopter began to wonder.

The motorcade seemed to have disappeared in the darkness.

"Did they change their direction again?"

" Should we look around?"

"Maybe they just stopped by the roadside and we didn't find them when we passed by. "

"I've said it before. We should install a searchlight, just like those police helicopters. A huge searchlight will shine on them, and the little mice will have nntA7hpr?? tn n In

"And then they'll use machine guns to turn you into a sieve?"

"Aren't we going to turn them into a sieve? We're helicopters, we're the kings of the land!

"You're thinking too much. The kings of the land aren't talking about us, who are just a bunch of trash." "Wake up. They have ten cars, which means they have ten truck-mounted machine guns. "Then they must have rpgs. That damn thing can crash our plane with one shot! Do you want to go and fight them?"

"That's right, it's not worth it to risk our lives with expensive helicopters against this lousy fleet.

"So I won't provoke them, and I won't use some damn searchlight to provoke them. Now we just need to follow their position, and soon there will be reinforcements! and other helicopters!

"But, we seem to have lost them.

"Just look carefully. We're faster than them. They won't be able to escape. "

"Then we have to lower the altitude. If they just stop at the roadside and don't move, we won't be able to find them at this altitude."

"Lowering the altitude is too dangerous. If they want to ambush us, we'll be sending ourselves to their guns!

"Then don't even think about tracking them. I Can't see anything at this altitude.

"Alright, Alright. I'll lower the altitude a little. Keep Your Eyes Open!

The helicopter finally lowered the altitude a little and then sped forward. However, after chasing for a few kilometers, they still didn't find any traces of the motorcade.

"They must have changed their route again. "

"I think they just parked the car by the side of the road. It's difficult to find those stationary objects at our altitude. "

"Then! Let's turn back and search again. If we don't find anything, we'll consider other directions.

"Let's Go!

The helicopter began to turn back and return along the route they came from.

The desert was not a smooth road. There were sand dunes of varying heights along the road. Many of the sand dunes even joined together to form a mountainous terrain.

Yu Tian and the rest of the convoy were hidden under the shadows of these sand dunes. In the darkness, it was even more difficult to identify them.

The convoy kept quiet, which was rare. Everyone held their breath and waited quietly for the helicopter to appear.

The machine guns on the vehicles were all set up. The machine gunners did not dare to relax even a little.

In addition, more than a dozen rpgs were taken out by the soldiers and distributed to the best rocket launchers. They were just waiting to fire a shot at that annoying helicopter.

Not long ago, the helicopter had just passed by their side. However, the shooting conditions at that time were not good, so Yu Tian did not give the order to attack.

Now, everyone was waiting for the helicopter to return.

"Why don't we take advantage of this time to change our route?"

Cass was a little puzzled, he could not help but approach Yu Tian and ask, "Since they did not notice us, they went too far. Why don't we take the opportunity to change our direction and disappear from this route? There are no fixed routes here. They will definitely not be able to guess which direction we are going.

Yu Tian shook his head. "Not necessarily. They are very fast and will return soon. "Even if we change our route, they have enough speed and can search in different directions. The chances of them finding us are still very high.

"Can't we stop when they get close?"

"Without a suitable hiding place, the chances of US being discovered are still very high. "Besides, changing our route and stopping will also waste our own time. "Only by killing them can we get rid of our burden and go home easily. "

"Killing a helicopter might be a little difficult. Maybe until they find us, we won't be able to find a good opportunity to attack. " "There will be a chance. They'll lower the altitude."

"Are you sure?"

"Of course, if they want to find us, they'll have to lower the altitude. If they keep flying so high! then we can really change our route without worry.

Yu Tian's tone was still relaxed.

Cass could only hold back his temper and continue to wait for the helicopter to return.

Sure enough, not long after, the helicopter's shadow appeared in the air. This time, the helicopter's height was much lower than before.

"Get Ready!

Yu Tian shouted loudly, and all the machine gunners and rocket launchers immediately became nervous.

Although everyone present had no experience in fighting a helicopter, they were still very familiar with the capabilities of their weapons. This time, there was a chance to shoot down the helicopters..

The helicopter appeared at the side of the convoy, but it was on the other side of the dune just now. This time, it was on the other side of the wilderness.

In general, the shooting angle this time was better, and the helicopter's height was lower.

But at the same time, the helicopter's angle of attack was also better, and it was easier to detect them.

At this moment, they needed to strike first.

The current situation was more advantageous for Yu Tian and the others. The enemy was in the open while they were in the dark, so they had a greater chance of striking first.

At the same time, the helicopter's crew also noticed the hill.

"Get closer to the sand dunes over there. It's dark down there. I think that convoy might be down there.

"Where? It's dark beside those sand dunes. Where are you going?" "Fly along the sand dunes."

"Then you have to keep your eyes open. I keep feeling that there's some danger under the sand dunes. That place seems to be darker than other places!

"Actually, we can shoot a few shots into those shadows. This is called! Fire Detection!

"You'd better not do anything rash. Right now, I only want to follow them. I don't want to fight with them.

"Don't you know that peace is achieved through war?" "Cut the crap. Do your job well and keep an eye on! Oh Sh * t! "

The pilot suddenly cried out in surprise.

In the darkness, countless rays of light streaked across and shot straight at the helicopter in the sky. At the same time, there was the sound of machine guns firing, which made people's scalps tingle.

With so many heavy machine guns firing at the same time, not only was the scene magnificent, it was also extremely spectacular.

In order to be able to better destroy the helicopters, Yu Tian also had the soldiers add some light-pulling bullets to the ammunition chains.

When this thing was used at night, in addition to being able to fire beautifully, the main thing was that it could let the shooter see the point of impact and adjust the shooting direction.

Seven machine guns fired at the same time. The helicopter only managed to bend the nose a little, and then it was immediately shot at the cockpit at the front and the armor at the bottom.

The pilot cursed and dodged in an emergency.

The shooters and crew on the helicopter fell into a mess at the moment of emergency turn. They had no chance to operate the machine gun.

What they needed to do now was to quickly increase the distance between them and the enemy.

But it was obvious that they had no chance.

Even the Black Hawks were going to fall, not to mention this old antique they were driving.

The machine gun had just opened fire when two rpgs successfully hit them. It was a perfect shot.

The remaining rocket launchers did not even have the chance to fire.

Fortunately, the helicopter was still able to explain. It wasn't blown to pieces by the two rpgs, nor did it explode and burn.

However, it was impossible to continue flying. The helicopter's propeller had completely lost its strength. It didn't even have the chance to hover and fell to the ground.

The soldiers in the convoy immediately cheered, and the gunshots stopped abruptly.

The mouse squad had been watching the show. Whether it was heavy machine guns or rpgs, they were not their specialty.

"This! this lousy helicopter really doesn't take a beating.

"It's not quite the same as what I remember."

"Although I can't see what model it is, in a place like this, there should only be old antiques."

"There shouldn't be any survivors in the helicopter, right?"

"It's hard to say. Maybe there are still a few who fell half-dead in the sand." "Should we go and give them a beating?"

"It doesn't seem like there's a need for that. Whether they live or Die doesn 't affect us anymore.

"Doggie! Everyone, get in the car right now. We're leaving Right Now! " Yu Tian had already started shouting through the communicator.

In order to ambush this helicopter, the convoy had already been delayed for nearly half an hour.

If the pursuers behind them had immediately formed a chase team after discovering that Cui Zhengzhi had disappeared, and set off immediately, then their convoy should not be too far away by now.

Of course, this was the worst case scenario.

Yu Tian did not think that the pursuers would have such quick reactions.

Firstly, the police wanted to enter Cui Zhengzhi's villa. After searching around the villa, they found the dead bodyguards and the unconscious bodyguards.

Then, they would try to revive the unconscious bodyguards and ask what had happened.

However, these bodyguards had fainted because Yu Tian had attacked their acupoints. Normal methods would not be able to wake them up quickly.

Hence, they needed the doctor to rush to the scene.

Yu Tian did not know if the doctor had the appropriate means to resuscitate these bodyguards. However, he knew that no matter how much the Doctor tried, it would definitely take some time.

Then, the police would interrogate them again and again to confirm the fact that Cui Zhengzhi had disappeared.

After this round of work, it might be an hour later.

After that, it was time to investigate or determine where the kidnappers had taken Cui Zhengzhi.

This was a simple matter. They could just check the surveillance cameras, but it would also waste a lot of time.

Finally, they decided to pursue the kidnappers.

Ordinary people were definitely not worth the price the police had to pay.

Furthermore, they had to deploy helicopters to pursue the kidnappers. Someone had to add fuel to the fire behind this matter.

In short, the helicopter was still sent out in the end. However, when they caught up with Yu Tian's motorcade, it was already two hours after Yu Tian left the oasis.

Even the helicopter had been delayed for so long, so the motorcade that was chasing after them was even more predictable.

Moreover, those who had the ability to send a helicopter to chase after them would definitely send the helicopter out first.

At that time, the chasing motorcade would definitely not have finished organizing.

After they had gathered and officially started the chase, they would definitely be more than an hour or two behind.

In this way, Yu Tian did not need to be particularly anxious now.

Of course, Yu Tian would definitely not do something stupid like a tortoise and a hare racing.

The Chaser falling behind was the Chaser's business. He still had to seize the time and leave the enemy so far behind that he could not even see the shadow of the enemy.

The convoy resumed its journey and changed drivers.

They had to travel through the night, so they had to take turns driving.

Yu Tian still had no intention of turning on the lights, because the enemy would definitely be able to find the place where the helicopter had crashed.

And the enemy definitely had more than one helicopter.

They should have more helicopters, chasing and searching in different directions.

Chapter 974: Chapter 973, Dead

The motorcade was still running wildly at the edge of the desert. Yu Tian had no intention of going deep into the desert, nor did he have any intention of entering the Gobi Desert.

The sand at the edge of the desert was not too deep, and there were no messy rocks or obstacles. It was very suitable for them to tarnish the reputation of their journey.

An hour later, they found a helicopter in the sky again.

Although the night sky was pitch black, there were some lights on the helicopter. If they were careful, they could still see it.

This helicopter was very far away from them. They did not have to worry about being discovered by the helicopter, so Yu Tian did not even have the means to slow down and hide.

They continued to walk for another hour. The enemy helicopter had probably given up on searching and had not appeared again.

And behind the convoy, they did not find any other convoy following them.

With similar means of transportation, it was very difficult for the enemy to catch up to Yu Tian and the others.

Moreover, in this place that was filled with desert and the terrain next door, the enemy could not use high-speed vehicles like sports cars.

As they moved forward, Yu Tian asked the captain to estimate the distance.

The captain calculated for more than ten minutes and finally came to a sloppy conclusion. They would probably reach Kannima the next morning.

The speed of their return to Kannima was not faster than when they went to the oasis. However, they had planned to start their operation in the evening, so they had rested for a day when they were about to reach the oasis.

Now that they were going back to kannima, they naturally did not need to think about these things anymore.

On the way, they adjusted their route again, and the motorcade returned to the Gobi Desert.

Then, everyone switched on their headlights again, and their field of vision immediately widened.

It had already been five to six hours since they set off from the oasis, and they had traveled over 300 kilometers.

Yu Tian felt that the helicopter should not be able to catch up to them.

The farther away they were from the oasis, the larger the range of the helicopter's search.

This was easy to understand. The longer the radius, the larger the circumference.

Even if the pilot had the patience to sweep the floor, he had to consider whether there was enough fuel for the helicopter.

So for the rest of the journey, everyone began to run without restraint, and there was no pressure to escape at all.

Unknowingly, the sky had gradually brightened up.

Yu Tian and the others had been on the bus for a whole night, and they were already exhausted.

When they saw the familiar terrain, the soldiers immediately started to howl on their communicators: they were less than 100 kilometers away from Kanima!

The speed of the bus gradually slowed down, and the people on the bus suddenly felt much more relaxed.

At the current speed, it would only take two hours at most to return to Kanima. Yu Tian felt that there was no need to be too anxious.

There was no sign of the pursuers behind him. Yu Tian felt that it was impossible for them to appear.

After a night of turbulence, the people in the car could not sleep well. Yu Tian decided to take a nap while the car slowed down.

However, just as he closed his eyes, Cass shouted into the communicator,

"Boss! Cui Zhengzhi is dead! "

Yu Tian immediately came to his senses and hurriedly grabbed the communicator, "What happened? Cui Zhengzhi is dead? Are you kidding, how did he die?"

"I don't know, I just found out, he is already dead!"

Cass felt a little guilty, he and Cui Zhengzhi were sitting in the same car, but he did not even know how Cui Zhengzhi died.

He did not even know when Cui Zhengzhi died, because his acupoints had been sealed by Yu Tian. He could not speak or move for the entire night.

In the pitch-black environment, Cui Zhengzhi just sat upright in the backseat of the car. He even fastened his seatbelt and sat there for the entire night.

Cass really did not know when he died, because he had always maintained the same posture. There was no difference whether he died or not.

On the way out of the oasis, in order to prevent Cui zhengzhi from suddenly calling for help and causing any other mischief, Yu Tian controlled all of his acupoints.

After leaving the oasis, the convoy didn't stop at all, and directly started to return to Kannima.

Yu Tian didn't get out of the car to untie Cui Zhengzhi's acupoints, because he wanted to prevent Cui zhengzhi from causing any mischief on the way back. For example, committing suicide secretly, jumping out of the car, or attacking the driver, etc. .

In short, Cui Zhengzhi had always maintained his sitting posture.

At that time, Cui Zhengzhi was still alive.

However, Cui Zhengzhi did not say anything unnecessary, only asking for water and urine.

Now that such a baffling situation had occurred, Yu Tian did not know what had happened.

He immediately stopped the convoy and instructed the soldiers and the mouse squad to be on alert. He then ran to Cass 'car to check on Cui Zhengzhi's condition.

Cui Zhengzhi was indeed dead, and his body was starting to stiffen.

As he checked the body, Yu Tian asked Cass, "Did anything special happen along the way?"

Cass hurriedly replied, " No, absolutely nothing happened. There were only two people in the backseat, Cui Zhengzhi and me. The driver was from the mouse squad, and the co-driver was from Park Guochang. They didn 't do anything unusual along the way."

"You didn't Sleep?"

"No, the road was so bumpy, how could I possibly sleep?"

"Did you hear any special sounds or smell?"

"No, I have been trying to meditate on the road. I am more sensitive to sounds and smells. If there is anything strange, I will definitely notice it. "

Cass continued to shake his head.

Yu Tian sighed. Although he was good at treating illnesses and saving lives, he did not know much about corpses.

Dead people did not have a pulse and would not show any symptoms. To understand Cui Zhengzhi's condition, he could only dissect his body.

That was not something that Yu Tian was good at. Furthermore, he did not have the conditions to dissect his body.

However, after Yu Tian's careful examination, there were some clues as to the cause of Cui Zhengzhi's death.

Yu Tian felt that Cui Zhengzhi had died from a sudden illness, such as a heart attack.

Heart attacks did have many sudden occurrences, and could also quickly lead to death.

However, the strange thing was that after ambushing the helicopter, Cui Zhengzhi could always speak.

Even though he was unable to move while sitting in the car, he could definitely call for help.

At his age, he usually had a history of heart disease. Once he noticed that something was wrong with his body, he should call for help immediately.

Even if he didn't expect it, he should still be able to call for help when the disease started.

Unless it was a sudden death, the kind where he died without even saying goodbye.

Chapter 975 – Chapter 974, Secret Manual Of Martial Arts

After returning to Kanima, Yu Tian immediately found general Abu's doctors and had them dissect Cui Zhengzhi 's body to examine the cause of his death.

Even though Kanima's medical standards weren't high, general Abu was still a warlord after all. The personal doctor by his side wouldn 't be too bad.

Even though the personal doctor wasn't a specialized coroner, it wasn't a problem to examine the cause of Cui Zhengzhi's death.

The conclusion was quickly drawn. Sudden cardiac death.

There were many reasons for this sudden death, including illness, allergies, poisoning, infection, and unknown causes.

Yu Tian directly ruled out Cui Zhengzhi's heart disease history. This was something Park Guochang could confirm. Cui Zhengzhi's body was very healthy, and he didn't have any heart disease problems.

Other allergic reactions and infections were also unlikely. This was because Cui Zhengzhi had always been under the surveillance of Cass. He had not come into contact with any messy things, and there were no problems with food and water.

This gave Yu Tian a headache.

He had worked tirelessly to kidnap such a valuable hostage from the oasis. He was about to go home for interrogation, but he died in front of his house without any reason. This really made him feel aggrieved.

If he did not find out the cause of Cui Zhengzhi's death, he would not even be able to enjoy a good meal.

Hence, he immediately contacted Uncle Long and sent Cui Zhengzhi's body out of the godforsaken land. He asked the professionals of the East Dragon Company to conduct a detailed inspection.

At the same time, he sent away the password box that he had found at Cui Zhengzhi's house. Yu Tian had opened the box and looked at it. There were some medicinal solutions and other things inside.

These things should be related to the genetic research of the clone society. Yu Tian had no use for them in his hands, so he could only send them to the East Dragon Company for research.

In addition, he had also obtained a USB drive from Cui Zhengzhi's house.

This thing was a little interesting. Inside, there were some training materials for genetic warriors, including various body muscle training methods, various combat training, and various combat techniques.

What interested Yu Tian the most were those combat techniques. There were videos of combat teaching from various countries and schools, and in them, instructors wearing masks were sparring and demonstrating.

Although those instructors had only been defeated in one move under Yu Tian's hands, the techniques and theories they were demonstrating still had a lot of reference value.

Yu Tian even found some Eastern martial arts manuals from these materials, such as the breathing technique, the tai chi eight trigrams fist, and even more ridiculous was that there was actually the six meridians divine sword among these martial arts.

What the hell was the six meridians divine sword? This was obviously a fictional peerless martial art, and it was like shooting lasers when it was played on television.

If it was martial arts like the one Yang finger and the acupoints, it was still within Yu Tian's comprehension. However, the effects of the six meridians divine sword made Yu Tian somewhat unable to believe it.

He had never known that internal martial arts could reach such a level.

The funny thing was that the information on the six meridians godly sword was accompanied by a video explanation. The scene in the video was exactly the same as when the six meridians godly sword was used in a television series. Its lethality was even greater than that of a laser gun.

Yu Tian was instantly speechless. Would Kroni! was this a F * cking joke?

The things on this USB were obviously training materials for genetic warriors. They were suitable for different types of warriors.

However, were you really planning to let them practice the six meridians godly sword?

Although Yu Tian did not know the specific types of genetic warriors he had researched, no matter what type of genetic warrior he was, it was impossible for him to turn a person's body into a laser weapon, right?

After turning off the video, Yu Tian began to study these Eastern martial arts manuals in his room.

The information provided by the Kroni society was relatively rigorous. Not only did they have an international translation, but they also had an original version of the eastern language, as well as an interpretation of the eastern language.

This was mainly because the eastern language was really profound, especially those ancient languages. A short sentence usually contained an extremely rich meaning, and it even involved some allusions and multiple meanings.

Using the modern language structure of the eastern countries to translate the ancient texts could have many different interpretations and controversies, not to mention using the international language to translate.

Therefore, the materials must provide a variety of translations and interpretation versions for the learners to study on their own.

From this point of view, the people who collected these martial arts materials did not understand these eastern martial arts.

Therefore, there were no videos of Eastern martial arts teaching in these materials. This was because no instructor was able to master these martial arts and was qualified to give demonstrations and guidance to others.

Other than the various versions of the materials, there were also some pictures.

Of course, the pictures were not pictures of real people. Instead, they were pictures of meridians and acupoints in the original version of the book, as well as pictures of movement trajectories.

These materials looked like old books found on the street.

As the saying went, "Empty holes may not be the source of wind." Since Kronin had collected so many fighting materials and martial arts manuals, it was impossible for him to have picked them up from the street. It was also impossible for them to be toys that old beggars sold for ten Yuan each.

Yu Tian spent the whole night browsing through the other fighting materials. These were very practical teaching materials.

It could be imagined that the Eastern martial arts on the USB must have been obtained from some special channels.

Although Yu Tian felt that the effects of the six meridians divine sword were somewhat incredible, he still decided to try practicing the things inside.

In the next few days, Yu Tian studied martial arts in general BU's villa.

He had originally planned to learn ancient martial arts. Now that he had accidentally obtained these strange martial arts manuals, he naturally wouldn't let it go.

He had to give it a try.

He selected from these martial arts materials and found a few that felt more suitable for him, as well as what he needed.

One was the six meridians divine sword. Under the assumption that it was real, that kind of attack power and convenience was simply terrifying.

Yu Tian did not know if this thing could penetrate tanks or armored vehicles, but from the effects shown in the TV series, it would definitely not be a problem to deal with light-armored personnel and vehicles if the description in the information was true.

In addition, the six meridians godly sword had a great advantage, which was that it did not require any other martial arts foundation and could be practiced directly.

The weak main character in the TV series was like this. He was originally a weak scholar, but because he was familiar with the scriptures, his understanding and comprehension of this martial arts manual was relatively strong, so he quickly became commonly known.

Therefore, if one wanted to test the authenticity of these martial arts manuals, it was best to use the six meridians divine sword.

Of course, the ridiculous combat strength of the six meridians divine sword was also one of the reasons why Yu Tian chose it. It was much stronger than the golden needle acupuncture point..

In addition, Yu Tian had also taken a fancy to two relatively practical martial arts that had zero basic introduction.

One was Qinggong, which had no name and was the only Qinggong in the information.

There was no video in the information, only pure text explanation.

Although Yu Tian did not know the actual effect of this nameless qinggong, he felt that he could still practice it.

Even if this thing only allowed people to run faster and jump higher, it could still be very practical. It could bring out unexpected effects in many places.

The other type of martial art was the famous golden bell cover iron cloth shirt.

In Yu Tian's impression, the golden bell cover was the golden bell cover, and the iron cloth shirt was the iron cloth shirt. These were two different types of martial arts. Similar things like the thirteen gangsters 'horizontal practice.

The current golden bell cover iron cloth shirt looked like a knockoff.

However, since it was something that Kronin would collect, and it was solemnly placed in these training materials, the source should not be too ridiculous.

Whether it worked or not, Yu Tian decided to give it a try.

In the next few days, he began to practice the martial arts on this USB.

At first, he practiced the six meridians divine sword in general Abu's villa. Then, he ran back to the pirate village by the sea and began to practice his lightness skills and body protection.

After practicing for a few days, there was no obvious effect. However, news came from the East Dragon Company.

Regarding the cause of Cui Zhengzhi's death, the East Dragon Company used high-tech equipment to conduct a detailed examination. Finally, it was confirmed that he had died of poisoning.

The composition of the poison was an unknown substance. For the time being, the East Dragon Company had yet to analyze Chou Yin Mao.

However, what could be confirmed was that Cui Zhengzhi was not poisoned on the day he was kidnapped. Instead, he had been poisoned a long time ago.

This conclusion made Yu Tian even more confused. Who else wanted to kill Cui Zhengzhi?

Cui zhengzhi, who had lived such a cautious life, was actually poisoned so easily?

These questions could not be concluded for the time being. Yu Tian did not even have a direction to investigate.

Including Park Guochang, he did not know much about Cui Zhengzhi's interpersonal relationships.

He only knew that Cui Zhengzhi had a few employees, salesmen like him.

These people were not of much value, especially to the investigation of Kroni. Even after Cui Zhengzhi was kidnapped and disappeared, they might have scattered like birds and beasts.

Yu Tian had no interest in pursuing these small fry.

He felt that the people who were truly worth pursuing were the people who moved the helicopters from the oasis.

This person, or rather, these people, definitely had a very special relationship with Cui Zhengzhi.

To investigate this matter, one had to start from the inside of the Oasis' official department. The instructions for the movement of the personnel were all traceable. As long as the insiders had a certain level of authority, they could easily find out these clues.

However, General Abu was just a small warlord. He did not have much contact with the oasis officials, let alone have any reliable friends in the oasis officials. Helplessly, Yu Tian could only leave this matter to the DONGLONG company.

Then, Yu Tian, who was bored, could only continue to practice.

After a few days of hard practice, Yu Tian finally had some gains in Qinggong.

This thing was similar to parkour, but it also increased the use of Qi on the basis of parkour. In the end, the effect was much stronger than parkour.

In other words, it ran faster and jumped farther.

In addition, although the six meridians divine sword did not achieve results, Yu Tian found more Qi feeling during practice, and the Qi feeling in his body became more familiar and clearer.

The only thing that he did not gain was the golden bell cover and iron cloth shirt. Yu Tian basically did not feel any effect.

However, the slight changes in Qinggong and the six meridians divine sword made Yu Tian feel that the martial arts in these materials were indeed genuine.

These ancient martial arts might be a joke to ordinary people, but to Yu Tian, who already had a basic qi sensation, he could indeed see some effects.

Yu Tian began to consider whether he should return to his country first, then find a quiet and remote mountain village to slowly practice his martial arts. He would practice until he reached the great completion of 5,000 years before coming out of the mountain.

At this time, Faraday and the others finally finished their work and returned to report to Yu Tian.

The result was basically no accident. Faraday and the others still did not find any traces of the missing people, nor did they find any of their equipment, clothes, shoes, and hat remnants.

However, Faraday and the others were not completely without gains. He brought back a few tattered clay jars for Yu Tian.

"What are these things?"

Yu Tian was somewhat baffled.

Faraday said mysteriously, "These things! should be some cultural relics. "Cultural relics? You found ancient relics in the cave?"

"It should be. We found a very large tunnel, and it seems that people lived in it. These jars were brought out by us from there! These should be considered cultural relics, right?"

"Cultural relics?" Yu Tian said helplessly, "How should I put it? Usually, when we say cultural relics! some things that are old can be considered cultural relics.

Faraday's face was instantly filled with a hopeful smile. "Then! These things should be very valuable in your civilized country, right?"

Yu Tian understood what Faraday meant, he could only sigh. "Whether they are valuable or not depends on what they are. Although some things are ancient, they only have research value. Not everything can be treated as an antique collection and sold at a sky-high price.

"Then these things that we found!

"Aren 't worth anything.

"Aren't they worth anything at all?"

"Maybe they can be sold for a few hundred dollars! in the eastern country, we can even hand them over to the authorities. Maybe we can get a few hundred dollars as a bonus."

"Oh!"

Faraday was a little disappointed.

Yu Tian patted his shoulder. "I think you guys should just focus on your pirate business. Robbing a few beautiful countries' oil tankers and freighters is worth millions at a time. It's much more appropriate than doing archaeological expeditions or digging up people's graves."

Faraday smiled sheepishly and said, "Nowadays, the pirate business isn't easy either. Those freighters often have warships escorting them, or they have security companies protecting them. It's really unncu1L LO get now 01 a cargo. "It wasn't easy to take down the ship, but before we could find the hostages or sail the ship back, the warships caught up!"

"Don't always talk about difficulties. If there are difficulties, solve them. If there are no difficulties, then! anyway, piracy is your old profession and also your profession. It's more reliable than digging up their ancestors' graves, right?"

"I know. We don't plan to rely on cultural relics to make a living." "But this time, we found a very big tunnel. (I think there must be something valuable inside. We can't easily waste this discovery..

Chapter 977 – Chapter 976, Expanding The Army

The pirates had changed their occupation to archaeology. Although this matter was a little out of place, it did not concern Yu Tian.

"Hey, if you want to dig graves, go ahead and do it."

Yu Tian did not interfere with Faraday's decision. He took out his tablet and transferred three million yuan to his account in front of Faraday.

"This is the reward I promised you before. This search and rescue mission will be considered over. "The rest of the operation is your own business. If you want to dig the archaeological graves, it is your own decision. I will not participate in it, nor will I provide financial support.

Faraday was a little disappointed. He originally thought that Yu Tian would continue to provide financial support.

The underground exploration was not difficult for them. At most, it would be a little tiring.

The thing they lacked the most was money.

It was not that they needed to buy high-tech equipment. After all, they were not doing scientific research. They were just going underground to find something or dig something.

This kind of thing was not even useful for a simple tool like the Luoyang shovel.

However, the pirates still had to pay them.

If they did not even have wages, who would be willing to work in this underground place that was many meters underground, where they could not see the sun all day long.

If there were tangible benefits, it would be fine. At least the pirates knew how much money they could get from completing this business.

However, exploring the underground tunnel was a matter that they did not know the outcome of. The pirates had never had this kind of experience. Faraday was just drawing a big cake, so it was difficult for the pirates to have the enthusiasm to work.

In addition, the pirates still had to eat.

With so many people going underground to explore, they completely stopped their other work. The daily consumption of food and drink was not a small amount.

Moreover, they could not always give the pirates dry food. They had to arrange some meat and wine to ensure their enthusiasm and morale.

In addition to these pirates who went underground to work, they also had to arrange logistics personnel who specialized in making food. Sometimes, they even had to send food underground.

Faraday also felt a little pained when he counted the personnel and expenses.

He hoped that Yu Tian could provide financial support as an investment. If they could find something good, Yu Tian could get a corresponding share.

Of course, if they didn't find anything, Yu Tian would be the one who would lose money.

Yu Tian wasn't interested in this kind of investment.

"If you can find something good underground, I can consider buying it, or help you find a buyer! I have no interest in other things. "

This was Yu Tian's final answer, and then he served tea to send the guests off.

When Faraday left the small forest where he temporarily lived, Yu Tian seriously reminded them, "I think you should put your mind on your own profession, and appropriately strengthen some military training, so as to prepare for the way of making a living in the future."

Faraday nodded repeatedly, but he obviously didn't take it to heart.

In the next few days, the Eastern Dragon Company sent another batch of munitions to General Abu.

There were no tanks and armored vehicles in this batch of munitions. There were only some old-fashioned military vehicles. The rest were individual weapons, plus large quantities of ammunition and fuel.

In fact, the eastern company had already prepared dozens of tanks and armored vehicles, but they hadn't handed them over to general Abu yet.

The appearance of such a powerful armored force would definitely attract the attention and covetousness of all the forces in the surroundings.

As the saying goes, if a man isn't guilty, he will be guilty. Currently, General Abu didn't have enough power in his hands. He didn't even have enough tank drivers. It might not be a good thing for these things to appear in his hands too early.

The most important thing for general Abu now was to expand the army and strengthen training.

The training for ordinary soldiers was relatively simple. It was just some marching and discipline training. It wasn't difficult, and Yu Tian's expectations weren't high either.

However, in order to deal with some complicated situations, Yu Tian felt that general Abu should still have some elite troops with higher combat standards.

For example, the soldiers that he brought over to kidnap Cui Zhengzhi. These elite soldiers' military skills and psychological qualities were stronger than ordinary soldiers, including their battle will.

The reason why they were stronger than ordinary soldiers was not complicated. It was because their salaries were higher than other soldiers.

Because these elite soldiers were all old subordinates of General Abu, their loyalty was higher, they were more willing to work hard, and their income was naturally higher.

For such an elite force, general Abu only had a few hundred people under him. It was the same force that had followed him to attack the pirates previously.

Now, Yu Tian's request was to expand this elite unit. He would pick out the most elite members and throw them to the tiger team for more complicated training.

This kind of thing naturally cost money, so Yu Tian transferred another 100 million to General Abu.

In addition, the tiger team had expanded to more than 50 people.

General Carlo contacted some of his old subordinates. Many people were interested in the work of this instructor. Although the work location was in this godforsaken place, many people still rushed over one after another.

However, General Caro had already explained in advance.

This job was temporarily a military instructor, but the possibility of a sudden war could not be ruled out. At that time, everyone would inevitably have to personally participate in the battle.

In other words, the essence of this job was still the work of a mercenary.

The members who came here, from the moment they joined the tiger squad, had tacitly become a mercenary who could participate in battle at any time. The military quality of the tiger squad was indeed higher than that of the army on the other side, but their ability was mainly reflected in the use of all kinds of high-tech weapons and the coordination of different positions.

When the team reached more than fifty people, the division of labor began to become clear.

It was impossible to organize the team according to the regular army. General Carroll used the mercenary group formation model.

As everyone knew, the division of labor of a military squad was actually very complicated. The more complicated the division of labor, the more elaborate it was, and the greater the role it would play if it was released to act alone.

The most well-known one was the sniper, but this was not a necessary position in an ordinary mercenary squad.

Because snipers were responsible for long-range sniping, many missions and operations did not have such a requirement.

Therefore, the normal requirements were accurate marksmen, firepower, assault, explosives, and the medical, communication, and cooking personnel needed to see the situation of the team.

These people were basically all equipped in the tiger squad. Even those who could play with tanks and all kinds of mortars and rockets were there, but they lacked a medic and a cooker.

It was mainly because medic and cooker were too easy to find jobs in the civilian industry, so people with these skills had long been married and settled down, living a normal life..

Chapter 978 – Chapter 977, Joint Investigation

Translator: 5496903

Yu Tian did not treat the tiger squad as his main fighting force, so these vacancies would not affect him much for the time being.

His main goal now was to train general Abu's army.

Due to sufficient funds, the expansion of General Abu 's army was also very smooth. In just a dozen days, the number of new recruits had increased by nearly two thousand.

General Abu built a new military camp next to Kannima, and the newly formed armored force also began to have some sort of rapid training.

The living environment of Yu Tian and the mouse squad had also been improved. They also built a small wooden house on the beach, and even installed diesel generators and air conditioners.

The changes and development of Kannima could not be hidden. General Abu quickly received the attention of his colleagues around him.

They were all small warlords, and their survival patterns were similar to that of bandits.

Usually, everyone was peaceful. When they encountered a big warlord looking for trouble, they would go to guerilla warfare and visit each other. Then, they would support each other when facing a common enemy.

However, general Abu suddenly broke away from this poor class and started to develop. The surrounding small warlords started to feel uneasy.

Including that big warlord, Ahmed, who was also nicknamed Hippo, was also very concerned about general Abu's situation. He even sent people to General Abu's residence to ask what had happened on general Abu's side.

General Abu's explanation was that a businessman had found a mine here and bought the mining rights, which was why he became so rich.

However, this explanation was not very reasonable. Yu Tian had a feeling that a storm was coming.

War might be unavoidable, which was not a big problem for Yu Tian.

Because the East Dragon Company was rich, once a war broke out here, Yu Tian could hire a large number of mercenaries to maintain the situation here.

The combat strength of the mercenaries could not be underestimated. Dozens of mercenaries could stage a coup in some small black continent countries, easily occupy the presidential palace, and then change the regime.

As long as there was money, it would not be a problem for the mercenaries to eliminate that hippo.

However, spending money was still a small matter. If it created too much of a commotion, it would easily attract the attention of the international community.

No country was willing to see foreign investment appear in the Godforsaken lands. Once foreign forces intervened in the Godforsaken lands, other countries would certainly come down one after another, fighting for these regimes and controlling the ports and shipping routes.

It might even lead to a world war.

Therefore, Uncle Long said that Yu Tian was playing with fire and had to be careful.

Yu Tian did not change his mind. He just spent money to let General Abu work hard and let the tiger team train harder.

However, it was obvious that many people did not want to give him this opportunity to develop.

A few days later, general Abu sent someone to deliver a message, saying that the oasis officials had sent an order, asking him to cooperate in investigating the disappearance of an important person.

This so-called important person was naturally Cui Zhengzhi.

It seemed that this was a very normal thing.

Because Cui Zhengzhi had indeed gone missing, and he had indeed gone missing in the direction of General Abu.

The only thing that was abnormal was that there were actually police officers in this place, and the police were even able to investigate the case so seriously.

According to normal circumstances, this kind of missing case should indeed be investigated by the police. But in this place, once they crossed the region, the police would basically be useless.

Even if the warlords all over the place gave face, the operation mode would at most be to send a few detectives from the oasis, and then let the local police system cooperate with the investigation.

However, this kind of operation was very rare in a war-torn country like Guatemala.

Even if the police system could be successfully operated, it was already very rare, not to mention cross-regional joint cases.

After all, many small places did not have a police station at all.

For example, in places like pirate village, no one would go to the trouble of opening a police station. Ordinary cases were not handled by the police station at all.

By the time the police station appeared, one party had already disappeared.

It was either the plaintiff or the defendant. There would always be one party absent.

If the country's political power could not be unified, there was no need to talk about law enforcement.

Of course, there were police stations in kannima, but those so-called police officers were just soldiers under General Abu.

They did not have any professional criminal investigation ability. They just simply maintained law and order.

Such a police officer obviously did not meet the requirements of the oasis, so the oasis actually sent an army.

This was not normal.

In addition, the top warlord in the region, Ahmed the great hippopotamus, was also cooperating with the case.

The great hiDD0D0tamus had always been the number one threat to general Abu. It was also the number one threat to other small warlords and pirates in the region.

The Big Hippo had tens of thousands of troops and was very powerful. It basically didn't leave much room for the other small warlords to survive.

Small warlords were all grown and developed by pirates. They were born with a lack of development, so it was very difficult for them to grow into a regime.

Their mode of survival was basically that of bandits. They were ready to flee at any time or turn into civilians.

Many small fishing villages along the coast of Damadi were like this.

Usually, they were fishermen or pirates. They were all groups that were difficult to control.

The Big Hippo was too lazy to clean up these small forces. It was a thankless task.

There was no benefit in killing them. Keeping them would instead create some income.

Especially when there were administrators in these places, it would be easier for the big hippo to collect taxes.

Like General Abu, if he had been a small band of pirates, he could have left Kandama and turned into a guerrilla to make a living.

But when he started to develop, he didn't want to leave Kandama.

Kannima was not rich, but it could at least provide some population and a market for trade.

General Abu was originally just like a gangster in kannima. His soldiers were residents of Kannima, and they basically lived in their own homes.

Then, general Abu could become a famous doctor in the local administration, such as the county chief or village chief.

This was not a very important matter, and the Big Hippo did not care.

But now, general Abu began to expand the army, build barracks, and even bought a few tanks.

The Big Hippo began to pay attention to his existence.

Yu Tian returned to Kannima on the same day, and went to the new office building built by General Abu.

The new office building was located in the new barracks, and it looked relatively simple and crude.

Although it was called a "Building," it was actually just a large bungalow with a very simple structure.

Chapter 979 – Chapter 978, Preparing For War

For security reasons, general Abu had now moved all his important belongings to the military camp.

Then, there were enough guest rooms and dormitories arranged around his office to accommodate Yu Tian and Yu Tian's entourage.

Although the house was simple and crude, it still had all the necessary facilities. Even the largest conference room had a few horses of air-conditioning.

This was all Yu Tian's money.

Yu Tian sat in the large conference room that he had built with his own money and participated in the meeting that General Abu had called.

General Abu sat on the main seat. Below him were his various officers and generals, as well as Yu Tian's external assistance forces, including General Caro and a part of the Tiger Squad's instructors.

This was general Abu's high-level meeting. However, there were also people like the big guy who only knew how to use their fists. One could imagine how valuable the so-called high-level officials were.

Although General Abu was sitting at the head of the table, he clearly understood his current troubles and difficulties. Other than Yu Tian, no one could help him solve these troubles.

Therefore, he asked Yu Tian very modestly, "Dear boss Yu, how do you think we should handle this matter?"

Yu Tian was still flipping through the information prepared by General Abu a notice sent by the oasis officials.

It clearly stated that the oasis officials would send an army of about 100 people to carry out investigation and search in Kaina.

On the surface, the target was of course Cui Zhengzhi, but in reality, it was definitely someone with ill intentions.

"This is a test. They want to test your attitude and investigate the truth of Kaina.

Yu Tian made his own judgment. "An army of 100 people won't cause much trouble. You can totally control it. "Moreover, your military camp is already independent of Kaina. Even if they do something destructive in Kaina, it won't have much of an impact on you.

General Abu nodded. "So, should I gladly express my acceptance and place them in Kaina?"

"No, you should place them in the military camp and then arrange an army in Kaina to supervise their investigation.

"I don't quite understand what you mean by this arrangement.

"It's nothing special. There are only about a hundred people. It's not difficult for you to monitor them.". "If you place them in the military camp, you can better control them. "In addition, Kannima will also be your base camp in the future. So, you should set up an army in Kannima. Don't let them cause trouble and harass the residents during the investigation." "Will there be a conflict?"

"If there's a conflict, then let's start a war!

Yu Tian turned his head to ask General Caro, "How's the training of the armored forces?"

General Caro shrugged and said, "It's just so-so. Our Tiger squad can be their car captain. That way, there won't be any problems in commanding.

Yu Tian nodded. "There will be a batch of tanks and armored vehicles transported to the beach at night. You can get the tiger squad to bring the armored forces over to receive them! Then, stay in the wilderness for the next two days and bring enough supplies. You Don't have to return to Kanmud City's military camp.

"Understood. "General Caro nodded.

Yu Tian added, "Also, bring those veterans to the wilderness. Train with the armored troops for the next two days. There's no need for them to come back.

General Caro was a little surprised. "Pull all the veterans out? Excluding the armored troops, there are more than a thousand veterans now.

"More than a thousand is right. The armored troops need them, but the camp doesn't need them.

"So Kandama only has about two thousand new recruits?"

"What does it matter if they are new recruits? After all, the officers are all veterans! In addition to you personally overseeing the investigation team with more than a hundred people, there shouldn't be any problems, right?" "There shouldn't be any problems."

One soldier was a bear, while the other was a bear. Although those who stayed in Kandama were all new recruits, with the addition of veteran officers and a few tiger squad instructors, General Karo felt that their combat strength wasn't too bad.

Moreover, the people of Damadi were already used to the chaos of war. Their new recruits had a much stronger sense of combat compared to those recruits from peaceful countries.

General Kalo personally took command. It was not to the extent that more than two thousand people could not handle more than a hundred people.

Not to mention their combat strength, even if they just showed their faces and walked around in formation, they could still act as a deterrent to the more than a hundred people.

Numerical superiority was sometimes very useful.

General Abu scratched his head. "What About Me?"

Yu Tian said, "You can stay in the barracks with me, or you can stay in the armored forces. "

"Don't I need to command the Army?"

('You only need to command General Kalo. If there is a battle, General Kalo will pass your orders down in time.

"Alright.

General Abu realized that he had lost the right to command. However, he was indeed inexperienced in such a multi-battlefield battle.

He would only lead an army to attack. It was similar to a battle between pirates. He would not be able to handle such a complicated situation.

The purpose of the meeting was to determine the command rights of each unit. Yu Tian wanted to let general Abu 's men understand who they should listen to when it came to war.

At night, Yu Tian and the soldiers of the armored unit went to the beach.

Under the leadership of the Tiger Squad, the armored unit picked up their tanks and armored vehicles and set off on the road.

Yu Tian welcomed another group of guests.

The delivery ship was still no. 55, but the delivery ship was not just a large landing ship that carried tanks.

After general Abu's armored forces left, the speedboats quickly approached the shore.

Teams of soldiers jumped off the speedboats and quietly assembled into a team.

More than a hundred people spontaneously stood in three teams.

Number 55 stood beside Yu Tian and softly explained, "These are the mercenaries who were hired according to your request. The teams are all black. Although there are some differences between them and the F * cking Martians, it's not obvious on the battlefield." "Very good!

Yu Tian nodded, "A total of three teams?"

"Yes, they're all medium-sized mercenary groups.". Although they're not first-rate mercenary groups, they've been to large-scale battlefields, and their weapons and equipment are not bad. They're much better than those mercenary groups that make a living! look, they even have cannons?"

As number 55 said this, he casually pointed at the mercenary groups that were lining up.

Yu Tian followed his finger and looked. Sure enough, he saw that these mercenaries were carrying a few new mortars and a lot of ammunition boxes.

Of course, whether the weapons were good or not depended on the people who played with them. The quality of the soldiers was not good. No matter how good the weapons were, they were useless.

However, for the mercenaries to be able to bring these things, it meant something.

Translator: 5496903

The things that a mercenary group could carry were usually very limited. This was because the missions they carried out would often have some battles behind enemy lines, as well as situations where they were isolated and helpless.

They needed to consider fighting without supplies, as well as fighting with a clear goal, fast advance and fast retreat, just like a sudden beheading. Therefore, they had to consider the weight of their weapons, the missions they were carrying, and what they needed to use on the battlefield.

They could not spend money on meaningless weapons that were not easy to use.

Yu Tian saw that there were even snipers in these mercenary groups, as well as individual anti-tank weapons that looked like iron fists.

Although these things were not expensive equipment, they provided very fierce firepower and lethality, and were very suitable for a battlefield like Tema.

For example, an anti-tank weapon like iron fist was especially suitable for Tema. The broken tanks here really could not withstand such a thing.

Although there were some shortcomings, such as a slightly poor range and accuracy, which would make the user very dangerous.

However, mercenaries were hard-working to begin with. When there was a need, they had to bite the bullet no matter how dangerous it was.

In general, the equipment these mercenary groups carried could be considered professional. In a battle on a big battlefield, these equipment could also be considered a very cost-effective configuration.

This proved that they had studied the issue of weapon configuration based on the current situation of this country.

Therefore, they were definitely not the kind of cannon fodder troops that only knew how to fight, nor were they the low-level mercenary groups that just randomly gathered a few people to go to the battlefield to earn some money.

Of course, from the perspective of weapons and equipment, they were not the kind of top-tier mercenary groups.

The equipment of the mercenary groups often represented their strength, and also represented their commission level.

The top-tier mercenary groups were definitely stronger than the special forces that were in active service in many countries. They were usually the elites of the special forces, and their weapons and equipment could also be obtained from the most advanced things.

For example, heavy bulletproof vests, high -quality military helmets and boots, all kinds of top-tier weapons, including custom-made weapons for people, as well as some strange new weapons.

There were also high-tech gadgets such as night vision, thermal imaging, and even drones, which rarely appeared in the hands of small teams.

These 70 to 80 percent of the weapons were equipped, and a simple loss would cost tens of millions of items.

Therefore, a top-tier mercenary group would start from a few million dollars for a mission. Special Missions also had special requirements.

The fees of the three mercenary groups that the East Dragon Company found were not low. Their fees were calculated on a daily basis.

The fees before the battle could be ignored. From the start of the battle, each person had to pay 3,000 dollars a day.

With more than a hundred people, it would cost more than 300,000 dollars a day. On the third day, one million dollars would be spent.

This fee didn't seem high, but it was just the basics.

If the intensity of the battle was high and the losses were considerable, then the price would be several times higher.

This fee was also very reasonable because many small countries, especially those military dictators, would feel that it was worth it even if they spent hundreds of millions to hire troops to protect their regime when they were in big trouble.

Just like Yu Tian's current situation, he had already spent hundreds of millions on general Abu's weapons, equipment, and cash.

Now in the oasis, there was also that big warlord Hippo. If he wanted to get rid of general Abu, Yu Tian definitely wouldn't allow it.

Even if he spent hundreds of millions, he still had to protect general Abu's small business.

The leaders and vice leaders of the three mercenary groups came over to greet Yu Tian and get to know each other.

The names of these three mercenary groups were translated as "Loyal and reliable guardians", "Bring Death and peace" , and "Crazy and calm hyenas".

Not to mention these ridiculous names, they were basically a combination of the local dialect of black continent and the international language. Yu Tian temporarily referred to them as "Guards", "Death god squad" , and "Hyenas Squad".

These houses were the residences of the soldiers under General Abu. Their locations had been carefully selected by General Karo before they were temporarily requisitioned.

If a battle really took place in kannima, these mercenaries would be more reliable than the new recruits, which would also give general karo more confidence.

Yu Tian took advantage of the late night to send these mercenaries into Kannima and quietly settled them down.

The next morning, the sun rose as usual, and Kannima was as lively as usual.

No one knew that there were already more than a hundred fierce mercenaries hiding in the city, and no one knew that more than half of the army in the barracks had disappeared.

When the caravans of merchants passed by the barracks, they could still see that the new recruits in the barracks were undergoing intense training. There were also some unfinished buildings that were still being built.

Of course, there were also the tanks and armored vehicles that general Abu had bought recently. They were still "Racing" in the wilderness near the military camp.

At noon, a long caravan arrived at Kannima.

There were more than a dozen military vehicles with heavy machine guns, a few off-road vehicles, a few large trucks, and more than a hundred soldiers. The procession appeared vast and mighty.

These soldiers were not the cheap green military uniforms of general Abu's subordinates, but were dressed in beautiful desert camouflage.

They were all wearing steel helmets, and it was obvious that they were high-grade imported goods. This made the Kandama army somewhat envious.

One had to know that the price of such a set of military equipment was even more expensive than the Aya in their hands.

Yu Tian was not short of money, but he had no intention of changing the military uniforms of general Abu's soldiers for the time being.

That would attract too much attention.

In order to avoid misunderstandings, the convoy had already contacted General Abu before arriving in Khannima. General Abu had already arranged for soldiers to go and welcome them.

The convoy bypassed Khannima City and went straight to general Abu's military camp.

Although General Abu's military camp was simple and crude, the biggest advantage was that it was big enough and there were enough houses. They had enough vacant dormitories for these uninvited guests.

Those dormitories were originally prepared to expand the army. Now, they were more than enough to accommodate more than a hundred people.

Yu Tian and general caro stood behind the window of the office, quietly watching the convoy drive into the military camp. Then, they quietly watched the soldiers get off the vehicles and form a team before entering the barracks to rest.

"How is it?"

Yu Tian asked General Caro who was beside him.

General Caro knew what he was asking and calmly said, "It looks alright, but when it comes to fighting! it might just be like that.

Yu Tian's interest was immediately piqued.. "You can see the fighting strength of this army just by looking at it?"

General Caro smiled and said, "I can roughly tell.

Yu Tian said with interest, "Tell me about it."

General Caro said slowly, "I won't talk about the whole team. The new recruits are about the same as them. It's just that they were able to maintain their normal military appearance after a long journey. At the very least, it proves that they are a qualified army!"

Yu Tian smiled, "Of course. After all, they are the vanguard troops sent by the hippos. They might even have to carry out the decapitation mission. Even if they are not an ace troop, they should at least be a veteran.

General Caro said, "They should be veterans, but they should not be considered aces because! the weapons they use are basically all AKKA.

"Yes, Akka! "yu tian muttered, "The Akka in their hands is not as valuable as the clothes they wear! that hippo seems to be a little too stingy.

"It's not because they are stingy. It's mainly because Akka's performance is reliable and is more suitable for the harsh climate and environment of a horse's Den. ". "Moreover, these veterans are more used to using AKKA. If it were other weapons, they might not be able to accurately shoot.

"Since everyone uses Akka, how can you judge their combat ability from their weapons?"

"That's simple. If It's an ace troop, other than the AKKA that most soldiers are used to, they will definitely be equipped with all sorts of different weapons. This way, they can adapt to various combat environments, including the frontal battlefield and the small team combat mode.

"Just like the various weapons you ordered?"

"Yes, the weapons I equipped those elite soldiers with are more complicated. Other than the sniper rifle and the rifle with a longer and more stable range, there are mainly pistols and shotguns, as well as a large number of grenades. "Moreover, I will force those soldiers to test new weapons, explore their potential, and find a more suitable position. "

"Is this considered a special forces unit?"

"It's not a special forces unit yet, but it will definitely be able to adapt to more battle environments than before, especially when fighting in cities and complex terrain. "

"Haha, are you preparing to attack that Hippo's territory?"

The Great Hippo's territory was in the north of Tamar. That area was mostly mountainous, and the terrain was much more complex than the plains and deserts along the eastern coast.

The vegetation there was also richer, and there were more cities and villages of different sizes.

If they wanted to attack the Hippo's territory, their fighting style would naturally be more complicated, and there would definitely be street battles in the cities.

The army that had entered the camp was the Hippo Army. Although they had snipers in their ranks, most of the soldiers still used Akka, and the structure was very monotonous.

This meant that their fighting style was not much different from the pirates. It also meant that the big warlord Hippo was not as wealthy as they had imagined.

After the soldiers settled down, two officers and a few officials in suits were invited into general Abu's office building.

Then, General Abu came over and invited Yu Tian to meet these guests. Of course, this important meeting couldn 't be done without Yu Tian. This had already been decided beforehand.

However, General Caro and the others didn't need to show their faces. Yu Tian didn't plan to let them show their faces in public for the time being.

This was like playing cards. The more cards you had in your hands, the better, unless you were ready to show your cards.

Yu Tian and general Abu came to the living room unhurriedly. They weren't neglectful, nor were they anxious.

The living room was simply decorated. The houses in the barracks had not been renovated, and the office building was the same.

There were only some simple tables and chairs that had been moved from the villa in the living room, which made general Abu Look a little too tight. The guests were drinking tea. The tea leaves from the eastern country were delicious.

Seeing General Abu and Yu Tian come in, an officer immediately put down the Teacup and warmly came up to greet general Abu.

"General Abu, long time no see. How are you?"

"General Eddie, I'm so happy to see you. I didn't expect you to come here in person. How have you been recently?"

"I'm fine. Have you recovered from your hemorrhoids?"

"Still the same! How about you? How's your circumcision recovery?"

"It can be used normally! haven't you been living in the villa recently? How's Your Mad Cow Disease Camel?"

"Oh, it's already dead! Where's Your Husky? You didn't bring it out. Has It recovered from its rabies?"

General Abu and general Eddie started chatting amiably, as if they were really old friends who hadn't seen each other for a long time.

According to the regulations of the people of Damadi, once they started talking nonsense, they had to greet all eighteen generations of the other party's ancestors, including the dog raised by the neighbor next door.

This was the kind of enthusiasm of the Madi people.

By the time the two of them finished their nonsense, the others had already refilled their tea several times.

General Eddy finally stopped talking nonsense and began to introduce the other members of his team to General Abu.

"This is Sheriff Mach. This time, he will be fully responsible for the investigation of that! who's missing case. "The soldiers I brought are mainly responsible for the safety of the investigation team, and secondly, they will cooperate with some of the investigation work.

"Hello, Sergeant Mach! "

"Hello, General Abu!

What followed was a bunch of useless nonsense.

Sergeant Mach represented the oasis officials, but this identity was not that useful in the local area.

If they were given face, they would be special envoys.

If they were not given face, there was a high chance that they would be robbed by some pirates and dumped in the wilderness.

Therefore, Marshal Mach's attitude was more humble and not as arrogant as he thought.

This was a smart man. He knew that work was for others, and his life was his own.

Finally, General Abu briefly introduced the remaining days. He was now a businessman who came to dig for gold and mines.

In other places, businessmen might not be valued so much. They could mingle with the local executive heads and even accompany the executive heads to meet with their guests.

But in Kenema, the appearance of a businessman means that a large company or factory is about to appear.

Then they will hire a lot of cheap local labor, improve the local consumption capacity and make the city more prosperous.

Most importantly, they will pay protection fees to the owners of the land, in the name of taxes or other things.

This was the first big businessman that appeared in Kannima. It was not surprising that general Abu had introduced everyone so solemnly.

Even if they went to the territory of the Big Hippo, the Big Hippo would still be polite to Yu Tian.

Thus, everyone began to greet Yu Tian warmly, which was much more sincere than greeting general abu.

Chapter 982 – Chapter 981, Investigation Team

Chapter 982: Chapter 981, Investigation Team

"At the end of last month, there was a very serious kidnapping and murder case in Oasis. The person who was kidnapped! You know General Abu, it's Mr. Cui Zhengzhi.

Ma he began to narrate the case.

"After our investigation, we have now identified a part of the suspects in this case. One of the important people is this person! Park Guochang.

"This is his photo! General Abu should also know his identity. He is one of Cui Zhengzhi's employees. He came to Kannima on a business trip last month and hasn't returned to the oasis since. At the end of the month, he appeared at Mr. Cui Zhengzhi's villa and participated in the kidnapping of Mr. Cui Zhengzhi."

"Because the surveillance cameras in the villa were destroyed, we still don't know the identity of Park Guochang's accomplices for the time being.

However, Mr. Cui's bodyguards provided some very important clues!"

"These kidnappers are definitely not ordinary criminals. They might be!

Speaking up to this point, chief ma he stopped again.

When Yu Tian dealt with those bodyguards, his methods were really too magical. Therefore, the bodyguards' evaluation of Yu Tian could only be described as extremely terrified.

The bodyguards thought that he was a super killer or an agent.

Such a person could not have acted just for a few million dollars. They had plenty of ways to earn a few million dollars, which was much easier than kidnapping.

Therefore, the oasis officials determined that this matter was definitely not as simple as an ordinary kidnapping.

Because whether it was the kidnappers or Cui Zhengzhi, their identities were not ordinary.

This might involve some foreign forces or the intelligence agencies of some countries.

Some officials do not want the investigation to continue. They feel that these foreign powers' struggles have nothing to do with them. They just need to show a little attitude.

But some officials believe that this kind of thing should be investigated anyway. They can not be ignorant of what happened in their own territory.

Therefore, the final conclusion was to investigate first, and then decide the next step based on the results of the investigation.

Thus, the police department took over the case nominally, and set up an investigation team led by Sergeant Mach.

But in fact, the real main force of the investigation was the two agents behind Mach.

The original plan of the oasis side was to send a considerable number of troops to the capital to Kannima.

However, a high-level official suddenly suggested that the local warlord Hippo could send troops to assist in their investigation.

Although the actual control of Kannima was in the hands of General Abu, it was still the territory of the Great Hippo. The Army of the Great Hippo had always been a deterrent force in the local area.

Compared to sending troops from the capital, the Army of the Great Hippo was obviously more familiar with the local situation, and it was more convenient to mobilize support and deal with unexpected situations.

Then, the Hippo Warlord, who listened to orders but quickly agreed to the oasis official's request and imr troops, preparing to rush to Kenema to work together..

Things seemed a little abnormal, and there was always a feeling that something was going to happen.

Sheriff Mach actually did not want to take this job, but unfortunately, he could not refuse, so he was still forced to take the job.

He braced himself and came to kannima. He decided that it was more appropriate to investigate this case as a normal kidnapping case.

He couldn 't care less about other things.

He didn't want to talk about unnecessary topics.

"In short, we have confirmed that the suspect in this case is Park Guochang. He should be hiding near Kannima. He even hid Mr. Choi Zhengzhi near Kannima! I hope that general Abu can help us find them.

Sheriff Mach emphasized his identity as "Police." He hoped that this was just an ordinary kidnapping investigation.

If he found that the matter was beyond the control of the police, he would immediately stop the investigation, report to the oasis, and apply to evacuate Kainima.

This was Sheriff Mach's plan.

The best outcome would be for everyone to be safe and sound.

Unfortunately, someone didn't plan to do so.

General Eddie continued the conversation, he said to general Abu, "Abu, Mr. Cui Zhengzhi is not only your friend, he is also our General Ahmed's friend. His disappearance made our general extremely furious. The general said that even if we have to dig three feet into the ground in Kanni Ma, we must find Mr. Cui Zhengzhi. "

General Abu said very sincerely, "Of course, Eddy, I am also very worried about Mr. Cui Zhengzhi's safety. Regarding the matter of finding Mr. Cui Zhengzhi, I will definitely do my best to assist.

General Eddy nodded his head in satisfaction. "Therefore, I am preparing to conduct a thorough search in Kaina. Every household must be searched carefully once! "

General Eddy said solemnly, "This is to investigate the case. There's nothing we can do about disturbing the people. "Moreover, General Ahmed has also instructed us to not only search the residences of Kanmud, but also your military camp. "Those criminals will most likely disguise their identities and hide in your military camp."

General Abu frowned and said, "Impossible, my camp is full of soldiers, and there are no family members. With so many people staring at each other, how could they still hide the hostages. Moreover, be it Mr. Cui Zhengzhi or that Park Guochang, they are both Orientals. It is too obvious that they are hiding in my camp.

General Eddie said, "That might be the case. Perhaps there are some low-ranking officers in your camp who have been bribed. If they want to hide the hostages, normal soldiers would not be able to find them."

General Abu laughed. "Your imagination is really rich! Alright, since you want to search my camp, I'll arrange for the soldiers to cooperate with you.

General Eddie stood up and said, "In that case, let's start working immediately.

"Don't be in such a hurry, Eddie. We should be preparing for lunch now." "Lunch? We've already eaten dry rations on the way.

"Dry rations? With our status, how can we use simple dry rations to solve the problem of eating?"

General Abu immediately expressed his displeasure. '(It's not easy for you to come to Kantian, so I have to treat you well! we have to hold a banquet!

"A banquet!"

General Eddie was a little tempted, but after pondering for a moment, he still said seriously, "Things like a banquet should be put to night. Let's settle the work first.

"No, I can't let people say that I, Abu, have no manners behind my back. We should have a banquet first. "Anyway, my military camp is here, and the people inside won't run away! those who should have run have already run away. You Don't have to rush at this moment.."

Chapter 983 – : Chapter 982, Banquet

Chapter 983: Chapter 982, banquet

General Abu's banquet had already begun to be prepared. He didn't give General Eddie and the others the chance to object.

Facing the fine wine and fine food, General Eddie and the others finally raised their hands and surrendered.

But if there was anything, they had to eat first.

General Abu was right. There was no need to rush the matter of searching the barracks. If there really were hostages hiding in the barracks, they would have been moved long before they arrived at Khanima.

Moreover, General Eddie's goal was not to find any hostages or kidnappers from the barracks. The purpose of searching the barracks was to find out the truth about general Abu.

After figuring out general Abu 's current situation, the Big Hippo could make a decision on what to do with General Abu.

The group of people began to walk towards the restaurant. General Abu and General Eddy were talking and laughing happily in the front while Yu Tian quietly fell behind the group.

At this time, a detective who was following Sheriff Mach came to Yu Tian's side. He smiled and struck up a conversation with Yu Tian, "Hello, Mr. Yu."

"Oh, Hello, Mr. Egg."

"Uh, my name! the correct pronunciation should be adnan!"

"Okay, Mr. Egg."

"Okay, then! Mr. Yu seems to be a great person too?"

"No, I'm an Easterner. Take a closer look, don't you think I'm much more handsome than those great people?"

"Oh, yes, easterners are indeed more manly than great people! So, what business does Mr. Yu have in Kannima?" "Me, I'm mainly preparing to dig some mines."

"Oh, did Mr. Yu find a mine in Kannima?"

"Yes, yes, I found a bit of iron ore and am preparing to build a mine here. "Oh, Mr. Yu must have spent a lot of money to get this mining right, right?" "Ahem, it's average. It's an investment, so it must cost some money."

"General Abu seems to be planning to use this money to build an armored force?",

"I don't know about that, but! building an armored force is not a small amount of money. General Abu can't afford so much money yet, so he can only buy a few tanks to make up for it."

"This is already pretty good. Those tanks should be worth at least tens of millions, right? Mr. Yu is really generous. The mine hasn't even started yet, and he already invested so much in general Abu!

"Haha, there's nothing I can do!"

Yu Tian chuckled. "Nowadays, who doesn't have a few tanks at home! General Abu has such a need, so I can only reluctantly satisfy him."

Ah Dan seemed to be deep in thought. "It seems th?? quite a price, right?"

Yu Tian casually said, "There's no price. It's just that he has withdrawn the future earnings in advance."

Ah Dan also pretended to be indifferent and said, "Mr. Yu, you don't seem to know much about the F * * King Horse Country?"

Yu Tian said, "It's just so-so. This is my first time doing business in F * * King Horse Country.

Ah Dan suddenly understood and said, "No wonder Mr. Yu is so generous! actually, there are very few people who make long-term investments in F * * King horse country. Even if there are people who want to invest, they would directly discuss the cooperation plan with those high-level officials! for example, in this place, kanmud, it's more appropriate to discuss investment matters with General Ahmed!"

Yu Tian was instantly amused.

This Ah Dan! seemed to be someone from the Big Hippo? Wasn't he supposed to be a detective sent by the oasis? The Big Hippo's hand was actually stretched so far?

Yu Tian pretended to be very curious and said, "Is there a difference in who we talk to about cooperation? It seems that General Abu is still in charge of the area around Kanima, right?"

Ah Dan said, "Of course there is a difference. General Abu is just a subordinate of General Ahmed. Perhaps one day! he will leave his post or be transferred to another region.

Leaving his post was a bit vague, but those who had some understanding of the situation understood what Ah Dan meant.

The warlords of the situation would never leave their posts. They would only be eliminated.

Or they would flee that would be called being transferred to another region.

So Ah Dan was hinting to Yu Tian that general Abu would be eliminated by the big hippo sooner or later. If Yu Tian wanted to do business well in kanmud, he should invest in the Big Hippo, he should discuss the issue of mining with the Big Hippo.

It seemed that Ah Dan was trying to persuade the Big Hippo.

However, this matter could not be decided for the time being. Ah Dan might just be reminding him out of goodwill.

Yu Tian could only say cheerfully, "It seems that I should meet General Ahmed when I have the chance.

Ah Dan laughed and did not say too much.

He still could not figure out Yu Tian's background. He could not even be sure of Yu Tian's identity as a businessman. Naturally, he could not talk too much and could only probe for a while.

Although Yu Tian was a little curious about Ah Dan's identity, he did not want to get to the bottom of it.

Whether Ah Dan was a detective from Oasis or a spy from Hippo, it did not affect Yu Tian.

Anyway, he would beat up whoever came to cause trouble. No matter who they were, they wouldn't give him face.

The two casually chatted for a while and then walked into the dining room with the others.

The dining room was also very simple, but it was still relatively clean.

The long table was covered with white cloth, and then there were tableware and sumptuous food. It was a decent banquet.

The banquet naturally didn't lack good wine. When General Eddie saw the wine bottles on the table, he immediately smiled bitterly. "Abu, are you trying to make me drunk for three days and three nights?"

General Abu Laughed. "Eddie, bring out the courage you had when you were a self-employed man. Can these few wine bottles scare us?"

General Eddie used to be a little pirate. Although he was not very strong, his methods were very brutal and he was somewhat famous in the circle. Later, the Biz HiDDO caught him and he began to serve the Biz HiDDO obediently.

Under the Big Hippo, he was still doing his old job, making a living on the sea.

The Big Hippo was not harsh on him. Although it would take a part of his earnings, it also helped him solve after-sales problems, such as negotiating for ransom.

In addition, with the big hippo as his backer and providing sufficient logistical support, his no-cost business was also a little smoother.

Later, the business at sea gradually became difficult. General Eddie then returned to land and began to do some menial work for the big hippo.

Therefore, the warlords and pirates were also a little confused. No one had a proper position, so they could only call each other generals.

The Big Hippo was a general, and his subordinate Eddie was also a general. Abu, the small warlord, was also a general. If a small pirate like Faraday became successful in the future, he could also be a general.

Although in reality, no one had the title of general, as a local tyrant, only the title of general sounded more awe-inspiring..

Chapter 984 – Chapter 983, Sloppy Investigation

Translator: 5496903

In fact, there were administrative bodies in the local areas. However, under the chaotic situation where warlords were everywhere, the administrative bodies were also useless.

These generals who did not have a proper name were the actual people in power. They were awe-inspiring in their respective territories.

Other than comparing military strength, the generals also liked to compete with each other in drinking capacity. Especially when their strength was about the same, the more alcohol tolerance they had, the more powerful and heroic they appeared to be.

After all, they were all people who came from the pirate family. They were very different from those serious generals, just like civil officials and military officials.

There were many people in Damadan who did not drink alcohol, but the pirates mostly had good alcohol tolerance and liked to spend money on all kinds of fine wine.

General Eddie had already had a huge amount when he was a pirate. Now that General Abu was challenging him at the wine table, he obviously couldn't show weakness.

"Okay, there's no problem with drinking. I'll sit down and have a good drink with you today."

Eddie sat down at the wine table. "I won't care about the work for the time being. Let my adjutant do it! Get Someone to accompany my adjutant to carry out a preliminary investigation.

After all, they were in the enemy camp, so Eddie was more or less on guard. It was impossible for him and his adjutant to pass out drunk on the wine table.

If he was the only one who got drunk, the army under him would not be in a mess without a leader. If anything unexpected happened, everyone still had a backbone, and they could immediately take appropriate measures.

As long as nothing happened to the army, General Eddie believed that nothing would happen to him.

General Abu naturally understood his little thoughts. Everyone came here with guns and knives, so they had to be careful in everything they did.

Hence, general Abu laughed and did not hesitate. He waved his hand and said,

"Alright, let the adjutants do their work. "

Soon, General Ai Di's adjutant returned to his own team. He brought his 100 soldiers and started the so-called investigation in general Abu 's camp.

This kind of investigation, of course, had nothing to do with searching for criminals and hostages. They just wanted to see the number of troops in the camp and their weapons and equipment.

Yu Tian was well prepared for this. Last night, he dragged out all the veterans and armored soldiers in the camp.

However, such a simple operation could not completely cover up the truth of the matter, because the barracks that had been occupied by the soldiers would leave some traces.

Therefore, Yu Tian still needed to redistribute the dormitories of the new recruits, allowing half of them to live in the barracks of the veterans, disturbing Eddie's judgment.

The temporary dormitories were naturally somewhat chaotic. Some of the dormitories had more people, and some of the dormitories had fewer people. Even the formation of the army was somewhat chaotic.

However, this kind of chaos also happened to make Eddie's soldiers somewhat confused. Moreover, many of the new recruits did not stay in the barracks. After the morning training, they went home.

As a result, it was a little troublesome to count how many soldiers there were in the barracks.

After tormenting himself for the whole afternoon, General Eddie's adjutant did not gain anything in the barracks.

He felt that there must be some secrets hidden in the barracks, and general Abu's army must be more than that.

However, he had no evidence, and his intuition could not be used as evidence to report to the Big Hippo.

He felt that there was no point in continuing to torment himself in the military camp, so he simply brought the soldiers into the city of Kenema and began to conduct door-to-door investigations.

At this time, General Abu and general Eddie were already drunk and unconscious, and each went back to their rooms to sleep.

Sheriff Mach, Ah Dan, and a few other detectives had already left the banquet in advance and joined the investigation of Kenema.

Yu Tian did not stop them, because many of the residents of Kandama were military relatives, and they were all subordinates of General Abu. Their homes would definitely not allow outsiders to freely search.

This included the houses where the mercenaries were hiding, which were also the homes of the soldiers. They would not let the investigation team enter at all.

The investigation team's search work was bound to be difficult unless they intended to force a search.

However, that would inevitably lead to conflict, and the result would not be of any benefit to them.

General Abu's army had always accompanied the investigation team. It was called assistance, but in fact, it was also a form of surveillance.

From time to time, the surveillance personnel would send two pieces of news to Yu Tian, reporting on the progress of their search and the situation that had happened.

For example, the family of a certain soldier had refused the investigation team's search and had confidently revealed his identity as a military family member.

Then, the soldiers who accompanied the investigation team to search could also testify that the family was his colleague and that there was no need to search.

Although the excuse was not good, they refused to let the investigation team into the House no matter what. With the help of the soldiers beside them, the investigation team did not force them.

"What do you think they can find out?"

Yu Tian sat in the office and chatted with General Caro.

General Caro shook his head and said, "It's hard to say, but paper can't hide the truth. It's hard to hide how many troops general Abu has.

"Yeah! maybe there are spies of the Big Hippo in the city of Kannima. It's not a secret how many new soldiers general Abu has recruited. "

"There should be spies, but it doesn't mean much for the time being. No one will know that we have an additional real armored force last night. " "Then, what will they do next?"

"I don't know! If I were the hippo, I would definitely destroy General Abu before he has fully developed. "Even if general Abu has one or two thousand new recruits, his strength wouldn't increase much. "Usually, the new soldiers would collapse at the touch.

"So, even if the Big Hippo doesn't know how many people Abu has, he would still launch an attack on Kannima?"

"I think so. I think the biggest concern of the big hippo is the few tanks that we put in the military camp to train. "But the big hippo is much stronger than general Abu. The few tanks are not enough to scare him off.

"What's Your Plan?"

"I think that night is a suitable time to work. When they return to the barracks to rest! of course, they might choose to attack us at night. The Great Hippo's army is already on the way!"

"Then, we should rest too. Also, inform everyone to sleep for a few hours and wait for work to start at night. " "I've already informed them."

General Caro was methodical.

At dusk, General Eddie's troops finally returned to the barracks.

At this time, General Abu was still sleeping soundly in his room. He was really drunk.

Of course, General Eddie was not drunk. His alcohol tolerance was far from what general Abu could challenge.

Eddie's adjutant immediately heaved a sigh of relief. "General, you're awake!

General Eddie nodded slightly. "Tell me about the situation. Did your investigation yield any results?"

The adjutant coughed twice, he said seriously, "According to the information we received before, General Abu has at least three to four thousand soldiers. But according to the results of our observation in the barracks today, there are only about one to two thousand people here!

"Are there no accurate figures? How many people are there in the barracks?"

"Go home to rest?"

"Yes, those soldiers said that they only did some training in the morning when the Sun wasn't too strong, and they had a break in the afternoon. Then, they would occasionally have training at night, but it might not be!"

"Hehehe! "

General Eddie laughed, "Abu! this is similar to when he was a pirate. "

The adjutant continued, "I went to Kanimar City to ask our intelligence officer. He said that General Abu's army didn't have much training in the past. They only bought a few tanks recently and recruited some new soldiers. That's why they started training more frequently." "What about their tanks?"

"They've been staying in the barracks! the intelligence officer said that tank training was more frequent earlier, but we didn't see their tanks come out today. "

"Oh! "

General Eddie pondered for a moment and smiled again. "Is Abu trying to keep a low profile in front of us! What about the number of tanks?"

"The number has been verified, and it's the same as the previous intelligence. A total of six new tanks, three heavy and three medium -sized! "

"What about the others? Abu couldn't have only bought a few tanks,

"I didn't find anything else, but, the rifles these soldiers used seemed to be brand new."

"Brand New Rifles? Looks like it's not from Cui Zhengzhi's hands, that profiteer's hands are full of second-hand rags!

Eddie was suddenly stunned. "Could it be that the eastern merchant got him the weapons? Is that why they wanted to kill Cui Zhengzhi, and then swallow up Cui Zhengzhi's arms business? Is Park Guochang their accomplice? Conspiring with outsiders to plot against their own boss? It seems like it's really possible!"

It seemed like he finally understood these questions, eddie slapped his thigh. "No Wonder Abu was able to get a few heavy tanks. It turns out that he colluded with this foreign businessman. This kid! he's practically a traitor to US MOTHERF * cker s!"

The adjutant quickly reminded him, "Should we report the situation to General Ahmed Now?"

Eddie waved his hand. "There's no rush. I need to analyze where Abu hid his soldiers."

The adjutant hesitated for a moment. "I think that his soldiers might be hiding in the city. "When we searched the city today, many residents refused to let us in. "These residents might have hidden many soldiers in their homes!"

"How many of them are there?"

"It's impossible to calculate. Our search hasn't been completed. There are at least a few hundred of them. If we calculate it in proportion!

there are probably close to a thousand of them in the city."

"Close to a thousand! we should have taken care of Abu a long time ago. General Ahmed was too lax!"

Eddie sighed.

Although Khanima was only a small, barren city, it had a population of tens of thousands of households.

Each household had at least two or three young men, or perhaps older teenagers. These motherf * cker people could pick up Aya at any time and blend into the army.

With this calculation, it was close to 10,000 soldiers.

Looking at the current situation, General Abu had deceived at least a quarter of the young people in the city and recruited them into his army.

This was simply a pain in the ass for general Eddie. He felt as if his own cabbage had been eaten by the wild boars of other families.

Of course, general Abu had been in Kannima for so long, so it was definitely a simple matter to recruit some soldiers.

Even if he couldn't recruit soldiers in kannima, there were many small villages nearby, such as the pirate village, which could also provide soldiers.

Ahmed had no way to restrict the small warlords from recruiting soldiers.

In fact, it wasn't the soldiers that limited the strength of the small warlords.

All the warlords only had one problem, and that was lack of money.

As long as they could afford to feed and provide attractive salaries, there would never be a lack of soldiers in a place like this.

What General Eddie was frustrated about now was not how many soldiers general Abu had recruited, but the young people that general Abu had cheated out of the city of Kannima. The proportion of the population of Kannima was too high.

He felt that it would be very difficult for the big hippo to control the city of Kannima in the future.

Unless general Abu surrendered directly when the hippo soldiers arrived, who knew how many local soldiers of Kannima would die if there was an exchange of fire.

In this way, the city of Kannima would become a sworn enemy of the Big Hippo.

It did not matter if they became enemies, because there was a way to resolve hatred.

But the Big Hippo didn't have the money to resolve the hatred. He couldn't spend it on the residents of Kenema.

He only wanted to collect taxes from here and plunder general Abu's property.

If that was the case, the Big Hippo would never be able to gain control of Kenema.

In fact, that was the case before. The Big Hippo had appointed officials to Kenema, including administrators like the mayor, as well as soldiers in police uniforms, to maintain law and order.

Of course, there were also the most important tax officers, who collected money for the great hippopotamus.

But these appointed officials did not live for more than two months before they were suddenly killed by an unknown pirate force.

The Kenema people had their own set of order. They were like a super-large village, able to live under anarchy.

It was not difficult to take over the city, as long as there were a few hundred soldiers stationed here.

However, the hippo would not do such a loss-making business. The money he earned from Kannima was not enough to pay the soldiers stationed there.

Therefore, Kannima fell into the hands of Abu, the little pirate.

Pirates relied on plundering for a living, but they also relied on the city for supplies and trade.

As long as they did not plunder the merchants in the city, the city would not reject them.

General Abu quietly grew up in Kannima. He gradually began to take over the management of the city.. He presided over justice among the residents, maintained order, and gained fame

Chapter 986 – : Chapter 985, Weapon Of Mass Destruction

After so many years, Kanima had become General Abu's headquarters.

This model was similar to the feeling of colonizing the new world.

The residents of Kanima had now accepted general Abu's management. From a human and psychological point of view, it would be even harder for another manager to gain the approval of the residents.

General Eddie felt that even if he took down the city of Kenema, it would basically be meaningless.

Because general Abu would take crazy revenge here, killing all the officials who wanted to manage the city.

Even if general Abu died, his remaining troops would not give up on the city.

The Big Hippo just wanted to collect a small amount of tax here. It was more suitable to find an agent.

Eddie reported the information and analysis to the Big Hippo. The Big Hippo's reply was: "Don't care about these details. Follow the original plan."

The so-called original plan was that Eddie needed to carry out a decapitation operation at midnight.

The target was, of course, General Abu.

In fact, the success rate of this decapitation operation was not high, because their unit was not very good at special tactics.

In addition, they had come to Kannima with great fanfare. They had always been operating under the eyes of general Abu, so the decapitation operation was not sudden at all.

However, considering the combat strength of the Pirates under General Abu and the barracks that basically had no defense, Eddie felt that he still had a very good chance of success.

There were soldiers under his command who had been keeping an eye on general Abu's office building. He could be sure that general Abu had never left this one-story office building.

There were not many soldiers in the barracks because many of them had gone back to sleep. Even in the evening, more soldiers left in groups.

There were at most a few hundred soldiers left in the barracks.

The soldiers under General Eddie were all veterans. They were experienced and had a valiant style.

He felt that even if he could not kill General Abu, he could at least become a successful troublemaker and destroy General Abu's command of the army.

This goal had already been achieved halfway. By noon, general Abu had already been drunk by him.

Normally, general Abu would not be able to wake up tonight.

General Eddie began to wait for midnight with great expectations. When that time came, it would be the time for him and the Big Hippo to launch an attack together.

In the office building, General Abu was still sleeping soundly.

No one expected him to be able to command the battle at night. All the officers and communications personnel could only look at Yu Tian and General Caro, waiting for their orders.

General Caro had already taken over the command of all the troops, including the simple command system. He had also personally organized it during this period of time.

Although the command system was simple, it had at least special military communications equipment, electronic sand tables, and maps. It was much more advanced than the way General Abu used to use his cell phone and satellite phone to communicate and command.

In addition, General Caro also had a few super-terrifying weapons, which were unmanned reconnaissance aircraft from the eastern country.

This thing was actually just a toy for aerial photography in the eastern country. However, it had become a military equipment that many people did not expect to be able to take down a place like this.

The surroundings of Kannima were basically plains, and most of it was the Gobi Wilderness.

There were mountains to the north, the vegetation was beginning to flourish, and there was also a water source.

However, the Army of the Great Hippo would definitely not come from the mountains, because that place was not suitable for a large-scale march.

They could only take a detour to the east and come along the coastline.

The drone only needed to go around the coastline two times, and it would be easy to find the army of the Great Hippo.

The large-scale army had no way to hide on the plains. They could only use camouflage to disguise themselves during the day, and then sneak closer to Kannima during the night.

However, at the same time, the armored troops that Yu Tian had prepared also slowly entered their predetermined positions during the night and quietly laid in ambush.

As the night fell, the Army of the Great Hippo quickly appeared on the Great Plains, conveniently entering the sight of the drones.

The size of this army was not small. There were all kinds of military trucks, plus armored vehicles and tanks. There were hundreds of them.

Not to mention tanks and armored vehicles, just those trucks alone could be worth a lot of money.

If these trucks were moved to the eastern country, they could even start a express delivery company.

The drone quietly circled around the convoy, and detailed information was fed to the computer in front of General Caro.

General Caro stared at the computer screen like an otaku and began to count the number of enemies.

This unlucky job should have been done by a professional intelligence officer. However, general Abu did not have such a talent under him, and the tiger team did not have enough manpower, so General Caro could only go up personally.

The video on the computer was observed through the night vision device. This was a test of general Abu's vision.

"Tanks, 24."

"Armored vehicles! only 10.

"Light assault vehicles! Hoho, there are actually 70 to 80. This should be all the property of the Big Hippo, right? It seems that the big hippo wants to have a surprise attack."

General Caro laughed lightly.

Yu Tian frowned. "What is that Light Assault Vehicle?"

General Caro explained, "It's the military vehicle that you usually talk about. It has an open body, no roof and windshield, and a heavy machine gun! This is a very cheap weapon."

Yu Tian suddenly understood, "Are these military vehicles the main force of the Big Hippo?"

General Caro shrugged, "It seems so. If we are unprepared and are rushed into the barracks by these light assault vehicles, then what awaits us is a massacre. "

Yu Tian sighed, "I have to remind you! We are now in the barracks."

General Caro smiled, "I know, you can rest assured that I am ready. I have already arranged for the three mercenary groups that you spent a lot of money to hire to the barracks." "Oh? When did you transfer them over?"

"After dark, of course. "

"The army of the Big Hippo has been watching the gate of the barracks.

Are you sure you didn't let them discover the movement of the Army?"

General Caro gave a strange smile. "Of course I'm sure. I didn't let the mercenary group go through the main gate."

"Uh, could it be that you!"

"That's right. There's no law that says we have to go through the main gate. So I tore a gap in the wall behind the camp! Don't worry, that

Chapter 987 – : Chapter 986, Ambition

Yu Tian rolled his eyes. This joke of General Caro's was really not interesting.

The destruction brought about by the war was not limited to just a wall. The entire military camp might be torn to shreds.

However, this little loss did not matter. The dividends of war were usually huge. As long as the war was won, the losses would be recovered no matter how much was lost.

Although Yu Tian had never seen general Caro command a large-scale battle, he still felt at ease when he saw his methodical appearance and calm demeanor.

He leaned back on his office chair. "Alright, the entire battle is in your hands anyway. It doesn't matter what you break. As long as we can win! I'll wait for the result here in peace.

"You can't stay here.

General Caro said seriously, "I can't stay here either, including our entire command center. The military camp was a place where the enemy focused their attacks. It was too dangerous here. We Can't put the command center under the enemy's nose, and we can't let the enemy know the location of Our Command Center.

Yu Tian blinked his eyes. "Didn't you say that! you've already arranged everything in the military camp? The three mercenary groups have all been placed in the military camp?"

General Caro said, "That's right, the arrangements have been made in the military camp. But this is their battlefield, not ours. We're the command center, how can we risk our lives like ordinary soldiers?"

"Then you mean to move?"

"That's right, I have already prepared the place, we can leave now.

General Caro started to pack his things, and the others in the office immediately started to get busy.

Yu Tian rubbed his chin. "There seems to be soldiers from the Big Hippo outside the office building, right?"

General Caro said without turning his head, "Let them watch, we are not going through the main door. "

Yu Tian was speechless. "Did you dig a hole in the office building?"

General Caro smiled and said, "Is there a need to dig a hole in the office building? Boss, did you forget that every office has Windows?"

"UH! "

Yu Tian patted his head and felt that he was indeed a little confused.

There were not many things in the office that needed to be packed. There were only a few computers and some communication equipment.

The soldiers quickly packed up the equipment and began to retreat from the office with boxes.

The team was relatively large. In addition to the communication personnel in the command center, there were also some guards and soldiers, as well as a small number of officers.

General Abu was carried on a stretcher by two soldiers and also mixed in with the team.

Although general Abu could not play much role in the war, he was, after all, the symbol of this army and had the function of uniting the hearts of the troops.

Therefore, General Caro could only ask people to carry him and evacuate, so that he wouldn't die in the chaotic battle before he could finish his sleep.

They walked along the corridor to the bathroom at the back. The window sill had already been made up with a simple step by a stool. The group of people quickly walked up the step and climbed out of the window.

It was pitch black outside the office building, and the figures were indistinct.

In the distance were rows of dormitories, but these dormitories were completely empty.

Those new recruits had basically been evacuated from the military camp by General Caro and moved into the city of Kannima.

General Caro felt that these new recruits did not play much of a role in the battle. It was too wasteful to stay here and die. It was better to let them go home and sleep first. When the time was right, they would come out to pick up scraps.

By the time everyone had left the office building, the guards leading the way had already walked far away.

These guards had used a few flashlights, but the light from the flashlights was very weak. They were basically useless for lighting. Their role was like a moving lighthouse, giving directions to the entire team.

After passing through a few rows of dorms, they arrived at the wall that had opened up a gap.

Along the way, they did not see any other soldiers. There were only a few dozen guards and soldiers guarding along the way.

After passing through the wall, they arrived at a proper wilderness. A breeze blew from the side, bringing with it waves of stench.

The military camp was built in a hurry, so there were no large sewers like the ones used to build cities. There were only simple drainage ditches.

The drainage ditches led to the outside of the military camp, and then there was a huge septic tank.

The people of Damadi also knew how to use these farm fertilizers, but the method of using them was relatively backward.

Yu Tian only knew a little about them. He only knew that the use of this fertilizer in the country still needed to go through a process of composting, which was similar to fermentation.

He didn't know how the people of Damadi used it. Anyway, these fertilizers were freely taken.

Behind the military camp was the north. In the distance, there were mountains, water, plants, and crops.

The direction of the army was Kandama, and General Karo was going to hide in Kandama City with his headquarters.

At the gap, there seemed to be blurry figures moving.

He asked general caro, "Who else is there at the gap? What are they doing?"

General Caro said, "Those are the mercenaries. I think! they should be planting landmines. "

Yu Tian sighed, "Alright, when we return after the war, remember to remind me. We have to get them to clean up the landmines before we go back. "

General Caro shrugged. "Boss, maybe after the war, we won't have to live in the military camp anymore. I think General Abu's villa is quite comfortable. What do you think?"

Yu Tian smiled. "You also want to build a villa in Kannima?"

General Caro said, "I think this thing can be used because we still need to stay in the F
* Ck for a long time.

Yu Tian said, "There's no need to rush about the villa. Perhaps we won't stay in Kanima in the future. This city is still a little poor."

General Caro clapped his hands. "That's right. The territory of the Big Hippo is very good. His city! seems to be called Maniza. There are hundreds of thousands of people there. It's very prosperous, and it's more than ten times bigger than Kanima.

Yu Tian chuckled. "It's alright. Maniza is indeed more prosperous than Kannima. But in our eastern country, it's only a slightly bigger county. "

"Boss, you can't compare the eastern country with this world-class poor country. Their capital only has one to two million people! that Maniza is already pretty good.

"Yes, it is indeed good. If you like it there, I will get you two villas. You can settle down in F * Ck in the future! Yes, and also bring your family over! "

When he talked about General Caro's family, he suddenly fell silent..

The team walked on foot. There were guards leading the way in front of them. The speed of their advance was neither fast nor slow.

Due to the lack of electricity supply, the residents of Kannima basically did not have the habit of nightlife. When it was dark, every family could only go to bed.

In addition to the unusual activities of the army today, the residents of Kannima would not go out at night.

However, there were still soldiers on night patrol in the city, and there were many times more soldiers on night patrol tonight than in the past.

The combat strength of the new recruits might not be very good, but after dividing up the areas for them, it was still not a problem for them to patrol and stand guard on the fixed streets.

Along the way, they could see the new recruits hiding in the city, and their sense of security suddenly increased a lot.

After walking for a while.., general Caro suddenly said, "Boss, if we can take down monizardi, I will consider bringing my family over. "If you feel that there is a need and you plan to set up a base in F * ck, I will settle down in F * Ck for a period of time until I retire

"You should be able to see that I do plan to control a piece of land in F * Ck. "So you may work in F * Ck land for a long time, but whether your family wants to move here is up to you. I'm just suggesting."

Yu Tian patted General Caro's shoulder. "I'll spend a lot of money in F * Ck land. You'll be as free as a local emperor here!"

"What about General Abu?"

"General Abu is our partner and our spokesperson in F * CK Land. As long as he is smart enough, we can continue to work together. "

In Yu Tian's eyes, general Abu could only be a puppet in the future.

Since he was going to spend so much money in F * Ck land, he definitely could not lose control of this place.

This wasn't a big problem. General Abu didn't oppose his power.

For a poor and weak country like this, the power of capital was greater than the power of state power.

The group walked through the streets of Kannima for a while and soon arrived at their destination.

This was an ordinary residential building, a two-story building, and a rooftop. It was considered a high-rise building in the city of Kannima.

The office that General Karo chose was on the rooftop. The view was very good here, but it was only meaningful at night with night vision goggles.

The soldiers hurriedly installed the equipment, and the next thing was a long wait.

Yu Tianxian was bored, so he went to look at General Karo's computer for a while.

On the computer was an electronic sand table and the real-time image from the drone.

From the sand table, it could be seen that the great hippo army was still slowly approaching Kandama. They were only a few tens of kilometers away from Kandama.

The number of drones that General Karo had prepared was very sufficient.

Moreover, the reconnaissance team had brought enough batteries, so the drones could always keep track and monitor the entire time, the Great Hippo Army had always been under the eyes of General Karo.

This was simply a downgrading attack, just like using high-tech special forces to deal with a group of hooligans with cold weapons.

In fact, many mercenary groups had the ability to subvert the regime of a small country. The combat strength of the armies of those small countries was really terrible.

From the images obtained by the drone, the Army of the Great Hippo was actually not bad. At the very least, it knew how to send out reconnaissance troops.

The so-called reconnaissance troops were just a few military vehicles that walked about ten kilometers away from the main force.

They would occasionally take a half-circle around the surroundings to complete their reconnaissance work.

From the electronic sand table, it could be seen that general caro had arranged the armored troops outside of the enemy's scouting range. He did not have to worry about being discovered by the enemy's scouts.

"But! you've laid an ambush for the armored troops so far away. Is this ambush meaningful?"

"Of course, this is an armored troop, not an infantry. "Even our infantry troops have sufficient means of transportation and belong to the mechanized troops! of course, our advantage in this aspect is mainly because of your powerful cash ability, boss!"

General Kalo flattered him and looked at the time.

"If I'm not wrong, their attack time should be set at 12 O'clock. We still have time to take a nap.

"Then let's sleep."

Although the Great War was about to begin, Yu Tian and General Kalo were not nervous at all.

Time passed slowly. Yu Tian did not know how long he had waited.

Finally, a soldier beside him reminded general karo, "General, the enemy's convoy has stopped.

General Karo slowly lifted his chair and moved in front of the computer.

The information on the electronic sand table had already been updated by the investigators. Currently, the Army of the Great Hippo was less than ten kilometers away from Kandama.

If this was a normal battlefield, this distance would already be considered close combat.

But now, if it wasn't for the fact that General Karo had a few unmanned reconnaissance aircraft, Kannima would have no idea about these enemies who were about to launch an attack.

"They're starting to arrange their troops! "

The marching formation and the attacking formation were obviously different. Especially when different types of soldiers needed to cooperate, the arrangement of troops was more troublesome.

The attacking area was not too big. There were so many tanks and armored vehicles, as well as all kinds of military vehicles. All of them were squeezed into a not-so-wide battlefield.

If they did not line up properly, not only would they not be able to unleash their best firepower and offense, they might even kill their own people.

"The army of the Great Hippo is only so-so."

General Caro sighed again.

From the surveillance footage from the drone, the army of the great hippopotamus was clearly in a bit of a mess.

The light assault vehicle was placed at the front of the team, and behind it was a mixed formation of tanks and armored vehicles.

Some soldiers were driven to climb onto the tanks, but some of them sneaked back to the trucks behind.

"If our drones can carry two missiles, I can behead the Big Hippo Now."

General Caro pointed at the computer screen. "The big hippo must be among these officers. This big-ass armored vehicle must be his command vehicle.

Yu Tian said helplessly, "Next time, I will consider bringing a few attack drones over. However, this kind of thing can only be used secretly to avoid too much impact. "

General Caro shrugged. "It doesn't matter. It doesn't matter even if we don't have missiles. We don't need missiles to deal with such an army. We can defeat them with a single charge. "

After saying that, General Caro looked at his watch again.

Chapter 989 – Chapter 988, Surprise Attack

It looked like they were indeed planning to attack at 12 O'clock.

Their formation was almost done, and they were just waiting to suddenly pounce on Kanima.

Just like General Abu's sneak attack on the pirate village earlier, the convoy charged into the village, beating the pirates until they cried for their mothers and fathers, and could only flee in all directions.

The situation in the barracks would not be any better than the pirate village. If they were not prepared, they would also face the fate of being hunted down.

However, General Caro definitely would not give the enemy this chance. He picked up the communicator and began to give the order, "Armored troops, we can move out. "

The position of the armored troops was very strange. They were right behind the side of the Great Hippo Army, and the unlucky scouts had yet to discover them.

Within a distance of more than ten kilometers, they could collide with the enemy in less than ten minutes.

The sound of engines began to roar. The armored unit, which had been waiting impatiently for a long time, finally began to move.

The drone also sent back images of their own unit's actions. Opening up the camouflage net, the armored unit quickly began to trot.

The formation was all ready-made. They were so bored that they had long adjusted the formation to the standard.

Although the newly formed armored unit could not play any complicated tactics, it was still quite easy to charge with the accelerator.

The instructors of the Tiger squad were in charge of commanding the armored unit on the spot. After the entire unit moved, there were no problems for the time being. The formation was still in good shape.

"Little brats, do your best. This is your first time leading an army to war. Don't embarrass me.

General Caro encouraged the morale through the communicator. Then, someone replied, "Don't worry, general. We have more than 100 tanks and armored vehicles. It's no fun to fight them! "

That's right. There were more than 100 tanks and armored vehicles. Half of them were tanks. This was Yu Tian's greatest confidence.

Although they were all first-generation tanks, this force was enough to flatten the entire F * cking land if those helicopter gunships were not taken into account.

The sides of the tanks and armored vehicles were military vehicles, so there were even more of these cheap goods.

General Abu already had a lot of military vehicles, and with Yu Tian's addition of a batch, he now had more than a hundred of them.

More than a hundred military vehicles, carrying several hundred veterans, gradually separated from the group. They formed the shape of a pair of scissors with the tanks and armored vehicles and clamped toward the rear of the great hippopotamus army.

The movement of the armored troops was too loud. They could hear the muffled noise of the convoy from a few kilometers away.

"What's the situation?"

The Great Hippo had already jumped out of its command vehicle. It held the communicator in its hand and shouted, "Where are the scouts? What's the situation at the back?"

The scouts were speechless. They had already gotten off work, so what else could they know.

However, they were still soldiers, so they did things quickly. Soon, two military vehicles left the team and quickly drove to the rear of the army.

Big Hippopotamus felt that something was not right. He did not need the scouts to report back. He could already predict what was going to happen.

So he shouted into the communicator, "TURN AROUND NOW! There are enemies behind us. Is it still his armored troops? Tanks and armored vehicles, go to the back."

According to the great hippopotamus 'current formation, he had to make all the tanks and armored vehicles turn around and turn the team 45 degrees to barely meet the enemy head-on.

In addition, the back of his team was full of trucks, loaded with ammunition and supplies.

This team was definitely not capable of fighting. Once the enemy came up, they would only be beaten up.

Therefore, these trucks had to make way and hide on the other side of the team.

However, it was not so easy to change the formation.

Even if the well-trained army hurried to complete the turn and change the formation, the arrangement and coordination of all kinds of firepower would be messed up.

At that time, they would not care about the formation. The big guys could only stand shoulder to shoulder.

The Army of the Big Hippo was even worse. It would take them more than ten minutes to adjust the formation. This hasty order would only make them more confused.

The trucks at the back of the team had successfully completed the traffic jam. The fast ones at the back had already run to the front, while the slow ones at the front had simply blocked the road.

Before the battlefield was cleared, more than a hundred light assault vehicles had already circled to the back of their team.

A few flares were fired out of nowhere, and the battlefield was instantly lit up.

Both sides saw the formation of the other side and complimented each other, "Awesome, so many vehicles! 'M.

Then, the battle began.

To be more precise, the transport trucks on the side of the Great Hippo started to take hits.

General Abu's assault convoy had no intention of charging into the battlefield, and it was even more impossible for them to face the tanks and armored vehicles head-on.

They followed behind the transport convoy and began to attack the transport trucks. Moreover, they walked around the battlefield, avoiding the tanks and armored vehicles from afar.

The hippo side did not have the strength to retaliate. There was still a transport convoy between them and the assault team. They could only rely on some infantrymen to mix in with the transport convoy to counterattack.

However, there were more than a hundred military vehicles and more than a hundred machine guns. Their firepower was also unprecedentedly fierce. As long as there was a point of fire to counterattack, they would be targeted by a few machine guns at the same time and sent a rain of bullets.

What was worse was that in less than a minute, some of the ammunition in the truck exploded.

Once the terrible explosion happened, it could not be stopped at all. Even the Big Hippo was stunned by the explosion.

"Where the hell did this army come from? Does Abu have so many military vehicles?"

Soon, the scouts brought him even worse news.

"The enemy has armored troops, more than 100 tanks! At least 100 of them! "

" Impossible! "

The Great Hippo would rather believe that he was a virgin than believe that there was an armored troop of more than 100 tanks near Kannima. It was even more unwilling to believe that this armored troop was general Abu's troops.

However, the flare helped him to see the reality clearly. There were indeed dense armored troops rushing over from the other side.

F * Ck! It's time to run!

The hippo immediately made the best decision. Although it had been many years since he had run away in such a sorry state, he would definitely not forget this kind of instinctive technique.

"The tank troops will cover the rear, the infantrymen will coordinate with the tanks to set up a defense!. assault convoy, follow me to attack Kanimar!"

Since the battle was already in such a state, the great hippopotamus decided to throw caution to the wind and burn the flames of war into KHANNEMA.

No matter who this armored force belonged to, it must have some connection with general Abu.

The great hippopotamus had to run for his life now, and he could only run in the direction of Khannema.

He didn't know if there would be more ambushes in the direction of Khannema, just like the armored forces that were lying in ambush here.

Therefore, he simply charged into Kenema City.

He did not believe that the other party would still be able to ambush the armored troops in the city.

As long as he cut through the city, there would definitely be no obstruction behind him.

The order to charge was easier to carry out, because the light assault convoy in front was originally prepared to charge.

Now that the Big Hippo gave the order, the vehicles in front immediately moved.

The Big Hippo jumped onto his armored vehicle and immediately had the armored vehicle fleet follow the charging team.

The tanks could only stay behind to cover the rear, because this thing's escape speed was too slow.

Moreover, these old-fashioned tanks could not run too fast. Once they stepped on the accelerator, they might suddenly die.

At that time, no matter how many tanks there were, they would only be an iron-shelled turtle and would only be beaten up.

As for the infantrymen who were originally prepared to attack together with the tanks, they could only stay behind to cover the rear. This was because they had all come by truck. The assault convoy could not bring them along at all.

Big Hippopotamus snapped his fingers in the armored vehicle and realized that he had lost three to four thousand soldiers in this trip alone. At most, there would only be a thousand people who could return alive.

Fortunately, his elite infantrymen were all in the commando unit. The most elite guard companies were all installed in the armored personnel carriers.

As long as the elite troops could be preserved, those ordinary soldiers could be recruited in large numbers at any time.

As the Commando fleet began to charge, big hippopotamus felt a little comforted in his heart.

However, what annoyed him was that the other party's commando fleet also stuck to their side and behind them. As they ran side by side, they used all their strength to hug fire at their side.

There was no other way. The Big Hippo could only let his subordinates shoot at each other.

They were all light infantry vehicles and heavy machine guns. Who would be afraid of them.

They charged and shot at each other along the way. General Abu's fleet did not chase too closely, and neither side obtained too many results.

However, after running for more than ten kilometers, the soldiers all felt a little exhausted.

The Hippo's vehicle was full of horsepower. Although it was an armored vehicle, its speed was not much slower than those light war chariots. It quickly ran to the front of the team.

After opening the roof of the skylight, the hippo also observed the situation in the direction of Kanima City.

There was also an exchange of fire in the front.

According to the information he had received previously, the location of the exchange of fire was the military camp outside of Kanima City.

The Big Hippo immediately dialed General Eddie's number. "Eddie, how's it going over there? Did you capture Abu?"

"I'm attacking Abu's Office Building! "

"Very good, keep attacking, I'll be there soon! "

The Big Hippo threw down the phone and immediately ordered the troops, "Brothers, follow me into that military camp! "

He originally planned to wait until 12 O'clock sharp before launching a surprise attack on the office building.

In order to prevent exposing his intentions too early, before this moment arrived, General Eddie and most of his soldiers could only obediently hide in their dormitories.

Of course, there were still more than ten sentry posts outside the dormitories.

Although it was a little strange to send out one's own sentry posts in other people's barracks, as an army, they should not lack their own sentry posts at all times, especially when they were in the enemy's barracks.

These sentry posts not only served as a warning for their own side, but they also monitored the gates of the barracks and office buildings, quietly observing the movements of the enemy.

This kind of surveillance soon had an effect. At about eleven o'clock, a sentry post came back and reported that they had found the enemy's soldiers in the barracks.

Wasn't it normal to find the enemy's soldiers in the enemy's barracks?

But General Eddie Thought for a moment and felt that something was wrong.

In the middle of the night, other than the sentry posts, where else could the enemy be found?

At this time, shouldn't the soldiers have a good sleep? Could it be that the military camp allowed the soldiers to wander around in the middle of the night?

The more Eddie thought about it, the more he felt that something was wrong. He called the other sentries back and asked them in detail.

The previous sentries didn't see wrongly. There were indeed people moving around in the military camp. Although they were quite far away, the sentries still saw the figures of these people walking quickly.

This was a military camp. There were sentries inside and outside. It was impossible for a thief to sneak in.

Therefore, these figures walking in the darkness were undoubtedly the soldiers of General Abu.

Eddie immediately became alert.

Could it be that Abu also planned to attack him tonight? Wasn't Abu Afraid of offending his boss, the Big Hippo?

No matter what, General Eddie felt that he could not let his guard down.

He immediately ordered the soldiers to leave the dormitory and get ready for battle.

However, a place like a military camp could not be hidden, especially a dilapidated military camp like Kannima. Apart from the dormitory, there was basically nothing else.

Not to mention the greenery, there were not even some simple training facilities.

When they stood outside the dormitory with more than a hundred people, it was immediately filled with darkness.

Even if they were hiding in the darkness, it was as if a shadow had appeared in front of them for no reason.

Speaking of more than a hundred people on the battlefield, it didn't seem like a lot.

However, if one imagined that more than a hundred hooligans walked into a small district, it would be a huge team.

Of course, General Abu's military camp was bigger than many small districts. After all, the most worthless part of Kannima was the wilderness.

However, more than 100 people coming out of the dormitories still felt a little too conspicuous.

Moreover, as long as there were humans in the area, they would make some noise.

When there were fewer people, they would not feel it. But when there were more people, the noise would become noisy. No matter how careful they were, they could not hide it.

In this situation, there was no way to quietly gather the troops. Eddie could only follow the previous grouping and distribution of targets and quickly spread the troops out. He had the soldiers hide at the foot of the walls of the surrounding dormitories.

More than 100 soldiers were split into two teams by Eddie.

According to his original plan, the first team's target was general Abu's office building.

The second team's target was the garages where tanks, armored vehicles, and various military vehicles were parked.

Once the two teams of soldiers scattered, it was equivalent to entering the predetermined attack position..

General Eddie felt like he had an arrow in his bow and had no choice but to shoot.

If the soldiers were to shoot out, there was a risk that they would be discovered by the enemy sentries.

However, if they didn't shoot out, who knew if the enemy would suddenly attack their dormitories.

Now that the situation had become like this, general Eddie felt that he should start taking action ahead of time.

Although taking action ahead of time would put him under more pressure, it would be more unexpected if he continued to drag things out.

General Eddie was about to give the order to start attacking when he suddenly heard the sound of gunfire coming from afar.

That was when General Caro launched his attack on the army of the Great Hippo.

General Eddie was momentarily stunned. What was this situation? Where was the battle?

According to the plan that he and the Great Hippo had previously agreed on, the Great Hippo should have launched an attack in the direction of Kanimar. When he was discovered and stopped by the enemy, he should have already reached the vicinity of this military camp.

How could they fight so far away?

Could it be that there was an accident?

General Eddie became more and more uneasy. He kept feeling that something was going to happen.

General Eddie was immediately shocked again. It was the sound of machine guns.

Could it be that their actions had been discovered?

This was general Abu's territory. General Eddie's surroundings were ten times more hostile than his.

If the main force of the Great Hippo could not arrive in time, general Eddie's hundred-man team would be in a very dangerous situation.

And now, with the sound of gunfire in the distance, there was still more than half an hour before the scheduled attack. The main force of the great hippo might not be able to arrive at the camp in time.

Once general Eddie entered the battle, he might have to withstand the encirclement attack of several times the number of enemies and endure for a few hours.

Therefore, his only chance now was to immediately decapitate general Abu, take him hostage, or kill him and immediately escape.

There wasn't much time left for them.

Yu Tian was watching the show from the rooftop. He used his tablet to connect to the camera of the drone and the surveillance system in the military camp.

When he saw General Ai Di's movements, Yu Tian was puzzled, "This general ai di! He seems to have discovered something?"

General Caro glanced at Yu Tian's computer screen and said indifferently, "Yes! I let him discover it.

Yu Tian asked curiously, "Why do we have to alert the enemy? After alerting the enemy, won't it increase the difficulty of our battle?"

General Caro said, "Even if I didn't alert the enemy, won't they be alert?"

Yu Tian pondered for a moment and immediately came back to his senses.

General Ai Di was in the enemy camp, so how could he let down his guard? Of course, he had always been alert.

This was a very simple logic. However, Yu Tian had left the command of the battle to General Caro, so he was too lazy to think about these questions.

Yu Tian smiled. Since he was watching a show, he naturally didn't need to use his brain. If he had any questions, he could just ask General Caro beside him.

"Then your purpose of alerting the enemy is to scare them out of the dormitory?"

"One is to disrupt their plans. The more uncomfortable the enemy is, the more comfortable we will be. The other is to block them in the dormitory and fight. It will waste more ammunition, and it will easily destroy our own house."

"You are so sensible!"

Yu Tian looked at the monitor again. At this time, General Eddie's attack had officially begun.

Although General Eddie was the attacker, he felt as if he was breaking out of the encirclement.

The intense machine gun fire just now had killed more than a dozen of his men in one go, stunning his entire team.

If not for the fact that these veterans were experienced and immediately fell to the ground when they heard the sound of the machine gun and looked for cover! by now, more than half of them would have died.

Unfortunately, there was no suitable cover in this damn place, so the soldiers could only hide in those dormitories.

Once they entered the houses, everyone immediately felt much safer, and even the gunshots from the opposite side quieted down.

However, General Eddie's order was to attack, and hiding in the houses would only lead to death.

There was no other way, so the soldiers could only follow the foot of the wall and move toward the target again.

This time, there were no machine guns, but the situation was even worse.

On the road ahead, someone had thrown some torches. That was the only way they could attack.

As long as they walked over, they would be exposed to the enemy's sight. Any enemy with an Akka rifle could give them a shot.

They had no choice but to attack. As soon as they came out of the dormitory, snipers began to call out their names.

The enemy clearly had night vision equipment.

This was a high-grade product. General Eddie didn't even have it.

He could determine the enemy's position. The enemy was basically on the roofs of the surrounding buildings.

However, it was obviously disadvantageous for his soldiers to shoot at the snipers. The snipers under him didn't have night vision goggles, so he couldn't rely on the ordinary soldiers' Aya to try his luck, right?

At this time, General Eddie did not expect to be able to take down the tanks.

Since the enemy had already prepared for an ambush, the tanks and armored vehicles must have people in them. If they were to crash into them, they would only be met with machine gun fire, or even the crushing of the armored vehicles.

General Eddie quickly analyzed the situation. Now he only had two choices. Either he turned around and ran for his life, or he risked his life and rushed into general Abu's office building.

But he immediately rejected the idea of running for his life.

Right now, he didn't even have a car in his hands. How could he run away.

As for the military vehicles that they drove over, without a doubt, they were already under the control of the enemy.

So they could only charge into the office building and take down General Abu. Only then would they have a chance of survival.

The defense of the office building was of course very tight, but General Eddie could only put all his eggs in one basket.

He began to think of a plan of attack.

The surrounding enemies had no intention of attacking them. It seemed that they just wanted to surround them and slowly waste time with them.

If they hid in the house and did not go out, the enemy would not shoot and would not take the initiative to attack them.

But as soon as they appeared, the enemy began to take their time to kill again.

General Eddie felt a little uneasy. He sensed that these enemies were not ordinary.

They had been hiding in the dark and had not shown themselves. There was a sense of calmness and certainty of victory.

This should not be the appearance of the army under Abu. "Could it be! They are mercenaries?"

Translator: 5496903

Yu Tian had been paying attention to the battlefield on both sides the entire time. When he saw Eddie's troops retreat back into the dormitory, he was instantly delighted.

"These mercenaries are indeed interesting. The way they fought made Eddie lose his temper. "

General Caro had seen many battles of all sizes, so he was used to this kind of situation.

"This is a normal operation for mercenaries. They have the terrain advantage, and their weapons, equipment, and soldiers are better than their opponents.

It's normal for them to beat their opponents until they can't raise their heads." "But this kind of battle doesn't seem to be very satisfying."

"Normally, this is how mercenaries fight. They're here to make money, not to fight with others. If you want to be satisfied, they'll die."

"Are they going to continue like this?"

"Of course not. The right time, the right place, and the right people are all on our side. Eddie doesn't have the courage to continue wasting time. He has to think of a way to change this situation! Look, Eddie is going to fight with his life on the line! it seems that he's still very clear about his situation. " General Caro pointed at Yu Tian's tablet.

General Eddie didn't waste much time. He decided to launch another attack.

This time, he decided to launch a full-scale assault.

A full-scale assault was a very old tactic. As early as the last century, this tactic had already been eliminated by various countries and armies.

Because in the modern era, where the firepower was getting more and more powerful, a group assault could only serve the purpose of feeding bullets. There was no benefit at all.

In the last century, there was still the matter of not having enough bullets and saving machine guns.

But in this era, the military would only lack high-tech equipment, and there was no problem of not being able to afford bullets.

Even in a country as poor as godforsaken land, General Abu would only have a headache because he did not have a tank in his hand. However, his soldiers all had a few magazines and hundreds of bullets.

If anyone dared to play any big charge tricks, they would be able to beat up those pig-like elements with just Aya alone. They would not even be able to use heavy machine guns.

Therefore, the full-scale charge that Eddie had planned couldn't be the same pig soldiers as in the last century.

If they didn't want to be picked up by machine guns, they couldn't charge too densely.

If they didn't want to let snipers practice their marksmanship, they couldn't charge too few people at the same time.

Therefore, Eddie couldn't care about any tactics or attack plans.

He divided his soldiers into several teams. After they rushed out of the dormitory, they would immediately evacuate in different directions.

Then, they would attack the office building from different routes and directions.

It might be a little messy, and many people had to take a detour. They also needed to decide how to attack based on their own circumstances.

This was a test of the soldiers' fighting will.

In the world today, only one country's light infantry could complete this kind of strategy of fighting on their own.

However, the soldiers under Eddie were all old pirates who had followed him for many years. They would not be separated on a small battlefield like the barracks.

Eddie wanted to expand the scope of the battlefield and let the soldiers run around the barracks and mess up the enemy's arrangements.

He did not believe that the barracks could still be full of mercenaries and snipers.

What he was worried about now wasn't machine guns.

Although they had been shot by machine guns and killed more than a dozen people, that was because they were completely unprepared.

Now, Eddie definitely wouldn't give machine guns, such heavy weapons, a chance to play.

What he was worried about now was only those snipers. Those guys had already taken their time to kill more than a dozen of his soldiers.

Snipers also had weaknesses. They could not cover all aspects.

In the face of a large-scale attack, especially when it came from multiple directions, the snipers could not keep up with the speed of one shot after another.

Moreover, Eddie's dormitory was only a few hundred meters away from the office building. As long as the soldiers ran fast enough, the snipers would not have the chance to fire a few shots.

In addition, the sniper had to consider the angle of the shot.

The field of vision in this military camp was not very wide. From the dormitory to the office building, there were dormitory buildings along the way.

The soldiers took a slight detour and went behind the other dormitory. The sniper would lose his target.

Therefore, Eddie was very confident in breaking through the current blockade and changing the current situation.

In short, when these soldiers rushed out of the dormitory in a swarm and fled in all directions, Yu Tian also felt a little confused.

Were they fleeing in all directions?

It didn't seem like it.

After these soldiers ran out, gunshots immediately rang out in all directions, and the entire scene appeared somewhat chaotic.

Some soldiers were immediately shot by snipers, but more soldiers quickly ran into the darkness.

Originally, there were some torches thrown on the ground around the dormitory, so they could basically see the figures of these soldiers clearly.

However, the lighting range of the torches was limited, so it was impossible for them to cover the entire military camp.

Many soldiers quickly disappeared into the darkness at the speed of a 100-meter sprint.

This strange move of burying their heads in charging, coupled with the cover of the darkness, made the snipers feel a bit of a pain in the ass.

In fact, at this time, Eddie had the chance to escape with a portion of the soldiers.

However, Eddie did not have the intention to escape, because he did not know General Caro's military arrangements in the barracks.

He only knew that there were thousands of soldiers in the barracks, so the direction of the gate was definitely an iron wall, and he could not break through it.

Moreover, even if he escaped from the barracks, he could not escape from the pursuit of the infantrymen war chariots.

Therefore, at this moment, he could only go all out.

After a series of chaotic clashes, the number of soldiers under Eddie's command was reduced by half.

The remaining half actually used sprinting and sprinting to escape from the muzzle of the guns.

This result made Yu Tian not know whether to laugh or cry.

"They actually let them run out just like that?"

General Caro smiled and said, "Those mercenaries aren't paying attention to them, so it's not strange for them to run out of the blockade."

The mercenary group had more than a hundred professional warriors, so it was not difficult to destroy ai Di's small team with all their might. They could even finish it with a barrage of heavy weapons.

However, General Caro wanted to bait the big fish with a long line. He could not completely destroy Eddie's team so quickly.

Therefore, the main direction of the mercenary group's defense was still the periphery of the military camp. They had to prepare to deal with the convoy that was about to arrive.

Eddie also noticed some abnormalities.

He found that there did not seem to be many enemies in the darkness. At most, there were only a few snipers and machine gunners.

He had a good chance of breaking into the building and catching Abu. At that moment, Big Hippo called Eddie, and their convoy was about to arrive..

Translator: 5496903

Eddie's confidence increased greatly.

The strength of the Great Hippo was definitely not something that general Abu could compare to.

Eddie felt that as long as the Army of the Great Hippo arrived at the barracks, they would be able to crush all the enemies here into pieces.

Before that, Eddie had to keep an eye on the one-story office building to prevent general Abu from escaping.

"They were the ones who blocked US just now. Now, it's finally our turn to block them! "

Eddie used the walkie-talkie to give an order to his subordinates, "Brothers, find a high point and block Abu's Office Building! There's no need to attack now, as long as we can block the office building!

"Boss, I think I'm lost! "

“Lost? How did you get lost in such a small place? Where did you run to?”

“I think... I think I ran into the canteen.

“Canteen?”

Eddie recalled the terrain of the military camp and immediately felt a pain in his balls.

“You Idiot, how did you run so far? You ran so fast, why didn’t you participate in the Olympics?”

“I don’t know, Boss. I just ran with my gun in my hands and accidentally ran into the cafeteria.

“How many people are there?”

“There are two brothers with me.

“Alright, pay attention to the gunshots now. I will open fire on the enemy here. You guys move towards the direction of the gunshots.

Eddie looked at the few soldiers gathered around him. In a blur, there seemed to be four or five black shadows.

He immediately ordered, “Climb to the roof and search for the enemy in the direction of the office building. If you see the enemy, open fire immediately.”

Then, Eddy ordered through the walkie-talkie, “Brothers, pay attention.

As soon as he finished speaking, a few shots from the Akkadian rifle sounded behind him.

“F * ck, who’s shooting? Why is it behind us?”

Eddie was confused for a moment.

But then, the sound of Akka’s shots sounded from several directions at the same time.

Eddie was even more confused.

“Who? Who the hell is talking to me? Who the hell is talking to me like this?”

“I’m your father. If you’re not convinced, come to the office building and look for me!

“You... Huh?”

Eddie suddenly felt that something was wrong.

The person who was talking to him did not seem to be one of his soldiers.

He suddenly realized that the soldiers under him who had been killed might have been taken away by the enemy.

Therefore, he was not only communicating with his own people, but also with the enemy.

“Everyone, pay attention. Break out of the encirclement at the entrance of the barracks immediately. Everyone, follow me!

Eddie’s voice suddenly came from the walkie-talkie. He was giving orders to everyone.

Eddie immediately became angry. The enemy was holding the walkie-talkie and giving orders in his voice.

Too Shameless!

Eddie immediately roared into the walkie-talkie, “Everyone, don’t go to the entrance of the military camp. It’s a trap! Our walkie-talkie fell into the hands of the enemy. Someone is impersonating me to give the Order! Everyone, remember, we’re not going anywhere. We’re just guarding the office building and waiting for General Ahmed’s support!

Just as he finished speaking, another Eddie’s voice sounded from the walkie-talkie.

“Everyone, don’t believe this liar. General Ahmed has already lost the battle. We must retreat immediately!

Eddie was anxious. “You bastard! Stop pretending to be me! Your mouth is full of lies. How Can General Ahmed lose the battle? Do you know how many tanks we have...”

“Don’t lie to my soldiers anymore. General Ahmed was just attacked outside the city. Did you all hear the sound of gunfire in the distance? “General Ahmed is retreating to Khanima now. We have to retreat and meet him...” The imposter and Eddie started arguing on the walkie-talkie.

Yu Tian was overjoyed in front of the computer.

In fact, no one picked up the walkie-talkie that Eddie's team carried. This cheap walkie-talkie did not have the function of channel encryption. Even the communication channel was fixed.

In other words, as long as they got a few walkie-talkie of the same brand and model, they did not need to make any adjustments. They could simply change a few channels and directly join their calls.

Or they could get a more advanced walkie-talkie and try out the call channel that they often used. They could also quickly join Eddie's "Chat group"

For example, the walkie-talkie that Yu Tian was using now had also joined Eddie's chat group.

Yu Tian was instantly overjoyed. He turned around and asked general caro,

"Who is this person who is quarreling with Eddie? Did you arrange it?"

General Caro shrugged. "I didn't arrange such a boring operation... perhaps it's those bored officers under General Abu. They have plenty of time to quarrel with Eddie.

"With this, I'm afraid Eddie will be in big trouble.

"I don't know, but it's a small matter as long as Eddie and the others are still fighting...

"Use them to catch the big fish, the Big Hippo?"

"That's about it... as long as Eddie thinks that general Abu hasn't left the camp, the big hippo might try to attack the camp and capture general Abu Alive.

"Won't Eddie guess that General Abu has already left the camp?"

"That depends on what Eddie thinks. I think Eddie will still take the gamble.

After all, general Abu is already drunk, and the barracks are so heavily guarded. It is reasonable to say that he is protecting general Abu..."

General Karo actually did not expect to completely wipe out the great hippo in one battle. After all, most of general Abu's subordinates were new soldiers, and the armored unit had just been established, so they did not have much combat strength.

To be able to catch the great hippo off guard and even wipe out thousands of his soldiers was already considered a glorious result of the war.

It the Great Hippo really ran away, there was nothing that could be done.

After all, the Great Hippo had started to run for its life when the war had just started. If it really ran for its life, there was still a great chance.

In the history of war, so many famous generals had been able to escape their own lives in the case of defeat. The Great Hippo also had a chance.

Whether or not he had a chance to trick the great hippopotamus depended on how interested he was in capturing general Abu alive.

As the two of them chatted, the great hippopotamus 'convoy quickly approached the military camp.

The military camp basically blocked the convoy's path, so it was not impossible to go around it. However, the convoy was too scattered right now, so it would take a lot of time for them to turn around and make a detour. It would also easily cause traffic jams.

Therefore, the Big Hippo began to wonder if it should directly charge through the military camp..

Translator: 5496903

Under the illumination of a large number of headlights, the simple and crude appearance of the barracks was undoubtedly revealed in front of the large hippopotamus.

That simple and crude earth wall could be directly knocked down by an armored vehicle.

Of course, they didn 't have to hit the wall.

This was because this barracks had a total of four doors. There were four directions, north, south, east, west, and each direction had a door.

Although the military camp was not a neat square, these four doors were still well-made.

Moreover, these four doors were very spacious. It was enough for two or three tanks to enter and exit side by side.

General Eddie was currently lying on the roof of a dormitory quietly, observing the movements in the military camp.

As the military camp was filled with sparse bungalows, his field of vision was very wide. He saw the convoy of large hippos charging over at a glance.

He immediately got excited and quickly took out his phone to call the Big Hippo.

“General! You can rush in from the north gate and attack from the right! That Kid Abu is still hiding in his office building! “Are you still in the military camp?” “Yes, I haven’t taken down his office building.”

“Is there an ambush in the military camp?”

“There is an ambush, but they are all infantry... Oh, they have a few tanks hidden in the garage, the big house in the middle of the military camp... They have never come out.

The Great Hippo hesitated for a moment and began to consider whether to attack this military camp.

His convoy was still awe-inspiring. More than 40 armored vehicles, more than 80 light military vehicles... This was still a very powerful force.

Of course, his most powerful force the more than 20 tanks was probably going to be lost.

At this time, those tanks and the infantry were still holding the rear for him. He didn’t know how long they could hold out.

Moreover, the rear was also somewhat sloppy, because they couldn’t stop the enemy’s light-type attack vehicles at all.

General Abu’s military vehicles were always chasing after the big hippo.

The veterans driving the military vehicles might not be very familiar with tanks, but they couldn’t be more familiar with this kind of light-type military vehicles.

According to General Caro’s request, they didn’t fight head-on with the Big Hippo’s fleet. They just followed behind the big hippo and kept harassing it.

When they saw that someone was alone, they rushed up and fought fiercely for a while. When the enemies were about to gather, they quickly turned around and ran for their lives. They chased and fought along the way, and they also forcefully killed more than ten of the Hippo’s military vehicles.

However, bullets did not have eyes. Under the circumstances where they were shooting at each other with machine guns, they would also suffer some losses.

Now that the Hippo's team had stopped, the hit rate of this kind of shooting would also be higher, and the casualties would also be greater.

The veterans under General Abu also began to be cautious, and they did not press too hard on the great hippopotamus.

This made the great hippopotamus feel a little more relaxed. After thinking for a while, he decided to attack the barracks.

The enemy had already laid in ambush so many tanks in the wilderness, so it was impossible for them to have so many ambushes in the barracks.

As long as he broke through the barracks and captured Abu, victory would still be his.

Even if he could not capture Abu, he would not waste too much time in the camp.

The convoy could break through the camp with a charge, and he could still continue to run for his life.

"Attack, attack this broken camp, Ram through the wall!"

Without much time, the hippo immediately gave the order.

"Leave ten armored vehicles to protect your butts, and the other armored vehicles will be the vanguard! The military vehicles will follow behind, brothers, Charge!"

Although he was already a big warlord, his combat style was still as rough and fierce as a pirate's.

The Great Hippo's current attack style basically did not have any tactical requirements. It only changed the vanguard from the military vehicles to the armored vehicles.

Previously, it was a sneak attack. The military vehicles were faster and more sudden.

Now, it was no longer considered a sneak attack. Therefore, they had to use the armored vehicles that were more resistant to being hit as the vanguard.

As for the coordination of the infantry, he couldn't count on it. Other than some guards in some armored personnel carriers, he didn't bring any special infantry with him.

However, there didn't seem to be any defensive forces in the barracks. He couldn't see any tanks or cannons.

Dozens of armored vehicles crashed into the fence wall, and a large portion of it collapsed immediately.

The guards were still cowering by the fence wall, and the armored vehicles charged madly into the barracks.

Charge! As long as I run fast enough, the RPG won't be able to catch up with me.

The armored vehicles were followed by military vehicles. The large number of headlights was enough to blind a dog's eyes.

They had a large number of vehicles, lighting up the barracks as if it was daytime.

The machine gunners in the vehicles were nervously paying attention to the movements around them, ready to fire at any time.

Nearly a hundred vehicles charged into the barracks. It was definitely a torrent of steel that seemed unstoppable.

The Great Hippo's attack had two main directions. One was naturally the office building, where he wanted to capture General Abu.

The other was the garage in the middle of the camp.

According to Eddie, there were a few tanks hidden in the garage. These were things that had to be dealt with or controlled.

In addition, behind the garage was the large playground. On the other side of the playground was the main gate of the camp, and outside the gate was the vast wilderness.

After breaking through the garage, the Hippo's convoy would be able to drive straight in and directly kill their way out of the military camp.

At that time, if they wanted to leave, they had to stay. The initiative was in the hands of the hippo.

Therefore, the middle direction should be the real main direction of the attack.

As for general Eddie's request to attack the office building, the Hippo felt that a few armored vehicles and a dozen military vehicles would be enough to solve the problem.

After the convoy entered the military camp, the machine guns on the military vehicles opened fire.

Although they hadn't seen the enemy yet, they could still fire at the doors and windows of the house.

It wasn't their own house anyway. As long as there was a place where people could hide, they would fire at the machine guns tentatively.

However, these few shots seemed to have ignited a gunpowder barrel, and the battle erupted in an instant.

Countless rpgs suddenly flew out from the surrounding dormitory roofs and windows, leaving a trail of white smoke behind them.

As long as there were soldiers who dared to ask for them, he would dare to give them.

Rpgs were not some high-tech equipment. As long as one had two pounds of dog guts, even a pirate could play with them.

There were still a few hundred new recruits in the military camp, and the number was not that many.

However, these recruits who volunteered to stay and participate in the war were all ruthless characters who wanted money but did not want their lives.

As the saying went, there must be brave men under the heavy rewards. These recruits did not care about their own safety at all. All they thought about was how much money they could earn with one shot.

Each of them had an RPG rocket launcher in their hands, and they also carried a few warheads with them.

This was the main tool of labor for them to make a fortune tonight. As for the Akkadian rifles and the like, they were too lazy to bring them along. They came out of every nook and cranny, hardly aiming, and fired at the convoy..

Translator: 5496903

When rpgs were used together, it was a spectacular sight. Yu Tian felt as if he had seen Katyusha's barbaric attack.

Hundreds of recruits and hundreds of rpgs rushed out as if they were in a hurry.

Almost in the time it took for them to catch their breath, they were able to send flames flying and thick smoke billowing out of the barracks.

It was already late at night. Although the convoy had their own lights, they were ultimately unable to illuminate all directions.

The rocket launchers were all hiding at the side of the convoy. Furthermore, they had the cover of the houses, so it was very difficult for the convoy to quickly discover them.

Therefore, their first wave of sneak attacks were very successful. They had managed to knock over 20 to 30 military vehicles. Even some military vehicles that had just entered the enclosing walls of the camp were inexplicably hit by a shot.

The armored vehicles were not very effective in front of the rpgs. The thinner armored vehicles were paralyzed on the spot, and the thicker armored vehicles were also hit until they were disoriented.

The convoy of the hippo suddenly became a mess. Some soldiers immediately jumped out of the vehicles to dodge, while some soldiers immediately fired back.

The machine gunners began to chase after the direction where the rocket launchers disappeared, but most of the bullets could only be fired at the houses and walls. Only a few slower recruits were unlucky enough to be shot.

However, this little loss was not worth mentioning to Yu Tian. His gains were much greater than his losses.

In just a few short minutes, the convoy's charge was almost completely destroyed.

Their casualties were not particularly heavy, but the route of attack was filled with burning and exploding vehicle wreckage. The entire offensive could only be temporarily halted.

The big hippopotamus was outside the military camp. Looking at the flames and explosions in the military camp, he was instantly stunned.

Although everyone had rpgs, Yu Tian's rpgs were used to hit vehicles. Big Hippopotamus' rpgs and cannons could only be used to blow up houses.

The dormitories in the barracks had indeed caused trouble for the convoy. However, it was difficult to raze these houses to the ground with just some rpgs and the cannons that came with the armored vehicles.

Therefore, the best response for the convoy now was to run faster.

The Big Hippo suddenly felt that it was a mistake for him to let the convoy charge into the barracks.

He did not think that Abu would have so many rpgs and so many rocket launchers who did not care about their lives.

How much would this cost?

When he thought of the armored troops that he had just met outside the city, the big hippo suddenly felt a little scared.

He felt that he could not stay in the barracks for too long. He should just let his subordinates handle the task of capturing Abu. He should rush through the barracks as soon as possible.

Actually, when he had just arrived at the barracks, the Big Hippo still had a chance to go around. But now, the enemy's military vehicles had caught up and blocked the roads around the barracks.

He could only force his way into the barracks now.

The convoy that attacked the middle road suffered heavy losses, but the convoy that attacked the office building seemed to have it easier.

They were also hit by rpgs, but the number of rpgs in this direction seemed to be much less than the direction of the garage. The only one that was hit by the explosion was the armored vehicle that opened the way.

However, this armored vehicle was unlucky. A few rpgs missed him, but the only one that hit him was a fatal blow.

When the hippo convoy rushed into the military camp, Eddie's team became much more relaxed. It was as if the mercenaries had quietly retreated.

Of course, Eddie knew that the mercenaries couldn't retreat. It was just that a convoy had broken into the camp, so they could only withdraw half of the encirclement.

Slowing down was more likely to be attacked by rpgs and snipers, and it might even leave some time for Abu to escape.

So they had to make a dash for the building.

Far from the building, they were already firing machine guns.

They were shooting at the building, at the houses on both sides of the road, at all the places where people could hide.

Now was not the time to save bullets.

There were no fortifications in front of the building, and it looked clear.

The car-mounted machine guns smashed the doors and windows of the office building, as well as the building materials that were prepared for construction on the edge of the roof.

There seemed to be no one in the office building, and there was no counterattack.

In front of the office building was a small playground. When the military vehicles rushed to the playground, the soldiers could get off and rush into the office building.

On the roof of the office building, in the corners on both sides of the office building, behind the buildings on both sides..

Dozens of rockets flew out just like that, as if they were free.

The armored vehicle in front suddenly exploded, and was turned into scrap metal on the spot by an iron fist.

Iron Fist was a great weapon used by infantrymen to fight against tanks in the past. Although it was a little outdated now, it was still easy to use it to fight armored vehicles.

This was the hyena mercenary group's territory. Iron Fist was their own equipment, so there was not much of it.

However, they had a lot of rpgs in their hands.

Yu Tian was very generous in the supply of weapons. As long as he had equipment in his warehouse, as long as the mercenaries could use it, they could play with it.

The hyena mercenary group also had an RPG in each of their hands, plus a number of warheads. If they could not use it up, they could take it home as a souvenir.

They endured the machine gun fire and quietly waited for the convoy to approach.

Then, in the gaps between the hail of bullets, they took the opportunity to give the convoy a rocket launcher set meal.

Iron Fist was used to deal with the heavy armored vehicle that opened the way, while RPG was used to deal with the light armored vehicles and military

The lethality of RPG was not much weaker than iron fist, but it was also very effective against light armored vehicles.

The concentrated volley of fire turned the few cars at the front into fireballs, and the burning wreckage blocked the road.

The military cars behind immediately began to fight back frantically. In addition to machine guns, they also began to use RPG to shoot at the roof of the office building.

However, they were on the ground, and the angle was only enough to hit the edge of the roof.

The mercenaries retreated a few steps, and the enemy's counterattack was meaningless.

The convoy suddenly felt as if it was being beaten, but it had no chance to fight back.

The officers immediately felt aggrieved..

Translator: 5496903

Yu Tian was in his own territory, and there was a huge armored force outside that could arrive at the battlefield at any time. Naturally, he didn't care about continuing to waste time.

But the Big Hippo had to hurry up and charge.

It was just that the burning wreckage of the vehicles had blocked the road, and the armored vehicles and military vehicles couldn't push them away this kind of work had to be done by tanks.

The Big Hippo did not have any tanks at the moment. Even the armored vehicles were wheeled.

They could not clear the roadblocks. They could only go around to the side.

The side roads were in all directions. After all, they were surrounded by dormitories. There were passageways between the houses.

However, before the officers could order the vehicles to turn around, a few inexplicable explosions suddenly sounded in the convoy.

The explosion happened in the middle of the convoy. Many people could not understand how the explosion happened.

They did not have time to think about it because after the explosion started, the explosions continued one after another without even taking a breath.

Not only did the explosion destroy two military vehicles, it also killed and injured many soldiers nearby.

Some soldiers thought that if they left the vehicles, they would not be targeted by the RPGs. However, they did not expect to be killed by these explosions.

The convoy suddenly became chaotic. Everyone began to look for cover in a hurry. Even the machine gunners jumped down from the drivers and began to run toward the foot of the wall by the roadside.

General Eddie was someone who had watched television after all. He quickly recognized this weapon. It was a mortar.

The small mortar brought by the hyena mercenary group finally appeared.

This thing might not have much effect on the armored vehicles, but it was a threat to the military vehicles and the soldiers.

Their biggest advantage was that the enemy didn't know where to force them to hide.

The trajectory of the mortar was parabolic. They could hide far behind the buildings and adjust their shooting direction according to the instructions of the observers. They didn't need to show up at all.

Then, they could shoot and shoot without fear, without even breathing..

Mortars were a specialty of the hyena mercenary group. They were also a big threat to the unarmored units. They valued the role of the mortars very much, and they had used this thing to pick up a bargain on many battlefields.

To deal with the troops under big hippopotamus, the mortars created even more chaos.

The shells didn't stop because the price of this thing was also very cheap.

The hyena mercenary group naturally had to spend a lot of money on their trump card, so they prepared sufficient ammunition.

In addition, the Weapons Yu Tian purchased also included infantry weapons like mortars, so the ammunition was even more abundant.

It was a pity that none of the recruits under general Abu had yet learned to use this kind of weapon, because most of the recruits couldn't even calculate the addition, subtraction, multiplication, and division.

Therefore, General Caro opened up the supply of mortars to the hyena mercenary group.

When the hyena mercenary group played with mortars, they had even less scruples. Even if a single shell could only kill one enemy, it would still feel like a bloody profit.

They kept on bombarding the convoy. The more they bombarded, the fiercer it became. The convoy instantly fell into complete chaos.

There were no soldiers in the convoy who dared to stay where they were. They could only desperately hide behind the buildings.

Because the cannonballs were in a parabola, it was indeed safer behind the buildings.

The soldiers noticed this situation and all squeezed together behind the houses.

However, this still could not avoid casualties. Some cannonballs fell too close to the ground, and the flying shrapnel could also cause a lot of damage to the surroundings.

The soldiers could only continue to evacuate and continue to run to both sides. They could not care less even if they threw the military vehicles into the middle of the road.

At this time, there was no charge. The road ahead was blocked, and the two wings were full of chaotic soldiers. It was difficult for the armored vehicles to turn around and retreat.

However, trouble did not come alone. The enemies carrying rpgs in the surroundings suddenly appeared again.

They hurriedly completed one shot and then disappeared.

The soldiers who were busy dodging the cannonballs felt a pain in their balls. They actually had to dodge the rpgs now because these rpgs were completely aimed at the crowd.

This was like adding fuel to the fire. The chaotic soldiers immediately became even more chaotic.

The smarter soldiers quickly fell to the ground. The braver soldiers carried Aya and fought back while chasing the enemy.

The dumber ones could only run back, running back to the convoy in one breath.

In such a chaotic battlefield, survival depended on luck.

The officer was killed in an unknown corner. The soldiers had no one to command them, and they could not hear clearly.

At this time, it was impossible to charge. Retreat was necessary.

Retreat did not require command. Everyone knew the direction to run in.

Eddie could not do anything about the chaos. He had no intention of stopping the chaos and organizing the soldiers.

Anyway, there were explosions all around, so no one could hear anything he said.

Therefore, Eddie and his elite subordinates had already quietly moved to the side of the convoy.

This position was close to the perimeter wall of the military camp. In theory, there was no danger of being attacked from both sides.

If they moved forward, they only needed to be wary of the enemies that appeared in front and on the left.

If he moved backward, he would be able to quickly walk back to the gap in the wall that had been knocked open by the armored vehicles and then easily retreat.

In fact, Eddie had just killed an enemy soldier with his own hands. It was a recruit who was carrying an RPG and preparing to support his family.

That unlucky guy was killed by Eddie with one shot.

However, Eddie was unable to stop that unlucky guy from firing the RPG in his hand.

Because the unlucky guy didn't aim at the RPG when he launched it. He just wanted to try his luck with the fastest speed.

The first time he appeared, he shot the RPG out and then fell to the ground.

So, the RPG successfully flew past Eddie and scared him into a cold sweat. Eddie began to hesitate.

If he wanted to attack, the only people he could organize were his old subordinates.

However, this little bit of power didn't seem to be enough to pose a threat to the enemies in the office building.

The enemy's firepower was very fierce, and there was a feeling of a beautiful country bullying a small country using money to smash the enemy to death. But this was only on the surface. Eddie felt that the forces lying in ambush in this military camp were far more simple than what he saw now. He had already guessed the other party's identity. The other party was a mercenary.

Now, it seemed that his guess was not wrong.

The other party was indeed a mercenary. Moreover, it was not a small mercenary group that only had a few broken guns and a few lives.

A small mercenary group would not be equipped with so many types of soldiers, nor would they be able to organize such a large-scale artillery attack. Only mid-sized and above mercenary groups had the strength to carry so many mortars..

Translator: 5496903

A small mercenary group was usually similar to a small assault team. Most of them were light infantrymen, and their fiercest firepower was usually machine guns and some explosive means.

When it came to medium-sized mercenary groups, they had to pay attention to the coordination of their troops. Otherwise, just the increase in numbers would not increase their combat strength by much.

They would start to consider some heavy weapons, various artillery attacks, and the like. If they had money, they could even get some tanks and helicopters.

When it came to large mercenary groups, it was almost the same as an army.

The quality of a soldier might not be as high as a small mercenary group, but with the overall coordination, it was not something a small military force could handle.

Large mercenary groups generally accepted official employment and fought for certain countries.

This kind of power was a little terrifying. Basically, it was invincible.

Eddie didn't think that Abu would be able to get a large mercenary group. Even if he had that much money, he still needed to consider the international influence.

If a large external force was involved in the war, the military powers that were eyeing the war would definitely get involved.

Therefore, Eddie felt that the enemy should be a medium-sized mercenary group. The mortar was one of their specialties.

Of course, these mortars could also be a newly established force under Abu, but the possibility was not high.

This was because the Pirates of Damadi generally did not have the interest to study those complicated weapons, nor did they have the patience to study those complicated tactics, nor did they have the interest to study the cooperation of multiple forces.

They liked tanks and armored vehicles charging forward, then machine guns shooting wildly, and RPGs shooting randomly. It was much more refreshing.

As for mortars, they still needed to calculate the firing data. The Pirates of Damadi didn't like them at all.

According to the habits of Damadi, Eddie felt that there was a ninety percent chance that these mortars were operated by mercenaries. The opposite side was a professional medium-sized mercenary group.

Such mercenary groups were generally well-equipped. It was impossible for them to only have snipers and mortars.

They definitely had more complicated and insidious tactics.

Eddie's team would not be able to get a good result if they went up.

He thought about it for a long time and felt that he should retreat.

Being a soldier was just a means of livelihood for him, just like being a pirate.

Eddie did not hesitate to lead the team back.

His old pirates immediately followed. "Boss, where are we going? Are we retreating? Aren't we going to catch Abu?"

"Catch Abu? With what? Haven't those snipers made you suffer enough?"

Won't Stop You."

His subordinate immediately shut up and obediently followed behind him, walking with his head lowered.

These soldiers were actually quite confident before. They even thought that as long as they worked hard, they would have a chance to charge into that office building.

But now, they had already realized their situation. The enemy's strength was much stronger than they had imagined.

They had already fallen into a desperate situation and had no chance to escape from the barracks.

It was just that the enemy had not seriously launched an attack on them.

Later, when their own army's convoy charged into the barracks, they took the opportunity to escape from the encirclement of the enemy.

If it wasn't to let the hippo lower its guard, the enemy would have blown them into pieces with a huge number of shells.

Thinking of this, everyone was dejected.

A soldier reminded Eddie, "Boss, shouldn't we report to General Ahmed? We should give up on attacking this camp and stop thinking about catching that Fat Pig Abu..."

"Uh, yes, we should report to the general. I want to persuade him..."

Eddie was a little absent-minded. He touched his phone in his pocket and took out his walkie-talkie. He was thinking of how to report to the Big Hippo..

The Big Hippo's voice suddenly sounded on the walkie-talkie again. "Attack, Attack! All of you, charge forward! We have to open up the Middle

The Great Hippo couldn't care less about the situation at the office building. His main target was the garage in the center of the military camp.

He had to break through the military camp and leave a way out for himself.

So he had to take down the garage and take down the tanks hidden in the garage.

According to the information he had previously obtained, the Great Hippo knew that Abu had a total of six tanks.

Three T series heavy 10 tanks and three medium 55 tanks.

Of course, this matter was uncertain now.

Just now, just as he was about to launch an attack, hundreds of tanks and armored vehicles suddenly attacked him.

The enemy's tanks were definitely much more than his.

No matter whose army this was, the hippo knew that they were here to help Abu.

Therefore, big hippopotamus was not sure how many tanks Abu had.

But the results were soon revealed.

When the attacking fleet approached the garage, Yu Tian's tanks finally showed up.

The three 55 medium-sized tanks showed up. They emerged from the corner of the road ahead and appeared at the intersection leading to the garage.

The Big Hippo led the way with a few armored vehicles. They were armored vehicles that were still intact after the baptism of the RPG welcome ceremony.

Their armor was not weak and could withstand the attacks of old-fashioned anti – tank weapons.

However, when they saw a few tanks suddenly appear from the corner in front, they immediately became nervous.

Tanks versus armored vehicles. This was a bullying thing to begin with.

Although the tank itself was also considered a type of armored vehicle, it was just that its skin was thicker, its body was sturdier, and its weight was heavier..

But this was bullying. Most people felt this way.

Could an armored vehicle defeat a tank?

Of course it could. To use a slogan, anything was possible.

The anti-tank weapons of the infantrymen could kill a tank, so the armored vehicle naturally would not be weaker than the infantrymen.

War was not a game of poker. Victory and defeat could not be decided just by the size of the cards.

The tanks might not necessarily be able to eat the armored vehicles, and the pawns crossing the river might also be able to eat the grand marshal.

There were many types of armored vehicles in the hands of the Big Hippo.

For example, the armored personnel carriers. The main function of these armored vehicles was to transport soldiers. Basically, they only carried machine guns.

Their combat strength was mediocre. They could bully the little infantrymen born from stepmothers, but they could not do anything about the tanks..

Translator: 549690339

However, more armored vehicles were designed for combat, and they were designed for different conditions and different combat modes.

Each country had its own design scheme, and their specialties and directions were also different. They even involved some special combat methods, such as electromagnetic pulse sonic weapons.

In short, the means of war were unpredictable. There were many tricks to play a small strategy game on the computer, not to mention the real battlefield, where all kinds of strange weapons were hard to guard against.

However, the topic changed again. In this godforsaken place, there really weren't that many complicated methods.

The Pirates 'combat methods were usually more simple and crude.

They basically did not consider air defense, and they basically did not use radar, much less those strange methods.

They only needed machine guns and cannons.

For the Great Hippo, an armored vehicle that could be called an infantry vehicle had to have sufficient lethality.

Simply put, it had to be able to turn the other party into a sieve and explode into minced meat.

Therefore, the Great Hippo's armored vehicles focused on developing firepower.

The few armored vehicles that opened up a path in the direction of the garage all had cannons on them, and they were all powerful large-caliber cannons.

The power of these cannons would not be a problem for the mainstream tanks of some modern countries, much less the old-fashioned tanks.

These armored vehicles belonged to the high-attack, low-defense type. They were usually used to cooperate in battle and provide firepower support.

However, when placed in Happy Valley, the Big Hippo used them as its main force.

Their defense could withstand a single anti-tank weapon. The things in the hands of the infantrymen could hardly cause real damage to them.

Together with machine guns, they were basically invincible in Happy Valley.

Together with a cannon that could blow up mainstream tanks, there was basically no need to be afraid of anyone.

Under such circumstances, the difference between an armored vehicle and a tank was actually not that big.

The so-called caliber was the truth. It was not impossible for an armored vehicle to go head -to-head with a tank as long as the caliber of the cannon was sufficient.

When both sides met, it would be a cannon against a cannon, and the armor would be ignored.

The armor was indeed stronger than the tank, but the cannons were similar to each other, so everyone was on the same level.

This logic had to be explained by two people cutting each other with blades.

Everyone had watermelon knives in their hands. The brand might be different, and the length might be a little different, but with the blades, they could kill people.

Under these conditions, one person wore a vest, and the other person... wore three vests.

Once the fight started, it was hard to say who would die first.

Hence, when the large hippopotamus armored vehicle met Abu's tank, it was in such a state.

In any case, everyone would die with one shot, so it was up to who would make the first move.

As soon as the three medium-sized tanks appeared, the large hippopotamus armored vehicle immediately began to turn its cannon, preparing to greet them.

The aim of the mechanical turret was more troublesome than that of the RPG, and it took more time.

Fortunately, the distance between the two sides was very close. They basically only needed to turn the muzzle of the turret to shoot horizontally.

However, the tank side was waiting for their work. Almost as soon as they appeared, they aimed at the armored vehicles, just like how the armored vehicles took the initiative to approach the muzzle of the turret.

The first few armored vehicles that were targeted suddenly panicked. The driver was quick-witted. He stepped on the accelerator and changed direction to rush to the side.

The turret's turning speed was not fast. The long-distance target was slightly better. If the short-distance target moved quickly, it would be difficult for the muzzle to keep up.

Therefore, in an emergency situation, running away was a good way to avoid it.

However, the three medium-sized tanks were not in a hurry. They slowly turned the front of the vehicles and then opened fire.

Three flashes of fire passed, and the three armored vehicles were shot at the same time. No one fell.

Two armored vehicles were completely destroyed, and one of them lost half of its butt.

It was not strange to hit the target, but to hit the target so quickly was a test of skill.

The hippo holding the binoculars was stunned. Even Yu Tian, who was watching the video, could not help but praise, "Who are these three gunners?"

They are not recruits, right?"

General Caro smiled and said, "Of course not... Those are the three instructors, that is... Ivan, Ivan, and Ivan."

"So it's them..."

Yu Tian immediately thought of these three old Russians.

The three Ivan came with these tanks, and they were also the people who were most familiar with these tanks.

They came to this kind of battlefield, and it was equivalent to bullying these motherf*cker's people.

They would definitely have no problem in a one-on-one fight, even if they were to gang up on those armored vehicles.

After destroying the target, the three tanks quickly retreated and disappeared into the corner of the wall again, not even stopping for a moment.

This made the armored vehicles that had not had time to aim and fire the cannons anxious. They immediately bypassed the burning wreckage in front of them and chased forward.

They knew that changing the shells would take time. Now that the distance between the two sides was not necessary, they had a chance to catch up and pick up the scraps.

This was a good opportunity to attack and also break through the enemy's defense line.

The military vehicles immediately followed behind the armored vehicles and prepared to provide fire support.

They had machine guns and rpgs. Even if the armored vehicles failed, they still had a chance to finish them off.

The convoy was filled with killing intent.

However, when they reached the intersection, they were immediately dumbfounded.

There weren't only a few tanks behind the houses. What awaited them were the heavy tanks that were waiting for them, as well as the rpgs that were guarding the mercenary group.

As soon as they reached the intersection, they were hit hard.

The heavy tanks fired directly, killing the armored vehicles that had rushed to the intersection.

The rest of the military vehicles and armored vehicles were still rushing to the intersection. They thought that they still had a chance to counterattack.

However, as soon as they entered the intersection, they were immediately covered by the densely packed rpgs.

The military vehicles behind hurriedly braked. They were not fools, and could not possibly approach the dense mass of rpgs.

After a chaotic barrage of artillery and rpgs, the various intersections were once again paralyzed with debris.

The convoy's charge came to a halt once again.

No one dared to approach the intersection in front of them. They were all frightened by this kind of violent firepower.

They had fought for so many years, and the number of rpgs they had eaten today was more than all the rpgs they had eaten before.

Moreover, the passageway in front of them was completely blocked. They had no chance to charge, so they could only let the cars at the back slowly move back to give everyone a space to move.

However, Yu Tian's army did not give them a chance to breathe. The recruits carrying the rpgs took the opportunity to pop out and fire rockets into the convoy.

Translator: 549690339

The hippo was still roaring. He ordered the soldiers to continue attacking. They could not stop there.

The soldiers could only jump off the military vehicles and spread out with the rpgs.

After jumping off the military vehicles, the rpgs were much less of a threat to them.

The range of control of the scattered soldiers was larger, and the targets were small. The recruits carrying the rpgs did not dare to show themselves.

The surroundings were in all directions. The infantrymen climbed onto the roofs, poked out of the corners of the walls, and began to shoot at the enemies on the surrounding roofs with Akka and rpgs.

Their actual effect was not worse than that of the war chariots, but their advancing speed was slightly faster.

Following that was a street battle. Both sides were desperately spraying ammunition, trying to suppress the other side.

A few of the surrounding dormitory buildings were quickly blown down. The soldiers ran into the ruins to continue fighting.

At this time, the war chariots could only be used as pure firepower support. At the same time, they had to act as fixed targets to provoke the enemy's concentrated fire.

The more thoroughly the surrounding dormitories were destroyed, the more military chariots were exposed to the muzzle of the guns. The advantage of the assault chariots was completely lost in the military camp.

In order to avoid being beaten, many military vehicles also took the initiative to turn off their headlights, trying to hide in the chaotic battlefield.

The surprise attack turned into a night attack, and it was a street battle, which made it more difficult for the hippo to advance.

In the chaotic battlefield, the Hippo Army was no match for the mercenaries.

They did not carry much ammunition, unlike the mercenaries hiding in the military camp, who could resupply at any time from the rear.

Their military strength was not much more than the mercenaries. After the convoy suffered a series of sneak attacks, there were only about 100 to 200 soldiers left.

The mercenaries were supported by General Abu 's new recruits. From time to time, they fired a few free rpgs, which made the army of the Hippo even more miserable.

Ivan had already retreated from the battlefield with the tanks, leaving the mercenaries and the enemy to shoot at each other in the pitch-black battlefield.

The armored vehicles blocking the road were destroyed one after another. Less than ten armored vehicles had safely retreated to the rear.

The Great Hippo suddenly realized that not only was it unable to penetrate the barracks, it was even forced to retreat. It was about to be surrounded.

“General, the enemy’s strength is too strong. We should retreat immediately.

At this time, Eddie finally retreated to the outside of the barracks and saw the Great Hippo.

The Big Hippo had completely lost its temper. It looked at Eddie silently and said, “Didn’t you say you wanted to capture Abu Alive? Why did you come back?”

Eddie said helplessly, “Even the convoy couldn’t break through. I couldn’t do anything to Abu’s defense line.

“Didn’t you say that there were no ambushes in the barracks? Where did these enemies come from?”

“These are all infantrymen, they have always lived in the barracks...” Eddie smiled bitterly, “I just didn’t expect them to prepare so many weapons and ammunition. If only we had artillery, or before we attack, we could use tanks to bombard the barracks for ten minutes...”

“No more tanks. ” “No More?”

“The tanks are at the rear.

Eddie was confused. He had no idea how terrifying the hippo had encountered.

He looked at the rear of the team. There were many military vehicles in the distance. They seemed to be enemies.

There were many infantrymen lying on the rocks and hard ground nearby, shooting at the rear. They seemed to be in a stalemate with the enemy. Eddie asked in puzzlement, “Where are the enemies at the rear?”

The big hippopotamus sighed. “I don’t know either... Let’s not talk about this. We have to think of a way to break out of the encirclement. Can we still go around the barracks?”

Eddie pondered for a moment. “Yes, from the direction of the office building, we can go around the outside of the barracks. We can walk straight to Khanima City.”

The big hippopotamus sighed, then picked up the walkie-talkie and said, “Everyone, pay attention. Stop the attack... Defend on the spot.”

“Defend? “Eddie didn’t quite understand.

Big Hippopotamus said with a bitter face, “If we don’t let them defend, how can we run away with them? They don’t even have cars... we have to leave some people behind to attract the enemy’s firepower. ”

Eddie was instantly speechless. There were only a dozen armored vehicles and military vehicles outside the military camp, and they couldn’t carry a few people at all.

He glanced at the elite veterans under his command. These people basically couldn’t get into the vehicles. They had been abandoned.

They either ran back with the vehicles, or broke up here and ran for their lives.

This was simply too ridiculous.

The Big Hippo couldn’t care less about Eddy’s thoughts. He boarded his armored vehicle and finally greeted Eddy. “Do you want to get in My Car?”

Eddie shook his head blankly. “I’ll find another military vehicle...

“Alright, you follow the team yourself. ”

Big Hippopotamus nodded and then closed the door.

The military officer next to him immediately shouted. The few remaining vehicles and armored vehicles hurriedly started up. The surrounding guards and soldiers hurriedly squeezed into the vehicles.

The Great Escape began, and everyone became chaotic.

With Eddie's qualifications and status, it was no problem for him to squeeze into a military vehicle, but he suddenly did not want to run.

The main reason was not that he was reluctant to abandon his old subordinates, but that he felt that the chance of escaping was not great.

The enemy had already laid so many traps, could it be that they still did not have any means to prevent them from escaping?

Rather than breaking through the encirclement with the large army, it was better to bring the remaining twenty or so old subordinates around him and sneak into the mountains.

Behind the military camp was the planting area and the mountains. The vegetation there was lush, and it was easy to hide light infantrymen like them.

Of course, it would take some time to run there. The nearest bush was about a kilometer away from them.

After that, they would have to pass through the sorghum fields before they had a chance to enter the mountain forest.

However, it was night now, and most of the areas were dark. Eddie felt that his team only had about 20 people, so they could basically remain silent and have a chance to pass through the gaps in the encirclement.

At least, it was much safer than the way the Big Hippo drove its armored vehicles to escape.

Eddie's subordinates were a little flustered. They hurriedly surrounded Eddie.

"Boss, what are we going to do? is big hippopotamus running for his life?"

"Don't Panic... "

Eddie consoled his subordinates. Just as he was about to tell them his new escape plan, the walkie-talkie on his waist suddenly spoke.

“Hey! Big Hippopotamus, are you running for your life? F * Ck you... This is too disloyal!”

Eddie was slightly stunned. He felt that this voice was a little familiar.

That’s right, he suddenly remembered that this was the voice of that eastern merchant Yu Tian..

Eddie quickly remembered that it was the voice of the eastern businessman, Yu Tian.

At noon, he had a glass of wine with Yu Tian. He had a deep impression of Yu Tian’s voice the accent of a foreigner and a local was very different.

Yu Tian’s voice appeared on the battlefield, which meant that Yu Tian was also involved in the battle.

This was not very surprising. Eddie knew that Abu had always been poor. Now that he had the help of mercenaries and had so many weapons and ammunition, he naturally could not do without the financial support from the outside world.

Yu Tian being able to meet with Abu meant that Abu valued Yu Tian very much. Yu Tian was the financial backer behind Abu, so it was only natural.

Eddie suddenly had a bad feeling. Even this eastern businessman had taken the initiative to appear. Didn’t this mean that they were already certain of victory?

The Big Hippo probably couldn’t escape?

The Big Hippo’s voice soon sounded through the walkie-talkie, “Who are you? Don’t talk nonsense. When am I going to run? I want to fight you! If you have the guts, come out and fight me one-on-one!

“Are you sure you want to fight me one-on-one?”

Yu Tian was amused. The people around him were also amused. Was the big hippo going to light a lamp in the toilet?

“Alright, I’ll give you this chance. I’ll fight you one-on-one... After I capture you.”

Yu Tian was indeed confident of victory now because General Caro had just asked him, “We’ve already won. How are you going to deal with the Big Hippo?”

From the moment that big hippo ordered his subordinates to stop attacking and defend, General Caro knew that he was going to run away.

All of Big Hippo's actions were under Yu Tian and the others' eyes. Now, not only were there a few drones in the sky watching him, even his command and communication were under Yu Tian and the others' control.

If this situation was called an electronic information war, it could probably be called the easiest electronic information war in the world.

These things did not require him to take the initiative to investigate. The enemy's command and information were completely public.

It was already impossible for the Big Hippo to escape now. General Caro would not give him this chance.

Not to mention the mercenary groups waiting to ambush and intercept him on the way, there were also so many military vehicles watching him from behind.

As long as they did not care about the price, those military vehicles would be able to catch up to him in minutes and beat the remaining guards around him to pieces.

However, Yu Tian was not concerned about how to catch the Hippo. Instead, he was concerned about how to end the battle in the barracks as soon as possible.

Although the enemy had suffered heavy losses, there were still many soldiers and vehicles left. When they gave up on attacking forcefully and started to hide and defend, they would have to pay a considerable price to completely wipe them out.

To Yu Tian, this price was a matter of money.

Whether it was the loss of weapons or the compensation of casualties, these were all problems that money could solve.

However, Yu Tian did not want to waste this money. He hoped that the enemy would voluntarily surrender.

Do not be ungrateful.

This did not seem to be a difficult matter. After all, the great hippopotamus had already decided to abandon his men and flee for their lives.

As long as he announced this matter to his men, their morale would naturally drop. They would either flee or surrender.

Thus, Yu Tian began to openly tease the big hippopotamus on the communicator. The big hippopotamus was indeed anxious and quickly denied that he was fleeing for his life.

However, on the battlefield, it was difficult to hide these abnormal situations. There were drones following the big hippopotamus from the beginning to the end. He did not know that his every move was under the eyes of the enemy.

He had just left with the convoy beside him when the convoy under Abu that was surrounding the city immediately moved towards the barracks. The bright headlights were extremely eye-catching.

The soldiers of the hippo that were still in the barracks immediately felt that something was wrong, especially the soldiers near the barracks wall. They realized that they were completely surrounded.

“Oh, damn it, that’s the enemy’s convoy! “We’re surrounded, the rear roads are all blocked! ” “The general is gone, General Ahmed’s car is gone!”

“He F * cking ran away!”

“Bastard, he ran away without us! ”

“He sold our escape route to the enemy, we can’t run anymore!

The barracks immediately became chaotic.

Apart from being used to communicate and command, the walkie-talkie could also be used to spread the chaos.

Not only were the soldiers under the great hippo exchanging information, but the recruits under Abu also started to cause trouble in the enemy’s communication channel.

All kinds of curses and curses were heard on the walkie-talkie, cursing all the ancestors of the great hippo for eighteen generations.

Don’t think that curses were exclusive to the Easterners. Culture was something that spread and influenced each other.

In the past, the F * Ck squid could be accepted by the people of the world. In these years, everyone had also accepted the culture of the Easterners ‘curses.

All kinds of greetings to each other’s relatives made Yu Tiandu feel very warm.

At first, the big hippo was still cursing and retorting angrily on the walkie-talkie, arguing with those bored recruits.

But soon, there was no movement from him, and his voice was no longer transmitted from the walkie-talkie.

He found that these people were obviously enemies who were here to cause trouble. If he wasted his time arguing with these people, he would become a big fool.

He was busy running for his life right now, so he had no time to argue.

The battle in the barracks gradually calmed down. The Army of the Great Hippo had completely given up on attacking. There was an internal argument, and some people had already begun to shout that they wanted to surrender.

General Caro also gave the order to stop the attacks and sneak attacks and wait for the dust to settle.

The victory and defeat had already been decided, and the Great Hippo's mind was no longer on the battlefield. He was now fully focused on observing the situation of the escape route ahead.

The noise made by the vehicles was not very loud, but after the battle in the barracks had subsided, the noise became very ear-piercing.

The Big Hippo knew that the enemy would soon discover his whereabouts. This was unavoidable.

But it did not matter. As long as he ran fast enough, he had a complete chance to break out of this encirclement.

The performance of his vehicle was excellent. Although it did not have much attack power, its speed and defense were excellent. It was very suitable for escaping.

Even if the other vehicles in the convoy were all killed by the enemy, he was confident that he could survive.

He picked up the walkie-talkie, switched to the convoy channel, and ordered the armored vehicle that was leading the way, "The one in front, speed..."

"Boom!"

Before the Big Hippo finished speaking, there was suddenly a burst of fire in front of him.

This change gave the big hippo a fright. Then, he came back to his senses and immediately asked through the walkie-talkie, "What's going on? What's going on in front!"
