

Chapter 189

"Absolutely correct. You have a good memory, but how could you possibly have forgotten that I can also grab hold of your tail? You gained your strength from the blood that I provided to you, didn't you? But throughout it all, you had every intention of giving me the slip."

Everyone could not be more shocked. Both Neil and Ella experienced an internalized sense of fury. They were under the impression that Georgiana relied heavily on Ryan as a means of expanding her power. They wondered if she brainwashed their son against them, too.

"Alpha, don't say that. I never wanted your bad. I simply wished for you to bestow your strength on my daughter. Your Luna will surpass all other wolves in strength and power. Your rank is rare, as is your mate, whom you will mark. Please, don't misunderstand me." Georgiana begged while shaking her hand.

"Mom, why did you do that? That night, when Ryan came to save me, he told me that he didn't like me. That time, I wanted to step back. But you forced me to become your puppet. Don't try to put your gun on my shoulder to hide your fault, Mom. I had no idea that you had been deceiving people for such a long period of time with so many lies."

Georgiana rushed to her daughter. But Ethan came between them.

Georgiana glared at Ethan and confessed,

"I knew that you would reject Allison because it was your fate. That was why I always tried to make sure that you would never leave Allison."

Ethan clenched his jaw and wanted to attack her, but Beta Max stopped him.

There was a growl heard in the pack house. Everyone turned to Allison. She was the one who growled in anger.

She scowled at Georgiana as her eyes turned ocean blue.

"You destroyed my life. You not only made me despise my father, but you also caused me to lose the person who was the love of my life. Because of you, he hates me now. Why did you do that?"

Georgiana put her finger on her own forehead and then pointed at Allison.

"Your forehead can tell me everything about your fate. You were a pure blood omega. When I saw you in your younger years, that's when I realized it. I shared that information with your father, but I didn't share with him the fact that you will one day be the mate of a true blood Alpha. I was the one who left those hungry wolves after you a few years ago. But your luck favored you, and Ethan saved you that night. But it only helped me make your father believe in my lies. When Alpha Easton attacked Ethan's car, it was me who helped him track you both. His target was only Ethan. But I wanted you both to die together so that Alpha Ryan and my daughter could be mates. I had already known at that time that Ethan was my daughter's mate. That was why I planned all the things very carefully. I wanted Ethan to die when Elora rejected him. But Alpha Ryan saved him. I wanted you to die tonight as well. But surprisingly, you all are alive just because Alpha showed his mercy on you. All I wanted was to gain my daughter's power that she would get from her mate. Then, I would have become more powerful than anyone else. If I had my way, I would have dominated the world of witches without the assistance of any werewolves."

Allison was fuming after hearing her. She was so angry that she could not help but walk up to her and give her a vigorous slap.

Georgiana could not take it. She glared at Allison while she touched the spot on her face where she had been slapped.

You have the audacity to do what? You are the cause of everything that is taking place. I will kill you today."

She grabbed Allison's neck and held her arm with another hand.

Others rushed to them in an effort to rescue Allison from her. Georgiana, however, had a great deal of power, and she used it to her advantage by erecting a shield around them. So they could not break the shield.

Ethan realized that it was the same invisible shield that he felt that prevented him when he tried to talk to Elora before rejection.

Georgiana's grip on Allison's neck caused her to lose her balance and fall to the ground. Allison's entire body started to tremble at the same time.

Everyone backed away as soon as they heard Ryan let out a booming growl.

Both Glen and Joey turned to look at Ryan and pleaded with him,

"Please, save our daughter, Alpha."

As Ryan glared at the invisible shield, his eyes grew a brighter shade of orange. It was invisible to other werewolves, but not to him.

When he stepped inside it, it burst like a gigantic water bubble that had been brought crashing down by a touch.

Georgiana went insane. She was about to put all of her force to kill Allison but stopped when someone grabbed her.

Ryan grabbed the back of Georgiana's neck and pulled her away from Allison.

"HOW DARE YOU TOUCH MY WOMAN?"

He growled and shoved her on the floor. It was like the power of a hammer falling on the ground; the tiles cracked.

"Alpha-"

He did not allow her to speak and instead seized her by the throat. He darkened his eyes as if he were doing something with his eyes, and because of the impact, Georgiana started to scream loudly.

In a few seconds, her tears turned into blood. She was shading blood from her eyes.

Ryan turned his head toward Elora. Elora fell on her knees and cried.

"Will you regret it if I kill her?"

"A-Alpha-"

"I gave you another chance to stay alive, Elora. WILL YOU?"

"N-No, Alpha."

She let out a loud sob. She could not believe that her mother wanted the power that she would gain from her mate.

That meant she wanted to kill her daughter after getting her abilities.

How could a woman be so cruel?

Ryan cast his gaze over Aurelia. She gave her a slight nod and lifted her hands.

As soon as Georgiana realized what was going to happen, her eyes widened, and she started shaking her head in disbelief.

She attempted to get away by seizing Ryan's wrist and using her spells to burn his hand. She did so in the hope that it would free her.

Indeed, Ryan's palm burned, but it healed in a few seconds.

Fire began to blaze within the palms of Aurelia's hands as she encircled them. She started to chant spells while closing her eyes.

Everyone felt that a wind rushed inside the pack house. They were forced to take a step backward by the pressure.

However, neither Ryan nor Georgiana moved since Ryan refused to let her move either.

Aurelia opened her eyes. They were glowing red. Georgiana's eyes widened when she saw that. Ryan smirked at her.

"I gave her my power to punish you, my witch. Because you have an excessive amount of power, I require someone who is capable of competing with you. Didn't your Alpha plan well?"

Georgiana made an effort to apologize while shaking her head.

When it comes time for them to die, every creature desperately tries to cling to life, but they are unable to do so because it is already their turn to depart.

Aurelia pressed her palms together as if her palms consumed the fire.

Ryan released Georgiana's neck and stared at her. Georgiana cried out loud. She felt like her heart was burning inside her body when she was still alive.

After a while, her scream stopped, and the whole pack house turned completely silent.

Ryan stood up and mocked her while looking at her dead body.

"I've already begun to miss you. You've touched so many lives. Goodbye, Georgiana."
