

Chapter 222

All of the people in the hall could hear Ryan's words. All the Alphas of different packs came to attend the wedding; they also heard it and felt fear inside, as if Ryan said it out loud to make them hear it.

Both Glen and Joey appeared content with the response that was given. On the other hand, Allison was taken aback.

How was it possible for someone to love another person so deeply?

He started to proceed with her to the center of the stage.

She was stunned when she noticed something in his hand. He was wearing the watch she gave him on his birthday. She was shocked that he still kept it with him and did not break it in anger when all of these things happened in the past.

Allison looked at his face, which looked delighted as if he was the happiest person in the world.

She felt lucky to have him in her life. She made a promise to herself that she would never stop loving this man and that she would always be by his side.

They came to a halt in the center.

"You are the most stunning woman in my entire world, yet I have no words to describe how you look right now. But I will express my feelings later." Allison heard Ryan, which turned her cheek flush.

Her gaze wandered to the others in the hall. She could tell by the look on Ryan's parents' faces that they were thrilled for their son. Ethan was standing beside Elora, and Max was standing next to Teresa. They looked happy as well. Ryan's officials were cheering for them. Her eyes paused at her two people.

"Ciara and Diva?" She mumbled.

"I invited them here for you." She heard Ryan's voice.

She turned to him and smiled at him. "Thanks, Ryan."

As soon as the priest started speaking, everybody became silent.

"It's time to take vows."

Allison felt nervous once again. She felt a thumb caressing over the back of her hand. Ryan was soothing her.

She took a deep breath and heard the priest.

"Do you, Alpha Ryan Iversen, accept Omega Allison Clark as your mate, wife, and the Luna of your pack?"

As she waited to hear from him, she nibbled the bottom lip nervously.

"Yes, I do."

When she heard Ryan reply in his deep voice, she felt her heartbeat quicken and her breathing become more shallow.

"Do you, Omega Allison Clark, accept Alpha Ryan Iversen as your mate, husband, and the only Alpha of your life?"

She closed her eyes and nodded her head.

"Yes, I do."

Those expressions of love and commitment to one another were more than just vows; they reflected genuine feelings.

"Congratulations! I pronounced that the two of you are now husband and wife." The priest said it in a happy tone.

Everyone immediately began applauding and cheering for the newlywed pair.

The priest presented them with a pair of rings, which were set on a platter that had been covered in a piece of velvet in a black color. The two rings shone brightly beneath the enormous chandelier that dangled from the ceiling.

Ryan took the ring. Allison did not have to lift her hand because she realized Ryan never left her hand after she came to the stage.

He lifted her hand and put the ring on the ring finger of her left hand. She also put the other ring on his ring finger.

"You two may now kiss each other in front of everyone to seal your love and marriage."

Allison felt shy since her parents were there. But it was tradition, so they would have to do it.

When she felt him approaching her, she shut her eyes and drew in her breath. He cupped her cheeks.

She was stunned when she felt a kiss on her forehead.

She immediately opened her eyes and looked at him. He smiled at her and said,

"A kiss of my promise to never disappoint you in your life and shower you with my devotion, which is deeper than the ocean."

Everyone was surprised. Other Alphas used to think that he was a man of longing, but now he did demonstrate to them that he truly loved his wife.

While descending the stage, Ryan put his arm around Allison's waist.

Their parents came to them and hugged them. Neil embraced Ryan. "Finally, my son became a responsible man. Ruling a pack is a great duty, but running a family is the greatest responsibility."

Ryan grinned at him. His mother hugged him, then Allison. The same went with Allison's parents. Ethan smiled broadly at them before uttering,

"Congratulations."

"Thanks, big brother." Ryan said and hugged him. It was the very first time that he took the initiative to hug him, and Ethan was overjoyed by the gesture.

They received congratulations from Elora as well.

Teresa hugged Allison and did not move away from her for a few seconds.

"My babe is now married." Teresa remarked while planting a peck on Allison's cheek.

Ryan's officials came to congratulate them, but seeing Allison and Teresa, they chuckled.

"I am confused about who got married," Max remarked. Everyone chuckled at hearing him.

Teresa glared at Max. "Don't make fun of me. I will not allow you to sleep on the bed tonight."

"Okay, we will sleep on the floor then."

Teresa's jaw dropped. She whispered to Allison.

"See? He has also become shameless while being with me."

Others heard her hushed voice, and they all laughed.

Allison cast her gaze over Diva and Ciara. She made her way over there to talk to them. They congratulated her.

Allison found her new classmates there. She talked to them too.

A beautiful woman came to her. Day by day, she was getting younger by power. Perhaps this was the reason why people referred to them as the 'Youth of Magic'.

"Aurelia"

"Congratulations, Luna." Aurelia said.

Allison held her hand and said,

"I am grateful to you. You have always supported me."

"All thanks to our Alpha."

She engaged in conversation with her for a considerable amount of time. Allison witnessed a large number of witches from the coven come to attend the wedding of their Alpha.

The cake was cut after a few minutes, and then everyone had their dinner later.

When it was time to toss the bouquet, Allison was excited. Her target was the only one.

She turned around and tossed the bouquet over her head.

When she turned to see, her face had a bright smile. It was tossed to Elora. She was holding the bouquet.

Everyone looked at Ethan, who was scratching the back of his neck while smiling.

After saying their goodbyes to everyone, Ryan and Allison got into Ryan's car.

Ryan told Allison that they were not going back to the pack house tonight. He had planned something for her.

The car came to a complete halt in front of a mansion. Ryan helped her get out of the car.

"Wow! Where are we?"

"First, this." Ryan declared while putting a black cloth over her eyes and blindfolding her.

He reached out and took her hand before proceeding towards the house. He unlocked the door and led her inside.

He closed the door behind him and took off her blindfold.

The moment the black cloth was removed from Allison's eyes, her eyes widened, and she let out a gasp.
