

Chapter 242 Arrogant Alpha

"WHERE ARE YOU GOING WITH HIM?"

Rose looked at the hand and turned around.

"Arvan?"

Arvan glared at her and asked,

"I asked you where are you going with him?"

Rose felt annoyed. "That is none of your business. "

"I'm the head alpha of this pack. I don't want my pack's unmated omegas to get hurt."

"I won't harm her, Alpha." Mark said politely. He was nervous in front of his head Alpha. He knew how much powerful he was.

"I didn't talk to you." He glared at Mark.

"ARVAN."

Rose yelled at him.

"What? Don't you dare yell at me."

"You just can't be rude to my friend. So what if you are our Alpha? You can't just get into our personal space."

"Personal space, huh?" Arvan gritted his teeth and tightened his grip on Rose's arm.

Rose whimpered in pain. She thought, 'Why did he come here? I saw he was nowhere there. I couldn't find him anywhere in the club. Why did he come back? I don't want to talk to him. I don't even want to see his face.'

"Leave her arm, Alpha. I think she is feeling pain."

"What? Are you worried for her?"

"Arvan, leave me right now." Rose said angrily.

Arvan glared at Mark and said,

"You. Go home alone. She is not coming with you."

Mark just wanted to say to him that they were not going to his home but he would drop her at her home.

Before he could talk, Arvan pulled Rose with him and walked to his car.

"Arvan, leave me. I said leave me. Can't you hear me? Leave me."

"What if I say I won't leave you?" Arvan stopped and asked her.

"What do you mean?"

"Why were you with that guy? Are you in your heat? That is why you are with men?"

"Shut up. What are you saying? You are insane. Leave my hand." Rose was struggling to get out of his grab. She lost her wolf. Now she didn't have that much energy either.

"What do you want, Arvan?"

"What do I want?" Arvan asked her or he could say he asked himself. What did he want? He was not behaving like himself. Rose kept ignoring him and that made him get angry every time he looked at her.

Today she insulted him in front of an unknown guy. Did she challenge him? Did she want to see his power? Why did she start to behave like that? She was always around him. Head over heels for him. Now she got her wings and started to ignore him?

"I don't want anything." He replied with a sharp voice.

"Then why did you pull me here? Why did you tell Mark to go home alone?" Rose asked.

"Your father was a respectful man. He was my father's Gamma. I don't want his daughter to get into some trouble with a stranger."

"He is not a stranger, but you are."

"What did you say?" Arvan grimaced at her.

"Yes, you are a stranger to me."

"I am your Alpha."

"Oh yes, you are the head Alpha of this Crismon Red pack. So tell me what I should do with that? Should I leave this pack because the head alpha Arvan Black doesn't like me?"

"You talk too much."

"Arvan leave my hand or-"

"Or what?"

"Or I will tell Lina that her loving boyfriend pulled my arm and tried to-"

"Tried to what, Rose?"

Arvan got close to her. He was very close to her. He could feel the alcohol on her breath.

"You are drunk, Rose Lee."

"Isn't it better to be drunk and move on from painful memories?"

"What painful memories? You are totally okay now. See? You don't even get a scratch, so don't try to get sympathy from me." Arvan scoffed at her.

"Fine then leave me."

"Rose?"

Someone called Rose's name.

Arvan and Rose both turned their heads and saw Taylor.

"A-Alpha?"

Arvan nodded at him and didn't say anything.

"Taylor."

"Rose, you are here? I-I mean why are you with Alpha?"

"Why? Do you have any problem with it?" Arvan asked.

"No Alpha. I didn't mean that. I just saw Rose and came here. Did you enjoy my party, Alpha?"

Arvan nodded. He leaned back in his car and took out a cigarette packet from his pocket. He took a cigarette and put it in between his two fingers and started smoking while hearing Rose and Taylor's conversation.

"Where is Alice?"

"Alice has left already. By the way, nice party, Taylor."

"Oh thanks, Rose. I hope you enjoyed my party."

"Yes, I did." Rose nodded. She got back to her senses after talking with Arvan. The way Arvan pulled her and tightened her arm, she felt so much pain. This man was so arrogant that now he wanted her attention. But Rose would not give him her attention. That was what she thought.

"Are you both done?" Arvan asked.

"Ye-"

"No. Can't you see I am talking with him?" Rose said.

Taylor's eyes went wide. He had never imagined in his life that somebody could talk like that with Alpha Arvan.

Taylor went near Rose's ear and whispered, "Hey, you don't know his anger. He killed hundreds of rogues alone in our last war. You should not talk to him rudely."

"I know him very well. Don't worry, Taylor. But thanks for the suggestion."

Taylor frowned and thought, 'How did she know him well? She wasn't even there during the war. She came here last year.'

Arvan glared at them. 'What are they talking about so closely? This girl is really characterless. She is with everyone. First Mark and now this boy? Good for me that I rejected her. She is an omega. Such a weak creature! I am just trying to keep her father's respect, otherwise, why would I care for a girl like her?'

"Times up. Now go to your party, birthday boy." Arvan let out.

"Yes, Alpha. Thank you for coming to my birthday party. It means a lot. I am very grateful. "

Arvan nodded his head.

"Taylor, once again, Happy Birthday." Rose said.

Taylor thanked her and went back to the club.

"What did he whisper in your ear?"

"He said, I am sorry that our Alpha is so arrogant."

"Did he dare to say that?" Arvan almost went back to the club when Rose stopped him by grabbing his hand.

"I lied to you. Don't kill him. He is innocent."

"Did you just lie to me?" Arvan glared at her.

"I am sorry for that. I think I should go now. Bye."

"Where are you going? You can't go anywhere."

"Why?"

"BECAUSE YOU ARE COMING WITH ME."
