

Chapter 290 Spending The Night Together 1

"Arvan?"

Arvan looked fierce. He grabbed Blaze's collar and punched him in his face.

"You dared to touch her???"

He kicked Blaze. Liam and Blaze's officials came there quickly.

"What happened, Alpha Arvan? You can't hit our Alpha like that." Blaze's Beta said.

Arvan turned to him and he became scared of his look. They only heard about Alpha Arvan's merciless and ruthless attitude, but never saw this. However, today they were seeing it in front of their eyes. His one glare could kill them.

"Take your Alpha and leave my pack now." Arvan ordered him.

Blaze was on the floor. His wolf was still taking over him. He could not understand anything except his desire.

His Beta helped him to stand up. He looked at Rose and wanted to go to her again but Arvan kicked on his stomach. Blaze fell on his Beta. All three other officials came to help Blaze.

Liam grabbed Arvan. "I think it's not his fault. His condition is not good. I have to check what happened. Arvan, you handle Rose. I am going with Alpha Blaze."

Before Arvan could be angry with him, Liam told Alpha Balze's officials to come with him.

Liam told them to stay in a hotel. He told them that he would send the pack doctor to check on Alpha Blaze. Their officials agreed and thanked him. They could not fight against the head Alpha of this pack, and their Alpha did wrong. It was his fault, so they could not start any war without any persimmon. They took Blaze to their car and went to a hotel.

Meanwhile, Arvan was controlling his anger and lust. All he could smell was his mate's pheromones. He almost lost his mind.

He looked at Rose. She wrapped her hands around her arms. She was crying as if she was in pain. Her body and face became red.

Arvan went close to her slowly.

"Rose?"

Rose looked at him with her teary eyes.

"Fuck!"

Arvan murmured himself.

She was looking so fuckable that Arvan could not control himself but kissed her.

Rose was feeling so hot and in pain but when Arvan kissed her she turned on. She immediately kissed him back and didn't resist him.

"A-Arvan."

She called him between the kisses.

Arvan moved a little. "What happened to you?" He caressed her cheeks.

"I-I don't know. I was okay when I was dancing, but wh-when Alice cut the cake that time I felt di-dizzy." Rose said while clutching his shirt.

She stared at Arvan and started to roam her hands on his body.

Arvan looked at her hands. They brushed on his chest, and were about to go down to his lower part but he stopped her by grabbing her hands.

"You are not in your right mind, Rose."

"I don't know why I am feeling like this. I want to be close to you." Rose said and tears rolled from her eyes.

Arvan prevented himself and wiped her tears. "Don't worry, I will be with you always. Someone drugged you, you should go home and take some medicine."

He took her in his arms and started to walk outside.

He came out of the club and made his way to his car. He opened the back seat and laid her down there. Then he closed the door. He went around the other side and sat beside her.

He told the driver to start the car.

"To where? Alpha?" Driver asked.

"To the pack house." Arvan replied. The driver nodded at him and started the car.

Arvan looked beside him. Rose was whimpering in pain. He took her in his arms and patted her head. "Don't worry, we are going home. You will be fine soon."

Rose looked up at him. Then she sat up and went to sit on his lap.

Arvan was stunned by her action. "What are you doing?"

Rose shook her head and put her head on his chest and clenched his shirt. "I-I am not feeling well."

Arvan stroked her back and ordered the driver. "Drive fast."

Hearing his dark tone, the driver got frightened and drove as fast as he could.

When they arrived at the pack house, Arvan immediately opened the car door and came out with Rose in his arms.

He entered the pack house and saw no one was there. Everyone was at Alice's birthday and his parents were out of the pack. So it was only him and Rose.

He went upstairs and opened his room's door. He locked the door and laid her down on the bed. He started to call Harry but Rose sat up and stopped her by grabbing his hands. Arvan looked at her.

"What happened? Don't you want to take a rest?"

Rose shook her head and put off her heels. She started to pull her dress but Arvah stopped her.

"What are you doing?"

"I am feeling so hot. I don't want to stay in these clothes."

When she tried to pull her dress her milky thighs were showing to Arvan. He tightened his fists. He did his best to control himself.

"You can't take off your clothes."

"Why not?"

"It's not proper behavior for you. Come back to your sense, Rose."

"No Arvan, you always avoid me. Tell me, don't you like my body? Then why can't you do something to me?"

Arvan was dumbfounded. He immediately called Harry.

"Harry."

"I know what happened. I came to check Blaze."

Arvan got mad when he heard about Blaze.

"What happened to him?"

"Someone drugged him. It's an aphrodisiac. Rose is also drugged with that. Because Liam told me that she is releasing her pheromones."

Arvan was shocked. "Who dared to do that?"

"How would I know Arvan?"

"What about Rose now?"

"Just try to convince her to sleep. Otherwise, her pheromones will grab the attention of other Alpha. It's like her heat. I can't give medicine for that. Her body is very sensitive to this."

Arvan was listening to him while gazing at Rose who had put off her clothes. He immediately cut the call and went to her.

"What are you doing? Stop it." He said and covered her with a quilt.

"I am feeling very hot Arvan, my lower abdomen is hurting. Please help me." She pushed the cover and looked at him with teary eyes.

Arvan sighed at her. "You will regret it tomorrow if I do something with you tonight."

Rose shook her head. "No, I don't. I promise."