

Chapter 379

Sophia's POV

Luisa? Why is she here, lying on Bruce's bed, and, moreover, not wearing any clothes?

Nevertheless, my eyes fell on Bruce who is lying next to her.

They seemed unaware that someone had entered, as they were preparing to start a new round of climax.

I saw them kissing passionately. Bruce's hands were caressing Luisa's breasts tenderly and then going down her slender belly and ending up at her clean, hairless pussy. Luisa broke the kiss from Bruce's lips and moaned loudly as Bruce's hand played wildly inside her pussy.

Luisa squeezes Bruce's hair with her eyes closed and lips emitting moans of pleasure. Bruce's lips traced every inch of Luisa's beautiful body while leaving several kiss marks. Both of them seemed to be overpowered by an uncontrollable mad lust.

Luisa opened her legs wide to let Bruce's hands play with her pussy more freely and they kiss again.

Outrageous!

I entered the room.

I could not believe my eyes. I felt a pang in my heart. My eyes began to well up with tears as I uttered his name.

"Bruce?"

My sudden appearance finally interrupted their actions, and they both looked at me.

Louise looked shocked when she saw me, as if she were looking at a ghost.

"Y-You! W-Why are you here?" She asked and immediately tried to cover herself.

Bruce saw me appearing in the room and instinctively shielded Louise behind him.

"Sophia?" Meanwhile, he is covering himself with his hand.

I wanted to scream, but I didn't. I just let the tears fall from my face.

“Why?”

I felt as if the ground had slipped beneath my feet. It would have been better if I had buried myself before seeing this.

Bruce looked stunned when he saw me. What would he think? He would keep cheating on me, and I could not get to know about it?

"How could you?" I took a step back. I felt heavy in my chest.

The person I most trusted betrayed me!

I had always wished to spend the rest of my life with him. I thought I was a lucky girl to have him, but what did I get in return?

Cheating?

"Sophia, whatever you are thinking, nothing is like that, baby."

Bruce quickly put on his clothes, approached, and grabbed my hand. When he touched me, I felt disgusted.

I yanked my hand out of his grasp and slapped him.

I turned my head toward Luisa. Her head was down. How could she have done that? Wasn't she my best friend?

"And you?" I muttered to her.

She looked at me and shook her head. She forgot she was wrapped in a blanket. Her blanket had fallen from her chest.

A few marks on her naked body became visible in front of my eyes.

When I saw that, I almost fell to the floor.

I was speechless. How could they play dirty with me?

"How long?" I asked.

He was silent. Why? Why was he so quiet right now? It had been two years since we had been in a relationship. He promised me to be a loyal man. He vowed to me that he would mark me and make me his mate.

A few years ago, I went to the pack house with my brother when he wasn't yet the Gamma. That time, I met Bruce. He began to show up at my school to meet me. We began dating a few months later. He had already rejected his mate at that time. He told me that he had rejected his mate because she had cheated on him.

But what exactly was he doing now?

"I ASKED HOW LONG???" I yelled at him.

He remained silent, not even making eye contact.

I went to Luisa. "You, tell me. How long have you been doing this behind my back with him?"

I wanted to hear for myself how long they had made a fool out of me.

"O-One year." She replied as she turned away from me.

I bit my lips, almost bleeding. I could not take more stabs in my heart.

"Why did you cheat on me?" I stared at him.

Bruce took my hand and walked out the door. He closed the door and shook my hand away.

"Is it hard to accept? You never let me touch you. I am an Alpha. I have some desires that I need to fulfill. So I had to go another route."

"I-I was waiting to turn eighteen. I wanted to become your mate and wife. Before doing anything, I wanted to give our relationship a name. I have never considered another man. I was saving myself just for you. But couldn't you wait for me? Not even another year? You started cheating on me after only one year of our relationship?"

I tightened my fists to stop crying. I took a deep breath.

"Everything is over. The relationship between us is over." I told Bruce.

"SOPHIA"

Bruce grabbed my shoulder.

"Don't touch me." I broke free.

Bruce became mad and suddenly gave me a slap

"How dare you say that you broke up with me? You can't go anyway. No one will accept you. Everyone knows that you are my girlfriend. You are a weak Omega. No one will make you his wife but a plaything. You should be relieved that I am still in love with you. So just forget everything and pretend you haven't seen anything."

I stared at him. How could a man be so shameless? I wanted to slap myself for falling for him. His words made me even more despised.

I pushed him hard.

"You don't have to think about me. Go play with your Luisa like you have been doing all these times."

Saying that, I walked out of the pack.

My legs felt shaky. I had no idea where to go. What should I do now? What would I do with this betrayal in my life?

How would I explain Bruce to my mother and brother? I promised to introduce him to them soon. My brother appeared to be very knowledgeable about people. He had warned me about Bruce before, but I never paid attention to his words.

How stupid I was!

Tomorrow was my eighteenth birthday. Fate really gave me a great present!

I thought they were preparing something for my birthday, but little did I know they had been cheating on me for a long time.

Why did all of this happen to me? I was a simple girl who was happy with her small family. Why did he come and break me so badly?

He called me a weak omega! He thought about me like this all the time?

I walked like a crazy woman to the road. I had no idea where I was or how long I had been walking.

My steps became slower as I began to feel the sun, and its intensity nearly drove me insane. I was sweating, crying, and depressed.

I could hear horns behind me.

"Hey, girl! Go die somewhere else. Get out of our path. Our Alpha is getting late."

I was so occupied in my messed-up mind that I could not hear the driver clearly.

When I turned around, I was astounded to see a long line of black cars behind me.

A bulky man emerged from a car that was in the middle of the other cars. Then he opened the back door for someone.

A man in a black suit came out and made his way towards me.

Because of the sunlight and my glossy eyes, I could not see his face.

He took a slow stride forward and came to a halt in front of me. His presence blocked the sunlight from falling on my face.

I blinked to get a better look at him.

It was Bryan Morrison!

How did I end up meeting him twice on the same day?

I was unable to think of what to call him now.

Big brother-in-law? Bryan? Alpha?

He had a frown on his face as he stared at me. He might be wondering why I was in the middle of the road.

"I-I..."