Allison gave a brief peek in the direction of Ryan. Surprisingly, he was staring intently at Georgiana the whole time.

He slightly shook his head at Georgiana.

If Allison did not look at him carefully, she could not see his little move.

"N-Nice to meet you, Al-"

"Ryan"

His cold voice made Alpha Neil frown at him.

"No no. It's okay, Neil." Georgiana said immediately.

to her?"

"Talk to her nicely. Stop being a brat. She is a powerful lady."

"He was abroad all this time. He recently came back for his brother's coronation." Luna Ella said to Georgiana.

Allison felt that she was defending Ryan. But Ryan was calm as usual. His father's tone did not Ryan scoffed when he heard that. "Excuse me? I didn't come here for him. I came here because

Though the other guests were a little far from them, they surely heard Ryan's words.

Allison stared at Ryan. Since the time he stepped foot into the pack house, he had completely ignored her, he had never given her a glance.

She somehow felt upset. 'Did he take my words to heart and get angry with me?' She thought about how he told her that they should stay away because she wanted that.

She felt a hand grab hers. She looked at her hand and saw Ethan holding it. "Let's go to that side and let the elders talk to each other." Ethan suggested.

She glanced at Ryan, who was looking at his mother.

"Okay." Then After that, Allison and Ethan took a leisurely stroll to the opposite side.

"How is your wolf doing?"

"I am happy that you helped me today. Mom liked it. Thank you."

"You have already thanked me. By the way, you bought that bracelet too. Why didn't you give it

They made themselves comfortable on the couch and had one of the waiters bring them drinks.

"What?"

The party was running for hours. Luna Ella cut the cake, and everyone wished her luck. After that, everyone started to be busy having food and drinks again.

Georgiana stepped towards him and stood beside him.

"Alpha, why didn't you tell me that you are Neil's son?"

"How can I?"

"I will give it to her later." He replied and looked away from her.

"Ah, that's..." He paused and rubbed his neck.

"I find it hard to believe that you are in this pack." Georgiana spoke out. "I don't even believe it myself." Ryan chuckled as he puffed on the cigarette.

A woman was standing at the door, looking at a young man smoking. He was gazing out the "Tsk! Stop calling me that, Georgiana. Call me by my name."

"This is not your coven but my father's pack. I don't want any drama here." He said and turned his head to her.

"What about that gir-"

"Stay away from her. She has nothing to do with anything."

Ryan did not let her complete her sentence. He grabbed her throat and growled at her.

She stepped back. "Y-You haven't told anyone about you yet."

"Why would I? It's none of their business."

He chuckled. "Same trick, not bad."

"Sure he is."

He released his grip on her throat and retreated.

Her black eyes turned green, and she grabbed his wrist.

"I-I wasn't d-do..." She patted his arm, but his grip only tightened.

"You can take over this-"

"You are improving in strength each and every day. Not bad, Georgiana."

The woman appeared to be having trouble breathing as she glanced at him.

"Shut up. I am not here for this. I have many other things to do, and you know that." He replied

"Then let's go back. Ethan is here to handle everything. I have been seeing him since his

"Why don't you tell her who I am? Perhaps after that, she will be able to make up her mind?"

"I know."

"Your brother. He is capable of running this pack."

"Anyway, I am here to enjoy my vacation." He muttered.

"How is she?"

"She is getting better. She is only asking about you."

"Why don't you go back?" She asked with a nervous tone.

Ryan threw the bud of the cigarette and turned to face her.

Georgiana's eyes turned glossy. She lowered her head and replied,

"I know her. She would still want you."

"Why are you crying? Did I grab your neck that hard?"

"She will be fine." He assured her.

She nodded her head. "Thank you for what you have done for her. I am grateful to you." Ryan scoffed at her. "Stop being dramatic and emotional. I don't have any place for emotions."

"No, I am worrying about her." She replied and looked at him.

As if she understood what he was talking about, she let out,

"I will take time here. Something caught my eye. So I want to stay a little while."

She nodded at him. "Then I'm leaving. We will meet soon if you stay here."

Georgiana turned around but was stunned. "You?"

Ryan did not turn his head to see who had come to his room. Allison stared at Georgiana. She came upstairs to go to the washroom, but when she walked to the

"Not you."

Allison glanced at Georgiana. She looked at Ryan and shifted her eyes to her. Then she left the

"I saw what you did downstairs. What are you hiding, Ryan?"
