Jaxson

Rose had fallen asleep shortly after they left. I was surprised she was freaking out. She seemed to be thinking a lot. She had that look. That was a lot to get dropped on you at once. I didnt want to hover her. I figured I would give her space and let her work things out in her head.

Im sure she has questions. I know I would, but right now, she is not thinking clearly; when she fell asleep, Harley said she would stay with her and link me when she woke up. I came back down to my office. I still had a mountain of paperwork to get through, and I was to lead the evening training class as it was the advanced warriors class.

A knock on my door broke me out of my thoughts, "Come in," I call out as I look down at the papers.

I didnt look to see who it was when the door opened,

"Um, Excuse me, Alpha." Looking up, I saw Elder Luke standing there.

"Elder Luke, " I said, standing in front of my desk and offering him the chair. "What can I do for you?"

"Well, I wanted to inform you that I had notified Blackstone Pack. I spoke to an Alpha Harrison."

"He is Alpha Ron's oldest son. He just took over as Alpha."

He nodded. "Yes. I had gathered that much when speaking to him; he did not know much about when a wolf claims sanctuary. he also seemed more annoyed about that boy Corey. Then, about Rose."

"He didn't seem too smart when he came here the other day,"

"I will handle them, but I wanted to speak to you about Rose."

That got my attention as I sat closer to the desk.

"What about her." I didnt mean for it to come out like that.

He held his hands up.

"I just wanted to explain a few things to you."

"Things?" I raised a brow at him.

He nodded.

"There are things about the Moonlight Pack that others do not know. And I think this plays a fact in why Alpha had kept her all these years,"

"And that being?"

Elder Luke went on to explain it all out, and I sat there listening to him. He was right. I had never heard that before, but then again, that pack was wiped out long ago.

"Why have I not heard about this?"

"Because it is something not taught in classrooms. It was kept quiet. They didn't want others to come, wanting to lay claim to ones who were not their true mates. You know what power can do to some. They crave it and will do anything to get it."

He wasn't wrong there. I know plenty of power-hungry Alphas who would kill their members if it meant they would get more robust,

"And you are for sure she is a Moon born?"

He nodded his head,

"Yes, I am. Her father called me the day she was born."

He must have read the look on my face,

"We were good friends. Rose is actually my goddaughter. Her father, Bennet, was like a brother to me. When I found out what happened, I searched, but when I came up empty, I lost hope. I looked everywhere for them."

"Why didn't they just go to your pack?"

"I always wonder that myself, Bennet knew he could always come to me. Even if I wasn't there, my pack knew who he was. They would have taken him in till I returned,"

I sat back.

"Do you think they were forced not to go? Maybe someone knew he would reach out to you and stop him."

"I don't know who. And why would they?"

"I'm not sure, but if you were as close to them as you say. Then, your land would be the first I would head to. I'm sure if the shoe were on the other foot, he would have come to you."

"Oh I have no doubt, I would have went right to him."

"Then it seems as if this was a planned attack, done purposely, and then forced them to go elsewhere for help."

He seemed to take my words in. Letting them play in his head.

"I can't seem to think of anyone who would do that."

"What about Alpha Ron? Do you think he knows about the moon-born thing? Maybe he put this in play for a reason?"

He clasped his fingers together as he leaned forward,

"That could be. I would not know if it was him or if he knew. Many of the older packs that the line goes way back would know of this with the Moonlight Pack. He could very well have been searching for power."

"But what would he want with her? He already has sons with his mate. What could he use her for?"

Elder Luke looked at me when I asked those words,

But then it hit me.

"His son!"

He agreed,

"That's why he had him take a chosen mate and not a fated one; he also wanted him to mate Rose. She is of Alpha blood and a Moon born. He was looking for strengthen his rank wolves,"

"It could very well be. But getting her to carry a pup without marking is hard,"

"Yeah, but no, impossible, it happens, and if he waits till she is in the heat, it will give a higher chance of it."

My wolf was pacing. he let out a snarl as we spoke,

Harrison

I didn't know what to make from what my father told me. How could he want me and my brother to bed with the same female? Landon got pissed and stormed out. He didnt like the thought of what Dad was saying to us.

As he ages, the thought of his mate plays heavily on his mind. He has his little bed warmers he likes but I noticed he seems to be missing something, I, on the other hand, didnt care. I know Morgan isnt my mate i choose her but she is beautiful. Her body is killer. Her attitude and personality suck, but that dont matter. I do not have to like her to sleep with her,

I didnt care. Her actual father was a rogue. She still had access to Alpha Marcus's money, which we needed. Or the money situation was terrible. I do not knwo how we haven't gone under yet.

Dad didnt manage any of the business income. He and his mom just spent it with no account for running out. The business was in bad shape as well,

I always wanted the Alpha title, but right now, I feel frustrated with the whole thing. The pack is suffering, and I need to fix it.

Then he goes and drops this crap about Rose. I mean, sure, we all enjoyed tormenting her. I know my father well enough that he isn't lying about this. He didnt go through all this to have it be fake,

Chpater21

I wasn't sure I wanted to hear what he had been doing. I know we can get into a st ton of trouble for what we did, but I never worried about it because I wasnt Alpha, but now.

I was trying to think. Should I go along with his crazy plan or stop him? I know I went over to Alpha Jaxson, threatening him with war, but I just wanted to get Corey back. I mean, Omega's is a dim a dozen, but Corey is one of Landons' best friends, Landon was not happy when Dad told him he was to be my Beta. And we are by no means wanting our stupid ass cousin here.

Now, the Elders are involved. I do not know how Dad thinks he will win over them. No one goes up against them, Letting out a sigh, I pick up the phone and dial the number. I know what I need to do.

After a few rings,

"Alpha Jaxson." His gruff voice came through,

"It's Alpha Harrison. We need to talk; it is important; it's about Rose."
