

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 141

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 141-“Yes, I’ll come to Cloudmill to visit you tomorrow before returning to Sheysea City,” Audrey said with a smile as she talked to Diego on the phone. “I’ll go directly to the lab!” “Great!” Diego chuckled. “I won’t tell them in advance, so you can surprise them.

Tomorrow is the Cloudmill University Alumni Exchange, and many scholars who graduated from Cloudmill University will come back. I’ll introduce you to them.

They might be able to help you in the future!” Thinking of her seniors such as Justin, Daphne, and Azure, warmth began to fill Audrey’s eyes as she smiled.

“It’s all thanks to you and Professor Ilyich that we have success today at Evergreen Biotech. Professor Douglas... thank you,” Audrey sincerely thanked Diego.

“Don’t say that. We did our part, but you also gave us generous rewards!” Diego chuckled. “The anonymous donations to our labs in recent years were all from you, weren’t they? As well as the research scholarships unique to the Biology Department of Cloudmill University. Were they also provided by you?” Over the years, besides these, Audrey has also sponsored many children from the poor mountain areas who wanted to study. They had hoped to leave the mountains, study hard, and become useful individuals.

“It’s what I should do.” Audrey smiled.

“Alright, let’s not talk about this anymore... Come early tomorrow! I’ll be waiting for you in the lab,” Diego chuckled.

After hanging up the phone, Audrey’s phone vibrated.

Audrey answered, “Hello.” “Ms. Yeomans, I’m Julian Sullivan. It’s like this... because the press conference was very successful, the executives were happy and had a few extra drinks. Mr.

Lambert drank too much, but I’m taking care of my mom at the hospital. Could you please head over and pick up Mr. Lambert?” Julian asked cautiously.

“Where is it?” Audrey put down the glass of water in her hand and walked toward the hallway to change her shoes. She thought for a moment before going back to get a coat for Ryan.

“I sent the location to your phone. It’s in VIP Room 8948. Thank you so much!” Julian said.

After getting into the car, Audrey received the location sent by Julian. It was a thirteen–minute drive from her residence.

At the entrance of Nightfall Club, Audrey said that she was going to VIP Room 8918 to pick someone up. The waiter personally led her inside. Just as they pressed the elevator button, they saw Nathan playing with his phone against the elevator wall as he came up from the underground garage.

“Please...” The waiter’s arm blocked the elevator, asking Audrey to enter first.

He didn’t expect the two of them to meet here. Nathan locked his phone screen and moved slightly to the right. He then greeted with feigned casualness, “Coming to pick your husband up?” Audrey responded perfunctorily and walked into the elevator.

Although Nathan really wanted to know who Audrey’s husband was... Today was not the day.

information.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 142

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 142-Audrey walked directly into the resting lounge of Room 8919 through the side door and found that only Ryan was inside.

Ryan had his head resting against the couch with his eyes closed in exhaustion.

His glasses were placed on the coffee table in front of him alongside a steaming cup of hot tea.

There was only a glass door separating the lounge from the adjacent room, where the company executives that she had met at the airport were still celebrating in. She withdrew her gaze from them and approached Ryan without saying a word. However, Ryan had already opened his eyes could speak.

before she “Why are you here?” Ryan adjusted his position and massaged his temples. He then picked up his frameless glasses and put them on.

“Julian had some urgent family matters to attend to, so he asked me to come pick you up,” Audrey said, leaning forward to offer Ryan the cup of tea. “Are you okay? Do you want me to buy some hangover medicine for you?” “I’m fine. It’s just a bad headache.” Ryan took the tea cup. “Sorry, I couldn’t make it back to the old house to have dinner with you all today.” “It’s okay. I left after dropping Lily off today.” Audrey sat down on the couch beside Ryan.

“Hmm?” Ryan’s deep gaze turned toward Audrey in confusion.

“I still... don’t have the courage to face her. I’m afraid of triggering the memories of her past.” Audrey pretended to smile with resignation. “I’ll wait a little longer.” Ryan nodded slightly and blew the hot tea. He then took a sip and massaged his temples again before placing the cup back on the table. “Let’s go back then.” Audrey draped her coat over Ryan’s shoulders and helped him up.

He glanced at Audrey’s hand holding his arm and leaned his body toward Audrey. He pretended to be drunk and rested the weight of his body on Audrey.

“Sorry,” Ryan apologized. But just as he was about to stand up straight, Audrey supported him even.

more.

“It’s okay, I’ll help you. Do you want to say goodbye to your coworkers?” she asked.

“No need. They’re having fun, so there’s no need to bother them.” “Then let’s go!” Ryan lowered his eyes and looked at Audrey, who was much shorter than him.

She was struggling to support him and to push the door open to walk out. He couldn’t hide the amusement in his dark and deep eyes.

Audrey helped him into the car and saw Ryan closing his eyes in discomfort, so she carefully fastened his seat belt for him.

On the way back, Audrey pulled over when she passed by a drug store and flashed her lights. When she went to buy medicine for Ryan, he turned his head to look at Audrey walking into the drug store quickly. The corners of his lips raised as he placed his hands on Lily's safety seat. He obviously felt very happy.

Then, the phone in his pocket vibrated, and he answered it.

"Mr. Lambert, where did you go?" "I have a headache and don't feel well, so my family came to pick me up. Since you are all having good time, I didn't want to disturb you.

After getting in the car, Audrey turned to look at Ryan, who had his eyes closed.

She casually placed the medicine on the passenger seat and drove him home.

"Ryan?" Audrey supported Ryan as he bent over and rested his head on her shoulder. "Are you able to stand up straight? Let me switch on the lights..." As soon as she finished speaking, Audrey felt a heavy pressure on her lips. She was kissed by Ryan.

Audrey's eyes widened. She held onto Ryan's wrist tightly and her whole body tensed up.

flat.

Her mind went blank for a moment, and the familiar yet unfamiliar scent of the man in front of her enveloped her. There was also a faint smell of alcohol.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 143

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 143-The kiss wasn't deep, but Audrey felt like she was suffocating.

Just as Audrey was lost in thought, Ryan released her lips and pressed his forehead against hers.

“May 1?” Ryan’s mellow and deep voice sounded in the cramped space of the entrance, making her cars warm.

“What... What?” When Audrey opened her mouth to speak, she realized that her voice was trembling.

Ryan raised his hand to caress her delicate face and rubbed her lips with his thumb. “Can I kiss you?” Without waiting for Audrey to answer, Ryan’s sexy thin lips pressed down again.

The smell of alcohol filled her lungs, making her lose her mind.

Her whole face was on fire, and she pushed him in a panic, turning her head to avoid it. “You’re drunk!” and As soon as Audrey pushed Ryan away, he held her thin wrists behind her with one hand, proceeded to seal her lips. The arm that held her wrists pressed her thin waist toward him. He pried her mouth open, and the kiss was getting deeper and harder.

The car keys and the plastic bag containing hangover medicine slipped from Audrey’s hands. The sound was very clear in the quiet entrance, making Audrey panic.

She wanted to end the kiss, so she struggled out of Ryan’s strong grip by pushing her hand against his chest.

But Ryan’s hot body pushed her against the door with great force, leaving her no room to retreat.

Audrey clutched onto Ryan’s suit tightly as goosebumps appeared on her skin.

Her spine trembled uncontrollably, and her legs became so weak that she could hardly stand. She didn’t know if it was. due to lack of oxygen, but she couldn’t even push hard enough. She was unable to whine.

She actually felt something because of this kiss, and the shame almost suffocated her.

Feeling Ryan’s change, Audrey’s heart almost jumped out of her throat, and her breathing became rapid.

Ryan suddenly picked Audrey up. She was limp, like a puddle, and a child.

Audrey exclaimed as she hugged Ryan's neck tightly, looking down at Ryan who was breathing heavily.

Without waiting for her to react, she was placed on the shoe cabinet at the entrance hall.

"Ryan..." She opened and closed her lips, which were red from being kissed.

Softly, she called out Ryan's name, but it sounded slightly seductive.

Ryan took off his glasses and threw them aside. He then kissed her again and wrapped her slender legs around his waist.

Audrey was frightened, and her legs had nowhere to rest for a moment. But Ryan forcefully held her waist down and pressed her closer to hit "I want you!" Ryan grabbed the back of Audrey's head and kissed her lips again after speaking, "Can you give yourself to me?" Audrey clasped onto Ryan's shoulders tightly with her hands. Her mind was in a mess "You.... You're drunk..." Before Audrey could finish speaking, Ryan kissed her again.

balcony.

She picked up the call and put the phone to her ear, saying, "Hello."

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 144

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 144-Audrey raised her hand to tuck the messy strands of hair behind her ears and cleared her throat, saying, "Is the Franklin family in such a hurry?" "They are indeed quite urgent!" "Although they are in a hurry, let's not rush them. We, at Evergreen Biotech, have always offered domestic partners prices tens of times lower than those for foreign partners. This is to benefit our own country with our technology. I don't want a repeat of what happened to the collaboration with Yellowfield Corporation last time, so... If they don't agree to our conditions, we'll just keep pressing them." Audrey said.

Previously, when collaborating with Yellowfield Corporation in Cascadia, they raised the price even higher than the foreign medical centers. If Audrey wasn't facing difficulties in the domestic collaboration process and delayed putting it into use, she would have definitely let Evergreen handle the negotiations with hospitals.

“But Simon said that, in business, the goal is to make money... for “It’s not that we didn’t leave room for profit for the Franklin family; we just didn’t leave room profit for ourselves. If they can’t accept it, then so be it! Tell Simon that this is what I said, and no one can go against it. It doesn’t matter who tries to plead as well.” Seeing Audrey’s firm tone, the other person didn’t say anything more and only responded, “Alright, I understand! You focus on your work. Rest assured, we’ll handle the rest.” “Alright.” After hanging up the phone, Audrey clutched onto her mobile phone and looked toward the dazzling lights of Mythravia in the distance. She then made a call to Lily.

“Mommy!” Lily’s cheerful voice came through, “Mommy, I’m playing with mud with Wandflower! Wandflower said that the small cup I made can be used to drink water after being fired. I also made cups for mommy, Dallas, and daddy! I also drew all of you on them! Wandflower praised my drawing as very beautiful!” A faint smile appeared on Audrey’s lips. “Okay, then you have a good time with Wandflower and Mr. Lambert Senior.” “Don’t worry, Mommy! I will take good care of Mr. Lambert Senior and Wandflower!” After hanging up the phone, Audrey called Dallas. The little one might still be upset and did not answer her calls, so she called Stephen, who told her that Dallas was fine, putting her mind at ease.

When Audrey’s emotions had calmed down enough, she returned from the balcony. There was no sign of Ryan in the living room.

She noticed the hangover medicine and car keys that Ryan had placed on the dining table. She thought for a moment before pouring a glass of warm water and taking out the hangover medicine to Chapter 144 place them on the coffee table. She pushed open the door and saw Ryan wrapped in a bath towel, coming out of the bathroom.

Audrey froze and quickly closed the door. She then bit her lip and blushed as if she was on fire. “I thought you were in the master bedroom.” Last night, Ryan took Lily to sleep in the master bathroom. After Audrey fell asleep in the living room, she defaulted to staying in the guest room. Ryan probably wanted to leave the master bedroom to her, so he showered in the guest bedroom.

Ryan changed into casual clothes and came out, with his wet ink–black short hair still sticking messily to his forehead.

Ryan, without his glasses, appeared with much sharper features.

“You sleep in the master bedroom,” Ryan said.

“I’ve poured some water for you. Take the hangover medicine and rest early,” Audrey closed her laptop and said as she stood up, “I’m going to Sheysea City tomorrow. I’ll come back after handling things.” “Okay, I’ll wait for you! During this period, I will often go back to the Lambert’s old house to accompany Lily. Don’t worry too much.” Ryan’s gaze fell on the corner of Audrey’s lips, which had been bitten, “Wait a moment and sit down first.” “Hmm?” Audrey was puzzled.

Ryan took out a medical kit from under the TV cabinet and pointed to the corner of Audrey’s lips. “Here... it’s broken.” Audrey winced when her finger lightly touched it.

Ryan pressed Audrey to sit down. He opened a bottle of distilled water and dampened a with it before wiping away the bloodstains.

cotton ball The two were very close—so close that Audrey could see Ryan’s extraordinarily long eyelashes. Her breathing became irregular again, and her gaze shifted to the side.

Chapter 144 Audrey raised her hand to tuck the messy strands of hair behind her ears and cleared her throat, saying, “Is the Franklin family in such a hurry?” “They are indeed quite urgent!” “Although they are in a hurry, let’s not rush them. We, at Evergreen Biotech, have always offered domestic partners prices tens of times lower than those for foreign partners. This is to benefit our own country with our technology. I don’t want a repeat of what happened to the collaboration with Yellowfield Corporation last time, so... If they don’t agree to our conditions, we’ll just keep pressing them.” Audrey said.

Previously, when collaborating with Yellowfield Corporation in Cascadia, they raised the price even higher than the foreign medical centers. If Audrey wasn’t facing difficulties in the domestic collaboration process and delayed putting it into use, she would have definitely let Evergreen handle the negotiations with hospitals.

“But Sim Simon said that, in business, the goal is to make money...” “It’s not that we didn’t leave room for profit for the Franklin family; we just didn’t leave room for profit for ourselves. If they can’t accept it, then so be it! Tell Simon that this is what I said, and no one can go against it. It doesn’t matter who tries to plead as well.” Seeing Audrey’s firm tone, the other person didn’t say anything more and only responded, “Alright, I understand! You focus on your work. Rest assured, we’ll handle the rest.” “Alright.” After hanging up the phone, Audrey clutched onto her mobile phone and looked toward the dazzling lights of Mythravia in the distance. She then made a call to Lily.

“Mommy!” Lily’s cheerful voice came through, “Mommy, I’m playing with mud with Wandflower! Wandflower said that the small cup I made can be used to drink water after being fired. I also made cups for mommy, Dallas, and daddy! I also drew all of you on them! Wandflower praised my drawing as very beautiful!” A faint smile appeared on Audrey’s lips. “Okay, then you have a good time with Wandflower and Mr.

Lambert Senior.” “Don’t worry, Mommy! I will take good care of Mr. Lambert Senior and Wandflower!” After hanging up the phone, Audrey called Dallas. The little one might still be upset and did not answer her calls, so she called Stephen, who told her that Dallas was fine, putting her mind at ease.

When Audrey’s emotions had calmed down enough, she returned from the balcony. There was no sign of Ryan in the living room.

She noticed the hangover medicine and car keys that Ryan had placed on the dining table. She thought for a moment before pouring a glass of warm water and taking out the hangover medicine to place them on the coffee table. She pushed open the door and saw Ryan wrapped in a bath towel, coming out of the bathroom.

Audrey froze and quickly closed the door. She then bit her lip and blushed as if she was on fire. “I thought you were in the master bedroom.”

Ryan changed into casual clothes and came out, with his wet ink–black short hair still sticking messily to his forehead.

Ryan, without his glasses, appeared with much sharper features.

“You sleep in the master bedroom,” Ryan said.

“Hmm?” Audrey was puzzled.

Ryan took out a medical kit from under the TV cabinet and pointed to the corner of Audrey’s lips.” Here... it’s broken.” Audrey winced when her finger lightly touched it.

Ryan pressed Audrey to sit down. He opened a bottle of distilled water and dampened a cotton ball with it before wiping away the bloodstains.

The two were very close—so close that Audrey could see Ryan’s extraordinarily long eyelashes. Her breathing became irregular again, and her gaze shifted to the side.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 145

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 145-“Thank you.

“Sorry!” Both of their voices sounded simultaneously.

Ryan looked at Audrey’s expression and couldn’t help but move closer.

Audrey, holding her laptop in her arms, quickly dodged backward and said, “My... My lips are broken.

“Mmm, I know.” Ryan’s deep stare locked fixedly onto hers. He then leaned in again to lightly kiss her lips, lingeringly to caress the corner of her lips, “Sorry, I’ll be more careful next time.” Audrey then stood up with her laptop in her arms, bid goodnight, and hurriedly returned to the master bedroom, as if she was escaping.

Even though she had to return to Cloudmill early the next morning, Audrey had a restless night.

Every time she closed her eyes, the scene where she was kissing Ryan replayed itself, and she reached up to touch her swollen lips. Her body seemed to instantly recall the feeling of Ryan kissing her, and a shiver ran through her body. She couldn’t help but curl up and bury half her face in the quilt.

Standing in front of the Cloudmill University’s laboratory building once again, Audrey couldn’t help but tug up the corner of her lips.

It felt like nothing had changed.

She walked up the steps with coffee for everyone in the laboratory, only to see Joseph wearing a suit and carrying a bag of milk in his mouth. He was exiting the laboratory while talking on the phone.

“Long time no see!” Audrey smiled at Joseph.

Joseph widened his eyes and quickly hung up the phone. He stepped forward to help Audrey with the coffee and mumbled with the milk in his mouth, "Why are you here all of a sudden?" "I just returned to the country and came to see you guys." Audrey smiled and walked into the experimental building with Joseph.

Audrey's sudden appearance made Daphne scream like a chicken. She rushed out from behind the computer desk and hugged Audrey.

"Ah! Audrey! You're finally back!" Daphne turned her head and shouted inside, "Hubby! Azure! Audrey is back!" "Here's coffee for everyone, courtesy of Audrey!" Joseph put the coffee on the computer desk.

Soon, Azure and Justin also came out of the lab and hugged Audrey one by one, introducing her to the new juniors.

"What's the matter with you! You didn't contact us for so many years after going abroad!" Azure lightly pinched Audrey's arm. "Every time I asked Professor Douglas, he said you were conducting confidential experiments and couldn't contact the outside world!"

Justin rubbed his nose. "Maybe not. The professor said that all of us need to go today." "It's okay, the professor asked me to come today too. After it's over, we can gather in the evening." Audrey smiled.

"Thank you for remembering, Justin!" Audrey gave a sincere smile.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 146

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 146-The usually carefree Daphne thought of her child at home.

She tugged at Justin's sleeve and spoke softly, "Could you have the housekeeper bring the child to my mom's place? I got pregnant around the same time as Audrey, but her child didn't make it. I don't want Audrey to feel sad when she sees the child." "My wife is truly wise!" Justin praised Daphne.

Meanwhile, Audrey was chatting with her seniors when she got a call from Diego. He had asked both her and Joseph to go to the auditorium.

After hanging up, Audrey said, "I'll go ahead." "Sure! You and Joseph go first. We'll join you after we change!" Daphine replied.

Joseph was originally heading to the venue but ran into Audrey, which delayed him.

"Okay!" Audrey nodded.

As they walked along the tree-lined path on campus, Joseph hesitated before asking her, "My cousin mentioned seeing you in Mythra via, and you were with a girl." Audrey didn't mind Joseph's inquiry and smiled at him. "What do you want to know?" Joseph scratched his head. "Sorry, Audrey, I'm just a bit curious. I admit my cousin asked me to ask, but I won't tell him! It's just..." "It's okay." Audrey smiled. "The child isn't his! I've always said that the child isn't Nathan's." Joseph nodded. "Okay, I won't say anything." The wind rustled through the leaves, creating a soothing sound.

Joseph and Audrey walked side by side, feeling the silence becoming too awkward.

Joseph scratched his head as he tried to find something to say. "Oh, by the way, the Sheysea Graduate School swimming team is coming to compete with our swimming team this afternoon. Do you want to go and watch?" "I'm not going. I'm heading back to Sheysea this afternoon." Joseph nodded, unsure of what else to say to Audrey. He lowered his head and didn't notice the basketball flying from the playground.

"Be careful!" There was a shout from the playground.

Audrey quickly reached out to block the basketball, and it hit her elbow hard before bouncing off.

Joseph was a bit stunned.

The boys playing basketball ran over, picking up the basketball and apologizing.

"Sorry..." One of the boys saw Audrey and suddenly pointed at her. "Are you Audrey?" Audrey hadn't seen the boy before. "And you are?" Seeing Audrey confirm her identity, the boy smirked and glanced at his companions before looking back at Audrey.

“I’m from Sheysea University. It’s unexpected to see you here at Cloudmill University.” Audrey’s expression darkened, and she said to Joseph, “Let’s go...” “Where are you going? Are you afraid that your secrets from Sheysea University will be exposed?”

Before Audrey could speak, Joseph punched the boy in the face.

“Bullshit!” Joseph pinned the boy down and started throwing punches.

The students playing basketball nearby noticed the commotion and rushed over.

“Stop it!” Audrey tried to pull Joseph away but was pushed back by his burning rage.

“Damn it! We came to Cloudmill University for a match, not to get beaten up by your people!”

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 147

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 147-“Who gave you the guts to bully our people in our University?” The students from both sides clashed together.

Then, Audrey shouted several times, “If you don’t stop, I’ll call the police!” Only then, did everyone gradually cease their actions.

The prospect of police involvement could escalate the situation, and possibly resulting in disciplinary actions. The security guards intervened and separated the students from both sides.

Joseph spat out a mouthful of blood.

He wiped the corners of his mouth with his sleeve and glared at the students from Sheysea University.

Soon, the leader from Sheysea University and the teachers coordinating the competition arrived hurriedly.

“What’s going on here? You came to another school for a friendly match, and instead, you ended up fighting at their school?” The leader from Sheysea University scolded, The coordinating teacher from Cloudmill University also scolded their students, “What are you doing! Sheysea University came as guests, but you threw punches at the guests? Do you want to be disciplined?” “They insulted our students first!” Joseph protested as he pointed across.

“You’re the ones who started it!” the students from Sheysea University pointed back.

Both sides were aggressive, as if they were ready to engage in another altercation at any moment.

Audrey then explained the situation to the teachers from both sides and took out her phone to play the recording from earlier.

The boy who had come to retrieve the ball earlier hadn’t expected Audrey to have recorded it. His face turned pale.

reserve the right to pursue legal action,” Audrey said as she pocketed her phone. Then, she turned to the boy who had retrieved the ball. “Which department are you from at Sheysea University? What’s your name?” The boy clenched his fists and remained silent.

“Which department at Sheysea University? What’s your name?” Audrey asked again.

“Biological Sciences, Jacob Thompson.” Jacob gritted his teeth.

Jacob?

Well... “The third-ranked student from the Biological Sciences Department at Sheysea University? Scheduled to intern at Evergreen Biotech this year?” Audrey asked again.

Jacob didn’t expect Audrey to know this and looked somewhat astonished.

you know?” “How did you In the recent years, Audrey had provided additional scholarships to several universities’ biology departments, hoping to foster the development of biology in Cascadia.

Jacob was one of the beneficiaries. He was also one of the students internally selected to intern at Evergreen Biotech this year.

Audrey glanced at Jacob without saying anything.

Joseph was a prominent figure at Cloudmill University.

Moreover, he was Diego's favorite, making him extremely well-known among Cloudmill University's faculty.

The coordinating teacher from Cloudmill University nodded and gestured toward Joseph. "Then go ahead! I'll handle things here!"

What did Audrey mean just now?

How did she know he ranked third in the Biology Department and was going to intern at Evergreen Biotech?

"I'm asking you something, did you hear me?" the leader from Sheysea University knocked on Jacob's head lightly.

"Yes, I did!" Jacob replied.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 148

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 148-Joseph's suit and shirt were all dirty.

Audrey bought some medicine and band-aids when he returned to the dormitory to change.

When Joseph came downstairs, Audrey pulled him to sit on a bench and treated his wounds.

Joseph spoke up, "That person was just talking nonsense; don't take it to heart.

I don't believe you'd drug someone and take advantage of them! But... did Nathan really post your picture?" "Yeah," Audrey replied and focused on treating the wound.

Joseph clenched his fists. "I'm sorry!" "It's not your fault." Audrey chuckled softly. "You don't need to feel sorry." "Actually... What's the situation between you and Nathan?" Joseph widened his eyes and looked at Audrey. "Don't mind me. I grew up abroad and only reconnected with Nathan's family five years ago, so I'm not familiar with your situation. What I've heard from others is just a mess.” “It’s nothing much.” Audrey used a cotton swab dipped in iodine to clean the wounds on Joseph’s lip and chin.

“When I was a child, I accidentally saved Nathan, who was kidnapped. He then took me back to the Franklin family, and later, we got together.

“Then... on his 22nd birthday, he took me to register our marriage. But just after we registered, he had an accident and lost his memory while I became a vegetable! After Nathan lost his memory, he fell in love with someone else.

“When I woke up, I tried to make him remember our past, but he thought I had drugged him and posted my picture. Then, I came to Cloudmill University, and you know the rest...” “So...” Joseph grabbed Audrey’s wrist. “Is the child really Nathan’s? You didn’t have an abortion back then?” Seeing Audrey’s gaze fall on his hand, Joseph quickly let her go. “I’m sorry.” “The child isn’t Nathan’s, just mine...” Audrey took out a band-aid and helped Joseph put it on.

“Audrey... if, I mean if, Nathan remembers and regrets his actions, will you forgive him and reconcile with him?” Joseph sounded anxious.

“I feel like Nathan might be starting to regain his memory! I can sense it! His feelings for you... They’re different! Even if he hasn’t remembered the past yet.” “If you were me, and Nathan had killed your foster mother and covered up for the culprit who drove you, my sister to jump off the building, and then he regained his memory and came to find.

be with him?” Audrey looked at Joseph with a faint smile.

Joseph pursed his lips. “So... Do you regret being with him now?” “Nathan was redemption for the old me. He turned me from a person wallowing in self-pity in the gutter into a resilient one,” Audrey replied.

Audrey uttered these words that seemed both affirming and negating.

He used his hands that once pulled her into the light to push her deeper into the abyss.

How could she not regret it? How could she not hate him?

Diego was chatting and laughing with several school leaders and some scientific elites in the auditorium.

He waved eagerly as soon as he saw Audrey and Joseph. “Audrey, Joseph, come over here!” When Diego noticed the band-aid on Joseph’s face, he paused briefly.

“I accidentally bumped into something while walking just now, but Audrey helped me take care of it.” Joseph smiled.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 149

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 149-Joseph smiled and shook hands with the others.

Diego remembered Audrey’s request not to reveal her identity as the founder of Evergreen Biotech, he simply said, “This is Audrey. She’s currently working at Evergreen Biotech.” “Audrey, I’ve heard so much about you! You made a big impression at the exchange meeting in Slovomia four years ago!” An older biologist shook hands with Audrey.

“It’s a pity I couldn’t attend that time. My colleague said you were very admirable. I haven’t heard much about you since then. Is it because of your work at Evergreen Biotech?” “Yes.” Audrey nodded. “Many experiments involve confidentiality, you see. But I do enjoy the feeling of being immersed in my lab work.” The group chatted happily.

Since Audrey claimed to be solely focused on her experiments, she brushed off any attempts to inquire about the founder of Evergreen Biotech, saying she hadn’t met them and wasn’t interested anyway.

Audrey joined her former lab seniors for dinner at Justin and Daphne’s home that evening.

The housekeeper had prepared everything and took the children to Daphne’s mother’s house.

The group gathered around the table.

They ate and shared stories from their lab days—most of which were jokes by Daphne—leaving Audrey laughing heartily.

Joseph’s phone had been vibrating in his pocket the whole time. He glanced at Audrey, then walked to the balcony to answer the call.

“Nathan, please don’t call me anymore,” Joseph said. “I won’t tell you anything about Audrey! I won’t relay messages for you or tell you that the child is yours!” Joseph realized he had let something slip and quickly covered his mouth.

There was dead silence on the other end of the phone.

After a while, Joseph spoke again, “Nathan, please stop interfering with Audrey’s life! Just marry Amelia properly! Spare yourself... and spare Audrey!” He hung up the phone and returned to the table, joining Audrey in lively conversation.

On the other end of the phone, Carol urged, “How did it go? What did Joseph say?” Nathan was in utter shock.

In other words, that sweet little girl was really his daughter!

Carol became even more anxious seeing Nathan’s ashen face and rapid breathing.

She grabbed Nathan’s arm. “Is the child really from our family?”

“Joseph doesn’t know,” Nathan said.

“That child doesn’t resemble me at all. Audrey probably adopted her. Don’t worry so much,” Nathan said, getting up to leave.

Carol followed after him.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 150

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 150-Nathan stormed out and slammed the door behind him.

Carol furrowed her brows in annoyance and grabbed her coat before heading to her room.

Nathan couldn’t get Carol’s words out of his head. “I heard Audrey’s voice when I was on the phone with Joseph this morning,” she’d said.

He drove with one hand on the wheel.

Some things became clearer in Nathan's mind.

In high school, during the joint military training, someone confessed to Audrey— and he punched them without hesitation.

Audrey took him to the infirmary to tend to his split lip.

Audrey wore two braids in his memory, and sunlight streamed through the window, outlining her delicate features.

She carefully tended to his wound with a cotton swab, gently blowing on it.

Nathan was caught up in the moment and kissed Audrey softly.

The soft and fragrant sensation of her lips jolted him back to reality.

Reeling from the shock of what he'd just done, he hastily grabbed his camouflage uniform and fled the infirmary.

He also remembered how Audrey consistently ranked first in school in every exam while he always hovered near the bottom few.

Standing in front of the grade announcement board, Audrey, with her high ponytail, would first search for his name on the list.

She would calmly accept congratulations from others, but upon seeing his improvement, her face would light up instantly. "You've made progress this time.

Keep up the good work!" He remembered Hugo sighing and saying to them, "Audrey scored 300 in the comprehensive exam because the paper was only worth 300 points! We're just not the same..." Nathan furrowed his brows and touched his lips.

The sensation of Audrey's lips and his racing heart made it impossible for him to control himself.

He could even recall his slight sense of inferiority back then—constantly feeling like he couldn't match up to Audrey's brilliance.

She excelled at everything she did; and no matter how hard he tried, he couldn't catch up to her. He slammed the brakes and stopped the car on the side of the road. He clutched his chest tightly, feeling like he was suffocating from the pain.

In his mind, he pictured the day he bumped into Audrey in the elevator.

She was holding a man's coat and said she was going to pick her husband up.

The pain in his chest intensified, making it impossible to breathe.

Nathan clutched his shirt tightly over his chest.

His forehead was covered in a fine layer of sweat, his veins bulging at the surface. It was as if Audrey's countless voices were drilling into his mind, the fresh memory of their conversations resurfacing.

"Audrey, let's go to the amusement park this weekend!" "I'll go if you score 90 on the math exam this time!" "Nathan, do you like me?"

"Then why did you secretly kiss me?" "Nathan, we're even now!" These were Audrey's playful voices.

voice.

Nathan lifted his head, and his eyes were bloodshot.