

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 193 -200

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 193-“Do you know that Charles used the Evergreen Biotech formula to pay off his debts at the casino?” Nathan’s tone grew louder. “Franklin Group and Evergreen Biotech have signed a confidentiality agreement! Does Charles even realize that his actions could ruin us?” Amelia was also shocked to hear this. “How is that possible?” “Where is he?” Nathan’s voice was filled with hostility.

Amelia clenched her phone tightly. “He... he’s in my apartment in Mythravia.” “Evergreen Biotech has already made a police report. Charles can expect to spend a long time behind bars this time!” Nathan ended the call.

He slammed his fist on the steering wheel, and the sharp sound of the horn echoed in the parking lot.

Nathan gripped the steering wheel and tugged at his tie to force himself to calm down.

He then called the head of Franklin Group’s legal department, Edmond.

“Mr. Marshman, the Evergreen Biotech formula we possessed has been leaked.

Take a look at the contract and see how we should respond.” Nathan threw his phone aside as soon as he was done speaking. He stepped on the gas pedal and drove toward Amelia’s apartment in Mythravia.

The entire legal department of Franklin Group was summoned back to the company, working overnight to study the contract and come up with countermeasures.

The legal department was on the verge of insanity. Initially, the contract with Evergreen Biotech stated that if this collaboration were successful, Franklin Group would be able to work on the next cancer drug.

At the time, the legal department was still rejoicing, thinking that Franklin Group was about to rise.

They never expected Charles to create such a huge mess behind their backs.

They would all lose their jobs if this matter couldn't be resolved properly.

They had often been tasked with cleaning up Charles' mess over the years. But this time, he had leaked the formula of Evergreen Biotech!

They had signed a confidentiality agreement, and the astronomical compensation of over 30 billion would bankrupt the Franklin Group.

Nathan arrived at Amelia's apartment and entered with the passcode.

He saw Charles sitting on the couch, clearly drunk.

Charles staggered to his feet. "Nathan..." Nathan walked up to Charles and kicked him to the ground.

"Nathan?!" Charles grabbed onto the couch for support. He was shocked as he looked up at Nathan.

"What the hell have you done? How dare you steal the Evergreen Biotech formula!" Nathan's voice was filled with fury.

Charles suddenly sobered up, his face turning pale.

He knelt before Nathan. "Nathan, I was forced by the people from the casino!

They would have harvested my organs if I didn't steal the formula! I had no choice. Nathan delivered another kick, causing Charles to stagger backward and knock over the table lamp on the corner table..

Ceramic shards pierced into Charles' arm.

Charles screamed in pain, but he gritted his teeth and managed to crawl to his knees.

Nathan grabbed Charles by the hair, forcing him to tilt his head back. "Audrey forced you to steal the formula? Or did she force you to gamble?"

"Nathan!" Charles reached out to grasp Nathan's leg. "Nathan, I know I was wrong! I've already been punished for it! Nathan, please save me." Suddenly, Amelia burst into the room.

She was frightened beyond belief when she saw Charles covered in blood.

“I’ll ask Mr. Russo for help! I won’t let anything happen to Franklin Group.

Please don’t hurt Charles anymore!” Nathan released Charles’ hair and closed his eyes.

He then gently removed Amelia’s hands and turned to face her.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 194-“Nathan...” Amelia was in tears. “I’m sorry, I’ll find a way to fix this.” “Fix this? What do you have in mind?” Nathan’s anger flared. “The confidentiality agreement was signed by the Franklin Group. The compensation of over 30 billion must also be shouldered by us!” “Nathan, I’m sorry!” Amelia grabbed Nathan’s arm. “Please calm down first, let’s find a solution together.” Nathan suddenly let out a light laugh.

It was all karma.

He treated Audrey like that four years ago, and karma has returned to haunt him.

Nathan looked at Charles and gritted his teeth. “Back then, I should have let you rot in jail.

When Audrey was determined to have Charles legally sanctioned, he shouldn’t have used Audrey’s relationship with her grandfather and Ryan to threaten Audrey—all to protect Charles.

The leakage incident wouldn’t have happened if Charles had been imprisoned back then..

“Nathan...” Amelia was in tears. She reached out to hold Nathan, but Nathan pushed her away.

“Nathan!” Amelia called out, but Nathan didn’t turn back.

She took a few steps to follow Nathan, but she heard Charles calling her from behind. She tearfully turned back and helped Charles up. “Charles, how are you?” “Amelia! It hurts... My arm hurts!” Half of his arm was stained red with blood.

“Don’t worry, I’ll take you to the hospital. Let’s go.” Amelia supported Charles as they walked out.

As Nathan drove away, he remained on the phone with Edmond.

Edmond said, “We’ve already reviewed the contract. If Evergreen Biotech really wants to pursue this, we have no way out. We exploited the contract loopholes and partnered with the Murray Group. It was also us who signed the confidentiality agreement with Evergreen Biotech for the formula.” “We can only go after the Murray Group if they sue us.” Nathan gripped the steering wheel tightly. “What’s your suggestion?” 1/2 “It’s best to talk to Evergreen Biotech. We’d better resolve this matter privately without escalating the situation in court.

“After all, the collapse of the Franklin Group is not beneficial to Evergreen Biotech either. I plan to go to Mythravia tonight and meet with Evergreen Biotech’s legal team tomorrow.” Nathan calmed down, and his mind cleared. “Right now, have our people go to the casino and find Shawn.

“No matter how much it costs, we must buy back the formula and find out who else Shawn has sold it to. Try to buy back all the copies! We need to control the losses quickly.” “Okay,” Edmond replied promptly. “I’ll make arrangements right away.

Nathan stopped at the red light ahead, pinching the bridge of his nose.

“Alright.” After ending the call, Nathan rolled down the window and glanced to the side.

He saw Audrey helping a drunken man out of the restaurant.

Nathan tensed up, his gaze locked in that direction.

He watched as the man stumbled under Audrey’s support, then hugged her. smile.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 195-Taylor?

Nathan widened his eyes.

How could Audrey be with Taylor, the person in charge of Evergreen Biotech in the Cascadia region?

A honking horn from behind snapped Nathan back to reality. He quickly parked the car on the side of the road and walked toward Audrey and Taylor.

“Taylor! Walk properly!” Audrey struggled to support Taylor down the steps.

“Boss, I don’t look too bad, right? I had endless pursuers back in university. Why doesn’t she like me? I’ve never messed around with relationships. I only like this one person! Just this one person!” Taylor extended a finger, an arm slack around Audrey’s neck. “Boss, do you think all talented women are arrogant?” “Taylor, if you don’t walk properly, I’ll film you like this and show Jessica,” Audrey warned in a soft voice.

“Jessica already thinks you’re not manly enough. If she sees you acting crazy drinking, won’t she dislike you even more?” after “Mr. Campbell!” Nathan glanced at Audrey, reaching out to support Taylor. “Mr.

Campbell, why are you alone? Didn’t you say you were having dinner with the founder of Evergreen Biotech today?” “It’s you!” Taylor saw Nathan and nodded in a daze. “Yes, I was having dinner with our boss...” Taylor smiled and pointed at Audrey. “Let me introduce you-” “No need for introductions, Mr. Campbell. We’ve met.” Audrey didn’t want Nathan to know that she was the founder of Evergreen Biotech.

She pinched Taylor’s waist and continued, “This is Mr. Franklin, my ex-husband.” Nathan grabbed Taylor and pulled him toward himself, not wanting Taylor to take advantage of Audrey.

Taylor understood Audrey’s intention. He pretended to be clueless and smiled.

“Ms.

Chaple Yeomans, why didn’t you mention earlier that the gentleman is your ex-husband?” “Mr. Campbell, do you need help calling your driver?” Before Hallian could finish, Taylor’s driver parked the car and hurried over in Taylor’s direction:

“Mr. Campbell, the car is here.” The driver reached out to assist Taylor, Taylor winked at Audrey, then boldly embraced her. “Ms. Yeomans, why don’t you accompany me home? Let’s have a good time!” “Mr. Campbell, your car is over there.” Nathan couldn’t offend Taylor, so although he smiled, he secretly exerted force to pull Taylor back. "Let me help you over." However, Taylor firmly held onto Audrey, embracing her.

Nathan grabbed Audrey's shoulders and pulled her away from Taylor's embrace, almost causing her to fall.

"Mr. Franklin?" Audrey raised her eyebrows.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 196-"Mr. Franklin, I heard from Mr. Campbell that the Franklin Group leaked Evergreen Blotech's formula. Oh, and Charles was the one to do it." Audrey smiled faintly.

"I wonder how Mr. Franklin plans to protect Charles this time? No, perhaps what Mr. Franklin cares about more now is whether the Franklin Group can afford the 30 billion breach of contract penalty." "How did you know?" Nathan stared at Audrey. "Did Taylor tell you?" Audrey chuckled coldly, stepping closer and whispering, "I wonder how far Mr.

Franklin is willing to go for Ms. Doyle? Will he sacrifice the entire Franklin Group to help Ms. Doyle save her cousin? I'm quite curious, you see.

With that, Audrey brushed past Nathan with a smile.

"You've been drinking." Nathan grabbed Audrey's arm. "Let me take you home." "Mr. Franklin seems to have time to escort his ex-wife home. Why not hurry up and figure out how to save the Franklin Group instead?" Audrey pulled her arm away.

Nathan watched as Audrey hailed a cab and got in.

He clenched his fists with closed eyes.

Audrey received a call from Taylor when she got into the car.

"Boss! Is Mr. Franklin still interested in you? He seems quite protective of you!" Taylor's slightly drunken voice came through.

"Do you want me to tell Jessica about this?" Audrey's tone was indifferent.

"Please don't! I just wanted to know if your ex-husband is the biological father of Lily and Dallas," Taylor said.

“No.” Audrey answered truthfully, then added, “You’ve had a bit too much to drink today. Go back, take some sobering medicine, and rest well. Nathan will definitely come to you to discuss resolving things privately tomorrow.” “Then should I not tell Nathan that you’re the founder of Evergreen Biotech?” Audrey remembered how Nathan threatened her at the hotel in Eastville with the incident involving the Yeomans family fight at George’s residence.

Audrey wanted revelige, slightest.

“No need to tell anyone,” Audrey said firmly. “Never tell anyone.” Taylor was somewhat stunned. “But boss, wouldn’t it be such a badass moment to tell him you’re the founder of Evergreen Biotech after the Franklin Group goes bankrupt?” “You should lay off those novels.” Audrey chuckled and hung up the phone.

The cab’s rear window was open, allowing a cool breeze to rush in, adding to Audrey’s slight tipsiness.

She rested her head against the edge of the window, gazing at the bustling and vibrant lights of Mythravia.

Audrey remembered how Harper once said she wanted to bring Anne to Mythravia when she grew up. Now, Audrey was in Mythravia—but Anne and Harper were no longer by her side.

“We’re here, miss!” The driver announced, turning his head.

She knocked on the front passenger window, and it rolled down.

“Over here.” Ryan’s voice was tinged with amusement.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 197-Julian got out of the driver’s seat, smiling.

“Mr. Lambert happened to see you dining with Mr. Campbell from Evergreen Biotech. Seeing Ms. Yeomans had a bit to drink, he followed to make sure everything was okay.” “Well, I didn’t drink much. I just felt a little light-headed from the breeze.” Audrey smiled, then said to Ryan, “I’ve arrived home safely. You should also go back and rest early.” As Audrey tried to walk away, she could not move her feet. She realized her heel was stuck in a manhole cover.

Ryan noticed it, and as he approached from the other side of the car, Audrey had already taken off her shoe.

With one hand holding onto the car, she bent down to reach for her shoe, revealing her delicate ankles with wounds from the high heels.

Just as Audrey pulled her shoe out of the manhole, she was suddenly lifted up.

She exclaimed and wrapped her arms around Ryan's neck. "Mr. Lambert "Your foot is injured. I'll take you upstairs." Ryan carried Audrey up the steps, asking, "Do you have a first aid kit at home? If not, I'll have Julian go buy one." "Yes, we do." Audrey replied quickly, then added, "But I can walk up by myself.

"It's okay, we're already here anyway." Julian swiftly opened the door for them and pressed the elevator button, waiting downstairs.

Inside the elevator, Audrey felt her heart pounding nervously. She dared not even look at Ryan's handsome profile, feeling like she had now sobered up.

However, she still felt a little dizzy.

The mirrored walls of the elevator reflected their images. Ryan was dressed in formal attire, outlining his tall and slender figure.

He looked impeccable, showing no signs of strain from carrying her.

Audrey glanced at Ryan's reflection in the elevator walls, meeting his eyes beneath his gold-rimmed glasses.

Her ears turned red, and she tightened her grip on her high heels.

Audrey suddenly understood why so many socialites and top-tier celebrities had mentioned that Ryan fulfilled their fantasies of an ideal partner.

It wasn't just because of Ryan's looks and wealth but also his mature demeanor, which provided a strong sense of security.

Audrey spoke again as the elevator reached their floor, "Please, let me down now. We're at the entrance." Ryan carried Audrey to the door and asked, "Passcode?" "The birthdays of the two kids," Audrey replied.

He asked as he removed his cufflinks and watch, "Where's the first aid kit?" "Under the TV cabinet," Audrey said, her ears burning red.

As Ryan sat back down with the first aid kit, Audrey quickly withdrew her feet.

"I... I can take care of it myself!" Ryan glanced at her as he unwrapped the cotton swab, dipped it in iodine, and lifted her foot back up to gently clean the wound.

Despite her protests, her foot was held firmly in his warm hand.

Audrey tightly gripped the sofa cushion, her neck flushing red.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 198-"Did he help you a lot?" Ryan placed Audrey's feet on the carpet, tidying up the medicine box. "Is he pursuing you?" "Where are you going with that thought? Taylor likes-" Audrey stopped herself, smiling. "He likes someone I know. I drank a bit too much today because of her too." Ryan retrieved Audrey's indoor slippers from the shoe cabinet and placed them at her feet.

"Thank you!" Audrey put her shoes on and stood up. "Um.... Do you want water or-" she tried to ask him.

"There's some hangover tea in the upper left kitchen cabinet. I'm feeling a little uncomfortable after drinking today." "Okay, I'll make you some tea." Audrey trotted to the kitchen.

She opened the cupboard and reached for the box of hangover tea.

Surprised, she glanced back at Ryan in the living room. She muttered under her breath, "There really is hangover tea in the cabinet; he knows my house better than I do." After washing her hands and shaking her slightly dizzy head, Audrey prepared the tea and brought it out.

At the same time, Ryan emerged from the bathroom.

She placed the tea on the coffee table. "Here's your tea." "Thank you." Ryan wiped his hands with a tissue and noticed Audrey's flushed face.

He touched Audrey's forehead. "Still feeling dizzy?" "It's better maybe I had a bit too much to drink." Audrey avoided Ryan's hand, now touching her own forehead instead.

She sat on the couch, trying to find something to say to Ryan. "I heard from Lily and Dallas that you've been spending time with them these days. Thank you." "Isn't it my duty as their father?" Ryan took off his glasses to wipe them clean.

"Besides, you've been raising them abroad all these years by yourself.

"I haven't fulfilled my duties as a father to the two children—and to you. I feel guilty about that." "This has nothing to do with you. I know you wanted to take care of me and the children. It was my decision to leave." Maybe it was the alcohol from tonight, but some of the words Audrey had been keeping inside didn't feel so hard to say anymore.

"You've always been there for me, and I owe you a lot. I've thought about it; we weren't divorced yet when I left." "Since you say you owe me, perhaps you should think about how to make it up to me." Ryan looked at Audrey, her pale skin and features flawless under the warm light, Her elongated eyes were cold and dark, her pupils like a pool of thick black ink.

Audrey played with the pillow. Her fingers briefly entangled, and soon her thoughts became jumbled too.

She had openly expressed her feelings to the cold and aloof Ryan on multiple occasions.

But considering who they were, were they suitable for each other?

In terms of age, Ryan was old enough to be her uncle.

Seeing Audrey's hesitation, Ryan put on his glasses and pulled Audrey into his arms.

Their eyes met, and Audrey's heart beat violently.

She sat restlessly on Ryan's sturdy legs.

Audrey wanted to get up, but Ryan held her down.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 199-All Audrey could hear was the sound of her racing heart.

Ryan gazed at Audrey's features—the delicate nose, the moist lips. His eyes finally settled on her trembling pupils.

He brushed against the corner of Audrey's lips.

Audrey held onto Ryan's wrist, her eyelashes fluttering intensely.

“Matthew Kingston...” Ryan slowly approached Audrey, his nose touching hers, causing Audrey's breath to hitch in her throat.

a seductive. allure. “It's Matthew.” Audrey's heart felt like it was about to burst.

She tightly grabbed the back of Ryan's vest, trying to pull away, but the man held onto the back of her head.

As Ryan's lips descended, goosebumps erupted all over her body.

Audrey curled up in Ryan's embrace, her mind in turmoil.

Just as her teeth were pried apart, Audrey clenched Ryan's shirt tightly and pushed him away forcefully.

“Ryan, don't... don't do this...” ” Ryan's fingertips caressed his lips as he removed his glasses.

He then undid the buttons of his vest, and his lips pressed against hers once again- pinning Audrey down on the couch.

Audrey's hands pushed against Ryan's shoulders, but she couldn't move him no matter how hard she tried.

Ryan's familiar breath invaded her lungs, aggressively assaulting her lips like a hunter trying to devour her whole.

The intimate intertwining of their tongues and the merging of their saliva left Audrey powerless to resist.

Her whole body melted into a puddle, and her spine taut with tremors.

It wasn't until Audrey's phone rang that Ryan's movements faltered slightly.

Audrey suddenly came to her senses and pushed Ryan away in a panic. She hastily straightened her clothes and avoided Ryan's gaze as she picked up her phone.

It was a video call from Lily.

Audrey quickly tidied her hair and answered the call, suppressing her pounding heart.

"Mommy!" Lily's joyful face and a teddy bear appeared on the phone screen.

"Mommy, look! This is the prize Wandflower and Dallas won for me! Isn't it super cute?" Audrey's gaze softened and smiled. "Yes, super cute! But not as cute as you!" "Mommy, why is your face so red? Are you sick?" Dallas' head also squeezed into view, furrowing his brows with concern.

Audrey quickly touched her flushed face, smiling as she replied, "No, I'm not sick. I had dinner with Mr. Campbell today and drank a little bit of alcohol.

Maybe I had a bit too much, but I'll be fine in a while."

for alcohol." While Audrey was talking to Lily, Dallas sneaked into the bathroom and called Ryan's phone.

As expected, the phone rang on Audrey's end of the video call.

Ryan looked at his phone and saw it was Dallas calling.

He glanced at Audrey, then walked to the balcony to answer the call.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 200-"Are you with my mom?" Dallas' voice came through the phone.

Ryan glanced back at Audrey and replied, "Yes." "Don't you dare bully my mom! I haven't accepted you as our dad yet!" "Okay, don't worry. I won't bully your mom." Ryan smiled faintly.

On Audrey's phone screen, Lily waved to Audrey. "Mommy, you should rest early! We'll video chat with you tomorrow. Where's Dallas... Huh? Dallas?" Lily called out, "Dallas, do you want to say goodbye to Mommy?" "It's okay, Dallas is probably out. Behave yourselves! Mommy will hang up now.”

Audrey’s voice was gentle.

“Okay! Goodbye, Mommy.” After ending the call, Audrey clenched her phone tightly and looked up to meet Ryan’s smiling eyes.

“Dallas called me to say I should take care of you.” “No wonder he wasn’t around.” Audrey stood up, still holding her phone.

“I’ll sleep in the guest room tonight—is that okay?” Ryan asked.

“I’m fine, you don’t have to stay to take care of me.” Ryan draped his vest over his arm, not giving Audrey a chance to refuse. “I feel a little dizzy from all the drinking. Are my clothes in the guest room?” Audrey nodded. “Yes, they’re still there.” “Then I’ll go take a shower first,” Ryan said as he headed toward the guest room.

Audrey pursed her lips, feeling a tingling sensation. Only then did she realize that her lips were swollen from Ryan’s kiss.

She couldn’t deceive herself.

When Ryan was holding and kissing her, the intense sensation left Audrey feeling confused and infatuated.

No, perhaps every time Ryan kissed her, she couldn’t resist. His masculine scent and the heat of his strong body would make her tremble uncontrollably.

Audrey recalled their first night together. The image of Ryan’s prominent hands gripping the pillow, the bulging veins as he pressed her against the door and kissed her passionately in the darkness.

Audrey’s whole body was burning up.

She rushed back to the master bedroom in her slippers and took a cool shower.

When she finished showering, she received a video call request from Jessica.

“Audrey, even with the same dosage, the experimental data we’ve collected differs from what the quantum computer generated.” Jessica’s voice sounded somewhat impatient. “I don’t know where the problem lies.” “Let me take a look. Don't worry for now," Audrey said, observing the dark circles under Jessica's eyes.

Jessica took off her glasses and rubbed her forehead. "Alright, I'll take a nap for a while. Let me know when you find out." Audrey smiled. "Yeah, thank you for your hard work when I'm not around."

After watching for over an hour, Audrey was ready to make coffee before continuing.

She walked into the living room and saw Ryan making a phone call on the balcony.

Ryan's hair was still wet and messy, falling over his eyes.

He wore an unbuttoned shirt and leaned against the balcony railing with his long legs. crossed.

He then took out a cigarette, holding the phone in one hand and lighting the cigarette with a lighter in the other.

He then moved the cigarette away and said to the person on the phone, "Send it over as soon as possible."
