

Meeting The One For Me

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 71-“Sir, where are we going?” “Back to Cascadia.” Julian looked stunned, picked up Ryan’s laptop and documents, and chased after him.

“sir.

we haven’t settled the chip cooperation. Mr. Lambert Senior Issued an order.

Chips are related to the company’s survival. We’ve been working on the deal here for over a month and finally made an appointment today.” Ryan opened the door and answered calmly, “Do you think the negotiation will succeed? Our company is still on Meplaria’s sanctions list. They won’t sell us the chips. Ask Harry to pack up our things. Inform everyone to stop everything and return to Cascadia.” Julian was puzzled. “But we’ve been working hard for almost two months.

Cascadia also attaches great importance to this cooperation. Maybe after meeting Mr. Watson...” He pressed the elevator button, and the mirrored wall reflected his cold expression. “It’s better to fight hard and take the risk instead of begging to survive! Maybe we’ll no longer be controlled by others in the future.” As soon as the elevator arrived, he walked in first. Julian didn’t understand what he meant but he knew Ryan wouldn’t change his decision.

Julian had followed him for so many years and had never seen him make a wrong decision.

It was just that Julian worried Cascadia would report on Lambert Corporation’s failure to close the deal.

Moreover, George had asked Ryan to come to Meplaria to solve the chip problem as a condition for canceling his engagement.

On the private jet, a company executive asked, “Mr. Lambert, the chip, matter hasn’t been settled yet. I made an appointment with Raymond Corporation to talk about the chip co–production. Why are we suddenly going back to Cascadia?” Before Ryan could speak, someone had already answered, “We don’t need to waste our efforts. Before coming here, Mr. Lambert knew that Meplaria wouldn’t sell us chips, let alone cooperate with us to produce chips.”

The previous executive became even more confused. “They won’t sell us chips?”

Then why were we wasting so much time here?” “We’re just putting on a show for Meplaria!” The executive who knew the inside story, looked at Ryan with a smile and happily told his colleagues, “My people safely sent two chip experts back to Cascadia two weeks ago.

Another young executive added, “Dr. Hurlbutt has also followed the arranged route. He first went to Crendale, then to Hoflaeland, and finally from Frenda back to Cascadia. Our people have picked him up from the airport.” “Professor Ilyich from Ruplana of ASML Group in Hoflaeland also flew from Ruplana to Mythravia yesterday.” Julian realized the truth after listening to everyone’s discussion.

“I guess those Meplarians were confused with our sudden leave!” an executive giggled.

“Why did I know nothing? Was I the only one anxiously and exhaustingly begging them for cooperation?”

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 72-Ryan walked to the sofa and sat down. “To protect the safety of talents, we must be cautious! We just made a trip for two months and spent some money. But the value of the scientists is higher than the money and our time!” After taking a sip of water, he continued, “Since we can’t cooperate with foreign countries on the chip, then we have to fight against the odds and develop it in Cascadia.” He put down the glass and leaned forward to look at the executives. “We’re under pressure to develop our research this time. Optimistically, we’ll take at least three to five years on it. If we succeed, we’ll surely break the monopoly of the chip industry.” After the executive meeting, everyone relaxed and fell asleep.

He tiredly rubbed his brows and looked out the plane window. From what he knew about Audrey, she wouldn’t keep their child. How should he persuade her?

Meanwhile, Audrey had woken up in the hospital.

“Audrey, you’re finally awake!” Azure walked to the bed and supported her up.

She asked hoarsely, "Azure, what time is it?" "It's 3:00 pm." Azure put a pillow behind her back and sat beside the bed. "Don't worry. The police have caught all the bullies at Eastville Junior High School!" The incident became quite serious as Harper jumped off the building.

She had just transferred to Cloudmill Junior High School. Yet, she committed suicide because of the bullying video at Eastville Junior High School.

Cloudmill Junior High School took the lead in speaking out online to avoid being held accountable.

After one night, the news of bullying at Eastville Junior High School hit the trending topics because of the bullies' egregious behavior.

The public was discussing the incident, and the video evidence was conclusive.

The bullying was so severe that the police quickly arrested the bullies for justice and made a report on the case.

Although the videos of violence were censored, they were still terrifying.

The angriest people were undoubtedly the parents. Their children were students. If someone bullied their children like this, they would kill those bullies!

Parents had spoken out, demanding severe punishment for the bullies.

Of course, due to the current strict censorship of online videos, more explicit videos didn't spread online. However, there were still many people with bad intentions who used insulting words asking for the sexual assault video.

Some even criticized parents for sending a mute child to a normal school, where she would get bullied.

As a pregnant woman, Daphne was trembling with anger. She led her juniors from Cloudmill University to fight online all night against those bad commenters.

But soon, she discovered countless women were spontaneously reporting the bad comments and posting comments under trending topics.

LittleAutumn: “Respect the dead! Love women! Victims are Innocent! The bullies should be exposed and punished by law!”

Soon, a massive “Protect Little Girl” slogan spread quietly and organically on the internet.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 73-Even many celebrities retweeted it. They claimed that the victim was Innocent and not to let the spread of the video become a secondary violence against the victim.

More and more people were speaking out online, demanding severe punishment for the bullies and those who spread the video. They appealed for the protection of the victim’s family and resistance to the leakage of the videos.

Audrey worried about the spread of Harper’s videos at first. After all, it was the reason which caused Harper to commit suicide.

Harper wouldn’t be able to rest in peace if the video of her being humiliated and tortured spread on the internet. Unexpectedly, besides her, countless people on the Internet protected Harper.

She bit her lips and sobbed. Azure sat beside the bed and looked at her with tears. “Many people are protecting Harper!” She finally couldn’t control herself and cried out loud.

As Harper had jumped off the building, Cloudmill Junior High School issued an emergency statement. It became a hot topic on the internet.

Charles didn’t expect the matter to become like this. He anxiously browsed through the comments on the internet, canceled all his appointments, and dared not go out.

Recalling Audrey’s recording with the Yeomanses exposed on the “Looking For Family” program, he suspected she might also have a recording of the call with him.

t When he forced her to go to the Jacinda Hotel, he used Harper to threaten her on the phone. He wondered if she also recorded it.

If she had a recording and exposed it, it would affect the Murray Group. His father would beat him to death.

He secretly prayed that she didn't have a recording. But what about the photos and messages he sent to her?

Just as he thought about what to do, he saw the police car parked at the door through the floor-to-ceiling window. His eyes widened, and he became nervous.

Hearing the doorbell ringing downstairs, he quickly dialed Nathan's number.

"Nathan!" His voice was panicked. "I may have gotten into trouble! The police have arrived at my house! You must help me! I—I did this for you and Amelia! I only bought the videos from that kid named Max Fraley..." The nanny opened the door and saw the police. They showed their police ID and said they would take Charles away for investigation.

"Charles Murray, we're from the City Police Department. We require you to assist in the investigation.

The police showed their police ID again.

He nodded. "Okay!" Then, he told the nanny, "Maria, I want to eat fried chicken tonight. Prepare it for me!" "Oh! Okay!" She nodded repeatedly.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 74-After hanging up, Nathan kicked the pillar angrily. He was at Cloudmill when Harper jumped off the building!

He still hadn't solved Audrey's pregnancy problem, and Charles was causing trouble for him.

He sat down in the corridor and looked through the comments on trending topics. He didn't know why he felt so flustered.

He couldn't let her know that this matter had something to do with Charles.

Anne and Harper, the deaths of people around her were all related to him. Not only would she hate him to death, but she would also hate Amelia.

Thus, he'd better conceal it from the source and not let her find out.

The phone vibrated. It was Amelia's call. He answered, "Sweetie..." "Where are you? I finished filming and asked the director for a leave. I can spend the afternoon with you," she sounded cheerful.

"I'm smoking in the corridor. Come over here." After hanging up, he stood up and suddenly felt dizzy. He held onto the pillar beside him, rubbed his forehead, and shook his head.

"Nathan, the famous playboy in Sheysea City, is so obedient! From now on, I'll call you Sweetie in private!" Audrey's cheerful voice echoed in his head.

"You're crazy! Don't call me that!" That was his voice with annoyance. But he felt a hint of sweetness.

He took a step forward while holding onto the pillar. His head hurt so much that he stumbled and fell. The sunlight filtered through the branches and stung his eyes, but he seemed to smell the sea breeze.

She was sitting on the dike in her school uniform, and the sea breeze ruffled her hair. There was a ring on her index finger, and she faced her hand to the sun.

Her bright smile was more dazzling than the sun.

"Sweetie, do you know that we're still underage and can't give rings randomly?" "But you smile so happily! What's wrong with being underage? You'll be my wife anyway. You can't escape me in this life." "What if I don't marry or marry someone else?" "Then I'll break my legs!" She tidied her messy hair, revealing her beautiful neck. Her eyes were full of questions. "You and I wrongfully. Don't you mean you'll break my legs?"

Fill same and make you feel guilty!!

He could barely breathe. Was this a memory of him and Audrey?

agony.

She rushed toward him nervously. "Nathan! What's wrong with you?"

"Okay!" The assistant quickly dialed the ambulance number.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 75-Nathan was on the brink of losing consciousness and stared at the sun with half-opened eyes. Maybe the sun was too dazzling. Tears overflowed from his eyes.

“Sweetie...” It turned out that Audrey used to call him Sweetie!

“Nathan! I’m here!” Amelia thought he was calling for her, so she grabbed his hand and cried uncontrollably. “I’m here! Nathan, don’t scare me!” Seeing him faint, she turned pale. She turned to look at the assistant, trembling with fear. “Call for help! Hurry!” Soon, the deputy director brought someone over, carried Nathan to the car, and headed straight to the closest hospital.

Not long after Audrey sent away Anne, she had to send away Harper as well, Despite her grief, she forced herself to cheer up.

She knew that Anne’s death was different from Harper’s.

Harper’s death involved school violence and sexual assault. It was a long process to win a lawsuit and get a conviction. If those disgusting devils didn’t get the punishment they deserved, she wouldn’t be able to rest in peace.

The bullying incident at Eastville Junior High School had a great impact and attracted widespread social attention.

Many women stood up to protect Harper’s dignity, boycotted the dissemination of the video, and spontaneously spread the slogan “Protect Little Girl”. Soon, a wave of women’s mutual aid topics started.

The relevant departments acted, and the case progressed very quickly.

After Audrey came out of the hospital, Edmond came to see her.

Following Nathan’s orders, he went to Eastville Junior High School to find the parents of the bullies and asked Max to speak carefully.

Max’s parents’ condition was to ask him to become Max’s attorney. If he could make Audrey reconcile with them, they wouldn’t ask for money and would ask Max not to mention Charles.

Other parents knew he was a famous attorney, so they entrusted the case to him.

When she came down from the dormitory, she was startled when she saw him.

He was the chief of the Franklin Group Legal Department.

2/2 She wasn't too surprised when she thought of Charles. As long as it was related to Amelia, Nathan would go all out Charles was Amelia's cousin. Nathan wouldn't ignore the case.

She walked out coldly and wrapped her coat tightly around herself.

"Hello, Ms. Yeomans," Edmond smiled at her.

"Are you here for Charles?" she asked.

He adjusted his glasses. "I'm now the attorney representing those kids at Eastville Junior High School.

When she heard this, she was stunned, then smiled ironically. "Did Nathan ask you to save Charles from the case? You're the chief of the Franklin Group Legal Department. I didn't expect you to defend those demons.

He said slowly, "If you're willing to settle the case privately, my clients can pay compensation." Her expression darkened, and she asked again, "Did Nathan pay them off?"

"That's impossible! No matter how long this lawsuit lasts, I'll fight you even if it takes my whole life!"

"Hey! Mr. Marshman!" Louis held a laptop and tapped Edmond's shoulder with a smile.

Audrey who was heaving in anger, choked back a gasp when she saw Louis.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 76-Audrey promised George not to have any contact with the Lambert family, especially Ryan. So, she hadn't asked him for help.

But Louis still appeared.

Considering her relationship with Ryan, Edmond wasn't surprised that Louis would appear.

He glanced at her, then turned to Louis and said, "Mr. Farrel, please advise Ms.

Yeomans. Once this matter gets bigger and involves the relationship between Ms. Yeomans and Mr. Lambert, it won't be good for him..." "You worry too much." Louis smiled. "Mr. Lambert asked me to be Ms.

Yeomans's attorney. He said that if this case can't bring the bullies to justice, he won't keep me in Lambert Corporation! I can't lose my job!" Edmond's expression turned gloomy when he heard this.

Louis was better than him in professionalism and eloquence in the industry.

"Okay, I understand Ms. Yeomans's intention. I'll tell my clients." He nodded with a smile and left.

"Bye!" Louis watched him leave, then changed his tone and said to her, "Ms.

Yeomans, Mr. Lambert is on his way to Cloudmill. I'll take charge of this case.

Don't worry. I'll make them pay!" She pursed her lips. She didn't want to trouble Ryan but couldn't say it out loud.

She shouldn't bother him anymore. But if the other party's lawyer was Edmond, she didn't dare to take risks. She didn't want to let go of those demons who killed Harper!

"Let's find a place to discuss this case," Louis suggested.

She nodded. "Okay!" After she changed her clothes, they went to the cafe opposite Cloudmill University. She passed him the evidence she had.

Before he came, he had also asked the team to collect evidence and sort it out for her.

After going through everything, he said, "If we fight this case, they'll only be sentenced to up to ten years. They're over 14 but under 16. One of the children was a few days before turning 14, when he committed the violence." Seeing that she couldn't help crying, he took a tissue and handed it to her.

She took a long breath before speaking, "Mr. Farrel, you know my relationship with Mr. Lambert, and you're the chief of Lambert Corporation Legal Department. As Mr. Marshman said, it would be bad to involve Mr. Lambert. If you think this case is stable, I would like to hand it over to another attorney.

Bu Båt sngeised but still answered her, "This case has been pushed to the forefront by public Quinn Burgjet cannot speak, so she is considered disabled.

The evidence of bullying a disabled porsan is gandusive. And there's a video they recorded. The judge will give them a severe punishment. The only bargaining chip they can use to reduce the punishment is that they were univocage.

She astad again, "What about Charles?"

you be aware?" she asked.

She sand disappointedly, "Thank you, Mr. Farrel!"

bo, T. Lambert!" Louis stepped forward to greet Ryan.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 77-Ryan, who was in a suit, wasn't wearing his glasses and fully looked the part of a mature. businessman. But he also looked quite tired.

"Audrey, get in." He motioned for Audrey to get in the car. She clenched her fists tightly, remembering George telling berto stay away from Ryan and the Lambert family.

Seeing this, Louis left first.

She looked at Ryan for a while and finally got into the car. She wanted to talk things out clearly with him "Where are we going?" He hadn't offered the information, so she took the initiative to ask.

"We'll be there soon," he said.

The black car stopped in front of an apartment building near Cloudmill University.

He got out of the car first and walked around to open the door for her. "We're here." After hearing this, she got out of the car and followed him. He entered his fingerprint to open the apartment door and took the elevator to the top floor.

He took a new pair of women's slippers from the shoe cabinet for her, took off his coat, and changed his shoes. "Sit down first. I'll get you some water." She grabbed his sleeves "I've met Mr. Lambert Senior." He turned to look at her while holding his coat.

"I promised him I would never contact anyone in the Lambert family again." She lowered her head and didn't dare to look at him. "You've helped me a lot over the years. I always remember it gratefully, But for the sake of the Lambert family and your good, I shouldn't contact you again." He looked at her steadily for a long time before asking, "What will you do with our child?" She looked up in surprise, but he just looked at her calmly and quietly. She bit her lips nervously. How did he know that?

She subconsciously stroked her belly. "I was inexperienced. I forgot to take contraceptive pills after that night. But I'll solve it myself. Don't worry. I won't give birth to him." He looked at her for a moment. "What if I say I want you to give birth to him?" She didn't expect his answer. "What did you say?"

He saw her disbelief and said softly, "Andrey, I want our child!"

"Then let's get married!" He looked attentive and focused. "Bring your documents! We can go get a certificate tomorrow!"

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 78-Audrey became anxious. "No! We can't get married! Outsiders think we're blood relatives! Do you know what will happen if we marry? What's this child's identity? Do you want this child to grow up in gossip?" Before Ryan could speak, she became even more emotional. "Or do you want to tell others we are not related by blood? If they find my biological mother's identity, what should the Lambert family do? What should she do? No! I can't agree with you!" Moreover, he was the future heir of the Lambert family. George would find him a well-matched wife. She had absolutely nothing to do with him or the Lambert family.

She looked at him with reddened eyes. "The images of my parents always replay in my mind. I'm scared! I didn't grow up in a normal family and never received my parents' love. I don't want my child to suffer my pain." Those were her true thoughts. Once upon a time, she never even thought about having children in the future. Later, it was Nathan who cured her. He had painted her a picture of a happy life after marriage.

He told her that if they had a daughter as beautiful as her, he would protect them both; if they had a son as clever as her, both of them would protect her.

But later, he forgot everything and refused to remember their past.

She had nothing again. When she left Sheysea City, she had planned to live her life alone.

"I'm sorry, but I can't let my but I can't let my existence may be hild be born into a family without love when his very cause for criticism." He stared at her and suddenly took a step closer. She stepped back nervously.

"Even Julian can see that my concern for you has long gone beyond the bounds of family. That night at the Jacinda Hotel, you were drugged, but I still slept with you while I was sane. Are you really unaware of... my feelings for you?" She couldn't even remember how many times he slept with her in that extreme drug-induced madness that night.

She only remembered that his lips were hot and he was passionate when he kissed her. When she was in a daze, he protected her head from hitting the bedside. He had also whispered her name in his deep voice, which made her lose strength and feel numb all over.

"Stop!" Her voice couldn't help put tremble. She turned around and wanted to run away.

But he pressed hard on the security door.

Now that he had bared his heart to this extent, he didn't plan to give her a chance to escape.

"Audrey, I love you." He confessed his love deeply, making her heart beat faster.

almost pressing against the security door. pressure

“It seems I wasn’t obvious enough.” As soon as he finished speaking, he lifted her face with his fingers and kissed her.

“Hmm...” she widened her eyes.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 79-His kiss made Audrey extremely sensitive, and her mind went blank.

She was surrounded by Ryan’s familiar scent and felt so embarrassed.

Feeling the heat from his body, she panicked and pushed him hard, but he pressed her onto the security door. He held the back of her head and deepened the kiss.

The beast imprisoned in his heart was released. He kissed her fiercely without mercy, trying to devour her.

Such an intimate kiss made the scene of that night replay in his mind. He wanted to possess savagely and violently without any restraint, just like that night.

Her His greed, obsession, and desire he had never expressed seemed to burst out after he confessed his love.

He was usually rational and calm. But he always lost control when facing her.

He didn’t let go of her lips until she almost suffocated.

Panting, she looked at him, feeling as if he was a predator and she was his prey. She trembled and couldn’t move.

He looked aggressive without his glasses.

They didn’t speak, and the atmosphere became tense, with an undercurrent of desire surging.

He stroked her swollen lips and asked hoarsely, “Did I express myself clearly enough this time?” Before, he suppressed his feelings because she and Nathan were inseparable.

She said Nathan was her only one.

Later, Nathan lost his memory. Everyone gave up on her when she was in a vegetative state. Only he refused to give up.

Later, after waking up, she put down her pride and tried to awaken Nathan's memory. She had assumed such a humble posture toward Nathan that he felt heartbroken.

It wasn't until Nathan divorced her and she decided to give up on Nathan that he re-examined his feelings.

Soon, he shattered his scrutiny when she was drugged. He confirmed that he liked her.

He desired her beyond measure.

He, who had always been cold, ascetic, aloof, and unapproachable, was confessing his love to her. She couldn't imagine such a scene.

At this moment, his gaze wasn't blocked by glasses. He was like a ferocious python, tightly strangling her body, which made her nervous.

frank confession to her.

She felt her heart go numb along with her senses.

"Don't be like this..."

"Keep the child! Audrey, he's our baby."

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 80-Audrey couldn't resist Ryan at all. Her legs went limp, and she slightly trembled as she held onto his shirt.

"I can't think about this now. Please. Don't do this to me. Aunt Anne is gone, and so is Harper! I have no mood to think about the future." She couldn't help but burst into tears as she spoke, somewhat incoherently, "I promised Mr. Lambert Senior that I would never get involved with the Lambert family again!" He wiped away her tears. "I know you're hurting! Aunt Anne and Harper are gone. But have you ever thought that your child is also your family? He's our family!" She became emotional again. "But we can't be together!"

She admitted he was right. The child in her belly was her family. Especially after Anne and Harper were gone, this child was likely to be her last family in this world.

But once it came to her biological mother, she was unwilling to do anything when there was the slightest risk of exposing her mother.

Moreover, the Lambert family and George would never accept this child.

Even if it was a secret marriage, George might think she wanted to use her pregnancy to join the Lambert family.

George had raised Ryan and had helped her. She couldn't go against George.

"How should I face Mr. Lambert Senior after giving birth to this child? What should this child call him? Grandpa? Or..." She couldn't continue.

One was George's adopted son, and the other was his biological granddaughter, whom he felt disgusted and disdainful of "Ryan..." she called out to him and asked in a choked voice, "Are you willing to hurt the Lambert family?" "You don't have to worry about that! We can get married in secret. We don't have to make it public if you don't want to." He stared into her eyes and held her face firmly to prevent her from looking away. "We can get married in secret overseas. Professor Douglas will attend an exchange meeting overseas. You can go with him. No one knows you there. You can carry out your experiments and give birth to the child there! I'll do my best to protect your privacy and normal life." He looked at her affectionately. "Please don't refuse me. This child is the closest person to us in this world!" Ever since he slept with her that night, his restraint where she was concerned seemed to have snapped.

She trembled. When their eyes met, she had the illusion that he was madly in love with her, a love even stronger than Nathan's love.

"Ryan..." she called his name and even forgot to struggle.

Then, he kissed her again.

He pressed her against the security door, holding the back of her head and her waist as if he wanted to meld her into his body.
