Meeting The One For Me Chapter 81-Ryan let go of Audrey before he could no longer suppress his terrifying and crazy thoughts.

“Keep our child, okay?” His voice was hoarse, and his breathing was heavy.

Her eyes were red. “I have to think about it.” Since she had no plans to abort the child for the time being, he didn’t want to force her.

He couldn’t help but kiss her again. She turned her head to avoid it but subconsciously held on to his clothes. “I’m not ready to enter a new relationship.

Please don’t do this.” “Okay, I won’t force you.” Π He let go of her gently, but his eyes were still smoldering. He put his hands in his pockets to hide the state of his body and said calmly, “This place is close to Cloudmill University. You can live here for the time being. I’ve asked the housekeeper to clean up the room. She usually won’t be around. She’ll clean the house and prepare meals before leaving.

Audrey resisted. “I want to go back to the dormitory.” “Just stay here. I won’t live here.” He took the coat and said, “I have a meeting. Have a good rest. The password is 0920.” She clutched the hem of her clothes tightly. “There’s one more thing. Mr. Farrel said that the judge in this case would impose a severe punishment. The only bargaining chip the other party can use to reduce the sentence is that the perpetrators are underage. So, I want to hire an attorney myself. After all, Mr.

Farrel is the chief of the Lambert Corporation Legal Department. Others may associate this case with the Lambert family.” “If that is your decision, I’ll respect it,” he said.

“Thank you!” After Ryan left, Audrey collapsed on the sofa. She hugged her knees and burst into tears.

The recent events were happening one after another, and she could hardly bear it anymore.

She lost Anne and Harper.

She closed her eyes and stroked her belly. The child in her belly was her only family in this world. Should she keep him?

Ryan was Diego's former disciple and a genius with a high IQ. She had heard Nathan talk about her "relative" with great jealousy.

Ryan had been at the top of the list of perfect husbands among the girls for seven consecutive years. Almost everyone in the school admired him.

As an adopted son, the fact that he could become the definite heir of Mythravia Lambert Corporation, made his capability unfathomable.

For her to keep this child, he could easily pretend to be gentle to deceive her.

In the hospital, Nathan glanced at Hugo standing at the end of his hospital bed, waiting for his answer.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 82-Nathan felt his heart hurt, and he couldn't even breathe. He put a hand on his chest, wondering why he was so sad.

"Have you remembered the past?" Hugo felt relieved to see him gloomily clutching his chest hard. Audrey would have avenged herself if he recalled everything he had done to her in the past two years.

He had hurt her, and Anne's death was related to him. Now he had rescued Charles, the culprit who killed Harper and was about to send him overseas.

Would he regret it after remembering everything?

Nathan avoided Hugo's gaze. "No, it's just that part." Hugo frowned. "Did you faint because you remembered that?" "Hmm..." he responded with a frown.

"So, what are you going to do? Are you going to pretend that nothing has happened and continue to marry Amelia? Or..." Hugo didn't finish his words and looked at Nathan, who pursed his lips tightly.

Nathan frowned irritably and said nothing. All he could think about was the child in her belly.

Amelia, who wore a mask and sunglasses, stood outside with a thermal flask.

She was about to open the door but she suddenly lost the courage and no longer dared to listen to the conversation.

Nathan had remembered a fragment from the past.

She was flustered. She didn't know if he would break up with her if his memories of the past with Audrey returned.

She clutched the thermal flask tightly and leaned against the wall palely.

She worried that he would remember everything, but she was also unwilling to stop him from recovering the memories. She hoped he would still choose her after remembering the past.

Only in this way could she be with him legitimately and tell everyone that he loved her more than Audrey.

Instead of like now, when everyone said he chose her because he lost his memory.

It was also why she pretended to be generous before. She made a promise to Audrey that after he regained his memory, whomever he chose to be with, the other party would leave unconditionally.

she didn't even dare to enter the ward. But now that she heard he remembered a part of his memories. So she left the hospital as if she were running away and got into the van.

Her assistant was waiting for her in the van, eating snacks and playing on her phone. She was startled when she saw Amelia enter with a thermal flask.

"Amelia, didn't you go to visit Mr. Franklin? Why did you come down so quickly?" "He's asleep. Let's go to the crew!" she said.

Sensing her mood was bad, the assistant didn't ask anything and let the driver drive.

Amelia leaned back in her seat tiredly and looked out the window.

could risk his life.

As a young girl, she also wanted to be noticed and loved by a handsome boy.

Nathan was handsome, and Audrey was pretty and confident.

She was so envious that she subconsciously imitated Audrey.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 83-Amelia thought that as long as she was similar enough to Audrey, she could also gain passionate and crazy love.

When she entered Sheysca University, they had a car accident. One was in a vegetative state, and the other lost his memory.

Like a lowly thief, she stole Nathan's love. She also experienced his passionate love that was envied by everyone.

She worried everyone would say he fell in love with her because she was similar to Audrey. So, she began to change herself.

But his feelings for her grew and didn't diminish despite her changes. She even felt that he seemed to love her more than Audrey.

When he was with Audrey, they quarreled frequently, and he would beg for forgiveness.

But when he was with her, he was never willing to quarrel with her. He would always act coquettishly as soon as the quarrel started, and he couldn't bear to let her feel sad.

After Audrey woke up, her fear of losing him decreased when he insulted Audrey repeatedly.

She felt distressed and ashamed toward Audrey, but at the same time, she was unavoidably relieved.

She told herself that maybe he once loved Audrey deeply, but she was still the one he loved most.

He told her countless times that she would still be the one he loved even if he regained his memories. But she still didn't dare to face it.

She became even more afraid after she pretended to be Audrey and took credit for Audrey's rescue for an endorsement deal.

After a long time, she messaged him, saying she couldn't leave the crew and would visit him tomorrow.

He responded quickly and told her to eat on time and rest well. Seeing him reply to her message instantly, she felt a little relieved.

The next morning, Audrey found Cloudmill's most famous attorney to take over the case.

As the case was a sure win and popular, the attorney was naturally willing to take it on, even for free.

"I'm willing to spend all my savings just to make sure Charles gets punished!" she said firmly.

After signing the commission contract, Lonnie Hancock made an appointment with her that afternoon.

He turned the laptop to show her.

afternoon."

"Edmond Marshman has intervened in this matter. Either he bribed Max's parents or threatened Max's parents!" she spoke firmly.

So, would you be willing to write them a letter of understanding in exchange for the real testimonies from those bullies?"

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 84-Audrey clenched her hands tightly. When she thought of those videos and what those demons did to Harper, she wanted them to die!

But she didn't want to let go of Charles, the instigator. She wished he would get punished!

She pondered and decided, "If they're willing to tell the truth, I can write it!" Lonnie nodded. "Okay, then I'll tell their parents." "Thanks!" After returning from the cafe, she focused on the research at the laboratory. She couldn't take any time off, or her mind would repeat the scenes of Harper getting bullied.

Even though she was pregnant, she was busier than everyone else.

The people in the laboratory knew her situation, so they indulged her. They only gave her tasks that required thinking but didn't consume energy.

When she came out to drink water, she heard Ryan's name. She paused and looked toward Daphne, who was talking happily.

"When Ryan Lambert negotiated with the foreigners a month ago, he was so charismatic! Now, he returned from overseas and decided to do independent research and development instead, his charisma is off the charts!" She showed Justin her phone.

He took a sip of water, glanced at it, and said, "I heard that he took the top executives to Meplaria as a facade to bring back many experts in chips and lithography machines safely." Audrey came to her senses and took a sip of water.

In the past few days, the internet had news of Ryan's sudden withdrawal from foreign chip negotiations. Lambert Corporation held an emergency press conference to announce the failure of chip cooperation negotiations. The R&D funding would increase by 20% to 50% compared to last year.

Just yesterday, Meplaria announced the Lambert Corporation, its subsidiaries, and several companies that cooperate with Lambert Corporation were now on a more stringent sanctions list.

Immediately afterward, the video of the internal meeting of Lambert Corporation was leaked.

Ryan took the lead in uniting Cascadia's small and medium-sized technology enterprises for joint research and development, breaking foreign restrictions on Cascadia's high-tech development and the chip monopoly. Cascadian was excited after watching it.

He stood upright on the podium, and his words set off the support for domestic products and local enterprises in Cascadia.

"Every generation has its mission. The predecessors sacrificed their lives to fight for the country and keep us from hunger and war. Our battlefield is to rejuvenate the country through sci technology! We should forge ahead to prevent our descendants from enduring, humiliation to survive!

It was Lambert Corporation's way of boosting morale after Moplarla announced stricter sections.

Subsequently, the companies that participated in the development of chips and lithography machines forwarded the video, During these days, she had been immersed in sadness and devoted all her energy to experiments, so she didn't read the news carefully, After drinking some water, she put down her glass, put on her mask and gloves, and entered the laboratory again.

He drank his coffee and looked through his WhatsApp messages. Almost all of them were from Nathan.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 85-"Scumbag!" Joseph didn't reply. He locked the screen and put his phone away.

He was strongly dissatisfied with his cousin, whom he had not seen for 20 years.

How could Nathan force his recently divorced ex-wife to abort the child?

Near noon, Audrey received a call from Ryan.

"Are you going back for lunch? Or do you want the housekeeper to send the meal to you?" Although he asked, it was a tone that brooked no opposition.

She could hear him flipping through papers. She didn't expect he would take the time to remind her to eat.

"I'll eat at the apartment," she said.

She could guess that if she refused him, he would ask the housekeeper to send her the meal.

After taking off her white coat, she said goodbye to Daphne and walked to the apartment The housekeeper had already left when she arrived. The aroma of food was tempting, but she had no appetite.

3 She was confused when she saw two sets of tableware. Soon, Ryan came out of the bathroom after washing his hands.

It looked like he came directly from the company as he was well-dressed. He casually placed his cufflinks aside and said, "Welcome back. Let's eat!" He took off his tie, unbuttoned the top two buttons on his dress shirt, and walked to the dining table. Then, he served her soup and motioned for her to sit with him.

Seeing this, she sat down, watched him put the bowl before her, and said, "Thank you." Maybe it was because of her pregnancy. During the meal, he took great care of her.

He was usually indifferent, but he would serve her soup again when she finished it. The dishes he chose were all her favorites, and he was extremely attentive.

When he put his hand on the back of her chair, she could vaguely smell the refreshing scent of the shower gel he had used. Such a close distance made her a little uneasy.

"You don't have to take care of me. I can do it myself," she said.

He indulged her as always. "Okay." It wasn't until she finished eating that he put down his fork gracefully, wiped his mouth, and asked, "Have you thought about it? Are we going to get the certificate today?"

accepting Ryan's help, kissing him, or seeing him.

"Have you thought about it?" he asked.

She could feel his gaze on her. She tightened her hands and felt inexplicably flustered.

She knew he was referring to the future time when Diego went overseas.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 86-But, could Audrey really keep this child?

Keeping this child would bring trouble to the Lambert family, to Mr. Lambert Senior... and even to her biological mother.

After losing loved ones one after another, Audrey developed a different kind of attachment to the baby inside her belly. Deep down, she wanted to keep this child.

If the child was not Ryan's, she would not hesitate at all.

But now, the child was causing her a lot of concerns.

"If Mr. Lambert Senior knew, he would never allow the child to be born. You should know that," Audrey said without looking at Ryan. She was afraid that in Ryan's usually calm eyes, she would see emotions as fierce as the last time.

She wouldn't be able to handle it.

"Audrey, I'm not asking for Mr. Lambert Senior's opinion," Ryan adjusted his sitting posture, and his cold fingers lifted Audrey's chin, forcing her to look at him. "I'm asking... for your opinion." As their eyes met, Audrey's heart suddenly beat faster.

Ryan's eyes were cold and narrow. Without the barrier of glasses, she clearly saw the intense and deep emotions in his eyes.

It felt like ants were crawling slowly up her spine, making her breathe erratically and even causing her fingers to tremble involuntarily.

Audrey gripped Ryan's strong and powerful wrist. But under his gaze, she lost her strength to pull his hand away.

Her little finger touched the metal dial on his wrist. The slight ticking of the watch seemed to collide with the depths of her heart, leaving her dazed and confused.

"Forget everything else, let's just talk about this child, Audrey. Do you want to keep it?" Ryan's voice was enchanting "We can have a secret marriage. I promise to not let Mr. Lambert Senior know about the existence of this child, and I guarantee to protect your and the child's privacy. Unless you are willing to publicly acknowledge our relationship." "If, I mean if," Audrey tightly held Ryan's hand that was clasping her chin and said, "If, after the child is born, we get divorced, do I give the child to you, or not let you have any contact with the child?"

Audrey didn't want her child to become a love child, so she suggested getting married first and then divorcing Ryan's pupils contracted. After a while, he spoke, "Don't you want the child to grow up in a normal family?" "Our relationship has doomed this child to never grow up in a normal family." Audrey looked exhausted. "In secret, you are the adopted son of my maternal grandfather. Openly, we are blood-related relatives.” Apart from the fear of her biological mother’s identity being exposed, this was the most agonizing part for Audrey.

“I’ll respect all your decisions,” Ryan touched Audrey’s delicate cheek, and said without hesitation, After the child is born, whether you choose to continue or divorce, whether you want custody or give it to me,

Ryan spoke calmly, rationally, and methodically.

Audrey had to admit, Ryan’s words further broke down the defenses in her heart.

child.

But she didn’t know that Ryan was lying.

“I will consider it carefully,” Audrey said.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 87-Ever since being intimate with Audrey, Hyan always found it difficult to control her in her Remembering that addictive feeding was almost enough to reuse his self-comer to my I Ryan’s a gape ronald fed on her, and his fingers pressed against the corner of her lips. “Can I kiss You?” Audrey’s lips slightly parted from shock, unable to utter a word. Her heart almost staged beating because of Ryan’s words.

She felt her whole body go numb under Ryan’s deep and profound gaze. How straightforward and calm in expressing his desire to kiss her?

Any intimate gestures with Ryan made Audrey feel a strong sense of betrayal.

Especially kissing Ryan.

Especially after Ryan forcefully kissed her in this apartment last time. How their lips and tongues entwined, the sounds made during the kiss, and Ryan’s heavy breathing were vividly playing back in her mind.

She couldn’t think about it. Just thinking about it made her ears burn.

“1-1 should go,” Audrey tried to avoid Ryan’s gaze.

“Audrey, should I kiss you or hug you?” Ryan’s hand, which was holding her chin, moved to the back of her head. His fair and slender fingers lodged in her hair, waiting for Audrey’s response.

“Audrey, I want to comfort you, but I don’t know where to start. Won’t you teach me?” Every word Ryan said was tempting Audrey to recall their last kiss, breaking down her defenses “Can I refuse?” Audrey restrained her pounding heartbeat and asked.

Leaving Ryan’s apartment, Audrey walked dizzily toward the laboratory.

In her mind, there was Ryan’s soft laughter when she rejected him.

Before Audrey could understand what that laughter meant, she had already arrived at the laboratory.

She shook her head to cast away all the complicated and chaotic emotions and began a busy afternoon. At 7:30 pm, Joseph forcibly pulled Audrey out of the laboratory and removed her protective clothing. Joseph poured a glass of milk for Audrey, who was taking off her gloves and leaned against the bar. He asked, “What are your plans for the child in your belly?” Without lifting her head, Audrey washed her hands in the sink and replied, “Did Nathan tell you to ask about it?” Audrey found it somewhat ridiculous. Who gave Nathan the confidence to think that the child must be his?

“It’s not really like that. After all, we’re classmates. I’m genuinely concerned about you!” Joseph awkwardly scratched his head while holding the cup.

Joseph was anxious to distance himself from Nathan.

Seeing Audrey’s eyes silently watching him, he continued, “He has been sending me messages, so I asked you about it.”

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 88-Audrey was in a bad mood, and her words inevitably turned sharp.

“I understand!” Joseph quickly took out his phone to show Audrey their chat history. “I scolded him too! Don’t worry, he asked if you had aborted the child, and I told him you did. Whether you plan to keep the child or not, he will never find out.” Audrey glanced at the chat history and eventually took the glass of milk that Joseph had brought, accepting his kindness. “Thank you.

Seeing that Audrey didn’t reject him, Joseph breathed a sigh of relief.

On the other end of the phone, Nathan stared blankly at his chat record with Joseph..

Joseph said that Audrey had already aborted the child.

So quickly?

It must be Ryan’s doing!

Given Ryan’s current influence, he wouldn’t allow Audrey’s scandal to be exposed.

Due to the Lambert Corporation’s independent research and development of chips and lithography machines, Ryan’s influence in the business world was even greater than before.

These days, the most frequent words that Nathan had heard his mother say was that he was not as good as an adopted son of the Lambert family.

Isn’t that obvious? If Ryan wasn’t outstanding, how could he be adopted by the Lambert family?

Perhaps, those with the surname Lambert were naturally intelligent due to good genetics. One Ryan, and one Audrey.

Before, Nathan didn’t believe that Audrey was once a famous genius in Sheysea City. It was not until her family participated in the “Looking For Family” program, and videos of Audrey participating in various competitions were dug up, that Nathan believed it. Audrey had broken records in Sheysea City that still hadn’t been surpassed.

It turned out that whether in domestic or international competitions, Audrey always won the gold medal in the first battle, without exception. Even when facing interviews from journals before the departure, she would only say that her teacher asked her to broaden her horizons, but she would always come back with a gold medal.

So, this person, who he once thought was not from a good background and therefore clung to him desperately, was actually such a talented individual?

Nathan began to wonder what kind of person he fell in love with before losing his memory.

But he already had Amelia.

Nathan had proposed, and Amelia had agreed. He couldn't upset Amelia.

However, the more Nathan suppressed himself from thinking about Audrey, the more those memory fragments related to her played in his mind like scenes from a movie.

"Nathan..." Amelia pushed the door open Nathan quickly locked his phone screen and looked up with a smile. "Why are you here?"

Amelia's hands on the bed tightened.

She keenly sensed that Nathan's recent behavior was quite different from before.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 89-Moreover, Nathan hadn't called Amelia "sweetie" for several days.

"Nathan, you haven't called me 'sweetie' in a while now," Amelia spoke gently.

"You haven't sent any messages either. You're not acting like yourself..." Nathan felt a tightness in his chest, involuntarily recalling the expression on Audrey's face when she sat on the reef, joyfully looking at the ring on her finger under the sunlight. The sunlight outlined her tousled hair and the graceful lines of her neck. She looked relaxed and shined brightly.

Before Nathan could respond, Amelia reached out and shook his arm. "Nathan, what are you thinking about?" Nathan snapped out of his thoughts.

He didn't know how to tell Amelia that the term "sweetie" was actually what Audrey used to call him in private.

Nathan knew Amelia didn't feel secure with him.

“You used to complain that calling you ‘sweetie’ was treating you like a child,” Nathan smiled and reached out to ruffle Amelia’s hair.

10 “Don’t you know that women are always saying one thing but meaning another?” Amelia swatted away Nathan’s hand. “Only you can call me that. I feel that I’m special to you! Besides, you’ve been calling me that for so long. There must be a reason you suddenly stopped!” Amelia was smiling, but her hand had tightened.

She was afraid that Nathan would tell her that it was because he remembered Audrey. Perhaps the term sweetie was his private nickname for Audrey, and now he didn’t want to use it on her.

Amelia also feared that Nathan would remember some things but wouldn’t tell her, planning to gradually distance himself from her.

“Sweetie, sweetie, sweetie!” Nathan grabbed Amelia’s hand, as gently as ever.

“Since you like it so much, I’ll call you sweetie again in the future. Don’t call me childish again, sweetie!” Seeing that Nathan looked unaffected, Amelia comforted herself. Even if Nathan remembered Audrey, his normal behavior in front of her meant that he still loved her the most!

Amelia visibly brightened and tentatively asked, “Did you meet Audrey when you took Joseph’s cousin to Cloudmill University? How is she doing?” “Didn’t I tell you not to mention her in front of me?” Nathan lowered his eyes guiltily.

“Alright, alright, I won’t bring it up again!” Amelia got up to pour soup for Nathan.

“I’ll accompany you to drink a bowl of soup and then I have to go. The crew is hosting a dinner for the investors tonight, and I need to attend.” “Remember to send me the hotel location, and I’ll come pick you up,” Nathan said.

2/2 The case of Harper Hayes had gained a lot of attention online, with many demanding severe punishment for the bullies.

The defense lawyer, Edmond, repeatedly communicated with Audrey’s lawyer, hoping to get her to issue a letter of forgiveness, giving the few kids a chance to reform.

He even brought a few repentance letters written by the kids.

After hearing that Edmond would ensure that they receive the appropriate punishment, Audrey went to find Professor Douglas.

“There is one more thing I must confess to you.” Audrey informed Professor Douglas about her pregnancy.

He pondered for a moment and asked, “Will the pregnancy affect your performance?” “At least not for now,” Audrey replied.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 90-“Then it’s settled.” Professor Douglas smiled at Audrey and said, “Back in the day, my wife lost opportunities due to her pregnancy, so I won’t let it happen to you youngsters. As long as you feel physically fine, I believe in your capabilities.

After all, there is no dangerous equipment at the exchange meeting. However, If you find it too challenging, I’ll send you back immediately.” “That’s to be expected!” Audrey expressed deep gratitude to Professor Douglas.

“I won’t let you down!

“However, as someone who has been through the same thing, being a single mother is not easy. You’re divorced, are you sure about keeping this child?” Professor Douglas asked with concern.

Sensing that Professor Douglas also believed the child was Nathan’s, Audrey didn’t elaborate much and said, “My adoptive mother and sister are both gone, and their deaths were somewhat related to me. This time, I don’t want to lose another family member.” Professor Douglas pursed his lips and patted Audrey’s shoulder. “I understand.

Run along now!” After leaving Professor Douglas’s office, Audrey called Ryan.

Decisions were often made from just a moment of courage.

Audrey decided to go abroad with Professor Douglas and give birth to this child.

And as the child’s father, Ryan had the right to know.

The call connected.

Audrey spoke, “I just talked to Professor Douglas. I plan to go abroad with him.” “Alright, understood.” Ryan’s voice was gentle. “I’ll be at Cloudmill by 8:30 pm tonight. Let’s discuss the details at home. We need to come up with a detailed plan that is acceptable to you.” Ryan had promised that if Audrey didn’t want to... he would do his best to protect her and the child’s privacy.

“I want to keep the child with me.” Audrey wasn’t sure if her request was pushing it too far.

“Alright, I promise you!” Ryan had almost no hesitation. It was as if as long as Audrey was willing to keep the child, he would agree to any request.

He spoke as if coaxing a child, “Audrey, I still have some work to do here. Let’s talk more tonight, alright?” “okay, let’s talk tonight.” After hanging up the phone, Audrey felt weirdly nervous.

Perhaps it was because the person Audrey had always looked up to and respected had forcibly kissed her in that apartment, and even tried to kiss her again.

Meeting tonight at that apartment made her inevitably awkward.

This statement wasn’t fake. At exchange meetings, the most they did was interact with people, which was quite challenging for their research–focused minds.

After all, those who are truly engaged in academic research almost devoted all their energy to experiments and rarely engaged in social activities.
