

One Night Mistake(English Version)

Author: angbabaingsuplada

PROLOGUE

Author: angbabaingsuplad@ 2024-10-29 19:42:56

MIKAYA'S POV

That Bea Anne is really annoying. I thought we were going to relax today? Then she wasn't there and she said there was an emergency at their house. Why now? When I'm already here outside the bar she said. I even drove the car away from my Dad, but she couldn't go.

9pm and Nightlife Bar

I wanted to go home but it was a waste of time to come here. So I went inside. I said to myself that I just had one light drink and I'm going home.

When I went inside there were a lot of people and then I looked around. The lights inside were dimmed and a lot of people were dancing in the middle of the dance floor. Since my best friend didn't show up I want to enjoy this night.

I walked closer to the bar counter and ordered one light drink. It's my first time here so just light drinks is enough for me. I can't be drunk because I'm still driving home.

When I said my order to the bartender, I sat down in the empty seat at the side of the counter.

While I'm busy watching the bartender mixing my drinks a man sits on the stool next to me. I looked at him and I was surprised that he was also looking at me. I immediately looked away because he might think I like him. You know guys these days. Just look a little and immediately assume that you like them.

"Enjoy your drinks Ma'am."

The bartender said as soon as he gave me my order.

"Thank you."

I smile at him. Then I tasted my ordered drink. I don't know if it's light drinks because it tugs at my throat and I can taste its bitterness. Despite the heat and bitterness of the drink I ordered, I didn't realize how many shots I had, the reason for me to feel dizzy.

Because of what I'm drinking I don't know what I'm doing anymore. I just want to enjoy the night. The last thing that I remember is I'm dancing unbothered in the middle of the dance floor. When someone grabs my waist and gives kisses to my neck. At first I didn't pay attention but later I liked what he was doing to me. Maybe it's because of the alcohol I drank earlier.

It was too late when I realized that the man had lifted me out of the bar but my eyes remained closed because of the drunkenness. I was dizzy so I wrapped my hand around the neck of the man who lifted me.

A few minutes later he placed me onto the soft bed. I still kept my eyes closed and didn't look at him.

It's really dark inside but I know what he's doing. I wanted to stop him but I couldn't because of the alcohol and the dizziness I felt. I feel like I can't move because of the drunkenness.

He started kissing my lips to which I responded immediately. Everything that happens is new to me. The warmth of his lips causes strange tickles in my body. I know this is wrong and I don't know what I should do. But one thing is clear to me now, that is that I like what is happening with us now.

"Oh shit, please more.."

I couldn't stop moaning when he started touching my womanhood. I no longer have cover on my body so I can feel the warmth of his hands.

"Hmm. You like it huh."

He answered in the middle of what we were doing.

His lips made me want to cover my healthy breasts. I lose myself because of what he does. I want him to do more. There was a feeling that I needed more.

"Please, I want more."

When I said that word, he mercilessly took off the remaining cover from my body. Then he grabbed both of my legs and separated them.

I bit my lips as he kissed my womanhood. I was overwhelmed by the pleasure of his tongue thrusting into my womanhood. I can no longer understand my feelings. I feel like I'm burning. My toes curl up when I feel something in my abdomen. I held his hair tightly when I felt him insert his two fingers into me.

I hugged his neck with my legs. At the same time there was a loud growl. This doesn't feel right but my body wants this.

"You are such a sexy babe."

Said the stranger to me. I slightly open my eyes while catching my breath. I want to see him but I can't because my vision will start to become blurry. All I could see was his body because of the light coming from the light outside. I feel exhausted. I can't feel strong anymore because I felt exhausted because of what we have done earlier.

"We were just starting, babe."

He said. After a while I realized that he slightly opened my thighs. He knelt down in the middle and looked at me closely. He grabbed my legs then slowly inserted his big manhood into me. I closed my eyes tightly when I felt him. I feel like I can't handle him. He is too big for me. I feel like I can't take him.

"Shit your a virgin?"

He asked a question. I nodded in response even though I knew he couldn't see because it was dark.

I firmly held onto the bed sheet when I felt him thrusting slowly again. When he felt that he had inserted everything, he stayed for a few minutes in that position. It hurts, I feel like I'm going to split in the middle. After a while, he was on top of me while his arms were resting on both sides of me so that his weight wouldn't completely fall on me.

"Hold my hand tightly babe, this is gonna be rough."

I was surprised when he spoke. I opened my eyes and stared at him. My drunkenness was gone and I could clearly see what he was doing. He knows that I'm a virgin and it must be painful I guess because that's what others say, but I don't want to stop him because even my body likes it. Maybe I should bear the pain, I like it so I will bear it.

I started to intertwine my fingers with him and prepared myself for what would happen. I can see a fire in his eyes.

"This night will be wild babe."

He said with his husky voice.

At the same time as he smiled, after that he made a strong thrust. The only thing that I did in that moment was to bear the pain until it goes away and let it be replaced by indescribable pleasure.

I know this will be a one night mistake, because I gave my virginity to a total stranger but it will be a mistake that I will never regret.