

One Planet 205

Chapter 205: The explosion begins! The first record of the college entrance examination..... is born!

The young male examiner laughed.

“I have no doubts either.”

The female examiner nodded her head.

“In this case, the two most critical indicators are full and there is nothing else to say, the final rating score is.....”

The older male examiner paused for a moment and said, “A perfect score of one hundred!”

Saying that, he picked up the pen and was ready to write it down on paper.

At this time, the female examiner spoke up and said, “Wait a minute, although this candidate is excellent in both of these, have you noticed a problem.”

“Huh?”

The older male examiner and the younger male examiner looked at the female examiner.

The older male examiner frowned slightly and asked, “What kind of problem?”

“All the species of this candidate are ordinary species and none of them are transcendent species!”

The female examiner’s voice changed slightly: “So I think that it’s not very reasonable to give full marks. Two or three points should be deducted!”

“Deduct two or three points?”

The older male examiner looked at the female examiner and his frown deepened.

The young male examiner, on the other hand, gave the female examiner an extra look.

He remembered that there was a rumor about this female examiner.....

It was said there was a relationship of this female examiner with a genius of Purple Star City who is on the list of Heavenly Pride.

The mother of that genius was a college friend of this female examiner and it was well known.

In the entire Dongyang Province, the admission places of the super-first-class universities were only available for one thousand and eighty!

There were only 500 spots left for the various heavenly pride demons to compete for!

If Jiang Fan’s side could deduct an extra two or three points, those two or three points could affect the ranking of hundreds or thousands of people!

And finally because of this one point, leading to the admissions of super-first-class universities would change!

“It’s true that none of these thousand species are transcendent species, but.....” The older male examiner said in a deep voice: “Our assessment criteria do not have this one! In addition, even with this addition, do you think that so many species are not enough to make up for this shortcoming!”

Hearing this, the female examiner was slightly stunned but she still said with a firm face: “I still insist that full marks are not suitable!”

“In that case, let’s leave the evaluation results to the chief examiner to decide.”

The older male examiner got a little angry.

Naturally, he also knew those rumors about the female examiner.

What a joke.

This was a historic thousands of species!

If it couldn’t be rated as a perfect score, that would be a dereliction of his duty!

Each examiner was actually very happy to meet this kind of talent who could break records.

It was a glorious moment to go down in the history of one’s life!

Even if they were to brag about it in the future, it could also be used as capital!

“That record-breaking peerless genius was judged by me.”

Saying it out, how cool was that.

Although among the examiners, there was no contradiction in general.

Even if there was any dispute, it would also make concessions like meeting other geniuses.

The female examiner deducted an extra point or two or added an extra point or two.

The older male examiner also just turned a blind eye.

He won’t say anything.

However, this was the first time in the entire history of the college entrance examination!

The only one of its kind!

A super genius with thousands of species.

As for this record, the older male examiner could tell that it was basically impossible to be broken in the future!

Such a historic moment.

How could it be destroyed because of someone’s selfishness?

“Then let the chief examiner decide.”

There was nothing the female examiner could do.

She didn’t expect the older male examiner to be so rigid.

Perfect score was rated.

Naturally, the examiner needed to decide!

As the middle-aged man heard the older male examiner's report.

Once again, his face was staggered.

“1412 species? Can you be any more f*cking outrageous?”

The middle-aged man almost cursed!

The shock of this day was not nearly as much as in the previous decades of proctoring experience.

“Then... the final score of this candidate? Can it be rated as a perfect score?”

The older male examiner asked.

“Why are you still asking?” Looking at the cautious expression of the older male examiner, the middle-aged man was a little speechless and said directly: “Of course it is a perfect score! One hundred percent!”

The previous full score of the second subject was not bad but this third subject was also a perfect score.

Adding up, it was a perfect score in both subjects!

Throughout the history of the college entrance exam, it never happened.

It was destined to stay in the history of college entrance exams and the middle-aged man acted as the examiner for that candidate.

This was a great honor!

Now he was f*cking asking him if he wants to rate it as a perfect score?

His brain must be kicked by a donkey!
