Chapter 14

Calx was confused why a lot of females were looking at him. As for the males, they weren't normal either. Usually, they would make fun of him or smirk at him. But that scenario didn't happen today. In fact, his day was peaceful, so peaceful that he started to think that he reincarnated to a parallel world. Calix scratched his head while walking in the hallway.

He bowed his head, he didn't want to see their gazes. He sensed that something changed but he didn't think that it would be good for him. Perhaps the students inhaled strange gas that caused them to be abnormal.

"Let's go to the toilet."

Calix went to the toilet to check if he had something on his face just to make sure. Perhaps there was a scribble on his face or something that made the girls look at him. He faced the mirror and found that his face was normal. He was actually blooming because of the intercourse yesterday.

"Then why are they looking at me?"

He turned around to check if a paper was taped on his back. He found nothing. Calix tilted his head, his eyebrow raised thinking why the gazes of the women were fiery and why men didn't bully him. This was disastrous for him, this occurrence was very out of his everyday life.

"What is going on?"

He started sweating, perhaps a big unfavorable event would happen. Calix washed his face with water, he calmed himself regulating the erratic beating of his heart. No misfortune happened to him since morning so he thought that maybe his backlash was building up its water to pour down and flood him.

"Shit, maybe I'm right. Then I have to leave here. I don't want to cause commotion and make myself a laughingstock. Should I go to the Game Center? Nope, the thugs are there maybe there are waiting for me..."

Causing a scene in the school would be bad for him. He sighed in defeat and decided to return to his dorm so that he could minimize the damage...

"I hope it will not be another earthquake, my room can't take it if another earthquake hits. Not fire either, the last classroom I attended seriously burned..."

He clenched his fists and hoisted his backpack. He decided to go out. While he was on the way going out of the toilet room, he saw that Chen Cudgel entered the toilet together with his friends and lackeys.

"Shit!!"

Caliz gritted his teeth, he walked slowly and looked down hiding his face. He didn't want to make attention. Young Master Chen hates him and seeing him here in the restroom would definitely be a sign of his backlash.

It seemed like the backlash was starting to do its job. He cursed his Term Attribute as he walked unnoticed. Perhaps this was the major incident or so he thought.

None of the lackeys moved despite glancing at him. They didn't start a fight or anything. Calix didn't think about their actions, all he wanted was to get out. Thankfully, he successfully escaped the dungeon called Toilet. He continued walking to get away in case they would turn around and hunt him.

"This is crazy."

While he was walking, he found a 100 dollar bill on the floor. He looked up but he realized that the classes already started and no one was there except for a few students. He returned his vision at the money and decided to grab it.

"Is this compensation for the hardship I'm going to get in?"

Young Master Chen was in bad mood. The lackeys that were following him were sweating hard. They didn't want to incur his hatred. Even Chen's friends were quiet and didn't even open their mouths.

"That woman, I will make sure that I'll get her next time."

As he showered his golden liquid down the toilet bowl, Chen was gritting his teeth. Scarlett's name was starting to spread across the country. Her achievement was widely welcomed by a lot of people. And she even started to gain fan clubs but the worst was...

"Men will surely flock around her, just to take her heart, they will do everything ."

Chen punched the wall and his sprinkler landed on his shoes causing him to become furious.

"Fuck this!"

His shoes are a hundred thousand dollars Niko shoes but now they were tainted by his pee. Chen kicked the toilet but he slipped and fell to the floor. The floor was dirty, mixed with water, pee, dirt, and perhaps semen. His branded clothes were dirtied.

"Godammit! Let go of me!"

His lackeys tried to help him but his roar caused them to stop. Young Master Chen was unlucky right now. Let's just say that Fate was not on his side. The poor man stood up and looked at himself in the mirror. Hatred was written on his face. His shirt was dirty but that was not the reason why he was angry.

Young Master Chen had an average talent... Nope, he's just lazy and wants to play. Except for his money, he was nothing. Having Scarlett as his fiancée caused his pride to swell. Imagining her serving him, bowing before him made him exhilarate, being Scarlett's fiancé.

That's why he couldn't accept if Scarlett was taken by another man, it would be detrimental for him. Scarlett's background was enough for Chen to have a high-ranking position in the Army.

He planned to rape her using an aphrodisiac and blackmail her after. But it seemed like things won't go on his way. He believed that Scarlett and the Robinson Clan won't let this thing be. Young Master Chen opened his phone and started dialing, he was going to call for help.

[Note: this is more like a side story. It depends on you if you want it to be canon or not.]

After calling someone, Young Master Chen grumpily returned to his estate. He saw one of the maids that he fuck last time, she was humming as she cleaned the windows. The timid woman was hesitant at first but when he said that he would raise her pay. The maid decided to succumb to him. She lost her virginity and it didn't even feel good. Young Master Chen was rough and tended to hurt her physically while having sex

Now, every week he would call the maid and fuck her in his room... just like what's going to happen right now. He stopped behind her and slapped her ass cheek so hard. He didn't do it to surprise her, he literally wanted to hurt someone right now and this girl was going to be that person.

"Kyah!"

The woman jolted and turned. Her eyes widened when she saw that her Master was the one who did it.

"M-Master w- what do you want?"

She asked while rubbing her ass that Chen smacked.

"Don't ask questions, or else I will hurt you."

He said and pulled her hair. The woman yelped and quietly followed her. Within just five minutes, Young Master Chen cum. He couldn't control his anger as he slammed his dick in the maid. He was pulling her hair and the woman started crying. She didn't feel any pleasure, Young Master Chen continued doing her and he didn't care if the woman likes it or not. He was the boss here.

He pumped his semen inside her and grunted.

"Gahah... Now, suck my dick."

The maid kneeled and started taking the dick in her mouth, she closed her eyes and was forced not to shed any tears as Young Master Chen choked her with his rod. Then, she accidentally bit his dick.

"Ouch!!! You crazy bitch!"

"I- I'm sorry Master!!"
