

Only Fuel 181

Chapter 181

When Calix entered Nikki's room, he was already panting and naked. Nothing but a boxer to protect his recently erected cock against the cold. He couldn't believe that before he reached this room, he had sex with three girls.

"Although sex is great so I don't have anything to say."

Yuna is always horny, even going to masturbate on the table in the kitchen. Calix fucked her.

Scarlett just wanted to equal the battle, and she didn't want to be left behind. If the others had it, then, she better have it too. But she always wanted to be above the others, of course Calix made her feel loved, through some good dicking.

As for Marianne, she would only be honest if there was a cock inside her pussy. She started begging and screaming for more, scratching Calix's chest in the process. As expected, Marianne was into physical hurting. Although she was the one that got hurt most of the time. Of course, Calix fucked her too.

Calix sat and leaned on the chair. His simple journey to the kitchen became a memorable adventure of all time.

"I feel like I'm killing bosses on the way."

He muttered. Thankfully, because of Kimberly's constant innovation, Calix received a ring that had a square meter space inside. Yup, Calix received the controversial spatial ring. Based on what he knew, this was a Runic Artifact and only a few people had this.

But because of Kimberly, the technology was recreated. Kimberly used Yuna's power as an idea to create it. To be honest, Calix didn't know how it works, but he didn't deny her gift, or else Kimberly would pout.

As of now, Kimberly created only one of these and gave it to Calix. Although Runic Artifacts such as Mento and Battle Suit could not be put inside the ring, only normal stuff.

That's why Calix used it for practical use, he put some essential things in the ring. He activated the ring and a t-shirt and shorts materialized before him.

"No matter how many times I see it, I'm still amazed that this thing can actually happen."

The idea of a spatial ring was truly amazing. Calix further realized how smart Kimberly is, she can do what she wants as long as she had the resources.

But of course, the only reason why Kimberly could create these new inventions was because of Calix. Or to be precise, because of his dick.

Kimberly could only write Runes if she had sex with Calix. So Calix is indeed the vital ingredient of this.

"Phew, all good."

Calix put on his clothes and glanced at Nikki who was sleeping peacefully. It was good that her breathing was much better.

Calix decided to look at the internet to fight boredom. But in the middle of his scrolling, he found that his necklace, Mento, was vibrating.

This means that Calix's plan was starting.

He grinned and cast his power. Of course, he won't leave Leon without any reason. As a guy who did bad things, Calix knew how to be a devil.

Mento changed into a walkie-talkie device and Calix listened to the conversation on the other side.

.....

.....

...

"Offf!! Ooooffg!!"

Leon was screaming but his mouth was taped and he couldn't talk at all. He was asking for help, for someone, or anyone. He might lose his life the longer he stayed here. His eyes were blindfolded and all he could do was listen to the surroundings and slowly lose his mind.

His body was bloodied and his face was horrible to look at. Indeed, he was tortured, a lot. He knew that another day in this godforsaken dungeon would make him crazy. Perhaps he was already crazy. He lost all his nails up from his hands down to his feet, his skin charred and blood was oozing out of his wounds. His bones were thoroughly fractured.

'Curse this Backlash!!'

He was getting tortured to get some information about the Council of Torment, the crazy organization that the whole world feared.

Leon was mumbling something, trying his best to pull out his hands off the cuffs, making them bleed furiously. He didn't care if another bone cracked.

However, just as Leon was ready to do something suicidal. A step resounded in the dungeon, sending shivers down his spine.

The steps resonated, Leon thought that there were people guarding the dungeon but he couldn't hear anything except the steps.

'Perhaps...'

Just as he thought of something, the steps stopped in front of his cell and he heard the sounds of metals clunking as if they were destroyed in one shot.

Leon didn't know what was happening. He was scared. He did his best to keep his mouth shut so that the government won't get any information from him. But he understood that he would lose his willpower one way or another. He was hoping that his allies would show up and help him. But Leon understood the truth well, he was nothing but disposal. That's why Leon decided to do the last resort, to escape this dungeon.

Yet, it seemed like his plan won't happen.

A person grabbed his hair and lifted his head, Leon was frightened. Ready himself to accept another torture. Yet the person took off his blindfold.

Leon grimaced at the dim light, it took a long time for him to recognize the person.

"... S- Sergio? Oh my God! Is that really you? Sergio!! My baby!!! I'm so glad to see you!!"

Leon started crying so loud. He felt that his soul was salvaged from hell. His face was contorting because of too much crying. He sniffed his snot as his face was covered with his tears.

"Yes, it's me, Leon I miss you."

Sergio Osmeña, Leon's lover, spoke sweetly.

He has serious long-long black hair, reaching his knees. To be fair, he looked more of a woman than a guy. He had a feminine face yet the fact that there was something dangling between his legs was full proof that he is a male. Leon saw it and even touched it, making him fall in love with this man.

Sergio smiled and kissed Leon's dirty forehead. Leon closed his eyes in happiness. At last, he would be saved from this hell.

Chapter 182

Leon Abhorwell was bawling, his eyes were blurring because of nonstop tears. He felt saved now that his lover was here. He suffered through endless torture that he started losing hope. After countless torture and healing, Leon knew that his mind would shatter.

That's why Sergio is an answered prayer. The fact that he was here, looking at him with gentleness meant a lot to Leon. He did his best to smile and regain his focus.

"Q- quick, we have to leave before the guards find us!"

He said, stuttering and nervous. He didn't want to stay in this godforsaken place. This place was a nightmare.

"Don't worry, we already solved that problem."

Sergio nonchalantly said, caressing Leon's dirty hair.

"R- really? Then--!!"

"Yes, Puti is here."

Sergio confirmed and Leon's expression beamed. He looked ahead and found a person standing in the corner of the room. The person was wearing a battle suit and his face was protected by a helmet. No one knows if Puti is a girl or not, because even his physical appearance was quite confusing. He didn't talk a lot too, he just nod or shake his head.

"Puti is here, then, we can leave this place quickly!"

Leon cackled like a crazy person.

Puti was a famous individual in the Council of Torment. He is the Teleporter. He was usually known as an informant who delivered information to other followers all around the world. His identity truly meant a lot.

That person, Puti, was standing in front of Leon. Leon was excited and looked at Sergio, begging him to unlock the cuffs and free him.

"Let's go. We can't waste any time! The vice president will show up at any moment!"

Leon hysterically said. He experienced being a living punching bag by that woman. Leon recalled how Esmeralda tore his limbs while he was screaming in pain. That witch called for a healer and Leon was healed like brand new. However, Leon lost half of his sanity. That woman was brutal, worst than a monster.

Still, Leon gritted his teeth and didn't talk. He didn't snitch and tell any vital information about the organization. He was loyal to the very end.

"Please, we have to leave."

Leon was looking at Sergio and Puti. Sergio nodded and caressed him, making Leon shiver.

"Leon, did you leak any information to the government?"

"No!! Absolutely not! I'm loyal to the organization! I will never betray you!"

Leon shouted from the bottom of his heart. His hoarse voice resounded and Sergio smiled gently. Tapping Leon's head, as if Leon was a pet.

"Good boy. We will take you out of here."

Sergio confirmed.

"T- thank you!! Sergio, I love you!!"

He said while his snot was dripping down.

"I love you too baby. But before that, I just want to make sure. Leon, are you still suffering from your backlash?"

He asked, quite intrigued.

"Yes! Those crazy people didn't give me any mirror to refuel!"

Because of that, Leon's bones were fragile.

Leon's Fuel was to look at a mirror at least once a day. His backlash if he failed to refuel was that his bones would become weak.

That's why his bones were easily broken when he was tortured. The worst was that he was undergoing constant healing so whenever his body would get hurt, it would heal. He experienced having broken bones a hundred times in just a day. It was horrible, he thought of killing himself.

Sergio smiled.

"Good-- Then that means that I can do this!!"

He broke Leon's legs without flinching.

"Aaaahhhj!!! My legs!!! My leeeegggggsssss!!!"

Leon cried so loud. He coughed blood as he saw his twisted legs.

He looked up and found Sergio smirking, amused by this entertainment. Leon convulsed, he felt mistreated.

"W- why? Why are you doing this? I thought you love me!!?"

"I do, even now I love you."

Sergio replied but Leon felt nothing but despair. Sergio was smiling exactly like how Esmeralda tortured Leon. Esmeralda and Sergio had similarities.

Leon understood his doom. He thought hope has descended. Yet, it seemed like his hope was a tragedy all along.

"N- no!! I swear, I can do so much for you guys!! Please don't kill me! Please, I'm begging you!! I don't want to die."

Leon grumbled, clenching his fists. He was enduring his broken legs, he felt that he lost his senses. His legs were twisted so badly that the bones could be seen.

"I- I know!! I can give you information about something!! It seemed that--"

"Leon, can't you understand?"

A heavy voice reverberated. Puti, the person who was standing in the corner, spoke under the helmet. This was the first time that Leon heard his voice. It was deep rugged with a hint of falsetto, making his gender more confusing.

But it didn't matter, because Leon was definitely scared right now.

"We will kill you and steal your ability."

"W- wait! You promised that you will take me out of here!!!"

Leon's growling voice sounded desperate. His pitiful appearance made Sergio smile.

The long hair man knelt and stepped on Leon's twisted legs. Leon didn't feel any pain, probably his senses towards his legs were crushed too.

"Leon, my Leon. I promise you that you will leave this place."

He said sweetly.

"Then--"

"But it doesn't mean that you have to be alive. We need your body, but not your life."

"You!!!!!"

Leon's bloodshot eyes glared at Sergio. He couldn't believe that he loved and trusted this guy. He gave everything to Sergio, even his anal virginity, yet Sergio betrayed him. Right in the middle of believing that he could leave this place alive.

Sergio and Leon swing both ways. Sometimes Sergio was the bottom, while sometimes Leon was. It was a give and take, balance at it should be.

"You motherf--!!!"

"Uh- uh. You know that I never did that."

Sergio snickered and choked Leon. He was slowly crushing his neck.

Leon tried to fight back, but because his hands were cuffed, he couldn't do anything except losing his air.

His face turned white to blue till he completely lost his breathing. His expression was filled with hatred and disappointment till his eyes lost their focus.

Leon Abhorwell died at the hands of his lover, what a way to end his life.

Sergio started laughing, looking at Leon's pitiful appearance. He loved Leon, but he loved him dead. This person is crazy.

Chapter 183

Sergio clapped his hands, dusting the blood off. He couldn't believe that he had drunk this blood once. He pulled a handkerchief and cleaned his hands while humming. He glanced at Leon who was breathless.

"Don't worry Leon. We will use your body well."

He added and pulled Leon's body.

"Let's go. The Vice-president is coming."

Sergio felt that the surrounding was getting suffocating. They didn't have time to fight Esmeralda, that woman worked for the military for a decade. Her experience and power were enough to say that she was dangerous.

Puti nodded and started painting. His hand movement was fast. So fast that the white canvas immediately turned into a scenery of sunflowers.

This was his Term Attribute. Puti draw the place that he wanted to teleport into. In just a dozen seconds, his work was completed and the painting absorbed Puti, Sergio, and Leon, teleporting them to their location.

After that process, the painting turned to ashes and the evidence vanished.

Right after that, a powerful tremor shook the dungeon and the whole place was covered in darkness. Esmeralda materialized right before Leon's cell. However she was late and didn't reach them.

"Tch, they are fast."

She clicked her tongue. She already expected that Leon would be taken, but she didn't expect it to happen today. Esmeralda was busy preparing for the Blood Moon. That's why she put thrice numbers of guards to look for Leon instead. But it seemed that even 169 guards were not enough to protect the dungeon.

They were killed by Sergio and Puti. It was already late when Esmeralda found that the dungeon was infiltrated. The worst was that they lost their main source of information. Leon disappeared together with them.

Yet, Esmeralda's expression didn't change that much. She had more important things to do. The Blood Moon is the day where hell would materialize on earth. Even a DemiGod like her didn't have the power to stop it. So she was busy preparing right now.

The government didn't have the exact date and time when the Blood Moon would happen, that's why they were tense right now.

"Besides, Leon may have information about the Council but I'm sure that it's not that important. Because the Council is secretive, only the Twelve Bishops of the Table and the Pope has the real information."

She muttered and looked at her nails. Her nails were chipped because she was rushing to this dungeon at full speed.

"Hm, now that I think about it... I wonder what she's doing right now."

Esmeralda snickered and looked at the dead bodies in the hallway. It was gruesome, yet, they died quickly.

"A vampire descent, huh."

The power to manipulate blood. The guards died because the circulation of their blood turned opposite. This caused effects and their blood started coming out of their bodies until they died. It was horrible because it happened so fast that they didn't have the time to react.

"Eh, they even killed the other prisoners."

This dungeon held dozens of most wanted criminals, and they died too.

"Well, at least it's hassle-free for me. They are criminals anyway and they deserve to die."

She cast her spell and the darkness ate all of the bodies. She had to deliver the bodies of the guards to their families, it was her job even if it was heartless. As for the criminals, perhaps she would dump them into the ocean to be the food of the fishes and Aberrants.

Esmeralda started walking and disappeared into the darkness.

.....

.....

...

Thousands of kilometers away from Dellia.

In the huge country of Harmonica.

Sergio and Puti materialized in the middle of fields of sunflowers.

"Phew, looks like it's still afternoon in this country."

Sergio exhaled and looked at the sun passing down. It was already night in the Dellia but it was afternoon in the Harmonica.

"My job is finished here. Make sure you deliver Leon to the Clockwork."

Puti said and pulled another scroll of white canvas to paint on.

"Okay bye~~"

Sergio sweetly said, bidding him farewell. Puti nodded and finished the painting. Just like what happened earlier, the painting absorbed Puti and the painting turned to ashes.

"... Fucking retarded. Just because he's a teleporter, he acts high and mighty. Puti, you fucker, don't forget that I'm still stronger than you."

Sergio's expression was filled with rage. Veins were showing up on his forehead. He didn't realize that his fist was bleeding because of too much wrath. That Puti made him piss.

"But if he's a virgin... Maybe I can taste his blood a little bit. I wonder how it tastes, probably awful, just like his attitude."

He scoffed. Sergio had the characteristics of a vampire. He didn't inherit all of their characteristics, such as being weak under the sun, having pale skin, and being thirsty for blood, but his ability to control blood was apparent. Sergio could drink blood but he didn't need it to live.

"Blood tastes good so I like drinking them, especially the blood of young virgin guys... Fufu, just like you, Leon."

Yup, Sergio drank Leon's blood when Leon was still a virgin. So Sergio didn't put importance on Leon because his blood didn't taste good anymore.

"But don't worry, your death will not be in vain. We will create the best doll using your body. You have a unique Term Attribute."

Sergio had given a mission to collect Leon's body, his body could be used as a doll.

Sergio was actually in Dellia for more than three months. Sergio and Leon planned the terrorist attack, to kidnap Marianne and act as a diversion. Because Sergio had another mission at that time-- to infiltrate the unknown location of the Obice.

"Of course, it's a secret if I succeeded or not. But this, this asshole of a boyfriend of mine, failed!! I can't believe that you failed to take Marianne Francine!! She's the best candidate!!"

He growled at the dead Leon, he started kicking the poor guy until Leon's bones were shattered.

Sergio calmed down after a few minutes of releasing his rage at the dead body.

Phew, it's time to move, I guess."

He said and wiped his sweat. He regained his lovely smile and started strutting.

Chapter 184

In the middle of the sunflower fields, a huge barn was standing. It appeared to be a normal barn where farm animals would live but few people know that it was not that simple at all.

Sergio reached the barn and walked into the place, the people looked at him and the dead body that he was dragging, yet none of them appeared to be shocked nor afraid. Instead, one of them guided Sergio to the secret factory.

"Hm, as always, this place stinks!!"

He rubbed his nose when he stepped into the underground facility. He looked around and found people chopping dead bodies like nothing. Sergio is of vampire descent but he didn't like dead people or their smell. He had his taste, the blood of young virgin guys.

"Oh? So you're here Sergio Osmeña."

A guy who was wearing a red tainted lab coat approached him.

"Hampas, the Clockwork."

Sergio greeted him.

Hampas Lupa. He is the Clockwork who makes dolls using his Term Attribute. He's been a member of the Council since a long time ago and his name was famous, in a bad way. He's one of the most wanted criminals in the world. Although his height is measured only at 4'3 feet. Yup, he is a descendant of the Dwarves. Sadly, aside from his Term Attribute, he didn't inherit their power to create Runes.

But his power is still strong.

Actually, all of the people who were working in the factory were his dolls. Only Hampas Lupa was the real living person here. The others were dolls that he created. He could command them to do simple tasks but he had to be there if he commanded them to do complicated tasks.

This factory was for the sole purpose of creating powerful mindless soldiers. They were preparing to use them once the time was right, such as the Blood Moon. So right now, these dolls were just stocked or helping Hampas.

'Blood Moon... I'm excited.'

Sergio licked his lips.

"So this is the guy?"

Hampas looked at Leon's horrible body.

"Yup. Hey, are you still reading the book I gave you?"

Sergio asked.

"Ah yeah. It's quite good to be fair. Although around chapter 100 a slut appeared and I lost interest reading it."

Hampas shrugged and gave the book to Sergio. He could not handle that part.

"Hah, pathetic! Weakness disgusts me. You just didn't know the glory of the author."

"Care to explain it to me?"

Sergio cleared his throat and started explaining, like a priest.

"You see. The author intentionally made the mc pathetic so that the character development will become good later on. I mean, readers will lose their interest if the mc starts as a great and talented person, right? They can't relate."

"Fair enough."

Hampas nodded.

"As for the slut. The author did that to slightly show that the novel will turn gruesome one way or another... Well, he just actually wants to piss the readers."

Sergio added.

"I see."

"Now you understand?"

"Nope, I gave it a three-star rating. I didn't listen to the author. Fuck him."

"You motherfucker-- TOFD is good, okay!! Give it a one-star bitch!!"

Sergio fought his opinion. He knew how the author did his shit. Everything has its reasons.

"Okay, tch. I just hate that the slut is part of the harem. She's dirty, fucking whore"

"Deal with it!! You know that there is no perfect novel!! Even J.K Rowling made Dumbledore gay, like what the fuck!! J.K Rowling, you fucking hypocrite!"

"Fine, I'll take the body."

Hampas lost the argument.

Just as Hampas touched Leon's body, he instinctively jumped, and he immediately glared at Sergio.

"What did you do!!? This body has been tracked!! Our location is compromised!!!"

Hampas punched Sergio because of anger. This place had hundreds of thousands of dolls, it would be hard to move all of them at once.

Sergio turned red and became mad.

"What do you mean!?? We inspected his body before we took him here!!!"

His fangs started showing. He might suck Hampas' blood at any moment.

However, both Sergio and Hampas flinched when they confirmed that Leon was indeed tracked.

They looked at Leon's lifeless body, someone was speaking inside.

[Welp, I thought I will locate your secret hideout but you took me to a factory instead... Not bad.]

The unknown man muttered.

"Who are you?"

Sergio's eyes slowly turned red, even his long hair became red. He would destroy Leon's body.

[Me? I'm nothing but a guy with a big cock. You can call me Chad. I inserted a tracking device inside Leon, knowing that the Council will help him. And I guess I'm right.]

"... That's impossible. I have enough knowledge to know that a tracking device can't have a communication function unless a great amount of energy is used."

Hampas muttered. This place was thousands of kilometers away from Dellia, the signal should be unclear here. Yet the guy could speak clearly.

[Is that so? Looks like I have a great device in me, hehe.]

The guy named Chad chuckled and Sergio became pissed.

"I will kill you!!"

[Nope, it's the other way around. Maybe you think that I only put a tracking device in Leon, but you are wrong. I put a tiny winnie bomb inside too.]

"Hah! What can a small bomb do!?"

[Usually, that should be the case. But my bomb is different... Because it's powered by endless energy!!]

"Curse you!!"

Hampas roared and commanded every doll close to them to protect them from the bomb. The dolls started surrounding them so that the bomb won't hurt Sergio and Hampas.

[Don't forget my name!! I'm the guy who has a big cock, the guy who has big dick energy!! My name is Chad Ligma!!]

"Chad Ligma?"

[That's right, Ligma Balls. Muhahaha!!]

Chad started laughing like a villain and Leon's body exploded so strong that the whole barn was eradicated.

The explosion was so big that everything around was destroyed. The explosion looked like a huge mushroom in the sky.

.....

.....

...

"Guah!!"

The whole factory was destroyed and all of the dolls were burned to extinction. The worst was that Hampas died too.

"Damn it! Hampas Lupa, you can't die like that!"

Sergio looked at Hampas's charred body. The guy was already dead. It was impossible to save him.

"Aahhhhh!!!! Curse you! I will never forgive you Chad Ligma!!!"

Sergio growled like a beast. He was the only one who survived because of his lineage. His burned face started healing but he didn't feel safe at all.

Chapter 185

The whole field of sunflowers had been turned into the aftermath of a nuclear bomb site. There was a huge crater in the middle. It was fortunate that there were no civilians around, except for the two people.

However, Hampas Lupa was already dead while Sergio was doing his best to regenerate.

"Gurgh!"

He grunted and looked around. He was in a huge deep crater on the ground and the whole barn disappeared. Even the dolls that they gathered and restored were turned into smithereens.

He bit his lip in frustration, blood slowly crept out. He slammed the ground and roared in madness.

"Chad Ligmaaa!!!!"

He couldn't believe that the plan they continued doing for years vanished in just one mistake. Now they have to find an alternative. They knew that Blood Moon was getting closer.

Sergio understood that he would receive a great punishment after this, and it would definitely be painful. He had to take responsibility.

His eyes turned blood red, remembering Chad's voice.

.....

.....

...

Since then, Chad Ligma became a person that the Council of Torment feared.

.....

.....

...

"Phew, I guess it's over."

Calix took a deep breath, relieved that the matter related to Leon was finished. Now, he had taken revenge on him.

"I promised that he will never have a peaceful death... Although, I'm not the one who ended his life, but damn, I can't believe that his boyfriend will do that to him. Talking about plot twist."

Calix and Marianne suffered because of Leon, now he paid it back. At least Marianne won't have to worry about Leon anymore.

"But I think she will be happier than me once she found out. She loves to know that her enemies are suffering. She's a sadist in the first place."

He shrugged. Marianne was a sadist but in the bed, she was nothing but a cumdumpster. Heck, she even said it herself, that she was nothing but a cumrag.

'But to be honest, I'm surprised that I can actually do that. I don't know that Mento has the function to insert bombs and tracking devices inside a person without getting noticed... Nah, definitely because of Luck, my power is a great factor.'

The most important thing that caught his attention was the power of the bomb. Because of the Fragment of Excalibur, the bomb that he planted in Leon was so strong that even though Calix was not in the area, he knew that the bomb destroyed a vast area.

He was shocked, he glanced at the silent Mento that had the appearance of a walkie-talkie. This Runic Weapon was one of a kind, not gonna lie.

This pistol could turn into different gadgets and weapons. Calix treasures it.

"Yet, it's quite confusing that I can't turn it into a sword or any blade, maybe I still need to do something to acquire that function."

Calix was curious about how Mento works because this weapon saved him many times. This pistol was the reason why he could fight Aberrants in the first place. He understood that his Luck was not enough to do that, he thinks so.

"Unless a sinkhole will appear whenever I fight, just like what happened when I fought Devon."

It was wholesome that he still remembered the guy that he beat once.

"Now that I think about it, I don't know if Devon escaped the sinkhole... Perhaps that was my first murder all along."

Lucky for him, Devon is still alive and wandering around, working as a mercenary.

"... Hm?"

When Calix turned Mento back in its original form, a pistol, he felt a slight vibration and connection towards something.

Calix looked around and found a golden hammer hanging on the wall.

"That's the hammer that Nikki used earlier."

He muttered. He recalled how Nikki smashed the monster using this heavy-looking hammer.

Calix stood up and decided to touch the weapon. He was curious why Mento and this hammer made a connection.

He gulped and touched the golden hammer when--

[You stinky ass motherfucker!! Don't ever use your dirty hand to touch my marvelous handle!! You fucking donkey, I swear!! No one is allowed to touch me except girls!! Especially hot mommas who have big tiddies!!]

The hammer screamed inside his mind. Calix realized that the hammer is a feminist, I mean, the hammer has consciousness. Calix felt the electricity and immediately backed off.

"Woah."

The hammer spoke to him, the shocking thing was that it cursed him. The hammer is a pervert that loves to get handled by a girl, a big booba girl, exactly like Nikki.

"The fuck is happening?"

He was confused. This was the second time he experienced this but this hammer shocked him in a different way. A hammer cussed his stinky ass!!

Calix looked at his hand, that hammer was definitely different than the average.

"A weapon just like Mento..."

Calix took a step to touch the hammer again, he was curious as his eyes looked intently at the hammer.

However--

His instinct told him the danger.

Calix immediately ducked when a powerful swing almost hit his head. He turned around and found that Nikki was standing and glaring at him.

She was blushing, but her eyes were looking at Calix with anger. She was fuming, perhaps her mind was still not completely focused.

"What are you doing? That hammer is cursed, every man who touched the hammer will lose their strength for two hours. It's a cursed weapon. In fact, you should be on your knees right now."

She said. Her eyes didn't leave Calix at all. Calix was dumbfounded that Nikki could actually raise her voice. She was not shy right now and her voice was clear to hear.

"Wait what? But I feel nothing!"

"Exactly, that's why I'm asking you what did you do."

She took a step and her shadow alone covered Calix. Calix felt the danger, he understood that he made her mad.

"First of all, let's calm down. Nikki, you need to get rest so--"

Before he could finish his sentence, the big yet agile Nikki grabbed his neck and pushed him against the wall. She did a kabedon on Calix, but she was too focused on Calix that she didn't think of it.

As for Calix, he successfully protected himself and his throat was fine. He was surprised that Nikki attacked him.

However...

'Damn these tiddies!!'

Despite being pushed against the wall, Calix's eyes didn't leave the bouncing breasts in front of him.

Nikki pushed him against the wall but Calix caught her hands before she could grab his neck. Although their position was a bit awkward.

Because of Nikki's height, Calix was looking up at her but the two bazinggas were blocking his vision.

'Holy moly, what big mountains they are.'

As a guy, Calix had his priority. He pushed Nikki with his all strength 'unintentionally', touching her breasts in the process.

"What's your problem!?"

He said and Nikki slightly stumbled. But she immediately regained her balance and subdued Calix. She took advantage of her reach and jabbed Calix. She was fast despite her size.

But...

"Dude, you don't know how many times I received a jab back in high school!"

Calix roared and evaded it. This chance gave him the time to give a counter. Calix landed a liver blow on Nikki and the woman gasped for air.

"Ugh!"

She fell to her knees, gasping for air. She glared at Calix. She didn't have any information about this guy. In fact, she didn't think that Calix was important at all. But it changed when she saw him carrying some heavy dumbbells earlier.

"Are you ready to talk to me now?"

Calix said. He was surprised that this woman attacked him without any reason. Heck, he just touched the hammer, and Nikki was triggered.

"Look, I don't know what your thinking, I just touched the hammer. It's not even a problem."

He muttered and wiped the bruise on his neck, Nikki was fast despite her size. If not because of his training and Luck, Calix understood that he would get bodied by this woman.

"That golden hammer, Corco, is an heirloom from my father's side. Only women could touch it because of the curse. Not even my father can use it."

"Corco? This hammer?"

Calix looked at the weapon that cursed him.

"That's right, my father told me it has a name."

Nikki gently sat on the corner of the bed and checked her ribs. She didn't receive much damage, she just have trouble breathing.

She glanced at the hammer. Corco was almost stolen last time, some soldiers in the battalion hid the hammer but they were having a hard time taking it out of the camp because of the curse. Thankfully, Nikki found it before they smuggled it. That was the last call that pushed her to leave the fifth battalion and find another team.

Girls or boys don't respect her. She knew it. She was used to being made fun of. She beat those thieves but in the end, she looked nothing but a villain because of her size.

That image was still fresh in her mind so when she found Calix touching the hammer, her instincts immediately kicked in and she attacked him.

Thankfully, Calix was strong.

When she realized her mistake, she looked down and mumbled.

"I'm sorry... It's my fault. I'm just shocked that I found you in my room, touching my hammer, I'm sorry."

Her normal weak voice returned and Calix tilted his head because he couldn't hear her.

"Huh? Did you say something?"

Calix couldn't read her lips if she was looking down.

"... I'm sorry."

She repeated.

"Ah? Well, I know that I shouldn't have touched your property. That's my fault."

He admitted. He was just curious why the hammer made a connection to Mento.

"No, it's my fault. I hurt you."

Nikki knew that she might be put in another unit after this. This was her second day in this unit, yet it seemed that she had to find another one.

She sighed. She wanted to join this unit because she heard that most of the members were girls. At least no boys would make fun of her height.

'Women just avoid and treat me like nothing, but the men in my battalion are different. They always call me giant, monster, or gorilla ... As a woman, it hurts to be called a gorilla.'

Nobody wants to be called a gorilla. Nikki is still a woman, her heart is fragile. Especially after what happened years ago, Nikki lost her trust in men.

"Your wound... Does it hurt?"

She looked at Calix and found that his neck was bleeding.

"Oh this, I'm fine. I can understand that you are just acting based on your instincts. I experienced that too... Dodging some pebbles while I'm sleeping back in high school."

"But still..."

It was really great that Calix could understand Nikki using lip reading. Or else he won't find that Nikki was anxious.

He shrugged and decided to sit next to her. He knew how to ease her heart.

"If you are guilty, just look into my eyes from now on."

"I- I will."

Nikki nodded, looking at his greenish-brown eyes. Nikki had brown eyes too but Calix's eyes were unique.

"..."

She gulped. Now that she thought of it, this was the first time she looked at him eye to eye. She was always afraid to look in people's eyes. Because she knew that their eyes had nothing but disgust and mockery on her.

However, Calix had none. Nikki found him beautiful... As if her heart was snared.

"Hey, you okay?"

Calix asked. His neck was aching, particularly now that he was looking up at her.

"... Let me treat your wound."

Nikki muttered.

"Okay, if you say so."

Nikki grabbed her first aid kit. She had experienced and easily patched his wound.

Support me using Power Stones in Webnovel or visit my Fatreon!!

"Woah, you're fast. I know that you're strong but I didn't know that you can do meticulously stuff like this."

Calix was impressed, laughing. He forgot that this woman almost choked and slammed him to the wall.

'Nah. I'm not that stupid. If she attacks me again, I will break her arms.'

Calix knew when to be a devil.

'It's just that I feel that Nikki and I have similarities.'

They both suffered because of the people around them. They were both bullied and lost their self-esteem. The difference was that Calix overcame them, but Nikki was still stuck.

"But if she attacked me again... Imma fuck her ass."

... Yup, maybe Calix was the villain all along.

Well, Calix couldn't help it, Nikki is definitely one of a kind, those BUNS AND TITS. And as a horny motherfucker, Calix wanted a taste of her pipeline. Just like a normal guy.

'Why hurt her, if you can smash her?'

"Hm, did you say something?"

"Nothing, I just want to say that you're a wonderful woman."

"T- thanks..."

Nikki blushed and averted her gaze. She didn't know that Calix was thinking of something lewd.

Chapter 187

Nikki cleaned the wound and covered it with a bandage. Calix was looking at her the whole time.

Nikki didn't know what to do but to avert her gaze. She was not used to that kind of gaze, Calix was looking at her with awe and lust but Nikki couldn't comprehend it. Nikki could never understand it. The terms awe and lust were not in her dictionary, they were usually ridicule and disgust.

Support me using Power Stones in Webnovel or visit my Pat(reon)!!

That's why she didn't know how to act with Calix. This was her first time.

"I- It's finished."

She whispered weakly, trembling.

"Ah, thanks. Although you shouldn't have wasted your time. It's just a small wound anyway."

He shrugged.

"I insist. It's my fault so I have to do it."

She replied, still looking down. She was afraid to look in his eyes. This guy was dangerous, she understood it. She had her reason why she was in this unit and it was definitely not about Calix, or so she thought.

"I'm sorry for hurting you."

She repeated. Ashamed of herself. The hammer was important to her.

"No, I told you it's fine. Besides, I hurt you too. Are your ribs okay?"

Calix won't hurt a woman without a reason.

"N- no, I'm okay. It doesn't hurt at all."

Nikki strongly nodded. She even tapped her ribs and she didn't wince, showing that she was fine.

"Is that so? By the way, I didn't know that your hammer can speak dirty like that. He's a pervert."

He chuckled. He realized that every Ancient Runic Weapon has its own characteristic.

"Hm? What do you mean?"

Nikki tilted her head. She didn't know what Calix was saying.

"Huh?... Ah, no, never mind. Maybe I'm just hallucinating or something. Haha!"

He laughed it off. He realized that Nikki couldn't hear Corco's voice. Perhaps there was a condition for Nikki to hear the voice, just like what happened to Calix.

"Hallucinating? A- are you fine?"

However, when Nikki heard that Calix was hallucinating and heard some voices, she immediately became pale and touched his forehead.

"Phew, thank God."

She sighed in relief that Calix was not sick.

Calix laughed, seeing her reaction.

"W- why are you laughing?"

She blushed. She was not used to this.

"Nothing, it's just ironic that you touched my forehead just like how I touched yours, I mean, I'm talking about your forehead. Because you fainted earlier! That's right."

He defended himself. He almost thought that Nikki would deem it out of context.

However, Nikki smiled and scratched her cheek.

"Thank you for taking care of me."

She added. She recalled that Calix saved her when she lost consciousness. She confirmed that Calix was a good guy.

"You know..."

Calix narrowed his eyes, looking at her.

"Hm?"

"You are pretty if you smile like that."

He honestly said it. He didn't have any bad intentions.

"W- wah!!!"

Nikki's expression turned from shock to embarrassment. Her face became red like a tomato. That single line destroyed something in her.

"That was the first time that someone says I'm pretty... Just like..."

She recalled someone and her expression turned serious. She looked at Calix, her eyes were so cold. Her heart was aching just remembering the bastard.

"Nikki? You okay?"

"I'm okay... Can you please leave now? I want to sleep. Don't worry, I will help you next time if you have a problem."

Her attitude turned 180 degrees as if she covered her true emotions. Even her whisper-like voice was cold.

"Okay... Make sure to take care of yourself."

"I will."

Calix was confused. Nikki was just smiling a few seconds ago, yet her expression became frigid.

"Bye."

Nikki closed the door and Calix was left alone in the hallway.

"Strange..."

He touched his bandage. He decided to go to his room and take a rest too. After all, they have a job tomorrow.

.....

.....

...

"Kuck..."

Nikki groaned and curled in her bed. She was hiding it but her ribs were aching like hell. She did her best to hide the pain, but Calix harmed her with just one punch.

"... I hate this... Why do I have to feel this again."

She swallowed her groans and clenched her fists. Her body hurts but her heart was aching more.

She endured it. After all, she was the first one who attacked Calix. The guy was innocent and just protected himself. It was self-defense. Furthermore, Calix helped her when she was sick. Even now, she felt that her head was spinning and her stomach was churning.

She wanted to forget that bastard but Calix made her remember him again.

"That smile... that fucking smile."

She couldn't believe that Calix, an unknown guy would affect her like this. The force behind that punch almost popped her liver.

She closed her eyes. She was tired. She was just doing this for her one and only...

.....

.....

...

Two days passed and their schedule returned to normal. These two days, Nikki was a bit aloof but she continued fighting the Aberrants with no problem. She didn't want to show any reason to be fired.

"Hm, not bad. She actually has stamina."

Anyway, both Marianne and Scarlett were amazed at her perseverance. It was obvious that Nikki was a bit sick these past two days yet she still joined them and accomplished her job.

As for Yuna, that woman was too carefree to think about other people. She just wanted to flirt with Calix but she was holding herself in front of Nikki.

They were having sex in their rooms these days, unlike last time where they could fuck in the kitchen all they want.

The three didn't think of Nikki as a rival because her massive size was already a turn-off for them.

'Who likes giant women? Not me.'

As for Calix, the guy was just doing his job without any hassle. Whenever a monster appeared, he would pull the trigger and blast its head off.

Right now, their location was updated and they were now at the small island four hundred meters away from the Port. Because of Yuna's Term Attribute, the higher-ups decided to give them a mission to study the island and immediately report to them if they find something interesting.

Apparently, a group of Umibozos was setting the island as their territory.

"Umibozos are small, around a meter at most, but they are dangerous because of their ability to shoot paralyzing needles."

Marianne said to them. She experienced fighting 2nd-Class Umibozos. She could say that Umibozos were the pests of the ocean, more than the Shokoys.

Chapter 188

Just as they expected, they indeed found some Umibozos walking around the island. They were carrying the destroyed trees and stones as if they were creating something.

Marianne raised her brow, she was amazed that these brainless monsters could do basic stuff, such as carrying things. They usually find something to eat, nothing else but to eat.

'This is really strange... They are evolving.'

She confirmed that the monsters were changing, and it was bad, definitely bad. If they started using their brains, then there might be a strong chance that Port of Aoneon would be in danger.

"... Let's wait for now."

She weakly muttered at them.

They were hiding behind the tall grasses and trees, looking at the meter-tall Umibozos working. They were shocked at this scene.

"What are they trying to do?"

Yuna whispered. She was confused why these monsters were carrying logs of trees.

"... Let's find out."

Marianne said. Nobody retorted since she was the most experienced in their team. Scarlett specialized in fighting land-based monsters because of the nature of her Term Attribute. She couldn't use her full strength if she was surrounded by water.

So Marianne was acting as their leader. It should be Calix. But Calix knew that his judgment was not enough. He was still new in this game. So he asked Marianne to lead this expedition... Of course he used his cock to do the talking and Marianne accepted his request just like how she accepted his semen.

Truly a great woman, she was not afraid to take something big and heavy, such as responsibility, and Calix's cock. Yeah.

"Yuna, check the perimeter."

"Okay."

Yuna nodded and jumped, disappearing from their sights. Yuna was talented at hiding because of her usual stalking. She knew when to hide and run. Her stealth was unparalleled.

"... Let's go."

Marianne signaled them and they started following the Umibozos. The child-like monsters were walking on the shore, going back to their lair.

Just as ten minutes passed, Yuna returned and gave them intel.

"I found a cave, East from here. It's their hideout. I didn't enter the place because there is something dangerous inside."

Yuna said.

Marianne touched her chin and thought of it.

'When she's like this, she looks like a great and mature woman.'

Calix said in his mind. Marianne would usually act like a proud and arrogant woman but she was different whenever they were in the field. Calix respected her about that. Now he realized that Marianne was not all about being high and mighty, she prove that she was indeed high and mighty.

"Ugh--!"

Calix groaned and glanced at Scarlett. Scarlett pinched his side. It was obvious that she was jealous, she was pouting.

Calix chuckled and caressed her hand. Scarlett blushed and scoffed, she brushed away his hand and turned around. Acting tough, but she was happy deep inside.

Calix shrugged. He understood that having a lot of girls would be problematic sometimes. At least he always satisfied them in bed.

Nikki, who was silent all the time, looked at the two but she immediately averted her gaze.

As expected, a handsome guy like Calix will have a girlfriend, Nikki thought. Although Nikki was surprised that Scarlett would be his girlfriend.

Scarlett is a famous soldier, she won the national tournament and her pictures are everywhere to see. In fact Nikki was surprised that Scarlett joined this unknown unit.

Now, Nikki found the answer. Scarlett was here because of Calix. She didn't know why she was disappointed. Probably the compliment she received last time was still lingering in her mind.

She couldn't help it, that was the most sincere compliment she ever received. Not like the half-hearted one she heard back in the past. She knew that Calix was not lying.

That's why she felt hurt.

'No, this is not the time to think of it.'

She shook her head and focused on the mission.

"... What do you think?"

Marianne looked at them, she wanted to know their opinion. In the first place, they already confirmed that Umibozos were living on this island. They could go back to the Port and inform the officials. Then, they would wait for the next commands.

Support me using Power Stones in Webnovel or visit my Pat-reon)!!

"Once we informed them, they will send three or four twelve-man units to this island to exterminate the monsters. Our mission is already over."

Marianne added. They could return now.

"Krtaagghh!!"

Yet, just as they were trying to think of an answer. A screeching roar surprised them.

They turned around and found a small Umibozo. To be fair, the monster only saw Nikki because of her massive size. It was hard to hide her body.

Well, all of the members were Lucky aside from Nikki, so that factored too.

"Shit!"

Calix didn't have a choice but to finish the monster before the others come.

Mento transformed into a handgun with a silencer. Calix killed the monster without a hassle.

However, it was too late.

The monsters heard the cry and they started screeching. They ran towards the place where the sound came from.

They were rabid, ready to attack, ready to kill.

All of them realized that they might be in danger. Umibozos were small but their needle-like nails could paralyze them. The worst was that they could shoot it from afar.

So, right now, the Umibozos started shooting them when they found their location.

Their hiding spot started to get rained on by needles. One hit and paralyze.

"We have to leave!"

Yuna immediately cast her spell and created a portal connecting to their house.

"Let's go."

They started running towards the portal.

"Ack--!"

However, Nikki couldn't move, she was hit by the needles. Probably her massive size was part of that too, she was a big and easy target.

"Ugh!"

She bit her lip and tried to move but she failed. Her legs were not listening to her.

"Nikki, let's go!"

Calix returned back to save her. Because of his unusual strength, he easily carried Nikki to the portal.

That action alone caught Nikki's heart. NO ONE EVER SAVED HER LIFE, yet Calix sacrificed himself just to save her. She was stunned, well, she couldn't move in the first place.

"Calix!!!!!"

But suddenly, before Calix and Nikki reached the portal, a powerful earthquake shook the island and destroyed it to pieces. Calix and Nikki lost their footing and fell into the bottomless ocean.

Like wow, shit went from 0 to 100, real quick.

Chapter 189

"Where are they!!? Calix!!!"

Scarlett started running towards the portal, to jump down into the body of the ocean. Thankfully, her legs were caught by ice, and stopped her from leaving. Scarlett stumbled and glared at Marianne.

"Yuna, close the portal!"

"But--"

"I said close the portal!!"

Marianne commanded with a powerful will. Yuna bit her lip and closed it.

"What are you doing!?"

Scarlett melted the ice that trapped her legs and angrily approaches Marianne. She grabbed her collar and glared at her, ferocious flame crawled on her body.

"Calix is still there! Why did you close it?"

Scarlett's already red eyes further reddened and her crimson hair raised. She was grinding her teeth in anger.

"And what? You're going to jump into the ocean where a multitude of monsters is manifesting?"

Marianne's dress slowly turned to ashes and her skin was charred. The flame was eating her body. It was definitely painful. However, her expression didn't show any pain.

Instead, she bit her lip and blood crept out of her mouth. She was staring at Scarlett with her cold yet calm eyes.

"Scarlett, we both know that you are not stupid. I know that you sense what I sensed too."

"... Damn it!"

Scarlett dropped Marianne.

Marianne stood up as if nothing happened. She was mad too, but she had to prioritize the safety of the team. She knew this place more than them.

"Just like you, I want to save Calix too. I will kill myself if something bad happened to him."

Marianne muttered. She did her best so that she won't lose to her emotions. She had to be rational, that was the best thing to do.

"There is a ginormous monster under the island. I'm sure you felt it too. When the island cracked, I sense a dread aura coming from the presence of an enormous creature."

Marianne calmed her erratic breathing. Her heart was going to explode because of madness.

"Our mission is to contact the higher-ups. We have to tell them that a dangerous monster is lying close to the Port of Aoneon."

She said, steeling her heart. Scarlett wanted to retort but Marianne was right. As a soldier, they have to stick close to the mission. They witnessed a lot of deaths since the time they became soldiers, so they knew how to let go of their feelings.

Still, leaving Calix on that island hit their hearts so much. Scarlett glanced at Marianne, she could see the blood that was coming out of her hands, Marianne was clenching her fists so hard because of frustration.

"B- but what about Calix?"

Yuna asked them. Her face was so pale as if she lost so much blood. She was looking at the two, waiting for an answer. She was the most affected right now, she had a fragile heart.

It broke her heart when she found Calix in a water tank the last time in the Flying Ship. She didn't know if she could endure the same pain again.

"... Don't worry, I know Calix. He won't die."

Marianne assured them, no, she was assuring herself. She wanted to convince herself that this was the right choice.

'Right Calix? You can't die and leave me. I will never forgive you if you leave me...'

She closed her eyes.

"Calix has Luck on his side. He has Mento and unlike us who need a battery to power our battle suit, Calix has unlimited energy on his side... I'm sure he will find a way."

She repeated. Closing her eyes, trying to stop the tears. Now she understood why being in love was the hardest part of being a woman. She felt like she was going to die.

"... Let's go."

Marianne said and walked ahead.

Scarlett and Yuna wanted to return back to the island but they gritted their teeth instead. They followed her, left with no choice but to do so.

.....

.....

...

The island crumbled into pieces. A powerful earthquake hit the island, leaving nothing but destruction. As if a volcanic eruption happened right in the middle of the island. The island measured 69 meters in diameter yet it was destroyed in just a rumble of a creature.

Some parts of the island were still floating but they would sink into the ocean at any moment too.

"Guaaahhhh---!!!!"

Nikki tried to move her body. She was slowly sinking into the ocean and her lungs were being crushed. She couldn't breathe, and the air started leaving out of her body as she opened her mouth. It was painful, she tried to swim but she was paralyzed.

The needles still stung her body and she was suffering because of it.

'N- no!! I can't die here! Someone is waiting for me! I can't leave her alone... I can't! My daughter needs me!'

"Guuuuaaaahhj!!"

Nikki opened her mouth, but nothing happened except from the air leaving her mouth. She felt suffocated. She wanted to cry. She wanted to beg for help.

But her consciousness slowly faded, she saw some Umibozos swimming toward her. She knew that these small creatures would kill and eat her body once everything was over. She was scared, she was scared that she won't see her daughter again.

"Nikki!"

Just as her vision slowly turn dark, she felt a tremor in the water and turned to where the tremor came from. Powerful explosions erupted, sending the Umibozos away and rupturing to pieces.

A frightening roar shook the ocean as if a beast was awakened from his sleep. And this beast was holding a fucking rocket launcher!!

She witnessed a guy swimming towards her, bombing the Umibozos that tried to hurt her. The way he moved in the water was flawless yet fast. As if he was a shark who was hunting his prey.

It was magnificent as if Calix was meant to live underwater. Instead of being at a disadvantage, Calix easily conquered the water. Fighting the monsters in their natural territory, the best part was that Calix was winning.

He was using a type of launcher that shoots torpedoes. He roared and the Umibozos were terrified. They thought it would be an easy kill, an easy food, but they were wrong.

"Nikki!"

Calix looked at her, extending his hand to grab her.

'... Calix...'

That was the last thing she remembered before she closed his eyes.

"Don't worry, everything is fine... But before that, please forgive me, I have to do this."

Calix said and gently kissed her lips under the water, while monsters were surrounding them.

Chapter 190

Over a decade ago.

Sergeant Romoel grunted as he came out of the mountains of dead aberrants over him. He has wounds and bruises around his body. He looked at his left side and confirmed that he had broken ribs. He frowned.

"If I know, I should have prepared at least two battle suits."

He muttered while in pain. A battle suit needed a change of battery and they were quite big to have around.

"Well, holding two suitcases of the battle suit is detrimental too, I guess."

He took a deep breath.

It was an endless battle. Andreas didn't even know how long the battle went on. All he remembered was that monsters kept showing and he was swinging his arms, tearing them apart. It was gruesome and brutal, his battle suit even lost its power in the middle of the fight. It was good that he had a tough defense.

"However..."

Andreas glanced at the sky. He was looking at the huge red tree that was slowly crumbling.

"... Vampire."

The tree was made of blood, and inside of the blood tree, there was...

.....

.....

...

"Hah!"

Nikki gasped for air. She coughed the water out of her throat and started puffing. She felt that she was dying.

Her vision slowly gained its clearance and she started looking around. She was mortified and struggling. She raised her head and found that she was still in the middle of the ocean, where the endless water was surrounding her. But thankfully, her feet were on a small scale of land.

"Uck!"

She spat a mouthful of water. Drowning was the last thing she wanted to experience.

"So you're awake."

"!!!"

Nikki turned around and found that Calix was standing, carrying a heavy machine gun. He was topless and sweat covered him, however, his skin didn't have any bruises or stains.

"What happened?"

Nikki's voice was much weaker compared to normal, probably because she lost her energy, but thankfully Calix could hear her clearly. Maybe the adrenaline rush was kicking in and his sense of hearing was maxed.

"We fell to the water and I saved you."

"T- thanks."

"You're welcome."

Calix replied while swinging his gun around.

Support me using Power Stones in Webnovel or visit my Patre(on)!!

Nikki recalled what happened before she lost consciousness. She was crying for help as Umibozos surrounded her.

"Did something happen while I'm sleeping?"

She asked while rubbing her eyes, trying to make sure that what she was seeing was real.

"Nothing much."

She sighed in relief. She found that she was only wearing her crop top and short shorts, but she didn't think much of it.

'Calix take them off so that it will not be heavy to carry me. After all, I'm already heavy and big.'

Perhaps Calix took her clothes so that CPR would be easier.

"CPR... CPR!!??"

She was dumbfounded and glanced at Calix.

'D- did he kiss me?'

She was shocked, her heart was beating faster. The idea of their lips touching was making her conscious. She lightly tapped her cheeks.

"U- um, CPR... Did you..."

She couldn't say it. She was embarrassed.

"CPR? Yeah... I did."

Calix answered although there was something strange about how he said it. He couldn't even look at Nikki. As if he made a mistake.

"Oh by the way."

Calix kicked the golden hammer towards Nikki. He didn't want to touch the hammer because it was always cussing at him. So he decided to kick it towards Nikki.

"Corco!"

Nikki was delighted. She thought she lost Corco when they fell. She was thankful that Calix was there for her.

"Thank you."

"No problem."

Calix answered. To be fair, he felt guilty that Nikki was thanking him even after what he did. He couldn't look at her innocent eyes.

He couldn't say that he groped her boobs and massaged them thoroughly while... Ehem!

Nikki stood up and regained her strength. She didn't know why but she felt refreshed and new. She has not paralyzed anymore and she could move well.

However just as she regained her focus, something amazing caught her eyes.

"Calix, did you do this?"

She was shocked. Her eyes were trembling while looking at the dead bodies around them, they numbered 500 dead bodies at most. Calix killed them based on the bullet holes in their bodies.

They were standing in the sole floating piece of the island. It was fortunate that this piece of land was still floating, or else they would have to stay in the water. Well, Calix could move freely in the water but Nikki couldn't do it.

After all, Calix could breathe in the water even do he didn't have gills.

'It's confirmed. I have the blood of a mermaid, or perhaps some aquatic demihumans... That's the only idea I can think of.'

It was the reason why he easily defeated the Umibozos even though they were swimming fast in the water.

"I see, thank you for saving me. But, Calix, I just want to make sure. Did you do this?"

Her voice was trembling as she asked. She looked around and swallowed the saliva stuck in her throat. She witnessed something impossible.

"... Yeah, but you have to keep it a secret."

"I will."

She nodded.

Killing hundreds of monsters may look normal, but what if 1/3 of the monsters were 3rd-Class Aberrants? Then, that was amazing.

'Scarlett Robinson and Marianne Francine, they are the only people who can defeat a 3rd-Class despite being not being a 2nd Advanced, but Calix is different...'

Nikki glanced at the heavy machine gun that he was carrying. Nikki was completely sure that it was a handgun the last time she saw it.

'I've never seen an Infinite Bullet Gun than can transform into a different gun. Is this a new weapon from the Cudgel Tech?'

She was not sure. But she understood that Calix's weapon was the main reason why he could kill hundreds of monsters. The important thing was that Calix was not even wounded.

She looked at his chiseled body. She didn't know why her belly was burning right now. As if she wanted something, or perhaps she already have it.

She shook her head. She didn't want to do something stupid.

"Nikki, I know that you just woke up, but I want you to be prepared. This bastard is coming."

"Huh?"

Calix transformed his machine gun into an electric harpoon. He wanted to fry this giant octopus!!