Chapter 52

Scarlett was staring at him with seriousness, Calix couldn't lie anymore. Especially if those ruby eyes stared at him with affection and worry. He grimly smiled and decided to be honest.

"Do you remember Marianne Francine?"

"Yeah, she's an upper student who graduated last year. Why?" Scarlett's eyes glowed dangerously. "Is she the one who did this to you?"

"... Yes, let's say that she always made fun of me whenever we met. This scar was from her-"

"Bullet Term Attribute. Marianne is from the lineage of Elves and she can control the element of water... That bitch, I can not believe that she did that to you."

Scarlett and Marianne have friction because they were treated like the goddesses of their campus. Scarlett can control the fire while Marianne can control the water. They were both revered as talented students since they came from prominent clans. Their age was only one year apart and they would always compare to each other, so it was obvious that they would have a rivalry.

Scarlett knew that Marianne hates her and so is she, they would always glare and scoff at each other. Based on what she remembered, Marianne was assigned to Port Aeneon. It was a fortress that protects the country from the threat of aquatic Aberrant. Marianne could create bullets using water so it was a good place for her.

'I hope she suffers. For hurting my Calix, she has to suffer.'

... It seemed like Scarlett was slowly turning into a Yander- ehem. Anyway, Marianne is a descendant of Elves. She inherited their natural ability and even their appearance. Marianne has golden hair and long ears just like her ancestors. She was treated like a goddess because her beauty was out of this world. However, Scarlett knew that Marianne has a dirty attitude. She's a pampered young lady, although it was true that she is talented. Her bullets are limitless as long as she is close to a body of water. Scarlett witnessed how she fought, she was like an endless gatling gun.

Scarlett acknowledged her talent but not her attitude. And now, her hatred deepened. Marianne dared to touch Calix!!

'I will make her pay.'

Everything for the love. It is true that love is the most frightening emotion that person can have. It can make a smart person crazy. Love, it's untouchable essence but hard to counter.

Scarlett's crimson eyes shone, although no one could see it because she was snuggling close to Calix. As for Calix, he was tapping her head and looking at the ceiling. He liked cuddling.

"By the way, I know that Marianne is a bad person. But it's not enough for her to hurt you like this? Is it because of your backlash?"

Scarlett raised her head and stared at Calix. The young man was scratching his nose because Scarlett was right. The reason why Marianne always bullied him was because of his backlash.

"Well, I was in a park at that time. I decided to make a detour because some thugs wanted to fight me, you know, just like always. So I decided to walk deep in the park to reach the dormitory. However, while I was walking, I stumbled and started rolling down the ground... Then, my face landed on a squishy thing. When I raised my head, I realized that I tumbled on Marianne. She was blushing like crazy. Apparently, she was peeing in the park and my face accidentally landed on her..."

He paused and Scarlett probed him to continue.

"Tell me exactly where your face landed."

"... My face landed on her crotch... She was peeing and..."

"..."

"..."

"Wow, your backlash gave you a shitty experience. Then, does that mean that you..."

"Don't speak, please."

Calix was ashamed. His face landed on Marianne's crotch and it was still wet. In fact, Marianne was in the process of releasing all her urine when rolling Calix disturbed her and landed on her pempem. Calix was showered with pee, he even tasted a bit of her urine. It was one of the most humiliating parts of his life, he drunk her pee...

Calix recalled how Marianne almost cried. Her face was beet in red as she held back her tears, she couldn't believe that her chastity was taken.

'I remember she said that "I can't marry anymore!!" and slapped me on the face.'

Calix sighed. Because of that, whenever he met Marianne, she would glare at him. Sometimes, when she had chances, she would beat Calix. Calix didn't fight at all because he was guilty of what he did. However, one day Marianne decided to use her Term Attribute and shot him. It was unexpected and Calix almost lost his life. That was the last time that Calix saw Marianne, she graduated and moved to Port Aeneon. He didn't know why she shot him without any reason or perhaps Calix caused her another misfortune and he didn't know what it was.

'She's not the type of person who will easily hurt without any reason. Yes, she is prideful and has a nasty personality but she is smarter than Chen. She won't try to kill me just because I saw her peeing...'

It was a mystery. Since then, Calix has spent three days in the hospital recuperating. He rubbed the scars on his shoulder but he yelped when Scarlett gently bit his nipple.

"Don't think about another woman when I'm with you!"

She was pouting and she was cute. Calix chuckled and cupped her cheeks, he gave her a peck and smiled.

"You are cute even when you're angry."

"Hmmp!!"

Scarlett turned her head but it was obvious that her face was bright red. She was weak to his compliment because she knew that Calix wasn't lying.

"Y-yeah! N-now that I remember. You said that you stumbled on Mariane when she was peeing and landed on her p... That means that you saw her p..."

She couldn't complete her sentence. Now that she was on her right mind and not horny, her manner as a noble returned.

"Oh that, it was too fast so I can't remember. She immediately hid her bottom so I don't even have time to see it again."

"You want to see it again?"

"Nope, I just want to explain that I did not see it."

"... Make sure that I'm your first."

"What do you mean? I already saw yours when we were children. You are my first-"

"Hush, please don't speak anymore."

Scarlett covered his mouth and she was beet red. She didn't want to argue anymore. Especially if Calix was so honest about his feelings.
