

Only Fuel 64

Chapter 64

Calix was looking around the room while waiting for the master, he saw some paintings and stared at them intently. He was intrigued and realized that the paintings were made by famous artists.

"It seems like the master of this mansion is collecting old paintings. Each one of these can be sold 1 million dollars or higher."

He said and sipped the hot tea. He was starting to recognize that the master was rich and this made him nervous. He didn't know why a rich person wanted to meet him.

Aside from that time where he won the prizes in the claw machines, he couldn't think of another reason. He didn't have a connection to any businessman.

"Perhaps they want to know how I won those prizes... Oh, shit!"

His eyes widened when he realized the reason. His back started sweating and his heart beat faster.

However, before he could think of a way to leave, the door opened and Calix became tense.

A beautiful woman who wears rounded glasses appeared. Her red lips curled up and her purple eyes brightened when she saw Calix.

"Sorry for being late Mister Calix. I'm the master of this mansion, Kimberly Messa."

Calix forgot about the problem when he saw who the person is. He was confused and shocked when he found that Kimberly is such a cute woman.

"Wait, aren't you the cashier who gave me the raffle prizes?"

Calix remembered her. His alert signal was booming loud inside him. This was dangerous because Calix realized that he...

"Yes, I am."

Kimberly nodded. She shyly glanced at Calix and started explaining.

"I inherited the Game Center from my mother and I act as the cashier to help my staff."

Kimberly didn't explain further. She was actually hiding her status but her father just appeared and gave her this mansion. Now, she couldn't hide that she's rich even if she wants to. She explained her circumstances to her staff and everything was fine.

"Ah."

Calix nodded but he was shocked on the inside.

'Does this means that I stole right in front of the owner?'

He was sweating hard. Now he understood why Kimberly wanted to talk to him. Perhaps Kimberly wanted to get the prizes that he won.

'I can return the brand new phones. But I ate the pizzas and cakes, and I gave the Xvox to Morg. It seems like I have to pay through cash... I guess this is one of my Backlash.'

He had a grim expression and looked at the floor. He felt heavy and his head slowly became hazy. He decided not to look at Kimberly because he already accepted his fate. He just hoped that his money was enough to pay her.

'It's a good thing that I saw a couple of bucks before I lost my Luck...'

Kimberly was anxious seeing that Calix was disheartened. She was perplexed why Calix was acting like this.

"Um, Mister Calix?"

"..."

Kimberly bit her lip when he didn't answer. Perhaps he didn't want to look at her because he finds her ugly. She was hurt by her own thoughts.

"Um, Mister Calix?"

"..."

She called him again but he still didn't answer. This time, Kimberly was sweating.

"Mister Cali-"

Thud

Someone fell on the floor. Kimberly was stunned when she witnessed Calix lying on the floor and unconscious. Thanks to her quick comprehension, she stood up and checked him. She yelled at the maids who were waiting outside.

"Help!"

.....

.....

...

Kimberly sighed in relief when she realized that it was a faint because of exhaustion.

It was sunny and some people may lose their consciousness because of the temperature, just like Calix.

When Kimberly was checking him, she saw that Calix had a swell on his head. It seemed that he has some accident while going here because the swelling was new. Maybe it was a factor why Calix fainted.

Calix was resting in one of the guest rooms and Kimberly was watching him sleeping. She felt guilty because she felt like she was the reason why Calix fainted. If she didn't call him here, in sunny weather, maybe Calix won't faint.

"I should have said to the maids that they should bring cold refreshing drinks instead of tea."

She said bitterly. Now, her first expression was broken.

"Ugh..."

Calix groaned and he was sweating a lot.

"I have to change his clothes so that he won't sweat."

Kimberly said it without bad intention. The room had aircon but the heat was still too much. She got closer and started taking his t-shirt. She only planned to take his t-shirt but when her vision moved down his body, her mouth opened wide.

"I- I"

She gulped, the bulging pants, she could see that inside Calix's pants, there is a monster hiding. Just based on the lump, she knew that it is a monster.

"W- what is this?"

She asked despite knowing the answer. Her mouth was opening and closing, she wanted to scream. She didn't know why she felt threatened while looking at the peaceful lump.

"Ugh..."

Calix groaned again which caused Kimberly to return to her focus. His forehead was sweating and it seemed like he was still feeling hot.

"I- I have to take his pants too..."

She stuttered. She was sweating too. She swallowed the saliva stuck in her throat. Something hot was spreading inside her while she was looking at his waist, particularly at the lump.

Her trembling hands slowly pulled the pants down and she was losing her breath as she realized that the boxer short was the only cloth that blocked her from seeing his cock.

"I- I think this is already fine."

She said while glancing at the bulge. She didn't know why but her eyes were attracted to the thing under that boxer short. She bit her lip and looked around. It was humiliating to be like this.

She admitted that she liked Calix but there are steps to follow. She shouldn't look further behind the boxer short.

However, her hands were extending towards the boxer short.

"N-No, no, t- this is wrong."

She was averting her gaze but her hands were moving against her will. She didn't know why but she wanted to taste his cock.

'This is the first time I'm feeling this. Even in the past, I don't feel like this towards any of my ex-boyfriends.'

To start with, Kimberly only experienced two relationships and these two relationships ended bitterly.

Kimberly realized that she had already taken off the boxer shorts. Now, Calix was naked before her.

"Gosh, I've never seen something big like this..."

She said while licking her lips.