Chapter 13 Surprise

"Marcus? Why did you come over without calling me first?"

When Lily opened the door, she was coming out of the bathroom after taking a shower. When she saw the man, her mouth opened wide in surprise.

Marcus stared at her and slightly narrowed his eyes: "Your fiancé wants to give you a surprise and see how you react. But why do I feel now that it's more like a shock to you?"

Lily's eyes widened. She was stunned for a second and immediately said, "How come? Marcus! I just feel a little surprised."

Marcus did not talk, swept her a glance, and sat down on the edge of the bed.

Lily was confused about the meaning of his late-night visit. Marcus hasn't slept with her yet, even once she seduced him.

Could that be...

Thinking of it, the woman's hand squeezed her bath towel tight.

Lily gently sat down beside him. Seeing the man not speak, she frowned a little with anxiety, biting her lips, and said, "Marcus, I know you..."

Before she could finish her sentence, she was interrupted by him.

"Lily, it must have hurt when you gave me a kidney, right?"

His calm tone made the woman's nerves instantly tense!

She tried her best to stay calm and didn't show any abnormalities. Suppressing her voice, she said softly: "They anesthetized me, so it was not that bad. It wass just a little uncomfortable after the anesthesia..."

"If you hadn't volunteered to transplant one of your own kidneys to me, I would have died long ago."

Lily frowned slightly and couldn't help but raise her eyes to look at the man. Marcus seems to be trapped in the memories of the past.

"Marcus, I love you. As long as I can save you, even if I have to give you my heart, I will give it to you! Don't feel guilty and don't say those things anymore."

Her hand slowly and tentatively touched the man's arm, eyes half-closed, mouth half-opened. No man can resist this temptation.

Marcus stopped her hand when she touched his chest. His black eyes fixed on the woman, and he curved his lips: "I understand. Can I take another look at the scars you left for me?"

Hearing this, Lily's scalp instantly numbed, her smile froze on her face, and her blood stopped in a moment!

However, she must show no abnormal behavior at the moment!

"Sure."

The tension in her mind consumed her a little bit, and even so, she lifted the bath towel, exposing the scar on her abdomen.

Marcus carefully checked with a frown, and touched it with feigned pity.

Unevenness and moderate length.

The location just happens to be the incision opening for the appendectomy.

Lily White... did not lie to him.

Another medical record flashed in front of his eyes. Marcus's hand shook slightly, and his eyes narrowed.

He withdrew his hand, his eyes flatly looking at the woman, "Do you know that every time I see this scar of yours, I wonder how much the owner of that kidney loves me to be willing to make such a sacrifice."

The woman immediately replied, "Marcus, you know how much I love you."

"Hmm. I know."

Marcus said, raised his hand, and took off his jacket to cover the woman, "It's late, go to sleep."

And then, he left straight away.

Lily sat on the bed and looked at herself with downcast eyes. If she wasn't draped in his clothes, she would have thought everything just now was a dream!

That man, why is he so abnormal today?

Lying on the bed, Lily White was sleepless, reaching out to gently stroke her scar.