

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 135 No Condoms

When they set off, Ceres watched Johnny put a lot of condoms into the suitcase.

Johnny put the condoms into the drawer as soon as he entered the hotel.

However, he didn't find any condoms!

"Wait a minute!" Johnny sat up and looked into the drawer.

There was not a single one left!

"There is no condom." He looked at Ceres in shock.

"Really?"

She remembered that Johnny put a lot of condoms into the luggage. At that time, she was wondering why he brought so many. Why did they run out of condoms so quickly?

Only then did Ceres realize that happy days passed quickly. In the blink of an eye, she and Johnny had been out for almost a month. When they were in his uncle's house, they were more relaxed, so they had sex more often.

After arriving in Augsta, they still often had sex.

"It's all your fault!" Ceres punched Johnny in the chest.

"My fault? This is a matter between two people. You sounded as if you are not part of it."

Ceres pulled up the quilt to cover her face.

"Don't hide. What should we do now?" Johnny pulled Ceres's quilt away.

"Then drop the idea! Get up!" Ceres said as she was about to lift the quilt and get out of bed, but Johnny pulled her back. He grabbed her hand and slowly moved her hand down his body.

Ceres's face turned red again!

"Jerk!"

"How can we just stop it?"

They looked at each other for a while.

Johnny wanted the bodyguards to buy some, but Ceres stopped him. In this case, she would be embarrassed to see the bodyguards. The bodyguards might discuss it behind her back.

Johnny couldn't go out like this, and Ceres was too shy to go.

Johnny whispered in Ceres's ear, "Let's do it without a condom this time. I'll be more careful. Didn't your period just pass? It's safe now."

What else could Ceres say? She could only agree.

In the Winsor's...

Recently, the Winsor family was not very peaceful. It was shrouded in a suffocating atmosphere. In the Winsor family, Jack was the king. Everyone was afraid of him.

It felt more suffocating than during the period when Johnny had just become a vegetable. Everyone was careful with their words.

Johnny had gone for his honeymoon. Although he had arranged the work in the Winsor Group before he left, many things had been delayed. Jack had not asked about the matters of the group for a long time. He did not know where to start.

It was a mess!

He knew that Johnny did it on purpose. Johnny was playing a game with him to see who could persist until the end and who would be the first to compromise.

During this period, even Zara had been scolded several times because she did not take good care of Jack. Now that even Zara was careful, the others would try not to get in touch with Jack.

Zara massaged Jack's shoulders. "Master Jack, I don't think you need to be so troubled. A man will soon lose his patience with a woman. Maybe Master Johnny is just on a whim. Maybe after a few days, he will be bored. What do you think?"

"Do you mean we should keep it going?" Jack's cold tone was filled with unwillingness and anger. He had never thought that his son would go against him.

It felt like a knife that he had personally sharpened had stabbed into his chest.

"Not really. To find a more outstanding woman for him is the way to let him forget about Ceres. Men like better women. What do you think?"

Jack pondered.

After thinking for a moment, Jack stood up and said, "I'm going to the company."

Zara hurriedly got up to help Jack tie his tie and adjust his clothes.

As soon as Jack walked out of the room, he heard the sound of running footsteps. When he turned around, Mary knelt on the ground.

"Dad, I'm begging you. Please leave them alone!"

"What are you doing? Why are you so rude?" Zara shouted when he saw Mary acting so recklessly.

Mary didn't stand up, "Dad, they are deep in love with each other. Please leave them alone!."

Jack finally heard what Mary was saying.

"She is not my biological sister, but we grew up together. She suffered a lot when she was a child. It's not easy for her to meet someone so good to her. So many people have been against it. Dad, please let them be together. They love each other.

"They love each other," Jack repeated these words, full of loathing.

In the Winsor family, there was no true love.

"Mary, hurry up and get up! Go think about what you are doing!" Zara shouted angrily. She didn't know what Mary was thinking. Jack was finally in a good mood, but Mary ruined it.

If Mary angered him, Zara would kick her ass!

"Dad, Ceres is not the biological child of the Morris family, but we always regard her as family. Although her father is a murderer, it does not mean that she is evil. She has a good temper and will be a good wife."

"A murderer? Did you say that her father is a murderer?"

Jack glared at Mary.

His glare frightened Mary so much that she kept quiet.

Jack snorted and left.

At this time, Zara realized that this was Mary's real purpose. She wanted to tell Jack that Ceres's father was a murderer!

After Jack left, Zara looked at Mary with contempt. "The show is over. Stand up."

Only then did Mary stand up and let out a long breath. Her lips finally curved into a smile. That was right. She wanted to tell Jack that Ceres's father was a murderer!

"Ceres's father was a murderer. Are you sure about that?"

"Of course I'm sure. Otherwise, I wouldn't say it. If it weren't for the fact that her father was a murderer, she wouldn't have come to my family."

Zara laughed and left. She could take advantage of this fact on a lot of things.

Johnny and Ceres had been staying in Augsta for a long time, and they were ready for the next stop.

In the choice of the next stop, they had different opinions and didn't decide. Just as they were arguing, Johnny received a call from Bob.

"Johnny, I have two pieces of news. One is good news, and the other is bad news. Which one do you want to hear first?"

Johnny looked at Ceres in astonishment.