

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 150 It is Impossible

"It is impossible!" Ceres was stunned for a few seconds before she spoke.

"Don't deceive yourself. I can tell from your expression just now that you believe what I said, and you know it's possible!"

"No, it is impossible!"

Ceres sat down again. Although she had a bad relationship with Johny these days and she knew that Johny had been lying to her, she believed that Johny would not do that.

Why would Johny kill her father? There was no reason!

"Alright, I will tell you the truth. I drugged Johny and Annie to make them lose their minds, and that's why they were so close."

To make Ceres believe in her, Mary had to admit it, "Johny was planning to marry you. If he wants to marry you, he must kill your father. To be the master of the Winsors, he couldn't allow himself and his wife to have any stains!"

Ceres was convinced by Mary's words.

She knew Johny well. Johny was not a sentimental person. He had always done things rationally.

Therefore, to achieve his goal, Johny might kill her father and then create an illusion that her father committed suicide or something else.

Seeing that Ceres was tricked, Mary suddenly smiled,

"To be honest, I was also very shocked to hear it from Jack. Jack knows his son well. However, Jack has already noticed what Johny is doing. Maybe Jack will protect your father to stop Johny from marrying you."

Mary lied. In any case, George would die and Johny would be the scapegoat for killing him.

Seeing Ceres sitting frozen in shock, Mary stood up,

"Ceres, do you have self-knowledge? You even sacrifice your father's life to marry into a rich family. Alas..."

Then Mary left.

Ceres sat on the sofa for a long time, unable to recover.

Sofia had been busy in the kitchen. When Mary left, she came out of the kitchen, "Mrs. Winsor, are you alright? You look very pale."

Ceres did not answer but went straight upstairs.

She kept thinking about whether Johny would kill her father or not. Would Johny kill...?

Johny received a call from the prison on his way back from M City saying that George had committed suicide.

Johny could predict that George would commit suicide, but Johny didn't expect George to be so straightforward. For his non-biological daughter, he could sacrifice everything.

Johny asked the driver to drive fast. He had to tell Ceres about it immediately.

When he got home, it was already dark. Johny walked into the bedroom and found Ceres looking straight ahead. He quietly walked over,

"Ceres, what happened to you?"

Ceres raised her head to look at the man in front of her. For a moment, she suddenly felt that he was so strange.

"Ceres, there is something I should tell you. You must hold on."

Johny looked at Ceres very seriously. Ceres looked at him with an ominous premonition.

"Your father committed suicide."

At that moment, Ceres felt dizzy!

She fainted.

Johny had always been by Ceres's side. He knew that George was Ceres's faith. George's death would be a huge blow to Ceres. After the funeral ended, he would gradually tell her everything.

It was a pity that Johny had not found Ceres's biological father.

His phone rang. Johny immediately muted it and quietly got up to the bathroom,

"I know. Put the body in the morgue first and let them see each other again."

George only had one daughter, so Ceres should make arrangements for his funeral. However, Johny would do that for her.

Johny walked out of the bathroom and found that Ceres was staring out the window.

"Are you okay?" Johny asked as he walked over and sat down by the bed.

"Take me to see him." Ceres's voice was light as if a gust of wind could blow it away.

Johny immediately took Ceres to M City Prison. The corpse was in the morgue.

When the shroud opened, Ceres finally saw her father.

She just looked at her father quietly, without crying or screaming.

She was surprisingly calm that people could wonder if she was George's daughter.

"My condolences," Johny said as he hugged Ceres's arms.

The jailer also did not expect George to commit suicide, so he could only sigh.

"How did he die?" Ceres asked.

Johny looked at the jailer and nodded.

Only then did the jailer say, "Suicide. He secretly broke a bowl and hid a fragment. Then he killed himself by slitting his wrist at midnight. When we found out, his body had already gotten cold."

"Why did he commit suicide?" Ceres spoke in a faint voice, and there was no emotion in it.

"He probably can't tolerate life here anymore. He was given a suspended death penalty and was later commuted to life imprisonment. Life in prison was too hopeless. Many prisoners committed suicide like him. Miss Ceres, please restrain your grief."

The jailer comforted her.

Ceres looked at George's face. He was much older, but he was still as masculine as before. He was a tough man.

George was lying there as if he was asleep.

Ceres wiped the tears and gently covered the shroud. She slowly knelt and kowtowed three times to George.

George's funeral was held in M City, the small village where Ceres was from.

The Taylor's house had been ruined for a long time, but fortunately, Johny had asked someone to repair it in advance. Only then could they barely live and set up a mourning hall.

According to the customs of M City, George had to stay at home for three days before he could be buried. Hence, Ceres should keep vigil beside the coffin for three days.

In these three days, to Johny's surprise, Ceres did not lose her temper but shed tears quietly. When he told her to have a meal, she ate obediently without saying a word.

Jailers also came to George's funeral. Because George performed very well when he was in prison, jailers felt very sorry.

The jailers came to comfort Ceres.

Coincidentally, Johny was not around.

Ceres was about to ask the jailers if they had any relics of her father. At that time, two jailers were talking as they walked, and Ceres overheard the conversation.

"What a pity! Why did George commit suicide?"

"Yeah! His application for commutation had been passed, and he only needed to serve 20 years in prison. He had already served nine years, and half of it had passed. Why didn't he hold on anymore?"

Hearing these words, Ceres closed her eyes in pain.