

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 155 Let Her Go

When Ceres sat on the bed, the door opened again.

It was still that woman. Ceres had just known that she was speech-impaired and her name was Lilian.

She smiled at Ceres as she came in. Then, she brought her porridge without seasonings. Although it was light, it smelled good.

"Am I really pregnant?" Ceres raised her eyes and asked Lilian.

Hearing her words, Lilian put on a bigger smile. She kept nodding and pointed at Ceres' stomach, giving the porridge to her.

At that moment, Ceres was on the verge of collapse.

Although she had predicted the result, she was still frustrated when she heard it.

She would give birth to a baby of the man who had killed her father!

Thinking of this, Ceres bit her lips and intended to beat her belly.

'No!'

'I don't want this child!'

'I will never have his baby!' She cried in her mind.

Lilian was frightened. She hurriedly put aside the porridge to stop Ceres beating her belly by seizing her hand tightly. Ceres then burst into tears.

Actually, she didn't do it hardly.

It was her baby.

She still remembered how heartbroken she had been when she lost her first child not long ago. Now, she another baby with Johny, but she wouldn't be as happy as she used to be.

Lilian stared at Ceres and still held her hand tightly.

"Leave me alone. I won't hurt my child." Ceres said softly.

Hearing that, Lilian let go of her hand tentatively. With her tears streaming down, Ceres just put her hand on her belly.

The man came in again.

"Boss said that we must take good care of this woman until she gives birth to the child." He told Lilian.

She nodded.

Jack finally decided to have this child.

He had realized that it was a mistake to cultivate just one successor after Johny started to rebel against him. He had neglected Henry so that whose talent was far from Johny's in business. Although Henry had been prepared for three years, it was still easy for Johny to replace him in a few months.

As a consequence, Johny dared to fight against him now.

He wouldn't make such a wrong decision again. Each child of the Winsor family should be educated carefully and get prepared for the fight in the future.

Whoever wins was the strongest.

Thus, he decided to let Ceres give birth to the child.

Ceres herself also made up her mind. She understood that her hatred to Johny had nothing to do with the child.

Lilian felt relief when she saw Ceres care about her baby. From then on, she made various delicious food for Ceres every day, even if she vomited sometimes.

Johny was still looking for Ceres. Although it was easy for him to look for someone in the whole city, he still couldn't find her. Even Bob was confused.

During these three days, they asked all the hotels but found nothing.

"Johny, are you sure you want to keep looking for her?" Bob had given up.

They couldn't keep doing this for there were a large number of troubles to be coped with in the Eagle Group.

The Eagle Group was built together by the three of them. Now that the most important chip had been stolen, but they were spending time looking for a woman.

Johny said nothing.

"We are going to release a new product soon, but the chip was lost. So the most important thing is to think of a way out. I know you are worried about Ceres, but..."

Bob didn't know how to continue, but he trusted Johny.

Johny rubbed his head and suddenly opened his eyes. "We can stop." He said.

"Why?" Bob was shocked.

"I know where she is," Johny said firmly.

"Where?" Bob asked.

Johny didn't answer Bob's question, "You go to deal with the problems in the company first. I will be back soon."

After that, he left. He drove directly to the Winsor's.

He had already taken quick action but still couldn't find her. The only reason was that it was his father who had kidnapped Ceres.

In the Imperial City, there was no one other than his father who dared to take someone away from him.

It couldn't be Henry for he must have left traces behind.

Besides, Johny knew his father well.

Seeing him come over aggressively, Colin stopped him in a hurry. "Master Johny, Mr. Jack is not very well today. Why don't you come another day?" He said.

Johny pushed Colin away and broke into Jack's study.

Jack was reading the newspaper when he came in. "Did you forget to knock on the door before you came in?" He said.

"Where is she?" Johny asked bluntly.

"Who?" Jack said and continued to read his newspaper.

"You know who I'm talking about. Let her go." Johny said firmly.

Jack sneered, "You are my son after all. I was so cautious but you still found out. You're right. I imprisoned her."

"Let her go!" Johny roared while looking down at his father.

"She's already dead," Jack narrowed his eyes.

"Then give me the body!" Johny roared again.

Staring at his son with anger, Jack threw the newspaper aside and said, "Johny, I didn't expect you to be like this for a woman. I've started to reconsider your position as my heir."

"I don't want to be your heir. I just want Ceres." Johny said.

Having calmed down, he stared at his father.

They were at loggerheads with each other.

"Good. You are really my boy. I didn't intend to kill that woman before. But now it seems that you force me to do it. Johny, she's gonna die because of you, not me."

"Let her go!" Johny shouted.

He didn't care what Jack said.

"I have conditions if you want me to let her go," Jack added.