

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 203 I Am His Fiancée

Ceres had received the message from Johny yesterday and was ready to come back.

After a few days of quiet and secluded life at the foot of the mountain, she realized that it was time for her to come back. However, when she came back, she saw Annie throw herself into Johny's arms.

Johny was having a headache!

He not only needed to get rid of Nyla but also Annie too. Why had Ceres picked this time to come back?

"Ceres, I can explain this."

Since the last time he told Ceres to start over again, Ceres had not agreed. His heart had been up and down. The problem between them had not been completely solved. If there was any misunderstanding...

Annie got up from Johny and found Ceres standing at the door. She immediately showed a disdainful look.

She puffed out her chest and raised her chin, "You must be Ceres, right? You are as ugly as the rumors say."

The red spots on Ceres's face were still there, and she was used to it.

Annie circled Ceres and carefully looked her over, up and down. She really didn't know how such an ugly woman with no merits had the courage to pester Johny.

Mary actually said it in such an exaggerated way, saying that the two of them loved each other to death.

"Let me introduce myself. My name is Annie. I am Johny's fiancée. Please stay away from my fiancé!"

Annie intended of declaring her sovereignty.

Johny hadn't said anything about Annie. Now that Annie had revealed herself, Johny was having a headache again.

Annie looked at Ceres arrogantly, trying to force this woman back.

"Johny, didn't you introduce me to this woman?" Ceres raised her chin.

Johny's lips moved slightly when he heard Ceres's words.

"Okay, thanks for the courtesy. Let me introduce myself. My name is Ceres, and I am Johny's married wife. Please stay away from my husband."

"What? You have already married?" Annie's face changed.

"Yes, didn't Johny tell you? I was married to him a long time ago. If you don't believe me, I can find the marriage certificate for you. However, I don't know where the marriage certificate has been thrown to. It will be troublesome if I need to find it."

"Speaking of which, this is also a troublesome matter. Without a marriage certificate, it seems to be very troublesome to get the divorce," Ceres said with a chortle smile.

Annie looked at Ceres in disbelief.

On the phone, Mary only said that a woman had been pestering Johny, but she never said that Johny and this woman were already married!

"I'm sorry, Miss Annie. My husband is seriously injured and it's not convenient for him to receive guests, so please get out."

Ceres walked in with her arms crossed.

"Are you chasing me away?"

"Yes, people from my country are more reserved when speaking. If you like the straightforward way of speaking, I can cooperate with you. The door is over there. I won't send you off!"

Ceres pointed at the door.

Annie looked at the ugly woman in front of her and was instantly enraged!

"Who are you to drive me away? Johny and I were engaged!"

"Don't you think it's funny? Johny and I were married. Miss Annie, didn't you get it?"

The door was still open, and the bodyguards outside were listening to the conversation inside.

"Why are you all still standing there? I told you nobody is allowed to disturb us here. Please invite Miss Annie out!" Ceres said to the bodyguards outside the door.

The bodyguards walked in after a moment of hesitation.

"Don't you dare!" Annie was pissed off.

In any case, she was engaged to Johny, and her family was also famous. Her mother was even a member of the royal family of Augsta!

The bodyguards were in a dilemma. They were all hired by Johny, so they naturally listened to him. Thus, they all turned to look at him.

However, Johny remained calm and collected.

"It seems that Mrs. Winsor doesn't have a say. You're not faking it, are you?" Annie covered her mouth and laughed.

Ceres said unhurriedly, "Don't you understand what I'm saying? Do you also need to take a look at the marriage certificate before you are willing to listen to me? You can't even understand what's going on here. It seems that it is not suitable for someone like you to protect our personal safety."

"Miss Annie, please get out," the bodyguards said as they walked towards Annie.

"How dare you!"

"Sorry, we need to obey Mrs. Winsor's orders."

The bodyguards immediately picked Annie up and carried her out.

"Ceres, just you wait!" A lot of cursing followed that.

The room finally quieted down.

Ceres sat on the sofa, crossed her legs, and brought out her phone.

Johny sat on the bed, unable to get out of it. He kept staring at Ceres. Just as he was about to speak, he heard Ceres shout to the outside, "I'm hungry! Go get some food!"

The bodyguards outside the door were startled.

They knew that she had been asking for a divorce.

"Didn't you hear what she said? Hurry up and get some food!"

"Yes!"

Soon, the bodyguards brought some snacks and fruits.

Ceres sat on the sofa, eating snacks and swiping her phone. Johny struggled to get out of bed. He wanted to get closer to her and comfort her.

"Don't move!" Ceres raised her head abruptly and looked at Johny.

That gaze was fierce.

"I want to be closer to you," Johny said with a smile.

"The sofa is only two meters away from the bed. Isn't that enough?"

From the moment Ceres said that she was his wife, he knew that she was preparing to reconcile with him.

Johny was finally relieved. His Ceres was back.

"Not enough, I want our distance to be less than zero."

Ceres thought for a while and finally understood what Johny meant. She picked up the pillow on the sofa and was about to throw it over, but when she thought that Johny couldn't stand it, she put the pillow down.

She took a piece of pastry and walked to the side of the bed without any expression on her face, "Less than zero? What do you mean?"

Johny raised his eyebrows, "Do you need me to describe it with more details?"

"Well, describe it. I don't quite understand it."

Ceres looked at Johny as she ate, keeping a straight face.

Johny pulled Ceres over and directly took a piece of pastry from her mouth. He chewed carefully and said provocatively, "I don't think it's easy to describe it with words. It might be easier to be blunt with action."

As he spoke, he placed his large palm behind Ceres's head and kissed her.

He had been waiting for this kiss for almost four years.

As soon as he kissed her lips that he hadn't touched for a long time, a heat rose from his lower abdomen.