

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 218 Play a Game

Johnny glanced at the video on the screen. It was a press conference for the Cosmos Group.

Perhaps Swedum thought that Mommy was still an employee of the Cosmos Group. The press conference was very normal.

Johnny brought Swedum into the room. He said, "Swedum, something happened to Mommy."

Looking at his father's serious face, Swedum realized that it might be a bad thing.

Johnny then told Swedum that Ceres was hypnotized. He tried his best to control his speed and use the language that Swedum could understand. But he wasn't sure if Swedum could understand.

After all, even he, an adult, found this kind of thing unbelievable.

"This is what happened. We may not be able to see Mommy for the time being and have to keep a distance from Mommy. But don't worry. Daddy will definitely find a way to save Mommy."

Swedum was silent for a long time. He tilted his head and looked at Johnny, "Daddy, you mean that Mommy has forgotten you and me, right?"

Johnny nodded solemnly.

"So, we can't appear in front of Mommy because Mommy might have a confusing memory, right?"

"Yes." Johnny didn't expect Swedum to have such strong comprehension ability.

"Then let's appear in front of Mommy in a new identity!" Swedum suddenly widened his eyes, and his face was also full of surprise, as if he was talking about a fun game.

"A new identity?"

"Yes, I am your son. It is normal for you to bring a son and pursue a woman."

Swedum blinked his big, animated eyes and stared at Johnny.

Johnny suddenly understood what Swedum meant.

"Let's play a game with Mommy!"

Johnny smiled and stroked Swedum's little head. Swedum was indeed smart. He was much better than his father!

"Okay, let's play a game with Mommy then."

"Daddy, you have to work hard! You have to get Mommy back as soon as possible!" Swedum clenched his fists and cheered Johnny on.

"I see."

"I will help you!"

...

The new product of the Cosmos Group was a robot named AIWA. Unlike the companion robot for children launched last time, this robot was more like a robot...

AIWA looked like a real human being, just like a family member. The functions were naturally very diverse. The main function development of AIWA was to allow people to remotely control AIWA to complete housework when there was no one in the family.

After the press conference ended, it was the promotion period. The new products on the market enjoyed a 10 percent discount and a three-year warranty period. Once they were launched, the sales were very impressive.

At the meeting of the Cosmos Group, Kirs passionately encouraged every employee. From the current sales, their new product this time seemed to have been a great success.

Just at this time, Lisa, Kirs's assistant, walked in and whispered to Kirs for a while. Kirs's face suddenly changed.

"What? How is that possible?"

Kirs realized that his sudden change in expression might affect the employees' emotions, so he continued to smile and said, "Everyone, continue to work hard. This success cannot be separated from your efforts. When the final sales data comes out, I will definitely fulfill my promise."

After that, he left the meeting room with Lisa.

Ceres did not listen to the entire meeting. Her mind was filled with Johnny!

She also felt that it was very strange. She clearly had no connection with Johnny. Johnny was only a competitor to her.

Originally, she had a sense of admiration for Johnny. Through her research on Johnny, she found that Johnny was indeed a very talented man, and he was so handsome, which woman would not be moved by him?

Unexpectedly, he turned out to be an apprentice, and he just casually hugged her in his arms!

He was truly shameless!

But such a shameless person could not get rid of it in her mind.

Until Lisa's appearance interrupted her thoughts, she could see that something had happened to Kirs. She guessed that it should be a problem with the new product. As the director of the technical department, she naturally needed to learn about it.

So, after the meeting, she went straight to Kirs' office.

"Mr. Kirs, what happened?"

In the company, Ceres was still more used to calling Kirs Mr. Kirs.

Kirs didn't like the address, "Ceres, we don't need to be so polite. You can call me Kirs."

"We are in the company. It's better to be careful. Mr. Kirs, is something wrong with the new product?"

Kirs' expression was a little strange. He said, "Eagle Group has sued us."

He did not expect that Eagle Group would sue him. He thought that Johnny would not dare to do it because Ceres' life was in his hands. He was fearless. However, he did not expect that Johnny would not care!

"Sue us? Why?" Ceres felt even more incredulous.

"Infringement, they said that our new product infringed on their unreleased products," Kirs told Ceres everything and observed her reaction.

Before Ceres was hypnotized, Ceres discovered that he stole the chip of Eagle Group.

Ceres crossed her arms and shook her head. She said, "How shameless! We made what they couldn't do put it on the market. They said we infringed? It's funny! I didn't expect Johnny to be such a shameless person!"

Looking at her reaction, Kirs felt a little comforted.

It seemed that the hypnosis far exceeded his imagination.

"I originally thought that only some small companies would do such a despicable thing. I didn't expect that a big group like Eagle Group would do such a thing." Ceres did not know why she was so angry.

"Alright, Ceres. Don't be angry anymore. We can do it properly. Don't be afraid." Kirs comforted Ceres.

"You are right. This is the result of our hard work."

Kirs asked, "Alright, it's time to get off work. How about we have dinner tonight?"

Ceres, on the other hand, looked at Kirs awkwardly, "I have an appointment to watch a movie with Alice tonight."

"Is that so? Then let's take a rain check."

Ceres walked out of the office with an apologetic smile. She packed up her things and walked out of the company building.

Just as she reached the parking lot and was about to drive away, she suddenly saw a cute little boy squatting beside her car.

She looked around and saw no one.

"Little boy, where are your parents?" She asked, waving at the little boy.

The little boy squatted in place and did not move, only shaking his head at her.
