

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 222 Mr. Johnny Wants to Atone

Johnny's sudden appearance quite annoyed Ceres.

The others were discussing whether Ceres would choose Kirs or Johnny. Hearing this, Ceres felt more distressed. She lied that she felt sick. Then she returned to the parking lot and drove away.

While driving, she suddenly found a car following her.

It was Johnny's car.

'He's annoying.' Ceres thought.

Thinking of what Johnny said, Ceres hated his brazenness so much that she drove faster to get rid of him.

However, it was difficult for her because she was not good at driving.

Not only did she run a red light many times, but she also almost got involved in a car accident. She jammed on the brakes and finally stopped the car aside.

"Are you insane?" The driver rolled down the car window and shouted at Ceres.

"I'm so sorry." Ceres hurriedly nodded in apology.

Finally, the driver drove off.

Ceres sighed heavily and prepared to restart the engine, but the car could not start.

She slapped the steering wheel angrily, and she accidentally honked the horns. She was startled.

Then, she saw someone walking towards her with a swagger from the rearview mirror.

It was Johnny.

Johnny stopped beside her car and knocked at the window. Ceres had to roll down the window.

Ceres was ready to be laughed at by Johnny.

"Do you need help?" Johnny bent down to look at Ceres.

Ceres didn't dare to look straight at Johnny. She actually needed help now because she did not know where she was, and the car could not start.

"No, thanks." Ceres refused because she still did not want to owe him a favor.

"In fact, I'm atoning my wrong. If I hadn't followed your car, you wouldn't get lost in order to avoid me, and your car wouldn't break down."

What Johnny said gave Ceres a way out.

"Well, in that case, just hurry up!" Ceres got off.

Johnny got into her car and tried to start the engine, but he failed. Then he got out of the car and opened the hood to have a check.

Seeing this, Ceres crossed her arms and couldn't help but laugh. "Well, stop pretending. I won't believe that you can repair cars."

Johnny ignored what Ceres said and continued.

Seeing this, Ceres decided to find another chance to humiliate him.

"How long has it been since you last maintained your car?" Johnny asked.

Ceres had no idea.

"Never, right?" Johnny asked.

"Maybe," Ceres answered with embarrassment.

"You need to change the engine oil and have the car serviced. You'd better stop driving. It's dangerous." Johnny said seriously.

Johnny directly covered the hood and cleaned his hand.

"Really?" Ceres asked in doubt.

Ceres couldn't understand what Johnny was talking about.

"Believe it or not, you can restart the engine," Johnny said.

Ceres glanced at Johnny, and then she got into the car. Unexpectedly, she could start the engine again.

To her surprise, Johnny could really repair cars.

'He was born in a rich family. Why can he repair cars?' Ceres wondered.

Before Ceres could figure out, she remembered what Johnny had said.

Johnny warned that it was dangerous if she kept driving.

Thinking of this, Ceres immediately stalled the engine.

When she got out of the car, Johnny was still there.

"I said I would atone my wrong, so..." Johnny signaled her to get into his car.

Ceres stared at him fiercely before walking towards his car. Then, she got into his car and sat in the passenger seat.

Then, Johnny called someone to send Ceres's car to have maintenance.

Ceres gradually changed her opinion of him.

But she didn't know why he harassed her again and again.

It was embarrassing that they kept silent on the way.

It would take them a long time to drive back to the city center.

Ceres decided to break the ice.

"Why did you do that?" Ceres asked first.

"Did what?" Johnny said in a relaxed tone.

"Don't you know that?" Ceres said.

"I don't know," Johnny answered.

"Forget it!" Ceres got furious.

She turned her head away.

Johnny glanced at her and said, "I'm sincere."

"Including being sarcastic?" Ceres doubted.

"Including pursuing you," Johnny added.

Ceres immediately changed the topic. She said, "Why did you sue Cosmos Group for the new product? Shame on you! Cosmos Group is the first to conduct artificial intelligence research in the country. We will never plagiarize. We depend on our intelligence and strength."

Hearing this, Johnny sneered at her.

"I don't think so." Johnny looked calm.

Ceres was speechless.

"So, answer my questions. If you can answer, I'll cancel the prosecution."

Ceres did not want Cosmos Group to be sued. No matter how it turned out, engaging in a lawsuit was exhausting.

As an artificial intelligence company, it required a lot of time and energy to do research instead of going to court.

"Deal!" Ceres sat upright and looked confident.

"How long did you take to develop the new product?" Johnny asked.

"One year," Ceres replied.

"Then how long do you think it will take to develop a smart robot?" Johnny asked.

Ceres was speechless. Of course, she knew it.

Making a smart robot was rather complicated. Repeated testing was needed.

It would take at least three years.