

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 239 Unnoticed Treasure

"Get lost!" Ceres wished she could spit on Johnny's face!

She had used all her strength when she said these words, but she sounded powerless when she did.

Ceres felt weak all over, just like when she participated in the 3, 000-meter long-distance running in school when she was a child. She felt weak as if after running and could not recover for days.

It was the same this time, but she didn't do anything.

Johnny heard Nyla say that after two consecutive hypnoses, Ceres would feel tired and need to rest well.

"Are you tired? You can't blame me for this. You've been asking for too much, so I..." Johnny asked with a smile.

Ceres glared at Johnny.

"Rest well here, but for us to be more harmonious, you still have to exercise more. Don't worry. I'll teach you!" Johnny swaggered out of the room.

Ceres glared in the direction Johnny had left. She did not know what to say.

Too many things happened that night.

First of all, she did not believe that Kirs was such a person, but she also believed that Nyla did not need to lie to her.

What made Ceres even more curious was that she did not seem to be very sad after losing her chastity. Shouldn't she be in pain? After all, she had only known Johnny for a few days.

However, she was indeed not that painful, nor was she sad.

This was strange.

Bob took Nyla to the shore. Kirs had been sent back overnight and stayed in a hospital.

When Bob and Nyla saw Kirs in the ward, Kirs's face looked terrible with gauze wrapped around his head.

The doctor said that Kirs had a slight concussion, so Johnny did hurt him badly.

Seeing Nyla come over, Kirs couldn't help but show a sarcastic smile, "Hypnosis failed?"

When Nyla heard this, she immediately noticed that something was wrong, "Sure enough, you did something!"

Kirs laughed, "You are so stupid. You actually believed me. Nyla, why do you think that I would cooperate with you?"

"You."

Nyla wanted to give him a few slaps right away.

"What did you do?" Bob stopped him.

"If I'm not mistaken, you should have already hypnotized Ceres, but she did not wake up at the scheduled time, right?"

Kirs smiled faintly, "After you did the hypnosis for her before, I asked other hypnotists to do it for her again. Two hypnoses overlapped, so your hypnosis was ineffective. But you can try to force her to wake up."

Kirs shrugged as he spoke.

"You're so despicable!" Nyla had been framed this time!

Bob hurriedly stopped Nyla. He knew Nyla. She might be able to kill Kirs.

"Kirs, if you do like Ceres, why are you doing this to her? If you do love her, you should let her live a better life instead of using such despicable means to control her."

"Haven't I been treating her well enough? She only likes that man! That's right. I am not that noble! If I can't get her, I'm going to destroy her! None of you can break my hypnosis on her!"

Kirs roared at Bob, "Tell Johnny that he can put on his play forever as he wants! I'm going to see if he can win!"

Bob looked at Kirs's crazy appearance and left the hospital with Nyla.

"You should have let me kill him! How dare he lie to me!"

Nyla struggled to shake off Bob.

"Do you think you can solve the problem by killing him?" Bob asked.

"No, I have to go abroad." Nyla calmed down.

"What do you want to do abroad?"

"I'm going to look for my teacher. My teacher is the one and only top hypnotist in the world. He must have a way to fix it. I was the one who caused the trouble. I will be responsible for it."

After that, Nyla left angrily.

Bob looked at her departing back and shook his head, not chasing after her.

In Country M.

This country in the East had a similar tradition to Country A, and the language was also alike, so it was Sally and Mary's best option.

After coming to this country, Sally found that her friend had no ability at all. She was just bragging. Sally and Mary came to her, but Sally's friend left some money for a meal and hid far away.

Sally had no choice but to start working. When she was young, she was indeed outstanding. However, she was old and had been pampered for a long time. There was nothing suitable for her to do. She could only do some cleaning in a building.

She was mopping the floor again in the hall, cursing as she mopped the floor, "Why do the people in this building never know about the importance of hygiene?"

Suddenly, several cars stopped at the door. Under the sunlight, the cars were emitting a unique light.

It was obvious that they were rich.

Sally couldn't help but take a few more glances.

A row of bodyguards in black got out of the car and stood on both sides. Then a man got out of the last car. He looked about fifty years old.

Sally suddenly felt that he looked familiar as if she had seen him somewhere before, but she could not remember where.

"Go away! Can't you see the boss is here?" The girl at the front desk quickly pulled her aside.

Sally could only hide in the back.

Those people in a row looked frightening.

"Who is he?" Sally asked the girl at the front desk.

"He owns this building. Who do you think he is? He is also the richest man in Country M. Very rich!"

The girl at the front desk said with an exaggerated face.

Another person in charge at the front desk hurriedly said, "Have you heard? Mr. Caleb is looking for his child everywhere!"

"I thought he has no kid."

This topic aroused everyone's curiosity all of a sudden.

"Indeed, Mr. Caleb doesn't have a child right now, but he should have had many women in his life. Who knows which woman would have his kid? So, he is looking for his child all over the world."

"How is this possible? If anyone is pregnant with Mr. Caleb's child, they would have already come looking for him. How good is it to become Mr. Caleb's child? A lifetime of wealth and glory, so enviable."

Sally rolled her eyes, "How can such a boss at his age have no child? How is that possible?"

"How is that impossible? Mr. Caleb doesn't have any children. He has never been married in his life. When he was young, he might not think that no one could inherit his family business."

"Then what about the child you just mentioned?"

"Just because you haven't married doesn't mean you don't have sex. Mr. Caleb regrets not having any child, so he is looking for one. Maybe there is a kid like some unnoticed treasure somewhere."

"Unnoticed treasure?" Sally was deep in thought.
