

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 246 I Will Not Marry You

Bill stood at the door.

Nancy showed a flattering smile and walked toward Bill. "Why are you coming?"

Bill looked at the woman with a disdainful smile. He had seen flattering women before.

"I heard that Alice had no right to decide what she should do."

Nancy had an awkward expression on her face. "Mr. Jaden, I was just joking," she said.

Bill snorted and walked to Alice. He held around Alice's shoulder. Alice felt as if she had been shocked by his touch!

"You said that her power was given by me. Then I will give her my whole power!"

"Mr. Jaden, it is a misunderstanding. I was angry just now. Why don't you persuade Alice? She wants to shoot this drama."

Nancy handed the script to Bill, and Bill flipped through two pages.

Alice was so nervous.

He didn't know whether Bill scolded her or not.

Alice knew her brain might be crazy.

Bill slapped the script back onto the table. "What's wrong? My woman can do whatever she wants. You can't interfere."

This roar shocked Nancy and Alice!

Alice looked at Bill. At that moment, she felt that Bill was manly enough. He could stand up for her.

"Yes, Alice can shoot the drama whatever she wants," Nancy had to agree repeatedly.

"Alice, if you don't like this agent, I can change her at any time," Bill said to Alice gently.

Alice smiled awkwardly.

After saying that, Bill walked out of the office holding Alice.

Alice felt Bill's warm embrace. She had been in this industry for several years. She had been scolded by the director, the manager, the producer, and the fans of others. She had been scolded countless times.

Finally, someone could support her.

"Thank you." Alice thanked Bill hastily.

At this time, Bill loosened his hand, "Why do you thank me? You are my fiancée now. She scolded you was the same as that she scolded me!"

Bill looked at Alice unhappily. "What she said was right. Is there something wrong with your brain?"

Nancy's words were very unpleasant. Though Nancy scolded Alice so much, Bill felt that what she said was not unreasonable. He stood up for Alice just now.

Hearing Bill's words, Alice was speechless and thought that the drama she chose was very good.

"Do you know how many huge productions there are? All the famous directors are inviting you to film. There are so many scripts, but you chose an online drama. Aren't you crazy?"

Looking at Bill, Alice's lips twitched. She thought to herself, 'It seemed that he was no different from others.'

"Yes, I am crazy," Alice said calmly, and then she walked away.

Bill didn't know what to say.

"What's the meaning of that online drama? Why don't you take the opportunity to shoot a few good movies!" Bill said to the back of Alice.

Alice did not speak. Tears flowed from her eyes slowly after listening to Bill's words.

It seemed that everyone thought so. She should take advantage of Bill's resources to be famous.

But she refused!

She must prove her strength!

At that moment, she was so determined.

Looking at Alice's firm steps, Bill felt a little sour in his heart. He didn't know where it came from.

He walked in a circle with his hands on the waist and made a phone call. "Give me the script of the scene Alice wanted to shoot."

In the Imperial University.

It was time for class again. No one was absent from Johny's class which was full of useful knowledge. Ceres entered the classroom with the ringing bell.

Johny entered the classroom with his walking stick because of the injury in his leg, which made everyone curious.

Ceres was meticulous during the class.

Johny looked at her several times, but he couldn't see the shyness she had before.

After class, Ceres stayed for a while to take notes. After Johny finished explaining to the students, there was no one in the classroom. He came to Ceres's side.

"The wedding has already been prepared. Does my bride have any suggestions or opinions?"

Ceres lowered his head to write, ignoring Johny.

Johny looked down and saw Ceres's ugly handwriting. So, he bent down and said, "Your handwriting is so ugly. I'll teach you."

As he spoke, he prepared to hug Ceres and teach her how to write. Ceres stood up and took two steps back immediately.

"Teacher, please respect yourself!"

There was a flash of light from the window.

"Teacher, if you continue to do this, I will call the police!" Ceres glanced at him.

"Call the police? You're my fiancée. Even if I rape you here, I didn't think the police would take the case." Johny was smiling mischievously.

"I won't marry you."

Ceres packed up her things to leave. Johny pulled her into his arms when she passed by him.

Ceres struggled. Then, she called the police.

"Are you serious?"

"Or what?"

Johny looked at Ceres and gritted his teeth, "Alright, you win!"

"You better leave here immediately. Otherwise, the reputation of you and Eagle Group will be damaged."

This was the first time Johny left in such an embarrassing situation.

Ceres called the police again and canceled the last call.

After class, Ceres drove back to the company.

At Mr. Johny's office in the Cosmos Group.

Kirs sat in front of the desk with his legs crossed. His face was a little gloomy.

He was answering the phone.

"Mr. Kirs, we have been following Miss Ceres for two days. We haven't found anything unusual. She has gone to the company, home, and school without other places."

"Did anything special happen in the school today?"

"Miss Ceres took notes after class. Only Johny and Miss Ceres were left in the classroom. Johny tried to do something to Miss Ceres, but Miss Ceres called the police."

After hearing these words, Kirs heaved a sigh of relief.

He seemed to have to overthink.

Perhaps Ceres trusted him through so many years of relationship. He could take it easy now.
