

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 292 She Is in the Manor!

When Sally heard Ceres's words, her face turned pale.

"Of... of course! You... Why do you ask this question?"

Sally stammered.

Ceres immediately smiled proudly.

"It can't be that you and Mary teamed up to deceive Caleb, right?"

Only then did Sally realize that Ceres didn't know the truth.

She calmed down slowly and said, "No!"

Ceres had guessed that Jamie was not Caleb's daughter. Maybe Sally had an affair with Caleb, but Jamie was Mike's daughter.

Mike was smart and he must know if Jamie was his daughter or not.

"Really? If you don't deceive Caleb, you don't need to be afraid that I stay here, because I might tell Caleb something that he didn't know."

"No! Don't talk nonsense! They had done a DNA test!" Sally replied fiercely.

Ceres thought that it was right. Caleb was powerful and he must be careful about his heir. Since they had done a DNA test, Jamie must be Caleb's daughter.

She did not know what to say.

"Leave here immediately. Listen to me. Otherwise, you will die!"

Sally had noticed that Jamie became more and more ruthless since she became Caleb's daughter. A few days ago, Jamie was in a bad mood, and she ruined a servant's face and drove her out just because this servant broke her cup.

Even though she was Jamie's mother, Sally also thought Jamie was too much but she couldn't say anything.

Caleb did not treat her very well. After all, she was just a woman who had slept with him for a night and gave birth to a daughter for him. He made her live a rich life but rarely talked to her.

She could only rely on Jamie here.

If Jamie knew that Ceres had entered the Bullock's manor, Jamie would kill Ceres in order not to expose her secret!

Maybe because Sally was old and thought she would go to hell after death because she had done many bad things, now she became soft-hearted.

"Why? If you don't tell me the reason, I will not believe you."

"Do you still need a reason? Mary will not let you go. She has a miserable life in Country M because of you. Now that she has become powerful, she will not let you go!"

"What you wanted to say is that she doesn't let me go. Don't worry, she won't kill me. She likes to watch me suffer and my face is the best proof." Ceres smiled contemptuously.

Ceres pointed at her face.

Looking at the red spots on Ceres's face, Sally felt a little guilty, "Ceres, listen to me. I will find a way to remove your red spots from her words. Just leave obediently."

Hearing Sally's words, Ceres couldn't help but sneer. 'Does my mother still have a conscience?'

"Okay, I will not leave until the red spots on my face are removed." Ceres turned around and left.

Seeing Ceres leave, Sally stomped her feet in anxiety.

She had no choice but to let Jamie replace Ceres and enter the Bullock family.

Because Ceres had been with Johny and Ceres must live happily, while Jamie and she were miserable, Sally could only say that Jamie was Caleb's daughter.

Then both of her daughters could live well.

She originally thought that one was in Country M and the other was in Country A. They did not interfere with each other, but now they met again.

If Caleb knew that she had deceived him, she and Jamie would die.

Sally was once again in a dilemma.

At night, Sally came to Jamie's room. Jamie was a little sleepy after applying a facial mask, and she was annoyed after seeing Sally silent.

"Mom, if you have nothing to do, go back. I am going to sleep. I have to go to the company tomorrow."

Jamie yawned as she spoke.

"I have something to say." Sally lowered her head and stammered.

Seeing Sally with an embarrassed expression, Jamie immediately picked up her wallet, "You need money again, right? Here you go."

She took out a credit card from her wallet and handed it to Sally, "This is an infinitely overdraft card. My dad gave it to me. Take it and spend it."

Sally looked at the credit card with mixed feelings.

When they came to the Bullock's, Jamie was good to her.

Caleb originally wanted to give her a sum of money to send her away because she just was a mistress. However, Jamie cried that she couldn't Sally, so Caleb agreed to let Sally live in the manor and the servants could call her Lady Sally respectfully.

"Mary. No, Jamie. Mom has money."

"Then what's wrong with you? Mom, what happened to you today? You were acting weird when we were soaking in the hot spring."

"Jamie, tell me the truth that red spots could be removed or not?" Tao Jing suddenly grabbed Jamie's arm.

"Mom, what's wrong with you? Why are you suddenly asking this question?"

Jamie's expression changed.

"I beg you. You have become the daughter of the Bullock family. In the future, you will heir the wealth of the Bullock family. Please let her go, okay?"

Sally begged.

Jamie immediately shook off Sally's hand, "What exactly happened? Why are you still talking about this? Didn't we agree to keep secret? The wall has ears, don't you know?"

Jamie immediately stood up and opened the door. When she saw the servants standing outside the door, she shouted, "Get out of here."

The servants immediately walked away.

Looked at Jamie's fierce appearance, Sally hurriedly explained, "The house is soundproof. It can't be heard outside. If they can hear it, Mom won't say it."

"But you can't just say it again. I am my father's daughter!" Jamie retorted.

Sally quickly nodded, "Yes. You are Caleb's daughter, Jamie Bullock. But could you let Ceres go? She can't live with red spots on her face."

"She can live as she likes. It's good that she can't live. Doesn't Johny love her? So she can let Johny continue to love her!" Jamie said with a proud expression.

"All men like women with a beautiful face. Johny loves Ceres now but he can't live with her forever."

Sally grabbed Jamie's hand and said, "Jamie, I beg you. Please give her the antidote. From now on, you two will never interfere with each other. You don't provoke her again, lest you get exposed."

Jamie stared at Sally, which made Sally nervous.

"Mom, why are you always talking about her today? What happened? Are you in touch with her? Tell me!"

"Ceres is in the manor!" Sally sighed.