

One Night Stand With The Uninvited Wolf President

Chapter 299 Where Does His Father Go?

Jamie was naturally unhappy after receiving a slap.

She went go for wool and come home shorn.

And shoot herself in the foot!

She was so aggrieved that she wished she could bite Ceres and Roy to death!

The servant sent food to Jamie. Caleb had already informed everyone in the manor to stare at Jamie. She was not allowed to go in and out. She could only reflect in the room.

Everyone knew that Jamie had done something bad to Roy and Ceres. They knew that Jamie was in a bad mood, so they sent food carefully.

"Miss Jamie, this is dinner for today."

Jamie hadn't slept the entire night, and she had been sleeping in her room for the entire day. She was already very angry.

When she saw that someone had come, she overturned the plate.

"Get out! I don't want to eat!"

The servant hurriedly prepared to leave.

"Wait!" Jamie stopped her.

"Miss Jamie, do you have any other orders?"

"What is my dad doing today?"

"Miss Jamie, Mr. Caleb has been resting today. He hasn't done anything."

Jamie clenched her fists in anger!

He didn't do anything and didn't come to see her. Did he really dislike her?

Jamie didn't dare to think about it. This time, she was in big trouble. If Caleb changed his mind, then wouldn't her inheritance of the Bullock Group be ruined?

"Send me another meal at ten o'clock!"

"Yes!" The servant quickly retreated.

Caleb hit Jamie yesterday, and his heart was not feeling good. From the first day she came here, he secretly swore that he must take advantage of the rest of his time to be good to her because he owed her too much these years.

But he didn't expect him to hit her yesterday.

He passed by Jamie's room several times and wanted to enter but stopped.

Jamie had gone too far. He needed to teach her a lesson and let her reflect.

If he became soft-hearted so quickly, it would be harming her.

Caleb once again arrived at Jamie's door. This time, he still did not go in. Unknowingly, he had already entered the hot spring room.

He thought about it and walked in.

Today, the one in charge of duty was Ceres. Ceres sat next to the hot spring pool and yawned.

Caleb coughed, and Ceres suddenly woke up. Ceres hurriedly stood up and said, "Mr. Caleb, do you need to soak in the hot spring?"

Looking at the bloodstains on Ceres's face, Caleb also felt a little sorry in his heart.

"I won't soak in the hot spring. It's getting late. If you continue to soak in the water, you won't be able to sleep tonight."

When Ceres heard this, she knew that Caleb was thinking for her. She smiled faintly and said, "It doesn't matter. I have a salary for doing this. If you want to soak in it, I will immediately prepare water and those Chinese herbs."

"No need. You can give me a massage."

"Alright."

Caleb lay on the massage bed and Ceres immediately began to massage him.

"Why do you know how to massage at such a young age?"

"When my mother brought me to the Morrisises' place, I was a servant and did everything. Mrs. Morrisises had a stroke and couldn't move on the bed. She asked me to be in charge of massaging, so I learned it."

Ceres said casually.

However, he felt that something was wrong. According to Jamie, Ceres was like a master in the Morrisises' place!

However, he didn't want to probe further. He wanted to relax.

"Chat with me."

"Well, what do you want to talk about, Mr. Caleb?"

Caleb thought about it and said, "Let's talk about your father."

"My father?" The smile on Ceres's face was a little forced. It was not that she did not want to mention her father, but she was very worried about her father.

"Yes, what kind of person is he?"

"My father is an indomitable man. He is kind and righteous. He is a perfect father."

Ceres summarized her father in a few words, which surprised Caleb.

"But I heard that he killed someone and was in prison."

"My dad won't kill anyone," Ceres's tone suddenly became serious, "Even if he killed someone, that person must be killed!"

Ceres gritted her teeth and said.

After meeting Johny, she had forgotten all about what had happened, including her father.

She always felt that something had happened to her father, but she just couldn't remember what had happened.

Caleb was speechless.

He never thought that Ceres would worship his father so much. Perhaps this was the normal relationship between a daughter and a father.

"Even if your father is a murderer, will you never blame him?"

"Of course not. I will fight for my father. I want to find the best lawyer for him and restart the lawsuit for him. My father must have been wronged."

Ceres said in a very confident tone.

"Mr. Caleb, I have a question that I don't know if I should tell you."

"Speak."

Just at this time, a servant suddenly ran over, "Sir, it's not good. Miss Jamie fainted from hunger strike!"

Caleb hurriedly got up.

"What's going on?"

"Go and take a look!"

Ceres sighed. Jamie's acting was getting better and better.

"Ceres, let's talk another day."

After saying that, Caleb hurriedly left with the servant.

Ceres yawned. It was good to have a father's love. She suddenly missed her father. She had not seen him for more than ten years.

She wondered if he was doing well in prison.

At this time, she suddenly realized a problem. If she and Johny loved each other, then she would definitely ask Johny to help her re-investigate her father's case. But why didn't Johny mention anything about her father?

She smashed her head hard, and she couldn't remember anything!

Caleb sat next to Jamie's bed and looked at his pale daughter. He suddenly regretted it.

He should not be so strict with her. He had never taught her since she was young. How could he expect to educate her well in a day?

This time, he was in the wrong.

He should give her more sense of security.

Jamie woke up and saw Caleb jump into Caleb's arms. "Dad, I'm sorry. I know I was wrong. Do you not want me anymore?"

Caleb gently stroked Jamie's head, "Silly child, how can I not want you? You are my daughter, the only daughter. If I don't want you, who will I want?"

Jamie leaned against Caleb's chest and smiled, "That's great. Dad, you still want me."

"Don't cry. It's good that you know your mistake."

This time, it was a good lesson for Jamie.