

Chapter 11

Ashton

My gorgeous, sexy Starlight is finally awake, my brothers and I are all sitting on her bed. I glance at the clock: 11:59pm, one minute to go. We all stared at her. She stares back with a confused expression, then she frowns and her eyes widen. Then the sweet smell that I thought could not get any better became so intense, it made my co.ck stand up; I glanced at my brothers, then back at Star.

“MINE!”

We say as one; she lets out a very sexy gasp, and touches Ace's cheek, she reaches her other hand out to me and I grab it, the electrical jolt went straight to my already hard member. I brought her hand to my face, kissing her palm. Fuck she smells so good. Alexei has his forehead against hers.

And then she is gone. It took me a minute to register what happened. Ace has stolen my girl, he has her on his lap, saying something to her, and then she kisses him. He has grabbed her neck and is kissing the fu.ck out of her. I felt Lex linking me, “oh hell no I want kisses too, go get her back.”

She groaned, and I snapped into action. I stood behind her and carefully grabbed her around the waist, lifted her off of Ace and gave her to Alexei so she was straddling him.

I whispered in her ear, “there are three of us Starlight, you need to share your kisses,” and I devoured her mouth. She moaned and I pushed my tongue into her mouth. Oh, my fucking god, it’s like I have never kissed before. The taste of her and the tingles from her lips make my head fuzzy.

I growled as she pulled away, to kiss Lexi. I kissed her neck, sandwiching her between us. I felt her being lifted away and Lexi said, “I think that’s enough kissing for now, baby, or I’m going to forget you are still recovering.” He puts her back on her bed, her lips swollen, her face flushed, her hair messy from three sets of hands grabbing it. She is a goddess.

She gazed up at us, pure happiness in her eyes and my heart burst with joy. She wanted us just as much as we wanted her.

The door opened. “OH, my goddess, you are awake,” the nurse rushed to her side. Pushing Alexei off the bed, he growled at her. She turns puts her hands on her hips and glares at him, now of the three of us Alexei is probably the scariest, he is the enforcer, but under her glare he has become a docile little puppy and goes to sit on the other bed.

“Now let me look at you sweetie, you have been through the wringer.” She takes her ops, blood pressure, temperature, heart rate. Nodding, she shines a torch into Star’s eyes. When she is satisfied, she cupped her face, “how are you feeling baby girl? Any pain?” Star shakes her head, and winces a little, “just a little fuzzy and stiff,”

Dr Phillips walks in and looks at her chart, a smile on his lips. “You gave us quite a scare little one.” He motions for her to lie down, and he puts his hands on her neck. I swallowed a growl. I know he is only checking her injuries, but he is touching what’s mine.

“We have had three new pups while you were asleep. The team has missed you”, her face lit up, a huge smile on her face. “Really? Did Emma have her baby yet? Can I go see them in the morning?” I didn’t know she volunteered at the hospital until last week. All the staff have been popping in to check on her all week, their love and concern for her has been a little overwhelming.

Goddess, she is the perfect Luna. Our people already love her.

The nurse chuckles, “Yes Emma had a beautiful baby girl, they are being released later today. I will tell her to stop by, okay?” Star nodded her head.

The doctor gave her leg a squeeze and headed to the door. The nurse leaned down and kissed Star’s head, “don’t frighten us like that again honey, okay? There are lots of birthday presents waiting for you at the nurse’s station.” She turns to the three of us. “And you three, she still needs to rest, understand?”

“Yes ma’am” we said together.

After she leaves, we push the other bed next to Star’s. “Have you been sleeping here?” I jumped on her bed and pulled her back onto my chest, tucking her under my chin, Ace grabs her legs and puts them over his lap, rubbing her calves and feet, and Alexei climbs from the bottom of the bed and puts his head in her lap.

“We took turns, Tink. We never left you alone.” She touched his face, and he leaned over and pressed a light kiss on her lips. She strokes Lexi’s hair. I felt her sigh in contentment, and snuggle back into me, “get some sleep babe, you need to get better so we can take you home.” I kissed her head and felt her relax into sleep.

I looked at my brothers and smirked, linking them so we didn’t wake her, “that was some kiss,” Ace licks his lips, a dazed look on his face, “goddess she tastes so good, and her scent, fu.ck, I nearly came, it is so much more intense now.” He rubs her legs absentmindedly.

Alexei turns over, pressing his nose to her stomach. “She is perfect, and she is ours. I can’t believe how easily she accepted us. Kissed us in the first ten minutes. Goddess, I nearly forgot we were in the hospital. And I agree, I could just smell her all day.” He lifted her top and kissed her tummy, causing her to sigh in contentment.

“I linked mum and told her Star was awake they will come in the morning. Are we all sleeping here?” Alexei gripped her top, rubbing his face in her stomach. "I am comfy, not moving ever." Ace grabbed some blankets and we made sure our girl was nice and warm. I put my head back against the wall and closed my eyes.