

Chapter 82

Alexei

My patience has been tested to its limits, but the witches are finally opening a portal to the Ivy church coven. I turn to my brothers. "This is it. Let's go get our girl back."

We are met by a group of ten witches, they whisper to Mary-Beth, once they are finished she heads towards us, "Alphas, I have been told that a car arrived about ten minutes ago, one of the passengers was identified as Barton Miller, the car stopped outside a building on the other side of the compound, we must hurry."

We run to the north side of the territory and one of the witches point to a building in the distance, as we look over at the building the whole place lights up like a Christmas tree, sparks shoot from the roof, flickering flame dance in the windows.

The door bursts open and there she is, electricity radiating from her. My warrior Luna.

She gets hit by something and goes flying backwards. I sigh in relief when she gets to her feet and runs beside a building, "Star is okay, we have to clear a path for her."

Not waiting for a reply, I run towards my Fairy-girl, rogues come from everywhere, for fuck's sake. A huge explosion knocks me off my feet. The bodies of wolves and witches are blown across the land.

Getting to my feet, I rip out the throat of a rogue. While searching for Star, I spot her. She is blocked by a large group of wolves and witches; I stare in awe as she cracks two whips made out of pure energy. Her entire body is glowing. It looks like she has surrounded herself with a barrier of electricity.

She swings her whips, electrocuting the enemies in her path. Fuck, I have never seen anything sexier in my life, and she is mine. I rush towards her, our eyes connect, and I see her slump with relief.

We run towards each other, but out of nowhere, a man jumps in front of her. I speed up as I watch him throw something in her face; she blasts him with everything she has got, and they collapse together. I catch her before she hits the ground; she is covered in white powder.

Her hand cups my face and she smiles at me, “hey baby, I would really like to go home now.” Chuckling, I pick her up and run back the way I came, my brothers running towards us. They grab us and we stand still, just holding each other.

“Anne-Marie is dead. We need to get out of here.” Ace takes her from my arms, she wraps her legs around his waist and we run, Liam, Cam and Mary-Beth run to meet us, once we tell them about the death of the witch, Mary-Beth casts a spell making her voice carry over the coven territory.

“Your traitorous mother is dead, and you are surrounded. You will surrender or be eliminated. This coven is now broken and the magic will be stripped from its grounds.”

I watch as rogues sprint away, trying to escape, but Mary-Beth’s warriors strike them down. Witches fall to their knees in surrender.

Mary-Beth beckons for us to follow her as she opens a portal to her own coven.

We step through and Ace sets Star on her feet. As soon as he does, she grabs her stomach and drops to her knees, groaning.

Rushing to her side I wrap her in my arms, “baby? What’s wrong?” She climbs up my body, sucking on my neck and grinding her body on me in a frenzy.

“Make it stop, it hurts, please make it stop.” What the fuck? Then her scent fills my nostrils. My brothers crowd around us. The unmated wolves all move closer, growls emanating from their chests.

I hear Liam shouting at us to move, and we are pushed through a portal. Just before it closes, I hear Liam shout, “she’s in heat!”

I stare at my brothers while Star continues to rub herself on me. Ash takes control, “come on baby, let’s get you cooled down, while Ace and Lex get us some food, okay angel?”

She latches her mouth onto Ash’s neck, and I see his eyes roll back. I watch as he battles within himself. Pulling himself together, he runs for the stairs. The sound of doors banging open and cursing comes from above.

Ace turns to me and rubs his face with his hands. He is about to speak when there is a knock at the door; I open it to find Mary-Beth and three other witches surrounded by bags of ice, baskets of food and piles of clothing.

“” We will not disturb you any more than we have to. We shall leave supplies here on the porch for you. If you need anything, leave us a note and we will bring it to you. This heat seems unnatural. I will investigate and let you know what I find.”

I nod then a thought strikes me, “a wolf threw white powder in her face, could that have put her in heat?”

Her face shows shock and anger. “It may. I will let you know what I find out.”

And she is gone. We drag the supplies inside and I grab four bags of ice and run upstairs.

Star’s scent is still strong, but it’s not as intoxicating as it was downstairs.

I walk into the bathroom and see Star in the shower her head thrown back in extasy, Ash still fully dressed, on his knees in front of her, his face buried between her legs, I watch as her body bows and tightens, as she screams out her orgasm.

Ash gets to his feet and pulls her into his arms, “better angel? It’s going to be ok. We will take care of you, look Lex has come to dry you off and help you get ready, ok?”

Grabbing a big fluffy towel, I wrap her up tight and carry her to the bedroom.

“Ace is bringing food baby, what do you need, mmm?”

I pull off my t-shirt and pull it over her head. She rubs her nose in my shirt, inhaling my scent.

She walks around the room, full of nervous energy.

“I thought once I came that it would stop for a while, but I am so fucking horny,”

I smirk at her. “Baby, you have three very horny husbands ready to handle all of your needs.”

She walks over to the bed and starts pulling the mattress off the bed.

“Star, what are you doing?”

I help her drag the mattress to where she wants it, then follow her out of the room and through another door. She walks to the bed and pulls this mattress off as well.

“The beds are not big enough. We need somewhere for all of us.”

It’s like she is in a trance. I carry the mattress into the first room and put it on top of the first one.

Ash walks out of the bathroom in a towel and looks around. He smiles and strokes her hair.

“Angel, there is not enough room, so Lex and I will take the bed frame out. Why don’t you go grab blankets and pillows to make it nice and cosy, okay?”

She smiles and runs off. I look at Ash. “dude what’s going on?”

He throws me a look, “dude she is nesting, it’s her way of preparing for pregnancy. She needs to create a safe, comfortable place for her and her mates to conceive. Mum does it whenever she goes into heat.”

“Ewe! How the fuck do you know that?”

“I caught mum stealing pillows and blankets from our rooms a couple of years ago. Dad said it calmed her having the scent of her babies around her.”

I gag, “so you are telling me that they fucked on our stuff? Dude, that is not cool.” The fucker burst out laughing and drops his end of the bed. “No, you freak, she just likes having our scent in the room. It’s not like dad jizzed over you pillow.”

We move the bed into the room across the hall and push the mattresses together on the floor.

Star comes back with her arms full of pillows and dumps them on the mattress before running off again.

Ash follows her, turning back to me at the door he says, “spread out the blankets and put the pillows around the edge, Star can rearrange it after, oh and maybe roll around on it a bit, none of this stuff carries our scent.”

I nod and do as he says, Ace walks in as I’m rolling around getting my scent on everything,

“Lex, what the fuck is going on?”

Jesus, we are both so fucking clueless. After I have explained, he rips his shirt off and throws it on the mattress before rubbing himself with the pillows.

Star and Ash returned with even more pillows and throws, and we all helped put everything where Star wanted.

She smiled with satisfaction. Ace grabbed the tray of sandwiches he had made. “tuck in guys. We will need to keep our strength. Up, it’s going to be a very tiring few days.”